Introduction

ॐ सदाशिव समारम्भाम् शङ्कराचार्य मध्यमाम् अरमदाचार्य पर्यन्ताम्
वन्दे गुरु परम्पराम् ॐ ॥

Every human being, in his or her life, is busy in pursuing different types of goals. There are some short-term goals and there are many long-term goals and throughout our lives, we are busy fulfilling or struggling to fulfill, these goals that we have fixed for ourselves. And when you talk to the people, you will find that these short-term and long-term goals vary from individual to individual. While one person keeps struggling to buy a house, another person is struggling to sell the house. While one person is struggling to get married to someone, another person is struggling to get rid of the married one. Thus goals are different and often opposite and these goals even get revised from time to time. What we were frantically searching for a few weeks or months before, now we are not at all interested, even if given free. Thus superficially seeing, we find that the goals are infinite in number and they vary from individual to individual, time to time, even from age to age these goals differ. A few centuries before, our children would never have asked for computer game. But now the times have changed. The desires of our children are totally different from what we desired during our childhood. Thus from age to age, time to time, person to person, season to season, the goals vary. But if you deeply probe into this phenomenon, we can find there are certain goals which are common to all beings; all human beings. They are universal goals and they are basic goals and not only they are universal, but they do not change from age to age. It was there a few centuries before and it is there now also. This we will call the 'Fundamental or Basic Universal Goals of Humanity.' Even animals have that, but it is instinctive. In the case of human beings, it is well defined. These goals can be classified into three for our convenience.

i) SECURITY: The first and foremost is security. I want to be secure in my life and this desire for security and survival and the consequent desire for food and shelter is universal. It is there in all animals instinctively and in the human being it is a sophisticated goal. We work for varieties of insurance. Every type of insurance is a version of our desire for security – house insurance, car insurance and if one is a very big musician - throat insurance and if one is a very great football player - leg insurance. Security and safety is one universal and eternal fundamental goal.

ii) PEACE: Next universal goal is ‘I want to lead a peaceful life, शान्तिः.’ Live and let live. So I want to be peaceful, comfortable with myself. Hunting for peace and going from आश्रमम् to आश्रमम्, from one resort to other, having extra houses in कोडैकनाल and ऊटी, all are searching for peace. So the second instinctive goal of every human being is peace or शान्ति.

iii) HAPPINESS: The third goal which is natural, universal is the desire for happiness, desire for fulfillment, desire for enjoyment. सुखम् or आनन्दः in संस्कृत is the third universal eternal goal.

Security, Peace and Happiness. All human beings are running after these three only through different methods. One considers a status will give security, another person considers lot of people around will give security, another person thinks real estate will give security until he discovers real-estate is really not real. Some people consider gold, share, position, job ... endless. The means of seeking security varies, but the end is universal. Similarly, peace also. It seems two soldiers were talking about the reasons for their joining army and one soldier said “I was not married, I love war, therefore I joined the army.” The other person said “I am married and I love peace, therefore I joined the army.” How is this? Meditate on this. So therefore, different people seek peace in different methods. With regard to these three fundamental goals of humanity our scriptures have some comments to make with regard to these three fundamental goals or destinations, our scriptures have some comments or suggestions to give and what is the comment or suggestion of our scriptures? The scriptures point out that all these three are available within ourselves. All these three basic needs, desperate needs of these three are available within ourselves. And not only that, they add another statement which is disturbing; they say not only these three are within you, they say they are within you only. Within you, if they say, it is alright. They add that all those three are within you only and what is the significance of the word only. Can you guess? The significance of the word only is they are within you only, means they are not available outside. And therefore, if you seek them outside, all of them will elude you, all of them will evade you. The other day I had gone to some house for भिक्षा and they gave me a soup made of noodles. And soup is given in a bowl you know and there is a spoon, you use a spoon and you know, what is the nature of noodles? What is that? Semi-solid. Now you take the noodles in the spoon, you do see noodles, when you lift the spoon, it slips, it goes down. Even now, I do not know how to handle the noodles. I knew I am in soup. I understood what is the meaning of the word ‘to be in soup’? Don’t ask me how I managed, that is a different story; but what I am saying is this peace, security and happiness they are like the noodles in your life, which is ‘in soup.’ And therefore if you look for these three outside, the search becomes a misplaced search. Therefore, according to the scriptures, the fundamental human problem is ‘misplaced search’ for something in a place where it is not available. And therefore, the intelligent approach is to search for something in a place where it is available. Now the question is: Why do the human beings commit such a mistake? Why do the human beings commit such a mistake and make the life a soup and go from struggle to struggle to struggle? Why? The scriptures point out that these three basic needs are available within but they are hidden. They are covered like the treasure that is covered under the ground or like the bore well water which is under the ground. One Swami, who had an आश्रम, was struggling for water. When an ordinary house needs a lot of water, imagine an आश्रम, in which several members are there, big kitchen is there. आश्रम means what: आ श्रम → आश्रम. What is आ? आ means Big. श्रम means problem. So, a house is small श्रम; आश्रम is आ → Big श्रम! That स्वामिजि dug the ground all over the आश्रम to tap some source of water, he could not and he was struggling to get it from outside several places and 10 years he had to struggle sometime he gets, sometimes he does not. This is a real incident. One day he was standing outside waiting for someone and one government official from water department came with some instrument ‘Hydrometer’ or some instrument, which can detect the ground water, it seems. He said, why can’t we try and he asked the स्वामिजि to move a little bit, who was standing on the gate and he kept the meter and they found out that right underneath there is a huge and perennial source of water. And he has dug everywhere except that place. Seeing that स्वामिजि was jumping it seems, like मोक्ष, नन्दति नन्दति नन्दत्येव. Why was the struggle for 10 years? What he wanted he had but it was covered. Similarly, the scriptures point out, we have the perennial bore well which has got the permanent source of these fundamental needs, viz., security, peace and happiness. But the problem is it is hidden by layers of covering. And sometimes the water is so deep; we have different layers, one clay layer, some rubble layer and some other layer, similarly, it is covered. And therefore, what is required to get these three? The scriptures point out, remove the layers of covering and tap the bore well. Tap the eternal spring of S P H: Security, Peace and Happiness. May you tap from the eternal spring! And this process is called discovery. Discovery means what: Dissing the cover. Dissing means what: Removing the cover. The स्वामिजि did not produce water, because water was already there. He only removed the covering which was between him and water.

Now the next question is: What are the layers that cover these three, so that I can handle appropriately? If the cover is stone and rubbles, you have to use a different weapon, instrument; if it is wet clay, you have to use an appropriate instrument; the instrument depends upon the type of covering. The scriptures point out that there are three layers covering the spring of S P H (Security, Peace and Happiness) within us is covered by three layers. The grossest, subtle and the subtlest, the finest layer. And what are those three layers? They are known as

- i) मलम् literally means Impurity.
- ii) विक्लेपः means Extrovertedness. विक्लेपः literally means Disturbance. Disturbance caused by extrovertedness, outgoing tendency.
- iii) आवरणम् otherwise अज्ञानम्, ignorance. So मलम्, विक्लेपः and आवरणम्.

i) मलम् or impurity refers to varieties of mental problems, normally enumerated as the six-fold impurities, six-fold enemies, six-fold obstacles to discover our inner joy. And those impurities are कामः, क्रोधः, लोभः, मोहः, मदः, मात्सर्यः. You would have heard कामः – desire, क्रोधः – anger, लोभः – greed, मोहः – delusion, मदः – arrogance or vanity, मात्सर्यः – jealousy or competitiveness. These are the main six-fold impurities in the mind. They make the first layer of obstacles in unearthing our inner joy.

ii) Then the second layer of obstacle is विक्षेपः – the mental restlessness, mental wandering, mental extrovertedness is the second layer of obstacle, because of which I am not able to see; like when the water is turbulent, you cannot see the bottom of the river properly. If the water is muddied, you cannot see. That muddied water has got मलम्, impurity. The turbulent water has got विक्षेपः obstacle. When these two are there, you do not see what is down below. Similarly, when the mind has got impurity and turbulence, you cannot recognize the truth behind. So विक्षेपः, चाञ्चल्यम् etc.

iii) The third obstacle is called Ignorance. Ignorance of the fact that I am the only source of these three, I am the spring of आनन्दः, I am the embodiment of security. I am full of, I have abundance of शान्ति. This fact, I am ignorant. Ignorance is the third layer.

Therefore what is required? Remove these three layers by appropriate साधनः. साधन means any discipline or exercise. You may call it spiritual exercise, spiritual discipline that you practice to remove these three obstacles. And each discipline is called a योगः. योगः means that which unites the seeker with the destination. योगः means that which unites the seeker, Me, with the destination called ‘security, Peace and Happiness.’ Like when the treasure-hunter uses different instruments, each one is like योग because when obstacles are removed, who is united with whom? The treasure-hunter is united with the treasure. So the hunter-treasure-union is caused by this and that which causes the union is called the योगः. Like marriage broker. That Broker, what does he do? He combines these two. He can be called योगि. In रामायण, आञ्जनेय served that purpose of uniting राम and सीता. The whole रामायण is compared to a spiritual journey. We have to use three different disciplines or योगs to recover the treasure, to claim my own treasure. And the three योगs prescribed in the scriptures are called ❖ कर्मयोग, to remove the first layer of obstacle;

- ❖ the second योग is called उपासनायोगः, to remove the second layer of obstacle and
- ❖ the third one is called ज्ञानयोगः, to remove the third layer.

कर्मयोगेन मत्त निवृत्तिः. You can understand these three संस्कृत sentences.

कर्मयोगेन मत्त निवृत्तिः, उपासनायोगेन विक्षेपः निवृत्तिः, ज्ञानयोगेन अज्ञान निवृत्तिः.

These three योगs do not bring me anything. These three योगs do not bring anything but it connects me to my own treasure. It helps me claim my own wealth. Like some people die without writing proper will and for the other survivor, to claim the property; it is his own property, her own property, but you have to go through so many procedures and ultimately, what do you get? You don't get money; you have claimed the money which has been already yours. You are claiming your birthright; as तिलक् said “स्वराज् is my birthright. I will have it.” Thus three योगs are prescribed.

i) कर्मयोग is a lifestyle consisting of proper action and proper attitude. What do you mean by proper action? Any action which will primarily contribute to the reduction of कामः, क्रोधः, लोभः, मोहः; instead of increasing them. Any action which will help in the reduction of the impurities is called proper action. And proper attitude is the right attitude towards the action as well as the result of the action. A healthy attitude towards the action and its result which will help me grow through every experience. Healthy attitude is that which will help me, which should help me grow through every experience; even through the most painful experience. Elaboration we will have later in the गीता. It is enough if you note this much. Proper action plus proper attitude is कर्मयोगः. कर्मयोगः removes the first layer of impurity. That much is enough for now.

ii) Then the second योगः is उपासनायोगः, which consists of different types of meditations, different forms of meditations. We need not go to the details. We will be seeing that again later. And all different forms of meditations will help in quietening the mind. The extrovert, turbulent, restless, outgoing, wandering, fidgety mind has to have some relaxation. A stress-free mind is the result of उपासनायोगः, which we call विक्षेप निवृत्तिः. मल निवृत्तिः can be positively presented as चित्तशुद्धिः. Removal of impurity can be translated as attaining purity. Is it not so? Removal of impurity, मल निवृत्तिः is चित्तशुद्धिः. Similarly, उपासनायोग will lead to विक्षेपः निवृत्तिः, removal of restlessness which can be positively presented as attaining the steadiness of the mind; instead of wandering, the mind is steady and calm. In संस्कृत, it is called चित्त-निश्चलत्वम्. निश्चलत्वम् is opposite of विक्षेपः; शुद्धिः is opposite of मलम्. Removal of मलम् is equal to getting शुद्धिः. Removal of विक्षेपः is getting निश्चलत्वम्.

iii) Then comes the third योग called ज्ञानयोगः which consists of enquiry into my real nature. Do I require peace from outside or is my very nature is peaceful? Do I require security from outside or am I the ever secure आत्मा? Do I require happiness from outside or can I tap it from myself? So ज्ञानयोगः consists of Self-enquiry, Self-analysis, आत्मविचारः.

And if a person goes through कर्मयोगः, उपासनायोगः and ज्ञानयोगः, all these three layers are removed. And there is no option in these three, because we have all these three layers, in fact, very, very thick, thick layers we have got. And therefore, to help us in going through these three योगs and also discover the inner security, peace and happiness our scriptures guide us and these wonderful scriptures who guide us are called the वेदs. The वेदs are these wonderful scriptures whose only aim is helping us to tap our own wealth. वेद means source of knowledge, विद् means to know, वेदः means a source of knowledge and these वेदs are revelations from the Lord Himself, which have come down to us through the ऋषिs. God is the transmitting centre, ऋषिs are the receiving centers. Just as we have transmission station and receiving station; God is the transmitting centre and every ऋषि is a receiving centre. And these वेदs have got four portions.

- i) The first portion is called मन्त्र भागः or संहिता भागः. मन्त्र and संहिता both mean the same; the first portion.
- ii) Then the second portion is called ब्राह्मणः भागः. भागः means part or portion.
- iii) The third part is called आरण्य भागः, आरण्यकम्.
- iv) And the fourth and final part is called the उपनिषत् भागः.

मन्त्रः, ब्राह्मणः, आरण्यकम्, उपनिषत्. Of these four भागs the second भागः i.e., ब्राह्मण भागः deals with कर्मयोगः. Therefore it is called कर्मकाण्डम्. काण्डम् also means भागः.

- कर्म काण्डम् or ब्राह्मणः भागः teaches us कर्मयोगः.
- आरण्यक भागः teaches us उपासनायोगः. उपासनायोगः is taught by आरण्यक भागः. Therefore it is called उपासनाकाण्डम्. काण्डम् means portion and then finally,
- we have उपनिषत् भागः, which teaches us ज्ञानयोगः and therefore it is called ज्ञानकाण्डम्.
- ◆ कर्मकाण्डम् of the वेदs teaches कर्मयोगः and helps us in मल निवृत्तिः and
- ◆ उपासनाकाण्डम् teaches उपासनायोगः and helps us in विक्षेपः निवृत्तिः,
- ◆ ज्ञानकाण्डम् teaches and helps us in अज्ञान निवृत्तिः.

What about मन्त्र भागः? मन्त्र भागः or संहिता भागः deals with prayers or सूक्तम्s which are addressed to the various deities because only if we pray to Lord, we will be able to diagnose our problem. Only a prayerful life will help us in diagnosing the problem. Only then we will come to these three योगs. If भगवान्'s grace is not there, we will never look inwards. We will be materialistic people; eternally searching for peace and happiness through materialistic thing. You can never take a treatment unless you diagnose. The problem of human being is he has not even diagnosed the problem. What is the problem I said? Misplaced searching. Going to a cloth shop and looking for a shoe. Like that ब्राह्मण who went to the महामहम् tank in south कुम्भकोणम् and every twelve years there is a big function and he took dip in that tank along with hundreds of people and dropped his ring. He could not bend and search because no place even for bending, so many people. Therefore, he came out and was wandering around and he saw another tank where nobody was there. So he said wonderful place for searching. And he started searching there. And another social-service-minded person came and asked what are you searching for? He said, 'I am searching for the lost ring.' He said, 'I also want to do some service.' 'service better than self...' something like that motto. Therefore he wanted to search. And third person came and he also joined and like that these people went on searching. And then came eleventh person and asked where did you drop? He said in the other tank. "Fool! Why are you searching here?" "Here it is comfortable to search." You can search eternally. When we hear this story, we all laugh. But throughout the life we are doing the same thing. And if the search should be redirected it requires भगवान्'s अनुग्रहः, therefore मन्त्र भागः alone changes the direction towards योगः – from भोगः to योगः.

This वेद is a very, very voluminous scripture. It has got 4 branches, ऋक् वेद, यजुर् वेद, साम वेद, अथर्वण वेद; is very, very huge and in the यजुर् वेद itself two branches: शुक्ल यजुर् वेद, कृष्ण यजुर् वेद and therefore for many people the original वेदs are inaccessible.

Therefore out of compassion, the Lord Himself gave us a condensed version of the वेद, consisting of all the three योगs and that condensed वेद, वेद सारः is the भगवद्गीता. गीता is a relatively small work consisting of 700 verses, which is small compared to the original वेदs, that भगवद्गीता is वेद सारः. It occurs in the महाभारतम् in the form of a dialogue between कृष्ण and अर्जुन and if you learn the गीता, you have learned the entire वेद. And therefore, all our traditional आचार्यs point out that you may not be able to learn the वेदs and original उपनिषत्s, even if you can't study them, doesn't matter, at least learn the गीता.

सकृदपि येन मुरारि समर्चा क्रियते तस्य यमेन न चर्चा ॥ भजगोविन्दम्

शङ्कराचार्य says that if you don't study any scripture, minimum study the भगवद्गीता, it will be useful in getting a direction to your life. And it is this भगवद्गीता शास्त्रम्, this वेद सारः which we are going to study from the next class onwards and this भगवद्गीता is generally studied after studying a set of prayer verses known as भगवद्गीता ध्यानश्लोकs. This भगवद्गीता has got several commentaries in different languages. शङ्कराचार्य himself has written a very beautiful commentary.

And one आचार्य known by the name मधुसूदन सरस्वती has written a very beautiful commentary and before writing the commentary, he writes a few prayer verses known as गीता ध्यानश्लोकs, consisting of 9 verses. And we always start anything with a prayer, because any undertaking can have any number of obstacles. Today you come to the class, next week something or the other obstacles may come and therefore to ward off the obstacle, generally we chant the prayers. And here we have chosen मधुसूदन सरस्वतीs 9 prayer verses.

And in these 9 prayer verses, he offers नमस्कार to महाभारतम्; महाभारतम् नमस्कार because भगवद्गीता is part of महाभारतम्. Then, he offers भगवद्गीता नमस्कार, looking upon गीता as साक्षात् सरस्वती देवी, the mother of wisdom, nourishing us with the milk of wisdom. Thirdly, he offers व्यास नमस्कार, because व्यास is the author of the entire महाभारतम्, including भगवद्गीता and therefore व्यास नमस्कार. And finally कृष्ण नमस्कार, because Lord कृष्ण happens to be the गुरु, the जगत् गुरु who teaches अर्जुन and through अर्जुन He is teaching the entire humanity and He is going to teach us also. Thus we get भारत नमस्कार, गीता नमस्कार, व्यास नमस्कार and कृष्ण नमस्कार, in 9 verses. In the next class or next two classes, we will see the ध्यानश्लोकs and thereafter enter into the भगवद्गीता proper.

ॐ सदाशिव समारम्भाम् शङ्कराचार्य मध्यमाम् अस्मदाचार्य पर्यन्ताम्
वन्दे गुरु परम्पराम् ॐ ॥

In the last class, I mentioned that there are certain prayer verses known as गीता ध्यानश्लोक, which are generally studied before the actual study of the भगवद्गीता and the purpose studying the prayer verses is that through these prayer verses we invoke the grace of the Lord so that we will be able to successfully complete the study of the भगवद्गीता, to ward off the obstacles that may come. And you know that the भगवद्गीता is part of महाभारतम् but these prayer verses are not part of महाभारतम् but these are written by a great आचार्य by name मधुसूदन सरस्वती, who wrote these verses before writing a commentary upon the गीता. The name of his commentary is गुढार्थ दिपीका, beautiful name, गुढार्थ दिपीका, a lamp which illumines the hidden and deeper meanings of the भगवद्गीता. It is a very famous commentary and it is so famous that another आचार्य wrote a commentary on his commentary. And this मधुसूदन सरस्वती, before he starts his गुढार्थ दिपीका, writes about 9 verses which are the well-known ध्यानश्लोक. And I said in the last class that in these 9 verses, ➤ मधुसूदन सरस्वती offers नमस्कार to महाभारतम्. भारत नमस्कार as the most sacred book;

➤ then he offers नमस्कार to the भगवद्गीता itself looking upon गीता as mother सरस्वती, the embodiment of wisdom;

➤ then he offers नमस्कार to व्यासाचार्य, the author of महाभारतम् and therefore the author of the गीता also.

➤ And finally he offers नमस्कार to Lord कृष्ण who gives the गीता teaching to अर्जुन. So the teaching belongs to कृष्ण. व्यासाचार्य is only a reporter, as it were, receiving the teaching and giving it out to us. So कृष्ण नमस्कार is the fourth.

Thus भारत नमस्कार, गीता नमस्कार, व्यास नमस्कार and कृष्ण नमस्कार. These four we find in these 9 prayer verses and first we will study the meanings of these prayer verses because later we will start the class with these prayer verses, so that you can enjoy the meaning when we chant later. First we will chant the verses together.

I will rearrange the order of the verses while giving the meaning so that we can go from one नमस्कार to another नमस्कार.

I. महाभारत नमस्कारम्

So the first नमस्कार is to महाभारतम् itself which comes in the 7th verse. Therefore, I will first give you the meaning of the 7th verse. So look at the 4th line of the verse.

पाराशर्यवचः सरोजममलं गीतार्थगन्धोत्कटम्
नानाख्यानककेसरं हरिकथासम्बोधनाबोधितम् ।

पाराशर्यवचः सरोजम्, गीता-अर्थ-गन्ध-उत्कटम्, अमलम्, नाना- आख्यानक-केसरम्, हरि-कथा-सम्बोधन-आबोधितम्, भारत-पङ्कजम्, सज्जन-षट्-पदैः मुदा अहरहः पेपीयमानम्, लोके कलि-मल-प्रध्वंसि नः
श्रेयसे भूयात् ॥

भारत-पङ्कजम् नः श्रेयसे भूयात्. You know महाभारतम् is a work composed by व्यासाचार्य; it comes under the scriptural literature known as इतिहासः. इतिहासः means a scriptural literature which is partially based on history. So historical events are taken, actual events are taken and they are modified here and there and some masala added, you know what is masala and then with a mixture of fact and fiction

this work has been created, like historical movie. The main theme will be based on history but they will add ideas here and there so that movie will be attractive. So part fact and part fiction literature is called the इतिहासः. The very word इतिहासः means 'thus it happened', हासः means happened, इति means really, in this manner it happened and therefore महाभारतम् stories are supposed to be a real events with slight modifications presented. And since it deals with the भरत वंश, the dynasty of भरत, it is named भारतम्. So भरत वंशम् अदिकृत्य प्रवृतम् भारतम् and it is called महाभारतम् because it is a voluminous literature perhaps the biggest in the entire world with 1 lakh verses, 100,000 verses. भगवद्गीता is only 700 verses and this गीता is part of महाभारतम् which has got 1 lakh verses. And therefore it is called महाभारतम् scripture. Let the scripture be नः श्रेयसे, श्रेयस् means our well being, prosperity, happiness, health, मङ्गलम्. श्रेयस् means मङ्गलम्. श्रेयसे भूयात् means let it be a source of happiness to me. May the study of महाभारतम् enrich my personality, transform my personality, help me grow physically; physical growth we have enough, emotionally and intellectually and spiritually. For whom? Not for व्यास. He is already accomplished. नः means for us, who are the students of महाभारतम्. So, नः means for us श्रेयसे भूयात् – let it be a source of happiness. And in this महाभारतम् is compared to a lotus. Just as a lotus is a very very attractive flower, attractive because of its beauty and because of its fragrance it is attractive to the nose, the smell and because of the honey, it is attractive to the taste also; catering to the eyes, the nose and the tongue. Therefore it is compared to पङ्कजम्, पङ्कजम् means lotus. So भारत पङ्कजम् means the महाभारतम् lotus be a source of happiness to me. And from this an important idea is conveyed, the study of महाभारतम् at home is good only. Because there is a general misconception that only रामायणम् must be studied at home and महाभारतम् should not be studied, because it is dealing with family quarrel and if you read about family quarrel, in our family also quarrel will come, as though it is not there already. Anyway, this is a very big misconception, it is only a blind belief, it is not at all true. महाभारतम् study and therefore गीता study is an auspicious thing for all. Therefore let it give us joy. Then the rest of the words are the glory of भारत lotus, the description we get; each one is an adjective to भारत पङ्कजम्. What are the glories? Go back to the 1st line. पाराशर्यवचः सरोजम्. A lotus is born in a pond. Lotus pond is the source of Lotus. If महाभारतम् is comparable to lotus, naturally the question will be what is the pond out of which the महाभारतम् lotus has emerged? Here मधुसूदन सरस्वती says पाराशर्यवचः, वचः means speech or the words, better speech, the speech of whom? पाराशर्यः means व्यासाचार्य. पराशरः is the name of व्यासाचार्य's father and since व्यासाचार्य is the son of पराशर, पराशर's पुत्र पाराशर्य. And वचः means organ of speech, from the mouth of व्यासाचार्य has come the beautiful lotus of महाभारतम् and therefore the mouth is compared to सरः, सरः means pond. So वचः सरः means mouth-pond or speech-pond, from that pond has emerged the महाभारतम् Lotus. So सरोजम्. And अमलम्, it is a flower without any impurities. It is a pure lotus. The interesting thing is one of the name of the lotus is पङ्कजम्. The word पङ्क means slush; slush means muddied water and lotus is born in that pond with muddied water, even though the water is slushy and muddied the lotus is pure without any slush. Just as the lotus is pure even though it is born in muddied water, similarly, महाभारतम् is very very pure. अमलम् – without any दोषः. अमलम् means शुद्धम्. Pure in terms of the teaching, it is without any defect and in terms of the language also it is pure. There is neither grammatical-defect nor content-defect and therefore it is शुद्धम्. And this महाभारतम् lotus is extremely attractive. गीता-अर्थ-गन्ध-उत्कटम्. उत्कटम् means prominent, so popular, famous, well-known, attractive, which draws the attention of all the people. Because of what? गन्ध उत्कटम् – because of the powerful fragrance. The महाभारतम् lotus has got such a powerful fragrance that anybody around will turn. Now the question is what is the fragrance of महाभारतम्? Here the author says: गीता-अर्थ – the teachings of the भगवद्गीता is the fragrance. If the महाभारतम् is lotus, भगवद्गीता is the fragrance coming out of the महाभारतम्. In fact, महाभारतम् is attractive, because of the गीता. In fact, महाभारतम् is popular, because of the गीता. भगवद्गीता more people know than महाभारतम्. Therefore गीता-अर्थ, अर्थ means teaching, गन्ध means fragrance, उल्कट means prominent or popular; that which is popular because of fragrance of गीता teaching. नाना-आख्यानक-केसरम्; any flower will have several filaments, small thread like things are called filament, which are seen in the flowers. If महाभारतम् is like a flower, what are the filaments of महाभारतम् lotus? Here he compares नाना- आख्यानकम्. आख्यानकम् means stories, even though महाभारतम् is one book, there are hundreds and thousands of beautiful small stories. In fact, many great संस्कृत scholars have written independent works based on these small stories occurring in the महाभारतम्. The story of शकुन्तला which is beautifully written by the great संस्कृत poet, कालिदास and which is world famous drama called अभिज्ञानशाकुन्तलम् is taken from महाभारतम् only. Like that there are thousands of stories which can be compared to filaments hanging from the lotus of महाभारतम्. So नाना-आख्यानक-केसरम्, केसरम् means filaments and आख्यानक means small, small stories, the story of हरिश्चन्द्र, the story of शकुन्तला etc., there are many and it adds to its extra glory. And not only that, हरि-कथा-सम्बोधन-आबोधितम्. Lotus is of two types: one is the lotus bud, the other is the well bloomed expanded lotus. Both are beautiful, but the beauty of the bud you cannot completely enjoy, whereas the fully blossomed lotus is attractive. That is why they buy the bud and with the hand they separate. It will not be beautiful. Naturally it should bloom. Similarly, the महाभारतम् lotus is a fully blossomed lotus. It is an expanded lotus. Expanded with what? हरि-कथा-सम्बोधन-आबोधितम्. आबोधितम् means expanded, blossomed. Through what?

सम्बोधन means narration. Narration of what? हरि-कथा – the stories of Lord कृष्ण. Even though it is dealing with भरत वंश only, but often महाभारतम् is filled with the stories and exploits of Lord कृष्ण and therefore हरि-कथा-सम्बोधन means narration of कृष्ण stories, through those stories महाभारतम् has expanded into hundred thousand verses. And not only that, सज्जन-षट्-पदैः पेपीयमानम्. Thus wherever flower is there, honey will be there and attracted by the honey, the honey bees will go towards those flowers. Similarly, महाभारतम् contains deep wisdom, on all the subjects under the Sun - religion is discussed there, philosophy is discussed there, psychology is there, politics is there, sociology is there, human relationship is there, any science that you can think of व्यासाचार्य has very brilliantly discussed in the महाभारतम्. In fact, it is said that what is not there in महाभारतम्, it cannot be there anywhere and whatever is there anywhere, that all is discussed in भारतम्.

धर्मे च अर्थे च कामे च मोक्षे च भरतर्षभ । यदिहास्ति तदन्यत्र यन्नेहास्ति न तत् क्वचित् ॥ महाभारतम्, आदिपर्व, ७६-३३. स्व. ७-३८ ॥

There is no topic which is not discussed in महाभारतम्. So it is not an obsolete work of some superstition but it is a very live and valid treasure house of wisdom dealing with every science. And therefore all the students whoever wants to learn is like a honey bee. And therefore सज्जन-षट्-पदैः. सज्जनः means noble people. And who are the noble people? Who have got an open mind when they approach the scriptures, those who have got reverence towards the महाभारतम् such people are called सज्जनः. They are like the honey bee and when they approach महाभारतम्, they know it is not mere stories for children, behind every story there is a lessons on psychology, lessons on family problems, lessons on human relationships, lessons on the ultimate truth of the creation. Superficially it is a story but you go behind it, it is study of various sciences. And therefore by the सज्जन-षट्-पदैः, षट्-पदम् means honey bees, six legged one is honey bees here. And by these people अहरहः पेपीयमानम् – so they drink the honey of wisdom by enquiring into, by the analysis of महाभारतम् in general and भगवद्गीता in particular, so they suck the honey of wisdom. पेपीयमानम् means repeatedly sucked. लोके – in this world. And when do they do that? अहरहः – day in and day out. First time, they study they get one meaning and another time they go like a diamond, a totally different facet of life is brought out. There are psychologists who study every character to unearth valuable lessons on human minds. Study of कर्ण itself is a lifelong study. Study of दुर्योधन, study of द्रौपदी, study of कुन्ती, study of धर्मपुत्र. Every character you analyze you get valuable lessons. So thus, पेपीयमानम् मुदा means happily they drink the nectar. And कलि-मल-प्रध्वंसि. And this महाभारतम् is a literature, which can destroy the problems which are prevalent in a materialistic universe. कलियुगः is known for predominant materialism, competition, compromise, cut-throat. This is कलियुगः; the very word कलि means fight and quarrel. Even in sports there will be cheating, there will be competition, there will be betting. That is the nature of कलियुग and when there is materialism and valuelessness are rampant, our mind also will be colored by that. If we should not be affected by that, महाभारतम् is the medicine for the कलि मलम्, मलम् means the impurity caused by कलियुगः. So even within families quarrel and of course there is no family stability at all. All these are very big psychological problem for children and psychological problems of present children will be the sociological problems of next generation. When families break down, children will suffer because single parent or no parent or each parent is busy with somebody else. So when such things happen in कलियुग, the children suffer and there will be sociological problem and if you want to avoid such problem, there is one medicine; what is that? महाभारतम् medicine. Therefore he says कलि-मल-प्रध्वंसि. प्रध्वंसि means destroyer, remover of मलम्, the impurities belonging to कलियुगः. कलियुगः is the name of the present materialistic age. And may that महाभारतम् strengthen me, strengthen my family and strengthen our society. This is भारत नमस्कार.

II. गीता नमस्कारम्

Now we will go to गीता नमस्कार. Verse no.1;

ॐ पार्थाय प्रतिबोधितां भगवता नारायणेन स्वयं
व्यासेन ब्रथितां पुराणमुनिना मध्ये महाभारतम् ।

अद्वैतामृतवर्षिणीं भगवतीमष्टादशाध्यायिनीं

अम्ब त्वामनुसन्दधामि भगवद्गीते भवद्वेषिणीम् ॥ १॥

We have read it. I will give you the meaning. So here the author is addressing भगवद्गीता as the Mother. हे अम्ब! You are सरस्वती देवी, the mother who will nourish my internal personality. The local mother by feeding the physical food will nourish my physical personality but the गीता mother, by feeding the wisdom-food will nourish my inner personality. And mother knows what type of food should be given when. Liquid food in the beginning stages, then semi-solid food in later stages and thereafter solid food. The right time right food should be given and the child does not know, the mother out of compassion does. Similarly, भगवद्गीता mother gives you the wisdom of कर्मयोग in the beginning stages give the wisdom of उपासनायोग in the later stages and also the ज्ञानयोग, really solid food, when the baby is sufficiently grown up. Therefore wonderful, compassionate, loving, nourishing, kind mother you are Oh गीता! Therefore हे अम्ब! हे गीते! addressing the गीता. हे गीते, भगवद्-गीते त्वाम् अनुसन्दधामि – I meditate upon you with reverence. And what is this भगवद्गीता? We get the description पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम् – a teaching which has been given to अर्जुन, one of the पञ्चपाण्डवs. पार्थः means अर्जुनः, प्रतिबोधिताम् means taught. So पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम् Taught by whom? Not any ordinary person, भगवता नारायणेन स्वयम् – by Lord नारायण Himself, the omniscient God and therefore in this teaching there will be no defect at all. And that is why it is a time-tested wisdom. It has blessed the society from beginningless time and blesses the society even now and we ourselves can personally see whether गीता is benefitting us or not. It is a challenge given. Therefore, given by साक्षात् भगवान् himself. भगवता नारायणेन प्रतिबोधिताम्. And compiled by whom? कृष्ण did not write. Compilation, the reporting is done by व्यासेन ग्रथिताम् – reported by व्यासाचार्य who is supposed to be an अवतार of Lord विष्णु.

नमो वै ब्रह्मनिधये वासिष्ठाय नमो नमः ॥

Therefore व्यासाचार्य's report will be correct. Otherwise like newspaper report - something happening, something is reported. What can be done? So विष्णु has taught properly, व्यास has reported properly. And what type of journalist he is? पुराण-मुनिना – the most experienced ऋषि who has given us 18 पुराणs, very experienced आचार्य who has given the पुराणम्s like भागवत पुराणम् etc. Where has he given this? मध्ये महाभारतम्. This भगवद्गीता is occurring in the middle of महाभारतम्, in शान्ति पर्व, when अर्जुन faces a crisis and all the resources he had, do not help him. His knowledge, his courage, his strength, his popularity, his beauty, all those things do not help him. At that time कृष्ण gives this teaching. So महाभारतम्-मध्ये पुराण-मुनिना व्यासेन ग्रथिताम्, ग्रथिताम् means composed. And what is the content of the भगवद्गीता? अद्वैत-अमृत-वर्षिणीम् – it showers the wisdom of अद्वैतम्, the non-dual infinite truth. How many infinities are possible? Only one. Therefore truth is called अद्वैतम् and अमृतम् means the nectar or the wisdom, the wisdom of अद्वैतम्, i.e., सत्य ज्ञानम् it showers. And how big is the भगवद्गीता? अष्टादश-अध्यायिनीम् – which consists of 18 chapters, 700 and odd verses are there. Therefore, अष्टादश-अध्यायिनीम्. And भवद्वेषिणीम्, भवः means संसार and संसार means dissatisfaction with oneself. Self-dissatisfaction is called संसार which alone drives a person to go from one activity to another. Either I am physically dissatisfied, not happy with my color of my skin or not satisfied with the hair or not satisfied with the teeth arrangement. Some problem or the other; physical dissatisfaction or emotional dissatisfaction like my children don't love me. I have done everything for them. I worked like a Bull. And that girl came yesterday and this boy, my own son has forgotten me. Dissatisfaction. Emotional dissatisfaction or intellectual dissatisfaction. Because I want to know what is this life? Why are we born? Where are we going? These are intellectual dissatisfaction? All dissatisfactions put together is called संसार. And what is मोक्ष? Total satisfaction with myself as I am. This पूर्णत्वम् or fulfillment is called मोक्ष and भगवद्गीता is the destroyer of the संसार. Therefore भवद्वेषिणी. द्वेषि means enemy, destroyer of संसार. And such a भगवद्गीता, I meditate upon before I start the study. Then one more गीता नमस्कार comes. Verse no.4;

गोपाल-नन्दनः सर्वोपनिषदः गावः दोग्धा, गीता-अमृतम् महत् दुग्धम् सुधीः वत्सः पार्थः भोक्ता ॥

So what is the भगवद्गीता? Here मधुसूदन सरस्वती says गीता is not the philosophy of कृष्ण. गीता is not the philosophy of even व्यास. Then what is गीता? It is the teaching which is contained in the वेदs. So वेदs are the original scriptures which have been existing in our culture from beginningless time; we do now know when वेदs started itself and the end portion of the वेदs is called उपनिषत् which alone gives us this Self-knowledge and भगवद्गीता is the essence of the उपनिषत्s, the essence of वेदान्त. And to convey this, the author gives another analogy. So here, वेदs especially the Upanishadic portion he compares to a cow. सर्वोपनिषदः गावः – all the उपनिषत्s belonging to ऋक् वेद, belonging to यजुर् वेद, belonging to सामवेद and अथर्वण वेद, all the final portions of all the वेदs called the उपनिषत्s, they are all like cows. They are not cows. They are like cows. What does कृष्ण do? कृष्ण is an expert cowherd boy. We know from mythology that कृष्ण is an expert person who knows how to handle the cows. Similarly, कृष्ण knows how to handle the Upanishadic cows also and therefore what did कृष्ण do? Milked the Upanishadic cows, which means extracted the essence from the उपनिषत्s. Therefore, गोपाल-नन्दनः, गोपाल-नन्दनः means कृष्ण, son of गोपाल or the cowherd boy and He has milked. Here milking is symbolic, the Upanishadic essence has been extracted by Him. And if the cows have to give out the milk generally they keep the calf in front. Otherwise, the cows will not release the milk. When the calf is seen, the cow out of compassion and love, gives out the milk. For the Upanishadic cow to give the milk, who is the calf? पार्थो वत्सः – अर्जुन is like the calf, because keeping अर्जुन in front, कृष्ण milked the Upanishadic cow and out of this milching came the milk of wisdom. And what is the milk of wisdom? He says गीता-अमृतम् एव दुग्धम् – this nectar of भगवद्गीता, the teaching of the भगवद्गीता is the milk and milk is supposed to be a balanced diet. In between they were telling milk is not good. Now again they have changed the opinion. They say now that milk can reduce the weight. In Readers' Digest, milk can reduce the weight. So you all can start drinking milk, if you are overweight. दुग्धम् गीतामृतम् महत् – the great and glorious गीता is the milk. This is गीता नमस्कारम्. So भारत नमस्कारम् over. गीता नमस्कारम् is over.

III. व्यास नमस्कारम्

Then the next one is व्यास नमस्कारम्. Verse no.2;

नमोऽस्तु ते व्यास विशालबुद्धे, फुल्लारविन्दायतपत्रनेत्र ।

येन त्वया भारततैलपूर्णः प्रज्वालितो ज्ञानमयः प्रदीपः ॥ २॥

(हे) विशाल-बुद्धे, फुल्ल-अरविन्द-आयत-पत्र-नेत्र, व्यास! त्वया येन भारत-तैल-पूर्णः ज्ञानमयः प्रदीपः प्रज्वालितः ते नमः अस्तु ॥

हे व्यास विशालबुद्धे! The student is addressing व्यासाचार्य. The very word व्यास means the one who has divided the वेदs into four and also the one who has expanded the Vedic teaching through the 18 पुराणs. So व्यास means the divider and the expander. So विव्यास वेदान् यस्मात् स तस्माद् व्यास इति स्मृतः ।

Originally the वेद was one, but people were not able to study the whole वेद. Therefore व्यास classified them and he called four of his disciples and each disciple was put in charge of one वेद, so that the burden is shared. This division he has done. Therefore he is called व्यास. Not only that, he has expanded it through his पुराणs. So then before doing this job what was his name? After dividing and expanding he got the name व्यास. But before that he must have had some name. व्यासाचार्य's original name is कृष्ण. He is also कृष्ण. कृष्ण is also कृष्ण. व्यास is also कृष्ण. Why they are called कृष्ण. Because it seems both of them were of dark complexion. Perhaps they chose, you will not have this complex. This color complexion-complex is so much that even in matrimonial column they write fair. So any skin color is beautiful - yellow or white or dark, or mixture. Whatever it might be, because कृष्ण himself was dark. द्रौपदी was called कृष्णा. She is also dark. Then how to differentiate between this कृष्ण and व्यास? To differentiate them, व्यासाचार्य is called कृष्ण दैपायनः. दैपायनः means the island born कृष्ण. So his initial is different. So हे व्यास! And how great you are? विशालबुद्धे – you are an आचार्य of great erudition, whose knowledge is very great in terms of its vastness as well as in terms of the depth. There are some people who know various subjects, but all very little, in tit-bits. But there are some specialists who know one subject deep, but the other subjects they do not know. व्यासाचार्य had both the width and depth of knowledge. Therefore, विशालबुद्धे, बुद्धि means ज्ञानम्, one whose knowledge was very great. And फुल्ल-

अरविन्द-आयत-पत्र-नेत्र – who had beautiful eyes like the petals of a fully bloomed lotus. One whose eyes were beautiful, like the petals of a fully bloomed lotus. मधुसूदन सरस्वती is glorifying. Really speaking व्यास is supposed to be ugly looking. So here you can take it as the third eye of wisdom. That was beautiful. Then त्वया ज्ञानमयः प्रदीपः प्रज्वालितः - you are so great that you have lighted the lamp of wisdom. दीपः means lamp, ज्ञानमयः means wisdom. The lamp of knowledge has been kindled, lit by you. With the help of what? Oil. भारततैलपूर्णः – with the oil of महाभारतम्. With the help of महाभारतम् story, you have lighted the lamp of wisdom. And therefore I offer you a नमस्कार because with that lamp, I can remove the ignorance from my gloomy intellect. This is व्यास नमस्कार. Thus we have four श्लोकs, dealing with भारतम्, गीता and व्यास. Now we have five more versus, which deals with भगवान् कृष्ण. That we will see in the next class.

ध्यान श्लोक - 2

ॐ सदाशिव समारम्भाम् शङ्कराचार्य मध्यमाम् अस्मदाचार्य पर्यन्ताम्
वन्दे गुरु परम्पराम् ॐ ॥

We are seeing the meaning of the भगवद्गीता ध्यान श्लोक. These nine ध्यान श्लोक are not part of the गीता but they are written by one great आचार्य, by name मधुसूदन सरस्वती, before he wrote a brilliant commentary on the गीता and because these verses are nice, well-presented verses, these verses were used by all the later students of the गीता and therefore, they became almost an integral part of the भगवद्गीता. And I said in the last class that in these 9 verses the author is offering नमस्कार to महाभारतम्, भगवद्गीता, व्यासाचार्य and भगवान् कृष्ण. भारत is worshipped because भगवद्गीता is a part of the महाभारतम्, भगवद्गीता itself is worshipped, because we look upon the गीता wisdom as mother सरस्वती herself and we offer नमस्कार to व्यासाचार्य because he is the author of the महाभारतम् and therefore the author of the गीता also and he is considered to be one of the incarnations of Lord विष्णु. And finally, the author offers नमस्कार to भगवान् कृष्ण Himself who happens to be the teacher of अर्जुन. Of these, we have seen 4 verses, through which we did भारत नमस्कार, गीता नमस्कार and व्यास नमस्कार. And we have got 5 more verses which happen to be in the form of भगवान् कृष्ण नमस्कार. We will see the meaning of those five verses today. Before that we will read the ध्यान श्लोक once together.

IV. कृष्ण नमस्कारम्

So now we will see those verses which deal with Lord कृष्ण.

प्रपन्नपारिजाताय तोत्रवेत्रैकपाणये ।

प्रपन्न-पारिजाताय, तोत्र-वेत्र-एक-पाणये, ज्ञानमुद्राय, गीता-अमृत-दुहे, कृष्णाय नमः ॥

कृष्णाय नमः – our नमस्कार to Lord कृष्ण who is of the above description. प्रपन्न-पारिजाताय. पारिजात is a mythological tree which is supposed to be in the heavens and the uniqueness of this tree is if you sit under the tree and desire for anything, by your mere wish the tree will provide whatever you ask for. And therefore this tree is called a wish-yielding tree. It is unfortunate that such trees are not available around here. We could have started with water! So, in the heaven it is said. Here Lord कृष्ण is compared to such a पारिजात वृक्ष, which means that by praying to the Lord you can get anything, whether it is धर्म, अर्थ, काम, or मोक्ष. All the पुरुषार्थs the Lord will give, if only we ask. And therefore the condition is presented प्रपन्न – for those people, who surrenders unto him. So प्रपन्नपारिजाताय. Then तोत्र-वेत्र-एक-पाणये. In the महाभारतम् battle field, Lord कृष्ण was the charioteer of अर्जुन and therefore he was in the front as a driver and holding a whip in the hand to drive the chariot. So तोत्र-वेत्रम् means the handle of a whip. तोत्र means whip, वेत्र means the handle. तोत्र-वेत्र means whip handle. एक-पाणये – He is holding in one hand to drive the chariot. And this indicates that the Lord, even though He is Lord of the Universe, He does not consider any job as below His dignity. Through this He is conveying an important message, “whatever profession you have, whatever job you are doing, do it with pride. Don’t look down upon any profession; may you maintain the dignity of any labor that you undertake.” भगवान् did not feel inferior to be a driver of अर्जुन. He drives the whole world, but still He doesn’t feel bad about it and that is the message He gives. Do any action with commitment, love, enthusiasm and pride. So, तोत्रवेत्रैकपाणये. And at the same time, not only He is the most effective worker; Lord was the greatest ज्ञानि as well as the greatest गुरु of अर्जुन. Therefore ज्ञानमुद्राय कृष्णाय. With the help of other hand, he was wielding or courting the ज्ञानमुद्राय which is otherwise called the चिन् मुद्र. चिन् मुद्र is a symbolic presentation of the philosophical teaching contained in the गीता and contained in the उपनिषत्s and this चिन् मुद्र indicates जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्यम्. This index finger represents the जीवात्मा, the individual, who is at the moment a limited entity having a beginning and an end, a mortal, finite entity and not only he himself is a mortal संसारि, this is a threatening finger also. In संस्कृत, this finger is called, तर्जनि. तर्जनि means तर्जयति इति तर्जनि. (as it is said - I will see you one hand). Threatening finger this is. This finite जीवात्मा is a threat to himself as well as a threat to the society. And this जीवात्मा is unfortunately associated with the three fingers naturally. The thumb is away in a distance whereas the three fingers are closer to this finger. They represent the three गुणाः - सत्त्व, रजस् and तमोगुण, the three शरीरम्s. Do you remember three शरीरम्s? स्थूल, सूक्ष्म and कारण शरीरम्s associated with the material body. These three fingers represent perishable material body; the जीवात्मा is associated with that. And what is spiritual साधन? Separate this जीवात्मा from the material vesture - the perishable bodies, the changing गुणs - from them you separate and then this thumb represents the परमात्मा. The thumb represents परमात्मा because with the help of the thumb alone the other four fingers can function. Any job you want to do, including writing, you require the support of the powerful thumb. Thus without the help of the thumb try to do any work and it will be difficult. Just as the powerful thumb supports all the other fingers, परमात्मा is the आधारः, the support of the whole creation. And now the जीवात्मा is away from the परमात्मा. And what should the जीवात्मा do? Get detached from the matter vesture and join the परमात्मा thumb. And when the जीवात्मा and परमात्मा join together, जीवात्मा परमात्मा ऐक्यम् takes place. Now what happens? You have got a circle. And what is the uniqueness of the Circle? A circle does not have a beginning or an end. It is पूर्णम्, it is अनादि, it is अनन्तम्. Once the जीवात्मा merges with परमात्मा, the mortal जीवात्मा becomes the immortal परमात्मा, the अपूर्ण जीवात्मा becomes पूर्ण. Therefore the whole spiritual साधन is: जीवात्मा has to detach from the three गुणाs, i.e., matter and attach to परमात्मा. Therefore what is the साधन? Detachment-attachment is the साधन. Now also we have done detachment-attachment. The other way round. We have detached from परमात्मा (perfect detachment) and attached to everything else. Now just the reverse, detach from अनात्मा and attach with परमात्मा and that will give you immortality. And this wisdom of immortality, कृष्ण is symbolically presenting through ज्ञान मुद्र or चिन् मुद्र. And to that Lord, who is the greatest ज्ञानि, who is the greatest कर्मि and who is the kindest Lord, who blesses the devotee with everything he or she asks for, to that wonderful lord कृष्ण my नमस्कारम्. And because of these reasons alone, कृष्ण becomes the most popular one. The very word कृष्ण means the one who attracts the devotee. Imagine somebody gives you whatever you want. Naturally you will be attracted to that person. Therefore, by blessing the humanity, the Lord has become the greatest attractor. Therefore सर्वान् भक्तान् कर्षति आकर्षति इति कृष्ण. And to that कृष्ण, I offer my नमस्कार. This is the first verse on Lord कृष्ण. Now we will go to the next verse, the 5th verse.

देवकीपरमानन्दं कृष्णं वन्दे जगद्गुरुम् ॥ ५॥

वसुदेव-सुतम् देवम्, कंस-चाणूर-मर्दनम् , देवकी-परम-आनन्दम्, जगद्गुरुम्, कृष्णम् (अहम्) वन्दे ॥

The 5th verse is also कृष्ण नमस्कार. कृष्णम् वन्दे – I offer नमस्कार to Lord कृष्ण. And what is the greatness of the Lord?

- i) As a member of a family, as a person कृष्ण was great,
- ii) As a member of the society, citizen of the world, कृष्ण was great and
- iii) As the जगद्गुरु, कृष्ण is great.

Greatness of कृष्ण in three levels we get the description here. वसुदेव-सुतम् देवम् – so the Lord who is the son of वसुदेव. And not only the son of वसुदेव, देवकी-परम-आनन्दम् – a great source of joy to देवकी, his mother. Therefore, as a member of the family, Lord कृष्ण gave joy to the family members. This is where our duty begins. We should give happiness to our family members, then expanding we give happiness to the community, then expanding we give happiness to the next generation also. Some people are very good, they take care of the family but their contribution to the society is zero. There are great service-minded people, who take care of all the children in the society and leave out their own children at home. Children will be yearning for the father or mother; the lady has no time. Why? Slum children I am taking care of. That is also not correct. One has duty to the family, one has duty to the contemporary society, one has duty to the posterity also. कृष्ण fulfilled all the three successfully. Therefore वसुदेव-सुतम् देवकी-परम-आनन्दम् indicates कृष्ण's contribution to the family.

And what did He do the society? कंस-चाणूर-मर्दनम् – He destroyed all the असुराः who were a threat to the peace and harmony of the society, who were the embodiments of अधर्म. Such people Lord कृष्ण killed and saved humanity from अधर्म.

परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् ।

धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय ... ॥ ४-८॥

Thus by establishing धर्म, Lord contributed to their Society, His contemporary society.

Now the next question is how did He contribute to the posterity? Because by killing कंस and चाणूर, we are not going to get benefit, because we have got different types of कंसs and चाणूरs. कंस and चाणूर are the names of the असुराः. So to the posterity, कृष्ण's contribution is the भगवद्गीता. जगद्गुरुम् कृष्णम् – He taught the भगवद्गीता to अर्जुन and through अर्जुन, he has given the wisdom to not only the contemporary humanity, but even to the posterity. महाभारतम् war is supposed to have taken place, 3,102 BC. Somebody has calculated. So sometime around 3,000 BC. Now it is 2,000 AD. 5,000 years have gone. Even now भगवद्गीता is fresh and alive, capable of helping the students of the गीता. What better contribution we require from कृष्ण! Therefore, कृष्ण is called जगद्गुरुम्. The Lord, the teacher, the preceptor of the universe - to that wonderful Lord कृष्ण, I offer my नमस्कारः. Thus two verses on कृष्ण are over. Now we will see the next verse on कृष्ण. Verse no.6;

भीष्मद्रोणतटा जयद्रथजला गान्धारनीलोत्पला

शल्यब्राह्मवती कृपेण वहनी कर्णेन वेलाकुला ।

अश्वत्थामाविकर्णघोरमकरा दुर्योधनावर्तिनी

भीष्म-द्रोण-तटा (इव), जयद्रथ-जला (इव), गान्धार-नील-उत्पला (इव), शल्य-ब्राह्मवती (इव), कृपेण वहनी (इव), कर्णेन वेलाकुला (इव), अश्वत्थामा-विकर्ण-घोर-मकराः (इव), दुर्योधन-आवर्तिनी, सा रणनदी पाण्डवैः उतीर्णा खलु केशवः कैवर्तकः ॥

कैवर्तकः केशवः. In the 4th line, we have an expression कैवर्तकः केशवः. कैवर्तकः means a boatman. So the one who knows to ride a boat, to steer a boat even in the most tempestuous situation and even in a most treacherous river, the Lord can drive the boat. And in this beautiful verse, the महाभारतम् war is compared to a treacherous river. It is an analogy. महाभारतम् war is compared to a treacherous river, with so many varieties of dangers lurking and the पाण्डवs had to cross the river to save themselves and this was the biggest crisis and the biggest challenge in their lives. For the पाण्डवs, it was the महाभारतम् war and for every human being, there are situations in life which are treacherous, which are trying and which are dangerous. And a person who is caught up in such a situation is called आर्त पुरुष्. आर्तः means one who is helpless, one who is in soup, one who is cornered and one who doesn't know how to get out of the situation wherein all doors are closed and पाण्डवs were आर्तs when they had to face the महाभारतम् war and at that crucial moment, Lord कृष्ण became the savior. When they sent the SOS, you know SOS, Save Our Souls, Lord कृष्ण, became the savior and in the scriptures, such a savior is called आर्त त्राण परायण. आर्तानाम् आर्ति हन्तारम्. There is a श्लोक. And what is the danger that पाण्डव्स faced is described and what are the dangers involved in the महाभारतम् war is described here. For this river like महाभारतम् war, who were the two shores or banks of the river?

➤ It says भीष्म-द्रोण-तटा. If महाभारतम् is compared to the river, भीष्म and द्रोण were the banks which determined the direction of the war-river. Just as the banks determine the direction of the river; similarly, these people were two powerful warriors who can decide the course of the war. That is challenge No.1. In fact, two challenges.

➤ Then what is the next problem? जयद्रथ-जला. The water of the river is none other than जयद्रथ, सिन्धु राजा, the king of सिन्धु देश, who was also on the side of कौरव्स and was very, very powerful. And he is like the river whose depth cannot be fathomed. And him the पाण्डव्स had to face. Crisis no.3. Everyone is a danger.

➤ And शल्य-ब्राह्मवती. शल्य, another king of मद्र देश. माद्री, who is the wife of पाण्डु, comes from मद्र देश and king of मद्र देश is शल्य. He was another powerful person, related to पाण्डु, पाण्डु's wife is माद्री, but he joined the opposite party. He is the relative and joined the opposite party. And he was like ब्राह्मः – crocodile. So शल्य is like the crocodile in the river.

➤ And कृपेण वहनी. कृपाचार्य, another great archer who was the teacher of all the पाण्डवs. Along with the द्रोणाचार्य, कृपाचार्य was also a teacher of पाण्डवs, of कौरवs, of यादवs; such a powerful archer. And he was also unfortunately on the opposite side and he is like वहनी – like the powerful undercurrent. The undercurrent you never know, because superficially it is very calm and you go there and it just drags. And कृप was like the powerful current.

➤ And then there was कर्ण. कर्णेन वेलाकुला. कर्ण was like the turbulent waves in the waters. वेलाकुला. वेल means waves. आकुला means turbulent. So, turbulent, noisy, tossing, tornado like waves. कर्ण was powerful like a wave.

➤ Then अश्वत्थामा-विकर्ण-घोर-मकराः. And there were so many varieties of मकर. मकर is a type of man eating fish. There are certain flesh eating fish also. Smaller ones and bigger ones are there. And who are they? अश्वत्थामा, the son of द्रोणाचार्य.

➤ Then विकर्ण, brother of दुर्योधन, son of धृतराष्ट्र and they are like घोर मकराः, the flesh eating there is a type of fish called piranha, supposed to be flesh eating fish. So they are like that sharks. Jaws movie you might have seen. So they are like the sharks in the river.

➤ What about दुर्योधन? दुर्योधन-आवर्तिनी. आवर्तः means a whirlpool, an eddy, that which moves in a cyclic fashion. You know if you get caught in that, everything will be suck. Bermuda Triangle you would have read, where even ships disappear. So who is that? दुर्योधन is like the eddy or whirlpool of the river, महाभारतम् river, रणनदी.

And पाण्डवs, with a feeble catamaran want to cross the river. How is it humanly possible? What we know is that they crossed. It is impossible but they made it. And how was it possible? Because of the skilful boatman, oarsman. And who was that skilful director? कैवर्तकः केशवः. That means what: मधुसूदन सरस्वती says, that tomorrow if you face such a situation then you can also surrender to the Lord, you will find out a way. As somebody nicely said when all the doors are closed, remember all the doors are not closed. When all the doors are closed, remember, what, all the doors are not closed!! So therefore, Lord will help out all the आर्तs. So three verses on कृष्ण we have seen. Now we will go to the 8th verse.

मूकं करोति वाचालं पङ्गुं लङ्घयते गिरिम् ।

यत् कृपा मूकम् वाचालम् करोति, पङ्गुम् गिरिम् लङ्घयते (च) । तम् परम्-आनन्द-माधवम्, अहम् वन्दे ॥

परम्-आनन्द-माधवम् वन्दे – so I salute माधव. माधव means लक्ष्मीपति, श्रीपति. मा means लक्ष्मी देवी. धव – consort or husband. So, माधव means श्रीपति. And what type of नारायण? परमानन्द. Naturally, if लक्ष्मी is in your hands. If money is in the hand who will not smile? Therefore, Lord is very very very smart. Whether other things are there or not, he has kept लक्ष्मी beside. So naturally परमानन्द. And here it is not mere wealth in the form of money, remember, the greatest wealth is wisdom. Mere wealth alone need not give आनन्द, in fact, often wealth gives problems and causes quarrel among children. In fact, they wait for our death. So remember, लक्ष्मी is a source of आनन्द only when सरस्वती is there. And therefore Lord had wisdom also and therefore परमानन्द. And what does that Lord do? मूकम् वाचालम् करोति. So he makes a dumb person into an eloquent speaker, if only he surrenders to the Lord. That is, the Lord can do anything, he is सर्व शक्तिमान्. So मूकम् वाचालम् करोति. The other way round also. What is that? A person who talks too much, the Lord silences also, appropriately. Then पङ्गुम् गिरिम् लङ्घयते. He makes a lame person climb even Everest mountain. He is capable of giving strength. You know lame people have climbed Everest. So many handicapped people have climbed Everest. Because of what? Their willpower, which is the blessings of the Lord. Therefore, He makes the lame an Olympic champion. Then, यत् कृपा means that माधव कृपा, the grace of माधव makes all this possible. So माधव कृपा मूकम् वाचालम् करोति, पङ्गुम् गिरिम् लङ्घयते, तम् माधवम् अहम् वन्दे. I salute. And which means what? Here, for a गीता student what is the mountain? The गीता study; because 700 verses are there. And we are able to complete in a class 3-4 verses we have been seeing. So, at the rate of 3-4 verses a day, if we have to complete 700 verses, how many weeks are required is a home work. Tell me next week, how many weeks? Therefore how many months and therefore how many years required; I won't tell you now, then you won't come to the next class. So don't feel diffident, you can climb the गीता mountain and the successfully complete the study, if only you surrender to the Lord. That is why we are starting with a prayer. Oh Lord! Whether we are able to do or not You please make it possible. And now comes the 5th and final verse on Lord कृष्ण.

वेदैः साङ्गपदक्रमोपनिषदैर्गायन्ति यं सामगाः ।

ध्यानावस्थिततद्गतेन मनसा पश्यन्ति यं योगिनां

यम् ब्रह्मा वरुण इन्द्र रुद्र मरुतः दिव्यैः स्तवैः स्तुन्वन्ति, यम् सामगाः वेदैः साङ्ग-पद-क्रम-उपनिषदैः गायन्ति, यम् योगिनः ध्यान-अवस्थित तद्-गतेन मनसा पश्यन्ति, यस्य अन्तम् सुर-असुर-गणाः न विदुः, तस्मै देवाय नमः ॥ ९॥

तस्मै देवाय नमः. You can understand. My prostrations to that Lord. देवः means God. And what type of God? Not ordinary God. Go back to the first line; यम् स्तुन्वन्ति – which God is worshipped by so many other deities like ब्रह्म, वरुण, इन्द्र, मरुत, they are all names of various deities described in our scriptures. And of these deities, ब्रह्म is the greatest one, because he is the creator of this world, even that ब्रह्म worships विष्णु. From that it is very clear, how great विष्णु is or कृष्ण is. स्तुन्वन्ति – they all glorify, sing the glory. How? दिव्यैः स्तवैः – through divine hymns, sacred स्तोत्रम्s, sacred prayers. If you read भागवतम्, you will find off and on, this स्तुति comes, ध्रुव स्तुति, कुन्ती स्तुति, रुद्र स्तुति. So many devotees will glorify. Even ब्रह्म comes and glorifies विष्णु. If they themselves glorify, how glorious He must be. And not only that, they all glorify in the higher world. Because they are not available locally. Even here on the earth, all the devotees of the Lord glorify Him, सामगाः गायन्ति. सामगाः means the chanters of the सामवेद. गा – the chanter or the singer, which represent all the four वेदs; therefore those people who chant the four वेदs, here साम is specifically mentioned because सामवेद is in musical form. And therefore all the वैदिकs sing the glory of the Lord, वेदैः – through the four वेदs. स अङ्ग-पद-क्रम-उपनिषदैः – not only वेदs but अङ्गs, वेद has got so many satellite scriptures, secondary scriptures are there, which are meant to elaborate वेदs, which I have told in the introduction as the स्मृति ग्रन्थs. So अङ्गः means वेद अङ्गानि, six अङ्गs are there; we need not go to the details, it is enough if we note secondary scriptures called वेदाङ्गाः. And पद-क्रम. पद and क्रम represent different types of chanting the वेदs. They had ingeniously devised different types of chanting (they are संहिता, पद, क्रम, जटा and घन) of the वेदs.

i) One method of chanting is called पद chanting. पद पाठः where each word is chanted separately. Instead of chanting पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम् भगवता... you have to chant पार्थाय, प्रतिबोधिताम्, भगवता, (we will forget) each word is taken as a sentence.

ii) Then in क्रम they join two-two words. 1-2, 2-3 पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम्, प्रतिबोधिताम् भगवता, भगवता नारायणेन. This is called क्रम पाठः.

iii) Then there is a जटा पाठः where they have 1- 2, 2-1, 1-2; 2-3, 3-2, 2-3; 3-4, 4-3, 3-4. This is called जटा पाठः. You can try. पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम्, प्रतिबोधिताम् पार्थाय, पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम्; प्रतिबोधिताम् भगवता, भगवता प्रतिबोधिताम्, प्रतिबोधिताम् भगवता

iv) And then comes घन पाठः. A toughest form of chanting, where they have to do 1-2, 2-1, 1-2-3, 3-2-1, 1-2-3; 2-3, 3-2, 2-3-4, 4-3-2, 2-3-4. Even to talk in numbers it is difficult. 3-4, 4-3, 3-4-5, 5-4-3, 3-4-5; 4-5, 5-4, 4-5-6, 6-5-4, 4-5-6. Like that the words have to be joined and chanted. That is called घन पाठः.

All these different types of chanting are used for the glorification of the Lord. Therefore गायन्ति – they sing your Glory. And not only that, योगिनः यम् पश्यन्ति – great ज्ञानिs, great meditators (one who meditates) see the Lord in their own inner mind; they see the Lord मनसा तद्-गतेन – with a mind which is concentrated on the Lord. So with the help of a one pointed mind, एकाग्र मनसा the योगिs visualize or perceive the Lord, not outside, but inside, within. So ध्यान-अवस्थित – in the state of meditation; योगिs perceive the Lord inside. Devotees see the Lord outside, योगिs see the Lord inside. So योगिनः यम् पश्यन्ति. And यस्य अन्तम् न विदुः सुर-असुर-गणाः – even though the Lord is described in the scriptures as a person, the Real God is not a person. Even though God takes a personal form for the sake of the devotee, the Real God is not a person. Why do we say so? Because if God is also a person, like you and I, what will happen, can you guess? There will be limitation. First limitation is what? If you are in the Sterling club, you are not at home. If you are at home, you are not in Sterling club. This is called spatial limitation. And there will be time-wise limitation, if you are in this century, you are not in the previous or later centuries; there will be mortality. Therefore, real भगवान् does not have time-wise limitation and space-wise limitation. And where will be that God? Important! कौन बनेगा करोडपति! (Who will become a Millionaire!) quiz. Where is that God who does not have time-wise and space-wise limitation? This fellow thinks and tells वैकुण्ठ and कैलास. That is not the answer. If God is limitless, that God is in वैकुण्ठ also, in कैलास also, in the Sterling club also. So he says that Real God many people do not know. Therefore सुर-असुर-गणाः – so even the gods, देव and असुरs, न विदुः – do not know. यस्य अन्तम् अन्त means the limit of that Lord. What type of limit? Both limit – space-wise limit of the Lord as well as the time-wise limit of the Lord even देवs and असुरs do not know. Why they do not know? Because limit is not there; because भगवान् is limitless. So भगवान् has got two forms - one is a limited human form, temporarily taken for the sake of the devotee and limitless space-like form, which is his real nature. All the details we will get in the गीता. कृष्ण himself will say, that devotees think that I am Mr. कृष्ण located in गोकुल or some place. They are all fools, they take My body as Me. My body is only माया मानुष वेशः. The Real I am all-pervading. To that all-pervading Lord नमः – I offer नमस्कार. That means He will be available even in the 21st century in Sterling club also. That Lord is there to bless the students of the गीता. And may that Lord bless us all to successfully study and understand this great scripture. With this ध्यान श्लोकs of the गीता is over. From the next class, we will enter into गीता proper. And try to come regularly and if possible if you can write some kind of notes also, it will be useful, because you cannot keep all the ideas in the mind, as such you have memory problem. Nice to keep some kind of notes, you can make the points in the class or go home and keep a salient features and share this with the family if they wish to listen to you. It will be a revision for you.

Having completed the ध्यान श्लोकs, now we will enter the 1st chapter of the भगवद्गीता and the 1st chapter happens to be an introduction to the teaching of the गीता. It is in the form of a dialogue between Lord कृष्ण and अर्जुन, begins only in the 2nd chapter, especially in the 11th verse. From the 2nd chapter 11th verse, the actual गीता teaching begins and that is why आदि शङ्कराचार्य also, who writes a commentary on the गीता begins his commentary only from the 2nd chapter 11th verse. He does not write a commentary on the 1st Chapter and reason is that the 1st chapter happens to be an introduction to the गीता. But even though it is only an introduction, we cannot disregard this chapter because introduction is equally important and it puts the foundation for the गीता dialogue to take place. And therefore we will be seeing the 1st chapter also and in the 1st chapter i.e., the introductory chapter serves two purposes.

A. The first purpose of the 1st chapter is presenting the basic human problem known as संसार. So the presentation or the description of the basic human problem known as संसार comes in the 1st chapter. I call this 'basic human problem', because this human problem is universal, irrespective of the nationality, irrespective of religion, caste, education, sex, age, the आश्रम, irrespective of all the superficial human differences, the basic problem of संसार is common. And this does not belong to a particular time of history. This problem is a human problem at any time of history. This was faced by अर्जुन 5,000 years before and we are also facing or we will face in this century also and even after 10,000 years if the human beings are going to survive, they will continue to have this problem. And therefore, I am calling this as basic or fundamental problem, which the scriptures call संसारः. Presentation of this human disease, known as भव योगः, संसार योगः is the first purpose of the 1st chapter. And why should व्यासाचार्य describe the संसार disease in the 1st chapter? Because the entire गीताशास्त्र happens to be a remedy for this universal disease. The entire गीताशास्त्र, consisting of 17 chapters (from the 2nd chapter onwards) is presenting a remedy to this and therefore it is known as मोक्षशास्त्रम्. मोक्षशास्त्रम् means a scripture which deals with the remedy for the human problem of संसार. Unless we know the disease, we cannot appreciate the importance and relevance of the remedy. Therefore, संसार वर्णनम् is the first purpose of the प्रथम अध्यायः and that is why the very chapter is called अर्जुनविषादयोगः. In fact, here the word विषादः means संसारः. It is अर्जुन संसार योगः. So the human problem faced by अर्जुन in a particular context. This is the first purpose of the 1st chapter and what is that description I will deal with soon.

B. The second purpose of the 1st chapter is introducing the गुरु and the शिष्य whose dialogue is going to be the गीता teaching. The introduction of the preceptor, the spiritual guide, viz., Lord कृष्ण and अर्जुन, the spiritual seeker; they have to be introduced, because the entire गीता is in the form of a dialogue between them.

Now I will briefly discuss these two topics. Let us take the first one. संसार वर्णनम्. What is the description of संसार? The human problem can be presented in different ways, just like a disease can be explained in different ways, each system defines the disease in different ways. If an allopathic doctor describes or defines a disease, he has got a particular way; but the very same disease, if is diagnosed by an आयुर्वेद doctor, he has got only 3 principles - वातम्, पित्तम्, कफम्. One person may say it is jaundice or cancer or this or that; this is allopathic presentation of the problem but आयुर्वेद will present; but that this person suffers is the same but the presentation is different. Similarly, the scriptures also present the universal human problem in different formats in different contexts and in the 1st chapter, व्यासाचार्य presents in a particular fashion. What is that? व्यासाचार्य points out that संसार is a combination of three diseases, it is a syndrome. Not of one problem, but three diseases known as रगः शोकः and मोहः. The combination of these three is called संसार. What are these three?

i) The first one is रगः. It is an important word, whose significance must be clearly grasped, because throughout the गीता कृष्ण will repeat this word very often, especially those people who are associated with carnatic music, they must be very alert. (रग means they will ask कल्याणि, काम्भोजि). This is not carnatic music रगः. This is Vedantic रगः. The word रगः means attachment; emotional dependence, psychological addiction is रगः. And when we talk about रगः in the भगवद्गीता very often, we must differentiate this रगः or attachment from love, which is a very very similar and closer emotion. While attachment is very much criticized in the गीता love is something very much glorified in the गीता. While attachment is presented as a trait of a संसारि, love is presented as a trait and characteristic of a liberated saintly person. And therefore the word ‘attachment’ and ‘love’ must be very clearly differentiated. वेदान्त is against attachment. But वेदान्त is all for love. Now how do you differentiate attachment and love?

Attachment is based on selfishness. I am attached to a person. I am emotionally hooked or dependent or holding on to a person based on selfishness, which means all the time I think of what do I get; what do ‘I’ get out of this particular relationship. I never bother about what the other	Love is a totally different relationship, it is based on selflessness where I am not going to emphasize very much on what do ‘I’ get out of it, but I am interested in the other person also. Not

person gets out of this relationship. Either I don't care or it is only secondary. I am always interested in my happiness and for the sake of my happiness, when I emotionally depend upon a person, that selfish leaning, that selfish dependence is called युगलः.	that I should ignore my own well-being, I am interested in my happiness also but not at the cost of other person. Therefore, love is based on selflessness whereas attachment is based on selfishness.
Attachment is always in the form of taking. I hold on to things and situations and people for taking something.	Love is something which is based on giving and sacrifice. So one is in the form of taking; another is in the form of giving.
Attachment is always conditional. That as long as I am going to be benefitted by this relationship, as long as I am comfortable I hold on to that. The moment I am not comfortable, I drop the relationship like a hot potato and that conditional psychological dependence is called attachment.	Love is not based on conditions. It is unconditional.
And next, attachment invariably comes from a weak mind which is empty; which is not happy within itself and therefore it depends upon external factors for satisfaction, happiness, fulfillment, etc. Therefore attachment is born out of weakness.	Love is not born out of weakness but it comes out of strength and fullness.

clouded and therefore attachment will lead to violation of धर्म. Attachment will lead to violation of धर्म.	intellect is sane and clear and therefore it will never lead to the violation of धर्म.
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

These are the main differences between attachment and love. While love is a sign of freedom; attachment is a sign of bondage. And therefore, attachment is presented as the basic disease of संसार.

ii) Then the second disease, which is an expression of संसार, is born out of this attachment. What is that? शोक: or sorrow. Attachment will invariably lead to sorrow because I have been emotionally depending upon an external factor when the dependence goes away, which is very natural, definitely I am going to fall. Like a person who walks with a walking stick is going to heavily lean upon the walking stick. The moment the walking stick is gone, this person will fall down. Whereas imagine another person who goes with a baton, a stick without leaning on that, we can see early morning several people walking, they don't lean on that. Just for style. Now they hold it, but they don't lean on it. If I lean on the stick, when it is a crutch, the moment that is gone, I am flat; but if I am just holding it, even if it is lost, nothing is going to happen. Similarly, attachment is a psychological crutch which will make me psychologically flat, frustrated and disappointed. In fact, I am shocked, when the object of dependence goes away from me. And unfortunately, whatever object I depend upon psychologically is impermanent in nature, whether it is possession, whether it is people, whether it is property, whether it is position, whether it is the very physical body, whatever I am attached to, whatever I am psychologically leaning upon is impermanent. That means any time in future, I am going to lose that; making me, or leaving me high and dry. And therefore वेदान्त asks the question, what preparation you have to face this potential threat? Because every human being has to face; we are preparing for our old age. Because we are going to earn until we retire and we know that that income source is going to go away after retirement and therefore, we are preparing for old-age, by saving or by insurance, by mediclaim, they are all physical security we are preparing. But for psychological leaning and the consequent future loss, what preparation are we making? And as long as we don't prepare our future is in danger, psychologically in danger. And this pain, this psychological fall, this psychological depression a person faces because of the loss of the object of attachment is called शोकः, sorrow. And what गीता says is the preparation cannot be done when the problem comes; the preparation has to be early. For old age when do you prepare? Is it in old age? No, from now itself, by PF, other thing, share, etc we do that. Not after old age we start thinking. Therefore, we try to solve the problem of old age not in old age, but when we are young. In the same way, when the object of attachment is lost, whatever pain will come, we can never solve that pain at that time and therefore the preparation has to be when things are around and comfortable. That is called 'farsightedness.'

यावत्चेन्द्रियशक्तिरप्रतिहता यावत्क्षयो नायुषः ।

आत्मश्रेयसि तावदेव विदुषा कार्यः प्रयत्नो महा

न्संदीप्ते सदने तु कूपखननम् प्रत्युद्यमः कीदृशः ॥ वैराग्य शतकम् ७७ ॥

The psychological strengthening process, psychological insurance should be, when? यावत्स्वस्थमिदम् – when physically I am healthy, when I am psychologically healthy, when the sense organs are intact, when the family members are reasonably cooperative, when the business conditions are also reasonably good, when everything is fine, आत्मश्रेयसि तावदेव कार्यः प्रयत्नो महान् – at that time be farsighted. If you try to solve a problem when the tragedy has struck, that is a foolish approach; it is like digging a well when the house is on fire. Therefore, be farsighted because every attachment is a potential sorrow. Therefore the second disease is attachment borne sorrow.

iii) The third disease व्यासाचार्य presents is मोहः. मोहः means delusion. When there is रागः and शोकः attachment and consequent frustration or worry, the intellect does not function properly. The intellect is veiled by, the intellectual is clouded by रागः and शोकः. And when a clouded intellect takes decisions, all those decisions will be wrong decisions. And all the wrong decisions will appear as right decision and all right decisions will appear as wrong decision. This inversion of things, this clouded perception is called मोहः, which will lead to अधार्मिक way of life. अधर्म will be seen as धर्म and धर्म will be seen as अधर्म. This delusion, this confusion is called मोहः. And it becomes a vicious cycle. Once I get clouded, once my vision is clouded then my actions will be wrong and because of that the situation will be worse and again because that I will be worried and again I will take wrong decisions, like a chain reaction, the whole life will be a series of रागः-शोकः- to मोहः. मोहः to again रागः to शोकः. In fact, a person never gets out of dependence. He will be shuffling the dependence from one object to other. Instead of working for freedom, he will be only changing from one dependence to another, like a person who gives up smoking and takes to snuff. You have not solved the problem. You have only changed the disease from one disease to another.

This cycle of shuffling the diseases and going from suffering to suffering is the human problem, which is known as संसारः. And presenting this संसारः is the purpose of the 1st chapter and the purpose of the later 17 chapters is how to get out of this whole whirlpool or vicious cycle, so that I am an independent person. Not physically; physical independence nobody can get. Psychologically I am an independent person. This is called मोक्षः or freedom. This is the first purpose of the 1st chapter.

And then what is the second purpose? I said, introducing, गुरु-शिष्य and the context. And why the scriptures should introduce the गुरु and शिष्य. All the spiritual teachings that are found in the scriptures are generally in the form of dialogues. They are presented in the form of a dialogue to show that we have to gain spiritual knowledge only with the help of a spiritual guide; we should never attempt individually. Therefore, the self-medication or self-effort without guidance can be counter-productive like self-medication can be often dangerous. If you do not take any medicine, it is OK. But we take medicine, because somebody took that medicine for his headache, so also me; the headache can be because of 2500 reasons including one of the family members may be one of the reasons. Anything tooth can cause headache, ears can cause headache, eyes can cause headache, neighbors can cause headache, stomach problem can cause headache, anything can cause including worry. Therefore, dialogue indicates that a teacher or a spiritual guide is required if a person wants consistent progress. Without that we can get some idea of spirituality and often it will be confused ideas or worse misunderstood also. And therefore, the importance of गुरु is highlighted.

And then the qualifications of the teacher and the student also can be presented. So therefore the second purpose of introducing a teacher and a student is to show who is a qualified गुरु and who is a qualified शिष्य. The गुरु is Lord कृष्ण himself and the disciple is अर्जुन.

And the context is also presented. The context is the महाभारत war. I need not describe this elaborately as you know very well the महाभारत war is a war between पाण्डव्स who are धार्मिक people and कौरव्स who are अधार्मिक, unrighteous people. And the पाण्डव्स wanted to avoid war by all means, even though they knew that the कौरव्स are doing अधर्म, they have done all types of अक्रम and they have taken away पाण्डव's land. They tried साम, दान, भेदः - all the non-violent methods they tried. Because अहिम्सा परमो धर्मः. The scriptures point out that अहिम्सा is an important value. And being धार्मिक people, पाण्डव्स tried the अहिम्सा method. But later they found that the अहिम्सा method does not work and therefore, as a last resort, they decide to resort to war. And हिम्सा is accepted in our scriptures under certain conditions. अहिम्सा is not an absolute value. अहिम्सा is a conditional value, the scriptures allow certain conditions under which a person can take to हिम्सा. That is why, even our gods, they are all said to be embodiments of compassion, they are described करुणासागरः कृपासागरः etc but you will find that all our gods have got weapons - कोदण्डपाणि, पिनाकपाणि, सुदर्शनचक्र all gods keep, why because, if non-violent methods fail, for the sake of परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय destruction is allowed. It is not अधर्म. It is exactly like a doctor amputating one of the limbs. No doctor loves the job of amputation, cutting a limb. All his attempts will be to save the limb alone through medication. But the moment he has seen that by medication, the disease cannot be cured, not only that it is going to spread further and destroy the whole individual then the doctor out of compassion, not out of anger or hatred, out of compassion the doctor decides to amputate it. In the same way, in the society also, if there is अधर्म anywhere, then we have to, especially a क्षत्रिय, who has to rectify the अधर्म by non-violent methods and if non-violent methods fail, a क्षत्रिय can take to a violent method and the पाण्डव्स thought over this violent option for long because they were there in the forest for 13 years and they suffered all kinds of problems being kings and क्षत्रिय्स and they have thought whether it is proper to fight. And then after consulting, after thinking very well, they decided that war alone is the only solution. Amputation दुर्योधनो-nectomy. Finish him off. There is no other way and therefore, they have thoughtfully decided to take to this धर्म युद्धम्. And what do we find? When both of them, both the armies join together and they are about to fight this war, then अर्जुन

feels like supervising the army on the opposite side and he requests कृष्ण to bring the chariot in front of the opposite side and then he surveys the people and the people he sees in the front happens to be not दुर्योधन. If he had seen दुर्योधन, his anger would have burst out. But instead of दुर्योधन whom he saw was भीष्म, द्रोण, etc and with them अर्जुन had the problem of 'attachment.' How do we know whether it is attachment or love? It is very difficult. I told you that the difference between attachment and love is that attachment will lead a person to violate धर्म whereas in the case of love there would not be violation of धर्म. In the case of अर्जुन, he has the problem of attachment, because his thinking becomes clouded as a result of that. How come we know that his thinking becomes clouded? Very simple. After 13 years of reasoning, he had come to the conclusion that this महाभारत war is धर्म युद्धम्. He had thought out very well. But suddenly, in a moment, he begins to see the very same महाभारत war as अधर्म युद्धम्. And therefore, there is a twisting in perception; धर्म is seen as अधर्म. And not only that, having decided to take to war, a क्षत्रिय should never withdraw from the war and when a क्षत्रिय is responsible for his family, he should never run away from family life and take to सन्न्यास. Misplaced सन्न्यास is also अधर्म. What is misplaced सन्न्यास? Whenever problem comes run away. Escapist-सन्न्यास is अधर्म. And अर्जुन knows this very well but in the battle field, he talks about taking to सन्न्यास. So he sees the अधार्मिक सन्न्यास as धर्म and he sees the धर्म युद्धम् as अधर्म, which is an indication of muddled thinking. And not only it is very clear for us, this becomes clear for अर्जुन himself because later अर्जुन himself confesses to कृष्ण and says

हे कृष्ण! I am confused. Wherever confusion has come, attachment is lingering somewhere. Isn't it? Suppose we are working somewhere, we are the head of some institution or company. When somebody commits a mistake and report comes. Immediately we see the laws. According to the laws, this is the punishment for this mistake. And this boss decides, 'yes, you please give that punishment.' Then somebody comes and tells, 'do you know who has done that? It is your brother-in-law.' Suppose, now the moment the news-item comes, then, you are in dilemma. Conflict comes when there is some axe to grind, some involvement is there. Otherwise everyone is very धार्मिक when they have to take decisions with regard to somebody else. So, why we are not able to think clearly? Even they say, even the best doctor will find it difficult to do a very difficult surgery, if the patient happens to be his own child, because it is not that he is not doing as a perfect professionalist, but he is doing that as a father also; then the problem comes and therefore we find in the 1st chapter of the गीता, अर्जुन goes through the problem of रागः towards भीष्म and द्रोण and this रागः leads to शोकः and this शोकः leads to मोहः and अर्जुन finds himself helpless.

And the moment he discovers the helplessness, he surrenders to Lord कृष्ण, who knows the medicine. And therefore what is the qualification of the student? Discovery of the human problem is the basic qualification of the student because without discovering the problem, he will never know the relevance of the remedy. So therefore, discovery of the problem.

And what is the qualification of the गुरु? He should be free from that disease and also he should know the remedy. The one who is free from the problem and the one who knows the remedy, that person is गुरु. And here we find अर्जुन has the qualification to be a disciple and कृष्ण is more than qualified to be a गुरु and since two qualified people come together, the conditions are ideal for a spiritual dialogue to take place and therefore the dialogue starts from the 11th verse of the 2nd chapter. These are the two purposes of the 1st chapter. Presenting the problem, presenting the गुरु and the शिष्य. With this background, we will enter into the verses.

Verse No .01

अथ प्रथमोऽध्यायः ।

धृतराष्ट्रः उवाच ।

धर्मक्षेत्रे कुरुक्षेत्रे समवेता युयुत्सवः ।

मामकाः पाण्डवाश्चैव किमकुर्वत सञ्जय ॥ १-१॥

धर्म-क्षेत्रे कुरु-क्षेत्रे समवेताः युयुत्सवः ।

हे सञ्जय! धर्म-क्षेत्रे, कुरु-क्षेत्रे, युयुत्सवः समवेताः मामकाः पाण्डवाः च एव किम् अकुर्वत ?

व्यासाचार्य presents the context. The two armies have assembled. दुर्योधन's army is very powerful, both qualitatively and quantitatively he has got more number of soldiers and also many of them are अतिरथिs and महारथिs, very powerful. And पाण्डव's army is weaker, both qualitatively and quantitatively, but the पाण्डव's have got one plus factor, the most powerful factor – कैवर्तक केशवः – that boatman, that Lord is with पाण्डव's. Before the war is to begin we find धृतराष्ट्र is asking सञ्जय, what is happening there? As you know that the धृतराष्ट्र is a blind father of कौरव's. The blindness of धृतराष्ट्र indicates the अविवेकः or his indiscrimination. Even though धृतराष्ट्र very well knew that the कौरव's are resorting to अधार्मिक activities, he does not stop them out of his problem of attachment. Even though he may not know what is धर्म by himself, विदुर was there very much constantly advising him and guiding him; knowingly he violates all these norms. That inward blindness is symbolized in the महाभारतम् as the blind धृतराष्ट्र. Even though he is blind, because of the grace of व्यासाचार्य he has been given an opportunity to know what is happening in the battle field. सञ्जय has been given the special power of the television – the capacity to see what is beyond the range of perception. व्यासाचार्य had the power of दीर्घदर्शनम् and temporarily he blesses सञ्जय with this power. Therefore सञ्जय and धृतराष्ट्र are seated together. सञ्जय is seeing what is happening there and धृतराष्ट्र is asking सञ्जय thus: हे सञ्जय! किम् अकुर्वत? – What did these people do? Who are they? मामकाः पाण्डवाः च एव. मामकाः means my people viz., कौरवs. पाण्डवाः च एव means and also पाण्डु's children. Not only कौरवs and पाण्डवs but all the other kings who have joined these two parties. Where they have assembled? धर्म-क्षेत्रे, कुरु-क्षेत्रे समवेताः – they have assembled in the कुरुक्षेत्र. Even now that कुरुक्षेत्र is available, you can see that that tree also is there. They say it is that tree which symbolizes the dialogue. Therefore in the कुरुक्षेत्र, which is धर्मक्षेत्र, which is considered as the land of धर्म, in that land समवेताः – they have assembled together. For what purpose? Not for a get-together, not for a tea party, but युयुत्सवः – with a desire to fight it out (very unfortunate desire, but that is what it is). What happened at that time? Continuing;

सञ्जयः उवाच ।

दृष्ट्वा तु पाण्डवानीकं व्यूढं दुर्योधनस्तदा ।

आचार्यमुपसङ्गम्य राजा वचनमब्रवीत् ॥ १-२॥

दृष्ट्वा तु पाण्डव-अनीकम् व्यूढम् दुर्योधनः तदा ।

आचार्यम् उपसङ्गम्य राजा वचनम् अब्रवीत् ॥ १-२॥

तदा तु पाण्डव-अनीकम् व्यूढम् दृष्ट्वा, राजा दुर्योधनः आचार्यम् उपसङ्गम्य, (इदं) वचनम् अब्रवीत् ॥

सञ्जय replies. So he says, राजा दुर्योधनः पाण्डव-अनीकम् दृष्ट्वा – so the king दुर्योधन saw the army of the पाण्डव. अनीकम् means army, which is व्यूढम् – well arranged. According to युद्धशास्त्र they have got varieties of व्यूढs. व्यूढम् means a particular manner of arranging the armies. पद्म व्यूढम्, चक्र व्यूढम्, गरुड व्यूढम्, etc., they are all tactical positioning, just to trap the enemies. {You know how अभिमन्यु got trapped into one of these व्यूढs he knew how to get in (like some of the temples, huge temples like मधुरै मीनाक्षी temple, like that here in this war)} It is done with the negative motive so that the opposite party gets trapped and therefore पाण्डव-अनीकम् व्यूढम्, व्यूढम् means tactically arranged in the form of various particular form of व्यूढम्s, that दुर्योधन saw. After surveying them, आचार्यम् उपसङ्गम्य राजा दुर्योधन approached his आचार्य, his गुरु in warfare. Not गुरु in any other field but in युद्धशास्त्र. Who is that? द्रोणाचार्य, he is the आचार्य. He approached द्रोण and वचनम् अब्रवीत् – he addressed द्रोणाचार्य in the following words. What did दुर्योधन say to द्रोण?

Verse No .03

पश्यैतां पाण्डुपुत्राणामाचार्य महतीं चमूम् ।

व्यूढां द्रुपदपुत्रेण तव शिष्येण धीमता ॥ १-३॥

पश्य एताम् पाण्डु-पुत्राणाम् आचार्य महतीम् चमूम् ।

व्यूढाम् द्रुपद-पुत्रेण तव शिष्येण धीमता ॥ १-३॥

हे आचार्य! तव धीमता शिष्येण, द्रुपद-पुत्रेण व्यूढाम् पाण्डु-पुत्राणाम् एताम् महतीम् चमूम् पश्य ।

So here we have to supply दुर्योधन उवाच. It is not said, but it is understood because these are the words of दुर्योधन. So हे आचार्य! हे द्रोण! पाण्डु-पुत्राणाम् महतीम् चमूम् पश्य – may you see this huge army of the पाण्डवस! And who is the head of the army, who is the leader of the army? He says द्रुपद-पुत्रेण व्यूढाम्. द्रुपदपुत्र is the son of द्रुपद, viz., धृष्टद्युम्न. धृष्टद्युम्न, the son of द्रुपद, is the leader of the army and the leader alone arranges the army and therefore he says द्रुपद-पुत्रेण व्यूढाम्, which is arranged by द्रुपदपुत्र and who is this धृष्टद्युम्न? So दुर्योधन is very angry and he says, तव शिष्येण. In the family also, when the son does some mischief, the wife or husband will tell, ‘your son has done this’, as though he is not his/her son. Without him/her, how the पुत्र is going to come. When he gets first class then, ‘my son’; mistake, then ‘your son.’ Like that, दुर्योधन is saying, your शिष्य has done all this mischief, तव शिष्य. Not only he is your शिष्य, but धीमता – he is a clever, a cunning शिष्य. Why he is a cunning शिष्य? Because he has learnt all the archery from you and he is using that knowledge to destroy you, like joining a company and learning all the skills and start another company and become the competitor of the original one. See the अक्रमम्. In fact, I hear that is happening everywhere. Similarly, here also, in fact, धृष्टद्युम्न is born exclusively for killing द्रोण, because द्रुपद and द्रोण had a rivalry and द्रुपद was not powerful enough to destroy द्रोण and द्रुपद conducts an exclusive यागः to get a son to kill द्रोण. See for what all they use पूजा! Doing all पूजाs to destroy people. कृष्ण will talk about this as तामस पूजा. तामस पूजा is a पूजा which is meant to destroy others. राजस पूजा is a पूजा which is done purely for selfish gain. सात्त्विक पूजा is a पूजा done for the well-being of the whole world. लोकाः समस्तः सुखिनो भवन्तुः. Now द्रुपद has done a यागः and out of the यागः- the अग्नि कुण्डः, धृष्टद्युम्न comes, what is the purpose? To kill द्रोण! And the most ironical thing is धृष्टद्युम्न goes to द्रोण to learn archery. And द्रोण teaches the skills knowingly that he is going to use all these against me; because the rule is that once a qualified शिष्य comes, asking for a knowledge and if I have the knowledge, I have to give. That is धर्मशास्त्र. Just as a parent has to bring up the child, without bothering whether the child is going to protect me in future or not. That is the approach of धर्म; that is approach of any relationships. Here also, द्रोण gives all his knowledge to धृष्टद्युम्न and that is what दुर्योधन is reminding द्रोण. हे द्रोण! he has learnt from you and he is standing there to kill you. Therefore धीमता – by this clever धृष्टद्युम्न, this army has been arranged. More in the next class.

I said in the last class that the 1st chapter serves two purposes. The first purpose is presenting the problem of संसारः, which is in the form of रगः, शोकः and मोहः रगः, शोकः and मोहः – Attachment, Grief and Delusion. And this problem of संसारः has to be presented because the entire गीता teaching which starts from the 2nd chapter happens to be a solution for this disease called संसार. Therefore, unless one discovers the disease or the problem he will never know the value of the medicine. And therefore, व्यासाचार्य through the 1st chapter presents the problem of संसार. And the second purpose of the 1st chapter is to bring the student and the teacher together i.e., student-अर्जुन and teacher-कृष्ण have to be brought together. And this is important because, Self-knowledge has to be gained only with the help of a गुरु; not by an independent attempt. And while introducing the teacher and the student, व्यासाचार्य will indirectly reveal the qualifications of the student and also the qualifications of the teacher. And only when both the teacher and the student, गुरु -शिष्य are properly qualified, then and then alone the dialogue will become successful. And therefore, the second purpose of the 1st chapter is introducing the student and teacher and for this purpose, व्यासाचार्य is presenting the context. And the context is महाभारत war. Both the armies have decided to settle their dispute by this unfortunate violent method of महाभारत war and they have assembled together. And धृष्टद्युम्न has arranged the army of the पाण्डव्स and कौरव्स are also ready to begin the war. And just before beginning this battle, दुर्योधन comes in front of द्रोणाचार्य who happens to be their गुरु and he is addressing द्रोण in the following verses beginning from the third श्लोक onwards and therefore the third श्लोक is दुर्योधन उवाच. दुर्योधन uttered the following words to द्रोणाचार्य and we saw this verse in the last class. पश्यैतां पाण्डुपुत्राणामाचार्य महतीं चमूम् ।

व्यूढां द्रुपदपुत्रेण तव शिष्येण धीमता ॥

हे द्रोणाचार्य! please survey the army of पाण्डव which is a huge and vast army which is arranged by द्रुपद पुत्र, i.e., धृष्टद्युम्न and who is a cunning person; because he has learnt archery from द्रोणाचार्य and he is going to use the very same knowledge against द्रोणाचार्य and दुर्योधन continues in the following verses also, which we will read.

Verse No .04

अत्र शूरा महेष्वासा भीमार्जुनसमा युधि ।

युयुधानो विराटश्च द्रुपदश्च महारथः ॥ १-४॥

अत्र शूराः महा-इषु-आसाः भीम-अर्जुन-समाः युधि ।

युयुधानः विराटः च द्रुपदः च महारथः ॥ १-४॥

अत्र, भीम-अर्जुन-समाः युधि शूराः महा-इषु-आसाः, महारथः युयुधानः, विराटः च द्रुपदः च ।

दुर्योधन's words continue and in these verses दुर्योधन is enlisting the important warriors, the powerful soldiers in पाण्डव's army. And who are they: अत्र शूरा महेष्वासा महारथः शूराः means valorous ones, courageous ones, who are not frightened of our army and they are all महेष्वासा. इष्वासः means a bow, a धनु, महेष्वासा means a महा धनु, those who are wielding powerful bows which are received from great sources, including the divine sources. Therefore they are wielding powerful bows and arrows and each one of them is a महारथः or महारथि. महारथि or महारथ is a title given to certain soldiers based on their accomplishment and capacity. So they have got अर्धरथः in a particular level, in a higher level रथि, still higher level महारथि, still higher level अतिरथि. And महारथि is defined as:

शस्त्रशस्त्रप्रवीणश्च महारथ इति स्मृतः ॥

Who can have the title of महारथि? The one who can single-handedly fight 10,000 soldiers at one time. एकः सन् – single handed, दश सहस्राणि धन्विनाम् योधये. Imagine the strength of that warrior if he has to face 10,000 soldiers simultaneously. And such a person is called महारथि and if a person can fight more than 10,000 अमितान्योधयेद्यस्तु संप्रोक्तोऽतिरथस्थः । If he has to get the title अतिरथ or अतिरथि he must be able to fight more than 10,000 people वैकेन (रथस्त्वेकेन) यो युध्येतन्न्यूनोऽर्धरथः स्मृतः and दुर्योधन says here that the पाण्डव's army has got many महारथिs. Therefore he says शूराः महेष्वासा महारथः and भीम-अर्जुन-समाः and almost every other warrior is as powerful as भीम and अर्जुन. Not in eating but युधि, in fighting they are as great as भीम and अर्जुन. Who are they? For sample he gives some name, युयुधानः, युयुधान is another name for सात्यकि, he is a warrior; then विराटः, विराट राज and द्रुपदः, द्रौपदी's father, all these are great महारथि and not only them more people are there who are they:

Verse No .05

धृष्टकेतुश्चेकितानः काशिराजश्च वीर्यवान् ।

पुरुजित्कुन्तिभोजश्च शैब्यश्च नरपुङ्गवः ॥ १-७॥

धृष्टकेतुः चेकितानः काशिराजः च वीर्यवान् ।

पुरुजित् कुन्तिभोजः च शैब्यः च नर-पुङ्गवः ॥ १-७॥

धृष्टकेतुः, चेकितानः च वीर्यवान् काशिराजः च पुरुजित् कुन्तिभोजः च नर-पुङ्गवः शैब्यः च ।

Not only सात्यकि, विराट and द्रुपद but there are more powerful warriors named (these are all proper names of various warriors): धृष्टकेतुः is one name; चेकितानः is another name; काशिराजः is the king of काशि and वीर्यवान् is not a name, but it is an adjective to काशिराजः, वीर्यवान् काशिराजः – the most powerful king of काशि. Then पुरुजित् is another name, कुन्तिभोजः another name, कुन्ती's father is called कुन्तिभोजः; then शैब्यः another name; all these are great warriors and नर-पुङ्गवः is an adjective of शैब्य it is not another name, it is difficult to find out which is noun and which is verb. नर-पुङ्गवः – the greatest among men, i.e., शैब्य. All these people belong to पाण्डव's army. And as even दुर्योधन is enumerating, his fear is increasing. Continuing;

Verse No .06

युधामन्युश्च विक्रान्त उत्तमौजाश्च वीर्यवान् ।

सौभद्रो द्रौपदेयाश्च सर्वे एव महारथाः ॥ १-६॥

युधामन्युः च विक्रान्तः उत्तमौजाः च वीर्यवान् ।

सौभद्रः द्रौपदेयाः च सर्वे एव महारथाः ॥ १-६॥

विक्रान्तः युधामन्युः च वीर्यवान् उत्तमौजाः सौभद्रः च, द्रौपदेयाः च सर्वे महारथाः एव ।

And there are more soldiers, powerful ones on their side. युधामन्युः another proper name; then विक्रान्तः should be adjective to युधामन्युः, विक्रान्तः युधामन्युः – the very powerful, the valours युधामन्युः. In Indian army there was a ship called विक्रान्त. So विक्रान्त – the very powerful one; उत्तमौजाः वीर्यवान् Similarly, वीर्यवान् is an adjective to उत्तमौजाः. उत्तमौजाः is the name of another warrior and वीर्यवान् – the powerful one. So the powerful उत्तमौजाः, the powerful युधामन्युः and सौभद्रः, सौभद्र another name of अभिमन्यु. सौभद्रायाः अपत्यम् पुमान् सौभद्रः, son of सुभद्र is सौभद्र, the most powerful अभिमन्यु; द्रौपदेयाः च, the five sons of द्रौपदी. द्रौपदी had one son from each पाण्डव and these five sons are here called द्रौपदेयाः; द्रौपदी पुत्रा, they were also powerful warriors in the महाभारत war and how powerful they are: सर्वे एव महारथाः. All of them are महारथिः. Continuing;

Verse No .07

अस्माकं तु विशिष्टा ये तान्निबोध द्विजोत्तम ।

नायका मम सैन्यस्य संज्ञार्थं तान्ब्रवीमि ते ॥ १-७॥

अस्माकम् तु विशिष्टाः ये तान् निबोध द्विज-उत्तम ।

नायकाः मम सैन्यस्य संज्ञार्थं तान् ब्रवीमि ते ॥ १-७॥

हे द्विज-उत्तम! अस्माकम् तु ये विशिष्टाः, मम सैन्यस्य नायकाः, तान् निबोध । तान् संज्ञार्थम् ते ब्रवीमि ।

दुर्योधन continues having enumerated the important people of पाण्डव's army, now he is giving a list of the important men in his own army. So the idea is that he can compare and contrast the relative strengths of both the armies. Even in sports, if they have to play a particular game, they have to study the strength and weakness of each and every player, who is a good batsman what are the strengths and what are the weaknesses, who is a fast bowler, who is a spinner, so each one's strengths and weaknesses they study, it is almost like a war. Here also दुर्योधन wants to make a comparative study of the strength and weaknesses of both the armies. Now he says हे द्विज-उत्तम! means द्रोणाचार्य, you should remember, द्रोण is a ब्राह्मण and according to वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म, a ब्राह्मण should not take to क्षत्रिय धर्म. A ब्राह्मण should not take to वैश्य धर्म. He cannot fight a war, he cannot do business and he cannot serve in any company, according to वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म. I am telling the regular वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म rule and a ब्राह्मण has got only six duties; यजनम्-याजनम्, पठणम्-पाठणम्, दानम्-प्रतिग्रहः षट्-कर्माणि ब्राह्मण कर्माणि. यजनम्-याजनम् – doing the rituals and पुजा is the यजनम् and याजनम् means helping the क्षत्रिय and वैश्य and शूद्र to do their duties. Himself he should do the वैदिक कर्म and he also should officiate as a priest. We cannot say priest-ब्राह्मण. ब्राह्मण's only job is priesthood. The second pair is पठणम्-पाठणम्. He should study the scriptures and also he should transfer the knowledge to the other three groups' i.e., क्षत्रिय, वैश्य and शूद्र. A क्षत्रिय can do यजनम् but he can never do याजनम्. A क्षत्रिय can do वेद अध्ययनम् but a क्षत्रिय can never do वेद अध्यापनम्. He can learn but he cannot teach. वैश्य can learn वेद but he cannot teach. ब्राह्मण alone can learn and teach, do and officiate. Finally दानम् and प्रतिग्रहः. दानम्, as you know, giving दानम्, gifts, charity or दक्षिणा. Not only giving, प्रतिग्रहः च, he can receive दानम् also. क्षत्रिय can give दानम्; but he has no right to receive दानम्. Similarly, वैश्य can give दानम्. क्षत्रिय वैश्य शूद्रs these three have got यजनम्, दानम् and पठणम्. They cannot do याजनम्, पाठणम् and प्रतिग्रहः. This is वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म and द्रोण is one of the persons who started violating that धर्म and we are all followers of द्रोणाचार्य. We are getting a backing from द्रोण. That is why in महाभारत war, when a context comes, भीम scolds द्रोण left and right. What are you doing? What right you have to fight this war? You can learn archery and you can teach archery. A ब्राह्मण can learn archery and teach archery; but he is not supposed to join any war. And भीम scolds and द्रोण does not have any answer to that. Anyway, दुर्योधन here addresses हे द्विज-उत्तम! हे ब्राह्मण श्रेष्ठ! तान् निबोध – May you note the important warriors on our side, अस्माकम् विशिष्टाः. अस्माकम् means among our warriors विशिष्टाः important prominent ones who are नायकाः मम सैन्यस्य – who are the commanders the leaders of our army and why am I enumerating? संज्ञार्थम् ते तान् ब्रवीमि – I am just giving this for your information. I know that you already know them. Still I am enumerating them; so that you can have an idea about the relative strengths. And who are in this army? He enumerates.

अश्वत्थामा विकर्णश्च सौमदतिर्ययद्रथः ॥ १-८॥

भवान् भीष्मः च कर्णः च कृपः च समितिञ्जयः ।

अश्वत्थामा विकर्णः च सौमदतिः तथा एव च ॥ १-८॥

भवान् भीष्मः च कर्णः च समितिञ्जयः कृपः च अश्वत्थामा विकर्णः च तथा एव च सौमदतिः ।

So he gives the list. First and topmost in the list is भवान्. भवान् is not the name of a warrior. भवान् means Your Honor, You. First दुर्योधन enlists द्रोण. You are the first one. You are also the गुरु of all these people. Next one is भीष्मः, the Great भीष्मः; च then कर्णः, the great कर्णः; then कृपः and समितिञ्जयः. It is not a name of a person, is an adjective to कृपः. समितिञ्जयः कृपः – the one who is ever victorious in a war. The one who has never been defeated. Undefeatable person is called समितिञ्जयः. समितिः means युद्धः. जयः means victorious. समितिन् जयति सर्वता इति समितिञ्जयः – One who has never seen a defeat. Who is that? कृप. कृपाचार्य and अश्वत्थामा, who is also a great warrior; विकर्णः is another name, you all know the महाभारत story and therefore I do not want to bring the story part here. अश्वत्थामा, you know and विकर्णः is another name to दुर्योधन's brother and सौमदतिः another name of a warrior; तथा एव च all these people are powerful warriors on our side. And not only there are these people, more are there. He adds in the next श्लोक.

नानाशस्त्रप्रहरणाः सर्वे युद्धविशारदाः ॥ १-९॥

अन्ये च बहवः शूराः मदर्थे त्यक्त-जीविताः ।

नाना-शस्त्र-प्रहरणाः सर्वे युद्ध-विशारदाः ॥ १-९॥

अन्ये च बहवः शूराः सर्वे मदर्थे त्यक्त-जीविताः नाना-शस्त्र-प्रहरणाः युद्ध-विशारदाः (सन्ति)।

Not only previously listed people, but there are more on our side. अन्ये च बहवः शूराः – and there are many other powerful ones and who are they? मदर्थे त्यक्त-जीविताः – out of respect for me, to support me, they have renounced their lives, they have kept their own lives at stakes and joined this army. Even though they are not directly involved in this war, they have come to support me. Like in the First World War and Second World War, the actual war is between two countries only but the others joined to support. In the same way, India had many kingdoms and all these kings have divided themselves into two groups and they had joined either पाण्डव or कौरव therefore it was something mini-world war itself and therefore मदर्थे त्यक्त-जीविताः – they have renounced their life for my sake. And they are not ordinary people, नाना-शस्त्र-प्रहरणाः – they have got varieties of weapons and varieties of missiles. प्रहरणम्, means missiles. शस्त्र, means weapons. The difference between शस्त्रम् and प्रहरणम् : शस्त्र is a weapon which is held in the hand and fought. It is never released from the hand but it held in the hand and fought like the sword, like mace, spear, etc whereas प्रहरणम् or अस्त्रम् are those missiles which are released like varieties of arrows are here called प्रहरणम्. Powerful by invoking various gods, by chanting the mantras. Therefore it was not technology based missiles, but it was all mantra- शास्त्र based missiles. That's why in रामायण, राम takes a blade of grass and invokes the powerful Lord ब्रह्म and releases the blade of grass. The grass, as it is, has no strength but he had invoked the powerful ब्रह्म and therefore a blade of grass can become ब्रह्मास्त्र. Therefore arrow by itself is not powerful, it is the देवता. Now we have got अग्नि missile. Here India's अग्नि missile is technology based but in olden days our warriors also had अग्नि missiles, it will not be technology based but it will be mantra-based. अग्नि देवता would be invoked. And when such an arrow is released, whole place will catch fire. And the other side will not keep quiet. If आग्नेय अस्त्रम् is released, they will release वरुणास्त्र, जल देवता is invoked. All the fire will be put off. Similarly, नागास्त्रम्, against that गरुडास्त्रम्. Thus they had equivalent weapons. They are called प्रहरणम् or missiles and these warriors have got all these mantras and therefore सर्वे युद्ध-विशारदाः – all of them are experts in warfare. Continuing;

Verse No .10

अपर्याप्तं तदस्माकं बलं भीष्माभिरक्षितम् ।

पर्याप्तं त्विदमेतेषां बलं भीमाभिरक्षितम् ॥ १-१०॥

अपर्याप्तम् तत् अस्माकम् बलम् भीष्म-अभिरक्षितम् ।

पर्याप्तम् तु इदम् एतेषाम् बलम् भीम-अभिरक्षितम् ॥ १-१०॥

अस्माकम् भीष्म-अभिरक्षितम् तत् बलम् अपर्याप्तम्, एतेषाम् तु भीम-अभिरक्षितम् इदम् बलम् पर्याप्तम् (अस्ति)।

So having enumerated the important people of both the armies, now दुर्योधन wants to find out the relative strength, who is superior and who is inferior and according to दुर्योधन's judgment. Who is superior? He says पाण्डव सैन्यम् is superior and our कौरव सैन्यम् is inferior. This is his judgment indicating he is now tremendously frightened. And therefore he goes nearer to द्रोण and he says अस्माकम् बलम् अपर्याप्तम्, अपर्याप्तम् means insufficient. It is weaker. It is incapable of overpowering the पाण्डव सैन्यम्, अपर्याप्तम् means inferior, insufficient. Even though it is भीष्म-अभिरक्षितम्. Even though the most important warrior in our troupe is भीष्म, it is protected by भीष्म and भीष्म is most powerful one; still I feel that we are weaker. And not only that, एतेषाम् बलम् पर्याप्तम्, एतेषाम् means पाण्डवानाम्. Here बलम् means army, सैन्यम्. So the army of these पाण्डव्स is पर्याप्तम्. It is too powerful to overwhelm us, to defeat us. भीम-अभिरक्षितम् even though it is protected by भीम only, even though भीम is inferior to भीष्म but still I feel that their army is more powerful. So from this we come to know a very important psychological point. If we are going to objectively see the situation, we can very easily conclude that कौरव's army is more powerful. Objectively judged, we can easily say कौरव's army is more powerful; because numerically कौरव's army is more. They have got 11 अक्षौहिणि or divisions whereas पाण्डव's have got only 7 अक्षौहिणि or divisions. अक्षौहिणि means a division, a certain number of रथ, गज, तुरग, पदादि. They have classified रथ - chariot, गज - elephants, तुरग - horses, पदादि - infantry soldiers; so many lakhs of chariots, so many lakhs of elephants, horses, etc put together is called one अक्षौहिणि. In fact, in महाभारत, they have given all the numbers also. And you have to multiply it with 14. So against 11 अक्षौहिणि of कौरव्स पाण्डव्स had only 7 अक्षौहिणि. Therefore, quantitatively, numerically कौरव army is stronger. And not only quantitatively, even qualitatively you see more powerful warriors are in कौरव's side. One भीष्म is enough. One द्रोण is enough. Because the द्रोण is the आचार्य of all the पाण्डवs and the teacher always knows the weakness of the students. So whether we are weak in maths or english or history, geography, teacher knows very well. Therefore द्रोण knows the weaknesses of every पाण्डव; therefore one द्रोण can fight all these people. Similarly, कर्ण is elder to all these पाण्डवs. Therefore कर्ण is enough. Similarly, कृप, अश्वत्थामा. All senior soldiers are in कौरव side fortunately or unfortunately. Therefore even though कौरव army is superior, both qualitatively and quantitatively what is दुर्योधन's subjective feeling, that we are weak. From this what do we come to know? That where धर्म is lacking and where भक्ति is lacking, in such a place, inner strength and confidence also will also be lacking. धर्म is not there on दुर्योधन's side; because he has been consistently violating धर्म and therefore there is always a pinprick. Whoever violates धर्म, he might become materially richer but he can never have inner confidence and strength and sense and inner peace of mind and secondly दुर्योधन was not at all a भक्त and he never understood the value of ईश्वर अनुग्रहः. And that is why when both अर्जुन and दुर्योधन went to Lord कृष्ण, कृष्ण gave the first option to दुर्योधन to choose one of the two. You know the story. He said you can either choose me or you can choose all my army. कृष्ण being a राज, he himself had an army. In fact, this is a symbolical thing: कृष्ण represents spiritual strength ईश्वर अनुग्रहः and कृष्ण's army represents the material strength. It is like asking do you want money or ईश्वर अनुग्रहः, do you want property or ईश्वर अनुग्रहः? And दुर्योधन chose the army, instead of कृष्ण. अर्जुन was asked to choose and अर्जुन chose Lord कृष्ण and दुर्योधन said: What a fool you are, you have chosen कृष्ण who will not fight who will be a useless fellow. So therefore अर्जुन knew the invisible strength of ईश्वर अनुग्रहः whereas दुर्योधन voted for the concrete material strength. And as a result of that, even though he had the material wealth and support दुर्योधन had no confidence whereas पाण्डवs were a picture of confidence. From this what is the lesson that we learn? If we require confidence and sense of security, because in life, we invariably face this problem - a sense of insecurity and to get rid of this sense of insecurity we go on acquiring more and more and more and any amount of acquisition, we continue to have inner insecurity and if this insecurity should go, mere acquisition of material wealth will not do that, there is only one solution which कृष्ण will tell that in the 9th chapter.

तेषाम् नित्य-अभियुक्तानाम् योग-क्षेमम् वहामि अहम् ॥ ९-२२॥

हे अर्जुन! If you have got me the Lord in your heart, even though your possessions are minimum, you have a sense of security; whereas if that Lord, that devotion is not there, you may have empires, but you will not be secure. In fact, the higher you go, the more you require security guards. So the PMs and Presidents - they have got maximum name, fame, possession and position and the President has got the entire army of the nation in his hand. President Clinton can press a button and explode an atom bomb. But they require security guards. Do you think security guards will give security? You know in certain cases, the security guard himself will become the source of death. From this one thing is clear.

अरक्षितम् तिष्ठति दैव-रक्षितम् सुरक्षितम् दैव-हतम् विनश्यति ।

If the ईश्वर अनुग्रहः is not there, if भक्ति is not there, whatever you possess will not give security and if भक्ति is there, whatever you possess will give security. And here दुर्योधन suffers from a sense of insecurity. And what do you do for that. He is saying अस्माकम् बलम् अपर्याप्तम्. He is saying it is insufficient. Continuing;

अयनेषु च सर्वेषु यथाभागमवस्थिताः ।

भीष्ममेवाभिरक्षन्तु भवन्तः सर्व एव हि ॥ १-११॥

अयनेषु च सर्वेषु यथा-भागम् अवस्थिताः ।

भीष्मम् एव अभिरक्षन्तु भवन्तः सर्वे एव हि ॥ १-११॥

भवन्तः सर्वे एव हि सर्वेषु अयनेषु च यथा-भागम् अवस्थिताः भीष्मम् एव अभिरक्षन्तु ।

Even Though दुर्योधन suffers from the sense of insecurity he feels there is at least one person who gives some amount of security, he feels there is at least one person who gives some amount of security and confidence and i.e., भीष्म पितामह who is the eldest in the कुरुवंश and his mere presence will give a sense of security. Just as we feel at home, if there is someone who is very elderly person, even though that person doesn't do anything but the very thought that the elderly person is around gives a sense of security. Similarly, the very presence of भीष्म will give security to them, दुर्योधन feels so. Therefore he commands all the other soldiers, 'you all should protect भीष्माचार्य at any cost.' Therefore he says भीष्मम् एव अभिरक्षन्तु. He need even fight but his very presence is enough to enthuse us. In this दुर्योधन is commanding all the people around including द्रोणाचार्य 'please protect भीष्म.' How should he be protected? भवन्तः सर्वे यथा-भागम् अवस्थिताः – by remaining in their own allotted strategic points which are known as अयनम् – a technical word used in warfare, which stands for any strategic position in which a powerful warrior is placed especially when different व्युहs or different arrangements are made, certain positions are there. And in each of these of अयनs a powerful warrior will have to be there. दुर्योधन says 'whatever happens you don't leave that place.' Like any game, ex. Cricket. यथा-भागम् – as has been previously allotted, अवस्थिताः – you should be stationed only in those places and भीष्मम् एव अभिरक्षन्तु – you should give top importance the protection of भीष्माचार्य. तस्य हर्षम् सञ्जनयन् प्रतापवान् कुरु-वृद्धः पितामहः उत्त्वैः सिंहनादम् विनद्य शङ्खम् दध्मौ ।

So with the previous श्लोक, दुर्योधन उवाच is over which started from verse no. 3 up to verse no. 12. Now again सञ्जय उवाच, we have to supply. सञ्जय is continuing his narration in front of the धृतराष्ट्र. So when भीष्म saw दुर्योधन's pathetic condition, he understood दुर्योधन has to be encouraged now. Like the children, before writing the examination, they have got fear and then only भक्ति also comes. Before examination, extra भक्ति comes and even swamis will become important. Exam स्वामिजि give us special blessings' they will tell. भीष्म understands the unseen factor, the importance of the situation, therefore तस्य सञ्जनयन्, so भीष्माचार्य generated enthusiasm, inner strength and confidence in दुर्योधन, so कुरु-वृद्धः पितामहः. Both these words refer to भीष्माचार्य. कुरु-वृद्धः – eldest among कौरवs, पितामहः – great-grand father, most elderly person and that भीष्मः created, generated confidence in the heart of दुर्योधन. And how did he create confidence? उत्त्वैः सिंहनादम् विनद्य. So he roared aloud. Like a lion he roared aloud, made a huge noise. Some will create some sound, increase the volume of radio etc. Similarly, here also भीष्माचार्य made a huge roar of a lion to create, generate enthusiasm or confidence and there afterwards भीष्माचार्य did not want to delay the commencement of the war. Because, the more the delay the more the butterfly in the stomach. Therefore भीष्म decided to blow the conch signaling the commencement of the war. Therefore it is like the whistle indicating the beginning. Both the armies are important, but भीष्म being the eldest in both the armies, भीष्म decides the blow the conch first indicating their preparedness for the war. Therefore, प्रतापवान् means the most powerful शङ्खम् दध्मौ he blew his conch to begin this battle. And when भीष्म blew the conch all the other warriors in कौरव सेना also started blowing the conch.

ततः शङ्खाः च भेर्यः च पणव-आनक-गोमुखाः सहसा एव अभ्यहन्यन्त । सः शब्दः तुमुलः अभवत् ।

So when भीष्म blew the conch all the other people in कौरव side also did the same and not only the conch, varieties of instruments, varieties of battle drums and instruments were all sounded forth. And various instruments are enumerated here like the band that they have now in the army, they also had. They all will create enthusiasm. Therefore, शङ्खाः, भेर्यः, पणव, आनक, गोमुखाः they are varieties of drums and varieties of blowing instruments. All of them सहसा एव अभ्यहन्यन्त were all sounded forth immediately and imagine lakhs of people making noise simultaneously. सः शब्दः तुमुलः अभवत्. That sound reverberated, resonated and pervaded the whole sky. It became tumultuous noise and now the कौरवs have indicated their readiness. Now the पाण्डवs have to say whether they are ready or not. And how can they say? They cannot speak. They were all far away. Not like today with cellular phone. They have to sound their drums and conches etc indicating their readiness. Now we have to know whether they are ready or not, which we will know in the next class.

CHAPTER 01, VERSES 14-23

In the 1st chapter व्यासाचार्य is introducing the situation or background in which the गीता dialogue is going to take place and through this presentation of the context, व्यासाचार्य is going to introduce अर्जुन who is going to become a disciple and कृष्ण who is going to become a teacher. At this moment अर्जुन is only a soldier, a warrior and कृष्ण is a simple driver of अर्जुन and both the armies are arrayed and the महाभारत battle has to begin and दुर्योधन surveyed the army of पाण्डव and addressed द्रोणाचार्य pointing out that the पाण्डव army is stronger and कौरव army is weaker and we saw that it is not at all an objective fact, really speaking कौरव army is both qualitatively and quantitatively superior and even though this superiority is there, दुर्योधन does not feel the inner confidence. If that inner confidence has to come, we require an unseen factor, which is called ईश्वर अनुग्रहः and ईश्वर अनुग्रहः will flow only in a place where धर्म is there. In दुर्योधन's heart धर्म is not there and therefore ईश्वर अनुग्रह the unseen factor, अदृष्टम् is missing and therefore दुर्योधन feels diffidence in spite of his material wealth. On the other hand, पाण्डव's heart is full of धर्म and therefore they have the support of ईश्वर अनुग्रहः the unseen factor, अदृष्टम्. Once the ईश्वर अनुग्रहः is there even if we are materially weaker and poor it gives an extra strength and that is how पाण्डव are not frightened whereas दुर्योधन is diffident and भीष्माचार्य recognizes this diffidence of दुर्योधन and महाभारत battle has to start and therefore creating enthusiasm in दुर्योधन's mind, भीष्माचार्य made a huge roar of a lion and there afterwards blew his conch signaling the readiness or beginning the war. And भीष्माचार्य has to do that, because he happens to be the most eldest, the respected person. Up to this we saw in the last class. And once भीष्माचार्य blew his conch, then all the other soldiers in दुर्योधन's side, they also sounded forth various instruments both string instruments, pipe, drum instruments, varieties of instruments, शङ्खाश्च भेर्यश्च पणवानकगोमुखाः । सहस्रैवाभ्यहन्यन्त all of them were simultaneously sounded and that sound reverberated in the entire battle field and become much, much more noisier than the original sound; so स शब्दस्तुमुलोऽभवत्. Now the पाण्डव has to respond and indicate whether they are ready for the battle and it is going to come now in the next verse. We will read;

Verse No .14

ततः श्वेतैर्हयैर्युक्ते महति स्यन्दने स्थितौ ।

माधवः पाण्डवश्चैव दिव्यौ शङ्खौ प्रदध्मतुः ॥ १-१४॥

ततः श्वेतैः हयैः युक्ते महति स्यन्दने स्थितौ ।

माधवः पाण्डवः च एव दिव्यौ शङ्खौ प्रदध्मतुः ॥ १-१४॥

ततः श्वेतैः हयैः युक्ते महति स्यन्दने स्थितौ माधवः पाण्डवः च एव दिव्यौ शङ्खौ प्रदध्मतुः ।

Until now, our attention was turned towards दुर्योधन addressing द्रोणाचार्य and thereafter attention was turned to भीष्माचार्य i.e., on the कौरव side. Now व्यासाचार्य is turning his camera, verbal camera towards the पाण्डव side and in the पाण्डव side, who is the senior most? Even though धर्मपुत्र is there, they all recognized कृष्ण as the most important person, even though not age-wise, they all recognized as an अवतार, respected कृष्ण as the Lord himself and therefore all the पाण्डव are looking at कृष्ण for him to blow his conch. And therefore व्यासाचार्य is showing अर्जुन's chariot now. ततः श्वेतैः हयैः युक्ते. First the horse, he is now focusing the attention on the horses first, the horses of अर्जुन's chariot. What type of horses' अर्जुन had? श्वेतैः हयैः युक्ते – white horses.' In कठोपनिषत्, the whole chariot is given as an example for human life. In कठोपनिषत्, our physical body is compared to the chariot and the sense organs are compared to the horses, mind is compared to the reins, the sense organs are driven with the help of, controlled with the help of the reins, Similarly, just as the horses are controlled by the reins, sense organs are all controlled by the mind. And the sense organs represent knowledge and knowledge is given white color in our tradition. That is why सरस्वती, goddess of knowledge is given the white dress. या कुन्देन्दु-तुषारहार- धवला या शुभ्र-वस्त्रावृता, सरस्वती has got white dress, symbolizing knowledge. We will be seeing later that knowledge is represented by सत्त्व गुण and सत्त्व गुण is given white color and our sense organs represent knowledge, sense organs are here in the form of horses and the horses are also white in color. This is a beautiful philosophical symbolism and these white horses are drawing अर्जुन's chariot. What type of chariot? It is महति स्यन्दने स्थितौ, स्यन्दने means a chariot, a special gift to अर्जुन coming from the heaven. It is a heavenly gift to अर्जुन and therefore this is not an ordinary chariot, it is a celestial chariot and therefore व्यासाचार्य says महति स्यन्दने and upon this wonderful chariot, स्थितौ are seated two people, who are they? माधव. माधव means Lord कृष्ण, so मा represents लक्ष्मीदेवी or शक्ति or power or knowledge and धव means husband, the Lord. Therefore, मा धव means the Lord of wealth, here the wealth is knowledge wealth and Lord कृष्ण is endowed with the wealth of knowledge which he is going to impart to अर्जुन and therefore कृष्ण is given the title माधव. Not only माधव, पाण्डवः च एव. पाण्डव here indicates अर्जुन. Now अर्जुन is the master, कृष्ण is driver; the role is going to be reverted in future. Now कृष्ण is humble, simple, obedient servant sitting and अर्जुन is master and both of them what did they do? दिव्यौ शङ्खौ प्रदध्मतुः. कृष्ण blew his conch indicating the preparedness of the पाण्डव's side to begin the war and their conches also are not ordinary ones and therefore they are called दिव्यौ शङ्खौ – divine conches, they blew. And what are their conches, the details are given in the next verses.

Verse No .15

पाञ्चजन्यं हृषीकेशो देवदत्तं धनञ्जयः ।

पौण्ड्रं दध्मौ महाशङ्खं भीमकर्मा वृकोदरः ॥ १-१५॥

पाञ्चजन्यम् हृषीकेशः देवदत्तम् धनञ्जयः ।

पौण्ड्रम् दध्मौ महा-शङ्खम् भीम-कर्मा वृक-उदरः ॥ १-१७॥

हृषीकेशः पाञ्चजन्यम्, धनञ्जयः देवदत्तम्, भीम-कर्मा वृक-उदरः पौण्ड्रम् महा-शङ्खम् दध्मौ ।

So we can see व्यासाचार्य's partiality, even though he is supposed to be a neutral observer; his heart is towards the पाण्डवः. When the दुर्योधन people sounded their instruments, he made only a general statement. They all made a lot of noise सहस्रैवाभ्यहन्यन्तः; but when the पाण्डवः are blowing the conches, he is giving even the names of their conches. He says हृषीकेशः; हृषीकेशः is Lord of केशः, so many names, previously we saw माधव, लक्ष्मीपति, Lord of wealth, wealth of knowledge. Here another beautiful name is given. हृषीकम् means sense organs and ईशः means the Lord (हृषीकाणाम् ईशः). So हृषीकेशः – the Lord of the all the sense organs, including the mind and therefore the Lord is the very साक्षि, the very witness who is seated within everyone, witnessing and blessing all the sense organs, because the Lord is the very आत्मा, who is called the श्रोत्रस्य श्रोत्रम् मनसो मनो यद् and such a title is given, because Lord कृष्ण is going to soon study the mind of अर्जुन. That means Lord कृष्ण knows what is happening in अर्जुन's mind and therefore he is called हृषीकेशः the Lord of our minds and sense organs. And that कृष्ण पाञ्चजन्यम् प्रदध्मौ. So the verb is not there in the sentence. We have to supply the verb for every sentence. हृषीकेशः पाञ्चजन्यम् प्रदध्मौ means कृष्ण blew the conch named पाञ्चजन्यम्. And behind each one of these there are a lot of पौराणिक stories and यक्षः alone gets converted into the पाञ्चजन्यम्. I do not want to go to the stories and all. You can read अमरचित्र कथा and other stories. पञ्च जना असूर becomes पाञ्चजन्यम्. Then देवदत्तम् धनञ्जयः. धनञ्जयः is the title of अर्जुन, which means the one who is amassed, acquired plenty of wealth. He was the most prosperous person. All these titles of अर्जुन are important, because we find in महाभारत and in the गीता that अर्जुन was the most materially successful person. He had wealth, he was one of the most beautiful person, handsome person and the strongest person and he had name, he had fame, he had धर्म, everything was there and he was the most successful person, even he went to heaven, he was called even by इन्द्र to assist him in battle. So all these things materially needed by an ordinary person अर्जुन had and we find such a अर्जुन, in spite of material successes, he finds in a crisis, he is not able to solve the problem. And from that we come to know that material successes cannot be a remedy for human sorrow. If material success could have been a remedy, अर्जुन should not face any problem. But we find अर्जुन is facing the problem and he finds आत्मज्ञानम् alone is a solution. Therefore indirectly it is a teaching that 'Oh! human being you can attain material success, you can work for prosperity, you can work for family, children all of them and they are very good and they help you lead a comfortable life but they will not help you solve the deeper inner problems of life, like attachment, like dependence, like fear, like sorrow. And therefore, it is indicated here अर्जुन is धनञ्जयः. धनञ्जयः means the most wealthy person. One who acquires wealth, धनम् जयति, सर्वता धनम् पाप्नोति. That अर्जुन देवदत्तम् दध्मौ – blew his conch known as देवदत्तम्. देवदत्तम् is not the name of a person, it is the name of the conch. वृकोदरः पौण्ड्रम् दध्मौ. वृकोदरः another name of भीम, the one whose stomach is like that of a wolf. वृक means a wolf. वृकस्य इव उदरं यस्य सः वृकोदरः. What is the uniqueness of the wolf? Any amount it eats it will not get तृप्ति. It is a glutton. It eats. But when we eat too much what is the problem? The Battle of the bulge. Therefore many people are battling with the bulge. मध्य-प्रदेश grows. But what is the uniqueness of the wolf? Any amount it eats, the stomach is always inside it never comes out. Similarly, looking at भीम, you will never know he is a glutton, he had a fit stomach and he will eat plenty, therefore he is given a title, वृकोदरः and such a भीम not only he is mere glutton there are many people who are gluttons but they cannot do anything. भीम was not like that. Proportional to the eating, he had many exploits also. Therefore, he is given a beautiful adjective, a title here, भीम-कर्मा – a man of terrible deeds, भीम means भयङ्कर and कर्म means deed or exploits. so भीम भयङ्कराणि कर्माणि यस्य सः भीम-कर्मा and what are his भीम-कर्मा, you can read in महाभारत, he has destroyed so many राक्षसs, even though he has got so many wonderful weapons often he does not use any weapons at all, any tree around is enough, electric posts also. Mountains he lifts, trees he lifts. Therefore, he is called भीम-कर्मा and naturally his conch should not be an ordinary one and therefore he should have a special conch also. It is called महा-शङ्खम् पौण्ड्रम् पौण्ड्रम् – the great, the huge conch and he blew that conch. Not only these people. व्यासाचार्य is not satisfied, he mentions some more in the following verses.

अनन्तविजयं राजा कुन्तीपुत्रो युधिष्ठिरः ।

नकुलः सहदेवश्च सुघोषमणिपुष्पकौ ॥ १-१६॥

अनन्तविजयम् राजा कुन्ती-पुत्रः युधिष्ठिरः ।

नकुलः सहदेवः च सुघोष-मणि-पुष्पकौ ॥ १-१६॥

कुन्ती-पुत्रः राजा युधिष्ठिरः अनन्तविजयम्, नकुलः सहदेवः च सुघोष-मणि-पुष्पकौ ।

युधिष्ठिरः अनन्तविजयम् दध्मौ, we have to supply the verb दध्मौ. युधिष्ठिरः is another name of धर्मपुत्र. He is called so because he is firm in warfare, very powerful in battle. युधि स्थिरः इति युधिष्ठिरः. युधि means in battle. स्थिरः means firm. He does not go back. Therefore he is given the title युधिष्ठिरः. He also happens to be son of कुन्तीपुत्रो, who is राजा the king, he blew the conch अनन्तविजयम्. Names are beautiful. अनन्तविजयम् which is ever successful. It brings him only success, never defeat. And नकुलः सहदेवश्च, नकुलः and सहदेवः the other two पाण्डवs, they blew their conches and also have beautiful names, what are they? सुघोष-मणिपुष्पकौ. सुघोष conch of नकुल, मणिपुष्पक of सहदेव. धृष्टद्युम्नः विराटः च सात्यकिः च अपराजितः ॥ १-१७॥

परम-इषु-आसः काश्यः च, महारथः शिखण्डी च धृष्टद्युम्नः विराटः च अपराजितः सात्यकिः च ।

द्रुपदो द्रौपदेयाश्च सर्वशः पृथिवीपते ।

सौभद्रश्च महाबाहुः शङ्खान् दध्मुः पृथक् पृथक् ॥ १-१८॥

द्रुपदः द्रौपदेयाः च सर्वशः पृथिवी-पते ।

सौभद्रः च महा-बाहुः शङ्खान् दध्मुः पृथक् पृथक् ॥ १-१८॥

द्रुपदः द्रौपदेयाः च, महा-बाहुः सौभद्रः च, हे पृथिवी-पते! पृथक् पृथक् सर्वशः शङ्खान् दध्मुः ।

काश्यः शङ्खम् दध्मौ. काश्यः is the king of काशि who is very famous and very powerful. काशि राजा who is a great archer, परमेष्वासः, इष्वास means bow and परमेष्वासः means one who has got a great bow, a powerful bow; he blew his conch. शिखण्डी च महारथः. शिखण्डी again you know the story, is specially born, taken a vow to destroy भीष्म and he succeeds in that also; that शिखण्डी is not an ordinary person, महारथः a great warrior, a great archer, blew his conch. And धृष्टद्युम्नः also blew his conch; विराटः the king of विराट, सात्यकिः च अपराजितः means ever successful सात्यकि. And not only these people, द्रुपदः, father of द्रौपदी and द्रौपदेयाः five sons of द्रौपदी, द्रौपदी had one son of each पाण्डव and there are five द्रौपदेयाः and they are also great warriors and सौभद्रः महाबाहुः. सौभद्रः means सुभद्रायाः पुत्रः who is अभिमन्यु, महाबाहुः - अभिमन्यु is known for his heroism, he is also given the special title महाबाहुः - the man of powerful arms and all of them शङ्खान् पृथक् पृथक् दध्मुः - they blew their conches distinctly. हे पृथिवी-पते! सञ्जय addressed धृतराष्ट्र.

Whole thing is सञ्जय narrating in front of धृतराष्ट्र. And then what happened;

सः तुमुलः घोषः नभः च पृथिवीम् च एव व्यनुनादयन्, धार्तराष्ट्राणाम् हृदयानि व्यदारयत् ।

When all the पाण्डव्स made the huge noise or the sound and this was heard by दुर्योधन and other people and hearing this sound दुर्योधन's heart was pierced, as it were. That is said here. शङ्खनाद of all the people, व्यदारयत् literally means torn into pieces, it afflicted intensely, it pierced the heart of धार्तराष्ट्राs or कौरव्स, that means already दुर्योधन was frightened, hearing this sound, his fear increased. And this fear increased because of his diffidence and his diffidence is because of अधर्म. Therefore, व्यासाचार्य indicates what type of शङ्खनाद it was, नभश्च पृथिवीं चैव व्यनुनादयन्, अनुनादयन् means echoing, resounding, reverberating all over on the earth and above in the sky is शङ्खनाद spread and it pieced the heart of कौरव्स. हृषीकेशम् तदा वाक्यम् इदम् आह महीपते ।

Up to the 19th श्लोक is the first phase. And now from the 20th श्लोक the turning point is going to take place and turning point is indicated by the word अथ and in संस्कृत language the word अथ indicates a change either in topic or a change in context. If it is a movie, TV- show they can have some background music. Poor व्यासाचार्य cannot have any such thing and therefore he has only to do it through a word and therefore he indicates the turning point by the word अथ. Now what is the present situation? कौरव्स have blown the conches. पाण्डव्स have also blown the conches. That means both the teams or both the armies have indicated that they are ready. Now that the indication is over, the actual battle must start. And therefore shooting of the arrows must start. Therefore व्यासाचार्य says: शस्त्र-सम्पाते प्रवृत्ते. The situation was ready for शस्त्र-सम्पाते. शस्त्र-सम्पाते means the release of the arrows. Shooting of the arrows, प्रवृत्ते means the time is ideal, ready. Therefore they are ready but the last moment some problem, Similarly, अर्जुन has to shoot the arrow and at the nick of the moment a flash of thought comes in अर्जुन's mind and this flash is going to be a huge turning point. As if this flash had not taken place, if both had started the महाभारत war, गीतोपदेश would not have taken place and व्यास would not have written and गीता classes would not have been started and you would not have been sitting here. All these happened because of what? That अथ indicates why we are sitting here. Flash indication. Flash of card, he feels that I should see the people who are arrayed in front. Somehow he feels just before shooting the arrows, let me see the people whom I am going to destroy in the war. Perhaps this is the last moment that I am seeing them alive. Naturally and अर्जुन knows that they are all various relatives because this is a family war and therefore I will not be able to see their face; like farewell, अर्जुन feels that he should see their faces and therefore orders

कृष्ण। That is said here, धार्तराष्ट्रान् व्यवस्थितान् दृष्ट्वा. अर्जुन saw धार्तराष्ट्रान्. धार्तराष्ट्रान् means all the कौरव्स. In fact, धार्तराष्ट्राः must be the real expression for दुर्योधनसः. The word कौरव is, really speaking, common to both दुर्योधन family as well as the पाण्डवसः. Really अर्जुन is also a कौरव because literally it means those who belong to कुरु वंश. Both the धर्मपुत्र people as well दुर्योधन people both belong to कुरु वंश and therefore कौरव is the common name for both पाण्डवसः and धार्तराष्ट्राः. But by convention when we say कौरवसः it represents दुर्योधन people. Literally speaking, in schools and all, the teacher is Lady, Sir means male, male instructor is Sir. Female instructor is teacher, just a convention. In the same way the expression कौरव means दुर्योधन people and पाण्डवसः are not called; really speaking कौरव is common to both. If we are to differentiate, how to differentiate: धर्मपुत्र etc as पाण्डवसः, दुर्योधन etc as धार्तराष्ट्राः, धृतराष्ट्र पुत्राः. व्यास has used the correct expression here, धार्तराष्ट्रान् व्यवस्थितान् दृष्ट्वा - अर्जुन sees. Who is अर्जुन? कपि-ध्वजः. कपि-ध्वजः – one who has got monkey emblem on his flag. And that monkey represents आज्ञनेय. And we all know आज्ञनेय is वायुपुत्र, son वायुदेवता and we also know that भीम is also वायुपुत्र. Father is the same for both and therefore भीम and आज्ञनेय are brothers and आज्ञनेय is supposed to be a चिरञ्जीवि and therefore he was there in रामायण काले – त्रेता युग, द्वापर युग, कलियुग and he continues to exist and भीम(?) made a special request to आज्ञनेयः “you should come to the महाभारत battle and you should bless us so that we will get victory” and therefore आज्ञनेय said that “I will be in the form of an emblem on your flag and I will bless you” and people say that आज्ञनेय also had therefore an opportunity to listen to गीता. रामोपदेशम् he listened. कृष्णोपदेशम् also he listened. There is a commentary on the गीता written by आज्ञनेय called पैशाच भाष्यम्. पैशाच – one who did not have a physical form. So he existed in invisible form; heard the गीता and wrote a commentary. And that commentary is even now available. A beautiful simple भाष्यम् called हनुमत् पैंशाच भाष्यम्. Anyway, because of this reason, अर्जुन got a name कपि-ध्वजः – one who has got the monkey emblem, in his flag. So अर्जुनः दृष्ट्वा he sees and what did he do? धनुः उद्यम्य he raised his bow like the batsman doing, not ready. Similarly, he also raises his bow saying not ready. Do not shoot now. धनुः उद्यम्य पाण्डव कपि-ध्वजः. What did he do? हृषीकेशम् इदम् वाक्यम् आह. There we saw. दुर्योधन went to द्रोणाचार्य and here अर्जुन is addressing whom, हृषीकेशम्, Lord कृष्ण. इदम् आह महीपते! महीपते means King धृतराष्ट्र, सञ्जय is addressing धृतराष्ट्र as हे महीपते! this is what happened. All these things how did सञ्जय see, without the satellite TV, सञ्जय is not in the actual battlefield but he was in the palace, he could see everything from the palace. The other side of the continent whatever happens we are able to see. सञ्जय's TV was better, he could even read the mind of the people. What is in batsman's or bowler's mind, we do not know. But सञ्जय had extraordinary TV that he could also read the mind; was better because during विश्वरूपदर्शन what transpired in अर्जुन mind, even that सञ्जय reports. And what did अर्जुन say to Lord कृष्ण?

Now comes अर्जुन's word to Lord कृष्ण. So अर्जुनः उवाच, he says हे अच्युत! this is another beautiful name, epithet of Lord कृष्ण. अच्युत is a very very significant word, both religious moral significance, philosophical significance, अच्युत means unfailing, infallible, one who never falls, one who never fails is called अच्युत. So whatever सत्य सङ्कल्प, whatever he wants to accomplish he will accomplish because the Lord is omniscient and omnipotent and therefore he is called अच्युत, never failing, because in महाभारत war, they all trusted Lord कृष्ण and they found their trust was proved worthy. कृष्ण helped them कैवर्तकः केशवः, he helped them. Similarly, here also we should understand that if depend upon the local people and local institutions and local governments he may be successful or not, whereas if you depend upon the Lord, He is अच्युत. And द्रौपदी experiences this in the सभा of the कौरव, all these people were powerful, 5 husbands were there, each one was powerful, भीष्म, द्रोण all these people were there and when द्रौपदी was in crisis, she surrendered to all of them and no help came and then only she surrendered to the Lord, help came. Therefore the Lord is one who is always trustworthy and therefore he is given the title अच्युत. And if you have to understand the philosophical significance you go back to Saturday class where we are seeing as परम्ब्रह्म, one who is अच्युत, one who is ever, infinite, the one who never falls into संसार. अच्युत means ever liberated, ever free, one who never falls into संसार. That is why when the Lord takes birth in the world, we do not call it जन्म, we call it अवतार. What is the difference between जन्म and अवतार; जन्म means falling down; अवतार is descending down. We are not अवतारः. When we are born it is falling down from our original nature, therefore it is संसार पतनम्; when भगवान् comes down as कृष्ण, यम it is called अवतार, one who never falls. Why should he come down? To uplift the humanity, he comes down. Since he never falls from his original nature, he is called अच्युतः. One meaning is the one who is ever trustworthy. Second meaning is the one who is ever free. नित्य मुक्तः. हे अच्युत! रथम् स्थापय. अर्जुन is commanding Lord कृष्ण; after all कृष्ण is now a driver. For some time he is now the master, therefore हे अच्युत! रथम् स्थापय. Please place the chariot. सेनयोः उभयोः मध्ये – in between the two armies. Now, the कौरव army is a little bit far away and because of the distance, I am not able to see their faces properly. Therefore please place the chariot in front. उभयोः मध्ये रथम् स्थापय. For what purpose? यावत् एतान् निरीक्षे अहम् – so that I can very clearly survey, see, अवस्थितान् योद्धु-कामान् – people who have assembled there to fight with us and कैः मया सह योद्धव्यम् – let me clearly know with whom I have to fight. अस्मिन् रण-समुद्यमे – in this huge venture called महाभारत war; let me know with whom I have to fight. योत्स्यमानान् अवेक्षे अहम् ये एते अत्र समागताः – I want to have a clear view of them and therefore, you should take me in front of them. And not only I have to see the दुर्योधन people but also I have to see the other kings. because remember, महाभारत war some kind of a world war type, because even though it was a war between two families, so many other kings have joined this. Just like they had allies and axis. So many other countries are also joining even from south; also, some of them joined पाण्डव्स, some कौरव्स and therefore, अर्जुन says, let me also see the other kings who are supporting the कौरव्स. So युद्धे प्रिय-चिकीर्षवः. Let me see the allies of the धार्तराष्ट्र्स and when he is naming them धार्तराष्ट्र्स, अर्जुन's blood is boiling because they have done so many अक्रमम्, right from the lac palace, consistently कौरव्स have been jealous of पाण्डव्स and were trying to destroy them several methods. And therefore अर्जुन feels extremely angry and therefore he uses the expression दुर्बुद्धेः. You have to note this expression. You have to refer to this later also. It is a crucial expression. दुर्बुद्धि means दुष्ट बुद्धि. अधार्मिक बुद्धि. And why do I say this expression is very important, because अर्जुन does not see this as a war among the relatives or between the relatives. This is not an issue between who is the relative and what type of relationship we have; that is not the issue at all. But it is a fight between धर्म and अधर्म. And who is the person, we are not going to bother, whoever is on the side of अधर्म, we have to destroy. No doubt, भीष्म is a great person. द्रोण is a great person and they have brought अर्जुन up and not only that, they are even the गुरुs of अर्जुन and अर्जुन did not have any sentimental problem. He did not have any emotional problem. His intellect was ruling his decision. Whoever has got a sound intellect and whomsoever's emotional mind is under the control of intellect he will have the right judgment. Only when the emotions and sentiments begin to overpower the बुद्धि, then all kinds of confusions will come. And until now, अर्जुन did not have any emotional problems, or sentimental problems. His intellect was very clear. What is that? That side is अधर्म side. And this side is धर्म side. It is a fight between धर्म and अधर्म and in society, धर्म is more important than a temporary relationship. After all, human beings are subject to birth and death, whereas धर्म is शाश्वत and if we have to vote for one of these two, whether personal relationship or धर्म, we should be clear enough in our thinking to choose धर्म. That is why we have the story of मनु नीति चोळन्, the चोळ king. His own son had done अधर्म and the राजा said that whether it is my son or daughter, my relations or somebody else's relation; no question. Whoever has done अधर्म, he has to be punished; where धर्म is given more importance than temporary relationships. Now also we have politicians we know what is happening. And अर्जुन did not have this problem and therefore here he says धार्तराष्ट्रस्य दुर्बुद्धेः showing that his intellect is now stronger than the mind.

And वेदान्त is going to later teach us that emotions are wonderful, because many people think that Vedantins will not have emotions. They will be sitting like stone when someone is suffering, they will say everything is ब्रह्मयम्. No, Vedantin is not like a stone, is not a sentimentless person; In fact, later कृष्ण will say that ज्ञानि is the embodiment of compassion, मैत्रः करुण एव च. Sentiments are wonderful, emotions are wonderful, they are unique gift from the Lord. But शास्त्रs says is once the sentiments begin to cloud our intellect, then it becomes a sentimentalism and once the intellect is clouded, the biggest problem is our judgment will be wrong, we will begin to see धर्म as अधर्म, अधर्म as धर्म. Sentimentalism will lead to delusion. But sentiments make me a human being. And until now, अर्जुन did not have the problem of sentimentalism and therefore he happily came to the battlefield without any regrets or any compunction. Even though battle involves हिंसा, even though it involves killing his own kith and kin; अर्जुन never felt bad, because if protection of धर्म requires destruction as a last resort, it can be taken. Therefore अर्जुन did not have any problem until now. And that is indicated by the word दुर्बुद्धेः. His thinking is very clear. But now we have to see the change. The moment he comes in front and he sees the people and gradually his mind is going to change and we are going to see that emotion is going to replace discrimination. Attachment is going to replace discrimination. And therefore संसार begins and therefore गीता has to begin. How? In the next class.

The armies of both the पाण्डव्स and कौरव्स are ready for the महाभारत battle and even the conches have been blown on both sides and the war has to begin and at this crucial juncture अर्जुन gets a flash of idea and that is he has to see the कौरव army at close quarters. Even though he knows the people with whom he has to fight, somehow it must be some पुण्यम् that he feels like surveying their army once again. And therefore he raises the bow and commands his driver, Lord कृष्ण to place the chariot in the middle of the armies. And he tells Lord कृष्ण that “I would like to see the people with whom I have to fight, who are going to be killed by me.” And even at this juncture, अर्जुन is very clear about his action. अर्जुन knows this is going to be a war; which means हिंसा is involved. अर्जुन is aware of the fact that the war involves हिंसा or killing the people. And no doubt our धर्मशास्त्र clearly says that अहिंसा is an important virtue न हिंस्यात् सर्वा भूतानि (महाभारतम् शान्तिपर्व २७८.७). And one of the important vows prescribed by the शास्त्र is अहिंसा not harming other people. In the भगवद्गीता itself कृष्ण is going to stress the value of अहिंसा. But at the same time, our शास्त्रs point out that अहिंसा is not an absolute value. For that matter, no value can be followed absolutely because every value has got exceptions. This general or universal value is called उत्सर्गः and the exceptional situation is called अपवाद. Therefore, अहिंसा is a उत्सर्गः rule; but there are cases when one's duty is to take to हिंसा. One should not follow अहिंसा. On the other hand he has to take to हिंसा in certain cases and that will come under अपवाद rule. Even our gods who are supposed to be embodiments of compassion, you will find that all our gods have got weapons whether it is Lord शिव or whether it is Lord विष्णु or whether it is देवी whether it is सुब्रह्मण्य, all gods, even though they are embodiments of compassion, they do not believe in misplaced compassion. Misplaced compassion is dangerous to the society and especially a क्षत्रिय must be aware of the fact that for a क्षत्रिय अहिंसा is not an absolute rule. For the sake of protecting धर्म, if he has to kill people, if he has to punish people as कृष्ण will say later, परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् and both of them are for what purpose: धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय. Exactly God does destruction for the sake of धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय. Even a क्षत्रिय has to take to destruction for the sake of धर्मसंस्थापनार्थम् and अर्जुन is intensively aware of this fact. Therefore in his heart there is no regret, there is no pang. No doubt he is going to kill thousands of people but he does not have any regrets or compunction, because he clearly says धार्तराष्ट्रस्य दुर्बुद्धेः. I am doing this job for the sake of protecting धर्म and this is a duty of a क्षत्रिय and as I said the other day, the very definition of a क्षत्रिय is क्षतात् अधर्मात् त्रायते इति क्षत्रियः. क्षत्रिय is one who has to protect the society from अधार्मिक people. And he should try non-violent methods like साम, दान and भेद and if all of them fail, he has to take to दण्ड, therefore it is an angry-अर्जुन who is now in the battle-field and his hands are itching and waiting to shoot the first arrow. And with this attitude, he asks Lord कृष्ण to place the chariot and Lord कृष्ण also like an innocent person and an obedient driver, He says: I will place the chariot. And then what happened, we have to see: Continuing;

एवमुक्तो हृषीकेशो गुडाकेशेन भारत ।

सेनयोरुभयोर्मध्ये स्थापयित्वा रथोत्तमम् ॥ १-२४॥

एवम् उक्तः हृषीकेशः गुडाकेशेन भारत ।

सेनयोः उभयोः मध्ये स्थापयित्वा रथ-उत्तमम् ॥ १-२४॥

हे भारत! एवम् गुडाकेशेन उक्तः हृषीकेशः, उभयोः सेनयोः मध्ये, भीष्म-द्रोण-प्रमुखतः सर्वेषाम् च मही-क्षिताम् रथ-उत्तमम् स्थापयित्वा, हे 'पार्थ! एतान् समवेतान् कुरुन् पश्य, इति उवाच ।

After अर्जुन gave this commandment, कृष्ण also did not speak a single word and अर्जुन also did not speak and therefore सञ्जय comes in between and he gives the report. So सञ्जयः उवाच. What transpired in that battlefield? उक्तः एवम् हृषीकेशः, Lord कृष्ण the charioteer was commanded thus by अर्जुन, उक्तः – commanded by अर्जुन. What अर्जुन? गुडाकेशेन, अर्जुनेन. अर्जुन is given a beautiful title here गुडाकेशः, गुडाक means तमो गुण, laziness, dullness is called गुडाक, ईशः means a master, the one who has won over (गुडाकायाः = निद्रायाः, ईशः – तेन, जितनिद्रेण, जितालस्येन, सर्वत्र सावधानेन). Therefore गुडाकेशः means the one is not a तामसिक person, one who has conquered तमो गुण; because if a person is under the grip of तमो गुण, he is never fit for learning गीता. Indirectly व्यासाचार्य says अर्जुन is not a तामसिक person, not a dull-witted person, he is competent enough to keep awake during the गीता classes. Therefore he is competent enough to keep awake. Because generally they say that when कुम्भकर्ण was killed in the रामायण war, निद्रा देवी had one regret; because she was there all the time in कुम्भकर्ण who used to sleep for six months. Therefore निद्रा देवी, the goddess of sleep was very happy that I have a आश्रय, some place to happily live. But when कुम्भकर्ण was killed, निद्रा देवी did not have any आश्रय, support and therefore she asked राम it seems what should I do? राम said it seems: wherever spiritual discourses are taking place, you go there! अर्जुन is not of that type, Therefore, हे भारत! भारत is सञ्जय addressing धृतराष्ट्र. हे धृतराष्ट्र!. And what did कृष्ण do? सेनयोः उभयोः मध्ये रथम् स्थापयित्वा – he placed, he positioned or stationed the huge chariot, specially gifted by the देव, between the two armies from where अर्जुन can clearly see the faces of everyone in the opposite site and what did अर्जुन see there?

Verse No .25

भीष्मद्रोणप्रमुखतः सर्वेषां च महीक्षिताम् ।

उवाच पार्थ पश्यैतान्समवेतान्कुरुनिति ॥ १-२५॥

भीष्म-द्रोण-प्रमुखतः सर्वेषाम् च मही-क्षिताम् ।

उवाच पार्थ पश्य एतान् समवेतान् कुरुन् इति ॥ १-२५॥

हे भारत! एवम् गुडाकेशेन उक्तः हृषीकेशः, उभयोः सेनयोः मध्ये, भीष्म-द्रोण-प्रमुखतः सर्वेषाम् च मही-क्षिताम् रथ-उत्तमम् स्थापयित्वा, हे 'पार्थ! एतान् समवेतान् कुरुन् पश्य, इति उवाच ।

सर्वेषाम् महीक्षिताम् प्रमुखतः रथम् स्थापयित्वा we have to take the word रथम् स्थापयित्वा from the previous verse and supply it here. प्रमुखतः स्थापयित्वा – he placed the chariot in front of a row of kings, supporting दुर्योधन. महीक्षित means king, those who protect the earth, पृथिवी or kingdom etc. And there also, even though there are many kings कृष्ण could have positioned the chariot in front of any one of them. There was huge row. But कृष्ण does a mischief here. Knowing अर्जुन's weakness, कृष्ण knows therefore where he did position the chariot? भीष्म-द्रोण-प्रमुखतः – right in front of भीष्म and द्रोण. Just to test अर्जुन. If कृष्ण had placed the chariot in front of कर्ण or दुर्योधन then अर्जुन's blood would have boiled further and महाभारत battle would have happened; गीता would never have happened, but कृष्ण wanted to convert अर्जुन. Therefore, as though he is innocent, He placed the chariot in front भीष्म-द्रोण-प्रमुखतः towards whom अर्जुन had intense attachment. And having positioned, there He said हे पार्थ! समवेतान् कुरुन् पश्य – हे अर्जुन! may you survey, may you study, may you see all the कौरव्स who are assembled here इति उवाच. Thus कृष्ण told अर्जुन. And naturally अर्जुन had to study which is going to happen in the next श्लोक.

तान् समीक्ष्य सः कौन्तेयः सर्वान् बन्धून् अवस्थितान् ॥ १-२७॥

कृपया पर्याविष्टः विषीदन् इदम् अब्रवीत् ।

अथ पार्थः उभयोः सेनयोः अपि तत्र स्थितान् पितृन् पितामहान् आचार्यान् मातुलान् भ्रातृन् पुत्रान् पौत्रान् तथा सखीन् श्वशुरान् सुहृदः च एव अपश्यत् सः कौन्तेयः । तान् सर्वान् बन्धून् अवस्थितान् समीक्ष्य पर्या कृपया आविष्टः विषीदन् इदम् अब्रवीत् ।

So तत्र पार्थः अपश्यत्, तत्र means on the side of कौरवस, in the opposite side, अर्जुन saw all these people and who are these people? Most of them are his own relatives, kith and kin and therefore सञ्जय gives a huge list of relatives. पितृन्, पितामहान्, आचार्यान्, मातुलान्, भ्रातृन्, पुत्रान्, पौत्रान् and सखीन्; you can understand most of the words. पितृन् - he saw his own fathers standing. पिता means father. पितृन् means the fathers. You may wonder, how can you say fathers? There can be only one father. Here he says पितृन् because according to धर्मशास्त्र every individual has got five fathers. Who are those five fathers?

अन्नदाता भयत्राता पञ्चैते पितरः स्मृताः ॥

There are five people, who are as good as the fathers.

1) The first one is जनिता the biological father who has given birth to the person, who is popularly known as the father.

2) Then the next one is उपनेता the one who gives the sacred thread, whoever does the initiation ceremony that person is also considered another father; generally father himself does the उपनयनम्, but if the father does not do, whoever does that ritual he is also considered as good as a father; i.e., he must be respected as though he is the father.

3) The next one यश्च विद्यां प्रयच्छति, गुरु is also considered a father and that is why during उपनयन ceremony also when the गायत्री उपदेश is done they cover the person with the silk cloth and this indicates गर्भ वासः. It is a symbolic representation of second गर्भ वासः. The first गर्भ वासः is the actual one, when a person was in the womb of the biological mother; the second गर्भ वासः is when a person is a student in गुरुकुल. And why is this गुरुकुल वासः considered a गर्भ वासः or pregnancy? Because, when a person is born he is practically an animal only. There is no culture, there is no restriction, there is no control at all; any child is a wild, untamed, uncontrolled, uncultured, indiscriminate living being; therefore, we are all born प्राकृत पुरुषः, with animalistic instincts, we are only physically human beings, but mentally we are not yet cultured. Only when a person enters गुरुकुल and learns the वेदs and learns what is धर्म and what is अधर्म and learns to lead a life based on धर्म-अधर्म rather than रागः - द्वेषः. I cannot lead a life according to my instinct, but I have to lead a life according to Shastric injunctions and when that child comes out of गुरुकुल, he is a new human being, he is a not a प्राकृत पुरुषः, he becomes a संस्कृत पुरुषः; he is no more a wild, animalistic, brutish person but he is a cultured human being. And that is why he is called द्विज – the twice born; the first birth is from the biological mother and the second birth is from the गुरुकुल and for this second birth गायत्री is supposed to be the mother and the आचार्य is supposed to be the father.

मातुरग्रे द्विजानाम् द्वितीयम् मौञ्जि बन्धनात् अत्रास्य माता गायत्री पिता तु आचार्य उच्यते ।

A cultured person is born out of Vedic study helped by the आचार्य. Thus आचार्य and गायत्री together give birth to the cultured twice born. And therefore, आचार्य is the third father. जनिता च उपनेता च यश्च विद्यां प्रयच्छति.

4) Then the fourth father is अन्न दाता. When I am hungry and I do not have anybody to feed me; at that time, if a person protects me by feeding me, giving food, without food I would have died, the one who gives that, one who keeps me going by feeding me, that person is also like a father. And therefore, अन्न दाता is the fourth father

5) And the fifth and final father is भय त्राता – the one who rescues me from adversity or crisis, the one who gives me a second life, protecting me from any danger, if it comes in my life, he is also called a father.

Keeping that Shastric view, here व्यासाचार्य uses the expression पितृन् those people are all respectable people like teachers who are all as good as his parents. And similarly, पितामहाः, if there are many fathers, there must be many grand-fathers also, पितामहान्. Then आचार्यान्, teachers in different fields, especially in the field of archery, the आचार्य is there, द्रोण is standing in front; मातुलान् – uncles; भ्रातृन् – brothers, because the कौरव्स themselves are his cousin brothers only; then पुत्रान्, पुत्रा means his own children, because the children of his cousin brothers are as good as his own children only. कर्ण's children or दुर्योधन's children, all those people are as good as his own children, पुत्रान्; पौत्रान् – grand children. सखीन् – friends and in the next श्लोक, श्वशुरान्, श्वशुर means father-in-law. Of course, अर्जुन had many father-in-laws; all those people who are as good as fathers-in-law. All these people are सेनयोः उभयोः अपि – they are standing on both sides of the Army. And तान् समीक्ष्य सः कौन्तेयः सर्वान् बन्धून् अवस्थितान्. All these बन्धून्, बन्धू means the person towards whom I have got the bond of attachment is a बन्धू. It is derived from the root, बन्ध् – to be bound, that is why attachment is called पाशम्. Attachment is compared to a rope, because it binds me with other people and more I am bound, the more I lose my freedom, because my happiness is not determined by me. My happiness will be determined by so many other people with whom I have the problem of attachment and therefore they are called बन्धून्, बान्धवाः. So seeing, अर्जुन saw all these बन्धून्, kith and kin, very closely. So समीक्ष्य, ईक्षणम् means seeing, समीक्ष्य – closely seeing, intensely seeing. When he saw their faces very closely, what happened? A total transformation took place in his personality. And what is that transformation? कृपया पर्याविष्टः. अर्जुन was overpowered by attachment. Here the word कृपा does not mean compassion, even though normally कृपा means compassion; in this context कृपा means attachment.

- Compassion is the virtue of a ज्ञानि which does not bind a person. Whereas attachment is the weakness of an अज्ञानि which causes problem.
- Therefore compassion is a virtue and attachment is a weakness.
- Compassion belongs to a ज्ञानि and attachment belongs to अज्ञानि.

Here अर्जुन happens to be an अज्ञानि; therefore कृपा should be translated as रागः. Therefore रागेण आविष्टः – he was overpowered by the emotion. So here also, it is not an emotion that he took to himself. He is not the master of the emotion but the emotion became his master.

- A ज्ञानि entertains the emotion as a master. Whereas अज्ञानि is a slave of emotion.
- For a ज्ञानि, emotion is an action, willfully, consciously entertained whereas for an अज्ञानि, emotion is a reaction.

And this व्यासाचार्य indicates by using the word आविष्टः; आविष्टः means he was overpowered. That is why many people ask the question, स्वामिजि, after all isn't 'anger' a useful emotion to control or discipline the children. Many people argue in favor of anger because, “स्वामिजि, without getting angry, servants do not obey, children do not obey, nobody listens. What do you know? If we tell slowly, lovingly, compassionately, nothing will work. Anger is a tool to conduct business in the world.” This is what the people ask. For that the answer is, yes wonderful, anger is a tool if you are using the anger and if you are using the anger, you will be able to take it at will and you will be able to drop it at will or you will be able to postpone at will.

Therefore you asked the question: Can I drop the anger at will or can I postpone the reaction at will? And if a person says 'yes', I am a master, I can have it, I can drop it, then we say anger is a tool in your hand; therefore, have it. But generally what we find is, we do not have anger but anger overpowers us. This is the difference between ज्ञानि and an अज्ञानि. One is the master of emotion another is the slave of emotion. And अर्जुन also is now कृपया आविष्टः - overpowered by the fundamental problem of संसार known as रागः.

And once a person is overpowered by रागः his twin brother, the immediate consequence will come and what is that? विषीदन् इदम् अब्रवीत् विषाद means grief or sorrow. Wherever there is attachment there will be sorrow. So always attachment and sorrow are like two sides of the same coin and the intensity of sorrow will be directly proportional to the intensity of attachment and in the case of अर्जुन; परया कृपया attachment was extremely intense and therefore the sorrow also was extremely intense.

Therefore here we find a transformation in अर्जुन. So the ANGRY-अर्जुन has now become SORRY-अर्जुन, RATIONAL-अर्जुन has become EMOTIONAL-अर्जुन, SOLIDER-अर्जुन has become संसारी-अर्जुन. This is the first stage of introduction; because before गीता comes, everyone has to go through these three stages: solider becomes संसारी, संसारी becomes disciple अर्जुन. Solider-अर्जुन has to get converted into संसारी-अर्जुन. संसारी-अर्जुन has to get converted into disciple-अर्जुन and once this takes place, गीताशास्त्रम् can begin and this portion is talking about the first conversion of solider into संसारी.

And व्यासाचार्य cannot dramatize this conversion because his only medium is cold words therefore he can only write one line कृपया परया आविष्टः. So we have to do lot of imagination. We have to stop at this juncture and we have to identify with अर्जुन and you have to imagine अर्जुन seeing भीष्म's and द्रोण's face and his mind rushes back to his entire life. How he has played with them and how they have played with him; he has been on their lap also. They have told him stories. They have caressed him, they have kissed him and so intimate is their relationship. And until now, whenever they met, they must have been embracing, but now for the first time, they are meeting not for exchanging kisses but for exchanging arrows. And अर्जुन must be visualizing the consequences also. Soon, they are going to become victorious because अर्जुन is confident, because कृष्ण is there and then he imagines a future in which भीष्म is dead, द्रोण is dead and he goes home and the home is empty and he imagines a life without them and suddenly his mind breaks down. They have not been actually lost. They are only lost-in-imagination. The very imaginary loss makes a big change in अर्जुन's mind. All these steps we have to imagine. If it is a movie or TV at least they can have a few cameras, one showing अर्जुन's face, one भीष्म, द्रोण. अर्जुन भीष्म, द्रोण अर्जुन, etc one shot here and one shot there. अर्जुन's face farther, closer: zoom lenses. And as even they show, slowly sweat coming and also background music. Poor व्यासाचार्य! He does not have background music, he does not have zoom lenses, he does not have different cameras, therefore you have to imagine all those things and now अर्जुन is turned into संसारी and what is संसार? रागः, शोकः and मोहः.

Remember these three: Attachment, sorrow and conflict. Of these three basic problems, two have come, attachment has come and sorrow also has come. Now here we should remember that अर्जुन developed attachment not in the battlefield. It is not that अर्जुन developed attachment in the battlefield, even before अर्जुन had the attachment. But the problem was the attachment was not evident. Only in the battle field when the possibility of losing the object of attachment comes, then alone the hidden attachment, the hidden intense attachment surfaces. He had the disease, but it was not evident. It was in incubation period. In the battlefield alone, it surfaced. And that is why we find it extremely difficult to handle attachment. Because often we do not know that we have the problem of attachment and therefore we are blissfully ignorant and there is no question of taking action against the problem, because we are not aware of the problem. And it is hidden so long and when it surfaces, it is so powerful that I cannot take any action. Previously because of ignorance, I didn't take action and when it surfaces, it is so powerful that I can't take action. Like many of the addictions or diseases, like cancer etc. When it is growing inside often, the patient does not know. They say if it is detected early, it can be cured. But cancer seems to be so intelligent that in the initial stage one does not know, therefore we do not take action and when it becomes manifest, we cannot take action. Therefore, what are the two problems? I don't take action or I can't take action. That is how the attachment and संसार happily continues. There are only some rare people who are lucky enough to detect that we have that problem and therefore they can start some remedy. And अर्जुन also finds almost in the same situation. And therefore विषीदन्. And how much sorrow he has got. व्यासाचार्य dramatizes that: A verbal dramatization.

In the previous three verses, 26 to 28 व्यासाचार्य showed the problem of रागः which is the first symptom of संसार. Now from this verse up to verse 31st, व्यासाचार्य is showing the 2nd symptom of संसार and that symptom is sorrow or grief. From रागः we are going to शोकः i.e., up to 31. And there afterwards, व्यासाचार्य will talk about the third symptom i.e., मोहः. This is not अर्जुन's problem but this is the universal problem. Only the object of attachment varies, the problem of attachment is universal. And here व्यासाचार्य wants to show that since the attachment was intense, the grief also was intense. And when the mind is intensely afflicted, that suffering will overflow into the physical body also. So if it is a milder problem we can cover up. We will keep only in the mind and outwardly we can pretend as though everything is fine, we can smile, we can forget it; mind is different and body is different, but when the emotions are intense, it will overflow into the physical body. Since अर्जुन's sorrow was intense, it begins to show at the physical level also. And therefore अर्जुन says, हे कृष्ण! Oh Lord, इमम् स्वजनम् दृष्ट्वा - I am seeing these people, who are all my relatives; I am seeing these people who are all my relatives, that means, I belong to them and they belong to me. And this is called the problem of अहङ्कार and ममकार. So we have got a sense of belonging i.e., 'I' belong to someone and someone belongs to me. The sense of belonging is called attachment, which अर्जुन expresses by using the word स्वजनम्. You can note this word being repeated several times in the 1st chapter; this is another crucial word of the 1st chapter, स्वजन means my people. And there is nothing wrong in claiming some people as my people. After all we are worldly people and we belong to someone and many people belong to us, it is fine; but when the sense of belonging becomes attachment and when the attachment begins to cloud the intellect we begin to get confused between धर्म and अधर्म. Until now, अर्जुन said that on the opposite side there were धार्तराष्ट्रा, who were all दुर्बुद्धे. See how it changes. Earlier he said this perhaps biting his teeth, "These people are terrible ones, they have all joined दुर्योधन who is अधार्मिक person." Until now, he saw those people as अधार्मिक people; therefore requiring punishment. Which means he had धर्म-अधर्म विवेक बुद्धि is functioning. But now अर्जुन has slipped from बुद्धि-level to mind-level, rational-level to emotional-level. Therefore instead of calling them अधार्मिक people, now he is calling them "they are all my own people." That means what: If 'our people' do the अधर्म, it is OK. If it is someone else, punishment is called for. This is called wrong judgment. And अर्जुन is getting into problem which is indicated by the word 'स्वजनम्', स्व means ममकार, my people. More we will see in the next class.

अर्जुन had the problem of attachment. All through he was not aware of the problem until he came to the battlefield. When he stood in front of those people, towards whom he had intense attachment and when he thought of the possible loss of those people; that imaginary loss makes his attachment stronger and therefore, the संसार which was there in him all the time is flaring forth as it were, at this moment. And this is being described here and this attachment leads to sorrow and later to delusion and thus रागः, शोकः and मोहः are being depicted. First रागः was indicated in verse no. 27 कृपया पर्याविष्टो विषीदन्निदमब्रवीत्. There the word कृपा indicates रागः or attachment and then विषीदन्निदमब्रवीत् indicates the problem of sorrow and व्यासाचार्य wants to show how intense the sorrow and for that purpose व्यासाचार्य points out that the sorrow was so intense that it started expressing in the physical plane itself. And what are the physical symptoms of that intense sorrow are given in these verses, which we were seeing in the last class. दृष्ट्वेमं स्वजनं कृष्ण. I pointed out in the last class that अर्जुन repeats the word 'स्वजनम्' several times. The word 'स्वजनम्' indicates, 'my people' that means the moment he began to see them as 'my people' he forgot the अधर्म that they had perpetrated. If अर्जुन's vision is very clear, then it does not matter whether they are his people or somebody else's अधर्म has to be punished; but when he begins to see the relationship and comes down to the emotional plane, his intellect is getting clouded. That is indicated by the repeated expression 'स्वजनम्' which we will be seeing later also. So that ममकार is another expression of attachment. In fact, शङ्कराचार्य does not write a commentary on the 1st chapter of the गीता. There is no commentary on the 1st chapter. Even in the 2nd chapter, the first 10 verses शङ्कराचार्य does not write commentary. शङ्कराचार्य's गीता भाष्यम् starts only with the 11th verse of the 2nd chapter and the portions up to that, शङ्कराचार्य condenses in a few lines and in his condensation he only says one thing: अर्जुन suffered from the problem of अहम् एषाम् मम एते, is otherwise called रागः. That is indicated by the word 'स्वजनम्' इमम् दृष्ट्वा. What type of people? युयुत्सुम् समुपस्थितम्. They have come here to not for enjoying the relationship but for fighting and seeing them what happens to me. सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि. It does not happen very suddenly you should remember, before that his mind has worked a lot. As I said in the last class, he imagines what will happen in the war. He imagines the death of the near and dear ones and he imagines his survival and he imagines his life without these people. And the more he thinks, the more real the imagination becomes and the more real it becomes, the more intense the sorrow becomes; because any emotional problem does not take place in one thought. It is a build-up of thought whether it is anger, whether it is depression, whether it is jealousy, any emotional problem does not happen in one thought. Generally, if you see, you will find that you have repeated that thought again and again and that is why in movies or in television serials etc you will find somebody might have made an insulting statement or something and there afterwards, they will show that person walking up and down. They can show all that in the movie. Poor व्यासाचार्य cannot show that. And as he is walking up and down, you will find the statement - insulting statement of that person is repeated again and again and again and each repetition increases the anger or frustration or revenging mentality. Any emotional problem is a thought build-up, not a single thought. Single thought is not a sorrow, single thought is not anger, single thought is not jealousy and single thought is not depression. So therefore, all these emotions require our cooperation. What is our cooperation? We provide the condition, the ideal condition. Sitting in the beach we build-up the worry-thought and from this we also get another important clue, all emotional breakdowns can be handled if you are able to take care of the second thought. The first thought is not in our hands. It happens. Somebody has insulted me. The first thought is an experience. But there afterwards, whether I should repeat it or not is in my hands and if I choose not to repeat it, then it cannot conquer me; but if I allow that thought, like a ripple becoming a wave. A ripple is a weak but a wave is too powerful. अर्जुन also has allowed the ripple of that thought to become a huge wave and it has overpowered him and therefore his powerful hands, which has destroyed millions of असुराs, that hand is not able to hold even that गाण्डीवम्. Therefore, he says सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि – my limbs are shaking. So सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि, they are becoming weaker and weaker and मुखम् च परिशुष्यति and my mouth is drying up. The problem is in the head. But peculiar thing is the mouth dries up. If you have any doubt try public speech. The moment you stand, it is only a welcome address of 1-1/2 minute, or vote of thanks of 1 minute. But he would have planned and throughout the program he would have made it bye-heart also. People generally do not hear the program of ‘vote of thanks.’ They will be practicing, practicing, practicing: the ‘scintillating talk’ and inspiring talk etc already prepared, has already written up and he come there and come in front of the mike, as somebody said: “Heart is an organ which starts functioning right from the time of birth until you stand in front of the public for speech.” Similarly, the mouth also gets parched up. Here अर्जुन says मुखम् च परिशुष्यति. Not only that वेपथुश्च शरीर मे – my whole body is shivering or shaking and रोम-हर्षः च जायते – my hairs are standing on end and गाण्डीवम् खंसते हस्तात् – the गाण्डीव – the bow is slipping down from my hands, that means my hands are becoming weak, it is failing and त्वक् च एव परिदह्यते – my skin is burning as though न च शक्नोमि अवस्थातुम् – I am not even able to stand. I wonder whether I will be able to stand, भ्रमति इव च मे मनः – my head is reeling and not only that, निमित्तानि च पश्यामि विपरीतानि केशव. विपरीतानि निमित्तानि means bad omens, निमित्तम् means omen, विपरीतम् means bad. From this it is very clear that half of the bad omens that we have are projected by our own mind. When we are strong, you see good omens; when we become weaker and weaker even a non-existing cat will be crossing your path, single Brahmin, double-Brahmin will cross you in the street when you are going for an important work. The more you become weaker the more these things become visible. Similarly, अर्जुन also says विपरीतानि निमित्तानि अहम् पश्यामि. That means he is in intense sorrow now. And what is the further consequence of sorrow? Depression. Now अर्जुन is going to go through deep depression; if it is in Bay of Bengal it would have been useful! At least some rains would come, but depression in our mind is of no use you do not get any benefit. In both cases, rain comes in depression, but here it is salt rain from the eye and thus useless! Here you find the courageous अर्जुन is going through an intense depression: Extension of sorrow. We will read;

Verse No .31 - 32

निमित्तानि च पश्यामि विपरीतानि केशव ।

न च श्रेयोऽनुपश्यामि हत्वा स्वजनमाहवे ॥ १-३१॥

निमित्तानि च पश्यामि विपरीतानि केशव ।

न च श्रेयः अनुपश्यामि हत्वा स्वजनम् आहवे ॥ १-३१॥

हे केशव! निमित्तानि विपरीतानि च पश्यामि । आहवे च स्वजनम् हत्वा श्रेयः न अनुपश्यामि ।

न काङ्क्षे विजयं कृष्ण न च राज्यं सुखानि च ।

किं नो राज्येन गोविन्द किं भोगैर्जीवितेन वा ॥ १-३२॥

न काङ्क्षे विजयम् कृष्ण न च राज्यम् सुखानि च ।

किम् नः राज्येन गोविन्द किम् भोगैः जीवितेन वा ॥ १-३२॥

हे कृष्ण! विजयम् न, राज्यम् च सुखानि च न (काङ्क्षे)। हे गोविन्द! नः राज्येन किम् भोगैः जीवितेन वा किम् ?

So अर्जुन goes through the symptoms of depression also and how does it expresses itself. First he begins to feel that the very life is meaningless. These are all typical signs of these mental problems of संसार. He begins to feel that the whole life is meaningless. For whom should I live? Why should I live? Why should I eat, drink coffee? Why wear the ornaments? Why should I do anything at all? The whole life will appear to be empty or meaningless. It is the most unique thing because वेदान्त tells that you are the only meaningful thing in the creation and meaning for life or meaning for your existence does not depend upon any external factor at all. But because of ignorance we begin to get associated with the world, with the people, with various activities and we begin to enjoy them and we begin to get more and more interested, we put our heart and soul in that pursuit and we make them meaningful and after some time it appears as though they are making our lives meaningful. In fact, we are the one who give meanings to everything else, but because of ignorance, because of addiction, after some time, it appears that those pursuits are making my life meaningful. A musician thinks that without music life is meaningless. A sportsman addicted to sports thinks that without sports life is meaningless. A workaholic thinks that after retirement life is meaningless. And Similarly, each one gets addicted to certain things or certain people and he begins to conclude that without that my life is empty. And once you begin to think so, 'why should I live, for whom I should live etc' this is the biggest confusion and delusion. And what वेदान्त says: Nothing can make or give meaning to your life; your life is worthwhile by itself. You add meaning to life, nothing adds meaning to your life. Let the whole world exist, your life is meaningful. Let the whole world go away, your life is meaningful. Therefore, do not connect the purpose or meaning to anything else at all. And that is why, we have to train our mind in the beginning itself: that my life is full and complete because of itself not because of any blessed things. That is why religious training, religious preparation etc has to start very early. Otherwise, whenever that crutch we hold on to fall, we will have all these kinds of depression problem. अर्जुन is a typical example. He says न च श्रेयः अनुपश्यामि – I do not see any good in my life without these people. These people mean भीष्म, द्रोण etc. They alone can make my life meaningful, without their existence श्रेयः अनुपश्यामि – I do not see any good in my life. हत्वा स्वजनम् आहवे – after destroying my people, my life is meaningless and what about victory in the war? न काङ्क्षे विजयम् कृष्ण even though I do not see any meaning in victory; here also you should remember, previously when he was about to start the battle, what was the purpose? The purpose was very clear that it is a fight between धर्म and अधर्म and the purpose of this war is what? परित्राणाय साधूनां विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय, धर्म संस्थापनम् is the meaningful thing, meaningful outcome of this war; that धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय he forgets completely and he begins to look at life from the stand point of a few people, coming and going. That is called shortsightedness. Our धर्मशास्त्रs say that people are subject to arrival and departure, whereas धर्म is शाश्वतम्. Therefore if at all you should have attachment, develop attachment to धर्म, शाश्वत धर्म; never develop attachment to अशाश्वत जनाः. In the कठोपनिषत्, नचिकेतस् beautifully says:

सस्यमिव मर्त्यः पच्यते, सस्यमिव आजायते पुनः ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-१-६ ॥

People are mortals holding on to mortal; how can you give up धर्म. Therefore an attached mind sees people as more important than धर्म, whereas a man of right vision sees धर्म as more important than the mortal. So here अर्जुन is confused. न च राज्यम् – even a kingdom is meaningless, purposeless, न च सुखानि – all the pleasure of life are also worthless; किं नो राज्येन गोविन्द – हे कृष्ण! what is the use of getting a kingdom; किम् भोगैः जीवितेन वा. See where he is heading. What is the use of pleasures? What is the use of kingdom and finally he says, किम् जीवितेन वा. What is the purpose of living? Whereas our धर्मशास्त्र say: purpose of living is not a few people around, the original purpose of living is the spiritual attainment and if you forget that, you get into all these troubles. Continuing;

येषामर्थे काङ्क्षितं नो राज्यं भोगाः सुखानि च ।

त इमेऽवस्थिता युद्धे प्राणांस्त्यक्त्वा धनानि च ॥ १-३३॥

येषाम् अर्थे काङ्क्षितम् नः राज्यम् भोगाः सुखानि च ।

ते इमे अवस्थिताः युद्धे प्राणान् त्यक्त्वा धनानि च ॥ १-३३॥

येषाम् अर्थे नः राज्यम् काङ्क्षितम् भोगाः सुखानि च ते इमे प्राणान् धनानि च त्यक्त्वा युद्धे अवस्थिताः ।

Here also we find how अर्जुन has forgotten the original purpose of महाभारत war. In this श्लोक he says येषाम् अर्थे काङ्क्षितम् नः राज्यम् भोगाः सुखानि च. Through this battle we wanted to get a kingdom. So the purpose of this महाभारत battle is getting back राज्यम्, the kingdom; भोगाः - getting back the pleasures or sense objects; सुखानि च and the pleasures born out of the sense objects. All these we are trying to get for what purpose. येषाम् अर्थे for the enjoyment of भीष्म, द्रोण etc only. How he is bluffing, just see. Now he says, the purpose of महाभारत battle is to get all the pleasures and to give these pleasures to भीष्म, द्रोण etc like that, I want to accomplish all these things and to dedicate them to भीष्म and द्रोण and such people are going to be destroyed. Here, you find how अर्जुन's mind is clouded. The purpose of महाभारत war is not getting the kingdom and handing over to भीष्म and द्रोण. The very purpose of महाभारत war is fighting अधर्म and whoever has joined अधर्म they have to be destroyed and if भीष्म and द्रोण have unfortunately joined them, they also have to be destroyed. This vision was very clear before. Now अर्जुन is turning the table and says for भीष्म's and द्रोण's sake only, we are getting all these things. Therefore he says येषाम् भीष्म द्रोणादिनाम् अर्थे प्रयोजनाय एव राज्यम् भोगाः सुखानि च काङ्क्षितम्. And all these people इमे अस्मिन् युद्धे अवस्थिताः. And these very people प्राणान् त्यक्त्वा धनानि च – sacrificing their life and wealth they are standing in front. And therefore अर्जुन's argument is: if I win this war and get the kingdom to whom will I show this? It is just like a person having some money and he did not have a wallet, a purse was not there. Therefore, what did he do? He got a purse using the money he had. And now what is the problem? There is no money to keep in the wallet. Similarly, I win war only to bring all the goodies and keep in front of भीष्म and द्रोण to enjoy. They should say well-done bravo! Well-done. Now I will kill them and get the kingdom and in whose front I will keep them, place them and therefore it is utterly meaningless. ते अवस्थिताः. Continuing;

अपि त्रैलोक्य-राज्यस्य हेतोः किम् नु महीकृते ॥ १-३५॥

हे मधुसूदन! (मां) घ्नतः अपि एतान् त्रैलोक्य-राज्यस्य हेतोः अपि न हन्तुम् इच्छामि, किम् नु महीकृते ?

Who are those people standing in front? He gives a list once again. Even though he has told earlier, he is repeating again and again; a typical breakdown. Anybody who is becoming sorrowful and depression like that broken gramophone record, they will go on repeating it. However much you try to console it won't work, only कालः has to help them; extremely difficult to handle. If a person has to face a situation the only thing is that the person must be prepared before any such tragedy comes. Actually when the problem comes, it is very difficult. That is why they say, have the Lord, have devotion and have all those things beforehand itself. Always preparation is better than shock. And अर्जुन has never prepared and therefore he is sliding down and you can see कृष्ण is also utterly silent. So, therefore so many things people do. Different people have got different expressions. Some people loudly laugh also and some people cry, roar; so many people do so many things. कृष्ण is silent spectator because he wants to allow the person to exhaust and this is indirectly a training to us. For that sake if you find somebody who is broken down, do not start with साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, तत्त्वबोध etc. Allow them to exhaust their feelings. कृष्ण allows अर्जुन. Therefore, अर्जुन again tells (just now only he has finished telling so many things). आचार्याः all these आचार्याs are standing. पितरः – fathers, पुत्राः – sons, पितामहाः – grandfathers, मातुलाः – uncles श्वशुराः – fathers-in-law, पौत्राः – grandson; श्यालाः – brothers-in-law, सम्बन्धिनः in short, all relations. Because it is a war among or between cousins and therefore अर्जुन says, एतान् हन्तुम् न इच्छामि. Come what may, I will not kill them, hurt them. It looks as though compassion, it is very difficult to distinguish what is attachment and what is compassion. It is very difficult. We may think that अर्जुन has compassion. On what basis we say that it is problem of attachment. The difference is only this. In attachment, a person's vision of धर्म and अधर्म gets clouded. Compassion's greatness is however much it comes, however much a person is disturbed by compassion, he will not violate धर्म. A judge may also feel compassion when a criminal cries and ask for mercy petition. That is the most interesting thing. He wants mercy from the President. When he killed so many people, he did not want to show any mercy, now he cries that he has got wife, children etc and if I am not there it will be a problem for them. But a judge can never afford to show a false compassion. If capital punishment is required, he has to do that. And when he does that, you cannot say judge is compassionless. You cannot say. Similarly, here also, if at all अर्जुन shows compassion, it is a misplaced compassion and therefore it is a problem of रागः alone. More details we will be seeing later. Therefore, he says एतान् न हन्तुम् इच्छामि – I do not want to kill them. द्यतः अपि मधुसूदन, हे मधुसूदन! he is addressing correctly; मधुसूदन – a destroyer of मधु the राक्षस, मधुकैटभ असुर. कृष्ण you did not face any problem when you destroyed मधु, a राक्षस. Killing राक्षस is easy. Here I am not killing राक्षस, I have to kill my own relations. But कृष्ण killed कंस; अर्जुन is not seeing that. He should have called कंस निसूदन; he did not do that. He says मधुसूदन. For you the job was easier, but I cannot do that. द्यतः अपि even if they choose to strike us, even if they choose to hit us we will receive the arrow, like the freedom movement, they received the blow. I will receive everything but I am not going to take my bow at all. द्यतः अपि even though they strike us. अपि त्रैलोक्य-राज्यस्य even I am going to get all the three लोकs, भूलोक, भुवः लोक, सुवः लोक, it will not compensate my भीष्म, my द्रोण, cannot be compensated by all the three लोकs. Then what to talk of किम् नु महीकृते by getting a small kingdom, it is not going to be compensated when the three लोकs cannot compensate, what else can compensate. Therefore I will choose भीष्म and द्रोण and not anything else. Continuing;

Verse No .36

निहत्य धार्तराष्ट्रान्नः का प्रीतिः स्याज्जनार्दन ।

पापमेवाश्रयेदस्मान्हत्वैतानाततायिनः ॥ १-३६॥

निहत्य धार्तराष्ट्रान् नः का प्रीतिः स्यात् जनार्दन ।

पापम् एव आश्रयेत् अस्मान् हत्वा एतान् आततायिनः ॥ १-३६॥

हे जनार्दन! एतान् धार्तराष्ट्रान् निहत्य नः का प्रीतिः स्यात् ? आततायिनः हत्वा अस्मान् पापम् एव आश्रयेत् ।

So हे कृष्ण! हे जनार्दन, धार्तराष्ट्रान् निहत्य का प्रीतिः स्यात्? What happiness or what joy can we acquire by killing these धार्तराष्ट्राः? Again go back to one of the previous श्लोक. Remember धार्तराष्ट्रस्य दुर्बुद्धेः युद्धे प्रिय-चिकीर्षवः. He has now forgotten दुर्बुद्धी. Now he is asking what are we going to get by killing these कौरवः? हे जनार्दन, हे कृष्ण. So जनार्दन means दुष्ट जनान् आर्धयति – one who destroys दुष्ट जन is जनार्दन. You don't have problem because, you are killing only दुष्ट जन. But I have to kill my relatives, you have only to kill दुष्ट जन. Your job is easier, my job is very difficult and therefore I will not take to this war and now gradually अर्जुन's mind is further becoming worse. Until now, अर्जुन's problem was only grief and depression. It was the problem of शोकः. Now from this verse onwards, अर्जुन gets into the problem of मोहः, this wrong judgment, misconception, धर्म-अधर्म अविवेक. This is the third symptom of संसार. Up to previous श्लोक, 35th श्लोक, he had the problem of शोकः and now that is from verse no 28th to 35th is शोकः problem and from now 36th to 47th till the end of the chapter we find problem of Delusion. What do you mean by Delusion? Seeing whatever is धर्म as अधर्म and whatever is अधर्म, he begins to see as धर्म. Now objectively seeing, what is धर्म? The धर्म of a क्षत्रिय is punishing whoever is committing अधर्म, just as the judge has to punish. There the हिंसा becomes a धर्म for a क्षत्रिय. And when he does that job, he is not going to get पापम्. On the other hand, he is going to get only पुण्यम् and therefore महाभारत war is only going to give पुण्यम् for अर्जुन. कृष्ण is going to say that in the 2nd chapter. There you will have to remember this line. In the 2nd chapter कृष्ण says that only very rare people gets: स्वर्गद्वारमपावृतम् सुखिनः क्षत्रियाः पार्थ लभन्ते युद्धमीदृशम् ॥ अर्जुन for you this महाभारत war is स्वर्ग-द्वारम् – a means of giving स्वर्ग; that means it is a पुण्य-कर्म. On the other hand,

अकीर्तिम् च अपि भूतानि कथयिष्यन्ति ते अव्ययाम् ।

सम्भावितस्य च अकीर्तिः मरणात् अतिरिच्यते ॥ भयात् रणात् उपरतम्,

there he says when you run away from this battle it is going to give पापम्. Here युद्धम् is पुण्यम् and पलायनम् – means running away from the युद्धम् is पापम्. This is the objective fact कृष्ण is going to tell in the 2nd chapter. Now अर्जुन is going to lose sight of this and what does he do, he sees the युद्धम् as पापम् and running away from this युद्धम् as पुण्यम्. Therefore पुण्ये पाप दृष्टि, पापे पुण्य दृष्टि; अतस्मिन् तद् बुद्धि एव मोहः, अध्यासः अविवेकः and this अतस्मिन् तद् बुद्धि, this मोहः व्यासाचार्य beautifully brings out. He says पापम् एव आश्रयेत् अस्मान् हे कृष्ण! we are going to incur पापम् alone by killing these people and who are these people. हत्वा एतान् आततायिनः, another interesting thing. अर्जुन calls these people, i.e., कौरव as आततायिनः. आततायि is a technical word used in धर्मशास्त्रs. In धर्मशास्त्रs they enumerate varieties of पापम्, the huge list of पापम्s with gradation. All these things we tell in यज्ञोपवित उपाकर्म (श्रावणी उपाकर्म) सङ्कल्पः

‘शङ्कलीकरणानाम् मलनीकरणानाम् अपात्रीकरणानाम् जातिभ्रमशकरणानाम् अविहित कर्माचरण विहितकर्म त्यागधीनानाम् भ्रगीर्णकानाम् उप पादकानाम् महापादकानाम् सम्पादकानाम् एवम् नवानाम् नवविधानाम् बहूनाम् बहूविधानाम् सर्वेषाम् पापानाम् अपनोदनद्वारा’, Varieties of पापः. Drinking liquor is one type of पापम्; smelling it is another type of पापम्, lesser grade; moving with a person who has given that, is another पापम्. There is a big list: directly killing, indirectly killing, all these are said on the श्रावणी उपाकर्म (यज्ञोपवित) day. All those पापानाम्, सध्यः अपनोदनार्थम्, it is said, after doing the पापम् for the whole year and all these पापम्s should go in one day’s स्नानम्!! सध्यः अपनोदनार्थम् गंगा स्नानम् अहम् करिष्ये. Even on that श्रावणी day for the कामोकार्षीत् he does not want to do one स्नानम्. Any way that is an aside thing. Huge lists of पापम् are given and there they talk about पञ्च महा पातकानि. The five worst type of sins. What are they?

क्षेत्रदारापहर्ता च पञ्चैते ह्याततायिनः ॥

Five types of criminal sins are:

- i) अग्निदः – burning down somebody else’s house or property,
- ii) गरदः – poisoning a person,
- iii) अशस्त्रपाणि – killing another person with a weapon when the other person does not have any weapon in defense. अशस्त्रपाणि the third महा पातकम्,
- iv) धनापहः – stealing the property of another person and finally,
- v) क्षेत्रदारापहर्ता – taking the land or wife of another person; kidnapping.

These are the five things, पञ्चैते ह्याततायिनः – अग्निदः - burning the house, poisoning a person, killing a defenseless person with a weapon, taking the land or property of a person and taking away the wife of another person; these five are considered पञ्च महा पातकानि and whoever does any one of these पातकानि; even anyone is called आततायि. And what is the punishment according to the criminal law of those days. They had the criminal law. Our criminal law has come only after our constitution. They had their own दण्ड नीति. And according to traditional दण्ड नीति,

नाततायिवधे दोषो हन्तुर्भवति कश्चन ॥ (मनु स्मृति ८ । ३७०-३७१).

Capital punishment is the punishment for an आततायि. And here दुर्योधनs are standing and you know what is their ‘glory’ especially दुर्योधन, दुःशासन etc they have done all of them. They have poisoned, they have burned in the lac house, poisoned भीम, kidnapped द्रौपदी all these things they did and therefore they are not ordinary आततायिs. If you institute a noble prize for आततायिs, then दुर्योधन will get the No.1 prize and then what should be the punishment? Immediate capital punishment. And if a क्षत्रिय does not do that he will incur sin. Here अर्जुन says (see how much conflict has entered अर्जुन's mind), हे कृष्ण! by killing these आततायिs, he is using the same word, I will incur पापम्. See how his vision is totally clouded. Look at the sentence. पापम् एव आश्रयेत् अस्मान् – only पापः will come to us by killing these people who are आततायिs. This is the beginning of मोहः. रागः over, संस्कृत रागः not carnatic music one. So रागः problem is over, शोकः problem is over, now मोहः problem starts. Continuing;

Verse No .37

तस्मान्नाहं वयं हन्तुं धार्तराष्ट्रान्स्वबान्धवान् ।

स्वजनं हि कथं हत्वा सुखिनः स्याम माधव ॥ १-३७ ॥

तस्मात् न अहं वयम् हन्तुम् धार्तराष्ट्रान् स्वबान्धवान् ।

स्वजनम् हि कथम् हत्वा सुखिनः स्याम माधव ॥ १-३७ ॥

हे माधव! तस्मात् स्वबान्धवान् धार्तराष्ट्रान् हन्तुम् वयम् न अहं । हि स्वजनम् हत्वा (वयम्) कथम् सुखिनः स्याम ?

So तस्मात्, as though he has given a list of elaborate arguments, like a lawyer, he states: ‘therefore, because of the reasons I have given, it is but a proper conclusion, वयम् धार्तराष्ट्रान् हन्तुम् न अहं. We should not kill these people.’ Who are these people? स्वबान्धवान्. Here he again says स्वबान्धवान्. स्वबान्धवान् means our kith and kin. That means according to him two धर्मशास्त्रs are there. When our relations commit mistake, one law and when somebody else's commit mistake, another law. That is what everyone's argument is. Imagine if the law is changed for everyone individually what law would be left out. Remember, this is the land of मनुनीति चोळन्. That मनुनीति चोळन् was ready to kill his own son because he saw that he has committed a crime, which requires a capital punishment. So therefore law is the same for everyone but now अर्जुन says it is different. Therefore स्वबान्धवान् – they are my relations. And स्वजनम् हत्वा again स्वजनम्, by killing my people, कथम् सुखिनः स्याम – how can we enjoy a happy life? Therefore our happiness is more important and धर्म is not important. So we can sacrifice धर्म for the sake of happiness. This is indirect conclusion of अर्जुन; whereas गीता's teaching is स्वधर्मे निधनं श्रेयः परधर्मो भयावहः. धर्म is prime. That is the conclusion of गीता. Here अर्जुन says we can sacrifice धर्म for the sake of a happy life. Continuing;

कुल-क्षय-कृतम् दोषम् मित्र-द्रोहे च पातकम् ॥ १-३८॥

यदि अपि एते लोभ-उपहत-चेतसः कुल-क्षय-कृतम् दोषम् मित्र-द्रोहे च पातकम् न पश्यन्ति;

अर्जुन is totally confused. We are able to understand अर्जुन's confusion but the irony is अर्जुन himself thinks that he has got a clear vision now only. He is reviewing. What we were saying? Until he came to the battle, he had a clear vision. Now he had slipped from right vision to confusion. But अर्जुन feels until now I was confused and now coming to the middle of the battlefield, now only my eyes have opened. I have got a clearer understanding that this also is not अर्जुन's problem. This is universal problem. Even when we make wrong judgment, emotionally we will think that the whole world is confused that we are the only clear sighted persons. This is the power of the mind. When the mind is deluded or confused, it is so powerful that it begins to cloud the intellect. Not only it begins to cloud the intellect, the intellect instead of fighting the mind - the emotional mind, the intellect will join the mind. You know the theory. If you cannot fight a person, join the person. Like a smoker who argues, 'if we don't buy the cigarette how the company people will survive, so many people will lose their jobs. We have to support them by buying.' You will find the intellect will justify smoking. Intellect will justify drinking. Intellect will justify all

अक्रमम्, because the addiction has become too powerful to conquer. Therefore, अर्जुन begins to say that we have got a clearer vision. दुर्योधनs are confused. Therefore he says, because of their confusion they have come to this battlefield and since our thinking is very clear let us withdraw from the war, after all two hands are required to make a noise and even if they are ready, if we withdraw, the war will not take place. And therefore, अर्जुन is so happy now. At least now I have got a good बुद्धि. At least now I have got a clearer vision. Therefore he says: एते न पश्यन्ति. कृष्ण is listening and has to stand without laughing. See how difficult it is. कृष्ण has to pretend as though अर्जुन is right. Because अर्जुन is so emotional; thoughts and words are flooding from him that अर्जुन does not want to listen anything. Therefore कृष्ण cannot even speak and therefore he has to remain silent. Therefore, he says, एते न पश्यन्ति, एते means what: एते दुर्योधनादयः, अर्जुन must be including कृष्ण also. कृष्ण, you also did not see it!, एते न पश्यन्ति, they do not see clearly, their intellects stifled, उपहत, stifled, suppressed, by what लोभ – greed. So the कौरवs intellects are suppressed because of their greed and therefore, they do not see the evils involved in this war. What are the evils involved? कुल-क्षय-कृतम् दोषम् – the evil consequences of destruction of many families. Because when a male is destroyed and especially in those days, male is the head of the family and he is the only bread winner. Now is the confusion, as to who is the head. Therefore he was the head and he was the controller and he was in charge, he was the breadwinner also, therefore, destruction of a male, is as good as destruction of a family. Therefore by destroying these people, we are destroying countless families and by that so many evil-consequences happen and these consequences दुर्योधनs do not see but now I have got a very very clear vision. Not only that is the evil, there is another evil involved, मित्र-द्रोहे च पातकम्. And many of them are not only our relatives but are our close friends. And what is the job of a friend? To assist a friend, to help a friend, a friend in need is a friend indeed, therefore we are supposed to protect them, instead of protecting a friend we are destroying. And this is a महापापम्. Therefore मित्र-द्रोहे पातकम् च. Generally harming anyone is a पापम् in itself, harming a friend who has trusted me is ingratitude and it is a greater sin. And that I am able to see, दुर्योधनः do not see. But thank God, before we started the battle, at least now we have got our बुद्धि. So let us go back. So अर्जुन decides to go away from the battlefield. And then what happened? Next week.

व्यासाचार्य is showing how अर्जुन is going through intense संसार in the battlefield. And we saw that संसार expresses in the form of the threefold problems, i.e., रागः or attachment, secondly as शोकः or sorrow and finally मोहः or conflict. Of these three, attachment was shown before - कृपया पर्याविष्टो विषीदन्निदमब्रवीत् अर्जुन experienced intense attachment towards these people, when he thought of the possible loss of these people. Of course, he had the attachment already but it was in a hidden form, but only in the battlefield the hidden attachment surfaced and once the attachment overpowers him then he suffers from the immediate consequences, viz., deep sorrow and sorrow is directly proportional to the attachment. And since the attachment was intense, the consequent grief also was intense and it was so intense that it started expressing in the physical body also. So his whole body was burning, head was reeling, hands were failing etc which we saw. Now व्यासाचार्य shows how the रागः and शोकः, attachment and grief, is leading him to conflict or confusion i.e., मोहः. मोहः is धर्म-अधर्म अिववेकः. Confusion between what is धर्म proper and what is अधर्म. And when there is such a confusion between धर्म and अधर्म whatever is धर्म will appear as though अधर्म and whatever is अधर्म will appear as though धर्म. We know that in the battlefield अर्जुन's duty as a क्षत्रिय is fighting the war. Therefore, युद्धम् is धर्म for अर्जुन but अर्जुन sees the very धर्म युद्धम् as अधर्म. This is conflict No.1. Secondly, a क्षत्रिय should never run away from the battlefield. Running away from the battlefield is shirking the duty, it will come under omission of duty and according to धर्मशास्त्र omission of duty will produce a special sin called प्रत्यवाय पाप. And therefore running away is a पाप कर्म, producing प्रत्यवाय but that अर्जुन is seeing as though पुण्य कर्म. Therefore, धर्म युद्धम् he is seeing as अधर्म and अधर्म पलायनम्, पलायनम् means running away; अधर्म पलायनम् he sees as though धर्म. Thus the confusion is complete. And the problem is once the mind which is so much attached and confused begins to overpower a person and then it stifles the intellect also. Even an educated, informed intellect is stifled by an emotional mind, a disturbed mind. And the unfortunate thing is when the mind is so much overpowered by the emotion, the intellect cannot fight the problem and when the intellect cannot fight it begins to support the mental weakness; because the rule is if you cannot fight the enemy then join the enemy. The rule of election. If you cannot fight the enemy, join the enemy unscrupulously. Similarly, when the mind has got certain addictions and weaknesses, if that addiction and weakness is feeble, the intellect can fight that and get over that addiction. But if that addiction has become so intense, what will the intellect do? Instead of fighting it the intellect will begin to justify the mental weaknesses. And if it is informed in scriptures, such an intellect will start even quoting the scriptures, which alone we call devil quoting the scriptures. In fact, we can quote scriptural statements for almost everyone of our weaknesses, like somebody who was indulging in some drink or smoke, he was quoting the भजगोविन्दम् of शङ्कराचार्य; such a person quotes:

यस्य ब्रह्मणि रमते चित्तं नन्दति नन्दति नन्दत्येव ॥

What does it matter, whether you are a योगि or a भोगि, what is important is where your mind is. And a lazy person who does not want to get up and go to a temple, he can always argue, why should we go to the temple when the Lord is all-pervading and it is in my heart itself. And in support of my laziness, I can even quote शिवानन्दलहरि :

गुहायाम् गेहे वा बहिरपि वने वाऽद्रिशिखरे

जले वा वह्नौ वा वसतु वसतेः किम् वद फलम् ।

सदा यस्यैवान्तः करण-मपि शंभो तव पदे

स्ति तत् चेद्योगोऽसौ स च परम-योगी स च सुखी ॥ १२ ॥

A very convenient quotation, wherein शङ्कराचार्य says it does not matter, where you are. What matters is where your mind is. Therefore I can argue my mind is all the time on the Lord. There is no way to verify it. I can easily bluff my mind. Why go to the temple and why get up? Therefore the intellect can easily fool us. And अर्जुन is befooled by his own intellect and therefore he now talks of the evils of war, even the arguments are wonderfully true, the war will cause a lot of evils, but here, the place in which अर्जुन is talking about that, is not a proper place because अर्जुन is talking out of weakness of mind. And therefore in these श्लोकs, from verse no.38 onwards, अर्जुन is talking about the evils of war. So what are they: he says,

यद्यप्येते न पश्यन्ति लोभोपहतचेतसः ।

कुलक्षयकृतं दोषं मित्रद्रोहे च पातकम् ॥

हे कृष्ण! the कौरवs do not see the evils of war. So कुल-क्षय-कृतम् दोषम्, in any war millions of male members are killed, who are the heads of the family and when such men are killed, the heads of the family are killed and when the heads of the family are killed, it is as good as destroying the families themselves. When families are destroyed, the consequences will be terrible. What are the consequences? अर्जुन will talk later. But here he is just mentioning, कुल-क्षय-कृतम् दोषम्, दोषः means evil consequences born out of destruction of family. And not only such evil consequences are there, मित्र-द्रोहे च पातकम् We are hurting our own kith and kin which is called मित्रद्रोहम्. We are supposed to help our friends and in its place we are destroying which is another महा पापम् that they are not seeing but thank god, we are seeing clearly. Therefore, having seen the evil consequences let us decide to withdraw from the war. After all, any fight requires minimum two. And if I refuse to become the second one, then there cannot be any fight. Therefore let us retreat. This is अर्जुन's argument which he is going to buildup in the following श्लोकs. This will go on; all are very interesting श्लोकs up to 46th. He talks about the evil consequences of war, the evil consequences of the destruction of families, which he calls कुलक्षय. कुल means family; क्षय means destruction.

Verse No .39

कथं न ज्ञेयमस्माभिः पापादस्मान्निवर्तितुम् ।

कुलक्षयकृतं दोषं प्रपश्यद्भिर्जनार्दन ॥ १-३९॥

कथम् न ज्ञेयम् अस्माभिः पापात् अस्मान् निवर्तितुम् ।

कुल-क्षय-कृतम् दोषम् प्रपश्यद्भिः जनार्दन ॥ १-३९॥

हे जनार्दन! कुल-क्षय-कृतम् दोषम् प्रपश्यद्भिः अस्माभिः अस्मात् पापात् निवर्तितुम् कथम् न ज्ञेयम् ?

So जनार्दन, हे कृष्ण! दोषम् प्रपश्यद्भिः, we are able to clearly see the negative consequences. दुर्योधनः is confused but we have got a clear thinking now and therefore we are able to see the दोषम्, दोषम् in कुल-क्षय-कृतम्. The evil caused by the destruction of millions of families. And since we have seen the evil, why can't we withdraw. Therefore, अस्माभिः अस्मात् पापात् निवर्तितुम् कथम् न ज्ञेयम्? Why can't we think of withdrawing from such an evil action? So here पाप means, what अर्जुन means is, this युद्धम् which involves कुलक्षय. कुलक्षय रूपात् पापात् निवृत्तिः, withdrawing from such a sinful action, why can't we think of, even though they would not do. We will do. Why should we have a false ego? If the other people going to criticize us, it is their problem, let the world say anything, but let us withdraw from this war. हे जनार्दन, he is pleading because कृष्ण is the charioteer. He has to drive the chariot away, therefore he is asking for कृष्ण's support; whereas कृष्ण is sitting like ब्रह्मन् neither ready to cooperate with him nor is he is going to reject him. If कृष्ण has to reject he will have to give his arguments and if कृष्ण has to give his arguments अर्जुन must be in a position to receive. Unless the other person is in a receptive mood there is no use of talking; talking to a non-receptive person is called वनरोधनम्. You know वनरोधनम् - crying in forest. In fact, half of the time, in our families we are talking to people who are not at all interested in listening, like talking to a wall. And therefore कृष्ण is very intelligent, even though he has to say a lot of things he does not say anything, because अर्जुन is not yet open to it. And not only he is not open, he wants to talk a lot to कृष्ण. Therefore कृष्ण is listening. Continuing;

Verse No .40

कुलक्षये प्रणश्यन्ति कुलधर्माः सनातनाः ।

धर्मे नष्टे कुलं कृत्स्नमधर्मोऽभिभवत्युत ॥ १-४०॥

कुल-क्षये प्रणश्यन्ति कुल-धर्माः सनातनाः ।

धर्मे नष्टे कुलम् कृत्स्नम् अधर्मः अभिभवति उत ॥ १-४०॥

कुल-क्षये सनातनाः कुल-धर्माः प्रणश्यन्ति, उत धर्मे नष्टे अधर्मः कृत्स्नम् कुलम् अभिभवति ।

Here अर्जुन further explains the consequences of family destruction. So when there are no healthy families in a society; either there is no family-life or there are broken families only, what will be the consequences in society. Here अर्जुन wants to say that, without family life धर्म can never grow. Religion can never grow. Culture can never grow and spirituality is never possible. Therefore, whether it is धर्म, whether it is culture, whether it is religion or whether it is spirituality all these things can grow only in a society where there are stable, surviving, long lasting families. In fact, we never understood the importance of families because, in India especially, family life was very very strong. We should not say 'was'; even now it is still reasonably strong. And since we never had this problem of no family or broken family, we never knew the importance of it but now only the family life is breaking down in many cultures and unfortunately in India also the family life is breaking down and therefore gradually we are beginning to understand the adverse consequences only now. A lot of research is going on analyzing lot of sociological problem, youth problems, crimes, drugs and all those things are now analyzed. And after analysis and even statistical study, they have come to recognize 90% of problems in youth are only because they do not have a stable family background. And therefore, our scriptures gave lot of importance to healthy family life. If an industry should grow very well, you know that it requires an ideal infrastructure where different departments are functioning in harmony, where there is understanding, where people are working as a team, only when such a wonderful infrastructure is there material growth of an industry is possible. Similarly, if a nation should progress and grow, we know now, especially we have learnt a hard lesson how a stable government is important for the growth of the country. If there is no stable government, where there are different members (coalition government), there is no cohesiveness and harmony. Most of the time the government is struggling only for their survival, nobody has the time to think of the progress of the nation. So, just as a good infrastructure is required for an industrial growth a good stable government is required for national growth, a stable family is required for cultural growth, for धार्मिक growth and religious growth. And spiritual growth and such values and culture alone we call कुलधर्मः. So अर्जुन says without a stable family, कुलधर्मः will perish and therefore he says कुल-क्षये प्रणश्यन्ति. So when the families are destroyed धर्म, कुलधर्म i.e., cultural values, ethical values, religious values, spiritual values which have been coming down from अनादि वेद परम्परा, all of them get destroyed. And धर्मो नष्टे when the धर्म is destroyed and consequently when the family is destroyed and consequently when धर्म is destroyed the immediate thing will be अधर्मः अभिभवति. अधर्मः that means a life in which importance is given only to अर्थः and कामः. अधर्म means a life given to only material values. Money becomes the most important thing in life, pleasure becomes the most important thing in life and for the sake of money and pleasure all the values can be given up. Such a materialistic lifestyle is called अधर्म and such a materialistic lifestyle will overpower all the values. And therefore अधर्मः अभिभवति उत. Continuing;

अधर्म-अभिभवात् कृष्ण प्रदुष्यन्ति कुल-स्त्रियः ।

हे कृष्ण! अधर्म-अभिभवात् कुल-स्त्रियः प्रदुष्यन्ति । हे वाष्ण्येय! स्त्रीषु दुष्टासु वर्ण-सङ्करः जायते ।

Why do we say stable family is important for cultural growth? Why do we say so? We say stable family is important because a cultural personality has to be formed in a human being at the very early stage of life. A healthy personality has to be formed in very early stage of life, just as a healthy body has to be formed in very early age. Suppose a child has malnutrition, proper nutrition is not there within the first five to ten years and there afterwards after ten or fifteen years, even if the best food is given it is not going to be of great use because within the first ten years, already a physical personality is formed. In the same way, if a healthy physiological personality has to be formed, it has to be formed in very early stage of life. And healthy psychology is possible only when a child grows in a healthy family, a stable family. A lot of study has gone into that especially in the west. They have studied a lot about the development of mind and the importance of family especially a stable family. When a child is growing it does not have the capacity to discriminate and to judge what is important and what is not important, what is valuable and what is not valuable. The child cannot discriminate. Since the child cannot discriminate and develop proper values, the child is always going to look to the parents and imitate. Therefore, the child believes the parents absolutely. In fact, parents are like God for the child. The parents are omniscient, Omnipotent and therefore the child is going to value things based upon the values of the father and mother. Now, while the child is developing values for various things, what type of value or respect the child has towards itself? That is also important. What type of self-value the child develops, what type of self-image the child develops, what type of self-worth the child develops that is also very important. Now the child does not have any idea about itself - whether it is a useless child or whether it is a wonderful child, whether it is a respectable child or whether it is to be a rejected child. The child does not have any opinion. The child is going to develop a self-opinion, based on what? The child is going to develop a self-opinion based on the parent's opinion of the child. And therefore the psychologists say that if the parents are going to respect the child and treat the child as a V.I.P, the most important thing in the family and the whole life of the mother is centered on the child and whatever the child asks for our scriptures say, राजवत् पञ्चवर्षाणि, up to first five years of life the child develops self-opinion. And once the self-opinion is formed within five years, it can never be erased and suppose the parents are going to treat as राजवत्, at the beck and call of the child every family member comes and takes care of the child. And to all the silly question somebody is there around to answer and all the needs somebody is around to fulfill, if the parents treat the child like a V.I.P, the child begins to develop a beautiful self-image, a beautiful self-worth and that is self-respect and self-confidence. And if the child does not develop self-worth, self-image and self-confidence within those few years, the child is going to condemn itself, going to develop inferior complex and such a child of self-diffidence can never achieve anything. It can never be an achiever-child. It can never be an accomplishing-child. It will say how can I get it? And how did the child develop that value? It is not the child's mistake, but it is only the value that the parents have given. Therefore, a healthy mind is a mind which respects, which has got self-respect, which has got self-image. कृष्ण will also tell in the 6th chapter,

उद्धरेदात्मनात्मानं नात्मानमवसादयेत् ।

आत्मैव ह्यात्मनो बन्धुरात्मैव रिपुरात्मनः ॥

अर्जुन, once you condemn yourself then nobody can help you. Even if भगवान् comes and tells, you can accomplish मोक्षः in this life, we will argue with भगवान् and say you do not know who I am? Let hundred गुरुs comes and say 'you can spiritually accomplish', you will sympathies with गुरु; he is so optimistic with the गुरु. You will sympathies with scriptures, with God also because if you do not have self-confidence no God can help, no गुरु can help, no scriptures can help and therefore the most important grace is आत्मकृपः. गुरु कृपः is secondary, ईश्वर कृपः is secondary, शास्त्र कृपः is secondary. All these graces will become valid only when there is the most important grace, which is called आत्मकृपः and what is आत्मकृपः? 'I can take charge of my life and I can accomplish what I want' - this self-respect and image. And this self-image has to come within first few years. And that is possible only when there is a stable family and healthy parents who respect the child. And therefore, family life is very important to develop psychologically healthy citizens of a society. And most of the crime and many of the drugs and all are developing only because of low self-image. When we say, a good self-image is required they call it ego-nourishment. It is not arrogance. Only a nourished ego can grow and only when the ego grows it can ripen and only when ego grows and ripens, it can drop, leading to मोक्षः. Therefore, we can remove the ego without nourishing it. And that is self-respect. Therefore, family is required for developing self-respecting citizen. The second importance of family is this. As I said, cultural values have to be imbibed very early in life. It has to be imbibed very early in life. And if I have to give cultural values to very young babies naturally, verbal communication is not available. How can I teach cultural values, for six month old baby or one year old baby? Naturally, I can never communicate verbally. So the next question is, if the children have to develop cultural values without verbal communication and how is it going to learn? There is only one way, the child imbibes the cultural values without verbal communication and what is that? Imitation. The child is going to imitate the parents blindly, just by observing the life of parents. Child is going to constantly watch the parents, every word the parents' use, if you say donkey, it will listen and use it when the स्वामिजि comes. What will it know? Here the father has called the mother as donkey or the other way round. But the child does not know and it will imbibe it, use it in a wrong place and in a wrong way. Every thought of the mother during the pregnancy influences the child, it is scientifically proved and how the mother welcomes the child during the pregnancy that contributes to self-image. If the mother is not going to welcome the child, the child feels rejected even though it is not verbal, non-verbal communication. That's why they have got the सीमन्तम्, पुंसवनम्, etc., which all means that the whole family is welcoming the child, it seems psychologically the child knows that so many people are there, waiting to welcome me. I am a V.I.P; it is not a joke. These are proved scientifically and sociologically and therefore during pregnancy the mother contributes through her thoughts and when the child is born every word, every action of the parents the child is going to imbibe, that means cultural values are taught by the parents only by serving as a model. Mother becomes the first model for the child. The father becomes the next model for the child. And there afterwards only गुरु comes. See the order माता, पिता, गुरु and then only दैवम्, lastly. Mother is the first model. If the parents do not serve as the ideal models, the child will look around for TV models, imitating the wrong ones. So when we are not ready to serve as ideal model, the child requires a model and therefore the child will take some other model - one Jackson, this chap or that. दयानन्द स्वामिजि says 'where music is no more sung but music is done, music is lot of doing.’ A child asked it seems, so the mother had taken the child for a musical program, an opera or orchestra, the child asked the mother, why is this person threatening all these people with a stick? So the mother said, he is not threatening, he is only conducting the show with that. Then the baby asked, if he is not threatening, why is that lady screaming?!! The child does not know the difference between what is screaming and what is singing; life seems to be very very fine. Therefore the parents have to serve as a model. And if they have to serve as a model, the models should be available for a consistent length of time, which means a stable family is required. Imagine the father brings every other year, a new wife or if the mother brings a new husband every other year, the child will be confused. Which model to follow? To dress like whom? That means father and mother should be together and mere living within one roof is not enough. They should have the bond, bond of trust and love because a house is possible not by mere bricks kept together, the bricks should be held together by cement. Similarly, a few members cannot make a family. These members should have trust and understanding etc. And when such a love, care, understanding, harmony, etc., are there they can serve as a model and the child imbibes. The other day I was sitting on the sofa in one family and they asked the child, a small baby of 1 year or 1.5 years, I think, they asked you do नमस्कार to स्वामिजि. Then I had kept one foot down and another foot I had kept up. I was surprised. What did the baby do you know? It pulled my leg and put it down, both feet were together and it did prostration keeping the head on both the feet. I was so surprised, because the child was with the grandparents and they had made it a point that whenever he does नमस्कार, the head should touch or the hands should touch the feet. Therefore the child wanted to do नमस्कार and saw that one leg is up and the other is down and therefore, pulled down my leg. Do you think it is verbal communication? It is all non-verbal communication. This is possible only when there is a stable family. And only when there is understanding, I emphasize understanding, because if the father and mother contradict - if the mother advises something to do this and then the father says do not do that, the child gets confused; because for the child, both are gods. Both are always right; if the father and mother contradict the child gets confused. Therefore a father or mother should never contradict the other one at least in front of the child. You can fight later. In front of the child, never contradict. And even if father wants to differ from the mother, it is better that after the event is over, the father tells the mother and the mother herself withdraws the advice. If the mother has to change the advice, then instead of father saying, it is better that the mother herself tells. Otherwise, mother tells something, father tells something and the child is confused. There are some terrible families where the husband, some time wife also tells, that do not listen to your mother/father, he/she is a fool etc, this is being taught!! So therefore, the second important thing of a family is the child learns values only by observation. And for observation, parents are models and therefore, parents being there and they being together and they loving each other that is extremely important for the health of the child and also for imbibing the values. And here अर्जुन says among the parents also who is more important. Both parents are important. Everybody knows the answer. It goes without saying, mother is much, much more important, because mother is intimate to the child. Even biologically speaking, even from the stand point of nature, however much the man and women may like to do every job, the wife or the lady can never say all the time we are 'delivering'; why can't a male deliver a child. According to nature, according to biology the mother happens to be intimately associated with the child during pregnancy and immediately after the child is born for some years or at least for some months and therefore अर्जुन says when the families are destroyed, then the women may become corrupt. If the girl child does not develop cultural values, that girl child is going to become a mother later and when a valueless mother, a mother who gives importance to अर्थः, कामः she gets a child, then a vicious cycle is created, valueless mother will only produce valueless children and valueless children will produce next valueless generation and then a time comes, when all values are utterly destroyed and therefore अर्जुन says अधर्म-अभिभवात् कृष्ण प्रदुष्यन्ति कुल-स्त्रियः। When the families are destroyed, the girl child gets spoiled and when the girl child gets spoiled, she becomes a bad mother, an unhealthy mother. So कुल-स्त्रियः प्रदुष्यन्ति. And then what will happen? स्त्रीषु दुष्टासु वाष्ण्येय. When the women become corrupt, it will be the destruction of the entire society. हे वाष्ण्येय! Here also he is addressing nicely. कृष्ण is addressed in terms of his family. वाष्ण्येय, वृष्णि कुल समुद्भूतः वाष्ण्येय; हे कृष्ण! you are born in a beautiful family. How important the family is you know. Therefore, वाष्ण्येय, स्त्रीषु दुष्टासु सत्सु once the women become corrupt जायते वर्ण-सङ्करः. There will be utter confusion with regard to वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म. So वर्णसङ्करः, वर्णसङ्करः means confusion regarding वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म. सङ्करः means confusion, mess. And what is वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म? I will discuss very elaborately later, but to understand this I will give some picture of this वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म especially वर्ण धर्म so that we can understand this portion. In वर्ण धर्म the वेदs prescribe certain duties for each class of people. ब्राह्मणs have got certain duties, cultural duties, क्षत्रियs have got political duties, वैश्यs have got economic duties and शूद्रs have got supporting duties, supporting the other three. Now all the four duties are extremely important for the growth of a society. Cultural duties are important because without culture a nation will collapse. Culture is like a सूक्ष्म शरीरम् of a nation. Civilization is the स्थूल शरीरम् of a nation and culture is the सूक्ष्म शरीरम् of a nation and therefore cultural duties are important. And similarly, political duties - there must be a government; you know how important it is. Then economic duties are important and then of course the supporting system is also important. Now, when वेदs say that everyone should take to one of these four duties, either based on birth or based on character, you choose your duty or profession, whether you should a politician, whether you should be a businessman, choose based on your birth or based on your character. Now imagine a situation when a society values money. Then when money is valued, then everybody will choose profession based not on birth, not based on their character or inclination also, based on which profession will bring maximum money. When you join the schools and college, you will get a good job, meaning, little work but more salary; least work, or no work preferably and maximum salary like banks or govt jobs etc. Now imagine once a society is materialistic and values money, you will find that every member will be after money and a particular class which was devoted to cultural growth of the nation, for that profession nobody will come. And what is that profession: learning the scriptures. Learning the धर्मशास्त्रs and not only learning, following the धर्मशास्त्रs and not only following, propagating the धर्मशास्त्रs. We require a set of people called ब्राह्मणs, whose exclusive role is what? पठनम् पाठनम् and आचरणम्. They should learn, they should teach and they themselves should follow. सत्यम् वद, it is not enough to say that, he should speak the truth. If you just tell सत्यम् वद without telling the सत्यम्, then it will be सत्यम् वध- it will be destruction. Therefore we require a group in the society called ब्राह्मण, whose exclusive job is to contributing to the cultural growth, religious growth and spiritual growth. Spiritual teachers, saints, sages, we require. वर्णसङ्करः means everybody will take every other profession, but nobody will come forward to the study and teaching of scriptures. How many ब्राह्मणs were there doing जज्ञs etc in the olden days. Now we find that the ब्राह्मणs are taking up क्षत्रियs duties, that means they become politicians, वैश्य duties, शूद्रs duties, ब्राह्मणs are turning to other duties, but the others do not compensate by coming to ब्राह्मणः। Therefore you will find where will be the loss. Culturally, we will go down. You will ask what is सन्ध्या वन्दनम्? What is गायत्री? So वर्णसङ्करः means there is confusion among duties and there will no one to preserve and propagate the culture - religious and spiritual culture. Once religious and spiritual culture is gone, we will get a society which has got only a cut-throat philosophy, which is by hook or crook eat, drink and make merry. We will get a चार्वाक society and as we are reading in the daily newspapers, all over killing and cheating and this and all those things and that will be the destruction of humanity and therefore कृष्ण all these will happen when families become unstable. And families become unstable because of war. And therefore, what should we do? Abolish war. And therefore what should we do? Drive the chariot away from the battlefield. Details in the next class.

In these verses, अर्जुन shows how there is close connection between the institution of family and a धार्मिक way of life. So family and धर्म-अधर्म are closely connected so that when one is affected the other also will be affected. And then it becomes a vicious cycle. When family is destroyed, धर्म is destroyed and when धर्म is destroyed, again the next generation family will be destroyed. To understand this, we should know धर्म which consists of three aspects from the standpoint of Vedic teaching.

A) One is values of life: like truthfulness, non-violence, generosity, love, concern for others etc values.

B) The second aspect of धर्म is attitudes towards the things and beings of the creation i.e., attitude towards our parents, our teachers, the other members in the society including our attitude towards the earth, the water, the sun, the moon, that basic reverential attitude that is the second aspect of धर्म.

C) The third which is considered the very important aspect and which is now generally not appreciated is the aspect of ritual. Vedic religion considers rituals as the most or at least one of the most important aspects of धर्म. And why do we say rituals are more important, because of two reasons.

i) One reason is that values and attitudes are purely abstracting, which cannot be communicated or expressed because they belong to the mind and therefore, if it has to be expressed or communicated, it will have to be physicalised or verbalized. And therefore, rituals are considered verbalization or physicalisation of the abstract attitudes and values and if the parents have to communicate values and attitudes to the child, the mother or father cannot do it at the fifth year or the sixth year. How will you communicate to a child, what is respect for the elders. The child cannot understand the concept of respect. But the mother can symbolize the respect in the form of bowing down, in the form of नमस्कार, in the form of touching the feet or some physicalisation. Even when we want to express our friendship to other people, how will you do that when you meet your friends? That friendship or love is purely a mental faculty. I cannot convey unless I verbalize and say I love you or I physicalise by shaking the hands or by embracing. I have to do something or the other and the psychologists also point out that the physicalisation and verbalization is very important. When they are analyzing the breaking down of family institution, one of the advices they give is verbalize your feelings. Start saying that 'I love you', even if you don't like, to keep the husband and wife going together; every time, 'I love you honey' and the like. Therefore, ritual is a concrete expression of the abstract thing which is required for communication.

ii) And the second thing they talk in psychology is that the rituals are one of the methods of keeping a group together. Togetherliness is possible if we have something in which every member of the family takes part. In Readers Digest, there was an article, how to keep the family together and one of the points he writes is invent rituals. For other people, they have to invent. For us, no problem, we have already too much. And he gives certain examples that you plan or you decide to eat together and all the members to eat at the same time. Now the problem is one child comes at 8 o'clock and the other at 9 o'clock, another at 10 o'clock, whether the other will come or not, it is doubtful, they say decide to eat together and before you do that, have some kind of प्रदक्षिणम् around the table. Therefore one of the importance's of rituals is to make the abstract into the concrete. The other benefit of ritual is communicating to the children. The other benefit of rituals is that it keeps a group together. I am talking about the psychological and physical benefit. I am not discussing the Shastric benefit of पुण्यम्. So the अदृष्ट फलम् of पुण्यम् is talked about in the शास्त्रम्. I am not talking about that. I am talking about the psychological and sociological benefit. Therefore, whenever they talked about धर्म, three things were important. That is attitudes, values and rituals. And when it came to rituals, you find that they vary from religion to religion. Even though the idea of respect may be the same, different religions communicate that in different ways. Rituals are different. And within one religion itself from community to community, the rituals are different. And what अर्जुन says is once the ritual part of religion is ignored then there will be वर्णसङ्करः, because religions differ only from the standpoint of rituals. While they talk about values, whether it is Islam or whether it is Christian, whether it is any other religion it is universal. Therefore, as long as rituals are accepted, then a person wants to maintain a religion and they also get married within the same religion or community, once the rituals become lesser and lesser important, then the question, why should there be cohesiveness in religion or in community? Therefore, immediate consequence of sacrificing the rituals is वर्णसङ्करः. Because to follow the attitudes and values, a person belonging to a particular religion, any religion is OK; but a particular religion becomes important only when I value a particular way of rituals. So if we have to celebrate our birthday, Hinduism has got its own way. We light up the lamp, in Christianity you have to blow out the lamp. So one is going from darkness to light (I do not want to criticize, just joking) another is going from light to darkness. To symbolize that, what I want to say is once rituals are given lesser importance, then the next consequence is the religion segregation will go away and even the community segregation will go away. That is called वर्णसङ्करः. Not only will this वर्णसङ्करः takes place, there will be another worse consequence also. Because family institution was required for three purposes.

a) One is for rituals. They are required because without a family, rituals, especially Vedic rituals cannot be followed. A ब्रह्मचारी cannot do rituals, before first of all he cannot give दक्षिण. Because no money. वानप्रस्थ cannot give दक्षिण. सन्यासि cannot give दक्षिण. Only a गृहस्थ can give. Most of the rituals involve अन्नदानम्, ब्रह्मचारि cannot do अन्नदानम् (because he himself is begging for food), वानप्रस्थ cannot do अन्नदानम्; सन्यासि cannot do अन्नदानम्. Only a गृहस्थ can do. For the sake of rituals, family institution was required. For attitudes and values, we do not require family life.

b) Then another necessity of family life was for the fulfillment of अर्थः and कामः. Security was one of the considerations because everybody was worried, in old age, who will take care of us, on death, who will give us water, or who will do our क्रियाः; Security and pleasures. So three things were considered for the sake of family institution, rituals, अर्थः and कामः. You do not require family for values and attitudes. Now, once the rituals are not respected, family is required for the sake of अर्थः and कामः and once a society develops or I do not know whether to say changes - I won't say whether it is developing or it is going backwards - when the society changes, the government changes, the social institution changes and अर्थः and कामः are available without family. The government provides the security. In some countries monthly doles are coming. And sense pleasures are available. Now if a person has got money, all pleasures he can order. Security he can order and rituals he would not believe. And values and attitudes do not require family life. So now comes the basic question, why the institution of family? And that is why in the so-called advanced societies, they are thinking of non-legalizing family life and they have the situations of live-in life etc because they think that if they get legally married, when they want to go their own way, the legal proceedings are so difficult. As long as we like each other, we will live together and when we do not like each other, you go your way and I go my way. Therefore the very basic question of family life comes. All because of what? For अर्थः family is not required, for कामः family is not required, for values family is not required, for attitudes family is not required.

c) Family was required primarily for one purpose that is to maintain the religion expressly in the form of certain कर्मs, वैदिक कर्मs and if they come down (and that is what you find in Indian societies also, now-a-days), we are dropping rituals and our children are asking the question what is the difference in marrying a Hindu or a Christian or Islam. I am not saying whether it is right or wrong but I am saying is it is becoming meaningless because, meaning was only when there were rituals. They ask the question - Other people have also values and they are also very good in character. So what the answer the parent has to tell the child. And rituals the parent cannot tell, because the parents themselves do not follow. There is neither श्राद्ध nor तर्पण. There is no गोत्र, सुत्र etc he does not know to which वेद he belongs to. Therefore the question of वेद and all these things became relevant only because of कर्म. And once कर्म goes away, family will get disintegrated and the next consequence will be that once the family gets disintegrated no कर्म will be there in the next generation; not only कर्म, even values and attitudes cannot be there because without a stable family, how are they going to teach values and attitudes to the next generation. In the present generation, if the कर्मs are dropped and only the attitudes and values are retained then in the next generation not only कर्मs goes away but even values and attitudes will go away because there is no stable family; each one changes the spouse like changing the dress or the car or scooter or house. So therefore, अर्जुन says वर्णसङ्करः. There will be utter confusion and nobody will be there to do ब्राह्मण धर्म of studying the scriptures and propagating it. Everybody will be interested in 'eat, drink and make merry.' What it will lead to? अर्जुन says:

सङ्करो नरकायैव कुलघ्नानां कुलस्य च ।

पतन्ति पितरो ह्येषां तुभ्यपिण्डोदकक्रियाः ॥ १-४२॥

सङ्करः नरकाय एव कुल-घनानाम् कुलस्य च ।

पतन्ति पितरः हि एषाम् लुप्त-पिण्ड-उदक-क्रियाः ॥ १-४२॥

सङ्करः कुल-घनानाम् कुलस्य च नरकाय एव (भवति) हि एषाम् पितरः लुप्त-पिण्ड-उदक-क्रियाः (सन्तः) पतन्ति ।

Here अर्जुन says once the वर्णसङ्करः takes place; वर्ण, the 4 groups of Vedic society, ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य and शूद्र, not only वर्णसङ्करः takes place even मत सङ्कर takes place - religious mixture takes place, the attitude part of धर्म may remain, value part of धर्म may remain, ritual part of धर्म cannot remain because imagine one of the parent belongs to Hindu religion and one of the parent belong to Christian religion, how will the child celebrate birthday. Whether to light the lamp or blow it out? To cut the cake, or eat the हविस्, आयुष्य होम, Should I go to the temple or the church? There will be confusion and therefore he says, the ritual part of religion will have to be given up and why should there be rituals, you might ask. As I said, rituals are the method of communicating our feelings. Even the most नास्तिक country will have the rituals; when some dignitary comes they also will shake hands. Shaking hand is a ritual. It is a clean ritual. So therefore, nobody can avoid rituals. Internationally rituals are there. If you have doubt, watch the Olympic Games. Flag hosting; we used to do in front of our temples. Now they are doing the same thing before the Olympic game. And that also is done very ritualistically - walking in a rhythmic way. Thereafter they also take vow which is ritual. And again when they bring down the flag, it is a ritual and it is handed over to the other person, mayor of the city who is going to host the next Olympic. That is also a ritual. People who say rituals are ridiculous they do not know what it is all about. Without rituals nobody can survive. And when the rituals will go away and then what will it lead to? अर्जुन says: This वर्णसङ्करः, this confusion will lead to नरकायैव; because all the कर्म's are sacrificed. For whose नरक? कुल-घनानाम् कुलस्य. For both the victor in war as well as the vanquished, the defeated one, for both of them there will be नरक because they will lose all the values for the religious practices and not only they will fall spiritually or religiously, पतन्ति पितरः हि एषाम् तुम्भ-पिण्ड-उदक-क्रियाः. So we will be seeing later, that the वैदिक religion prescribed five-fold compulsory rituals for every आस्तिक and every आस्तिक should follow them. He can only compromise in its size and intensity. They do not give a choice in its performance and one of the पञ्चमहायज्ञ which we will be seeing later is पितृ यज्ञ, our respect to worship of our forefathers. And वेद considered that the blessing of our forefathers is very much required for our growth whether it is material growth or spiritual growth. That is why any ritual in the family is started only with a particular श्राद्ध called, नन्दि श्राद्ध. Not only yearly, any festival that comes begins with नन्दि श्राद्ध, नन्दि श्राद्ध means invocation of the grace of the forefathers. And once धर्म goes away, the values may remain, the attitudes may remain, but all the rituals will be sacrificed and in that तुम्भ-पिण्ड-उदक-क्रियाः. A person will say with pride 'I do not believe in श्राद्ध, in तर्पणम्.' Now it is a fashion to say that. If you say that you are a rational person! Here अर्जुन says तुम्भ-पिण्ड-उदक-क्रियाः. Our forefathers will be deprived of the तुम्भ-पिण्ड-उदक-क्रियाः. पिण्ड क्रिया – श्राद्ध, उदक क्रिया – तर्पणम्; तुम्भ means deprived of. Forefathers will be deprived of all these कर्मस. People ask the question, can I replace these कर्मस by some अन्नदानम् – poor feeding in old age homes etc and the answer by our scriptures is they cannot replace them; they can be only in addition to them. Poor feeding or helping the poor is also considered equally important which is called मनुष्य यज्ञ and this is called पितृ यज्ञः, मनुष्य यज्ञ cannot replace पितृ यज्ञ and मनुष्य यज्ञ can only be a supplement to it. And the greatest tragedy will be that these will go down. And therefore, not only they suffer, even the forefathers also suffer. Therefore ह्येषां पितरो पतन्ति. All these arguments are from अर्जुन of that society in which society rituals were considered important. I am only presenting an objective assessment of अर्जुन's view. Whether you believe in rituals or you won't believe in rituals is your business. I am just presenting the objective view of that society in which वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म was important, primarily from the stand point of rituals. वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म has no value, once the rituals go away, because if it is from the stand point of morals, we do not have to retain वर्ण आश्रम धर्म. Morals can be practiced without वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म, attitudes can be practiced without वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म. Even our future can be taken care of without वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म. But from the standpoint of rituals, वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म is very important. Continuing;

उत्साद्यन्ते जातिधर्माः कुलधर्माश्च शाश्वताः ॥ १-४३॥

दोषैः एतैः कुल-घ्नानाम् वर्ण-सङ्कर-कारकैः ।

उत्साद्यन्ते जाति-धर्माः कुल-धर्माः च शाश्वताः ॥ १-४३॥

कुल-घ्नानाम् एतैः वर्ण-सङ्कर-कारकैः दोषैः शाश्वताः जाति-धर्माः कुल-धर्माः च उत्साद्यन्ते ।

कुलघ्नः एतैः दोषैः because of these defects, in which the ritualistic part of धर्म is degraded or not valued, because of that वर्णसङ्करकारकैः, which are responsible for the inter-mixture of various communities, various nationalities and various religions; because of that what will be the casualty? जाति-धर्माः उत्साद्यन्ते. Certain practices which are purely based on वर्ण. Because according to वेद, certain rites can be done only by certain वर्णs. राजा राजसूयेन यजेत; this राजसूय यागः can be done only by a राज. ब्राह्मण may know how to perform राजसूय याग, but he can never perform, he can only assist a राज to perform that. In वर्णसङ्कर, the problem will be the child cannot come under either ब्राह्मण or क्षत्रिय and therefore, these Vedic rites will have to be given up. जाति धर्म will go away and then कुल धर्म – within one जाति itself, जाति here means वर्णः within one वर्ण itself, the Vedic practices differ from गोत्रम् to गोत्रम् or सुत्र to सुत्र.

सुत्र divisions are there. आपस्तम्ब सुत्र, ब्रह्म सुत्र. They have to go away in वर्णसङ्कर, because the child, who is a hybrid to use a crude word, cannot use any वैदिक कर्म. So therefore, कुल-धर्माः गच्छन्ति, जाति-धर्माः च गच्छन्ति, rituals गच्छन्ति. Once the rituals are gone, the next generation child will ask a question, why should I marry a person from this community because there is no relevance? I can marry any person - should belong to the opposite sex; that is the minimum qualification. That is the only thing. And I am not saying which is right or wrong. I am just again objectively presenting the natural consequences. Why I am saying so is now-a-days the government will prosecute me if I am going to say that inter-caste marriage is wrong. So therefore I am not going to say inter-caste marriage is right or wrong. What I will be saying is that that will be very natural consequence when religion is removed from rituals or rituals are removed from religion. And therefore he says जाति-धर्माः, कुल-धर्माः and what type of धर्माs they are? शाश्वताः, it has started from अनादि काल प्रवृत्त. So perpetuation requires a lot of effort, but destruction takes only one generation and one link is gone, the whole chain will be gone. And therefore, शाश्वताः कुल-धर्माः च उत्साद्यन्ते, they are destroyed. Continued;

नरके नियतं वासो भवतीत्यनुशुश्रुम् ॥ १-४४॥

उत्सन्न-कुल-धर्माणाम् मनुष्याणाम् जनार्दन ।

नरके नियतम् वासः भवति इति अनुशुश्रुम् ॥ १-४४॥

हे जनार्दन! उत्सन्न-कुल-धर्माणाम् मनुष्याणाम् नरके नियतम् वासः भवति, इति अनुशुश्रुम् ।

Then what will be the next consequence? As I said, when the rituals are gone and the religion consists of only values and attitudes, after 2-3 generations the questions will come for following attitudes and values a family is not required. And the question is: Do I require family for अर्थः and कामः? For that also not required, because all are available, only money should be there. Everything is orderable. Therefore अर्थः does not require, कामः does not require, values does not require, attitudes do not require family. Therefore why the institution of family and once the family institution is destroyed, such a life will be: there is no single person whom I can totally trust. Very purpose of family life is what: I have someone to call as 'mine' who will not reject me under any condition because human being requires a psychological anchor. Wherever you move, there should be somebody to call as 'mine', somebody's in whose lap I can fall and cry freely and somebody in front of whom I can open my heart with trust. Once the family institution goes away then there is no question of getting trust or love or psychological security, because I do not know what my spouse is planning. Now in the Readers' digest what research is going on? How to keep your spouse! So far it was not required in India. But the points are worth noting. Daily morning you say 'I love you.' You have to follow the rules without fail. So the rules and regulations are kept and you have to dress up very well to look attractive to your spouse. This becomes a very big project. What is the project: keeping up the spouse! like the keeping the employer and employee. Now they say even the children are also asking for divorce from the parents. Now tell me, if everyone staying with me is unpredictable, tell me what is my hold? That is called 'the psychological disaster.' If human being does not have someone to trust and that is why when that is not there, the psychiatrists will have to come because since I cannot tell my problems to another one, I have to look for someone. If I tell to my wife/husband, then the divorce threat looms. And I heard now-a-days the young children, when the fight is on, they are saying off and on: I will divorce you if you continue to do such things. This is the constant expression. And therefore when there is that fear to whom will I tell my problems? Previously a husband had a wife and he used to express the problem with her. Wife also used to have that. When they are not available and grandparents are also not available because nuclear family means what: Explosion. What comes out of nuclear? Explosion. So grandparents are not there. The psychologists use the word: 'There is no empty lap.' Human beings want an empty lap. If mother gets angry, fathers lap was there, if both get angry grandparents lap are not there now, nothing is available and therefore they go to psychologists to tell everything and he charges so heavily to listen to your stories. You have to pay money for someone to listen to your रामायण and भारत. That is called psychological disaster and when such people come to the society, the psychological disaster of individual mind will lead to sociological disaster and the crime graph increases. Anyway, अर्जुन says मनुष्याणाम् नरके नियतम् वासः. Not after death. That is a special one. Even while they are alive, without family institution, without love, without someone to trust, without someone to listen to my stories, मनुष्याणाम् नरके वासः. Not only while living, after death also नरके नियतम् वासः. Only one thing is definite, what? Hell. इति अनुशुश्रुम्, because when the स्वधर्म is not done, श्राद्ध, तर्पणम् are not done, according to Vedic rules, it comes under प्रत्यवाय पापम्, which will lead to नरक. इति अनुशुश्रुम्. Because we will ask immediately, अर्जुन have you seen? You are talking as if you have seen. Therefore अर्जुन will say: No, No, No. I have not seen अनुशुश्रुम्. We have heard this being repeated in the वैदिक मन्त्र. Continuing;

Verse No .45

अहो बत महत्पापं कर्तुं व्यवसिता वयम् ।

यद्राज्यसुखलोभेन हन्तुं स्वजनमुद्यताः ॥ १-४५॥

अहो बत महत् पापम् कर्तुम् व्यवसिता वयम् ।

यत् राज्य-सुख-लोभेन हन्तुम् स्वजनम् उद्यताः ॥ १-४५॥

अहो! बत, महत् पापम् कर्तुम् वयम् व्यवसिताः यत् राज्य-सुख-लोभेन स्वजनम् हन्तुम् उद्यताः ।

So these are all अर्जुन's monologue, because he is thinking of the consequences of the महाभारत battle. Not only will it cause problems for the individual, not only for the contemporary community but it is going to have repercussions in the future also. And therefore अहो! बत. अर्जुन says Alas! a great tragedy indeed. We are about to cause महत् पापम् कर्तुम् वयम् व्यवसिताः – we are about to cause or do a great sinful act. And what is that महत् पापम्, killing all these people, which will lead to वर्ण सङ्कर; जाति सङ्कर and धर्म नाश, पितृनाम् पतनम्, all these chain reaction. And all because of what? अर्जुन says because of our shortsightedness. यत् राज्य-सुख-लोभेन. We were interested in the royal pleasures, the kingly pleasures. So लोभ means greed because of our false misplaced greed for the pleasures. स्वजनम् हन्तुम् उद्यताः. स्वजनम् हन्तुम्. Note here, अर्जुन has forgotten the धर्म-अधर्म problem. This is अविवेक. अर्जुन has forgotten धर्म-अधर्म. He has forgotten that this is a fight between धर्म-अधर्म, now he is only seeing स्वजन – relations standing in front. To kill these people, उद्यताम् we have started. We are about to begin. And therefore अर्जुन is thankful to the Lord that at least at the nick of the moment he became wiser that at least he can withdraw now. Therefore he says:

Verse No .46

यदि मामप्रतीकारमशस्त्रं शस्त्रपाणयः ।

धार्तराष्ट्रा रणे हन्युस्तन्मे क्षेमतरं भवेत् ॥ १-४६॥

यदि माम् अप्रतीकारम् अशस्त्रम् शस्त्र-पाणयः ।

धार्तराष्ट्राः रणे हन्युः तत् मे क्षेमतरम् भवेत् ॥ १-४६॥

यदि शस्त्र-पाणयः धार्तराष्ट्राः अशस्त्रम् अप्रतीकारम् माम् रणे हन्युः तत् मे क्षेमतरम् भवेत् ।

So therefore अर्जुन says I have decided not to contribute to this tragedy which means I am not going to fight this war. But the war, the beginning of the war has already been signaled by the blowing of the conches, therefore दुर्योधन's may shoot arrows and suppose they shoot arrows and अर्जुन does not resist at all, what will be the consequence? अर्जुन will be killed. अर्जुन says that even if that happens I do not mind. I have decided to relinquish this bow and arrow and even if they are going to destroy us, I will die but I will not contribute to this chaos in the society. Therefore माम् धार्तराष्ट्राः रणे हन्युः, कौरव्स may choose to kill us, who are we माम् अप्रतीकारम्, who have decided not to resist. अप्रतीकारम् means who are not going to fight in return, unresisting. And अशस्त्रम् and we are without weapons and we are not going to resist: weaponless, unresisting people we are and for this they may kill us but even if such a tragedy happens: तत् मे क्षेमतरम् भवेत्. I consider that as sacrificing my life for the sake of धर्म. I am going to consider it as fasting people do. For the sake of the party, Similarly, self-immolation, they are considered to be rational party. I do not know how self-immolation and rationalism go together. There is no connection. Whatever it might be! अर्जुन says that I don't mind even to sacrifice our lives for the sake of saving the society. तत् मे क्षेमतरम् भवेत्. That I consider it as fortune for me. And having said these words, अर्जुन has exhausted everything. He has given a big lecture also and all these three problems have come out fully. रणः, शोकः and मोहः and अर्जुन stops his words and what about कृष्ण? As I said 'utter strategic silence', because even if कृष्ण speaks now, कृष्ण knows that अर्जुन is not going to listen. Therefore कृष्ण does not speak. अर्जुन does not speak. And therefore सञ्जय is forced to speak and what does he say:

Verse No .47

सञ्जयः उवाच ।

एवमुक्त्वार्जुनः सङ्ख्ये स्थोपस्थ उपाविशत् ।

विसृज्य सशरं चापं शोकसंविग्नमानसः ॥ १-४७॥

एवम् उक्त्वा अर्जुनः सङ्ख्ये रथ-उपस्थे उपाविशत् ।

विसृज्य सशरम् चापं शोक-संविग्न-मानसः ॥ १-४७॥

सङ्ख्ये एवम् उवत्वा, शोक-संविग्न-मानसः अर्जुनः सशरम् चापं विसृज्य, रथ-उपरथे उपाविशत् ।

So सञ्जय gives a typical picture of अर्जुन who symbolizes महा संसारि. A description of (solid) pukka संसारि is given here: who is he? शोक-संविग्न-मानसः. अर्जुन's mind is totally grief-stricken which indicates the problem of रगः and शोकः. So he is completely overpowered by attachment and intense grief and not only that सशरम् चापं विसृज्य, he has thrown away both the bow and arrow and what does it represent? It is a physical action but we should understand what it symbolizes. For a क्षत्रिय, bow and arrow represent fighting for धर्म and establishing धर्म. Establishing धर्म is the duty of a क्षत्रिय; so giving up of bow and arrow indicates स्वधर्म त्यागः, which is called conflict or मोहः. Therefore शोक-संविग्न-मानसः represents रगः, शोकः problem - attachment and grief, विसृज्य सशरम् चापं represents मोहः conflict and what is the conflict: whether to fight this war or not and he takes a totally wrong decision and what is the wrong decision: स्वधर्म परित्यागः and he wants to run away from the battle and wants to do tapas etc which is the धर्म of a सन्न्यासि. A गृहस्थ has to do his duty. Getting up in the morning and doing a long जप etc. If he does not do it, it is पाप. A गृहस्थ should allot time for जप only without disturbing his family duties and if a गृहस्थ renounces family duties and does जप, that is also a परधर्म ग्रहणम्. So when there is a choice between taking care of family duties and what is called जप, पूजा etc that also should not be disturbed. Therefore it is called परधर्म ग्रहणम्, स्वधर्म परित्यागः. Both put together is called मोहः. And this after what: एवम् अर्जुनः उवत्वा, having uttered all these words of Lord कृष्ण, अर्जुन did this and रथ-उपरथे उपाविशत्, he was seated on the seat in the chariot. रथ-उपरथे – रथोपरथ means the seat which is on the chariot. Therefore, अर्जुन विषाद or अर्जुन संसार is beautifully depicted and now we are at the cross-roads and we do not know what happens next. At this crucial juncture, व्यासाचार्य says, will continue.... Therefore व्यासाचार्य stops at this crucial junction like the TV serial - opening the door and a frightening thing is seen etc. Then only you will watch the next episode.

ॐ तत्सदिति श्रीमद्भगवद्गीतासु उपनिषत्सु ब्रह्मविद्यायां योगशास्त्रे श्रीकृष्णार्जुनसंवादे अर्जुनविषादयोगो नाम प्रथमोऽध्यायः ॥ १॥

This portion comes at the end of every chapter. I will give the meaning of this portion in the 1st chapter. From the 2nd chapter onwards you can extend the same meaning. So every chapter ends with the expression ॐ तत् सत्. These are three words. ॐ is one word. तत् is one word. सत् is another word. All these three words are names of the Lord, three names of the Lord and we are uttering the names of the Lord as thanksgiving and why should we give thanks to the Lord: For the successful completion of the 1st chapter and therefore, ॐ तत् सत्. What is the meaning of these three words? ॐ has several meanings. I will give the simplest meaning. अवति (रक्षति) इति ॐ. अवति means the protector. Lord is called the protector and he protected us from all the obstacles, so that we could complete this. The next word is तत्. तत् means the one who is beyond sense perception. परोक्षम् – अक्षणः परम्, इन्द्रियातीतः, सर्वेन्द्रिय अगोचरम् is तत् – the one who is beyond the sense organs, supra sensual. Beyond the sense organs is the meaning of the word तत्. This is one of the meanings. So many other meanings are there. In some other context, I will explain. Then the third word is सत्. सत् means eternal. In तत्त्वबोध, we saw. त्रिकाले अपि तिष्ठति इति सत्. So that which is in the past, in the present and in the future. Therefore ॐ तत् सत् the Eternal protector, who is beyond our sense perception, is the meaning of ॐ तत् सत्. And having remembered the Lord, we say प्रथमोऽध्यायः, Oh Lord by your grace we have completed the 1st chapter called अर्जुन-विषाद-योगः, which is called the grief of अर्जुन, because the main theme of the 1st chapter is अर्जुन's विषाद. विषाद represents the other two also रागः and also मोहः. In short, अर्जुन संसार योगः. The topic of अर्जुन's संसार. And how is it presented? श्रीकृष्ण-

अर्जुन-संवादे which is presented in the form श्रीकृष्ण-अर्जुन-संवादः a dialogue between कृष्ण and अर्जुन. Of course the full dialogue will come only from the next chapter. But taking the whole गीता it is given the title, कृष्ण-अर्जुन-संवादः. संवादः is the word used for a dialogue between a गुरु and a शिष्य. So which is in the form of a dialogue between a गुरु and a शिष्य. Therefore it is called a healthy dialogue. It is not an argument, it is not a debate and it is not a test. So गुरु has got love for the disciple, so he is not teaching for the monthly salary or something, his aim is communication, purely love. There is no other gain he is going to have. Therefore the attitude of गुरु is love and compassion and the attitude of शिष्य is faith and reverence. And such a dialogue which is with love, faith and reverence, that is called संवादः - most healthy form of communication. And this संवादः is given the name इति श्रीमत् भगवत् गीतासु उपनिषत्सु. This dialogue is called श्रीमत् भगवत् गीतोपनिषद्. If you remember my introduction, I have said in the introduction that the full name of the गीता is श्रीमत् भगवत् गीतोपनिषद्. The word उपनिषत् means that knowledge which liberates a person from sorrow. Therefore उपनिषत् means liberating wisdom, liberating from sorrow in life. And what type of wisdom it is which is श्रीमत् भगवत् गीतासु, which is taught by, which is revealed by श्रीमत् भगवान् - the Lord. And I have given you the meaning of भगवान्. भग consists of six-fold virtues. All those things you have to recollect. Therefore, this is an उपनिषत्. And when here we call it उपनिषत्, it is not the original उपनिषत्, the original उपनिषत् is part of the वेद, which existed even before कृष्ण was born. So the original उपनिषत्s were there even before कृष्ण was born. कृष्ण's teaching is not the original उपनिषत्, but it is only a सार of the उपनिषत्:

So भगवत् गीता is उपनिषत् सारत्वात् उपनिषत् अच्यते, being the essence of उपनिषत्, butter of उपनिषत्. It is called श्रीमत् भगवत्

गीतासु उपनिषत्सु and what is the theme of this entire dialogue? It is said that there are only two topics in the entire गीता. They are the two main themes of the गीता, which are represented by the वेदपूर्व भाग – कर्मकाण्डः, religious part and the second theme is the वेदान्त भाग – ज्ञानकाण्डः, the philosophical part. गीता consists of two things, religion and philosophy. Religion means a way of life which makes me fit for the philosophy and philosophy is an enquiry. Religion gives ज्ञानयोग्यता, philosophy gives ज्ञानम्. Do you get it? ज्ञानयोग्यता – fitness for knowledge. Religion gives me fitness for knowledge, philosophy gives me Knowledge. For the first part of life, we should make us fit for knowledge. The second part of life is gaining knowledge. After knowledge what should we do? You would not ask this question. What should we do, what should we do means I am not satisfied with the present. The very question of doing something because I am discontented with the present condition; total contentment, पूर्णत्वम्, security is the benefit. This religious part is called योग-शास्त्रम्, philosophical part is called ब्रह्मविद्या. Therefore योग-शास्त्रम् + ब्रह्म विद्या = गीता. Religion + philosophy = गीता. कर्म + ज्ञानम् = गीता. वेदपूर्व + वेदान्त = गीता. Such a गीता we are going to learn, of which the 1st chapter we have successfully completed with the Lord's grace. More in the next class.

CHAPTER 01, SUMMARY

I propose to give a summary of the 1st chapter and also introduction to the 2nd chapter. If we have to live a healthy life, we have to take care of two factors.

i) One factor is that the surroundings should be such that it should not cause any diseases. So you may call it hygienic surrounding. This is one factor we all know. But this external factor alone is not enough.

ii) There is another important factor and that is my body must have sufficient resistance to face the external world. Because we know medically that however hygienic the surroundings may be we cannot totally get rid of all the bacteria and viruses. Even a perfectly clean atmosphere will have diseases around and that is why even in the most hygienic country, if they have to do a surgery, they have to have a special place where it is sterilized and cleaned. That means in any atmosphere disease germs are there. So perfect hygiene surroundings is not possible and therefore, in addition to keeping the surrounding clean, we have to take care of another important factor and what is that: we have to build up the body to such an extent that it must have resistance and we are all healthy now reasonably, not because the surroundings are clean, but because we have got sufficient resistance to fight the germs. One doctor was saying that suppose a person has got advanced TB and it is supposed to be contagious and suppose that person directly breaths into the mouth of twenty healthy people, even then, only three or four or five people may catch the disease, all the people are not going to catch because भगवान् has given us sufficient immunity and resistance to face most of the diseases.

Therefore, a physically healthy life is possible only when two factors are taken into account. I will call one factor - the objective factor i.e., the environment; the other is the subjective factor, which is the resistance or immunity. Now-a-days they are talking about the spread of AIDS – Acquired Immunity Deficiency Syndrome and what is happening is our resistance or immunity is taken down. The moment it breaks down, the person does not die of AIDS, it leads to varieties of diseases and those diseases alone kill. And how does that person get the diseases? When we are living in the same atmosphere, how come he is getting the disease and I am not getting? It is because भगवान् has given us the resistance. From this it is very clear that a healthy physical life depends upon the objective factor and the subjective factor. The objective factor is a clean environment; the subjective factor is physical resistance. Now you have to extend the same principle for mental health also. By mental health means a mind free from all kinds of physiological diseases in the form of fear, in the form of anxiety, stress, strain, worry, anger, jealousy, inferiority complex all these are psychological diseases; कामः, क्रोधः, लोभः, मोहः, मदः, मात्सर्यः etc., they are all varieties of psychological diseases. And when we are facing these problems, generally we talk about only the external contribution. How the world is responsible for my worry? How the wife or husband is responsible for my tension? How the children are responsible for my anxiety? How the parents are responsible for my frustration? Our scriptures point out that for mental health also, we have to take into account two factors: external world is not totally responsible for our mental problems. Just as environment is not totally responsible for the disease, that my body condition is susceptible to diseases, which we call physical weakness. That is also responsible. In our आश्रम, when we were undergoing the spiritual training, we had some students from America also. And we had in the आश्रम a direct tap water. No water treatment like aqua-guard, filtering etc. Whatever they do a little bit of filtering, directly it comes and we used to happily drink and survive. And all those people came; they have got almost purest water and the second day they were repeatedly going to the bathroom only instead of classes. How come nothing happened to us and things happened to them? Water being the same one is physically affected, another is not affected; the difference is only in the body condition. Similarly, here also, scriptures point out that the mind or the weakness of the mind is also responsible for our psychological problem. We do not say the mind alone. We say the mind is also another important factor. Therefore, if I have to have a healthy life, I should take into account the environment. I should also ask a question: do I have sufficient resistance to face it? Similarly, if I should lead a healthy life, mentally, a happy life, a contented life, a secure life, a relaxed life then I have to ask two questions. Have I taken care of the environment? That is what we always try to do also. That is trying to change the husband or wife. We are trying to adjust the environment, people, including the government. So we are trying to adjust the external factors. But what I am doing to find out whether I have got sufficient mental strength to face the situation. And if I have got the sufficient mental health, the advantage is even when the whole environment is unhealthy my resistance is so much that I do not get diseases. What is the sign of a healthy body: diseases are less frequent; frequency is less. The intensity of the disease also is less, some cold, cough etc only. Frequency is less, intensity is less, the duration of the disease is also less and finally, the after-effect of the disease also is also less. That is the healthy body. Extending the same principle, if my mind has got sufficient strength and resistance, the number of psychological problems I face like frustration, stress, strain, irritation, jealousy, anger, fear, insecurity, inferiority complex, diffidence, these are all the diseases; such mental diseases do not frequently occur. Frequency is less that means the family is saved. If I am healthy, if I say, I get less angry, whether I get the benefit or not, the family members gets the benefit. The frequency of the psychological disturbances is less, the second benefit is the intensity of whether it is anger or frustration; intensity is also less and thirdly the duration also.

अधमे स्यादहोरात्रम् पापिष्टे मरणान्तकम् ॥

उत्तमे क्षणकोपस्स्यात्, Anger will come but what is the sign of a healthy person. क्षणकोप and he recovers and carries on. मध्यमे घटिकाद्वयम्, 1-1/2 hours. अधमे स्यादहोरात्रम्, i.e., whoever comes in front, he will fire; पापिष्टे मरणान्तकम् - till death it will continue. So a healthy mind is one in which the frequency, intensity and the duration is less and finally the after effect also. We all get frustrated sometime but you will find that there are some people, frustration continues for months and years but there are some people, like a rubber ball, they also get, but the like ball, they just bounce up and continue their life. And therefore, a healthy life, a happy life at the psychological life requires taking care of two factors, one is adjusting the external condition, another is improving my resistance. All over the world people talk about adjusting the external set-up; if there is a problem in the company then change the company, if at the house then change the house, now they are changing the wife even, people try to adjust the set-up but the scriptures, especially the वेदान्त is talking about the subjective factor. How can I improve my inner strength? My psychological resistance, that whatever be the ups and downs in external conditions, I am not seriously affected. And this freedom from mental diseases caused by external factors, this freedom from mental diseases caused by external factors is called मोक्ष. कृष्ण will tell in the 2nd chapter,

दुःखेष्वनुद्विग्नमनाः सुखेषु विगतस्पृहः ।

ज्ञानि or a free person is one who also faces challenges and difficulties but अनुद्विग्न-मनाः, his resistance is so much that he is not shattered to carry the problem to others. So the subject matter of the भगवद्गीता is developing inner resistance not changing the external world. That you can try to do by other methods: company changing, house-changing, scooter-changing, car-changing, government-changing and spectacle-changing; that is all another department. गीता is talking about strengthening myself and finding that inner resistance and the consequent freedom from psychological disturbances. This is मोक्षः. Therefore भगवद्गीता is a मोक्षः शास्त्रः, resistance building शास्त्रम्. Not physical resistance, resistance at the inner level and this is meant for whom? This is meant for those people who recognize that we have to improve our resistance. That I have got psychological weakness, that I am susceptible to रगः, द्वेषः, कामः, क्रोधः frequently I am getting into psychological breakdown and that it is affecting other people also, that I require that inner strengthening, that I have got that inner weakness - the one who has discovered this problem to that person गीता is addressing. And therefore, the 1st chapter of the गीता is giving an introduction in which अर्जुन is discovering this problem. What problem: That I have got an inner weakness. Therefore before I try to change the world or improve the world, first let me strengthen myself and once अर्जुन discovers this problem; naturally, for resistance we go here and there to gym, for swimming, doing योग to build the resistance, taking व्यवस्था, tonics, because he discovered he requires the tonic, similarly, one who has discovered the requirement of an inner tonic to build up the inner resistance is called a spiritual seeker. And in the 1st chapter of the गीता, अर्जुन becomes or discovers his weakness and later he becomes spiritual seeker and then he surrenders to कृष्ण and कृष्ण gives the Self-knowledge व्यवस्था, hoping that this will give the necessary inner strength. This is the background of the गीता. And in the 1st chapter, व्यास presents the context in which अर्जुन discovers that he has got certain problems. This is the background. The whole chapter can be divided into five portions.

i) The first portion is from verse no 1 - 20: in which व्यासाचार्य presents the context. In which अर्जुन catches the disease. For everyone some cause should be there to catch the disease 'I took bath there, drank water there, etc.' Similarly, here also, the context in which अर्जुन feels the disease of संसार or inner weakness which अर्जुन develops, that is presented and what is that context: महाभारत battlefield. So in कुरुक्षेत्र, पाण्डव्स and कौरव्स are assembled to fight it out and settle their issue and अर्जुन is very clear that he is doing the right thing, he never had the conflict. He had never had any guilt that I am going to kill these people. No guilt. Why there was no guilt because he had a clear understanding that he is doing it as a last resort, because all the other non-violent means have failed. And as a last attempt कृष्ण goes as a messenger tries to settle peacefully and amicably and you know what दुर्योधन did, he wanted to kill कृष्ण himself. A messenger can never be killed but दुर्योधन tries that. Therefore अर्जुन without any compunction, any regret, any guilt, he has come to the battlefield and in the first 20 verses व्यासाचार्य clearly presented what happened. First दुर्योधन goes to द्रोणाचार्य and enumerates the important people in both the armies and दुर्योधन also portrays his diffidence by saying that their army is stronger and our army is weaker. दुर्योधन's diffidence is purely caused by अधर्म. Because objectively seeing, दुर्योधन's side is stronger but in spite of that, because धर्म support is not there, he is weakened and afterwards भीष्माचार्य enthuses दुर्योधन and he blows the conch and there afterwards from both sides, the soldiers blow their conches signaling the beginning of the महाभारत battle. The crucial moment has come, that is the first part, the preparation for the beginning of the war.

ii) Then comes the second portion from verse no 21 - 25 in which अर्जुन feels, somehow as a flash, that he has to closely see who are the people with whom he has to fight. It was not at all required. Perhaps it was a blessing in disguise. Even though it was immediately a negative decision, because अर्जुन suffered from sorrow but ultimately it was a positive decision, because of the sorrow alone, भगवद्गीता teaching could come. Therefore

अथ व्यवस्थितान्दृष्ट्वा धार्तराष्ट्रान् कपिध्वजः ।

प्रवृत्ते शस्त्रसम्पाते धनुरुद्यम्य पाण्डवः ॥

हृषीकेशं तदा वाक्यमिदमाह महीपते ।

So अर्जुन says हे कृष्ण! you please bring the chariot and place it in between the two armies, so that I can clearly watch them. Now अर्जुन is not a disciple, कृष्ण is not a गुरु also. अर्जुन is the master and कृष्ण is a humble driver and therefore कृष्ण obeys अर्जुन's command and then places the chariot and he sees the face of everyone and कृष्ण has done a mischief, he has placed the chariot in front of those particular people towards whom अर्जुन has got a strong weakness, intense attachment. Perhaps कृष्ण also wanted to teach गीता, it seems. He was expecting at least one disciple. He also wants to be गीताचार्यः. पार्थसारथि wants to become गीताचार्यः. He wants to become जगद्गुरु therefore he created that situation. So this is the second part. अर्जुन going near the कौरवस and clearly seeing the facing of those people most of whom are his close relatives, because it is a family feud. This is the second portion.

iii) Then the third portion is अर्जुन's discovery of his weakness and the consequent problem and what is his weakness? The first weakness presented is the problem of attachment or psychological dependence on external factors. This I call a weakness because the moment I am psychologically dependent on any factor, then that means my happiness is no more in my hands; my happiness is hooked to, is connected to that external factor. And unfortunately, the external factors are not under my control. My own family members; they are not under my control, especially the children, not under our control. Everyone is an individual, the neighbor, the government. Once, I depend upon an unpredictable factor, my life has become a risky thing, because the external factors can determine whether I should be happy or not. So if you say that a disobedient son is the cause of sorrow, वेदान्त will say, you do not know how to put it? You are putting it wrongly. Problem is not the disobedient son. Then what is the problem? That you depend upon the obedience of your son for your happiness is your problem. Disobedient son means that you are putting the problem externally. I depend upon his obedience for my happiness you are placing the problem to your lack of resistance. Therefore, problem is outside or inside? Anything you say, the power went off, therefore I am unhappy, वेदान्त will say, NO. I depend upon the power for my happiness is the cause of problem. For any problem you place, वेदान्त says that I need that condition to be happy. That is the problem. And this psychological dependence this psychological need is called the problem of रागः – attachment, leaning, expectation and अर्जुन had this problem and what is the problem? He expected certain people to be around him all the time. Around us all the time that we cannot even imagine not only physical separation we cannot even imagine a hypothetical separation. अर्जुन also had the same problem. And अर्जुन imagined a life without भीष्म, without द्रोण and without some of the other people and then he broke down. And therefore, the third topic is अर्जुन's discovery of the problem of रागः, which is the basic factor called संसारः. So अर्जुन's discovery of रागः - कृपया परयाविष्टः विषीदन् इदम् अब्रवीत् । From verse no 26 - 28 is the discovery of रागः problem. रागः do not mistake for carnatic one. रागः is psychological leaning. Physically, we have to depend upon the world. Because we need food, clothing, shelter. Therefore वेदान्त never talks about physical independence. It is not possible. What वेदान्त deals with is the emotional or psychological dependence, which is not required at all. In fact, गीता's ultimate lesson is आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः - I am happy with myself in spite of external factors, being favorable or unfavorable. We will wonder whether it is possible, because गीता's answer is 'this is possible.' गीता says why can't you try. A person who walks with a stick all the time, he can never think that he can walk without a stick. A person who is an addict to cigarette will imagine that without cigarette life will be impossible. In fact, before starting the smoking, he himself has lived.

So much addicted that life is zero without cigarette, life is zero without a drink. It is an imagination not a fact. We can be wonderfully fine without any psychological dependence. Therefore, dependence is problem no.1 from 26 - 28.

iv) Then the fourth topic is the consequence of रागः and what is the consequence? शोकः, sorrow, grief which is discussed from verse no 28 - 35. शोकः otherwise called विषाद, both are the same. It means grief. That is why the 1st chapter itself is titled अर्जुनविषादयोगः. And grief is an inevitable consequence of dependence, because when I depend upon an external factor, it is fine. But it is a potential danger because, just like I lean on something, on the chair or on the wall and the wall falls, I also will have to fall. Therefore, any leaning on an unpredictable perishable factor is going to cause sorrow only. अर्जुन also faces the same problem, not that the object is gone. But, mentally, he imagines a state when they are not there; therefore, कृपया पर्याविष्टो विषीदन्निदमब्रवीत्. How intense was the grief? As I said, the intensity of grief depends upon the intensity of dependence or attachment. Like anything cigarette also, coffee also etc; if I am intensely addicted. Some boy was telling me, स्वामिजि I was using पान् पराग. Youths are using now-a-days. And I was telling him that I was not happy with what you are doing; I had told him but he never listened and somehow I do not know what prompted him and he decided to quit and he was telling me that स्वामिजि that for the last few days he is having tremendous withdrawal symptoms. If I had taken only for some days, the giving up will be relatively easier; the stronger I am hooked, the stronger would be the withdrawal symptom also. For अर्जुन the problem was so serious and his sorrow was overflowing into the physical body also.

न च शक्नोम्यवस्थातुं भ्रमतीव च मे मनः ॥

etc, he faced intense sorrow. This is the fourth topic. रागः, शोकः.

v) Then comes the final topic which is from verse no 36 to 47. It is the next consequence of रागः and शोकः which is मोहः or confusion, indecision, conflict, delusion, not able to know what to do & what not to do. Suddenly I feel that I am hanging in the middle of sky, I do not know what to do in life. This is called मोहः or अविवेकः. And अर्जुन also faces the same confusion to fight or not to fight. And therefore, he makes a series of wrong conclusions and what is the main wrong conclusion?

a. He sees धर्मः युद्धम् as अधर्म which he never had before. He was a clear thinking person. And he had taken the decision to fight after thinking for months or years, thirteen years in the forest he had thought. And also he has cooled the idea from the धर्मपुत्र, भीम, नकुल, सहदेव, कृष्ण, द्रौपदी, कुन्ति etc and after thinking he had made a decision. In spite of such a decided conclusion, अर्जुन's mind wavers and he thinks that this युद्ध is अधर्म. He says it is पापम्. And the greatest irony is that statement which I wanted you to note. He said पापम् एव आश्रयेत् अस्मान् हत्वा एतान् आततायिनः. By killing these criminals we will get पापम्. It is like a judge saying that by punishing a criminal, by imprisoning a criminal I will get पापम्. It is confusion. Imprisoning a criminal is not a पापम्. On the other hand, it is the duty of the court. Similarly, अर्जुन as a क्षत्रिय has to fight this war, but he says by killing these criminals, I will incur sin. That is मोहः No.1.

b. The second confusion is: If a क्षत्रिय gives up a righteous war, runs away from a righteous war, it is shirking one's duty. It is shirking one's duty which will come under a special type of sin called the sin of omission. Sin is of two types, one is commission and another is omission. This omission type of sin is called प्रत्यवाय in the शास्त्र. अकरणे प्रत्यवायः. This is in the शास्त्र. And if अर्जुन runs away from the battlefield, that action is पापम् and whereas अर्जुन argues, running away from the battlefield is the best decision. He is seeing the पुण्यम् as c. And not only his delusion is so complete, that it overflows into his intellect also and as I said, once the mind is weakened, intellect will not be able to fight that mind, because it is so addictive, that what will be logic of the intellect: 'if you cannot fight join the enemy', as in elections. When the mind has got certain weaknesses, certain addictions intellect will justify that weakness and अर्जुन also tries to justify his delusion by giving a wonderful discourse in front of कृष्ण. That discourse taken separately is a beautiful discourse.

d. In these series of arguments, अर्जुन points out that family is very important for culture. Taken out it is correct. Family is important for culture. A society in which family life is not respected culture will break down. Not immediately. It will take one generation. It will not affect that generation very much. But all the consequences will be in the next generation. And what all problems will come, how the eternal कर्मस will be destroyed and also the पितृन्, forefathers etc will be affected, people will lose faith in कर्मस, in धर्मस in rituals, religion, God, everything. So therefore, like a devil quoting scripture, अर्जुन is not a devil; but still अर्जुन because of his confusion quotes wrongly and supports his stand. This is the third part of delusion.

These 3 put together, रागः + शोकः + मोहः – Attachment + Sorrow + Delusion these three put together is called संसार and whoever has these three, he is a संसारि. संसारि normally, it is taken that only गृहस्थ, married people are संसारि and not the सन्न्यासि or the one who has got a wife is a संसारि. Poor lady, some saari. Some saari you catch hold of - संसारि you are!! People complain and think that ladies are responsible. It does not matter, whether you are a ब्रह्मचारी, a गृहस्थ, a वानप्रस्थ or a सन्न्यासि, whether you are single or married with children or without children, that is not the criterion. Whether you have these three problems? Even a solid (pukka) सन्न्यासि, if he is going to have राग towards his आश्रम, आश्रम means that which he has built and then is worried about its maintenance or worried about the next one, (who will take care of after me) as long as that is going to cause dependence and worry, I may be in ochre robes, still I am an ochre robed- संसारि. I do not require a saari for संसार. रागः is enough. On the other hand, even a pukka गृहस्थ, with children and grand children; if he has handled these three-fold problems, he is मुक्तः, liberated person. Throughout the गीता, कृष्ण is going to emphasize that whether you are married or unmarried, that does not matter. Whether you are internally free, that matters. Therefore, अर्जुन has discovered the problem of संसार. And even though अर्जुन has discovered the problem, कृष्ण has not started giving the solution. Because if the solution should come, some more steps are required. Discovery of the problem, diagnosis of the disease is the first step. I have a problem. But that is not enough. Because often, when we get some disease, what we will initially try to do – self-medication. Why to go to a doctor? He will take a long test and take Rs.5,000 and say that you do not have any serious problem. (Doctors do not get offended; this is the view of the people). Therefore, why spend money. We have granny's therapy or medicines (Paati vaidyam) and prepare कषायम् or this or that and somehow we will manage. Otherwise homeopathy is there, anybody can see the page number, see the symptoms and swallow some globules and pray. Prayer is important. Therefore, even when I discover the problem, I will not get solution from outside, because I am trying to solve the problem by myself. So after trying several methods when I find that the disease does not get cured by my methods, that is called the discovery of helplessness. I have a problem and I do not know how to get out of it, just as a person is in the middle of a wet ground, quagmire, quick sand etc. Suppose I am in the middle of quick sand, what will I do? Whatever I do, I will go down. I know that I require a help from another person who is on the land, not in the quick stand. So the other person must be on terra firma. He must be firm. Therefore, what are the steps required? I have to diagnose, I should know that I have a problem, called discovery. Second stage is I should know that I cannot solve the problem on my own; once I discover the helplessness, in वेदान्त शास्त्र, it is called दैन्य भाव, or कार्पण्यम्. कार्पण्य-दोष-उपहत-स्वभावः. कार्पण्यः Once I know I have a problem, I cannot solve it; what is the natural next stage, I have to surrender to someone who will give me a hand. This is called शरणागति. And once I go through these three stages, discovery of the problem, discovery of the helplessness and surrender; then the fourth stage is the medication. A program is given. Do this and follow these restrictions etc so following the restrictions and the medicine. This is the fourth stage. Similarly, here also अर्जुन has gone through only the first stage in the 1st chapter and what is the first stage he has discovered the problem of संसार. And कृष्ण will not come, unless अर्जुन goes through the second and third stages. And therefore, कृष्ण decides to observe silence. Since कृष्ण does not speak, अर्जुन thinks that his conclusion is right and therefore he decides to relinquish war and throws away the bow, arrows and he is seated in the middle of the chariot; therefore व्यास completes the 1st chapter saying,

विसृज्य सशरम् चापम् शोकसंविग्नमानसः ॥

अर्जुन threw away all these and he sat on the chariot how, शोकसंविग्नमानसः - pierced by, afflicted by problem of शोकः, शोकः represents threefold problem. रागः, शोकः and मोहः, संविग्नमानसः. Therefore अर्जुन is also silent, कृष्ण is also silent. It is at this crucial juncture the 1st chapter has ended. Now with this background, we have to go to the 2nd chapter. The 2nd chapter is a beautiful chapter which gives the comprehensive picture of the whole treatment. What is the treatment program to be given by the गीता? Therefore we can say the 2nd chapter is the essence of the entire गीता. And this 2nd chapter has got four portions. I will just give you an overview so that you can know what to expect in the 2nd chapter.

i) The first portion is अर्जुन going through the other stages also. What are the other stages? He has discovered the problem. But he has not discovered the helplessness. Therefore, what we find in the first portion is अर्जुन decides to quit the battlefield but his inner conscience says that there is something wrong. If he had been totally convinced, he would have run away. But he feels something is wrong because he has decided to fight this battle after years of thinking. Not even days, not even months and it is a sudden momentary decision to quit this. Even though he intensely feels that he should run away, something in his subconscious mind says that perhaps I am confused and I am not able to take the right decision. Therefore अर्जुन wavers a little bit and soon he discovers that the present problem he cannot solve. Therefore, he says: न चैतद्धिन्नः कतरन्नो गरीयो यद्वा जयेम यदि वा नो जयेयुः । हे कृष्ण! I thought that I have come to the right decision but now my mind is wavering. I do not know whether my decision is right or wrong. One side says our case is धार्मिक therefore I should fight. Other side, my psychological mind, my emotional mind says how to kill my गुरु, how to kill my relations. It is like a boss in a company who has to take an action against a person and after deciding to take the action, he finds that it is one of his relatives. A big problem. So what to do: To see the son-in-laws or the धर्म. If I do not see the son-in-law, my daughter would be in trouble. Therefore that is very important. That is why it is said that जामात दशमो ब्रह्मः. Once you get a son-in-law, your life is governed by not nine but ten planets. 10th planet has come. जामात दशमो ब्रह्मः. You can never control him. Whatever he does, you are affected, through the daughter of course. So therefore, अर्जुन is in a double mind. Therefore, he accepts his helplessness. अर्जुन goes the second stage of helplessness and he says: कार्पण्यदोषोपहतस्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वाम् धर्मसम्मूढचेताः । Once अर्जुन discovers the helplessness, immediately he has to surrender to someone and what blessed person अर्जुन is, because right in front is available, जगद्गुरु, Lord कृष्ण. We have to search. अर्जुन had the best गुरु, universal गुरु right in front. Therefore without batting an eyelid, अर्जुन surrenders and says: यच्छ्रेयः स्यान्निश्चितम् ब्रूहि तन्मे शिष्यस्तेऽहम् शाधि माम् त्वाम् प्रपन्नम् ॥ I am your disciple. Just like a patient surrenders himself in front of the doctor. I do not know what the disease is. You only know. Please treat me. Whatever course of treatment you suggest, I am ready to take. Thus अर्जुन goes through the third stage and then comes the fourth stage, where कृष्ण accepts the patient अर्जुन, the disciple अर्जुन and decides to give the program of treatment. So संसार निवारण औषधम् भव रोग भेषजम्, called गीताशास्त्रम्. Thus the first portion of the 2nd chapter is अर्जुन शरणागति.

ii) Then the second portion is making अर्जुन fit for the treatment. Suppose you go to a doctor. Doctor sees that the problem is cataract. Very simple, cataract now it is easiest surgery. But no doctor will directly do the surgery. Before surgery they will check up the body to find out whether you are fit for surgery. If there is any infection or sneezing problem. No cold should be there. No infection should be there. No other disease should be there. Therefore operation योग्यता-प्राप्ति. So first he should have योग्यता for the operation. Therefore योग्यता प्राप्ति. Once all the parameters are OK, pressure, sugar etc OK, then surgery. Similarly, these spiritual pursuits require two things. One is the surgery. Surgery is called Self-knowledge or ज्ञानयोग, which is the medicine. ज्ञानम् is the औषधम्. संसारसर्पदष्टानाम् जन्तुनाम् अविवेकिनाम्, or अज्ञानसर्पदष्टानाम् ब्रह्मज्ञान औषधम् विना शङ्कराचार्य (in विवेकचूडामणि ६१) says ब्रह्मज्ञान औषधम् ज्ञानयोग. What is ज्ञानयोग? We will see later. ज्ञानयोग्यता is required. For योग्यता प्राप्ति, doctor will give some medicine. Secondary medicines for योग्यता प्राप्ति and that secondary medicine is called कर्मयोगः. कर्मयोग is for योग्यता प्राप्ति, ज्ञानयोगः is for the disease removal. So therefore, first topic is अर्जुन शरणागति, the second topic is ज्ञानयोग and the third topic is कर्मयोगः. And then the final topic is: what is the nature of a healthy person? Who has developed that inner resistance? Who has solved the problem of रागः, शोकः and मोहः? What will be his life? It is all मजा (fun), मजा, मजा; नन्दति नन्दति नन्दत्येव. Just as a healthy person enjoys life, psychological healthy person also enjoys life thoroughly. The fourth topic is जीवन्मुक्ति, the inner freedom. These are the four topics we are going to see. अर्जुन's surrender, ज्ञानयोग, कर्मयोग and जीवन्मुक्ति. The details of which will start from the next class.

In the last class, I pointed out that a seeker has to go through four stages if he has to successfully gain the spiritual knowledge. The first stage is discovery of the problem of संसार, the संसार-disease consisting of रोगः, शोकः & मोहः and this has to be experienced and recognized. And even after recognizing the problem, a person tries to solve the problem by himself or herself. And generally what we do is: we don't understand the problem is with us and therefore we tend to blame the external factors for our problem. And since we consider the external world is the cause of our problem, we try to adjust or change the external condition. A poor man thinks that it is the poverty which is the cause. An unmarried person thinks that it is the 'unmarried' condition that is making him unhappy. A married person thinks that it is the childless state that is the cause of the problem. Thus each one places the problem outside and goes on tampering and adjusting and after long struggle some rare intelligent ones discover the problem to be within themselves, not outside. Like that person who experienced a peculiar problem. He was traveling in the bus and he heard some noise oooshhhhh... . That noise was coming and he thought that the bus tyre has burst, punctured and the bus has to be stopped and they have to change. And he was looking for the other people to suggest and nobody was suggesting. And he said, 'why are you keeping quiet, don't you hear the noise?' The other people said: No, we do not hear. So that person was surprised how the other people are not recognizing the noise of the tyre. And then he asked the other people also and they also could not feel anything and still he went to the driver and said please stop the bus and check up. The bus was stopped and they came out and saw that the tyres were intact. But still this person was hearing that noise. Then at last, he went to an ENT doctor and they discovered that there is an inner condition in the ear, because of which some people will hear the noise permanently. As long as that noise is mistaken as the outside noise, this person will go on struggling to change the tyre or to change the other things without knowing that the noise is coming from inside. The moment he understood that the noise is from inside, then alone he can go to the doctor and do whatever is required. Similarly, all our problems are the noises of संसारः, whether it is रागः, द्वेषः or काम क्रोधः, all the disturbances that we face are disturbances caused by our own problems and as long as we do not recognize that it is within us alone; you are going to go on adjusting, changing so many things; how do we know that the problem is not outside, because any amount of external adjustment, we do, in fact, we have been doing that right from our birth. As a baby, we looked for external adjustment, as youth we did that external adjustment and as a middle aged person we did that or we are doing that and after 60 years of adjusting all over, but still if that inner problems continues, any intelligent person should take stock and ask the question: how come all kinds of changes have not solved the problem. The other day a person came and told me: स्वामिजि everything is nice with me. I have got a very good job, I earn Rs.45,000 per month and the job is very satisfying and I am now young, health is fine, everything is fine but I do not know what is wrong, I am missing something and I am dissatisfied. So when the salary is not there, person may think that a higher salary would solve the problem; but here is a person, who has a higher salary, but still the problem is not solved; that means the problem is not with salary. Similarly, a person before marriage thought that a wife would remove the inner noise but when he sees people with wives (do not mistake, each individual person with one wife each!! that plural should be appropriately understood), so the people with wives, still they have got the quirky noise coming, so that means wife does not solve the problem. Similarly, children, Similarly, grand children. This requires a mature intellect to understand that external adjustments do not stop the noise; for the noise is not coming from outside, but it is from inside.

परीक्ष्य लोकान् कर्मचितान् ब्रह्मणो निर्वेदमायात् ... ॥ मुण्डक उपनिषत्
१-२-१२ ॥

A cultured, an intelligent person, a mature person, after tampering with the world and external factors for some time and finding the inner conditions to be same, should know that the problem is in me. And once he knows the problem is within, he finds that he does not know how to solve it. Because whatever he knows is adjusting the external world and therefore the next stage is the discovery of helplessness. I have tampered with everything outside, but the noise is there. So this is called दैन्य अवस्थ, or कार्पण्य अवस्थ, the second stage and once a person discovers that he has a problem and also he is helpless, then alone he will go to the third stage, which is called शरणागतिः, taking help from outside. That requires a lot of intellectual honesty and humility. Because I might be an educated person with many degrees, I may be occupying a very big position, but I should be humble enough to admit this fact; however educated I am, however high a position I may occupy, but for this problem, I do not have a solution. So there should be sufficient intellectual honesty to accept this helplessness and ignorance and he should be humble enough to surrender to someone, that शरणागति is the third stage and the fourth stage is the actual pursuit of spiritual knowledge. And once a person has gone through these stages, then गीता becomes a meaningful pursuit. And this is what व्यासाचार्य wants to show indirectly through the महाभारत context. Of these three stages, अर्जुन has gone through the first stage in the 1st chapter. He has discovered the problem. He has रागः, शोकः and मोहः. But still he has not discovered the helplessness; so he thinks that he has a solution for his problem. And the solution that he has visualized is throwing the bow and arrow and then running away from the battle. Thus he decides to run away, but suddenly he feels that even that solution may not be a real solution. Because in one corner his mind, his conscience tells that he is a क्षत्रिय and that he has to fight for the sake of धर्म. Thus gradually, from wrong decision अर्जुन is coming to a doubt. From wrong decision coming to a doubt, is a great progress. Doubt is better or wrong decision is better, if you ask, I would say that doubt is better than wrong decision because, when a person has a doubt at least he will try to take the help of someone. There is a possibility of enquiry, because I have a doubt, there is a possibility of taking an external help; therefore there is a possibility of a solution. But when a person takes a wrong decision, there is no possibility of coming out. In the 1st chapter, अर्जुन had taken a wrong decision, in the 2nd chapter, अर्जुन progresses from wrong decision to doubt. Always our progress is like this: from wrong decision to doubt to knowledge. In संस्कृत it is called विपर्यय to संशय to ज्ञानम्. विपर्यय is तमोगुण प्रधान; संशय is रजोगुण प्रधान; ज्ञानम् is सत्त्वगुण प्रधान. तमस् to रजस् to सत्त्व is the progress, wrong decision to doubt to right decision. Now in the 2nd chapter beginning we will see this progress. With this background, we will read the verses.

So at the end of the 1st chapter we saw that अर्जुन has talked a lot and at the end of it, he has thrown away the bow and arrows and he is seated; his heart pierced by sorrow and कृष्ण also cannot talk anything, because अर्जुन has not sought the help of कृष्ण. Therefore, अर्जुन also does not speak. कृष्ण also cannot speak. And therefore, सञ्जय comes. And tells what happens further, because there is a stalemate; somebody has to break that so that it can continue again. Therefore सञ्जय says, तम् तथा कृपया आविष्टम्, Lord कृष्ण saw the poignant condition of अर्जुन who is a picture of संसार and remember represents the संसारि. So what is the condition of संसारि? कृपया आविष्टम्, कृपा means attachment. In this context, कृपा should not be translated as compassion. As I have said before, compassion is a positive virtue of a ज्ञानि and attachment is a negative weakness of an अज्ञानि. And here अर्जुन is an अज्ञानि and his weakness is expressed here and therefore the word कृपा should not be translated as compassion but should be taken as attachment; weakness. By that weakness आविष्टम्, अर्जुन was overpowered. If it is compassion it is something that I entertain. I am master, whereas attachment is something which I do not entertain but it overpowers me. A man of compassion is a master and man of attachment is a slave. A man of compassion is स्वामि, a man of attachment is a असामि, अस्वामि, a slave. Here अर्जुन is कृपया आविष्टः overpowered by attachment and this attachment has led to अश्रु-पूर्ण-आकुल-ईक्षणम्. His eyes are blurred, his vision is affected, आकुल-ईक्षणम्, ईक्षणम् means eyes, आकुलम् means blurred or overpowered because of what अश्रुपूर्णम्, because they are tearful eyes. They are full of tears and because of the tears he is not even able to see clearly; which represents शोकः. कृपया आविष्टम् represents रागः and अश्रु-पूर्ण-आकुल-ईक्षणम् represents शोकः and विषीदन्तम् and he was grieving in front of Lord कृष्ण talking about सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि मुखम् च परिशुष्यति, etc. Such an अर्जुन Lord कृष्ण saw and अर्जुन does not speak anything and कृष्ण cannot teach also now and therefore कृष्ण wants to break the ice with that intention; what did he do? मधुसूदनः इदम् वाक्यम् उवाच. Lord कृष्ण uttered the following words to अर्जुन. What did कृष्ण say to अर्जुन? Continuing;

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

कुतस्त्वा कश्मलमिदं विषमे समुपस्थितम् ।

अनार्यजुष्टमस्वर्ग्यमकीर्तिकरमर्जुन ॥ २-२॥

कुतः त्वा कश्मलम् इदम् विषमे समुपस्थितम् ।

अनार्य-जुष्टम् अस्वर्ग्यम् अकीर्तिकरम् अर्जुन ॥ २-२॥

हे अर्जुन! अनार्य-जुष्टम् अस्वर्ग्यम् अकीर्तिकरम् इदम् कश्मलम् विषमे त्वा कुतः समुपस्थितम् ?

In these two verses, Lord कृष्ण strongly criticizes अर्जुन. He uses very strong words which normally कृष्ण will not use and which normally अर्जुन cannot tolerate also. Such strong words, कृष्ण is using so that अर्जुन may get up and fight. Like a charioteer-or a driver whipping up the horses by giving pain to the horses, similarly, कृष्ण is literally wounding अर्जुन; hoping that at least wounded he will get up and fight. Therefore he uses strong words here. कुतः त्वा कश्मलम् समुपस्थितम्. From where did such a low thinking, such a mean thought come to you. कश्मलम् means impurity. Here कृष्ण is not talking about physical impurity, but is talking about mental impurity in the form of depression, dejection, extreme frustration. From where did such a dejection come to you? Because you never have been entertaining such thought. You are known for your courage, you are known for your warfare, you would never be afraid of anyone. During विराटपर्व, when उत्तरकुमार was so much terrified, not only you encouraged उत्तरकुमार but also fought all the great warriors like भीष्म and others single-handedly and won the war. Therefore you are not afraid of this कौरव people, because you already have fought them. Even कर्ण you have defeated before and long before you fought even with परमेश्वर, Lord शिव himself and शिव had congratulated and gave you even special अस्त्रम्. Such a courageous person you are, now how come you are crying. कुतः इदम् कश्मलम् आगतम्. And if you had been doing this there in the forest, you can afford, because nothing else to do, because you are not even ruling a kingdom and whole day is available to you. You can have 3 or 4 sessions of crying. You could have done that when you were in the forest; but now you can't do that in the middle of the battlefield. Therefore, विषमे समुपस्थितम्. विषम means at a wrong time and wrong place, at the most inopportune moment. So विषमे समुपस्थितम्. Such a frustration, such a dejection, such a diffidence can never come to great people. And who are the great people; कृष्ण says: अनार्य-जुष्टम्, dejection can never come for an आर्यपुरुषः. So आर्यपुरुषः means noble people, great people. So what do you mean by the word आर्य? Moment we say आर्य, we will only think of historical concept that आर्यस came from Iran or some place and then India was occupied by द्राविडs and आर्यs attacked and आर्य-द्राविड big problem especially in तमिळ् नाडु. द्राविड movement. We cannot even loudly talk about आर्य. Therefore what is the meaning of the word आर्य here?

कर्तव्यम् आचरन् कर्म अकर्तव्यम् अनाचरन् । तिष्ठति प्राकृताचारो यः सः आर्य इति स्मृतः ॥ योऽन वासिष्ठ ॥

This श्लोक is the definition of आर्यः. And from this definition we come to know that it is only talking about a character. It is a discipline or character which makes a person आर्यः. It has nothing to do with the place of birth, skin or anything. Who is an आर्य? कर्तव्यम् आचरन् कर्म, a person who does what is to be done, without murmuring, without grumbling, the one who does what is to be done, whether what is to be done is pleasant or unpleasant. Sometimes the duties are very happy duties, sometimes duties are painful, unpleasant. आर्यः is one who never divides the duties as pleasant or unpleasant, duty is duty. What is to be done has to be done. And one who does that. कर्तव्यम् आचरन् कर्म. He never gives room for likes and dislikes. Similarly, अकर्तव्यम् अनाचरणम्. What is not to be done, he does not do. However tempting it is. However attractive it is. However, likeable it is. He does not bother, what is not to be done, should not to be done. Therefore, the one who does what is proper and one who is not based on likes and dislikes - a cultured person. And तिष्ठति प्राकृताचारो, one who lives the life of आचार. आचार means discipline. यः सः आर्य इति स्मृतः. Such a cultured and disciplined person is called आर्य. It does not matter whether he has a fair skin or a dark skin; does not matter whether he is short or tall. It has nothing to do with Iran or it has nothing to do with वैदिक civilization with this place or that place. It has nothing to do with a place. The definition of an आर्यः is 'a cultured person.' And here कृष्ण says अनार्य-जुष्टम्, such a dejection can never come to a cultured person. अर्जुन, if you are a cultured person, you should now do your duty, of a क्षत्रिय, without feeling bad about what you have to do. And if you try to escape from your duty, you are अनार्य. अनार्य-जुष्टम् इदम् कश्मलम्. And not only अनार्य-जुष्टम्, अधार्मिक, अस्वर्ग्यम्, अस्वर्ग्यम् means it will never give you पुण्यफलम्. It is अधार्मिक it will only give you पापम्. It will never give you पुण्यम्, अस्वर्ग्यम्, अकीर्तिकरम् अर्जुन. Not only it will not give you स्वर्ग after death, even while being alive, it will not give you name but it will give you only ill fame. अकीर्तिकरम्. So you will lose your पुण्यम्; you will also lose your fame. How can such a negative thinking come to you? So अकीर्तिकरम् अर्जुन कुतः इदम्. Continuing;

वलैब्यं मा स्म गमः पार्थ नैतत्त्वय्युपपद्यते ।

क्षुद्रं हृदयदौर्बल्यं त्यक्त्वोत्तिष्ठ परन्तप ॥ २-३॥

वलैब्यम् मा स्म गमः पार्थ न एतत् त्वयि उपपद्यते ।

क्षुद्रम् हृदय-दौर्बल्यम् त्यक्त्वा उत्तिष्ठ परन्तप ॥ २-३॥

हे पार्थ! वलैब्यम् मा स्म गमः । एतत् त्वयि न उपपद्यते । हे परन्तप! क्षुद्रम् हृदय-दौर्बल्यम् त्यक्त्वा उत्तिष्ठ ।

हे पार्थ! हे अर्जुन! पार्थ means the son of पृथा, पृथा is another name of कुन्ती. Therefore पार्थ means पृथायाः कुन्त्याः पुत्रः. पार्थः, कौन्तेयः, अर्जुनः. हे अर्जुन! वलैब्यम् मा स्म गमः. वलैब्यम् means unmanliness. Weak-mindedness; the one who is incapable of taking courageous decision; the one who withdraws when crisis comes. The one who is chicken-hearted is called विलब. वलैब्यम् means the weakness of the mind. May you not take to unmanliness or weakness. Why, because एतत् त्वयि न उपपद्यते. If anybody else does that, it is understandable; but अर्जुन, you are known for your courage. In the महाभारत, during विराटपर्व, when उत्तरकुमार is terribly frightened, you uttered the ten names of अर्जुन. You need not see अर्जुन. Just merely uttering 10 names they are given. It is said in the शास्त्रs, that whenever you are frightened you merely repeat that. Suppose you have to go to interview. युद्धम् need not come. What will happen? Chant this श्लोक. So whenever you feel weakness, it is said that you chant these 10 names and fear will go away and अर्जुन all over the world, your name is so popular for courage and that अर्जुन how can you be frightened. So त्वयि न उपपद्यते. The one who has fought with परमेश्वर शिव himself. त्वयि न उपपद्यते It does not befit your status. Therefore what should you do? हृदय-दौर्बल्यम् त्यक्त्वा. Throw away this mental weakness. These weak-heartedness, faint-heartedness, you throw away, which is क्षुद्रम्, which is very mean, which makes you a lowly person, which is disgrace for you. You give up and त्यक्त्वा उत्तिष्ठ. First अर्जुन you get up. That itself has become a problem. Before thinking of lifting the bows and arrows, etc., first you get up, because in extreme sorrow, a person cannot even get up. So therefore like whipping up a horse, कृष्ण is whipping up अर्जुन by using strong words. अर्जुन you get up and also कृष्ण address अर्जुन with appropriate words परन्तप. परन्तप means the scorcher of enemies, destroyer of enemies (परान् शत्रून् तापयति इति

परन्तपः). So हे परन्तप! May you get up and get ready to fight. Here you find that even though कृष्ण addresses अर्जुन, कृष्ण does not teach the गीता wisdom. There is no गीता wisdom involved here. Neither कर्मयोगः nor ज्ञानम्, nothing of that sort. Just some strong words to whip up अर्जुन. Why कृष्ण does not teach the गीता here. The reason is two-fold. First thing is अर्जुन has not yet surrendered to कृष्ण and is also not prepared to listen. Only when the other person is ready to receive knowledge, I can give; because any transaction requires one receiver and one giver. I may be ready to give, but if the other person is not ready to receive, it is foolishness to teach or give advice. So there is a beautiful श्लोकः

प्रोक्त श्रद्धाविहीनस्य अरण्यरूढितोपमम् ।

You should give advice or suggestions only to a person who values your advice. And preferably only to a person who asks for advice. Once you know that the other person does not ask and once you know that the other person does not have value for your words, kindly never give advice. If you give the advice, it is like अरण्य-रूढितोपमम्. It is like crying in wilderness. It is a very important lesson we learn from कृष्ण, because he knows a lot, He is सर्वज्ञ ईश्वर and He can easily advice or teach अर्जुन but still कृष्ण does not do that because unless अर्जुन is ready to receive, He should not give. But if you look our lifestyle we find that the easiest thing we do is that we give free advice and suggestions to everyone. Somebody comes and tells that I am going to मुम्बई. “Do not go to मुम्बई now.” He never came and asked whether I should go now, is it proper to go at this time, weather is good etc. He came to tell that he is going. But we call him and give advice over advice. And we give to such an extent that we lose all the respect for our words that the other person avoids me all the time. So the very important thing is never give advice. And in fact, most difficult thing in life is to make another person listen to what you say. So कृष्ण has understood the psychology therefore he does not advice and the second thing is कृष्ण knows that अर्जुन has not exhausted all his feelings. In the 1st chapter no doubt, अर्जुन poured a lot, was highly emotional like a volcano or like a flooded river; he was talking on and on, but looking at अर्जुन's face, कृष्ण knew that it is only a temporary stillness; he is waiting for another wave, another burst. And if कृष्ण starts teaching the गीता, one word only or two words he has to utter and अर्जुन will again come with lot of words. And therefore कृष्ण wants to just push अर्जुन a little bit and see whether अर्जुन has exhausted his feelings and you find that अर्जुन again starts in the next verse and he has lot more to say. So this I have experienced very often. स्वामिजि have this. Because they come telling some problem and they have stories and stories because especially families married about 25 years ago and they have to start from that time, isn't? So therefore stories are about the mother-in-law or company and he/she only says that he wants some solution. And he talks a lot and there is a temporary lull. स्वामिजि, what to do? Really speaking he has not got into the next wave. It is only a temporary stop. Suppose I seriously start something only I have to start one or two words. Again he will come with a lot of things, not allowing me to speak at all. Sometime, they talk the whole time and go back saying 'स्वामिजि, thank you for your advice', I have never said anything! I find really a very few people asking for solution. Why because they have got so much, initially we have to only allow the other person to exhaust. And in between if at all, words, no serious words: 'Is it like that?' are the only words I use, which they will not be listening at all, something has to be said otherwise they will not know whether I am awake or asleep. So therefore, because you can nod the head because of sleep also. So just some words, here and there. You cannot speak, because the other person is simply not available for listening. Therefore कृष्ण uses this master psychology and just uses two verses to whip up so that अर्जुन will come up with some more of his emotion. And अर्जुन

is going to come and after exhausting his emotions then he says I have exhausted and I have surrendered and now you speak and I will listen! And afterwards also कृष्ण observes some silence because he might again start and having made sure that अर्जुन's mind is open for listening, (in fact, you try that, very interesting, you will find that often you tell a long story and suppose somebody has come and then you are telling about a story of yours. You want to tell whole story and some guest has come. So now, when are telling a story in between a phone call comes and you attend the phone and come back and if the other person is interested in your story, he must be asking what happened next? Isn't it? You find that he never asks? We know that he is not interested. We only say where we have left. We again start. Several times I have seen that and no one is interested and therefore I have stopped restarting the story. So therefore if we really know some of the things, we would not tell. We would not have much to talk. Often we are talking, when it is not at all required. By talking too much, the value of our words is becoming lesser and lesser and lesser. So if at all you have to find out whether the other person is really interested, in start the story, ask how the Trip was. What he wants to listen is OK. But we say how went to the station, how the auto got punctured and other person does not want all these. He only wants to get an OK from you and if you have any doubt, just leave in between and come back and nobody will question thereafter what happened. Therefore, here also, कृष्ण whips up and sees whether अर्जुन wants to surrender and has an open mind. Continuing;

कथं भीष्ममहं सङ्ख्ये द्रोणं च मधुसूदन ।

इषुभिः प्रतियोत्स्यामि पूजार्हावरिसूदन ॥ २-४॥

कथम् भीष्मम् अहम् सङ्ख्ये द्रोणम् च मधुसूदन ।

इषुभिः प्रतियोत्स्यामि पूजा-अहौं अरि-सूदन ॥ २-४॥

हे मधुसूदन! अहम् भीष्मम् द्रोणम् च सङ्ख्ये इषुभिः कथम् प्रतियोत्स्यामि? अरि-सूदन! (एतौ) पूजा-अहौं ।

So अर्जुन comes with his old story once again. Whatever he has exhausted in the 1st chapter, the same thing again he begins. So हे कृष्ण! कथम् अहम् भीष्मम् द्रोणम् च प्रतियोत्स्यामि? During विराटपर्व, I might have fought but now I am wiser. How can I fight भीष्म and द्रोण who are पूजा-अहौं, who really deserve worship? पूजाहौं भीष्मम् च द्रोणम् कथम् प्रतियोत्स्यामि? In the 1st chapter he says now my thinking has become clearer and with the clearer mind when I see I should not be fighting them. And पूजाहौं इषुभिः प्रतियोत्स्यामि. How can I fight with arrows, with weapons हे मधुसूदन! हे अरिसूदन? कृष्ण your job was simpler because you have destroyed many राक्षसs and you did not have any such conflict. You are a मधुसूदन, the destroyer of a राक्षस called मधु. मधोः मधुनाम्नः दैत्यस्य सूदनम् नाशनम् यस्मात् सः मधुसूदनः । That also was not difficult, because he was a राक्षस. But I am not fighting राक्षसs but भीष्म and द्रोण, who are honorable and also are my गुरुs. Therefore I cannot imagine doing that.

Verse No .05

गुरुनहत्वा हि महानुभावान् श्रेयो भोक्तुं भैक्ष्यमपीह लोके ।

गुरुन् अहत्वा हि महानुभावान् श्रेयः भोक्तुम् भैक्ष्यम् अपि इह लोके ।

हत्वा अर्थ-कामान् तु गुरुन् इह एव भुञ्जीय भोगान् रुधिर-प्रदिग्धान् ॥ २-५॥

हि महानुभावान् गुरुन् अहत्वा, इह लोके भैक्ष्यम् भोक्तुम् अपि श्रेयः । गुरुन् हत्वा तु इह एव रुधिर-प्रदिग्धान् अर्थ-कामान् भोगान् भुञ्जीय ।

अर्जुन thinks of the other option. Suppose he does not fight this war because भीष्म and द्रोण etc., are involved. What will he have to do? He cannot live in the country because दुर्योधन is not going to give any place. He said he will not give a single house with 5 rooms, 5 bedrooms and I will not give you one room with 5 chairs or 6 chairs whatever that might be. As he said, he is not going to give even a needle space. So if अर्जुन decides not want to fight he will have to leave for the forest once again. Once he goes to the forest, he would have to live a life of a संन्यासि or a वानप्रस्थ, which means he has to live on alms, भिक्षा and living on भिक्षा is a पाप कर्म, because according to धर्मशास्त्र, a गृहस्थ cannot live on भिक्षा. भिक्षा life is possible only for a ब्रह्मचारि. ब्रह्मचारि is entitled to get भिक्षा and eat. भिक्षा means going to different houses and asking for food. भवती भिक्षाम् देहि. That's why at the time of उपनयनम्, they start taking भिक्षा and the first भिक्षा is supposed to be from the mother. Why they choose the mother? Because at the first attempt there won't be a failure. Because Mother will never say, I won't give भिक्षा. Others may give or may not give to a ब्रह्मचारि. Therefore, let the first attempt be not a failure. And thus they started with the mother. The idea is that the ब्रह्मचारि should live on भिक्षा. A वानप्रस्थ, he can live on भिक्षा. In fact, not 'can', they are supposed to live on भिक्षा. A संन्यासि also has to live on भिक्षा. Out of the four आश्रमस, three have to live on भिक्षा. And naturally, who must be the giver of भिक्षा. पारिशेष न्यायेन the गृहस्थ has to be the giver of भिक्षा. Suppose the गृहस्थ also wants to live on भिक्षा, then what will happen? If all the four आश्रमस want to live on भिक्षा, then who will be there to give? Therefore गृहस्थ has to give भिक्षा to all the other people. So a गृहस्थ has no right to live on भिक्षा. So if he does that, it would be a पाप कर्म, it would come under प्रत्यवाय पाप and it is a wrong thing. And अर्जुन thinks that is going to be a पापम्. And if he fights the war he has to kill his own गुरुs like भीष्म, etc., that also will give him पापम्, according to अर्जुन. Because of that he is confused. Therefore killing भीष्म and द्रोण is पापम्, according to अर्जुन. And living on भिक्षा also is a पापम्, because a गृहस्थ cannot do that. Now अर्जुन weighs these two पापम्s and he wants to choose the lesser one.

In fact, often in our lives, we have got different bad choices only. And that is when we try to postpone our decisions. Because if we have to decide between good and bad, there is no problem. Easily we can choose good. But often the thing is, we have to choose between different bad choices, it is exact time that we try to avoid decisions and but in life we will have such situations. अर्जुन also has to choose between two पापम्s. One is भीष्मादि वधम् and another is भैक्ष्यम्, living on भिक्षा and अर्जुन says between these two wrong actions, I will choose to live on भिक्षा. Therefore he says श्रेयः भोक्तुम् भैक्ष्यम् अपि इह लोके. In this world, it is better to live on भैक्ष्यम्. भिक्षा means food collected from one house is भिक्षा; when food is collected from several houses, it is called भैक्ष्यम्; combined भिक्षा is भैक्ष्यम्. Therefore he says भैक्ष्यम् अपि श्रेयः भोक्तुम्, it is better to do that rather than महानुभावान् गुरुन् अहत्वा. Rather than killing my गुरुs, गुरुवध itself is पापम् and here that too not ordinary गुरुs but महानुभावान्. अनुभावः means महिमा. And महानुभावः means महामहिमा. Those people who are glorious, who are great rather than killing them, it is better to incur such a sin. And not only गुरुवधम् is a पापम्, we will also have further problems. हत्वा अर्थ-कामान् तु गुरुन् इह एव. Suppose we choose to fight the war and kill these गुरुs. No doubt there is a brighter side. Of course we are incurring sin but there seems to be a brighter side that we will get back the kingdom and instead of lying down on the ground in the forest, we will have a palace and we will also have nice things but हे कृष्ण! do you think that we will be able to enjoy those pleasures? Not only we will incur sin, the later pleasures born out of victory also will not be enjoyable because they will be रुधिर-प्रदिग्धान् अर्थ-कामान्. All those wealth that we acquire and all those pleasure that we acquire, they all will be smeared with the blood of these people. They will be tainted with the blood of these people; that means any enjoyment I have, I will only be reminded of this heinous crime. Therefore I will be thinking of भीष्म when I am in the palace. The moment I think of भीष्म; I will remember only his final moment. That's why being with a person at the time of death is a very very painful thing because, you might have lived with that person when he was healthy & joyous, etc. When we have seen that person struggling at the time of death, later life-long the memories will not be of those good days but those struggles alone will come. Similarly, in the palace, wherever I go about, I will think of भीष्म and द्रोण, when their thought comes, the battle field will be reminded off, how they struggled and how they died that only I will remember. Therefore it will be bloodstained wealth and bloodstained pleasures. Therefore neither in this world will I enjoy nor after death will I enjoy. We will only enjoy the bloodstained pleasures born out of अर्थ and काम. अर्थ means the wealth, काम means sense objects and therefore I am not in favor of this war. And here also we find अर्जुन is adamant in his wrong decisions. And until a person switches over from wrong decisions to doubt, you can never help. That's why even in your family also, a person has made the decision, you cannot help, you will have to only wait. And having made some suggestion, then only wait for him to change from wrong decision to doubt, perhaps I may be wrong. Until that position comes, no advice will be useful and therefore कृष्ण is waiting and in the next श्लोक, we will find that change is going to take place. That is the crucial moment where अर्जुन is going to doubt his decision. Those details we will see in the next class.

Here व्यासाचार्य is presenting the circumstances in which अर्जुन - a soldier becomes अर्जुन - the seeker of मोक्षः. And to become a seeker of मोक्षः, or a receiver of मोक्षः, I said a person has to go through certain stages. The first stage being the discovery of the fundamental human problem. And we saw the human problem in the 1st chapter, which is in the form of रागः, शोकः and मोहः. Psychological dependence on external factors is रागः and because of the psychological dependence there is a constant anxiety that I will lose the object and people upon whom I psychologically depend and when the loss of the object or person takes place, either actually or imaginarily, then there is intense grief which is called शोकः and when the mind in the grip of attachment and grief loses its discriminative faculty and then it faces conflict with regard to what is to be done and not do be done which conflict is called मोहः; this three-fold problem of attachment grief and conflict alone is the fundamental human problem known as संसारः and अर्जुन is facing the संसारः in the battlefield which we saw in the 1st chapter, therefore the first stage is discovery of संसारः. And when a person discovers this human problem, he does not seek the help of गुरु or scriptures; he thinks that he can solve the problem by taking some external help and therefore he goes on adjusting external condition. In fact, all the lifelong struggles are nothing but adjustment of external condition hoping that this internal problem will be solved for good. But generally what we find is that the external adjustments do not solve the problem of attachment and even if it solves the problem, it is only a temporary solution. It only serves as a palliative, like certain medicines which we take for cold. When we take Vicks, or something, it is not curing the problem of cold; In fact, it is called a counter irritant; when you have got one irritation, you have a bigger irritation in front of which, the other irritation becomes insignificant. Like we forget one scam. You forget one scam when the next bigger scam comes. This is what? Solution or progress of the confusion. Similarly, we only have some kind of first aid or temporary solution; it is not a permanent solution at all and a person should discover the helplessness with regard to solving this fundamental problem. This helplessness alone is called कार्पण्य भवः or दैव्य भवः. And unless we discover this helplessness, we will never seek the external guidance and अर्जुन has come to the first stage now. He has discovered the problem. Now he has gone to the 2nd stage, discovery of helplessness. And अर्जुन has not yet discovered and therefore he is trying to find a solution by himself. And therefore he thinks various possibilities and some of the possibilities he mentions in the 5th श्लोक, he said,

गुरुन् अहत्वा हि महानुभावान् श्रेयः भोक्तुम् भैक्ष्यम् अपि इह लोके ।

Now he has got two choices between the devil and the deep sea as they call; one option is killing his kith and kin; which is a terrible action the revered गुरुs have to be slain and even if he gets a victory by killing them, he is going to enjoy the pleasures which are all soaked in blood as it were. रुधिर-प्रदिग्धान् भोगान् एव भुञ्जीय. Every object I see I will remember भीष्म and द्रोण and then I will only remember, 'How I shot them dead? And how blood was flowing from their body?' Do you think that I will enjoy those pleasures? If I do not want that terrible action what is the other option that I have. I have to go back to forest. And again the bed is the earth only, the pillow should be the hands only and there will be lot of mosquitoes; there is no Goodnight, etc., अर्जुन's time those were not there. We know no mosquito repellants all those things, insects will be biting, no fan, no A/c and an emperor or a king अर्जुन lived a luxurious life, he has to go back to forest and he cannot eat the food that he would like to have; भैक्ष्यम् he has to eat, he has to live on alms, which he had experienced for 13 years; felt miserable and he was waiting for the end of the 13th year. And now he has to decide, between these two courses, whether to go back to the forest or whether to fight. And since he is utterly confused with regard to धर्म and अधर्म

he votes for the wrong course of action and what is the course, he suggests to himself, भैक्ष्यम् अपि श्रेयः. I feel it is better to live on भिक्षा. This indicates अर्जुन's धर्माधर्म अविवेकः. As I said in the last class, (whenever it was) for a क्षत्रिय and that too for a गृहस्थ, भिक्षा is not at all allowed. भिक्षा is allowed only for a ब्रह्मचारि, वानप्रस्थि or संन्यासि; they alone have to live on भिक्षा and if अर्जुन takes to भिक्षा he is committing two-fold sins; what are the two sins; one is स्वधर्म परित्यागः, which is giving up a righteous war; धर्मयुद्धस्य परित्यागाख्य स्वधर्म परित्यागः and according to धर्म-शास्त्र, giving up one's स्वधर्म is called omission which is technically called प्रत्यवाय पापम्. This is the first sin अर्जुन is committing if he takes to भिक्षा. Not only he is giving up his स्वधर्म and also living on भिक्षा is परधर्म परिग्रहः. परधर्म परिग्रहः means taking to somebody else's duty. Giving up of one's own duty is omission; taking to somebody else's duty is commission; both omission-sin and commission-sin; both sins अर्जुन is committing and अर्जुन is not able to recognize it because of his muddled thinking मोहः. And therefore he said: हत्वा अर्थ-कामान् तु गुरून् इह एव भुञ्जीय भोगान् रुधिर-प्रदिग्धान्. And कृष्ण still continues to be helpless. Because अर्जुन is only suggesting his own solutions but he never tells कृष्ण, हे कृष्ण! help me (right in front help is available, you see). Still अर्जुन does not feel like taking his help and not only अर्जुन is helpless, even कृष्ण is helpless because even if he wants to give, अर्जुन is not ready to receive. Therefore, कृष्ण is also sitting there, waiting for that one opportunity when अर्जुन will say: कृष्ण I am confused. One sentence; but it is a very big leap. At home also, we find our children, or brothers, or sisters, or grand-children, they won't say one statement: "I am confused and papa please guide me." Now कृष्ण is waiting for that golden opportunity and that comes in the next श्लोक. A turning point, the acceptance of helplessness, which is a great पुण्यम्; it is this turning point, which is responsible for the गीताशास्त्रम् to come and what is that we will see:

Verse No .06

न चैतद्विद्मः कतरन्नो गरीयो यद्वा जयेम यदि वा नो जयेयुः ।

यानेव हत्वा न जिजीविषामस्तेऽवस्थिताः प्रमुखे धार्तराष्ट्राः ॥ २-६॥

न च एतत् विद्मः कतरत् नः गरीयः यत् वा जयेम यदि वा नः जयेयुः ।

यान् एव हत्वा न जिजीविषामः ते अवस्थिताः प्रमुखे धार्तराष्ट्राः ॥ २-६॥

नः कतरत् गरीयः? यत् वा (वयम्) जयेम, यदि वा (ते) नः जयेयुः, एतत् च न विद्मः । यान् हत्वा न जिजीविषामः, ते एव धार्तराष्ट्राः प्रमुखे अवस्थिताः ।

So the 3rd and 4th lines, धार्तराष्ट्राः प्रमुखे ते अवस्थिताः; I am in a big conflict because my own cousins are arrayed in front of me. Any other असुराः I would not have faced any problem; I would have enjoyed cutting their head; but here धार्तराष्ट्राः, धूर्तराष्ट्रस्य पुत्राः, my own cousins are standing in front. Therefore I do not feel like killing them because यान् हत्वा न जिजीविषामः; by killing these people we would not like to even live in this world. It may be a great victory but we will not like to live in the world, we can never rejoice; it is unlike winning the Independence cup. So there is a great rejoicing because it is Pakistan we have won; no sympathy; but हे कृष्ण! it is not like winning the Independence cup, but here we cannot enjoy because they are our own kith and kin. And not only that, even if we are sure that it is a धर्म युद्धम् and we take to fighting, the problem is यद्वा जयेम यदि वा नो जयेयुः, we are not even sure whether we will defeat them or them will defeat us. So to avoid that suppose I give up this battle and go to the forest, then what will be the problem, again I will have conflict. (This shore is better than that shore and vice versa). If I go to the forest, I may think that I have shirked my duty and therefore I think I am not objective enough to analyze the situation. I am so much involved in the situation that my mind has lost all the objectivity and therefore I think I need the help of you. Therefore, the first line he says, न च एतत् विद्मः. कृष्णI was waiting anxiously for this word न च एतत् विद्मः, we do not know what to do? न विद्मः, (there also some ego is there. He is using 'we' do not know, he should have used the singular 'I.' It is arrogance.) In the ignorance also the ego is sticking. "We do not know." What we do not know? कतरत् नः गरीयः? Which one of the course of these two actions नः गरीयः is better for us? So one is doing स्वधर्म, doing स्वधर्म has got a plus point but there is the terrible minus point; what is the minus point, गुरुवधः. What is the plus point? It is धर्म युद्धम् is plus point, गुरुवधः is the minus point. And suppose we get away from the war, there is a plus point, what is the plus point, I need not kill my kith and kin; there is a plus point; but what is the minus point; I have to give up my स्वधर्मः, which is धर्म युद्धम्. Therefore, in both courses of action, I am seeing plus points and minus points. That is why generally we postpone all our decisions. But by postponement, we cannot help, we will have to squarely face one time or the other and therefore, अर्जुन says I am not able to decide and therefore what is the next step: I seek your help. And that is going to come in the next verse.

Verse No .07

कार्पण्यदोषोपहतस्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वां धर्मसम्मूढचेताः ।

यच्छ्रेयः स्यान्निश्चितं ब्रूहि तन्मे शिष्यस्तेऽहं शाधि मां त्वां प्रपन्नम् ॥ २-७॥

कार्पण्य-दोष-उपहत-स्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वाम् धर्म-सम्मूढ-चेताः ।

यत् श्रेयः स्यात् निश्चितम् ब्रूहि तत् मे शिष्यः ते अहम् शाधि माम् त्वाम् प्रपन्नम् ॥ २-७॥

कार्पण्य-दोष-उपहत-स्वभावः धर्म-सम्मूढ-चेताः (अहम्) त्वाम् पृच्छामि । यत् निश्चितम् श्रेयः स्यात् तत् मे ब्रूहि । अहम् ते शिष्यः । त्वाम् प्रपन्नम् माम् शाधि ।

कृष्ण is not satisfied with अर्जुन's loose confession. न चैतद्विद्मः, is coming only in a corner in between the सन्धि, etc., न चैतद्विद्मः is not very clearly said and therefore कृष्ण wants अर्जुन to openly admit in so many words. Why do you feel bad to accept your ignorance? Because human being is born ignorant, ignorance is not sin. Because we are all born ignorant, ignorant of everything and everything includes, Self-ignorance also. Therefore we need not feel bad to admit our ignorance because ignorance is not sin. Only perpetuation of the ignorance is sin. And therefore we should only be honest enough to accept that and अर्जुन here opens his breast and he says कार्पण्य-दोष-उपहत-स्वभावः. स्वभावः means my inner-most heart, अन्तःकरणम्, हृदयम्. We can simply translate it as my mind. My mind is उपहत. उपहतः means incapacitated; made defunct; non-functional. So my intellect is not able to do its function and what is the function of the intellect; the function is विवेकः. Discriminating between two things is the function of the intellect and this is the crucial moment, when अर्जुन has to choose the right course. And at this juncture, clouded by मोहः, I am not able to think. उपहतः; Stultified; Obstructed; Thwarted; Incapacitated; Made defunct; dullened; is उपहतः. And because of what कार्पण्य-दोष. कार्पण्यम् means helplessness, misery, confusion, wretchedness. कार्पण्यम् एव दोषः कार्पण्यदोषः, my intellect is not able to think, being afflicted by misery or helplessness. OK. And the confusion is regarding what? धर्मसम्मूढचेताः. My confusion is with regard to धर्म. धर्म means अधर्म also. What is धर्म? What is अधर्म? Because धर्मशास्त्र clearly says हिंसा is a पापम्, 'मा हिंस्यात् सर्वा भूतानि', you should not harm anyone mentally, verbally or physically; अहिंसा परमो धर्म is one side and that too one should not kill his own kith and kin and that too elders and that too cultured people and that too गुरुs themselves. Therefore one side says: I should not kill them. Another part of my mind says: धार्तराष्ट्रस्य दुर बुद्धेः, (lengthen it long) दुर्योधन's are embodiment of अधर्म and unfortunately भीष्माचार्य and द्रोणाचार्य etc have joined the अधार्मिक side and therefore we have to take action. Therefore another part of the mind says you have to fight. So therefore I am confused धर्मसम्मूढचेताः. My mind is confused with regard to धर्म. And therefore (he is opening the mouth and asking) अहम् पृच्छामि. Now I am asking you.

नापृष्टः कस्यचिद् ब्रूयान्न चान्यायेन पृच्छतः ।

जानन्नपि हि मेधावी जड़वल्लोक आवरेत् ॥ मनुस्मृति २-११० ॥

A wise person is not supposed to advice unless the other person seriously asks for advice. Not only asking, (not casually asking). अन्यायेन पृच्छतः if he is asking in an अन्यायेन way, do not say. If he is really honest, open minded and asking and then alone, you give advice but suppose they are our own children, can we wait for their asking? They will never ask. Our children, will they ever ask? Therefore, if we feel that we have to give some advice, we can send some feelers and see whether they are really in a receptive mood. And in spite of our suggestions, if they have decided not to listen, we have to only surrender to the Lord and ask सुबुद्धि for them. There is no other way. कृष्ण also therefore does not want to give, unless he is sure अर्जुन wants to listen. Now अर्जुन expresses his open mindedness, by saying पृच्छामि. I am asking. What should you tell me: यत् मे श्रेयः स्यात्? Tell me what is good for me, because I am not in a position to find out what is good and what is bad. Therefore, you better decide the right course of action and do not say this may be good; that may be good may be maybe does not enlighten me. Therefore निश्चितम् श्रेयः. Whatever is certainly good for me; whatever is definitely good for me; अनैकान्तिकतया यत् मे श्रेयः भवति. That one may you tell me. And not only that, I am opening my mind: अहम् ते शिष्यः. This श्लोक is the crucial श्लोक in the introductory portion. Even if you forget the entire 1st chapter, it does not matter, but one should not forget this श्लोक. From 2nd up to 6th verse you may forget, but the crucial turning-point verse, is this verse, because in this verse alone, the अर्जुन the-solidier is converted into अर्जुन the-disciple. So he says: शिष्यः अहम्. No more स्वामि; but I am शिष्यः. शिष्यः means शिक्षा योग्यः शिष्यः. So the one who is a fit receptacle for teaching is शिष्यः. And what determines the योग्यता. First he should have an open mind; without any prejudices; he should not have concluded what is right and wrong. If I have already concluded that I have read the गीता 20 times; let me see whether the स्वामिजी is telling properly or not! Therefore, if my approach is, you know, giving an examination to the teacher, or the स्वामि, that means it is a prejudiced mind; I need not say that he is right; I need not say he is wrong, I come with an open mind; keep all the preconceived notions and conclusions along with the slippers outside. Thereafter you can take back later. But at the time of श्रवणम्, that openness must be there. I should not have concluded कर्मणः मोक्षः, भवत्या मोक्षः, ज्ञानेन मोक्षः, (let me open my mind), this open-mindedness is called शिष्यत्वम्; शिक्षा योग्यत्वम्. And that is why, in the Sikhism in that religion all the followers are called Sikhs; you know what is the meaning of शिश्? शिष्यः, shortened is शिश्. In their language, 'ष' कार becomes 'ख' कार. All 'ष' becomes 'ख.' शिष्यः changed to शिख्य. They called their guide as what? गुरु ग्रन्थ साहिब् is the teacher and hosts a beautiful attitude and claim themselves as शिष्यः. So similarly, because Sikhism is what is nothing but an offshoot of Hinduism, so we all should be Sikh only (not s.. i.. c.. k.. sick - very careful - but s.. i.. k.. h.. Sikh) Of course we are already there. We are sick; संसारः-wise. But we should become the शिश् in the form of शिष्यः and अर्जुन says: अहम् ते शिष्यः. And शिष्यः means what should कृष्ण do? शायि माम् त्वाम् प्रपन्नम्. How can I show my open-mindedness? And गुरु can never see the mind of the disciple, because mind is invisible and therefore the शिष्यः will have to physically express his open-mindedness. It has to be symbolized. Just like, when we want to show our friendship which is an internal notion, we have got some form of physical greeting. In some cultures, they shake hands, in some cultures, they kiss, in some cultures they kiss both the cheeks, in some cultures, they smell the top of the head, in some cultures in South America I heard they have to show the tongue out. In some of the South American countries. Therefore, these are all physical expressions of internal condition. In our culture, how do you express the open-mindedness? I have kept my notions away, I appreciate your knowledge. I want to receive your knowledge. How do you do that? प्रपन्नम् शरणागति. Falling at the feet of the person. Doing नमस्कार is called प्रपत्ति, शरणागति. This is the third stage. What are the first two stages, you forgot? Discovery of the problem; what is the second stage? Discovery of helplessness. And what is the third stage. Surrendering to someone and seeking the help and अर्जुन is doing that त्वाम् प्रपन्नम्. And who is कृष्ण?

ज्ञानमुद्राय कृष्णाय गीतामृतदुहे नमः ॥

Therefore, अर्जुन surrendered correctly. So when I say I am a disciple, I am a शिष्यः, I surrender to you, what should the other person become. Automatically, the other person becomes a गुरु. As I said before, a learned man can never decide whether he should be a गुरु or not. I might have knowledge, any knowledge. Mathematics, English it may be; suppose I want to become a teacher. How can I become, I can learn and become knowledgeable; but if I have to become a teacher, what do I require? Minimum one student, one victim (O.K). Minimum one person is required for asking me to teach what I know. Therefore, whether I become a गुरु or not depends upon whether the other person is ready to receive; giving is possible only when there is somebody to receive. कृष्ण can never become गुरु unless अर्जुन decides to become a disciple. And now here, अर्जुन chooses to become disciple and by way of that, अर्जुन converts कृष्ण into जगद्गुरु, गीताचार्य. पार्थसारथि becomes जगद्गुरु कृष्ण. And that conversion is taking place, in the 4th line, I am surrendering to you. And what should you do? After surrender also, there are so many things. So when I surrender to someone, it can be with different expectations. Even for getting a मन्त्र उपदेशः, I can surrender. And I can become a disciple and the other person can become a गुरु and I can ask you please initiate me into some मन्त्र or the other. Then the job is very simple. Do पादपूजा and take the मन्त्र from him. Just as in उपनयनम्. They cover and they give you गायत्री मन्त्र, Similarly, the गुरु can give some मन्त्र, नमश्शिवाय, नारायणाय, so many मन्त्रs are there. But in this particular context, when a person gives only मन्त्र उपदेशः; remember, ignorance is not removed by मन्त्र उपदेशः; Conflict is not resolved by मन्त्र उपदेशः. मन्त्र उपदेशः can purify the mind, मन्त्र उपदेशः can give temporary quietude of mind but when there is confusion; what we require is not मन्त्र उपदेशः but what we require is teaching, so that the other person gains knowledge of what is right, what is wrong, what is everything and therefore अर्जुन here says हे कृष्ण! what I want is not some मन्त्र, what I want is शाधि. शाधि means instruct me; give me knowledge; remove my ignorance. So remove my ignorance. If कृष्ण does not remove अर्जुन's ignorance and only gives an incidental solution for the problem, then what will be अर्जुन's problem? When another conflict comes, again अर्जुन will have to run to कृष्ण. This is the difference between advice and teaching. When I give an advice to a person, I am not making that person independent, I am only making the person dependent on me. Therefore that person thinks whenever I have got conflict, I will take advice from this person. So when the next conflict comes, I have to run to me, asking for advice. And later, even for simpler things, we will run asking for advice, whether to drink coffee or tea. Therefore, when I advise a person, it is all OK temporarily, but in the long run, advising does not help, because I am making that person dependent on me. Therefore, if I am a true well wisher, I should not be advising the person. I should teach the person how to take decision, so that tomorrow I may not be around and when there is a situation you must have that objectivity to look at the situation and take a decision appropriately. Therefore, advice makes a person dependent, teaching makes a person independent. That is what the Chinese proverb says: They say when you give a poor man a fish; you are solving that day's problem but when you teach a poor man how to fish, then you are solving his problem for good. Thus when I give him a fish today, tomorrow also, he will come for another. Day after for another. Once you teach him how to fish, then the problem is permanently solved. Similarly, here also, अर्जुन asks for the teaching. Now कृष्ण is at last happy. He was itching for that only. He was looking for an opportunity to guide अर्जुन and now that is possible.

Verse No .08

न हि प्रपश्यामि ममापनुद्याद् यच्छोकमुच्छोषणमिन्द्रियाणाम् ।

अवाप्य भूमावसपन्नमृद्धं राज्यं सुराणामपि चाधिपत्यम् ॥ २-८॥

न हि प्रपश्यामि मम अपनुद्यात् यत् शोकम् उच्छोषणम् इन्द्रियाणाम् ।

अवाप्य भूमौ असपन्नम् ऋद्धम् राज्यम् सुराणाम् अपि च आधिपत्यम् ॥ २-८॥

हि भूमौ असपन्नम् ऋद्धम् राज्यम् अवाप्य , सुराणाम् च अपि आधिपत्यम्, यत् मम इन्द्रियाणाम् उच्छोषणम् शोकम् अपनुद्यात् न प्रपश्यामि ।

And here अर्जुन confesses that his grief is so deep and intense that all the local solutions will not really work. We might have so many temporary worldly solutions but they cannot uproot the problem of innermost grief and therefore अर्जुन says here यत् शोकम् इन्द्रियाणाम् उच्छोषणम्, my grief is so intense that it weakens, it dries up all my organs. सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि मुखम् च परिशुष्यति etc. He said and not only it is weakening my ज्ञानेन्द्रियs and कर्मेन्द्रियs, still it is worse it is weakening my thinking faculty. And can I forget this sorrow like poor children when they cry so much; can I do something and escape from the sorrow. अर्जुन says: this is a deep one that there is no escapism possible for this. Therefore he says, मम न अपनुद्यात् and this grief is not going to go away. I do not see any method, other than your teaching. I do not see any method of removing this sorrow and even if I am going to escape, it is again going to bounce back and अवाप्य भूमौ

असपत्नम् ऋद्धम्; I may choose to fight this war and I may win this war; I may kill all these people and I may become the emperor and I may get this kingdom, what type of kingdom; असपत्नम् ऋद्धम् राज्यम्. I may get a राज्यम् which is unrivalled and also ऋद्धम्, prosperous. Here अर्जुन is indicating money cannot remove the problem of sorrow. As somebody said, money can buy bed, but not sleep. Money can buy food, but not hunger. Money can buy house, but not home. Money can buy people but not friends. So similarly, अर्जुन here shows that grief cannot be solved by getting anyone of these things. Not only the prosperity of this world cannot solve the problem, सुराणाम् आधिपत्यम् अपि, even if I am going to become इन्द्र, the ruler of the gods, I do not think even that will solve the problem. So that means the problem of संसारः cannot be solved by worldly accomplishments. So this is the essence of this श्लोक; the problem of संसारः cannot be solved by worldly accomplishments. And this is what is indicated based on the Upanishadic मन्त्रः

परीक्ष्य लोकान् कर्मवितान् ब्रह्मणो निर्वेदमायान्नास्त्यकृतः कृतेन ।

तद्विज्ञानार्थम् स गुरुमेवाभिगच्छेत् समित्पाणिः श्रोत्रियम् ब्रह्मनिष्ठम् ॥ मुण्डक उपनिषत् १-२-१२ ॥

So every human being should discover this fact that the human problem cannot be solved by worldly accomplishments, material accomplishments; therefore he has to go to the spiritual goal of life. And going to spiritual goal is going to a गुरु. And this a person will discover after lot of experience. Some people discover at the 20th age; some people discover it at the 30th year; some people 40th, 50th, some people discover at the 90th year and some people do not discover it even in the death bed. But in Hinduism no problem, because better luck, next birth. But one day, every one will have to come around to this. So therefore हे कृष्ण! you have to help me. And with these words, अर्जुन surrenders and then what happens: No speech from अर्जुन also; no speech from कृष्ण also. कृष्ण must be preparing or planning: How should I start? And अर्जुन has become what is called 'mum'; therefore, सञ्जय comes:

Verse No .09

सञ्जय उवाच ।

एवमुक्त्वा हृषीकेशं गुडाकेशः परन्तपः ।

न योत्स्य इति गोविन्दमुक्त्वा तूष्णीं बभूव ह ॥ २-९॥

एवम् उक्त्वा हृषीकेशम् गुडाकेशः परन्तपः ।

न योत्स्ये इति गोविन्दम् उक्त्वा तूष्णीम् बभूव ह ॥ २-९॥

परन्तपः गुडाकेशः हृषीकेशम् एवम् उक्त्वा 'न योत्स्ये' इति गोविन्दम् उक्त्वा तूष्णीम् बभूव ह ।

परन्तपः गुडाकेशः एवम् उक्त्वा. So in this manner; in so many distinct words, अर्जुन surrendered to कृष्ण and said I am your disciple. Connecting the channel of communication. Communication channel is connected for the गीताशास्त्र to transpire. गीता teaching to transpire. Therefore, परन्तपः. परन्तपः means अर्जुन, who is the destroyer of all his enemies. Great warrior. And गुडाकेशः. सञ्जय is indirectly telling that अर्जुन is a qualified person. गुडाक means sleep and sleep represents the तमोगुण. And गुडाकेशः means the one who is the master of तमोगुण, that means one who is सत्त्वगुण प्रधान. सत्त्वगुण प्रधान means साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्न. In fact, this is not for Vedantic learning, we require this for any learning, because the human intellect generally goes to two extremes, like pendulum. One extreme is it is highly राजसिक and therefore it is a restless intellect wandering all over. Therefore, such a person will be sitting with a book in hand, or he might be sitting in front of a गुरु who talks, but for him to keep the mind open to these words for one hour is a very big task. It is like mind is like monkey. It is a like a monkey, highly restless mind. This is one extreme. Therefore no learning takes place. There is another type of mind which goes to the other extreme. It never travels outward; it is never restless or active; but it is the other extreme; what is that? It is तामसिक mind, it dozes off. So these are the two extremes that we face. Either the mind is asleep or it is highly extrovert. And sleep or dull mind is called तामसः and highly extrovert is called राजसः and सात्त्विक mind is a non-extrovert, wakeful mind. That wakeful, non-extrovert, receptive and registering mind is called सात्त्विक mind and सञ्जय says अर्जुन has got that mind, that qualification. गुडाकेशः and he uttered these words to him हृषीकेशम्. हृषीकेश means Lord कृष्ण, who is the Lord of all the organs, sense organs, the Lord of all the mind. That means the one who knows the mental condition of अर्जुन. Therefore he knows how to tackle. And having said these words; 'न योत्स्ये' इति गोविन्दम् उक्तवान्. There afterwards he said I am not going to fight this war. Because I am not very sure whether fighting is right or wrong. At the same time, I am not going to run away from this battle also because I am also not sure whether running away is right or wrong. Therefore I am not going to do either of them and I want to wait and hear from you and there afterwards decide properly. And कृष्ण is going to teach 18 or 17 chapters and कृष्ण will ask at the end of 18th chapter,

कच्चित् अज्ञान-सम्मोहः प्रनष्टः ते धनञ्जय ॥ १८-७२॥

At the end of the 18th chapter, he asks अर्जुन did you listen. Is your confusion gone? I do not want to make a decision for you. You must be able to decide. Because I want to make you independent. Fortunately, अर्जुन says

नष्टः मोहः स्मृतिः लब्धा त्वत् प्रसादात् मया अच्युत ॥ १८-७३॥

हे कृष्ण! all my confusions are gone. I know what to do. Now अर्जुन says I do not know what to decide, neither am I going to fight nor am I going to run away. 'न योत्स्ये' इति गोविन्दम् उक्त्वा. So गोविन्द is another name of Lord कृष्ण; it is a significant word, several meanings are given for this word. One meaning is the one who is the protector of the world. गाम् विन्दति . One who protects the world is called गोविन्दः. Another meaning is the धर्मशास्त्र meaning; because

परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् ।

धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय सम्भवामि युगे युगे ॥ ४-८॥

He takes अवतार and protects the धार्मिक people and destroys the अधार्मिक people and thus protects the world. This is the धर्मशास्त्र meaning. There is a second philosophical meaning. In this गो means the Upanishadic scriptures and विन्दः means the one who can be grasped through the उपनिषत्s alone. So the Lord's whose true nature can never be known through any method. गोपिः वेदशब्द प्रमाणेन एव विन्द्यते, is alone known is called गोविन्दः. And such a Lord he surrenders to and उक्त्वा तूष्णीम् बभूव ह. He became silent. And सञ्जय says: ह. ह means looking back at the turn of events. Just a few minutes back only all the noises were raised from the conchs, drums, etc. And now it has all become quiet from battleground to philosophy class. What a change. To indicate this change सञ्जय uses the word ह, Wonderful indeed. Then what happened?

Verse No .10

तमुवाच हृषीकेशः प्रहसन्निव भारत ।

सेनयोरुभयोर्मध्ये विषीदन्तमिदं वचः ॥ २-१०॥

तम् उवाच हृषीकेशः प्रहसन् इव भारत ।

सेनयोः उभयोः मध्ये विषीदन्तम् इदम् वचः ॥ २-१०॥

हे भारत! उभयोः सेनयोः मध्ये विषीदन्तम् (अर्जुनं) तम् हृषीकेशः प्रहसन् इव इदम् वचः उवाच ।

सञ्जय continues, हे भारत! भारत is धृतराष्ट्र, भरत वंशोद्भव, हृषीकेशः तम् उवाच. Lord कृष्ण accepted the offer and then Lord कृष्ण taught अर्जुन. And what did he teach. इदम् वचः. इदम् वचः means इदम् गीताशास्त्रम्. Here वचः represents the entire गीताशास्त्रम् which begins from the 10th verse, i.e., The next verse २-११ and गीताशास्त्रम् continues up to 18th chapter 66th verse. 18th chapter has got totally 78 verses; of this with the 66th verse, the गीता teaching is over. And there afterwards, it is concluding verses only. Therefore, actual teaching is from 2.11 to 18.66 and this गीताशास्त्रम् is here referred to by the word इदम् वचः. गीताशास्त्रम् Lord कृष्ण taught to अर्जुन. And where did he teach सेनयोः उभयोः मध्ये, between the two armies. So do not ask me how can he teach 18 chapters in between the two armies. What were the दुर्योधन people doing? So therefore do not ask those historical questions and since we are also not interested in those details, we do not know also. Whether actually it happened or the teaching may be brief, but व्यासाचार्य might have presented, in a magnified expanded version. So we do not know the details and we are not interested in those details whether it is व्यासाचार्य's figment of imagination also, we do not care, we only want to know this much, अर्जुन discovered the problem, surrendered to कृष्ण. We should also discover the problem and surrender to a गुरु. We will find a solution. Once you have understood that, throw away the story part. Like the sugarcane. Bite the sugarcane, take the juice and spit out the remnant. Similarly, bite the entire 1st chapter, take the juice; what is the juice, discover the problem, discover the helplessness, surrender, learn and be free. Once you have got the juice, do not ask the question, whether महाभारत war took place in 3,103 BC or it is 5,000. And all these details, you do not bother, therefore, सेनयोः उभयोः मध्ये उवाच. More details in the next class.

सञ्जय उवाच ।

एवमुक्त्वा हृषीकेशं गुडाकेशः परन्तपः ।

न योत्स्य इति गोविन्दमुक्त्वा तूष्णीं बभूव ह ॥ २-९॥

तमुवाच हृषीकेशः प्रहसन्निव भारत ।

सेनयोरुभयोर्मध्ये विषीदन्तमिदं वचः ॥ २-१०॥

अर्जुन expressed his helplessness with regard to the solution. So अर्जुन expressed his helplessness and surrendered to Lord कृष्ण requesting him to teach and Lord कृष्ण also accepts अर्जुन as his disciple and decides to teach the गीता-शास्त्रम् from the 11th verse onwards. Thus we get the गीता teaching beginning from the 2nd chapter 11th verse, which will go up to 18th chapter 66th verse, i.e., called गीताशास्त्रम्. Now hereafter कृष्ण is no more पार्थसारथि; he is no more a driver of अर्जुन, he has become अर्जुनस्य गुरुः, he has become गीताचार्य and through अर्जुन he has become even जगद्गुरु. कृष्णम् वन्दे जगद्गुरुम्. And therefore सञ्जय said सेनयोः उभयोः मध्ये विषीदन्तम् इदम् वचः; इदम् वचः means इदम् गीता-शास्त्रम्. Now we will enter into the actual teaching.

Verse No .11

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

अशोच्यानन्वशोचस्त्वं प्रज्ञावादांश्च भाषसे ।

गतासूनगतासूंश्च नानुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः ॥ २-११॥

अशोच्यान् अन्वशोचः त्वम् प्रज्ञा-वादाः च भाषसे ।

गतासून् अगतासून् च न अनुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः ॥ २-११॥

त्वम् अशोच्यान् अन्वशोचः । प्रज्ञा-वादान् च भाषसे । पण्डिताः गतासून् अगतासून् च न अनुशोचन्ति ।

This is an important verse, because in this verse कृष्ण condenses the entire गीताशास्त्रम्. So what is भगवद्गीता, if somebody asks, we can say this verse contains the essence of the गीता and what is the essence, if you put in English, the essence is: Ignorance is the cause of all human problems. And by ignorance we mean Self-ignorance. So Self-ignorance is the cause of all human problems and therefore Self-knowledge is the only solution for all human problems. This is गीता सारः. If you put in संस्कृत, आत्म अज्ञानम् संसार कारणम् आत्मज्ञानम् मोक्षः कारणम् ।

आत्म अज्ञानम् is the cause of संसारः, आत्मज्ञानम् is the cause of मोक्षः. मोक्षः means freedom from संसारः. And this key statement alone, just like the keynote address, this key statement alone कृष्ण is going to elaborate in the entire गीताशास्त्रम्. That is why at the end of every chapter, we get इति श्रीमत् भगवत् गीतासु उपनिषत्सु ब्रह्मविद्यायाम् ब्रह्मविद्या means Self-knowledge, i.e., the central theme of the entire गीताशास्त्रम्. No doubt so many other topics are discussed in the गीता like कर्मयोगः, उपासना, जप, पूजा, ध्यानम्; so many other topics are discussed but they are all to support the central theme; i.e., आत्मविद्या. And how does कृष्ण conveys this idea? He presents it beautifully, look at the 2nd line, the last portion. पण्डिताः न अनुशोचन्ति. Very beautiful statement. पण्डिताः न अनुशोचन्ति. This statement means that vice people do not grieve in life. पण्डितः – a wise person. Wise with regard to what? Not with regard to any other thing, wise with regard to Oneself (पण्डा आत्मविषया बुद्धिः येषाम् ते हि पण्डिताः); therefore wise people means people of Self-knowledge. आत्मज्ञानि is पण्डितः. And these wise people न अनुशोचन्ति, do not grieve at all. So that means what? We can easily derive the corollary, if wise people do not grieve, अर्जुन is profusely grieving; therefore अर्जुन is ... fill up the blanks. अर्जुन is otherwise. अर्जुन is ignorant. Therefore, indirectly, without directly hitting अर्जुन on the face, कृष्ण is conveying through implication, i.e., अर्जुन, you are ignorant. You are मूढः. And through अर्जुन, कृष्ण is telling the entire humanity, if only they have some open mind, are you grieving? Yes. Then you are dash dash. It is an universal question and universal answer. If anybody complains, I am sorrowful; I am depressed; I am upset, I do not have 'शान्ति' if anybody tells, the problem is Self-ignorance and if ignorance is the cause of sorrow, what is the remedy? What anti-biotics we should take for ignorance bacteria? Thank God ignorance is only a bacteria and not a virus. For a virus, there is no remedy. That is why, if it is a viral fever, you know what is the remedy, if you take medicine, it will go in one week; if you do not take medicines, it will go in seven days. That means, it makes no difference. Cold is caused by virus. Cold virus itself is 240 types it seems. Since it is caused by virus there is no cure. We are advanced so much medically, we do not have a remedy for cold. For virus, there is no remedy. If it is bacteria, antibiotics will work. And अज्ञानम्, Thank God, comes under bacteria variety. Just comparing, therefore there is a medicine. What is the medicine for ignorance? There is only one medicine and that is ज्ञानम्. If there is darkness in the room, what is the medicine, what is the remedy for that? How many remedies are there? There is only one remedy; we have to bring in light in the room. And similarly, ज्ञानात् एव कैवल्यम्. Can कर्म, action give मोक्षः? If you ask, we ask a counter-question, can action remove ignorance? We know that no action can remove any type of ignorance; whether it is physics, chemistry, English. If action can remove ignorance, we can abolish all schools and colleges. And what should you do, give lot of work to children, one day work, chemistry ignorance gone; next day work, botany ignorance gone. Will it happen? No. Therefore, कर्म cannot remove ignorance, meditation cannot remove ignorance, जप cannot remove ignorance. Therefore, the only remedy is ज्ञानम्. And therefore, कृष्ण emphasizes that in the first श्लोक itself, पण्डिताः न अनुशोचन्ति. Therefore, अर्जुन you also become a wise person. And the wise people do not grieve with regard to whom? कृष्ण says: गतासून् अगतासून् च. They do not grieve for the living ones; they do not grieve for the dead ones. These are the only two possibilities. They do not grieve for the living ones. Either we worry about the living or we worry about the dead; all our worries are with regard to these two alone. Not only people, but with regards to things also. So there was a person it seems, he was traveling in the train with his wife. OK, the story can be said the other way round also. They did not have water. Therefore, the wife was telling I am thirsty, I am thirsty, etc. Then he said that you wait, let some station come, I will get some water. Until then be patient. He also was nagged and he was worried. And at last a station came and he got water and gave. And thought that the problem is solved. Then, the train started and then she started again nagging. So what was the nagging? I was thirsty I was thirsty. What do you do? Therefore, either we worry about that which is gone or we worry about that which is not yet gone. If these two things are taken care of, there is nothing else to worry. And therefore, कृष्ण enumerates these two गतासून्, that which is gone, that is past and अगतासून् means that which is not gone; which means that which is present or future. Either with regard to the past or with regard to the present or future, न अनुशोचन्ति. The wise do not grieve. And now what about you, अर्जुन? You belong to which category? अशोच्यान् अन्वशोचः. You grieved for those people who do not deserve any grief. अशोच्य means those who do not deserve grief or sympathy. That is दुर्योधन people, do not deserve any sympathy, because they are all अधार्मिक people and at the same time, प्रज्ञा-वादाः च भाषसे, you are speaking the words of the wise people; you are pretending to be wise. You are presenting yourself as a wise person, by talking about कुलक्षय, कुलधर्म, वर्णसङ्करः and all those problems you are talking about. So therefore, you are contradicting yourselves. गतासून्गतासून् नानुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः । Therefore what you require is आत्मज्ञानम्. Continuing;

न त्वेवाहं जातु नासं न त्वं नेमे जनाधिपाः ।

न चैव न भविष्यामः सर्वे वयमतः परम् ॥ २-१२॥

न तु एव अहम् जातु न आसम् न त्वम् न इमे जनाधिपाः ।

न च एव न भविष्यामः सर्वे वयम् अतः परम् ॥ २-१२॥

अहम् जातु न आसम् (इति) न तु एव, त्वम् (जातु न आसीः इति)न, इमे जनाधिपाः (जातु न आसन् इति) न, । अतः परम् च वयम् सर्वे न भविष्यामः (इति) न एव ।

So in the previous श्लोक, कृष्ण has condensed the गीता-शास्त्रम्. Now here afterwards, he is going to elaborate. Now what is कृष्ण's ultimate aim? That he should persuade अर्जुन to fight this महाभारत war. Because that is his immediate problem. Even though he has to solve his life's problem of संसारः; there is an immediate problem also whether to fight this battle or not. That is why, दयानन्द स्वामिजि uses two words, topical or incidental problem and another is fundamental problem. अर्जुन is facing an incidental problem. What is that? Whether to fight or not? It is incidental problem because this problem is not there at all the time. Previously he has fought many battles, he never had this conflict. And not only that, this problem is not universal also; we do not have the problem of fighting a battle. We do not belong to any army or anything; though in the family we fight; that is a different thing. But there is no क्षत्रिय problem. That is incidental and there is another problem. This incidental problem triggered a deeper problem and what is that deeper problem. That of attachment and sorrow. And this attachment and sorrow; they are not incidental but they are eternal problems; not only they are eternal, they are universal problem also. So one is incidental and another is fundamental. कृष्ण has to solve both the problems of अर्जुन and to solve this problem, कृष्ण is taking three lines of discussion; a three-pronged attack to make अर्जुन fight this war.

- i) One is from philosophical angle. He is trying to solve this problem.
- ii) And the second is from ethical angle, अर्जुन! You have to fight.
- iii) And the third is from worldly angle also you have to fight.

Thus, a three-tire argument: philosophical approach, ethical approach and simple worldly or materialist approach. And कृष्ण wants to say whatever be the angle from which you see, you have to fight this war. Of these three, which one is the main argument in the गीता? The philosophical approach is the primary approach in the गीता. Then the ethical approach is also given importance and the worldly approach is given least importance. Why should कृष्ण give importance to philosophical approach, because अर्जुन already knows धर्मशास्त्र. अर्जुन's problem was not ignorance of ethics; he is the brother of साक्षात् धर्मपुत्र; he is a learned person; he knows what is धर्म and What is अधर्म, he has studied धर्मशास्त्रम्; he has moved with Lord कृष्ण; therefore अर्जुन's primary problem is not ignorance of ethics; but his problem was Self-ignorance. And therefore कृष्ण's approach is philosophical. And therefore from verse no.12 up to 25, we get the philosophical approach, wherein कृष्ण talks about the true nature of अर्जुन; the true nature of भीष्म, the true nature of द्रोण, the true nature of कृष्ण, i.e., आत्मविद्या. आत्मतत्त्वम् is talked about, from verse no.12 to 25. And there afterwards कृष्ण will come down and will say स्वधर्ममपि चावेक्ष्य न विकम्पितुमर्हसि; you need not go to philosophy at all; just analyze it from the standpoint of ethics; then also you have to kill these people. It is not अहिम्सा; ethical हिम्सा is as good as अहिम्सा, it is like giving capital punishment for a criminal. And if you are not able to appreciate ethics, then he comes down, at least for maintaining your name and fame, you have to fight. Because you have to maintain your reputation. For that you have to fight. This is the three angles.

Now we come to the philosophical angle; once we come to the आत्मा angle, we should remember all about आत्मा, which we discussed in तत्त्वबोध. So I am going to just summarize the discussion so that these verses will become clear. In तत्त्वबोध, we asked the question आत्मा कः? And the teacher said आत्मा कः?

स्थूल-सूक्ष्म-कारण- शरीराद् व्यतिरिक्तः पञ्चकोशातीतः सन् अवस्थान्त्यसाक्षी सच्चिदानन्दस्वरूपः सन् यः तिष्ठति सः आत्मा ।

a) So we started saying that every individual is a conscious entity. Every living being is a conscious entity, which means there is consciousness in his body-mind-complex. Which consciousness we do not find outside the body, like what? The table is inert, the mike is inert, the wall is inert, the fan is inert; but the individual is a conscious entity, which means, there is consciousness in the body, there is sentiency in the body. Now we asked the question: What is this consciousness which makes the living being sentient alive, different from a table? Then we said consciousness is a separate entity, a formless separate entity comparable to the light principle. It is not light, but it is comparable to the light principle. Then we said this consciousness is not a part of the body, it is not a property of the body; it is not even a product of the body. Consciousness is not a part, not a property, not a product; but it is a separate entity which pervades and enlivens the body. Exactly like what? We took the example of light; light is not part of the body, light is not a property of the body; light is not even a product of the body. On the other hand, light pervades my body and makes this body visible. When you are seeing the hand, you are seeing the two things, one is the hand, another thing is the light. It is intimately on the hand, but it is not a property, a part or a product. This is the first lesson we learnt.

b) Then we said that this separate entity called consciousness is not bound by the limitations of the body; just as the light is not bound by the limitations of the hand; means what: the hand has got spatial limitation, but the light pervading the hand is beyond the hand also. Hand has got boundaries but the light does not; the consciousness survives. What is the second lesson: Consciousness is not bound by spatial and time-wise limitations of the body. This is the second lesson.

c) What is the third lesson we learnt in तत्त्वबोध? When the hand is removed from here, even though the light continues there, you are not able to see the light, because there is no reflecting medium. Light continues there, but when the hand is removed, it is not visible. So when there is hand, what light is there? Visible light. When there is no hand, what is there? No light, we should not say, no visible light; but there is light in invisible form. Similarly, as long as the body is there, the consciousness is there in manifest form, manifested as sentiency, life, etc. When the body is removed, consciousness is but not in a detectable form; traceable form it is not. So in संस्कृत, we use the word, व्यक्त चैतन्यम् when the body is; अव्यक्त चैतन्यम् when the body is gone. Therefore, consciousness is always there either in व्यक्त form or in अव्यक्त form. And this consciousness is called आत्मा. And the body is called अनात्मा. So therefore, consciousness is separate from body; consciousness is not bound by the limitations of the body; minus the body, consciousness is in invisible form. And that consciousness is called आत्मा, the body is called अनात्मा. When I say body, you include the mind also, the body-mind-complex is अनात्मा. From this we come to know that every individual is a mixture of आत्मा and अनात्मा. Just as whenever I see anyone of you, I am seeing two things. What are the two things? I see you, I also am experiencing which we generally take for granted, the light, which is pervading on you. So when I reading the book, if it were midnight, I would not be able to read. Now I am able to read because here are two things, one is the book and the another is the light pervading. But generally, we take the light lightly. But remember, do not take the light lightly because without light, you will not be able to see anything. Therefore, all of us are what? आत्मा plus अनात्मा.

d) Now, the next lesson we learnt from तत्त्वबोध is that the spiritual साधन consists of shifting our identification from the perishable अनात्मा to the imperishable आत्मा. The whole aim of spiritual साधन is shifting my identification from perishable अनात्मा to the imperishable आत्मा. So when I say I am the body, what is the consequence? I will have to accept that I am mortal. To say I am the body, I should be ready to accept mortality. But how many people are ready to accept mortality. But many people will say, स्वामिजि I do not mind mortality, I should die suddenly, but this lingering death, going to the hospital with tubes in all holes, etc. Remember, as long as you claim I am the body, I should be able to accept old age and mortality. If I do not want those two, there is only way, I have to shift my identity from अनात्मा to आत्मा. And if I shift my identity to आत्मा, what will be my attitude. I do not hate the body, not that one should hate the body, one can love the body, as an instrument for transaction, instead of loving the body as myself. I can continue to love the body as an instrument and as long as this instrument is available, I transact; even when the instrument is gone, there is no question of I going away. Therefore the greatest advantage is shift from mortality to immortality; असतो मा सद्गमय; तमसो मा ज्योतिर्गमय, तमस् means ignorance. ज्योति means knowledge. तमसो मा ज्योतिर्गमय means Oh Lord! Lead me from ignorance to knowledge. And by that what happens to me मृत्योर्मा अमृतङ्गमय. From mortality to immortality. In fact, we are not going from mortality to immortality. Mortality to immortality means, from identification with mortal body to identification with immortal 'I.' Because mortal body is not going to become immortal. Therefore, that shift cannot take place. Mortal body cannot become immortal. Can the Self, आत्मा become immortal? Can आत्मा become immortal? आत्मा need not become immortal, because it is already immortal. Therefore what are you immortalizing? अनात्मा cannot be immortalized. आत्मा need not be immortalized. Then what are we doing. Only shifting our identification from the mortal body to immortal self. This is all the spiritual साधन. And for this shift to take place, the scriptures are giving some methods of thinking and if we channelize our thinking along that method, it will be easier for us to claim 'I am the आत्मा ' and one of the most powerful method of thinking is called दृक्-दृश्य विवेक thinking. And what is that thinking? Whatever I am experiencing, I am not. Whatever I am experiencing, I am not. Why? Because whatever I am experiencing is an object of experience and I am the subject of experience. So whatever the eyes see is not the eyes themselves. The eyes see everything in the creation; but the eyes do not see what? The eyes do not see themselves. From that it is very clear, the eyes are ever the Seer; never the seen. Therefore, the subject is always different from the object. If you use this method, the world is an object of experience, arriving and departing. Therefore, I am not the world. What about the body? The body is only something I experience only in the waking state. It is not available in the dream for me; it is not available in sleep also. During waking state I use this body. During sleep state, I do not use this body. It is like undressing, removing the shirt and put. Similarly, we are taking the body as it were and hanging. Hanging, do not mistake there! That is why you are not aware of the physical body; no physical universe; waking up, you use this body. What about the mind. The mind also I experience during waking, during dream; once I go to sleep; the mind also I do not use. That is why there is no worry, no रागः, no द्वेषः, no कामः, no क्रोधः. In fact, everybody is a liberated person in sleep. Only problem is he gets up. So therefore, mind and its properties come and go; body and its properties come and go; the world and its properties come and go; I experience all of them and therefore I am none of them. Then who am I? The experiencer-conscious principle. It is this आत्मा कृष्ण is talking about. And in these verses, कृष्ण reveals some of the important features of this आत्मा.

1) The first one he reveals is that I am ever The Subject, never an object of experience. In संस्कृत, अप्रमेयः. अप्रमेयः means ever The-Experiencer-Subject, never The-Experienced-Object. Like the camera.

Camera will take the picture of everything but it will never be there in the picture. But even though it is not in the picture, do you require a proof for the existence of the camera. Do you require a proof for the existence of the camera? You do not require. Why because without camera, the picture will not be there. Similarly, I am seeing all these pictures, but one is missing in the picture. Who is that? I am the one. I am never in the picture and but I am ever existent; I am never in the picture, but I am ever existent and therefore I get the name अप्रमेय.

2) The second feature that कृष्ण talks about is नित्यः. आत्मा is eternal. Sometimes in व्यक्त रूपम्; sometimes in अव्यक्त रूपम्. Remember the light, when the hand is - visible form, when the hand is removed - invisible form. So the second is नित्यः.

3) The third feature he reveals is निर्विकारः; it is changeless. So even the hand is changing or moving; what happens to the light; light does not move, only the hand is moving. Now the light is manifest there; now the light is manifest here; but the manifestation comes here and there; but light as it is is all-pervading. When I see light, do not imagine the source of light – the bulb. I am talking about the प्रकाशः, not the दीपः. I am talking about the light that is pervading. So the third one is निर्विकारः; changeless.

4) The fourth feature that कृष्ण talks about is सर्वगतः. सर्वगतः means all-pervading. All-pervading means that which does not have boundaries; spatial boundary, again remember the example of light; there is boundaries for the hand, the light goes beyond the boundaries. Therefore, सर्वगतः, सर्वव्यापि, etc.

5) Then the next two features to be taken together and which is one of the most important features which कृष्ण repeatedly emphasizes is आत्मा is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. It does not do any action; therefore it does not reap any result. It is exactly like this hand may do some action. It may touch a dirty thing, a dirty object and because of the touching action, the hand may become dirty; therefore touching makes the hand कर्ता, when it becomes dirty, it is भोक्ता, even the hand is कर्ता and भोक्ता, the light pervading the hand does not, is not a कर्ता and the light does not become dirty also. If the hand touches a blade, it is कर्ता and for touching that, what is the फलम्, the fingers are cut it is भोक्ता hand is कर्ता, hand is भोक्ता, but the light is neither कर्ता nor is it divided into two, it is अकर्ता & अभोक्ता. Thus अप्रमेय, नित्यः, निर्विकारः, सर्वगतः, अकर्ता, अभोक्ता. In English, it is ever The-Experiencer, never the-experienced. It is eternal, it is changeless, it is all-pervading, it is not a doer, it is not an enjoyer.

This is the essence of the आत्मविद्या presented between the 12th and 25th verse. In fact, गीता starts with the toughest topic. In fact, if anybody enters into the topic, they will say, I do not want गीता, etc. But afterwards, कृष्ण comes down to ethical thing and other thing, this topic of आत्मविद्या will be repeated again and again in the later chapters also. And through this argument, what कृष्ण conveys is: अर्जुन therefore you are not killing भीष्म, the आत्मा. Who is भीष्म? The आत्मा, who is द्रोण? The आत्मा. Therefore भीष्म is not killed, द्रोण is not killed and therefore, why do you worry about the death of भीष्म, the death of द्रोण etc. Because none of them is killed. And not only भीष्म and द्रोण are not killed, you are not a killer also, because अर्जुन, the आत्मा is अकर्ता, therefore, cannot kill anyone. What is the conclusion? अर्जुन, the आत्मा is not a killer, भीष्म, the आत्मा is not killed. Therefore, why are you crying? This is the argument - philosophical argument. And when we hear this argument, we will be disturbed. This seems to be very very convenient argument. Every criminal who kills people, he can go to the court and argue, what? I am not the killer, he is not killed; therefore why do you punish me? Therefore कृष्ण goes from philosophical angle to ethical angle, that अर्जुन not only from philosophical angle I am talking about, from ethical angle also you need not worry. Because, normally killing is हिंसा and पापम्, you should worry about hurting other people, but in this case, you are not hurting for hurting sake; your aim is धर्म संस्थापनम्. Exactly like a judge giving capital punishment. Should a judge worry about that? I have incurred a sin. In fact, for giving that punishment, judge is only appreciated. Therefore, from ethical angle also, you can go ahead and then from worldly angle also. This is the discussion. In the 12th verse, कृष्ण points out that आत्मा is नित्यः. Essence of the 12th verse is आत्मा is नित्यः means what: Eternal. And what is definition of eternal. कृष्ण says Eternal आत्मा was in the past, आत्मा is in the present and आत्मा will be in the future also. So त्रिकाले अपि तिष्ठति इति सत्. In तत्त्वबोध we saw त्रिकाले अपि in all the 3 periods of time, whatever that exists is आत्मा. This is the essence of this 12th verse. The exact meaning we will see in the next class.

न त्वेवाहं जातु नासं न त्वं नेमे जनाधिपाः ।

न चैव न भविष्यामः सर्वे वयमतः परम् ॥ २-१२॥

अर्जुन surrendered to Lord कृष्ण, with grief and delusion and also he has to resolve his conflict with regard to the महाभारत war; whether it is proper to fight or not; especially when killing of his own kith and kin, as well as his गुरुs is involved. And कृष्ण is going to approach from three different levels.

As I said in the last class, the first is the philosophical approach; which is the highest and subtlest approach and philosophical approach is discovering that अर्जुन is none other than the आत्म-स्वरूपम्. Similarly, भीष्म, द्रोण, etc., are also आत्मा only. The philosophical approach is सर्वम् आत्ममयम् जगत्. And कृष्ण will point out that the आत्मा which is चैतन्य स्वरूपम्, of the nature of consciousness is neither a कर्ता nor a भोक्ता and therefore there is no question of anybody killing or anybody being killed. It is just shifting the vision; when you look at the pot as a pot, you talk about the origin of the pot and the destruction of the pot. But once you shift the vision and learn to see it as nothing but clay, then from your vision, clay was there before; even in the middle with a particular shape clay alone is there and even when it is broken, nothing is lost, because clay continues to be there. Therefore from the standpoint of pot-vision, birth and death are there; from the standpoint of clay-vision, there is no birth or death. In the ocean example, from stand point of wave-vision, there is the birth of a wave and there is a death; but from the standpoint of water-vision, nothing is born and nothing is gone. This is philosophical approach. Training the mind to understand that there are no individuals except आत्मा. आत्मा alone is there, which is neither born nor gone. And since there is no birth or death, there is no question of somebody destroying and somebody getting destroyed. And therefore there is no question of पुण्यम् or any question of पापम् and therefore, अर्जुन you do your duty. This is the highest philosophical approach which requires a very very subtle refined, sharp intellect. And this is the discussion from verse no.12 to verse no.25.

And if a person is not able to rise to that level, because it is not that easy; then कृष्ण says do not bother about आत्मा now. Let us assume that we are all individuals. Let us look at from the ethical angle. From philosophical level, कृष्ण comes down to ethical angle, धार्मिक दृष्टि. First one is आध्यात्मिक दृष्टि. Second is धार्मिक दृष्टि. अर्जुन, you need not even belief in आत्मा, but let us see whether it is proper to fight this war and कृष्ण says it is proper because for the sake of धर्म, a क्षत्रिय must be ready to give up his life. And for the sake of धर्म, क्षत्रिय should take to war, if all other doors are closed. And therefore अर्जुन fight. So from philosophical angle, you can fight and you should, from ethical angle you can and you should and then कृष्ण comes down further.

अर्जुन, you may not believe in ethics itself. You may not believe in धर्म and अधर्म, you may not believe in पुण्यम् and पापम्; leave it aside. But as long as you are in society, aren't you conscious of your self-esteem; your social status and how the other people think of you? That we are more bothered about that only. Sometimes, we wear certain dress, which are very uncomfortable, because it is the fashion and other people are wearing it. So you are bothered about your name and fame, self-respect and social status. From that practical angle, we call it लौकिक दृष्टि; also you have to fight this war. Otherwise, you will get a very bad name. You will lose your honor.

So these are the three angles; first we are dealing with the philosophical angle, from 12 to 25. And as I said, in this context, कृष्ण is talking about the nature of आत्मा and how it is different from the physical body.

As I told you in the last class, कृष्ण defines आत्मा as चैतन्यम् or consciousness-principle which is different from the body and which pervades the body.

i) It is neither a product of the body, nor a part of the body, nor is it a property of the body. Consciousness is a separate entity like - remember the example of light, which is neither a product of the hand, a part of the hand or a property of the hand.

ii) Light is a distinct entity which pervades the hand and makes the hand bright and visible. Similarly, आत्मा is the consciousness-principle, which pervades the body and makes the body sentient and alive.

iii) Next कृष्ण points out that this consciousness is not bound by the limitations of the body. Just as the light is not limited by or bound by the limitations of the hand; hand has got height and width limitation, but the light pervades the hand as well as it pervades outside the hand.

iv) And not only it is free from spatial limitations; if you remove the hand, or destroy the hand, the light continues to survive here; relatively speaking. Here current can go. I am not talking about that. Relatively speaking, even when the hand is removed, the light continues. Therefore, आत्मा नित्यः. But only one thing, when the hand is removed the light will continue to be there but that light will not be visible to our eyes. For seeing the light, you require a reflecting, a manifesting medium. Light is here, light is here, in between also it is there; but in between light, you do not see. Then how will you see it? Suppose I keep an object; now you are seeing not only the object, but you are seeing what? The light which pervades the object and if I remove this clip, in between the light is; but in संस्कृत it is called अव्यक्तम्. Similarly, आत्मा is व्यक्तम् as life in the body, in a dead body or after the body is dead, आत्मा is not available as life principle it is अव्यक्तम्.

Thus, आत्मा is नित्यः, one important idea he gives.

Next important idea he gives is आत्मा is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता; it does not do any action. Again taking the example when the hand is moving, motion is possible for the hand, because it is a limited entity. Therefore it can move; whereas the light which is already pervading this hall cannot move, because motion is possible only for a limited entity. So air can move because it is limited; earth can move, because it is limited; but can you talk about the movement of space. Space does not move. Then what about space travel? Very careful. When you talk about space travel, remember it is not 'space' is traveling; space-travel does not mean 'space' is traveling; space travel means we are traveling in space. It is not travel 'of' space, but it is travel 'in' space. Space itself cannot travel; why, because it is already all-pervading. Therefore, any action requires motion. Any motion requires limitation. Any action requires motion and any motion requires limitation. Even thinking-action requires thought-motion. Suppose throughout the class, your mind remains motionless, then what will be the result? This is a blank cassette. Nothing has happened. If you have to get some benefit out of this class, you may not physically move, but your mind should have thought-motion. Therefore, what I want to say is: action requires motion. Motion requires the limitation. आत्मा being limitless, कृष्ण says आत्मा cannot do any action. Therefore, अकर्ता. And if आत्मा is अकर्ता, what is the next consequence? Whatever is अकर्ता is also अभोक्ता. अभोक्ता means what: free from the result of action. Because कर्ता alone will reap the कर्म-फलम्. Otherwise what will happen? Somebody else will do action and somebody else will get the benefit. You keep on eating and the neighbor will be getting the benefit. The eater alone will get the benefit of hunger निवृत्ति. So what is the universal truth? कर्ता एव भोक्ता भवति. कर्ता एव भोक्ता भवति is a very important law and that is why our scriptures say whatever we experience in our life, is our own कर्म-फलम्. Do not blame anyone. Only the other people can serve as a medium for experiencing our कर्म-फलम्. Just like the pipe is only a medium for water; what is the source of water? The tank; similarly, any struggle, any problem created by anyone in the world, do not take it as their problem, remember my कर्म-फलम् is coming through those people. Because of what law? कर्ता एव कर्म-फलम् अनुभवति. If आत्मा is अकर्ता, then आत्मा is अभोक्ता. This is the 2nd point. आत्मा नित्य. आत्मा is अकर्ता, अभोक्ता.

The third point कृष्ण emphasizes is आत्मा निर्विकारः. It is free from all modifications, changes. Again, remember the light example, whatever changes happens with the hand, light does not undergo change and when the hand becomes dirty; light does not become dirty; hand gets bloodied because of some wound, light does not become so. Therefore all the changes can belong to the reflecting medium but not to the light. Similarly, the body goes through modifications. How many modifications? We saw in तत्त्वबोध.

कृष्ण puts it in simpler form. Childhood State, Boyhood State, Youth and Old Age. The body goes through, but the आत्मा does not have all these. So this is called निर्विकारः.

And finally and most importantly, कृष्ण says: this आत्मा you can never see. You know why? It is never seen because it is the very Seer, I the Conscious-Principle. आत्मा is ever the Subject and therefore it is never the object. In संस्कृत, it is said अप्रमेयः. Like what: the eyes can see everything, except the eyes themselves. The Seer cannot be seen. The toucher cannot be touched. The phone can ring up all the numbers except your own number. If you have doubt, try now. You can dial however costly the telephone may be. It will not get one number. So the rule is what? The subject can never be the object; Seer can never be the seen, experiencer can never be the experienced. Therefore, I the

We are seeing the 12th verse in which कृष्ण says आत्मा is eternal. And this कृष्ण presents in a technical language. He could have simply said that आत्मा is eternal. But he is putting in a roundabout way. He is mischievous. Therefore He continues to be mischievous in गीता also. So he says: आत्मा is eternal means, आत्मा was in the past, आत्मा is in the present and आत्मा will be in the future also. त्रिकाले अपि तिष्ठति. आत्मा was in the past, is in the present and will be in the future. That also He does not directly say. Some more mischief He does. So He could have said आत्मा was in the past, is in the present, will be in the future; but He says, you cannot say आत्मा was absent. Can you guess? Instead of saying आत्मा was present, He used double negative, you cannot say आत्मा was absent in the past. Similarly, you cannot say आत्मा is absent in the present. And you cannot say आत्मा will be absent in the future. This is what He said here. अहम् न आसम्. I, the आत्मा was not there in the past इति न. I means आत्मा. I the आत्मा was not there in the past, इति न. You cannot say so. Two 'न's are there. न अहम्, न आसम्. Two 'न's are there. Two negatives. So how should you translate? I was not there in the past, it is not so. Means what: I was in the past. Similarly, न त्वम्; means you were not there in the past, also is not true. That means: you were there in the past. Similarly, न जनाधिपाः. These kings were not there in the past is also not true. That means that these kings were there in the past; in short, आत्मा existed in the past. Then what about future? He says, न च एव न भविष्यामः. We will not be there in the future इति न. again double negative. That also is not true. So how do you understand? We will not be there in the future is not true, means we will be in the future. कृष्ण does not talk about the present, because regarding the present we have no doubt. Are you here? I will consult my husband and tell, will you tell? You do not say that? So therefore our present existence is doubtless and therefore कृष्ण does not discuss that; only in the past and future we have a doubt and therefore कृष्ण says, in the past and future also, the आत्मा existed. Therefore what is the essence? आत्मा is eternal. But I could not talk with you before your birth, if somebody asks; I have already told that without the body, आत्मा is in अव्यक्तम् and therefore we will not be able to interact. The interaction ends not because of the death of the आत्मा, but because of the death of the medium of interaction. Therefore while talking on the phone, suddenly the conversation stops, you say the phone is dead, you do not say, I am dead. Similarly, when a person dies, what is the dead? Not the person. His telephone No. is gone. What is the telephone No? His body is the present phone no. You apply for a new number. You apply & apply & apply, but no reply. Similarly, new body can come immediately or later but the आत्मा continues. सर्वे वयम् अतः परम्. सर्वे वयम् all of us also; अतः परम् hereafter also we will continue. Continuing;

Verse No .13

देहिनोऽस्मिन्यथा देहे कौमारं यौवनं जरा ।

तथा देहान्तरप्राप्तिर्धीरस्तत्र न मुह्यति ॥ २-१३॥

देहिनः अस्मिन् यथा देहे कौमारम् यौवनम् जरा ।

तथा देहान्तर-प्राप्तिः धीरः तत्र न मुह्यति ॥ २-१३॥

देहिनः अस्मिन् देहे यथा कौमारम् यौवनम् जरा, तथा देहान्तर-प्राप्तिः । तत्र धीरः न मुह्यति ।

So then what is birth and death? If I am eternal, what is birth and death? Here कृष्ण says birth and death are nothing but changing the medium of interaction, viz., the physical body. And the physical body will have to be changed regularly, because it is subject to be worn out. So do not we change whatever we use? The curtains have become old, so therefore, we put a new curtain. The dress has become old therefore let us change. As the things get worn out, initially we will wash, thereafter wards, dry-cleaning, repainting, etc., all methods; we try and ultimately we change. Similarly, he says, we use this medium and after sometime we change. And how the body gets worn out? He explains. अस्मिन् देहे, in this body there are 4 states of experience. At physical level, what are they, कौमारम्, before that, बाल्यम् is understood, childhood state; कौमारम्, boyhood state or girlhood state; यौवनम्, youth and जरा, means old age. Now when these four changes take place, do I change? Do I change my name? My identity is not changed even when the body changes. So I use same 'I' when I was in बाल्य, I studied in that school and I studied the college and I am now a youth, now I am बाल्य and soon I will become वृद्धः. Even though the body changes, what is the constant factor? I, I, I continues. It is one single thread and according to biology, after every so many years, all our cells are completely replaced. Body is completely changed. We have got a fresh body as it were. Only thing is that cell by cell it is changing and you do not feel the change; but it is completely changed. But even though the body is completely changed, I identify you as the same person who was there before. Even the hair has turned grey or not there at all. Teeth are gone, almost every organ is replaced. Kidney is replaced, even though the physical body is changed, you are the same. कृष्णI says: This you extend a little bit more and what is that extension? Having changed sufficiently you replace the body by another one. Therefore he says तथा देहान्तर-प्राप्तिः. Like changing the old cloth, you have changed the useless body and you have replaced this with another body. So you should be only happy, because you have not lost anything. It is like demolishing the old building and building a new one. Flat systems are coming. All independent houses are pulled down and converted into flats. Even though they all change, this enclosed space, nobody demolishes. That space is eternal, the walls appear and disappear. Similarly, the consciousness is like space, is the चैतन्यम्, the body wall appears, the body wall is demolished. Therefore, कृष्ण says, तथा देहान्तर-प्राप्तिः similar is the acquisition of another body. धीरः तत्र न मुह्यति. धीरः means a discriminative person. And who is a discriminative person. The one who accepts the body as a temporary medium. And therefore he is objective. Such a person is called धीरः. धीरः is not courageous person, here धीरः means discriminative person. न मुह्यति he is not deluded and therefore अर्जुन in this war also भीष्म शरीरम् will go, but the भीष्म - the आत्मा will never go. Similarly, the द्रोण शरीरम्. Similarly, the कर्ण शरीरम्. So why are you grieving? Continuing;

आगमापायिनोऽनित्यास्तांस्मिन्निति क्षस्व भारत ॥ २-१४॥

मात्रा-स्पर्शाः तु कौन्तेय शीत-उष्ण-सुख-दुःख-दाः ।

आगम अपायिनः अनित्याः । भारत तान् स्मिन्निति क्षस्व ॥ २-१४॥

हे कौन्तेय! मात्रा-स्पर्शाः तु शीत-उष्ण-सुख-दुःख-दाः, आगम अपायिनः, अनित्याः । हे भारत! तान् स्मिन्निति क्षस्व ।

Here कृष्ण says that just as you understand and accept the nature of आत्मा, Similarly, you should understand and accept the nature of अनात्मा also. Because wisdom consists in accepting the nature of a thing. And why do you accept the nature of a thing. Because there is no choice; because the nature of a thing can never be changed. The nature of a thing can never be changed. As somebody said, he did not like onion. Therefore he was talking about the nature of onion and its specific smell. He says,

कर्पूरधूलि रचिताऽऽलवालः कस्तूरिकाकुङ्कुमलिसदेहः ।

सुवर्णकुम्भैः परिषित्यमानो निजम् गुणम् मुञ्चति किम् पलाण्डुः ॥

He wanted to change the smell of पलाण्डुः. पलाण्डुः means onion. What did he do? He made कर्पूरधूलि, camphor powder, he made a small bund surrounded by camphor and kept the onion in the middle and over that कस्तूरिका-कुङ्कुम-लित-देहः; कस्तूरी, you know the musk and saffron and all those things he just applied over; powerful वासना द्रव्यम्, you know; then सुवर्णकुम्भैः परिषिच्यमानो, he got scented water, perfumed water and washed the onion with that water. Like the रुद्राभिषेकम्, he poured. And after 3 hours, removed all those things, took it and put it in the noose, how does it smell, onion. Similarly, the nature of a thing cannot be changed. Why it is so, why do you say the nature of a thing cannot be changed? Very simple, what cannot be changed, is called the 'nature of a thing.' OK. Do not ask why the nature cannot be changed. What cannot be changed is called nature. And therefore, an intelligent person never struggles to change the nature which is a sheer waste of time. On the other hand, what does he do, instead of wasting the time, struggling to change the nature, he learns to change his attitude towards that. Because the nature of a thing cannot be changed, but our attitude towards that can be changed. And in what way we can change the attitude? To change the attitude is "acceptance." I accept the nature of the body. This is the उपासना. So I have to repeatedly tell that, only then, it become a new orientation. It should become natural to me. Because if you analyze most of our problems are: not accepting the nature of a thing. So when the summer comes, sun will be hot or cold? And you will see here afterwards people will be talking, summer has started summer has started, what do you get out of it, you feel more hot. So therefore, summer will be hot. And you will know as the class goes, you will know the effect of summer also and at that time, what do you do? Learn to appreciate the glory of the Sun. What a भगवान्'s सृष्टि! 9 crores miles away. भगवान् has created an energy source, entire humanity is not able to find out a source of energy. They are trying all kinds of fuel, which pollutes. They are not able to find a replacement. भगवान् has created a source of energy, year after year, 9 crores miles away, it lights up the whole earth. How much current charge it will be? So appreciate and when the sweat comes, learn to appreciate the body's thermostat, which is another wonderful phenomenon, because if that sweating is not there, it will be terrible. Therefore, sweating is a wonderful gift of Lord. The sun is another gift of Lord. Therefore, learn to change the attitude towards sweating; attitude towards the heat of the sun and similarly, later, attitude towards some of the behavior of the people around, you have to extend, first you take inert things, there afterwards the most difficult thing is what, the live beings around and among the live beings, the most difficult is the so-called human beings. Until I learn to accept, the problem will be there; therefore कृष्ण says, हे कौन्तेय! हे अर्जुन! know this fact and never show resistance. Resistance to facts is sorrow. Definition of sorrow is what. Resistance to facts. When the resistance increases, even in the electricity when the wire resistance increases, the heat will also increase. It gets heated up. Therefore he says, मात्रा-स्पर्शाः. मात्रा means the sense organs, (not tablets); मा, means to know, to experience is मा, प्रमाणम् has come from that, त्रा means instrument. So मात्रा means instrument of experience, मीयन्ते आभिः इति मात्राः. And what are the instruments of experience? The पञ्च ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि, the five sense organs, so they are there and outside स्पर्शाः; स्पर्श means sense objects, objects of contact; स्पृश्यन्ते इति स्पर्शाः. So whether you like it or not, there are sense organs, there are sense objects and they are going to interact. So even if with regard to eyes; you can close the eyes. But with regard to ears, you cannot plug. They are open. Therefore, you hear so many comments and similarly, you get smell, certain things you can close, many of the organs you cannot close and therefore sense organ and sense objects will interact. You cannot avoid interaction. Like some people want to meditate and go to the caves. There he can avoid the local road noise but there will be some insects will be there, some mosquitoes will be there ringing in the ears; what can you do? You cannot escape anywhere. So what is the best method? Learn to live with situations, rather than run away. When you run away from the situation, your resistance and strength will come down; whereas when you face the situation, your resistance capacity will increase. So that is why they give inoculation, cholera injection, typhoid injection. So when you are injected, your resistance will increase. Similarly, if you face the situation alone, we can strengthen our mind and therefore अर्जुन accept them. And what will they give? शीत-उष्ण-सुख-दुःख-दाः. They will give heat, or cold, pleasure or pain, etc. That is the opposite experiences, they are bound to give. So the whole life is a series of opposite experiences. If मानम् comes, अपमानम् will come. If संयोगः takes place, there will be वियोगः. If there is growth, there will be decay. If there is gain, there will be loss. Life is a series of that. This is the nature of अनात्मा. And आगम अपायिनः; आगमापायि means they are all subject to arrival and departure. They are subject to arrival and departure and therefore mentally be ready to welcome them, when they come;

When they come, be mentally prepared to welcome; when they go, be mentally prepared to send them off. So certain things we are ready to welcome, we don't want to give send-off, it should be always with me. Certain things we want to send-off permanently, they should never come, but they keep coming. Therefore, be ready for both. आगम अपायिनः अनित्याः; अनित्यः means that they are all impermanent. So in the previous श्लोक, he talked about नित्य आत्मा, here he is talking about अनित्यः अनात्मा. Accept both. तान् तितिक्षस्व भारत. May you develop endurance! May you develop inner strength, both physical and mental! May you increase your physical immunity and may you also increase your mental immunity. More than physical, mental immunity must be stronger. Continuing;

Verse No .15

यं हि न व्यथयन्त्येते पुरुषं पुरुषर्षभ ।

समदुःखसुखं धीरं सोऽमृतत्वाय कल्पते ॥ २-१७॥

यम् हि न व्यथयन्ति एते पुरुषम् पुरुष-ऋषभ ।

समदुःख-सुखम् धीरम् सः अमृतत्वाय कल्पते ॥ २-१७॥

हे पुरुष-ऋषभ! हि यम् समदुःख-सुखम् धीरम् पुरुषम् एते न व्यथयन्ति, सः अमृतत्वाय कल्पते ।

So कृष्ण says this faculty of endurance, of inner strength which is called तितिक्षा, is very important. It is called तितिक्षा – mental endurance. Not to react immediately, not to get irritated immediately, not to punish the other person immediately; because when the endurance is very less, we get irritated very quickly. And the irritation alone becomes anger, anger alone becomes हिम्सा. So ultimately, lack of endurance alone is the cause of all the later problems. So you can see at home sometimes. When somebody calls another person, the children, you come, they might be doing something and they might not come immediately and some people get irritated. Even that one minute, In fact, one of the problems that we face in 21st century is that our patience is fast eroding. That you can see in the traffic signal, when the red comes, this person, after all it is one minute or two minutes, he is not able to bear; the restlessness is shown all over and then after sometime he goes into the middle of the road. And once that green signal comes, you can find that all the people are honking. Because the first person has to start, it will take a half a second. Then cumulative effect there is the second person, it will be half a second plus little more. By the time it comes to me, the 4th line, it will take another 2 seconds extra, but I do not have the patience. So therefore, the lack of patience is the cause of irritation and irritation leads to anger, anger leads to हिम्सा, hurting our children, hurting other family members and therefore कृष्ण says तितिक्षा is an important virtue. And he says, without तितिक्षा, आत्मज्ञानम् will not come. In fact, even for आत्मज्ञानम् some patience is required. He wants ‘Is there any crash program स्वामिजि? Instead of coming class after class and then slowly you are taking, can you tell me, I will come to your house, doesn't matter, immediately you should open my head and put the आत्मज्ञानम् and immediately I should walk out. Even for आत्मज्ञानम्, there is no patience. कृष्ण says without patience, {That's why in the olden days, when the शिष्य goes to the गुरुकुल, he (गुरु) will tell that, spend some time tending the cows, cutting the firewood and there afterwards, if you deserve, I will give. If the student does not have any patience, I do not want, I will walk out, he will be the loser. Therefore any deep study requires certain mental makeup}. Therefore कृष्ण says सम-दुःख-सुखम्, one who is calm and tranquil, he alone is fit for this knowledge. ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

मात्रास्पर्शस्तु कौन्तेय शीतोष्णसुखदुःखदाः ।

आगमापायिनोऽनित्यास्तांस्तितिक्षस्व भारत ॥ २-१४॥

यं हि न व्यथयन्त्येते पुरुषं पुरुषर्षभ ।

समदुःखसुखं धीरं सोऽमृतत्वाय कल्पते ॥ २-१५॥

Lord कृष्ण wants to solve अर्जुन's problem of sorrow and confusion and also कृष्ण wants अर्जुन to fight this धर्म युद्धम्. And therefore He is arguing from various angles to make अर्जुन fight this war. And His discussion is at 3 levels; the first is the philosophical level, which we can call आत्म-अनात्मा विवेक and then कृष्ण comes down to ethical level of धर्म-अधर्म विवेक and finally कृष्ण comes to लौकिक level, worldly angle and कृष्ण points out that from any angle you see, you have to fight this war. Of these three levels, कृष्ण is now discussing the first and topmost i.e., from the 12th verse up to the 25th verse, the philosophical angle. Here कृष्ण is talking about the nature of आत्मा, which is the real nature of everyone. And कृष्ण's contention is: when you take the real nature, that आत्मा is अकर्ता. So therefore, it does not do any action. So therefore, अर्जुन, as आत्मा, you are not fighting this war, you are not killing any one at all. And similarly, भीष्म, द्रोण etc., are all आत्म-स्वरूपम् and they are not killed by you. Remember the example when you look at a wave in the ocean, from the standpoint of the wave, it has got birth as well as death but if you see the essential nature of the wave, i.e., water, from the standpoint of water, it is neither born nor it gets destroyed. If you look at the desk, as a desk, it has got a beginning and it has got an end. But once you learn to look at it as a wood, then even when the desk is cut into pieces, the wood continues to exist. Therefore, आत्मा दृष्ट्या, अर्जुनः अकर्ता and भीष्म अभोक्ता, there is no killer, there is no killed relationship. This is the philosophical angle and for this purpose, कृष्ण is talking about the nature of आत्मा. In the 12th verse, कृष्ण said आत्मा is eternal. Eternal means it was in the past, it is in the present and it will be in future also. Whereas when you look at अनात्मा level, the अनात्मा is subject to change, modification, etc. So we saw:

आगमापायिनोऽनित्यास्तांस्तितिक्षस्व भारत ॥

अनात्मा, i.e., the body-mind-complex is ephemeral. You cannot expect an immortal body. So once upon a time, they were talking about a medicine called कायकल्पम् and this is a very difficult process of making that medicine; 100 times you have to make the paste and again dissolve and you have again dry and again dry and again do and once that medicine is made, it is supposed to make the body immortal. Called कायकल्पम्. Making the body immortal. Now whether that medicine will work or not, how do you know? Very simple, the authors of those medicines; they are dead and gone. OK. We do not have to try. If that medicine is going to work, who will be the first person to make use of, the discoverer himself, he is already out. You can go on making the paste, there is no method of immortalizing the body. In America, I read some news that there are some people who still believe science may advance enough to make the body immortal. And therefore what they are doing is: after death, they do not want to dispose of the body. Suppose a new injection is discovered and you give that injection, body comes to life and lives eternally. Why should I lose that person? They are spending lakhs of lakhs of dollars to preserve that dead body so that one day the science will advance, you can put the injection and that person will come back and live eternally. कृष्ण says: do not waste your time; money, energy; this body has come out of पञ्चभूतs, it will have to go back and better it goes back, so that the next generation can comfortably live; otherwise imagine, we all continue and the new generations keeps on coming. And who is this person, 12th century person; so the back is round and round, but still that fellow survives, what will happen to us? And therefore अनात्मा is ephemeral, अनात्मा has to be ephemeral; do not try to change the fact. What should I do? Change your attitude. And what is the change in attitude? Accept that the अनात्मा has to go. This is not only with regard to the body, but with regard to everything in creation. An experience comes, it has to go. So therefore, आगम अपायिनः अनित्याः तान् तितिक्षस्व. तितिक्षस्व means forbearance, endurance, the mental strength to withstand the loss. And if the mental strength is not there, what should we pray to the Lord? I cannot ask the Lord to change the law for my convenience. If everyone asks the Lord to change the law, what will happen, God will get confused. Because, each one will ask, his own convenient law. Therefore, never pray to the Lord to change the law. Pray to the Lord for the inner strength, for तितिक्षा, for सहन-शक्ति, so that I can accept the arrivals, I can also accept departures. And that is called तितिक्षा. And कृष्ण says without तितिक्षा, Self-knowledge is not possible, मोक्षः is also not possible. Therefore, He said in the 15th verse,

अमृतत्वाय कल्पते ॥

That पुरुषः is धीरः, that human being is really an intelligent one, a discriminative one. धीरः in this context, is not courageous one but discriminative one and what is discrimination; as somebody made a beautiful prayer, 'Oh Lord, Give me the strength to change what can be changed; Oh Lord! Give me the strength to accept what cannot be changed and Oh Lord, Give me the wisdom to know the difference between what can be changed and what cannot be changed.' Otherwise what we will do? What can be changed; we will accept. There are many things for which remedies are available; so where remedies are available, do not blindly accept the situation, put forth your efforts and change. And what do people do? Where things cannot be changed, there they put forth effort. Where it can be changed, they blindly accept. And therefore, what is more important, the discrimination to know what can be changed and what cannot be changed. And what is the fact that cannot be changed. The changing-nature of the world cannot be changed. The changing-nature of the world cannot be changed. And therefore धीरः means a discriminative person who knows what to accept and what not to accept. And because of this acceptance, what is the benefit that he finds. एते न व्यथयन्ति. एते means मात्रा-स्पर्शाः, in short, the changing world does not disturb him. एते refers to मात्रा-स्पर्शाः, मात्रा-स्पर्शाः refers to this changing world of body, senses, mind, sense objects. They do not disturb him. न व्यथयन्ति. They do not disturb his mind, irritate his mind. Why they do not irritate? Because when a beautiful rose blooms, he appreciates the rose; it is not that he is blindly in the name of philosophy, he does turn away. He appreciates the beautiful rose, as even it blooms. And when the rose fades away, withers and falls off, he accepts that also without complaining rose is fading, rose is fading; rose has to fade. Similarly, any situation, arrival also he welcomes, departure also he does not resist, therefore सम-दुःख-सुखः towards favorable and unfavorable situations he is समः, equanimous. And therefore न व्यथयन्ति. And such a person enjoys a mind which is fit for Vedantic enquiry, philosophical enquiry. A disturbed mind cannot study वेदान्त. It will be worried about the happenings around. It will have so many complaints. A complaining mind, an irritating mind cannot probe into the truth of oneself. Therefore, कृष्ण says: सः, सः means such a tough mind which has got a shock absorber in itself. Like the road. When your vehicle is thrown up and down because of poor road, there are two options. One is you have to repair all the roads on which your vehicle travels. All potholes you have to close. Where? Whichever road you are traveling. This is one method. And there is another method. What is that? Make, fit a shock-absorber in your vehicle. Tell me, which is economical. If you are going to cover the pot holes, next day, again it comes. And is it practicable to smoothen all the roads? Similarly, can you change every person around you? Can you change the neighbor?

Can you change the auto-driver? Can you change the bus conductor? Can you change so many people? You cannot change their character; their behavior, but you can do one thing, put a shock absorber in your mind, so that, not that the car will not shake, but it is not that violent. Mind will react, but it is manageable reaction. We are not talking about total freedom from reaction. We say that manageable reaction. And what do you mean by manageable reaction? Where the intensity is lesser and anger is there. But it is not that of breaking things; shouting this and that. But the intensity is also less and duration also is less.

उत्तमे क्षणकोपस्स्यात् मध्यमे घटिकाद्वयम् । अधमे स्यादहोरात्रम् पापिष्टे मरणान्तकम् ॥

In the उत्तम पुरुष, evolved person, anger will come, but क्षणकोपः स्यात्, it will come in a moment and he will recover. मध्यमे घटिकाद्वयम् – in the mediocre person it will last for 1-1/2 hours (roughly). अधमे स्यात् अहोरात्रम् – in the lowest person it is there throughout the day; angry with children, the husband is shouted at or angry with the husband, the children get into trouble. You show the anger somewhere else, wherever it is possible. पापिष्टे मरणान्तकम् – in the lowest of the lowest, the anger continues. How long? Up to death. Therefore तितिक्षा does not mean total freedom from reaction, तितिक्षा means the capacity to manage one's own emotion and such a mind can quietly study वेदान्त. And therefore सः such a person, कल्पते, alone is qualified; for what? अमृतत्वाय; अमृतत्वम् means मोक्षः or Self-knowledge. He alone is fit for आत्मज्ञानम्. He alone is fit for मोक्षः. Continuing;

Verse No .16

नासतो विद्यते भावो नाभावो विद्यते सतः ।

उभयोरपि दृष्टोऽन्तस्त्वनयोस्तत्त्वदर्शिभिः ॥ २-१६॥

न असतः विद्यते भावः न अभावः विद्यते सतः ।

उभयोः अपि दृष्टः अन्तः तु अनयोः तत्त्व-दर्शिभिः ॥ २-१६॥

असतः भावः न विद्यते सतः अभावः न विद्यते । तत्त्व-दर्शिभिः तु उभयोः अपि अनयोः अन्तः दृष्टः ।

कृष्ण has mentioned आत्मा is eternal, नित्यः. In this verse, which is a very terse verse, very technical verse, one of the deepest verses of the भगवद्गीता. In this कृष्ण says आत्मा सत्यः; अनात्मा मिथ्या. आत्मा is real; अनात्मा is unreal; आत्मा has independent existence, अनात्मा has borrowed existence. OK. Let us try to understand this verse and then I will go to the word meaning. Every object has got its own intrinsic nature; its own true nature, which we call स्वरूपम्. It is its real nature, intrinsic nature, true nature. And also every object can have certain nature which is borrowed from outside and that borrowed nature, we will call as incidental nature. Two words, intrinsic nature and incidental nature. In संस्कृत, स्वाभाविक धर्मः and आगुन्तक धर्मः. स्वाभाविक धर्मः means one's own धर्म, आगुन्तक धर्मः, one that is borrowed, incidental nature. And whatever is intrinsic nature will be there all the time. Whatever is intrinsic nature will be there all the time, whereas whatever is incidental nature, that will be only temporary. So intrinsic nature is permanent; incidental nature is temporary. I will give you an example. Suppose we have kept a vessel with water and we want to make hot water. So there is fire, over that there is vessel and within that vessel, there is water and imagine you light up the fire. Now gradually, the vessel becomes hot and because of the contact with the vessel, water becomes hot. Suppose within the water you put something, some vegetable or anything you put, that vegetable also becomes hot. Now the vegetable is hot because not because of its nature, but it is in contact with the water. Water is hot because the vessel is hot. The vessel is hot, because fire is hot. Fire is hot because vessel is hot! No. Fire is hot because it is Fire. So therefore, vegetable enjoys heat, as an incidental property, borrowed from water. Water enjoys heat as incidental property; because it is borrowed from vessel. Vessel enjoys the heat, as incidental property, because it is borrowed from fire. Fire enjoys heat, as intrinsic property, as its very nature. So therefore, heat in fire is intrinsic; whereas heat in the vessel, is incidental; heat in water is incidental, heat in the vegetable is incidental; heat in coffee, if it is intrinsic, no flask is required. How nice it would have been. Any time you make coffee, it is hot-hot and no cold coffee would be possible. From this we get some corollary, whatever is incidental is borrowed and therefore it is subject to loss also. Whatever is incidental is borrowed and therefore subject to loss, subject to नाशः. आगम चेत् अपायि. And that is why the vegetable is hot as long as it is in contact with hot water. You take it out, it becomes cold, loses its heat. Similarly, water is hot as long as it is in contact with the vessel. If you remove the water out, it has lost, because heat is incidental. Remove the vessel from the stove, the vessel becomes cold. Remove the fire, from there to another place; Siberia, there the temperature is supposed to be minus 60o to minus 80o in winter. In winter, in Siberia fire will be hot or cold? It will be hot? Why does not the fire lose its heat? Because, heat is the intrinsic nature of fire. So through all these stories, what is the law that we have learned, what is incidental property is subject to arrival and departure. What is intrinsic property is not subject to arrival and departure. In संस्कृत, स्वाभाविक धर्म न आगच्छति, न गच्छति. For certain important philosophical topic. Now using this principle, what principle? Whatever is incidental will be subject to arrival and departure whatever is intrinsic will not come and go. Now, let us take anything that is perishable in the world. Any perishable thing, impermanent thing in the world and an impermanent thing enjoys existence for some time. What is an impermanent thing? Whatever exists for a limited period of time is called impermanent. This body is called impermanent because between the date of birth and the date of death, it exists. Before the date of birth, the body did not exist and after the date of death, which we don't want to think of now, but which is a fact, after the date of death, this body will not exist. From this we can nicely say, every impermanent thing enjoys existence for some time. Every impermanent thing enjoys existence for some time. 'sometime' means what: between the manufacturing date and (in the medicines) expiry date and before and after, it does not enjoy existence. All impermanent things enjoy existence for sometime but not before or later. If that is true, now let us apply that law. All these impermanent things enjoy existence, Is it an incidental property or intrinsic? If it is an intrinsic property, it would have enjoyed existence all the time, just as the fire enjoys heat all the time. The very fact that impermanent thing enjoys existence for some time indicates that it is not intrinsic property; but it is what? Incidental property. Therefore, what is the important conclusion? All impermanent things do not have existence as their nature. All impermanent things do not have existence as their nature; then what existence they have; they have got borrowed existence for some time. Like the make-up beauty. You will understand that better. The make-up beauty is natural beauty or borrowed beauty? Make-up beauty is made up beauty. How long will it be there? As long as the make-up is there, you go to that person's house without warning and see the original condition at home. You will not recognize them. First thing is teeth themselves are not there. It all starts from there. कालीदास in शाकुन्तलम्, while describing शकुन्तला, he says:

रम्यम् मलिनमपि हिमांशोर्लक्ष्म लक्ष्मीम् तनोति ।

इयमिधकमनोज्ञा त्वक्लेनापि तन्वी किमिह मधुराणाम् मण्डनम्
नाकृतीनाम् ॥ अभिज्ञानशाकुन्तलम् १-२० ॥

शकुन्तला was there only with the bark dress. Not the silken ones from Nalli or with the ornaments and other things from काञ्चीपुरम्. All those things were not there and then he says, real beautiful body, those things are not important, In fact, they only add to the beauty, just as the lotus is beautiful even when it is surrounded by slushy water. Anyway, let us come back to our topic. Any impermanent thing does not enjoy existence as its real nature. So it enjoys what? Borrowed existence. And that is called मिथ्या. मिथ्या or unreal. So the definition of मिथ्या, the definition of unreality is anything that does not enjoy existence as its real nature, but it enjoys existence only by borrowing, whereas whatever is permanent enjoys existence as its - what nature? Intrinsic nature. That means it does not borrow existence and that is defined as सत्यम्. So सत्यम् is a thing with intrinsic existence. मिथ्या is a thing with borrowed existence. सत्यम् is a thing with intrinsic existence; मिथ्या is a thing with a borrowed existence. Now to convey this idea, we will take an example. There is a lump of clay. The lump of clay is converted into a pot. Until now, if somebody asks whether the pot is there or not, what did I say; there is no pot. And there afterwards, the clay was shaped into a pot, now what do you say? Now there is a pot. And there afterwards, imagine again you break the pot. Now what happens? The pot loses its existence. Now you say that there is no pot. Now pot enjoyed a temporary existence. Is it intrinsic or borrowed? Pot enjoyed a temporary existence and it was a borrowed existence. Borrowed from where? Borrowed from where? From the clay. Clay alone lends existence to the pot. Whereas clay enjoys existence, when? Clay was existent; before the arrival of the pot, clay was there even when the pot was there and clay will continue to exist even when pot is broken. Does clay borrow existence from pot? Clay does not borrow existence from pot, whereas pot borrowed existence from clay. So therefore, clay is permanent and clay enjoys intrinsic existence. Pot is impermanent and pot enjoys borrowed existence. Therefore Clay is सत्यम् pot is मिथ्या. This is वेदान्तम्. वेदान्तम् is over. The whole वेदान्त is trying to understand these two alone. स्वामिजि used to tell, somebody studied वेदान्त for 25 years and he came and said, स्वामिजि I understand everything in वेदान्त. Two ideas are not clear to me. Rest is all clear. What are those two ideas? I do not know सत्यम् and I do not know what is मिथ्या? All other things I understood. Whole वेदान्तम् is only these two things. Whole creation is आत्मा plus अनात्मा. आत्मा is सत्यम् and अनात्मा is मिथ्या. ॐ तत् सत्. वेदान्त is over. If at all books and books are written it is only to convey this idea more and more and more clearly. And therefore, what is permanent is सत्यम्; what is impermanent is मिथ्या. And आत्मा is सत्यम् and अनात्मा is मिथ्या. Now look at this श्लोक. असतः भावः न विद्यते. भावः means intrinsic existence. That is own existence; natural existence, is called भावः. न विद्यते; is not there. Intrinsic existence is not there for what? असतः. असतः means for a मिथ्या वस्तु, for an impermanent thing. असतः means for a impermanent thing or for a मिथ्या वस्तु. In this example which you have to take? The Pot. Natural existence is not there for the pot. In the same way, सतः अभावः न विद्यते. अभावः means 'non-existence' or destruction. Non-existence is not there; न विद्यते; सतः means for a real thing, which has natural existence. In the example, what should be taken? The Clay. Because even when the pot is broken, clay continues to exist. Therefore a real thing does not have non-existence and unreal thing does not have natural existence. A real thing does not have non-existence, an unreal thing does not have natural existence. It has got what? Artificial existence. And तत्त्व-दर्शिभिः दृष्टः. तत्त्व-दर्शि means wise people. The wise people have understood, realized, clearly ascertained and doubtlessly grasped. So the wise people have clearly grasped अन्तः. अन्तः means the true nature of उभयोः, means both सत्यम् and मिथ्या. Wise people have understood this nature of both सत्यम् as well as मिथ्या. Both आत्मा as well as अनात्मा. So it is like handling the pot, with the knowledge all the time that pot is मिथ्या. Anytime it can break. And that is why even when they are packing and sending, they write outside what? Fragile; handle with care and remember the most fragile thing is our body and still worse is our mind. Any time it will break. We say he broke down, means what: if we are in a small family and all the few people around I interact, even if I have got a sensitive fragile mind, I can adjust, because the other people will carefully behave with me. But how long can I remain within the four walls? Different people will use different language; treat differently, no recognition, over recognition, rejection, insulting, gossip, all these are going to hit the mind. And therefore, understand the nature of अनात्मा and when अनात्मा undergoes change, never complain. Just as my mind changes, other people's mind also change. Those people who love, who loved me once upon a time, they are trying to reject me now. As स्वामिजि says, first I love you, then I allow you. OK. So therefore, the one who has understood both this nature very clearly, is called a wise person. Continuing;

Verse No .17

अविनाशि तु तद्विद्धि येन सर्वमिदं ततम् ।

विनाशमव्ययस्यास्य न कश्चित्कर्तुमर्हति ॥ २-१७॥

अविनाशि तु तत् विद्धि येन सर्वम् इदम् ततम् ।

विनाशम् अव्ययस्य अस्य न कश्चित् कर्तुम् अर्हति ॥ २-१७॥

विद्धि, येन इदम् सर्वम् ततम्, तत् तु अविनाशि । अस्य अव्ययस्य विनाशम् कर्तुम्, कश्चित् न अर्हति ।

So here, in this verse, one part of the verse is repetition that आत्मा नित्यः is repeated once again. आत्मा is eternal. But कृष्ण presents this in a different language; instead of saying it is eternal, कृष्ण says it is indestructible. You cannot destroy it. तत् अविनाशि. You can understand. विनाशि means perishable. Destructible. अविनाशि means indestructible. So when there is pot; its essence; its आत्मा is what? Clay. Pot is what? अनात्मा. And clay is what? आत्मा. Suppose you put down the pot which gets destroyed and which does not get destroyed, you know, the pot will get destroyed but the clay is not destroyed. The clay continues. Similarly, here also, अनात्मा can be and will be destroyed but आत्मा अविनाशि. And therefore विद्धि; विद्धि means अर्जुन you understand this clearly. विद्धि means you know this, you ascertain this, you internalize this fact. And therefore, in the 2nd line, कश्चित् विनाशम् कर्तुम् न अर्हति. Therefore, nobody can destroy this आत्मा. कश्चित् विनाशम् कर्तुम् न अर्हति. Therefore nobody can destroy this आत्मा; Even the God cannot destroy. Even atom bombs cannot destroy. And therefore why are you saying भीष्म is killed; द्रोण is killed, भीष्म is who? आत्मा. Because this is discussion from which angle. Philosophical angle, भीष्म is nothing but आत्मा, द्रोण is आत्मा. So आत्मा is here; you are not going to destroy anyone. So why are you crying? Up to this is repetition. Then He adds another new nature also of आत्मा. येन सर्वम् इदम् ततम्. Now He says this whole creation is pervaded by this आत्मा. ततम् means pervaded, व्याप्तम्. From this what does कृष्ण say? Not only आत्मा is eternal, आत्मा is also all-pervading like space, आत्मा is all-pervading. So if आत्मा is all-pervading, how many आत्माs will be there? It has to be just one, as one space is counted, Similarly, one आत्मा alone is there, in you, in me, in an ant, in a plant, even in God; bodies are many but the आत्मा is one alone. Just as there is one space, in this hall and if there are so many houses, there is one space, enclosed within every house but you do not count the spaces as, if there are five houses, you do not count as five spaces. Houses are counted but not the space; अनात्माs are counted but आत्मा एकः and that is why we say the Lord is in everybody's heart. So when you say, Lord is in everybody's heart, in what form? In the form of आत्मा alone, ईश्वरः is in everyone. That is why we do नमस्कार to everyone. The other people are not able to understand; how can man worship another man. In Indian culture, people doing नमस्कार is so common. Even unknown people come and do नमस्कार to you. It is Indian culture. Once there is a काषाय वस्त्रम्, I know that everyone respects and not only at home, the parents are worshipped, but for other people of other cultures and religions, this is unimaginable, that one person is doing नमस्कार to another. So we had some westerners studying वेदान्त. They had a lot of difficulty to do नमस्कार. And after 1 or 2 years, seeing all of us नमस्कार, for us a नमस्कार is every easy, in the morning, in the afternoon, in the evening, etc. Therefore after one year or two years, slowly they learn to do नमस्कार and they say that they will do it in India; but when they go back, they won't do, because it is considered as a shocking action. Why we are able to do नमस्कार to another human being; not because he is great, etc., if you are doing नमस्कार to me, it is not because I am great. Behind this body also there is the आत्मा; which is the same in all, which is the ईश्वरः स्वरूपम्, you are doing नमस्कार to that only. If there is an ant or cow, you can do नमस्कार to that also. The containers are different. But the content is the same, आत्मा is one and the same. So thus what all we have learned now: आत्मा नित्यः, आत्मा सत्यः and आत्मा सर्वगतः. More in the next class.

नासतो विद्यते भावो नाभावो विद्यते सतः ।

उभयोरपि दृष्टोऽन्तस्त्वनयोस्तत्त्वदर्शिभिः ॥ २-१६॥

अविनाशि तु तद्विद्धि येन सर्वमिदं ततम् ।

विनाशमव्ययस्यास्य न कश्चित्कर्तुमर्हति ॥ २-१७॥

Lord कृष्ण wants to persuade अर्जुन to fight the महाभारत battle which is अर्जुन's duty and for this purpose, कृष्ण is teaching अर्जुन from 3 different angles, first from philosophical angle कृष्ण wants to convince अर्जुन that he should fight. And then He comes down to ethical or moral angle, धार्मिक दृष्टि and he establishes that अर्जुन has to fight this battle. And finally He comes down to लौकिक दृष्टि, worldly standpoint and shows that अर्जुन has to fight. Of these three angles, first कृष्ण takes up the philosophical or आध्यात्मिक दृष्टि and for this purpose; कृष्ण is talking about the nature of the individual. And this is from verse no.12 to 25. And in this section, कृष्ण does the आत्म-अनात्मा विवेक. This is to show that the individual is not the body, the individual is not even the mind, but the individual is the आत्मा. आत्मा and the nature of this आत्मा is being discussed in all these verses. Therefore what कृष्ण expects अर्जुन to understand is: "I am not this perishable body, which is a temporary assembly of five elements, I am not even this mind which is a temporary instrument, but I am the आत्मा तत्त्वम्, which is different from both." So naturally the question will come, if I am आत्मा, different from the body and mind, what is the nature of that आत्मा? And आत्म-स्वरूपम् is being discussed.

i) First point that कृष्ण highlighted in the 12th verse was that this आत्म-स्वरूपम् is eternal. The body will perish one day, even the mind will be dissolved, during प्रलयम्; but if there is one thing indestructible; that is आत्म-स्वरूपम्. Therefore, the first lesson is आत्मा नित्यः.

ii) Then thereafter, कृष्ण established, in the last verse that we saw, in verse no.16 that आत्मा सत्यः; that आत्मा alone is really existent; everything else depends upon आत्मा for its existence. To give an example: the clay alone is सत्यम्, all the pots do not have independent existence; therefore all pots are मिथ्या. When we saw मिथ्या – we do not negate the experience of pot, we do not negate the utility of the pot but we only say that pot does not have an existence separate from clay. Similarly, the entire अनात्मा is like pot. आत्मा is like clay the basic substance. Without आत्मा, अनात्मा cannot exist. When you say pot is, the very existence of the pot is borrowed from the clay. How do you know that? Remove the clay and see. When you remove the clay, pot cannot enjoy existence. Therefore the second lesson that कृष्ण gives about आत्मा is, आत्मा is नित्यः, is the first lesson कृष्ण gave, second important point is आत्मा सत्यः. It is the only real substance and indirectly what कृष्ण says is only if you hold on to reality you will find security in life. If you hold on to any unreal thing then it will not be able to support you, one day or the other, you will be in trouble. Remember the example that if there is a chair made out of cardboard, that chair is attractive, it is wonderful, you can keep it in the showroom showcase also and you can do everything, except one thing; what is that? You should not sit over that chair. What will happen if I sit? Try. You will break your head, because the cardboard chair does not have substantiality, solidity. Similarly, any अनात्मा we lean upon, it being unreal, it cannot support. If you want lasting security it has to be found in आत्मा alone. So therefore, lean on आत्मा, never lean on अनात्मा. But initially, a person may not understand आत्मा. Therefore, temporarily we use the word भगवान्, do not lean upon the world but lean upon भगवान्. But when we come to philosophy, we say that भगवान् is not elsewhere, that very भगवान् is the very आत्मा. And therefore मोक्षः is nothing but reliance on आत्मा. And bondage is nothing but reliance on अनात्मा. But very careful, we do not say that we should hate अनात्मा. Because hatred of अनात्मा is as much a problem as attachment is. Just as I said, the cardboard chair need not be thrown away, you can love that chair, you can keep that chair; you can decorate that chair; everything you can do; but do not sit on the chair. Similarly, for security, depending upon the changing अनात्मा will not give lasting security; for lasting security one should depend upon the आत्मा alone. And therefore आत्मा is called सत्यः, अनात्मा is called मिथ्या.

iii) And in the 17th verse, which we had started in the last class, कृष्ण gave another important lesson, येन सर्वम् इदम् ततम्. So, that is आत्मा is all-pervading. Previously it was said आत्मा is eternal; now He is saying आत्मा is all-pervading. Eternal means not bound by time. It is there in the past, present and future. All-pervading means it is not limited by space; that means it is here, there and everywhere. Therefore कृष्ण says अविनाशि तु तत् विद्धि येन सर्वम् इदम् ततम् अर्जुन you understand that everything is pervaded by that आत्मा and the beauty is when a thing becomes more and more pervading, it loses its रूप or state. An all-pervading thing has to be a formless thing. Isn't it? Anything limited is limited because of its boundaries alone. So the form of a thing, the limitation of a thing is determined by what: the boundary. What is the shape of this hall? Is it square or rectangle? I ask. How do you determine? By looking at the boundary of this hall. Therefore the shape depends upon the boundary. If a thing does not have a boundary, the limiting walls are not there, what will its shape? It will not have any particular shape, it has to be formless. Therefore, कृष्ण says आत्मा is all-pervading and therefore आत्मा is formless or shapeless. Like what? Like the अकाश or space. So आत्मा अकाशवत् निराकारः. आत्मा is formless like the space. And this is important to know because we always like to see the आत्मा. So people ask the question, if everybody has got आत्मा, how come I am not able to see? Our answer is we will not be able to see the आत्मा. We will be able to see the body, because it has a form. We will be able to see any external object, because it has form. We will not be able to see the आत्मा, not because it is non-existent, but because it is formless. How do you know there is space? You do not see the space, but without seeing, we accept the existence of space. Similarly, we should accept the existence of आत्मा even though it is invisible. Therefore कृष्ण says: येन सर्वम् इदम् ततम्. ततम् means pervaded. And then what will happen to the आत्मा when the body is destroyed? So we ask the question, what will happen to the space when this hall is destroyed? What will happen, the space also will be destroyed? No. When the hall is destroyed this space will continue to exist. Only thing is: we will not be able to use this space perhaps, because a hall-space is useful; when there is no enclosure it is useless. Similarly, when the body is there, आत्मा is useful for transaction. When the body is gone, आत्मा continues but it is not available for transaction. And therefore कृष्ण says अस्य विनाशम् कर्तुम् न अर्हति. Nobody can destroy this आत्मा. Even though the body can be destroy. Up to this we saw. Continuing;

Verse No .18

अन्तवन्त इमे देहा नित्यस्योक्ताः शरीरिणः ।

अनाशिनोऽप्रमेयस्य तस्माद्युध्यस्व भारत ॥ २-१८॥

अन्तवन्तः इमे देहाः नित्यस्य उक्ताः शरीरिणः ।

अनाशिनः अप्रमेयस्य तस्मात् युध्यस्व भारत ॥ २-१८॥

अनाशिनः अप्रमेयस्य नित्यस्य शरीरिणः इमे देहाः अन्तवन्तः उक्ताः । हे भारत! तस्मात् युध्यस्व ।

So here कृष्ण repeats the main idea given before. नित्यस्य शरीरिणः अनाशिनः. These are all repetition of the previous ideas. आत्मा is नित्यः. It is eternal. And अनाशिनः, therefore it cannot be destroyed by any means. And शरीरिणः, it is intimately associated with the body. So शरीरी means that which obtains within the body. शरीरम् means body, शरीरी means that which is within the body. So therefore the आत्मा is शरीरी within the body and here “within the body” must be within quotation, because previously कृष्ण said that it is all-pervading. So here, within the body should be translated as “within the body also.” Just as the space is all-pervading and it is within the hall also and the space within the hall is called hall-space. Similarly, the आत्मा within the body is called शरीरी. आकाशादिव्यावृत्यर्थम् विशिनष्टि शरीरिण इति । Therefore, शरीरी is the special name for the all-pervading आत्मा which is within the body. So this is the nature of the आत्मा and what about अनात्मा? He says, इमे देहाः अन्तवन्तः, whereas these bodies are all perishable. अन्तः means मरणम्. That’s why यम is called अन्तकः. अन्त means मरणम् or death, अन्तवन्तः means they have death. They are mortal. Therefore, as आत्मा I am immortal, as body I am mortal. And the wisest thing to do is to accept आत्मा as it is and to accept the body as it is. Never complain against the mortality of the body, gracefully accept the mortality of the body, whether it is भीष्म’s body or द्रोण’s body or कर्ण’s body or your mother कुन्ती’s body or why, even कृष्ण’s body cannot be maintained eternally. That’s why कृष्ण has got a date of birth and कृष्ण also has a date of death. Only thing is कृष्ण’s death, you do not say death: we give another name स्वर्णारोहणम्. You may change the word, but the fact is what? Body will have to come and go. Therefore, अर्जुन, why can’t you accept this fact? All these are the ideas given before.

iv) Now he adds another important point in this श्लोक and that is अप्रमेयः, आत्मा अप्रमेयः is an important feature, nature of आत्मा. प्रमेयः means object of knowledge. अप्रमेयः means never an object of knowledge. So अप्रमेयः means never an object of knowledge. Therefore, you can never know the आत्मा. You can never know the आत्मा. Then we will get a very big doubt: if we can never know the आत्मा, it may be non-existent. Then we say: No, it is existent also. If it is existent, I must be able to know it. Know, you cannot know. Then it must be non-existent. No, it is existent. So this is a quiz that we have to answer. What is that which is ever existent but which can never be known? It is just like (I have given an example in तत्त्वबोध) if you have got a photograph, you see everything in the picture, so many people are there, chairs are there, but there is one person who very much existed there, but who is never in the picture. Quiz. He did exist there, but he not in the picture? Who is that? The one who has taken the picture. Suppose you say, स्वामिजि automatic camera suppose you use. I know that that question will come. Then I will have to change the question slightly. There is another thing, instead of person: there is another thing which very much existed there, but which never comes in the picture? What is that? Camera. So you do not require proof for the existence of camera, it is very much there, but it can never be seen in the picture. Similarly, the entire creation is like a photograph. Whatever you experience is like a photograph. And I say there is a thing which is not in the world of experience. It will never come. However much you struggle, it will never come in the field of experience but whose existence can never be questioned. What is that? That is called the observer, the experiencer, the consciousness-principle. And therefore आत्मा is called अप्रमेयः, ever the experiencer, never the experienced. Ever the experiencer, never the experienced; ever the दृक्, never the दृश्यम्; ever the subject, never the object. In तत्त्वबोध, I had given a few other examples also, with your eyes you can see everything, except what? Your own eyes. You can never see your eyes; however powerful they may be. Do not say mirror again, mirror you will see the reflected eye. The original eye you can never see. दयानन्द स्वामिजि used to tell: imagine भगवान् has not created mirror. You know what will be the greatest tragedy. Other people may describe your face as the most beautiful face in the world. They can get away also even by telling a lie! OK. It may be true. Can say that your eyes are so wonderful? It is like a lotus petal. Imagine there is no mirror at all, there is no mirroring surface. I tell you eternally you will have to regret, what? I am not able to see my own eyes. Remember, eyes however powerful they are they cannot see themselves. Similarly, consciousness or आत्मा I am as the eternal subject it is never प्रमेय. Therefore, अप्रमेयः आत्मा. Therefore what? तस्मात् युध्यस्व भारत. Therefore, अर्जुन you are not killing भीष्म, not killing द्रोण, not killing anyone because आत्मा is not an object of destruction. So what all things we have seen now. आत्मा नित्यः, आत्मा सत्यः, आत्मा सर्वगतः, आत्मा अप्रमेयः. In English आत्मा is eternal, आत्मा is reality, आत्मा is all-pervading and आत्मा is never an object, but it is ever the subject. Continuing;

य एनं वेति हन्तारं यश्चैनं मन्यते हतम्

उभौ तौ न विजानीतो नायं हन्ति न हन्यते ॥ २-१९॥

यः एनम् वेति हन्तारम् यः च एनम् मन्यते हतम्

उभौ तौ न विजानीतः न अयम् हन्ति न हन्यते ॥ २-१९॥

यः एनम् हन्तारम् वेति, यः च एनम् हतम् मन्यते तौ उभौ न विजानीतः, अयम् न हन्ति न हन्यते ।

Another important श्लोक. Here आत्मा's nature is further described.

v) And here कृष्ण says आत्मा अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. आत्मा is अकर्ता, you can understand अकर्ता means what: does not do any action, not an actor, not the subject of an action. अभोक्ता means आत्मा is not an object of any action also, but does not get involved in any action, does not take part, not a participant. Like what? Our space again. The space has accommodated all of us. Without space we cannot sit here. But space is not involved in any of our actions. Space is not the teacher. Space is not the student. Space is not any instrument also like pen or book; it never participates in any action, but without space no action is possible, अकाशवत्. Or you can take another example. प्रकाशवत् – like the light. In the sunlight, so many transactions are going. So a person might be selling some product outside; there is a buyer, there is a seller, there is money transaction. All the transactions take place in the light but light itself is not a participant in any transaction. It is neither the seller, nor buyer, nor the bought material, nor the money. Can you say, after all, the light is not a participant? Remove the light. If you remove the light, transactions cannot take place. So therefore, like space, like light, आत्मा's presence is required for all transactions but आत्मा itself is not involved in any transaction. If you take a cinema screen, on the screen all the cinema transactions take place, the hero comes, the heroine comes, villain comes, fight goes on, music, dance, all transactions goes on, the screen is not a participant in that picture. But since the screen is not a participant, why can't we remove the screen. If the screen is removed, no picture can go on. Similarly, आत्मा is uninvolved. अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. And this idea, कृष्ण presents in a different language, in a roundabout way. कृष्ण wants to say, आत्मा is अकर्ता, means what: आत्मा does not do any job. And any job means what: it does not kill anyone. And again आत्मा is not a भोक्ता means आत्मा is not killed by anyone. So आत्मा is neither a killer of anyone, आत्मा is not killed by anyone. This is the idea, कृष्ण wants to convey. But He presents it in a different language. He says: suppose a person says आत्मा is the killer and आत्मा is killed, that person is an ignorant person. That means what: if a person says आत्मा is a killer or killed, that person is wrong, means what: आत्मा is neither a killer nor killed. That's what He says here यः वेति हन्तारम्. Suppose a person thinks आत्मा is a killer, suppose a person thinks आत्मा is a killer; killer means कर्ता and यः च एनम् मन्यते हतम्, suppose a person thinks आत्मा is killed, i.e., भोक्ता; suppose a person thinks आत्मा is a killer कर्ता, or a killed भोक्ता, what is the conclusion: उभौ तौ न विजानीतः both people do not know the fact. Both of them are wrong. So if both of them are wrong, then what is correct? He says: न अयम् हन्ति न हन्यते. Correct idea is that अयम् आत्मा न हन्ति. आत्मा does not kill anyone. In fact, does not kill is not the word; cannot kill anyone. Can space destroy anyone? So वायु of the पञ्चभूतs, वायु can destroy, अग्नि can destroy, जलम् can destroy; even earth can destroy; by earthquake; but if there is one element, which cannot destroy anyone, what is that? It is the space. Similarly, आत्मा accommodates all, but does not and cannot destroy anyone. So अयम्, अयम् means आत्मा; न हन्ति – does not kill. न हन्यते – is not killed also. And this has got lot of significance which कृष्ण will bring out throughout the गीता. This is a crucial verse; in fact, many important ideas of the गीता are based on this one verse. And one of the important derivations is that if आत्मा is अकर्ता, it is free from all कर्म. And if it is free from all कर्मs, there is no पुण्यम् for the आत्मा; there is no पापम् for the आत्मा, there is no सञ्चित-कर्म, there is no आगामि-कर्म, there is no प्रारब्ध-कर्म; all these are not there for the आत्मा. And if कर्मs are not there, there is no question of पुनर्जन्म also. आत्मा never takes पुनर्जन्म. Why it does not take पुनर्जन्म? If it dies only; where is the question of rebirth? Since आत्मा does not die, it does not have जन्म, it does not have कर्म, it is free from all. Then, why are we talking about various कर्मs, rituals, श्राद्धम्s, तर्पणम्s; all for whom? They are all meant for सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, which alone travels from place to place. सूक्ष्म शरीरम् requires कर्म, सूक्ष्म शरीरम् has got पुनर्जन्म. Therefore, from that standpoint alone, all the श्राद्धs तर्पणम्s. That is why for a ज्ञानि, there is no श्राद्ध or तर्पण. In the case of ignorant person, the सूक्ष्म शरीरम् travel, therefore we have to do कर्म. In the case of a ज्ञानि, there is no श्राद्धम्, there is no तर्पणम्. We only have got समायाधन day, we just remember that महात्मा so that we will get his blessing. So there is no पुनर्जन्म for the आत्मा. These are all the corollary कृष्ण himself will tell later. Continuing;

Verse No .20

न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचिन् नायं भूत्वा भविता वा न भूयः ।
 अजो नित्यः शाश्वतोऽयं पुराणो न हन्यते हन्यमाने शरीरे ॥ २-२०॥
 न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचित् न अयम् भूत्वा भविता वा न भूयः ।

अजः नित्यः शाश्वतः अयम् पुराणः न हन्यते हन्यमाने शरीरे ॥ २-२०॥

अयम् कदाचित् न जायते, न वा म्रियते, (अयम् भूत्वा भूयः अभविता वा न) अयम् अजः नित्यः शाश्वतः पुराणः, शरीरे हन्यमाने न हन्यते ।

This is another important verse. All these are highly philosophical verses; all taken from the उपनिषत्s and to highlight its importance alone, we find the very meter of the verse is changed. Until now, the number of letters were less, now you find the verse is longer verse. That importance is shown here.

vi) The essence of this verse is that आत्मा is free from all modifications or changes. निर्विकारः आत्मा. विकारः means change; निर् means free from; निर्विकारः means free from change. And the change is classified into 6 types which we had seen in तत्त्वबोधः अस्ति – existence in seed form, जायते – taking birth, वर्धते – growing, विपरिणमते – metamorphosis or changing, अपक्षीयते – decaying, that is old age and विनश्यति – perishes. Like a graph, the changes happen, gradual growth up to 20th year or something and thereafter between 20-50 there is no neither growth nor decay, just almost the graph goes straight; afterwards at 40 or 50 it varies from individual from individual, for some people it starts at 40, for some people it starts at 50, but a time comes when the declension begins. We suddenly begin to discover that we have many joints in our body. Previously we never knew, we were just rushing and enjoying and very mobile. Now whether to sit down or not, sitting down and getting up becomes a project. It is a project which we have to plan and if you have to face in this direction, before sitting we have to look in that direction and you wonder whether we are going to face that direction or this direction but we end up facing in some other direction. That is all sign of what? जरा. And the end of जरा is what: मरणम्. All these six modifications are there for the body. Here कृष्ण says, आत्मा is free from all these six modifications; it is not born, does not grow, decay or die. That is the essence. Look at the श्लोक. न जायते, आत्मा is never born. Therefore, birth belongs to सूक्ष्म शरीरम् only and not the आत्मा. न म्रियते, that न should be read twice. न जायते म्रियते should not be read. न जायते न म्रियते; आत्मा does not die; कदाचित् at any time. And why do you say so: अयम् न भूत्वा because it never comes to existence at a particular time; it is unborn because it never comes to existence at a particular time and न भविता it never stops to exist at a future time. That means it never begins its existence, it never ends its existence. And therefore, अजः, आत्मा is given the name अजः; अजः means birthless and नित्यः it is also called नित्यः, नित्यः means deathless; so अजः means birthless, नित्यः means deathless; then शाश्वतः, शाश्वतः means it is free from decay, अपक्षय रहितः it does not grow old and पुराणः means it does not grow also, वृद्धि रहितः. All the four modifications have been said: जन्म रहितः, वृद्धि रहितः, अपक्षय रहितः, विनाश रहितः; all these are not there; not only that न हन्यते हन्यमाने शरीरे, when the body is afflicted by diseases etc., when the body goes out of shape because of diseases; in certain diseases body bloats, in certain diseases body shrinks. Different diseases attack the body in different forms. So when the body is हन्यते; हन्यते means is afflicted, tormented by diseases, न हन्यते the आत्मा does not go out of shape. Why आत्मा does not go out of shape? Can you guess? Shape has to be there to go out of shape! If there is a shape, it can go out of shape. So we initially build up a shape by dieting, by exercising, by doing this and by doing that; our first aim is to create a shape. That itself often fails and having created a shape, our next aim is to maintain it, both are very difficult. In the case of आत्मा, there is no question of creating a shape, no question of maintaining and therefore there is no question of losing also. And therefore, आत्मा is free from विपरिणाम also. It is free from परिणाम or change. And therefore आत्मा is called निर्विकारः. So what all we have seen. To go back: आत्मा नित्यः, eternal; सत्यः, is reality; सर्वगतः, it is all-pervading; अप्रमेयः, it is never known ever the knower; then अकर्ता, not a doer; अभोक्ता, not an enjoyer and now निर्विकारः, it is free from all modifications. These are the seven main features of आत्मा. And the following verses repeat this same idea, in different forms. The idea is the same, but कृष्ण repeats in different forms which we will see in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

य एनं वेत्ति हन्तारं यश्चैनं मन्यते हतम्

उभौ तौ न विजानीतो नायं हन्ति न हन्यते ॥ २-१९॥

न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचिन् नायं भूत्वा भविता वा न भूयः ।

अजो नित्यः शाश्वतोऽयं पुराणो न हन्यते हन्यमाने शरीरे ॥ २-२०॥

Lord कृष्ण is talking about the nature of the Self, आत्म-स्वरूपम् and how it is different from अनात्मा, the body-mind-complex.

i) First He pointed out that आत्मा नित्यः means आत्मा is eternal. Even when the body is born and gone, आत्मा continues to exist.

ii) Next He pointed out आत्मा सत्यः, आत्मा is the reality, which means आत्मा exists independently everything else depends upon आत्मा for existence.

iii) Then next He pointed out that आत्मा सर्वगतः, which means आत्मा is all-pervading, like space, from which we come to know that even though bodies are many, the आत्मा which is behind everybody, the आत्मा is the same all-pervading one, therefore it has to be one only. Just as the all-pervading space is only one, similarly, आत्मा is all-pervading and अद्वैतम्.

iv) Then next He pointed out आत्मा अप्रमेयः. आत्मा is never an object of experience; it is an experiencer of everything without itself being experienced. Remember the example, in a photograph you will have everything except the camera or the photographer. You know there is a camera, you know there is a photographer but it never comes in the picture. Similarly, the whole world is a picture in front of you. You can experience everything except one thing, i.e., You Yourself. Therefore आत्मा is ever-experiencer, never the experienced. In संस्कृत, अप्रमेयः. So नित्यः, सत्यः, सर्वगतः, अप्रमेयः.

v) Then कृष्ण said आत्मा is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. It is neither a doer of any action and therefore does not reap the result of any action. कर्म अपि नास्ति, कर्म-फलम् अपि नास्ति. Therefore, आत्मा is beyond पुण्यम्, beyond पापम् therefore beyond सुखम्, beyond दुःखम् because सुखम् and दुःखम् are कर्म-फलम् only. Pleasure is पुण्य कर्म-फलम्, pain is पाप कर्म-फलम्; आत्मा being beyond कर्म-फलम्, it is beyond pleasure and pain.

vi) And finally कृष्ण pointed out that आत्मा निर्विकारः, which means आत्मा is free from all the six modifications like birth, growth, change, decay and death. Therefore there is no question of birth of आत्मा, growth of आत्मा, decay or death. That is what we saw in the 20th verse.

न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचिन् नायम् भूत्वा भविता वा न भूयः । अजो नित्यः शाश्वतोऽयम् पुराणो न हन्यते हन्यमाने शरीरे ॥

The beauty is आत्मा is intimately connected to the body but whatever happens to the body does not affect आत्मा. Exactly like - remember the example, the light is intimately associated with the body but whatever happens to the body does not affect the light pervading the body. Or take the example of a screen and the movie. In the picture so many things happen, but whatever happens, the screen continues to be unaffected. So आत्मा is like a screen and अनात्मा is like a movie. Up to this we saw. Continuing;

Verse No .21

वेदाविनाशिनं नित्यं य एनमजमव्ययम् ।

कथं स पुरुषः पार्थ कं घातयति हन्ति कम् ॥ २-२१॥

वेद अविनाशिनम् नित्यम् यः एनम् अजम् अव्ययम् ।

कथम् सः पुरुषः पार्थ कम् घातयति हन्ति कम् ॥ २-२१॥

हे पार्थ! यः एनम् अविनाशिनम् नित्यम् अजम् अव्ययम् वेद, सः पुरुषः कथम् कम् घातयति, कम् हन्ति ?

So what is the aim of a spiritual seeker? वेद. वेद means he must know. The main aim of the seeker is the knowledge of this आत्मा. Here the word वेद does not mean the ऋक्, यजुर्, साम, अथर्वण वेद. There the word वेद is the noun which refers to the scriptures, here the वेद is a verb which should be translated as one should know. So वेद, the aim of the spiritual seeker is to know. Know what? आत्मानम्. And what type of आत्मा you should know? अविनाशिनम् नित्यम् अजम् अव्ययम्. अविनाशिनम् – we have seen before, indestructible. That which cannot be destroyed at all. And therefore only नित्यम्. It is eternal. And अजम् and अव्ययम्. अजम् means unborn, without जन्म and अव्ययम् without decay like old age etc., So such an आत्मा one should know that is the aim of the spiritual seeker. Now here, this knowing involves two stages.

i) The first stage is to separate the body and आत्मा – the consciousness, because we think that the consciousness is an integral part of the body, we have to first understand that consciousness is not an integral part of the body but it is an independent entity. Just as remember the example: light is not an integral part of the hand, light is on the hand, it is intimately connected to the hand but light is a separate entity. In the same way, the consciousness pervades the body, it is intimate but it is not an integral part of the body, it is a separate entity. This is the first stage.

ii) And having separated the body and consciousness, the next aim is asking the question which one of these two I am? Which one of these two, I should claim as myself? Until we come to वेदान्त, which one we have claimed? We have been claiming and we are even now claiming that this body alone I am. It is a very vehement claim. At least if it is so precious, it is fine. Thus it is a decaying matter and we are so much enamored and obsessed with this perishing body that we claim as ours. Therefore, our aim is what? Dropping this claim, i.e., disclaim the body and claim the consciousness as myself. This is the biggest and toughest shift on the part of the seeker. Even understanding relatively is easier but the shifting of the 'I' from the matter-bundle to the consciousness alone will take time which I have to separately sit, look at the body and go on telling that this has been a temporarily borrowed from external matter; just like ice in one area solidifies and becomes an iceberg. Even though iceberg appears to be separate and different from water, what is iceberg? It is nothing but water. Born out of water, floats in water and we do not know when it will dissolve. Similarly, in this matter-portion, there is a small iceberg called the physical body, which can melt at any time and merge back into the पञ्चभूत. पञ्चभूतेभ्यः जातम् and पञ्चभूतेषु विलीयते. Therefore, this body belongs to the matter but I am the consciousness, which is in the body and which will survive the dissolution of the body. So this training is called निदिध्यासनम्. Training in shifting the 'I', from matter to consciousness, from the changing अनात्मा to changeless आत्मा, from the inert-bundle to the consciousness-principle. This shift training is called निदिध्यासनम्. And out of this निदिध्यासनम्, this shift becomes spontaneous and natural. Just as I am the body is natural to me now, similarly, I am the आत्मा also should become natural and that is called here वेद. Assimilated-knowledge one should have. And what is the advantage of this assimilated-knowledge. Before assimilation, I used to say आत्मा is अकर्ता, अभोक्ता, but once I assimilate this knowledge, I will no more say आत्मा is अकर्ता, what will I say: I am अकर्ता. So whatever features of आत्मा I had known, they will not be आत्मा's features, they all will be mine. So previously we said आत्मा नित्यः, now what I will say? अहम् नित्यम्, I am immortal and I am reality and I am all-pervading and I am ever the subject and I am free from six modifications and finally I am अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. That is what is said in the second line. हे पार्थ! हे अर्जुन! सः पुरुषः, how can that person be a कर्ता? कथम् कः? How can that person be a doer of any action? That person means which person: that person who has claimed आत्मा as himself. Therefore, ज्ञानि is अकर्ता. And not only he is अकर्ता; action is of two types. One is called direct-action and the other is indirect-action. Direct action is when I myself do the action; indirect action is when I instigate another one to do it off and both of them come under action, both of them will have कर्म-फलम्. So when a person steals something – that's also crime. When a person engages someone to steal something, that person also has committed mistake. So now when we say आत्मा is अकर्ता, कृष्ण says that neither it acts by itself nor does it instigate anyone to act. And to indicate this we have two संस्कृत words; if I am a direct-doer, I am called कर्ता; if I am an indirect-doer, I am called a कारयिता. कर्ता and कारयिता. When there is a servant maid, you may not do work, but sitting on the easy-chair – you need not even instruct, do that, do this; mere presence of the boss is there, all the other works goes on. So the boss becomes what? Not कर्ता:, but कारयिता. Now what about आत्मा? कृष्ण says it is neither कर्ता: nor कारयिता. Therefore, He asks कथम् सः पुरुषः हन्ति. How can that आत्मा kill anyone and कम् घातयति how can that आत्मा instigate anyone to kill? Here कृष्ण is taking a killing action because the context happens to be महाभारत war. It is only a representative action, we can extend it to all other actions also. Therefore ज्ञानि is अकर्ता. And therefore only we call him a liberated person, because he does not have पुण्यम्, he does not have पापम् therefore he does not have पुनर्जन्म also. All these are consequences. Continuing;

Verse No .22

वासांसि जीर्णानि यथा विहाय नवानि गृह्णाति नरोऽपराणि ।

तथा शरीराणि विहाय जीर्णान्यन्यानि संयाति नवानि देही ॥ २-२२॥

वासांसि जीर्णानि यथा विहाय नवानि गृह्णाति नरः अपराणि ।

तथा शरीराणि विहाय जीर्णानि अन्यानि संयाति नवानि देही ॥ २-२२॥

यथा नरः जीर्णानि वासांसि विहाय, अपराणि नवानि गृह्णाति, तथा देही जीर्णानि शरीराणि विहाय अन्यानि नवानि संयाति ।

So here कृष्ण is talking about पुनर्जन्म and मरणम्. What is death and rebirth? And what happens at the time of death and rebirth. And what happens to आत्मा at the time of death and rebirth. So कृष्ण says: birth and rebirth are exactly like changing the clothes or dress. A dress is only a superficial covering on ourselves. Before we put on the dress we existed and when the dress is on our body we exist and even after one's dress is removed we continue to exist and when one dress is removed and another dress is put on the change belongs to the superficial layer called dress but the inner content remains the same. When you have changed your dress, I do not say you have changed. You can change only the superficial thing but not the essential factor. Similarly, every time a living being is born, it only means जीव comes freshly dressed. Then how long a person keeps this dress? It all depends on different people. Some people change every two hours, depends upon the wardrobe, perhaps. Morning, forenoon dress, evening dress, night dress, therefore varieties of dresses are there; so different people take to dresses and give up; Similarly, जीवs take the physical body, live there for some time and there afterwards discard the body. That is said here. जीर्णानि वासांसि विहाय. A person throws away dresses which are worn out. जीर्णानि वासांसि worn out clothes, a person gives up; why: because it no more can serve its purpose. And what does he do? He cannot just go out without dress and therefore for the sake of transaction, he puts on another dress and goes out. So नवानि अपराणि गृह्णाति. अपराणि means new clothes, other clothes, fresh clothes. He takes to go out. He goes to the green room or dressing room and then quietly changes alone and at that time nobody can see him, then he comes out. Similarly, what do we do? We mean what: every जीव does, this physical body is used for sometime and after sometime it is no more useful to the society as well oneself. It has become a burden. The vegetable like tubes all-over, so this person is surviving, no benefit to oneself or to others. Therefore what should we do? That body is discarded. So he says, तथा जीर्णानि शरीराणि विहाय. Similarly, the old worn out clothes, the bodies are discarded by a जीव and once that body is discarded, just as the जीव goes to the green room when a dress is changed, he goes to the dressing room, nobody sees; Similarly, the जीव is also invisible once the body is gone. The जीव continues but invisible, where he is: in the green room; green room of भगवान्, who has got a big wardrobe, varieties of wardrobes. Varieties of dress means, मनुष्य शरीरम्, donkey, monkey, human being, all kinds of bodies are kept there and then what to do: put on another dress before you open the door and again putting on the another body, the जीव comes out to the world; for what: again transaction. So therefore, तथा जीर्णानि शरीराणि विहाय, अन्यानि संयाति. So another new body, this जीव takes, this देही takes. And what will happen? Again transaction. सुखम्, दुःखम् and again you throw away the cloth and take another one; thus पुनरपि जननम् पुनरपि मरणम् cycle goes on and on and on. This is the essence. But here, we can look at this verse from two different angles. If you go back to तत्त्वबोध, we had talked about स्थूल शरीरम्, सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, कारण शरीरम् and आत्मा. Four items we have talked about. At the time of death, which one gets destroyed among these four? We have to see. स्थूल, सूक्ष्म (I hope you have not forgotten all those things, if you have forgotten then you will be in trouble and I also will be in trouble), कारण शरीरम् and आत्मा. Of these four items at the time of death the physical body alone perishes which means the other three will survive the death of the body. Therefore, सूक्ष्म शरीरम् continues, which is nothing but the mind, along with the कर्म, वासनाs, all of the पुण्यम् पापम्. What about the कारण शरीरम्? कारण शरीरम् also will continue. What about आत्मा? When सूक्ष्म, कारण शरीरम् themselves continues, what to talk of आत्मा? आत्मा will also continue. So this सूक्ष्म कारण शरीरम्, I will together take it as सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, कारण शरीरम् understood. सूक्ष्म शरीरम् also survives, आत्मा also survives. Then what will happen? This सूक्ष्म शरीरम् will travel to another place where it can take a body and experience pleasures and pain. See that, you may ask; that is it is called सूक्ष्म शरीरम् I do not see your mind, but do you have mind or not? Do not say, no. To say 'No' also you need a mind. Therefore I do not see your mind, but non-perception is not non-existence. This should be very clear. Non-perception does not mean non-existence. Non-perception means what: non-perception. I do not see your mind, therefore I don't view your mind is the conclusion, you don't have a mind is not the conclusion. Similarly, after the fall of the body, सूक्ष्म शरीरम् consisting of mind, प्राण etc., travels. Travels according to what law? The law of कर्म. If lot of पुण्यम्s are there, then good शरीरम्, पुण्येन पुण्य लोकम् पापेन पाप लोकम् उभाभ्याम् मनुष्य लोकम्.

Too much पुण्यs – higher लोकs, too much पापम् – lower लोकs, if it is an equal mixture – मनुष्यलोक. So we are all now in the mixture level. Therefore, from the standpoint of सूक्ष्म शरीरम् what happens after death? It travels. Whereas, from the standpoint of आत्मा, the consciousness, what happens after death? Where does आत्मा travel? आत्मा cannot travel because it is all-pervading; we have seen and therefore, one body appears and it goes away and another body appears, as far as आत्मा is concerned it remains without any change. And therefore, देही remains; here देही means आत्मा. In this verse, we are not discussing सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, we are discussing आत्मा only; आत्मा remains the same when bodies appear and disappear. It is exactly pulling down one particular house and building a multi-storied building. What happens to the space inside? The space does not travel from one place to another; the space continues to be the same. One building is gone, another building has come; Similarly, मनुष्य शरीरम् may go, आत्मा continues to be there; in the same place a donkey body comes; or a clone. Now cloning has come. Another मनुष्य शरीरम् comes. What happens to आत्मा? आत्मा remains. Another monkey शरीरम् comes. आत्मा remains. Thus, bodies appear and disappear but आत्मा continues to be the same. Therefore, आत्मा does not have पुनर्जन्म or पुनर्मरणम्.

Verse No .23

नैनं छिन्दन्ति शस्त्राणि नैनं दहति पावकः ।

न चैनं वलेदयन्त्यापो न शोषयति मारुतः ॥ २-२३॥

न एनम् छिन्दन्ति शस्त्राणि न एनम् दहति पावकः ।

न च एनम् वलेदयन्ति आपः न शोषयति मारुतः ॥ २-२३॥

एनम् शस्त्राणि न छिन्दन्ति, एनम् पावकः न दहति एनम् आपः न वलेदयन्ति, (एनम्) च मारुतः न शोषयति ।

So here he says: even though आत्मा is intimately associated with the body, आत्मा doesn't get destroyed by anything; whereas body is affected by everything in the creation. So how is the body affected? Here कृष्ण says, all the four elements can affect the body. Except आकाशः, all the four elements can affect the body. So all weapons are made out of which element: the पृथिवी, भूमि and the weapons like sword, knife, etc they can cut the body or destroy. पृथिवी can affect the body and Similarly, जलम्, water can drown the body to death and fire can burn the body to death and air can dry the body to death, dehydration. All the four elements can affect the body but none of them can affect the आत्मा. So शस्त्राणि एनम् न छिन्दन्ति. Weapons do not cut the आत्मा. And शस्त्राणि represents भूमि, the पृथिवी भूतम् पावकः एनम् न दहति fire does not burn the आत्मा. आपः एनम् न वलेदयन्ति water does not wet or drown the आत्मा. And finally, मारुतः न शोषयति the wind does not dry up or destroy the आत्मा. When there is too much of wind, even the skin goes dry and all those things we can see; so wind is so powerful that it can take away the content, the essence and can even kill. Thus body will be affected by four elements not the आत्मा. These are all just clarifications of what the idea was given before.

Verse No .24

अच्छेद्योऽयमदाह्योऽयमवलेद्योऽशोष्य एव च ।

नित्यः सर्वगतः स्थाणुरचलोऽयं सनातनः ॥ २-२४॥

अच्छेद्यः अयम् अदाह्यः अयम् अवलेद्यः अशोष्यः एव च ।

नित्यः सर्वगतः स्थाणुः अचलः अयम् सनातनः ॥ २-२४॥

अयम् अच्छेद्यः, अयम् अदाह्यः, अयम् अवलेद्यः, (अयम्) अशोष्यः च एव ।
अयम् नित्यः, सर्वगतः, स्थाणुः, अचलः, सनातनः ।

So the first line is the repetition of the previous श्लोक, अच्छेद्यः – आत्मा cannot be cut by weapons, अदाह्यः – आत्मा cannot be burned, अवलेद्यः – आत्मा cannot be drowned or wet by water and अशोष्यः – आत्मा cannot be dried up, cannot be destroyed and therefore what is आत्मा's nature? नित्यः. So you are immortal. The essence is that the immortality you need not get, immortality is your very nature. These are the innermost urge of everyone's thought. I should not disappear from the earth. One thing we cannot stand I should not disappear. So we cannot physically get immortality, we try to become immortal through indirect methods; we give our names to our children or grand children, at least that way or take photographs and hang all over or start some institutions and name it after yourselves. We want to leave something and live on. This is the innermost urge. So mortality of other thing we are ready to accept. But I am mortal I can never accept. Do you know why we are not able to accept it? Why we are not able to accept mortality? Because it is unnatural. We are naturally immortal and that is why we are not able to accept mortality. If mortality is natural to us, we would have been comfortable. When somebody is happy do we make any complaint? I am very much worried now-a-days because I do not know why I am so much happy all the time. Morning I am happy, 11 o'clock I am happy, night also I am happy, I do not know what has happened to me? No. Whereas, when unhappiness comes you are not able to stand? So what is the rule? What is unnatural you reject. Even in the system, anything unnatural enters - if it enters the eyes, tear drops, if it enters your nose, by sneezing, if it enters your stomach, by purging; by sweat; by one method or the other. That's why organ transplant is a big problem because, the system thinks that organ is an external intruder, therefore it rejects. Rejection is the biggest problem. Whereas if a lady carries her own child, becomes pregnant, the system does not do anything, it cooperates; why because it is natural. Very simple law. What is natural we will accept. What is unnatural we will reject. Mortality everyone rejects. Nobody accepts mortality. Everybody wants to live a day more. From that it is very clear, mortality is unnatural and what is natural to me is नित्यः. I am ever there. What a great relief? I am there, eternally there. Even though for other people, they may not like, but I am there. नित्यः means not bound by time. And सर्वगतः, not only I am eternal, I am also all-pervading. Not bound by space. I am timeless and spaceless; I am beyond time and space. And therefore स्थाणुः, स्थाणुः means changeless. Since I am not bound by time, time cannot cause any change in me. In fact, everything in the creation is tortured and changed and made out of shape by what: Time only. As a baby, we were all nice to look at. Now out of shape. Where it should be broad, it is not broad, where it should be long, it is not; etc., all gone out of shape. We try our best to bring back to shape. Color of the skin changes, color of the hair changes or the hair itself disappears, all caused by what? Time. So if I am नित्यः that is time cannot bring out any change and therefore I am स्थाणुः, स्थाणुः means ever the same. सर्वदा तिष्ठति इति स्थाणुः. One of the names of Lord शिव is स्थाणुः. स्थाणुनाथः. Some persons have that name also स्थाणुनाथः. But later स्थकार would go away and they will say थाणु. थाणु is from स्थाणु. स्थाणु is the name of the Lord. In केरल also there was a person called पट्टम् थाणु पिल्लै, very famous person. There थाणु पिल्लै, थाणु नाथ, थाण्वीश्वर, it is the name of the आत्मा. And अचलः. Since I am not bound by time, I am changeless; since I am not bound by space, I am motionless. अचलः means I am motionless. Because only a limited entity can move from one place to another. आत्मा cannot move from one place to another. And suddenly you may wonder, स्वामिजि, you are moving, you are come from your place to here and from here you are going to some other place. How do you say are motionless? When I say I am motionless, what is the meaning of the word 'I'? That should be very, very clear. As the body, certainly it is अनित्यः, अस्थानु, चलः, etc., all those are there. But I the आत्मा is free from all of them and therefore, it is called सनातनः. सनातनः ever fresh. सनातनः is ever fresh. That is why Hinduism is called सनातन धर्म. Because Hinduism deals only with two main topics. Entire Hinduism, topic is only two. One is धर्मः another is ब्रह्मः. These are the only two topics of Hinduism. पूर्वभाग of the वेद talks about धर्मः, उत्तरभाग talks about ब्रह्मः. That portion dealing with धर्मः is called religion, that portion dealing with ब्रह्मः is called philosophy. Religion deals with धर्मः; philosophy deals with ब्रह्मः. And both do not change at all. Values are ever the same. अहिम्सा is a value for which century? अहिम्सा is, अहिम्सा you know, non-injury is a value during शङ्कराचार्य's time? No. It is a valid in the 10 century BC. also. What is the law? I do not want anybody to hurt me, therefore I should not hurt anyone. I want everybody to tell me the truth, therefore I should tell also the truth. सत्यम्, अहिम्सा they are all called धर्म, which is called सनातनम्. What about ब्रह्मन्? During शङ्कराचार्य's time, ब्रह्मन् was little small and now it has become big? So ब्रह्मन् also does not change, धर्मः also does not change. And therefore Hinduism is called सनातन धर्मः that which teaches the changeless values of life and that which teaches the changeless truths of this creation. And therefore this word सनातनः – ever fresh, ever valid. That is why गीता we are studying now also. Whereas physics, chemistry, etc., that we study, the parents are finding it difficult to teach the children, because the physics they studied, the chemistry they studied during their time is now changed. So all the other sciences seems to change from time to time. Theories are revised, theories are discarded and many medicines are discarded. Discarded means what: from the western countries and it will come to the eastern countries. Whatever medicine they have found useless, they will dump to our place! We will use it for some time and we will throw up. Therefore medicine changes, physics changes, chemistry changes. What doesn't change? धर्मः does not change. Therefore वेदः can never become obsolete. वेदः can never become obsolete. After another 20 centuries also वेदः will be valid. That is why वेदः is called सनातनः. आत्मा is also called सनातनः. Continuing;

Verse No .25

अव्यक्तोऽयमचिन्त्योऽयमविकार्योऽयमुच्यते ।

तस्मादेवं विदित्वैनं नानुशोचितुमर्हसि ॥ २-२५॥

अव्यक्तः अयम् अचिन्त्यः अयम् अविकार्यः अयम् उच्यते ।

तस्मात् एवम् विदित्वा एनम् न अनुशोचितुम् अर्हसि ॥ २-२५॥

अयम् अव्यक्तः, अयम् अचिन्त्यः, अयम् अविकार्यः उच्यते । तस्मात् एनम् एवम् विदित्वा (त्वं) अनुशोचितुम् न अर्हसि ।

In this verse कृष्ण concludes the आत्म-स्वरूपम् discussion. So this is just a winding up श्लोक and the main ideas are repetition which we have seen in the previous श्लोकs. अव्यक्तः अयम्, अव्यक्तः means not available for the organs of perception, इन्द्रिय अगोचरः. Because the five sense organs can experience five sensory properties. The ears can perceive something which has got sound, the eyes can perceive something which has form and color, the nose can perceive something which has smell, the tongue can perceive something which has taste, the skin can perceive something which has got touch. What about आत्मा?

अशब्दम् अस्पर्शम् अरूपम् अव्ययम् तथा अरसम् नित्यम् अगन्धवत् च यत् ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-३-१५ ॥

आत्मा is free from शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध. These five properties belong to matter. They belong to the पञ्चभूतs, five elements. If you remember तत्त्वबोध, अकाश has got शब्द, वायु has got शब्द and स्पर्श, अग्नि has got शब्द, स्पर्श and रूप, जलम् has got शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप and रस, पृथिवी has got शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस and गन्ध. Five elements have got these five properties. Matter alone has properties. And आत्मा being non-material, it can never be perceived. Therefore, अव्यक्तः. And therefore only अचिन्त्यः. If I cannot perceive that, I cannot even conceive. Because all our concepts are based on our perceptual experience; when it is not perceptually available, how can you think of that? Try to imagine an आत्मा which is free from sound. People say that स्वामिजि in meditation I tried to imagine an आत्मा without sound, without form, without smell - I end up in a total blank. Therefore you will arrive at only blankness because mind cannot conceive of something. Then how to think of आत्मा? Don't think of! What you think of is not आत्मा. Then what is आत्मा? The thinker of, is आत्मा. So it is never thought, but it is ever the thinker. Never the object. Ever the subject. Therefore, अचिन्त्यः. Then अविकार्यः. It is free from the षड्विकारः. These are all repetitions. We have seen these ideas before. That अव्यक्तः and अचिन्त्यः alone was previously called as अप्रमेयः. अप्रमेयः is अव्यक्तः + अचिन्त्यः. And therefore, कृष्ण concludes: अर्जुन having known these facts, what facts: you are आत्मा, I am आत्मा, भीष्म is आत्मा, द्रोण is आत्मा, you cannot kill, as आत्मा you cannot kill भीष्म or द्रोण and by those actions you are not going to get पुण्यम् or पापम् and therefore why do you cry? There is no scope for crying at all. तस्मात् एवम् विदित्वा. Having known the आत्मा very clearly, what should you do? शोचितुम् न अर्हसि. You should not grieve over any person. Nobody deserves grief in life. If you can help someone, do that; it is wonderful. But by grieving, you are not changing any fact. The mortal body is not going to come back by shedding tears; the immortal Self is not going to die also; therefore fact cannot be changed; see the fact as it is and whatever you have to do in a situation do, why do you cry? Therefore अनुशोचितुम् न अर्हसि. Now go back to the introductory verse: गतासून् अगतासून् च न अनुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः. Wise people never grieve. If you understand this fact, you are also wise. Then why do you grieve at all. So grief is foolishness, grief is ignorance, grief is delusion. More in the next class.

CHAPTER 02, VERSES 26-29

अच्छेद्योऽयमदाह्योऽयमवलेद्योऽशोष्य एव च ।

नित्यः सर्वगतः स्थाणुरचलोऽयं सनातनः ॥ २-२४॥

अव्यक्तोऽयमचिन्त्योऽयमविकार्योऽयमुच्यते ।

तस्मादेवं विदित्वैनं नानुशोचितुमर्हसि ॥ २-२५॥

Lord कृष्ण wants to help अर्जुन to get out of his sorrow and also make him fight this war. Because that happens to be his स्वधर्म. And for this purpose, he is giving the teaching from three different levels, I said: one is आध्यात्मिक दृष्टि – the philosophical level, the other is धार्मिक दृष्टि – from moral level and the third is लौकिक दृष्टि – from practical worldly level. Of this, the first approach is the philosophical approach in which Lord कृष्ण gives him आत्मज्ञानम्, the true nature of every individual he talks about. And the main teaching is from verse no.12 and it is up to verse no.25, which we saw in the last few classes. And through this teaching Lord कृष्ण pointed out that our real nature is Consciousness – चैतन्य स्वरूपम् and our physical personality, our emotional personality, as well as our intellectual personality they are all only our incidental features, none of them are our real nature. And then he talked about the nature of that चैतन्यम्.

- First he pointed out that आत्मा is नित्यः, eternal.
- Then he pointed out: आत्मा सत्यः, that consciousness is independently existent, it does not depend upon matter for its existence.
- Then आत्मा सर्वगतः, consciousness pervades everywhere, it is not a localized phenomenon, it is unlocated principle, unlike the body.
- Then fourthly he said: आत्मा अप्रमेयः, that this consciousness can never be experienced as an object because it is ever the experiencer-subject. अप्रमेयः.
- Then fifthly he said: that this consciousness is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता, it does not perform any action and therefore does not have any पुण्यम् or पापम्, it is कर्म अतितः कर्मफल अतितः च.

➤ And then sixthly and finally, Lord कृष्ण said that आत्मा निर्विकारः, this consciousness is not subject to any change. Even when we talk about higher state of consciousness - people use these words higher state of consciousness, lower state of consciousness, etc. According to शास्त्रs, there is no higher or lower state of consciousness, because if consciousness is also subject to states - higher and lower - it then indirectly means that it is subject to modifications. Therefore, if at all we use the word the higher and lower state, it is not a state of consciousness, it is only a state of mind. The mind can be in a higher state when the thoughts are noble, सत्त्विक. And the mind can be in the intermediary state when the thoughts are राजसिक. The mind can be in lower state when the thoughts are तामसिक. Therefore the mind and the thoughts can have superior and inferior states; there is no such thing called higher or lower state of consciousness because it is निर्विकारः.

And कृष्ण concluded this teaching by saying अर्जुन you should understand that you are that आत्मा and not only you are that आत्मा, भीष्म is also that आत्मा alone, the body is only a temporary vesture. वासांसि जीर्णानि यथा विहाय and द्रोण is also आत्मा; therefore there is no question of anyone killing anyone or there is no question of anyone being killed by anyone. And once you understand this you will be free from all guilt. And therefore कृष्ण concluded saying in verse no.25, तस्मात् एवम् विदित्वा, having known that I am the आत्मा, न अनुशोचितुम् अर्हसि you should not grieve, you should not shirk your duty. Up to this we saw in the last class. Continuing;

Verse No .26

अथ चैनं नित्यजातं नित्यं वा मन्यसे मृतम् ।

तथापि त्वं महाबाहो नैनं शोचितुमर्हसि ॥ २-२६॥

अथ च एनम् नित्य-जातम् नित्यम् वा मन्यसे मृतम् ।

तथा अपि त्वम् महा-बाहो न एनम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि ॥ २-२६॥

अथ च एनम् नित्य-जातम् नित्यम् वा मृतम् मन्यसे तथा अपि हे महा- बाहो! त्वम् एनम् शोचितुम् न अर्हसि ।

In these verses, beginning from 26, कृष्ण is giving a hypothetical argument. Suppose अर्जुन does not accept this Vedantic teaching. Because always the Vedantic approach is never to impose the teaching on anyone. It is a clean sharing of what the teacher knows with the student; the student has to be convinced and he must accept; but there is no question of imposition of the teaching. So कृष्ण says: अर्जुन you may not be able to accept this आत्मा. You may conclude that there is no such thing called आत्मा because nobody has seen this आत्मा and you yourselves say that आत्मा cannot be seen also, अप्रमेयः. Perhaps, the आत्मा may be an imagination and you may not be willing to accept that. And there are other systems of philosophy also who does not accept this वेदान्त.

a) And there are certain philosophies, certain systems which accept an आत्मा within the body, like a branch of Buddhism, they accept that there is an आत्मा other than the body but their philosophy is that the आत्मा is constantly changing subject to birth and death. They believe in the आत्मा and they accept that the आत्मा is consciousness but they say that it is not eternal consciousness, it is a perishable consciousness. अर्जुन you may believe in that आत्मा. नित्य-जातम् नित्यम् मृतम्. It is called क्षणिक विज्ञान वादः, which says that there is an आत्मा, appears and disappears, like that strobe light it just burns off and on or even car signal light. It is born and gone. Suppose you accept that philosophy.

b) Or there is another system of philosophy called the चार्वाक philosophy. It is almost like modern science. He does not accept even a mind, because he asks for a proof for the existence of mind. He does not accept the mind, he does not accept intellect, he does not accept the आत्मा also. And according to that philosophy, this physical body alone is आत्मा. आत्मा means the self. Therefore, he says body alone is the आत्मा. Other than that there is nothing and there is no mind other than the body, therefore there is no one surviving the death of the body, therefore there is no heaven, no hell, therefore no travel after death, therefore he does not believe in कर्म, श्राद्ध, previous जन्म, future जन्म, nothing he believes. He says: I am the body. What type of body? A temporary body. And the body is आत्मा.

कृष्ण says suppose you believe only in a temporary self, which is the body or the buddhistic self. He says even in such a case, you should not get out of your duty. Why? He gives the reason. This is called अभ्युपेत्य वादः, giving a hypothetical argument. अथ च. अर्जुन, suppose you believe in the आत्मा, आत्मा means yourselves, which is नित्य-जातम्, which is born constantly and also नित्यम् वा मृतम् and also it dies constantly. Therefore पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्, you believe in. According to वेदान्त, you do not have birth or death, but suppose you do not accept वेदान्त and you say that I am subject to birth and death; he says even then, तथा अपि त्वम् न अनुशोचितुम् अर्हसि, death should not be a cause of sorrow for you. So तथा अपि, हे महाबाहो! हे अर्जुन! त्वम् शोचितुम् न अर्हसि. You should not grieve. Why you should not grieve? कृष्ण himself is going to explain further:

Verse No .27

जातस्य हि ध्रुवो मृत्युर्ध्रुवं जन्म मृतस्य च ।

तस्मादपरिहार्येऽर्थे न त्वं शोचितुमर्हसि ॥ २-२७॥

जातस्य हि ध्रुवः मृत्युः ध्रुवम् जन्म मृतस्य च ।

तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे न त्वम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि ॥ २-२७॥

हि जातस्य मृत्युः ध्रुवः, मृतस्य च जन्म ध्रुवम्, तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे त्वम् शोचितुम् न अर्हसि ।

This is an important verse in which कृष्ण gives a very very practical wisdom. You need not learn वेदान्त. You need not even believe in आत्मा. Just have some common sense intelligence, you can live happily. And what is that common sense intelligence कृष्ण says:

Suppose अर्जुन you take that you are the body, because you don't believe in a surviving mind, you don't believe in a surviving आत्मा, need not; suppose you are the body. So then you should learn to understand the nature of the body. You know that this body is born on a particular date, because you yourselves present the date of birth; wherever you go, the first thing is the date of birth, joining the school, company joining, anything date of birth is important. And from simple common sense experience you know what: जातस्य मृत्युः ध्रुवः. Learn to assimilate this - whatever is born will have to die one day. Just because I close my eyes, the fact is not going to be different. You cannot make the world dark by closing the eyes. And that anything born is subject to death is proved by three प्रमाणाः – प्रत्यक्ष प्रमाण tells me that daily reading the newspaper in obituary column somebody or the other is dying. Therefore, I know that there is no difference between the body of that person and this particular body that I have or the body of my mother or the body of my father or the body of my wife or the body of my husband, all of them are पञ्च भूतात्मकम् and the other पञ्चभूत शरीरम् is dying, that means every one of these bodies also has to die. This is प्रत्यक्ष प्रमाणम्.

Not only प्रत्यक्ष, अनुमानः – inference also tells me that whatever has a beginning should necessarily have an end. यत् कृतकम् तत् अनित्यम् कृतकत्वात् घटवत्. Whatever is a product will have an end. Therefore logic also tells me this body or भीष्म's body or द्रोण's body, everyone will have to die. And if you are not satisfied by perception and inference, the scriptures also clearly say;

तत् यथा इह कर्मचितो लोकः क्षीयते एवम् एव अमुत्र पुण्यचितो लोकः अपि क्षीयते ॥ छान्दोग्योपनिषद् ८-१-६ ॥

Therefore, anything born out of कर्म – good कर्म or bad कर्म, it will have a beginning and end, the body is born out of कर्म and कर्म is like the oil when the oil goes away, is depleted; then the fire, the lamp also will go away. Similarly, life is like a lamp which is supported by the oil of कर्म and every day this कर्म is getting depleted whether you remember it or not, whether you want to remember it or not, अर्जुन, this is fact - जातस्य मृत्युः ध्रुवम्. Meditate on this fact. Assimilate this fact. And generally we do not mind applying this law, with regard to all other people, but we never want to apply this law to myself or the immediate surroundings. Anywhere death happens, we are all great philosophers. If we are born, death will happen! But what happens to the philosophy, when it happens somewhere around? That means I have not assimilated. Assimilation of a law is applying that law in my life. Assimilation of a law is applying that law in my life. And as long as I do not do that, it is only unassimilated knowledge. It is no more wisdom. Therefore कृष्ण says जातस्य मृत्युः ध्रुवम्. ध्रुवम् means definite. And that is why you will find in all पौराणिक stories that यक्षःs doing तपस्. This is the general trend of all the stories, whether it is हिरण्यकशिपु or रावण or कुम्भकर्ण etc., any यक्षः. And they will do such a sincere and serious तपस् and make the ब्रह्म appear. Then he will ask the भक्त what वरम् he wants. Immediately he will blurt out. I want a boon that I will never die. Immediate reply of ब्रह्म is what: that is not possible. This is the general trend. There afterwards, they will try to get immortality by all other methods. I should not be killed during day time or night time, I should not be killed by animals, I should not be killed by weapons - all these rules they will ask. भगवान् will remember the loophole and say OK, unlike our Government; therefore ब्रह्माजि or विष्णु or शिव will thoughtfully say OK and then take नरसिंह and finish or रामावतारम् and finish or some अवतारम् and finish. Through all these stories what do we learn? No one can escape death. Even when the Lord takes अवतार, the same story. Whether it is राम अवतार or कृष्ण अवतार, there is a date of arrival and there is a date of departure. The only thing is you put in a nice language स्वर्ण आरोहणम्, if it is अवतार. If it is संन्यासि you say समाधि. You may change the language, but the fact remains that the physical body will go, will have to go. And therefore, जातस्य हि ध्रुवः मृत्युः. The other side of the coin is ध्रुवम् जन्म मृतस्य च. Death is never the end of a जीव. This is unique to our religion. So the other religions, they think that human life is the only life and a person who dies, after death, a person will either go to permanent heaven, that means those people who follow their religion and all other people like us, we will go to permanent hell. And Hindu teachers like us will have a special hell, because we are misleading all of you! They will all say that. We do not want to tell anything about it. They have got the death and there afterwards either permanent hell or permanent heaven; whereas in Hinduism, we say, death is never an end of the individual, he has got rebirth also. That is why capital punishment is possible in Hinduism because, in other religions, capital punishment is putting an end to the individual, you are not improving the individual. Whereas in Hinduism, even when the capital punishment is given, the जीव can improve, because the next जन्म is there, because he has exhausted that कर्म, punishment he has got, he will get the better जन्म and at least he is purified by that. And therefore ध्रुवम् जन्म मृतस्य च. Rebirth is there certainly for a person who is dead, that is called पुनरपि जननम् पुनरपि मरणम् cycle. And therefore what is the first lesson you should learn in life.

a) The first lesson to learn is to accept life and death as an intrinsic part of the physical जीव or the physical body. And once you learn to accept them, there is no resistance towards them; the very resistance is called sorrow. Therefore, तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे त्वम् शोचितुम् न अर्हसि. It's a very very important line. अपरिहार्य अर्थ means a choiceless situation, incurable situation, remediless situation is called अपरिहार्यः अर्थ. I would like to translate it as choiceless-situation. That means by using my effort, my will, my knowledge, or even by using God's grace I will not be able to change certain situation. We do not say all situations are choiceless, but there are many situations which are choiceless situations. And with regard to choiceless situation, what should we do? There is only one intelligent that you can do and that is total surrender, total acceptance. Accept the choiceless situation, is one of the important lessons of गीता. And accept with understanding and not with murmuring, grumbling, crying, making other people also miserable. Not that way. Accept with maturity, without complaint, without irritation, without getting angry with the whole world. When I don't accept a choiceless situation, I become angry with everyone, even God and the planets and the world. These are all non-acceptance. And suppose a person says: I would love to accept but I am not able to accept what to do? I want to but I am not able to. Then what should I do? That is only one way: because you cannot change, the choiceless situation is not going to change. If I am not prepared, there is only way out, that is prepare yourselves. If I am not prepared, learn to prepare and what is learning to prepare: first assimilate this fact by meditating on this fact, by dwelling on this fact you assimilate and in addition to that, take the help of devotion of Lord; after all according to वेदान्त Lord is nothing but your own higher potential or power, परा प्रकृति it is called. By praying to the Lord, I am tapping my own immunity system, psychological immunity system, my own inner power, my own inner potential I am tapping. Therefore, by wisdom and surrender, by assimilation and surrender, strengthen the mind so that you can accept all choiceless situations. If you study the life of an individual, our own life you find choiceless situations are more than choicefull situation. That is more that the repeated election itself shows how much choice you have got. Just if I study my life, my entire past is a choiceless situation. I cannot change my past whatever mistake I have done. My parentage, my date of birth and my place of birth, my education and the family, the wife, husband, according to Indian law, husband and wife are stuck. You cannot change. And the children and I might be born and brought up by someone other than my parents. I might have lost my father or mother early or both of them early or both of them might be there I am born and brought out somewhere in the hostel or something. I might have lacked parental love, so many things could have happened, including the ill-treatment by the parents. Or they need not directly ill-treat, they might have quarreled among themselves all the time that is enough to disturb my psyche. All these things are my past. I cannot change. I should learn to accept my past and whatever damage is done to my mind, I can try to retrieve or change but the past cannot be changed. Therefore, $1/3$ rd is gone. Because past~present~future are there. Of the 3, $1/3$ is gone. What about present? Present also is choiceless situation, because present is that which is already present. Present means what: present is that which is already present. That you are in the middle of this class, you cannot change that fact, because it is already an obtaining fact. Next moment, you want to sit here or not, that is your choice. But the present moment you are already here, you cannot alter the fact. And therefore, present is also choiceless. So $2/3$ is gone. How miserable we are you see. 3 is there and out of that 2 has gone. What is the next one? Future. With regard to future also, how much choice we have? There are many facts over which we have no choice at all. So we are only going to grow old only. Even though I would like to say that I am growing young, whether I like or not, old age and death and the consequent separation, what all things will happen because of that, all of them are choiceless. And the weather and the people and so many things are there and therefore a big chunk of the future also is choiceless. So therefore, past is choiceless, present is choiceless and part of future is also choiceless. Then where is the choice? A small part of the future. Whether to eat in the night or not? To eat in hotel or not? In that also, you have to eat whatever is served; that is a different matter. So therefore, whatever is available, you have to eat. You have got certain minimum choices to eat or not to eat, how much to eat etc., you can decide a few things. Therefore choicefull situations are few, choiceless situations are many.

Therefore the first lesson we should learn in life is to learn to gracefully accept the choiceless.

b) And there are certain situations which we can alter. भगवान् has given us free-will that even our fate can be changed in certain cases; that is why even the very 'व्रतम्' "सावित्री व्रतम्", the power of सावित्री, is shown. मार्कण्डेय story is there, we have got enough stories in पुराणIs to show that we do have some power over our fate and some part of fate we can alter. People repeatedly ask this question. Can fate be changed? For that the answer is: We ask a counter-question. Suppose you got to a doctor and ask, I have got some sickness. Can you cure it? What will the doctor say? Will he say: I will cure? No. Will he say: I can't cure? No. Before answering he will say: I will see what type of disease it is. And in certain types of diseases, he will say: nothing to worry, I can cure you completely, only requires a mild surgery. If it is done, the rest of life you will be fine. There are certain diseases, completely can be cured. Certain other diseases, he will say: there is no cure, but we have got certain medicines, using the medicines and certain disciplines, you can keep the problem under control and you can manage your life. Sugar, pressure, like that; you can manage to survive. And there are certain diseases the doctor will say: I have no cure, it is a written off case, you have six months to live, 8 months to live, you can do the prayers, go to whatever temples you want to go and come, etc. Thus depending upon the intensity of disease: either total cure, or partial cure or no cure. Similarly, our fate is also of 3 types: certain type of fate, totally curable by doing remedies, प्रायश्चित्त, prayer, etc. and certain type of fate, you cannot totally cure, we can manage and certain type of fate, you cannot do anything. But the tragedy or the unfortunate thing is you do not know to which category your fate belongs to. And therefore you assume that there is a remedy. And whatever remedy is prescribed, I take to that remedy and I should remember that, even when there is a remedy, it will take time and until the remedy works, the situation is choiceless. After taking the medicine for 3 months or 6 months, the headache or the stomach ache may go. But until the remedy works, the situation is choiceless. Therefore, keep taking the medicine and accept the choiceless situation until the remedy works. And therefore, the most important attitude in life is acceptance of the choiceless.

And therefore कृष्ण tells here, हे अर्जुन! अपरिहार्ये अर्थे, with regard to the choiceless situation, which is called fact, त्वम् शोचितुम् न अर्हसि. Do not grieve. If it is choicefull – act; if it is choiceless – accept. Therefore, your life is a series of actions and acceptance. Where is the room for grief? Either you act or you accept. Act or Accept. Act or Accept. One of the members in the family has got certain behavioral problem. Try to correct – Act. And you say स्वामिजि my husband is not at all changing. Then, better Accept. Why can't you talk to my husband, स्वामिजि? If I call your husband, he says, my wife is not changing? So therefore, what should I tell? Accept both. You accept him, let him accept you. That is the only way out. न त्वम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि. Continuing;

Verse No .28

अव्यक्तादीनि भूतानि व्यक्तमध्यानि भारत ।

अव्यक्तनिधनान्येव तत्र का परिदेवना ॥ २-२८॥

अव्यक्त-आदीनि भूतानि व्यक्त-मध्यानि भारत ।

अव्यक्त-निधनानि एव तत्र का परिदेवना ॥ २-२८॥

हे भारत! भूतानि अव्यक्त-आदीनि व्यक्त-मध्यानि अव्यक्त-निधनानि एव, तत्र परिदेवना का?

So in this verse, कृष्ण is explaining the phenomenon of birth and death, because when we understand birth and death very clearly, the sting, the impact of those two or their capacity to hurt us will be radically reduced. After all, ignorance creates lot of projections. Somebody had nicely said: Ignorance is the darkroom in which all the negatives are developed. Think of it! Ignorance is the darkroom in which all the negatives are developed. In our mind also, all राग-द्वेष, काम-क्रोध, लोभ-मोह are very well developed, because it is तमसा व्याप्तम्, because of ignorance. Therefore अर्जुन understand the phenomenon of birth and death, your fear will go away or at least, it will become less. And what is the understanding? Really speaking, there is no question of destruction of anything or creation of anything. Total destruction does not exist, total creation cannot exist because even according to the science, by the law of the conservation of matter and energy, you should know that “nothing is created, nothing is destroyed.” Even भगवान् cannot create even a milligram of matter. We are ready to accept the omnipotence of the Lord. But our definition of omnipotence is: “an omnipotent one is he or she, who can do everything that is possible.” The very definition of omnipotence is capacity to do the possible. Creation of matter is impossible which means even omnipotent God does not and cannot create even a milligram of matter. Then where is the question of जन्म and मरणम्, birth and destruction. So it is not there? Then what do you mean by birth and destruction? What it means is changing from one form to another is called birth and death. Phenomenon is only one. One phenomenon is called birth from one angle and it is called death from another angle. So when tomorrow is born, it is the death of today. When the water is evaporated into steam, the conversion is called death or destruction from the standpoint of water, it is called creation from the standpoint of steam. And similarly, construction of this building, construction of this body. What is the birth and growth of this body? Destruction of lot of idlis and dosais and sambar is the creation of the body. We do not talk about their destruction. Daily we are doing that. We are only seeing the construction of this body. So therefore, everything is changing from one form to another; the previous condition is called the unmanifest condition, the present condition is called the manifest condition. Therefore, he says, भूतानि अव्यक्त-आदीनि. All the physical bodies existed before. All our physical bodies existed before. Before means even before the creation came – प्रलय काले, before the Big Bang to put in scientific language. All our bodies existed. But in what form? Not in this form, but in potential form. You may call it energy. In वेदान्त, it is called प्रकृति. प्रकृति means the most rudimentary form of matter is called प्रकृति which is not even energy, but further reduce the energy into the most fundamental form, because energy is at least there in four or five different forms. You have to condense all these energies and convert into one single basic form. That in वेदान्त is called प्रकृतिः, otherwise called अव्यक्तम्, otherwise called माया, otherwise called शक्ति, etc. Therefore our bodies existed but in unmanifest form. And now, in due course of time, all those unmanifest matter or particle, they have all condensed to form this physical body which is in visible condition, व्यक्त-मध्यानि. For a few years, maybe fifty, sixty, seventy, eighty, ninety, hundred, hundred ten, hundred twenty; I do not know what is the highest; you may break the Guinness Book of Records by living for 150 years; a tortoise lives for 350 years one may live like that. But one day, अव्यक्त-निधनानि एव and again all these bodies will have to go back to invisible unmanifest condition. So the conversion from unmanifest to manifest is called जन्म, the conversion from manifest to unmanifest is called the मरणम्. We are only using two words but the same set of matter is always there. And therefore कृष्ण says, भूतानि, भूतानि means all beings here representing the bodies, शरीराणि, अव्यक्त-आदीनि – was unmanifest before, व्यक्त-मध्यानि – is manifest in the middle, अव्यक्त-निधनानि – again it will become unmanifest. So if you want an example, like an arrow, traveling from that side of the hall to this side. Imagine it is going fast. Now beyond this enclosure you do not see because it is all dark, eternal distance, it is all darkness you do not see; suddenly you see the arrow coming. And if you take to travel from this area to that area it may take a few minutes and then again the other side is again unknown. What was I before my date of birth? I do not know. Thank God, I do not know. Not to be caught by knowing! Again what is going to happen after death, again I do not know; between two big Unknowns, there is a temporary brief Known existence. This is called Life. तत्र का परिदेवना. So don't worry about that. Make use of the life, in the fullest form. तत्र का परिदेवना. What is the use of worrying? Continuing;

आश्चर्यवत्त्वैनमन्यः शृणोति श्रुत्वाप्येनं वेद न चैव कश्चित् ॥२-२९॥

आश्चर्यवत् पश्यति कश्चित् एनम् आश्चर्यवत् वदति तथा एव च अन्यः ।

आश्चर्यवत् च एनम् अन्यः शृणोति श्रुत्वा अपि एनम् वेद न च एव कश्चित् ॥

कश्चित् एनम् आश्चर्यवत् पश्यति, तथा एव च अन्यः एनम् आश्चर्यवत् वदति, अन्यः च एनम् आश्चर्यवत् शृणोति; श्रुत्वा अपि च कश्चित् एव न वेद ।

So here कृष्ण says: “अर्जुन! Even if you are not able to understand this आत्मा and even if you are not able to believe in this आत्मा or accept this आत्मा, I will not be surprised because this topic is so extremely subtle that it requires a lot of preparation for the understanding of this आत्मा.” Therefore, He says, “आत्मा is a wonder and आत्मज्ञानम् is a greater wonder.” Like they say, the theory of relativity, only a few people have understood it seems. So if this local theory of relativity itself is like that, what to talk of the absolute reality? Which is beyond the sense organs, which is supposed to be beyond the mind also, which is supposed to be beyond all concepts and therefore कृष्ण says: the teaching itself is a wonder; In fact, we need not keep this teaching secret because even if you tell everyone, it will remain a secret. In that case, why should you not tell it? Therefore teach it. This is called open secret. And why is this knowledge a very subtle and secret one. I will just give you a hint then we will see the details of the श्लोक later, only a hint now. This is a secret teaching because, all the time कृष्ण is talking about the आत्मा and as even कृष्ण describes, we will think that कृष्ण is talking about some object in the creation. When कृष्ण says: 'It is नित्यम्, It is eternal, It is all-pervading' - as even we listen to that we will try to imagine, where is it? Could it be space? How it will look like? So we will try to form concepts after concepts and there are some people who form a concept and hope to sit in meditation and think that one day that peculiar mysterious आत्मा will give दर्शन. And they will find that the more they meditate nothing comes. Now the snag is where? All the time, we should remember, आत्मा is not an object that is being talked about but It is the very subject about which कृष्ण is talking. Therefore looking for the आत्मा is the basic mistake. This is called objectification-orientation. In संस्कृत it is called परोक्षता बुद्धिः, objectification-orientation. You imagine some mysterious ब्रह्मन्, mysterious truth and look for some mysterious thing to happen in your meditation. Some people say: 'I am hearing some peculiar sound when I am meditating.' दयानन्द स्वामिजि used to tell that, it must be - you are so much hungry that some is coming from stomach and you think that it is आत्मा, ब्रह्मन् and all; it is simple internal disturbance. You should properly eat and start meditating! Some people say that they saw some ring, ring, etc. I saw flash appearing and disappearing; all the time we expect something to happen either in the form of an event or in the form of an object and whatever you experience is not आत्मा because, it is an object. And when I negate everything, you tend to conclude that if you negate everything, then it must be शून्यम्, nothing is there. Now the teacher has a very tough job, he has to negate everything and also tell that I am not talking about 'nothingness.' I have to tell that. Not only I have to tell, you should understand also and accept; both are necessary. I have to tell and you should understand and accept. Until that we have to work. Once it is understood, कृष्ण says that this is the most beautiful thing to happen. Details in the next class.

CHAPTER 02, VERSES 29-31 Verse no.28;

Verse No .29

अव्यक्तादीनि भूतानि व्यक्तमध्यानि भारत ।

अव्यक्तनिधनान्येव तत्र का परिदेवना ॥ २-२८॥

आश्चर्यवत्पश्यति कश्चिदेन्माश्चर्यवद्ब्रूदति तथैव चान्यः ।

आश्चर्यवत् च एनम् अन्यः शृणोति श्रुत्वा अपि एनम् वेद न च एव कश्चित् ॥ २-२९॥

कश्चित् एनम् आश्चर्यवत् पश्यति, तथा एव च अन्यः एनम् आश्चर्यवत् वदति, अन्यः च एनम् आश्चर्यवत् शृणोति; श्रुत्वा अपि च कश्चित् एव न वेद ।

All these verses, beginning from the 12th verse onwards, Lord कृष्ण has been talking about आत्म-स्वरूपम्; what is the nature of आत्मा i.e., the real-Self and how the आत्मा is different from अनात्मा, अनात्मा meaning the body-mind-complex. And कृष्ण had to differentiate आत्मा and अनात्मा because both of them are mixed together, they are not physically separate and since they cannot be physically separated, we have a confusion and therefore कृष्ण sorted out this confusion by differentiating आत्मा, the consciousness from अनात्मा, the body-mind-complex. And कृष्ण pointed out the अनात्मा is not the real You, it is only a fake you; it is only a pseudo you because it is temporary. You can use this pseudo, i.e., the अनात्मा for transactional purposes, but ultimately you have to recognize that I am someone different from the body-mind-complex. This wisdom of the real I is आत्मज्ञानम्. This is called Self-realization and this is called ज्ञानयोगः and this is called साङ्ख्य योगः, which is the title of the 2nd chapter. And कृष्ण wants to complete the discussion. In these two verses, 29 and 30, is the formal conclusion of the आत्मज्ञानम् topic and कृष्ण has introduced this topic to solve अर्जुन's problem of sorrow. Because according to वेदान्त, ultimately, Self-realization alone can eliminate the problem of sorrow for good. Any other method can temporarily remove the sorrow or it can remove the sorrow to a limited extent but the total removal is possible only through Self-realization. And therefore कृष्ण has presented आत्मज्ञानम् for शोक निवृत्तिः, freedom from sorrow. And now concluding this topic in the 29th verse, कृष्ण is talking about the glory of this knowledge. आत्मज्ञान महिमा, आत्मज्ञान विभूति, आत्मज्ञान माहात्म्यम्. What is the glory of this knowledge? We can talk about many glories, but कृष्ण emphasizes its, what you call, the rareness or its uniqueness. This is the greatest wonder in the universe. Self-knowledge is the greatest आश्चर्यम् in the universe. Now what does कृष्ण mean by the word आश्चर्यम् or wonder?

a) The idea is this: every human being is knowingly or unknowingly looking for only certain fundamental goals in life. Even though superficially the goals are different, one may want success in business, another may want success in politics, another may want to extend his family, even though the goals are superficially different, fundamentally, the goals are the same alone. And what are they? A sense of fulfillment in life. So one wants it through knowledge - I mean material knowledge, one wants it through job or through politics, or through building things, various people use various methods but in and through everyone is seeking fulfillment in life.

b) And the second basic goal is a sense of discovery of security. There is the constant sense of insecurity in everyone. In fact, when I do not have money there is one type of insecurity; when I have lot of money there is another type of insecurity. Insecurity varies, the type of insecurity varies but it is constantly there. Thus, discovery of security.

c) And finally, discovery of happiness.

Thus fulfillment, security, happiness etc., are the basic goals that everyone has. And according to वेदान्त all these basic goals are represented by one word, i.e., आत्मा or ब्रह्मन्. In fact, ब्रह्मन् or आत्मा is another word for fulfillment. It is another word for security. It is another word for happiness. Therefore, a person knowingly or unknowingly is seeking what? आत्मा alone. If I ask him: Do you seek आत्मा? He may say that 'I am not seeking.' But if I ask him do you seek fulfillment in life, he will say: Yes that is what I am seeking. Then we will say that is called आत्मा. Similarly, security is called आत्मा. Similarly, peace is called आत्मा. Therefore वेदान्त says all people are seeking आत्मा alone. And you know, what is the greatest wonder in that seeking? The goal i.e., आत्मा which is sought after by everyone happens to be the very nature of the seeker. So the sought i.e., the goal which is called peace, security, fulfillment, etc., which is otherwise called आत्मा, the आत्मा happens to be one's own intrinsic Self. In fact, in संस्कृत, the word आत्मा means Self and therefore the greatest wonder is that everyone is seeking himself or herself without knowing that he is seeking himself or herself. And since he does not know that he is seeking himself, he goes all over the world, in search of whom? In search of himself. So varieties of sciences he studies, varieties of business, varieties of accomplishment, varieties of this and that, all those things - not knowing that what he seeking is himself and when ultimately वेदान्त points out that what you are seeking is yourself - that discovery becomes the greatest wonder - I have been looking for myself only. But the unfortunate thing is for peace and security, we will seek everywhere in the world, except one place. The greatest hiding place is, you know what: Ourselves. That is why they give this example, that a person was traveling in a train and it was a long journey, Trivandrum to Jammu or so, 3 days or 4 days journey and this traveler was a business man. And he had lot of money - 500 rupee notes 100's of them he was having. And daily morning he counts the money to make sure that the money is safe. And just opposite side there was another traveler - No.1 thief. His aim is before we reach the destination the money should change the hands, change the hands means not by donation but by other method. And therefore he plans that during the night when the other person is sleeping, I have to somehow steal the money. And then night throughout he searches all over; that man's pocket, under the pillow, suitcase, everything he searches and he is not able to find the money. Then he thinks that perhaps it has been handed over. Next day morning he comes, he wakes up and again this fellow is counting the money. It has become a big challenge for the thief because he has successfully done it every time but this time he is not able to do it. He thought that better luck, next night because there are four nights. Next day also the same thing and again failure. Then the fourth day came, he could not find out and therefore he opened up his mind - the thief. He said that I will tell you my intentions, 'I am a thief and I tried my best to take your money, I never succeeded, please tell me, it has become like a thriller, where did you hide the money.' Then the businessman said: 'I hid in a place where you will never search. I hid the money in that place where you will never search. What is that? Under your own pillow. So what I do is, night before going to bed, you will go to the bathroom, therefore I hide under your pillow then I feel it is the safest place for the money to be under the pillow or underneath and early morning you get up and go, I take away the money; that is all.' Just as the thief never searched his own pillow, right from birth we have never even remotely thought that peace is in us, security is in us, happiness is in us, even in our wildest dreams we did not visualize. And therefore बालस्तावत् क्रीडासक्तः as a baby I thought it was in the toy, biscuits and when I grew up, biscuits continued but it is a different type of biscuit - gold biscuit and there afterwards one after the other,

बालस्तावत् क्रीडासक्तः तरुणस्तावत् तरुणीसक्तः। वृद्धस्तावत् चिन्तासक्तः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ७ ॥

I tried it get it from my toys, from the spouse, from the children, from the grand children, from all over the world I tried, I never tried one thing and i.e., myself. And therefore, आत्मा happens to be the greatest secret. Why it is the greatest secret? Because that is one which will never search for. When ultimately, the teacher says that you are what you are seeking, then it comes as a shock. And even when the उपनिषत्s introduces आत्मा or ब्रह्मन्, then also we think, I cannot be आनन्द and security; we think आत्मा or ब्रह्मन् is another object which is a source of joy. We think that it is another type of toy. Then again the teacher has to tell - never look for आत्मा you will never come across, never look for ब्रह्मन् you will never come across - what I am saying is: You are that आत्मा or ब्रह्मन्. And therefore ब्रह्मन् is not a new substance which is revealed by वेदान्त. ब्रह्मन् is not a new substance revealed by वेदान्त; but it is a new status that I discover about myself. Until I come to वेदान्त, I have taken myself as insecure, I have taken myself as an unpleasant person and वेदान्त removes that misconception and what it teaches is that I have a new status: I am secure-I, pleasant-I, happy-I, fulfilled-I. In the scriptures they give the example of कर्ण. When कर्ण goes to कुन्ती, कर्ण never thought he is the sixth पाण्डव. You know the story in महाभारत, that five पाण्डवs are well-known. कर्ण also is a पाण्डव or at least कौन्तेयः, कुन्ती पुत्रः but कर्ण never knew. He thought that there are only five कुन्ती पुत्रs. Imagine, कुन्ती tells him that there is a sixth कौन्तेयः. There is a sixth son for me. Then what will कर्ण ask: where is he? he will ask. Imagine what will कर्ण think. He will never even in his wildest dream imagine that I am that, अहम् कौन्तेयः अस्मि, because he has a very strong misconception that I am सूतपुत्रः, शूरायः. Therefore when कौन्तेयः is introduced, he will look around for that कौन्तेयः, कुन्ती पुत्रः. Then he will ask: Tell me whether he is dark or fair, whether he is tall or short, tell me what is his age, have I ever met him? Then what can कुन्ती say? Can she say you have met him? Can she say that you have not met him? She cannot say you have met him or you have not met him. Because he is not a person to be met by कर्ण, because कौन्तेयः happens to be कर्ण himself. And therefore what is required is तत् that 6th one, you are looking for, happens to be You Yourself. When this revelation takes place, has कर्ण come to know about a new person? When कुन्ती reveals this fact, has कर्ण come to know about a new person? He has not known a new person because this is the very good old कर्ण only. But what he has come to know is, he has known a new status about an already known himself. It is only a recognition of a new status. Not even a new status, an old status, which was hidden from his vision, which he comes to know. And when he realizes; is there anything in front of him? There is nothing new because she is talking about whom? Himself only. And that knowledge is the most silent affair - I am कुन्ती पुत्रः, which is of great consequence because कर्ण's greatest complex was that I am not a क्षत्रिय. क्षत्रिय blood was in him and all the time, अर्जुन and others were teasing - I will not fight with you because you are not a क्षत्रिय. Even द्रौपदी teases him, everybody teases him. कर्ण's biggest complex was I am अक्षत्रियः and when कुन्ती uses the word, what happens: a misconception is gone - "I am a non-क्षत्रिय" notion is dropped and "I am a क्षत्रिय" is owned up. Is there any physical change? No. Is there any mystic experience? No mystic experience. It is a simple and silent recognition of a fact. But in TVs or movie, they will make a lot of noise - just to show that it has far reaching consequences - the moment कुन्ती makes this statement, there will be a daka taka katakada some background music and they will zoom the faces and show it from a distance, etc, etc. and there will sweat in कर्ण's face and कुन्ती will be sweating. Because how to show in TV? Because the affair is a silent happening in the mind. Similarly, here also अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि is a recognition of a fact about Myself. Until now, I thought I am small. Until now, I thought I am insecure. And now I know Security is my name. Fullness is my name. It is a silent dropping of a misconception which has got far reaching consequences, because there afterwards, कर्ण could walk with his chest high. If अर्जुन says you are not a क्षत्रिय; कर्ण can say, I am a क्षत्रिय. Similarly, here also, a notion about Myself is dropped. We are not coming across any new thing and therefore Self-knowledge is the greatest wonder, because whatever I seek, I Am. And therefore कृष्ण says: कश्चित् एनम् आश्चर्यवत् पश्यति. So one student, one seeker sees this fact as a great wonder because he wonders how I missed this fact all along, even though we got a lot of clues in life. When we were children, we postponed our peace of mind for youth. All the children will think, you also would have thought when you were young; I also thought. Always envying the parents, because they need not study for exam; whereas he goes to office and he does not do anything in office also perhaps! Or he does something and he comes and straightaway falls in the sofa and switches on the विनहार, watches movies - no examination, no marks, no worries. Therefore we always thought that parenthood is the happiest thing. Now if we interview, then those days so free, no worries at all, just eat they gave pocket money, everything they gave and so we now envy our childhood days. Now again we may postpone perhaps. Waiting for retirement, स्वामिजि. And I plan to take voluntary retirement, so that I can spend more time. Many people have said that after retirement, I will be at your feet only!! What the thing is now? Before retirement, he was attending three classes; now he is hardly able to make to even one class. (Not referring to anyone here. Remember.) Because always my example will be from some other class; so that I am not creating any guilt in anyone. Now he says, स्वामिजि when I was working, all jobs I could get done through the office; now the thing is: my children are in America and we only two are there and I have to do everything myself - the banks, post-office, then I feel that in the working days I could have studied better. What I want to say is that we always have been postponing security, peace, etc. and we have miserably failed like the horizon it has been only receding further, it has been only a wild goose chase; the very fact that it is receding all the time should have made us think. Is my direction of search the right thing? Because the direction, if it is right, at least after 20 years I should have discovered peace, at least after 40 years I should have discovered, at least after 60 years, I should have discovered. The very fact that it has been receding, indicates that perhaps I may be searching in a wrong direction. But the glory of माया is such that you will go on searching, we never wait even for a moment. By some पुण्य if we come to वेदान्त and then alone discover and when we discover it is the greatest wonder. Sixty years I went after something which is in myself. Like that ब्राह्मण who went to the महामहम् tank for bathing and then after bathing he found his ring was missing; therefore he wanted to search and find the ring and he found that the tank was too crowded for searching and therefore he thought that I will go to some other tank and search because there is no crowd there. He therefore went and searched in the other tank and another person saw that this person is looking for something and asked him; this person said that he is looking for his ring; then he said I will also help you out, because गीता says: कर्मयोगः self-less service, I will also join the search; the third person came and he also joined; then the crowd has come to 25. All are searching, in the very small pond and then one intelligent person came and asked what are you searching for? He said that my ring. Where did you drop? In that tank he said. Fools why are searching for that here? Because it is very well lit and less crowded also. What type of approach it is? It is utterly foolish approach but still people are so sheepish and everybody does the same thing; my great-grand father did that and therefore I also do; my father did therefore I also do and the whole world like a sheep is searching for fullness, security and peace in the world; what is the world? The free tank. Instead of searching here I am searching everywhere and when I discover that it is here it becomes the greatest wonder. Therefore, कश्चित् एनम् आश्चर्यवत् पश्यति. And आश्चर्यवत् वदति तथा एव च अन्यः. Another person reveals this fact as the greatest wonder in the world.

And आश्चर्यवत् च एनम् अन्यः शृणोति one who listens to this fact and he also listens to as the greatest wonder. So listening to this teaching is wonder, seeing this fact is a wonder, revealing this fact to others is wonder. In the field of Self-knowledge, everything is wonder. कृष्ण borrows this idea from कठोपनिषत्. In कठोपनिषत् the same idea is given.

श्रवणायापि बहुभिर्यो न लभ्यः शृण्वन्तोऽपि बहवो यम् न विद्युः ।

आश्चर्यो वक्ता कुशलोऽस्य लब्धाऽऽश्चर्यो ज्ञाता कुशलानुशिष्टः ॥
कठोपनिषत् १-२-७ ॥

The teacher, the गुरु of this आत्मा is a wonder; the शिष्य who receives the knowledge is wonder and among all these wonders, what is the greatest wonder? He says after listening to this teaching for such a long time, some people do not understand it - that is the greatest wonder. Because if we are talking about X, Y, Z, we can think, he does not understand. But all the time the scriptures are talking about what? Myself, which is ever evident conscious people. Therefore, teacher is a wonder, knower is a wonder and a non-knower, the one who does not understand is the greatest wonder. He says श्रुत्वा अपि एनम्, even after listening to many years; कश्चित् न एव वेद some people never understand. You know what is the block? The block is objectification-tendency. We always want to either see the आत्मा or experience the आत्मा, as an object. Therefore, either I look outside or I look inside. I think आत्मा is either outside or inside that is the biggest misconception. The understanding is, आत्मा is neither outside me nor it is inside me and what is it? Is it then Zero? आत्मा is neither outside me nor inside me - it is Me. There is no preposition connecting आत्मा and Myself. And that knack to get is, difficult for some people. Once we get the knack, it is a like a puzzle. Until you get that knack of fitting it properly, you will not be able to. But once you have seen the clue, then it is the easiest thing. Continuing;

Verse No .30

देही नित्यमवध्योऽयं देहे सर्वस्य भारत ।

तस्मात्सर्वाणि भूतानि न त्वं शोचितुमर्हसि ॥ २-३०॥

देही नित्यम् अवध्यः अयम् देहे सर्वस्य भारत ।

तस्मात् सर्वाणि भूतानि न त्वम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि ॥ २-३०॥

हे भारत! सर्वस्य देहे अयम् देही नित्यम् अवध्यः; तस्मात् त्वम् सर्वाणि भूतानि शोचितुम् न अर्हसि ।

After glorifying this knowledge, कृष्ण concludes this आत्मज्ञानम् topic in this श्लोक repeating or summarizing what he has said until now. So what is this summary of this teaching?

a) The first lesson is that the body is mortal, subject to old age, disease and death. We do have a lot of power over these things to some extent but we cannot conquer these three things. Old age is inevitable, disease is inevitable and even if we avoid these two, death is inevitable. And once we are born here, we should be ready to accept this fact. And the most unfortunate thing is we do not know when the death is. That is why when परीक्षित got the शापम् that within seven days he will die, some people thought that it is an unfortunate thing, then परीक्षित said that I am very happy. Because I know that seven days I will live, that is guaranteed. For all the other people, since the time of death is not predicted, it can be any moment. And therefore, first be ready to welcome the death. This mental preparation and this acceptance of physical mortality is the first lesson.

b) And what is the second lesson? Behind the mortal body, is the real I. The mortal body is only the superficial-I, but the real-I is behind the mortal body, which is called देही. Therefore देहः अनित्यः देही नित्यः. And you have to extend this to भीष्म, द्रोण, etc., also. Once you are mentally prepared, there death will not shock you. Certainly, death will disturb the mind, after all we are human beings, death is a very big shock, especially when it is in very close quarters. The study of वेदान्त and assimilation of वेदान्त may not and will not totally remove the disturbance, but it will become tolerable and manageable that I learn to accept it, it disturbs me for some time and I know that this is part of life and I have to continue my journey. Just because one member gets down from the train, the train cannot stop nor can my journey stop, I will have to continue the journey. Therefore the greatest advantage is nothing shocks me. Maximum what happens is disturbance which is manageable disturbance.

And therefore अर्जुन you also assimilate this wisdom. He says: अयम् देही नित्यम् अवध्यः; अयम् देही means this आत्मा, which was described in all the previous श्लोकs, like नित्यः, सत्यः, सर्वगतः, अकर्ता, अभोक्ता, in short the चैतन्यम्, the consciousness is नित्यम् अवध्यः, ever immortal. It is ever indestructible. And where does it reside? सर्वस्य देहे. This permanent-आत्मा, indestructible-आत्मा is encased in the perishable bodies. सर्वस्य देहे वर्तते भारत. सर्वस्य देहे, वध्ये देहे, the body which is mortal. And having appreciated this fact extend the same law with regard to भीष्म and द्रोण. Our problem is what, mortality we are ready to accept but as long as it is taking place elsewhere. But what is really required is extend the law to everyone - whether it is close me or far away from me. And therefore कृष्ण says: सर्वाणि भूतानि शोचितुम् न अर्हसि you should never grieve over any living being, over the death of any living being, over the old age of any living being, whatever help you can do to alleviate the pain you do and if you can try to extend the life by giving medicine etc., if that is also possible we should do. 'After all everybody is perishable, therefore, why should I give medicine?' – don't ask, be careful. Do not say that. Therefore that is not the argument. What is my duty, कृष्ण is going to tell. We are going to discuss the duty in the following verses. My duty is helping the person to be happy and comfortable and make him survive as long as possible. And in spite of all my efforts, when the death comes, then I am supposed to accept it as what: A fact of life.

Therefore, never grieve. And grief is not going to change a fact. Grief is never going to change a fact. Continuing;

Verse No .31

स्वधर्ममपि चावेक्ष्य न विकम्पितुमर्हसि ।

धर्म्याद्धि युद्धाच्छ्रेयोऽन्यत्क्षत्रियस्य न विद्यते ॥ २-३१॥

स्वधर्मम् अपि च अवेक्ष्य न विकम्पितुम् अर्हसि ।

धर्म्यात् हि युद्धात् श्रेयः अन्यत् क्षत्रियस्य न विद्यते ॥ २-३१॥

स्वधर्मम् च अपि अवेक्ष्य विकम्पितुम् न अर्हसि । हि क्षत्रियस्य धर्म्यात् युद्धात् अन्यत् श्रेयः न विद्यते ।

With the previous verse, कृष्ण concludes the discussion of आत्मज्ञानम् or आत्म-अनात्मा विवेक and कृष्ण has given this as a medicine for अर्जुन's sorrow and not only for अर्जुन's sorrow, अर्जुन's delusion also. And what is अर्जुन's delusion? Whether I should fight the war or not? That delusion also must go and अर्जुन must be ready to fight this धर्म युद्धम्. Misplaced अहिम्सा is as much bad as misplaced हिम्सा is. So in the name of non-violence; अर्जुन should not withdraw from the war, because when the non-violent methods are exhausted for the sake of law and order or for the sake of धर्म, a क्षत्रिय should be ready to take to even violent methods. Thus violence or हिम्सा or युद्ध as a last resort is a धार्मिक method only. And therefore, अर्जुन should take to this war. And for this alone, कृष्ण is approaching from three different levels; I said in the introduction, the first level is philosophical level, in संस्कृत it is called आध्यात्मिक दृष्टि; the second level is ethical level - that is धार्मिक दृष्टि; the final level is empirical level - that is लौकिक दृष्टि. With the 30th verse, the philosophical level discussion is over. And if अर्जुन understands कृष्ण's teaching, he does not require any other solution for his problem; but unfortunately many people find it difficult to grasp the philosophical teaching. It requires some amount of maturity. And if that maturity is not there वेदान्त can be easily misinterpreted. Because in the previous verses, कृष्ण said आत्मा is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता and therefore it doesn't have पुण्यम् or पापम्, because it doesn't do any action. Then a person can easily argue, what? Go on doing all the अक्रमम् and he can tell, after all I the आत्मा am अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. And just as कृष्ण is asking अर्जुन to fight, anybody can kill another person and say after all body is perishable. One can quote this: देही नित्यम् अवध्यः अयम् देहे सर्वस्य भारत । After all body is mortal only. What is wrong in killing a person? And I have not killed the real person because he is eternal. Therefore every murderer can abuse the Vedantic teaching that abuse means a person has not understood वेदान्त; because real वेदान्त is never against धर्म. वेदान्त can really co-exist only with धर्म and therefore कृष्ण wants to come down to the next level, that from धार्मिक angle also अर्जुन fighting this war is proper. भीष्म is to be killed not because his body is mortal or द्रोण is to be killed not because his body is mortal, that the bodies are mortal does not mean we can go on killing everyone. भीष्म, द्रोण etc., are to be killed because they are in the अधार्मिक group. Even though भीष्म himself may be great, even though द्रोण himself maybe great, unfortunately, they have joined to दुर्योधन, therefore from ethical angle, whether you know philosophy or not, does not matter, analyzing from ethical angle, moral angle, you have to fight this war and therefore, the धार्मिक angle begins from verse no.31. This goes up to verse no.33. So 31 to 33 is from धार्मिक angle अर्जुन has to fight. So he says: स्वधर्मम् अपि च अवेक्ष्य न विकम्पितुम् अर्हसि । अर्जुन, you might not understand आत्मा, doesn't matter. From the standpoint of your duty, स्वधर्म, you should never have hesitation, you should never waver, you should not think that they are your गुरुs, they are elders; because धर्म is more important, which is शाश्वतम्.

Here कृष्ण uses the word स्वधर्म, which is a technical term and I will just give a brief idea on स्वधर्म. We will be discussing this topic later. धर्म is classified into two types:

- one is called सामान्य धर्म and ➤ another is called विशेष धर्म.

a) सामान्य धर्म means universal धर्म. It does not depend upon a person's वर्ण, whether he is a ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य or शूद्र, whether one is male/female, whether one is ब्रह्मचारी, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ or संन्यासि; certain सामान्य धर्मs are there; general rules are there. In धर्मशास्त्रs they are called यमs and नियमs. अहिंसा is a सामान्य धर्म. सत्यम्, speaking truth is universal धर्म. अस्तेयम्, not taking somebody else's property is a universal धर्म. ब्रह्मचर्यम्, chastity is another universal धर्म. अपरिग्रहम्, simplicity is another धर्म. By simplicity what they mean is that wealth must be equally distributed. As somebody nicely said, nature has provided for human need but nature has not provided for human greed. When there is human greed, one person has got too much food to eat; in fact, he dies of over-eating. And in another place, people do not have enough food to eat, that means there is an imbalance. And I should not be responsible for that imbalance and when I have got more, I should be ready to share with others, that sharing tendency is called अपरिग्रह. This is also universal धर्म. Then शौचम्, cleanliness is universal duty, Hygiene. I should keep my house, I should keep my dress, I should keep my office and also the road in front of me, generally we think that the road in front of me is not mine therefore whatever I do not want put there. Therefore, the road in front of me and the neighboring house also. So शौचम्. सन्तोषः, learning to be contented with what I have i.e., freedom from jealousy. Never compare. Comparison leads to jealousy, leads to competition, leads to all kinds of evils. Therefore, non-comparing mind. शौचम्. सन्तोषः. तपः, तपः means self-discipline, indiscipline is the easiest thing; self-discipline is fundamental duty of human being, beginning from punctuality. So people think that 'punctuality is a great virtue and it is divine and all', nothing of that sort but if you are punctual, you are a human being only. That means if you are not, I do not want to fill up the blanks. These are the basic qualifications. When I say I come at 5 o'clock, I mean and I will come at 5 o'clock. It is a very natural and right thing. If people do not understand, I have to say 'sharp five.' Why all this sharp and all? Five itself means sharp five. Then next 'very sharp' we have to say. Where is the end to it? Say it and mean it. I had kept a meeting and I made announcement two months before and then people were coming and asking स्वामिजि, you never announced it again. Why should I announce it again? When I announced first time, I mean it. Just because I did not announce second time they are wondering whether it is there or not. See the अक्रमम्. Times have changed like this. Second time you did not announce, therefore I thought that it is not there. That means that if one announcement is made, it is not definite. Our whole life has become indefinite. Someone used to say: 'I keep the clock 10 minutes ahead.' Why should I keep? Because I do not have confidence in myself. I have confidence in myself then I know this is the time and I follow it. This is called self-discipline. Thought, word and deed, that is called तपः. शौचम्, सन्तोषः, तपः. स्वाध्याय, scriptural study is also सामान्य धर्म. Everyone has to study scriptures. Scriptural teachers have to study more but all other people should study some basic thing because, scriptures tell you how to live a harmonious life. College will not teach you that, they will teach you how to earn money. It does not teach how to treat your wife; many people do not know that fundamental thing. Because for marriage, no qualification is kept. If you become 20 or 25, you become ready for marriage. No other qualification. Therefore people do not talk about qualification, getting married requires the greatest qualification. Otherwise he will ill-treat the wife and the children suffer because of that and एवम् परम्परया प्राप्तम् the child ill-treats his wife like that and it continues. So therefore, scriptural study is for ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य, all the people have to study the scriptures. So you should never say, 'I do not have time.' Better attend the classes regularly. So therefore, सामान्य धर्म, then finally, ईश्वर प्रणिधान, surrender to the Lord, is another सामान्य धर्म for everyone. Just पञ्च यम, पञ्च नियम, दश सामान्य धर्म.

b) And then we have got विशेष धर्म: – specific duties which will vary from group to group; whether he is a ब्राह्मण or क्षत्रिय or वैश्य, or whether he is a ब्रह्मचरि, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ or संन्यासि, whether one is male/female and in the office also, what designation he has got, that is the duty of an individual depending upon his designation in life. And the विशेष धर्म is called स्वधर्म. I will discuss वर्णाश्रम धर्म later. According to वर्णाश्रम धर्म, ब्राह्मण has no right to fight a war. If ब्राह्मण fights, it is अधर्म. If a ब्राह्मण finds injustice, he can only report it to the क्षत्रिय; just as we have no right to beat a thief or burglar. For that a law and order department is there. Even if you catch a thief, we can only handover to the Police. We have no right to punish, it is illegal and improper. If the very police beats, it is not a पापम्, it is स्वधर्म. If I beat him, it is violation of my धर्म, I will incur पापम् for that. Even though what the other person has done is wrong, I have to do according to my designation only and here अर्जुन happens to be a क्षत्रिय, therefore within his स्वधर्म, fighting war is OK. And therefore अर्जुन as a क्षत्रिय, you have to fight this war. Police cannot say, ‘I want to follow अहिंसा, therefore I cannot keep the stick, etc.’ He has to keep a revolver, he has to keep a stick, keep everything; why even our gods have got weapons. For putting it on our heads, when we do अक्रम, भगवान् has to do that. So अर्जुन, better be aware of your social duty. The details in the next class.

देही नित्यम् अवध्यः अयम् देहे सर्वस्य भारत ।

तस्मात् सर्वाणि भूतानि न त्वम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि ॥ २-३०॥

स्वधर्ममपि चावेक्ष्य न विकम्पितुमर्हसि ।

धर्म्याद्धि युद्धाच्छ्रेयोऽन्यत्क्षत्रियस्य न विद्यते ॥ २-३१॥

Lord कृष्ण wants to remove अर्जुन's sorrow caused by attachment and also the Lord wants to persuade अर्जुन to fight the धार्मिक war, धर्म युद्धम् and for this purpose he is trying convince अर्जुन from different levels of discussion. First he took up the philosophical angle i.e., आध्यात्मिक दृष्टि and he elaborately discussed आत्म-अनात्मा विवेक. And his argument was from the standpoint of आत्मा there is no question of anybody killing anyone, because आत्मा is eternal and from the standpoint of अनात्मा or body – mortality of the body has to be accepted. आत्मा is never mortal and अनात्मा is ever mortal. And the one who owns up the immortality of आत्मा and the one who accepts the mortality of the body, that person is a wise man. And therefore अर्जुन you should accept the mortality of भीष्म शरीरम्, द्रोण शरीरम्, etc. and once you learn to accept that there is no cause for grief at all. This was the discussion up to verse no.30. And now from philosophical level, Lord कृष्ण is coming down to ethical or moral level which I called धार्मिक दृष्टि. From verse no.31 up to verse no.33, it is ethical angle and Lord कृष्ण points out that from धार्मिक दृष्टि also, अर्जुन can and should fight the war. No doubt धर्मशास्त्र says 'अहिम्सा परमो धर्म.' Nonviolence is the duty, is a value to be followed by all. But at the same time, the same धर्मशास्त्रs says that अहिम्सा is a सामान्य धर्म, a general value, which has got exception; that means there are exceptional cases where violence is allowed, not only it is allowed, it becomes the duty of a ruler. Similarly, with regard to सत्यम् also, truthfulness is the general rule, but there also they give exception in certain cases, when a person tells a lie, in extreme conditions or आपद्धर्मः; we have got a set of values called आपद्धर्म, in crisis situation, then the असत्यम् is also accepted. So thus for every general rule, there is an exception. So one should pay tax is general rule. But the government itself gives certain exceptions when the tax is exempted. For some people, everything is exemption - Govt. permitted exemption. Similarly, we have to follow the traffic rules, but there are exceptions, ambulance or the President's vehicle, or the Minister's vehicle, etc., they are exempted. Similarly, अहिंसा is a सामान्य धर्म, in संस्कृत general rule is called उत्सर्गः and exception is called अपवादः. Every उत्सर्ग has an अपवाद. Similarly, अर्जुन! The उत्सर्ग rule you should not kill people and अपवाद rule is killing is allowed for the sake of maintaining law and order. And there also, after trying साम, दान and भेद, after trying nonviolent methods; if all of them fail and for the sake of धर्म, युद्ध is required, धर्म-युद्ध is perfectly ethical only. And that is why the very word क्षत्रिय means क्षतात् अधर्मात् त्रायते इति क्षत्रियः. क्षतात् means अधर्म. A defect in society is called क्षत. That is why a full rice is called अक्षता. अक्षता means that which is unbroken, whole. क्षत means broken or defective and it is अधर्म at social level, क्षत्रिय means अधर्मात् त्रायते. And how do you protect the society from अधर्म? Only by changing the अधार्मिक people, that is first attempt. Convert the अधार्मिक people into धर्म and if they are not ready for conversion, eliminate the अधार्मिक people. Therefore either convert the अधार्मिक people and if they are not available for conversion, eliminate the अधार्मिक people. I have given the example before, the amputation a doctor does. The aim of a doctor when a limb is defective is change the limb from unhealthy-limb to healthy-limb; but if the change is not possible and if that unhealthy limb is going to affect the whole body, then what does the doctor do? Amputation, that is capital punishment. Lord himself will say in the 4th chapter –

परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् ।

And therefore अर्जुन, you come under क्षत्रिय group therefore you have to fight. And this maintenance of law and order is not the duty of all the people. Just as here also, I have no right to punish a person who is a criminal, who has done a crime; as I said the other day, if there is a thief, I can catch a thief and I can hand over the thief to the police but I have no right to punish the thief. Because he has stolen something, I tried to punish or hit, then I have done a crime; therefore I can be punished. Because the rule is that the department which has got the right to punish, they alone should punish and therefore punishment becomes स्वधर्म of a segment of the society. Whoever is in charge of law and order, they alone have the right to punish and अर्जुन being a क्षत्रिय, Lord कृष्ण says that you alone have the right to punish, not only that you should punish. And therefore, he says, स्वधर्मम् अपि च अवेक्ष्य considering your own जाति धर्म or वर्ण धर्म, because अर्जुन belongs to a क्षत्रिय वर्ण. So considering your वर्ण धर्म, न विकम्पितुम् अर्हसि you should not act like a ब्राह्मण. ब्राह्मण should follow nonviolence, वैश्य should follow nonviolence, शूद्र should follow nonviolence; क्षत्रिय should follow nonviolence generally but he should take to violence in particular cases, therefore don't act like a ब्राह्मण, act like a क्षत्रिय. न विकम्पितुम् अर्हसि. Whereas when द्रोणाचार्य takes to war, द्रोण is a born ब्राह्मण, he is not supposed to take to violence. That is why in the middle of महाभारत war, भीम and other people heavily criticize द्रोण, you have violated your स्वधर्म for which द्रोण did not have any answer at all. Even though द्रोण knows archery, even though द्रोण alone has taught all other people, द्रोण has a right to teach alone, but he can never to take to युद्धम्. All the people criticized द्रोण and he does not have an answer. So if द्रोण fights, it is wrong; if अर्जुन does not fight, it is wrong. Therefore, अर्जुन, न विकम्पितुम् अर्हसि – you should not waver. On the other hand, you should look upon this opportunity as a great blessing. Don't look upon the war as a tragedy, as a curse but you look upon this war, as an opportunity to sacrifice your life for the sake of the धर्म. During our freedom struggle when our people used to go to jail, after coming out they used to claim as a great त्यागि; even now there are त्यागिs still alive. They considered going to jail as a virtue, because, for any other purpose you go to jail, it is a black mark but when it is done for the sake of noble cause, it becomes a great thing. Similarly, here also, धर्म्यात् हि युद्धात् अन्यत् श्रेयः न अस्ति there is nothing greater than a धर्म युद्ध, sacrifice of the life for the sake of धर्म. So धर्म्यम् means moral, righteous; so there is nothing superior to a righteous war; for whom: not for a ब्राह्मण, not for a वैश्य or शूद्र, but क्षत्रियस्य - for a क्षत्रिय there is no better opportunity. Continuing;

यदृच्छया चोपपन्नं स्वर्गद्वारमपावृतम् ।

सुखिनः क्षत्रियाः पार्थ लभन्ते युद्धमीदृशम् ॥ २-३२॥

यत् ऋच्छया च उपपन्नं स्वर्ग-द्वारम् अपावृतम् ।

सुखिनः क्षत्रियाः पार्थ लभन्ते युद्धम् ईदृशम् ॥ २-३२॥

हे पार्थ! यत् ऋच्छया च उपपन्नम् ईदृशम् अपावृतम् स्वर्ग-द्वारम् युद्धम् सुखिनः क्षत्रियाः लभन्ते ।

The second line should be read as सुखिनः क्षत्रियाः पार्थ, this is a rule for reading. After the two dots, whenever क्ष letter comes, the two dots should be completely pronounced as अः. Therefore सुखिन क्षत्रियाः पार्थ is wrong reading; सुखिनः क्षत्रियाः पार्थ is correct. Not only in this context, in any context, whenever the two dots are there, in संस्कृत it is called विसर्गः, whenever विसर्गः is followed by क्ष, the विसर्गः should be completely pronounced. We will get another case in the 5th chapter;

लभन्ते ब्रह्मनिर्वाणम् ऋषयः क्षीणकल्मषाः ।७-२७॥

ऋषयः + क्षीण-कल्मषाः. Here also in ऋषयः two dots are there; क्षीणकल्मषाः, क्ष is there; here also it should not be read as ऋषय क्षीणकल्मषाः, it is wrong. It should be ऋषयः क्षीण-कल्मषाः. Even for pronunciation the rules are there; पाणिनि writes a special सूत्र for reading in this manner.

शर्पिर्विसर्जनीयः ॥ अष्टाध्यायी ८-३-३५ ॥

A special सूत्र for reading of also. Therefore सुखिनः क्षत्रियाः पार्थ is the reading.

Now here कृष्ण says: अर्जुन you should look upon this opportunity as a great blessing. So you can find in certain countries or in certain communities, they talk about the suicide squad. Sometime they have suicide squad for wrong reasons, that is a different matter. What is a suicide squad? One set of people come forward and they say that we are ready to sacrifice our lives for the sake of our country. Here also for a क्षत्रिय he is ready to commit suicide that means to sacrifice his life, he doesn't consider it as a tragedy. Among the रजपुत्र families also, when there is an opportunity for wars, when the रजपुत्र princes come and take leave of their wives - wives do not send them with tears because those princesses also were रजपुत्र princesses, they had that blood in them, therefore they never cry, they only say 'that we have got an opportunity to sacrifice, don't sit here.' Therefore these ladies used to send: 'you go there and better die, we do not want you to be alive when there is a cause.' So this is that very blood, its not an occasion for crying and he says: यत् ऋच्छया च उपपन्नम् this opportunity for a great sacrifice of your life has come. यत् ऋच्छया – by chance you have got it and not only that if you are going to sacrifice your life, you may lose on the earth, but from the शास्त्रिय angle, this is an opportunity to go to स्वर्ग. According to धर्मशास्त्र, when a person sacrifices the life for धर्म, he gets the heaven. And that heaven is called वीर स्वर्ग. Just as people go to heaven by doing rituals, these क्षत्रिय also get heaven not by doing rituals or anything, but by sacrificing their life itself they get वीर स्वर्ग. Therefore, कृष्ण says this is स्वर्ग द्वारम्. द्वारम् means gateway, स्वर्ग means the heaven. This धर्म युद्धः is a gateway to heaven. And that too what type of gateway: अपावृतम् स्वर्ग द्वारम् – it is an open door.

Who will get such an opportunity? सुखिनः क्षत्रियाः ईदृशम् युद्धम् लभन्ते only fortunate क्षत्रियs, blessed क्षत्रियs alone will get such an opportunity, such a call for a noble cause. Therefore, अर्जुन, do not miss this opportunity. Continuing;

Verse No .33

अथ चैत्वमिमं धर्म्यं सङ्ग्रामं न करिष्यसि ।

ततः स्वधर्मं कीर्तिं च हित्वा पापमवाप्स्यसि ॥ २-३३॥

अथ चेत् त्वम् इमम् धर्म्यम् सङ्ग्रामम् न करिष्यसि ।

ततः स्वधर्मम् कीर्तिम् च हित्वा पापम् अवाप्स्यसि ॥ २-३३॥

अथ त्वम् इमम् धर्म्यम् सङ्ग्रामम् न करिष्यसि चेत्, ततः स्वधर्मम् कीर्तिम् च हित्वा पापम् अवाप्स्यसि ।

So कृष्ण said that you have to fight this war by which you will attain the heaven and suppose अर्जुन argues 'I am not interested in the heaven. I would like to live this life along with भीष्म द्रोण, etc. and I don't want to kill them and go to the heaven. I am ready to sacrifice the heaven for the sake of भीष्म, द्रोण, etc.' For that कृष्ण says if you do not fight this war, not only you will not get the heaven, on the other hand you are going to get hell only. You are going to get hell only because if a person renounces his duty, that omission of the duty is considered to be a पापम् according to शास्त्र. पापम् is divided into two types, ➤ पापम् in the form of doing what should not be done, is one type of पापम्. Doing what should not be done, in संस्कृत it is called निषिद्ध करणम् means doing what should not be done. The शास्त्रs says: सुराम् न पिबेत् – One should not take liquor. In fact, one is not supposed to even smell, not even go near. Even smelling is considered to be a type of पापम्, lower type of पापम्. And drinking is higher type of पापम्. Now this is निषिद्ध कर्म, if a person drinks, then the पापम् is called निषिद्ध करण रूप पापम्. In English, it will come under Commission; committing a sin, this is one type of पापम्.

➤ There is a second type of पापम् and that is not doing what should be done. So we are supposed to pay the taxes, i.e., suppose to pay the duty. If a person does not do that and then he is punished, he should not argue, that ‘I didn’t do anything, (including “not paying the tax”), why are you punishing me, I didn’t do anything (and after all not paying the tax also is not doing anything only) why are you punishing me?’ you should not ask; not paying the tax will come under another type of पापम् and what is that: विहित अकरणम्.

So निषिद्ध करणम् and विहित अकरणम्. So that is why

करचरण कृतम् वाक्कायजम् कर्मजम् वा श्रवणनयनजम् वा मानसम् वापराधम्।

विहितमविहितम् वा सर्वमेतत्क्षमस्व ॥ शिवमानसपूजा ७ ॥

There how should one understand? विहित अकरणम् अविहित करणम् च सर्वम् एतत् क्षमस्व. Here if अर्जुन does not fight this war, it will come under what type of sin? विहित अकरणम् in English it will come under Omission. अर्जुन you won’t get commission-sin; you will get omission-sin. In संस्कृत it is called प्रत्यवाय पापम्; विहित अकरणम् is called प्रत्यवाय पापम्. And that is what is said here: अथ चेत् त्वम् इमम् धर्म्यम् सङ्ग्रामम् न करिष्यसि. अर्जुन, if you do not fight this धार्मिक युद्धम्; सङ्ग्रामम् is not a type of village, ग्रामम् – village, सम्-ग्रामम् – good village! (not like that); like सम्-न्यास, न्यास – renunciation, संन्यास – total renunciation, सम् means total (that meaning is not there). सङ्ग्रामम् means युद्धम् and धर्म्यम् सङ्ग्रामम् a righteous war, if you do not take to, then what are you: अथः स्वधर्मम् हित्वा, i.e., विहित अकरणम् कृत्वा, you will be omitting, shirking your duty and for that what will happen? पापम् अवाप्स्यसि you will incur पापम्. What is the consequence of पापम्? Suffering in this जन्म and if not in this जन्म, in the future जन्म; in short नरक प्राप्तिः एव फलम् भवति. Therefore, अर्जुन you may not be interested in स्वर्ग, but at least to avoid नरकम् you have to fight this war. Not only you will get नरकम्, कीर्तिम् च

हिट्वा you will lose your name and fame also. About this कृष्ण will explain later. So with this श्लोक the धार्मिक दृष्टि is over. It started from verse no.31. And कृष्ण's argument is that this war is ethical and therefore you should fight. Continuing;

Verse No .34

अकीर्तिं चापि भूतानि कथयिष्यन्ति तेऽव्ययाम् ।

सम्भावितस्य चाकीर्तिर्मरणादतिरिच्यते ॥ २-३४॥

अकीर्तिम् च अपि भूतानि कथयिष्यन्ति ते अव्ययाम् ।

सम्भावितस्य च अकीर्तिः मरणात् अतिरिच्यते ॥ २-३४॥

अपि च भूतानि ते अव्ययाम् अकीर्तिम् कथयिष्यन्ति । सम्भावितस्य च अकीर्तिः मरणात् अतिरिच्यते ।

Having given the philosophical view and ethical view, now कृष्ण is coming down further to लौकिक दृष्टि, empirical, pragmatic, worldly angle. So people may say that I do not believe in पुण्यम् and पापम्. That is the present society; because पुण्यम् and पापम् happens to be अदृष्टम्. अदृष्टम् means that which cannot be perceived by the sense organs, that which cannot be experimentally demonstrated even with telescope or microscope you cannot see पुण्य wave; like ultra wave, पुण्यम् and पापम् you cannot see. It is not available for scientific establishment, it is only known through शास्त्र प्रमाणम्; therefore a person may say that I don't believe in पुण्यम् or पापम्, I don't believe in स्वर्गम् and नरकम्, so then can I run away from this war? 'I don't believe in आत्मा, I don't believe in धर्म, should I fight this war?' if you ask, कृष्ण says still you have to fight this war. Fight this war, why: if you do not fight this war, your status in society, your value in society, the respect that you enjoy in society will come down. You lose your name and fame. After all most of the people are interested only in their social status. All the time they are worried about, how the other people will think about me. Most of the time people say: what others will think; even when they say my son or daughter does not want to get married or they want to get married to someone else; whether they are interested in that or not is not the question, what others will think? स्वामिजि, we come from the दिक्षितर्'s family, etc., we belong to such a wonderful family; generation after generation we have lived certain thing and now this son has given a wrong name to the family. Most of the arguments are what: not whether this is good or bad that is not the question; how will I show my face outside? If there is some wedding function, there are people who do not attend functions thereafter; after some such event take place, they don't even go for temple functions, family functions why because they are bothered about (I am not saying right or wrong, I am just presenting objectively a case) that people are so much bothered about the social standing, social status, in the family name and fame and as a क्षत्रिय अर्जुन has got a very strong राजसिक ego and therefore he also will be bothered about his social status. And therefore कृष्ण argues अर्जुन you have got such a name and fame, you are considered the greatest warrior in the world, not only you have won laurels on the earth, even इन्द्र calls you for assistance and you often go to देवलोक and then why fight wars for इन्द्र, all these glories you have and now if you had decided not to fight this war, it would have been OK; but you decided to fight, you came in front and last moment if you withdrew then what will people say: Ran Away or a new title will you get. They will say: the moment अर्जुन saw all these people, he could not stand, even though अर्जुन may think that it is out of compassion, the society is not going to say so. And they will spread all kinds of rumors and not only that poems after poems will be written also and even after 20 centuries people will talk about अर्जुन, who ran away from the battle field. अर्जुन! Do you want such a stigma in your name? It is said:

प्राणम् वापि परित्यज्य मानमेवाभिरक्षतु अनित्यो भवति प्राणः मानस्तु
आचन्द्रतारकम् ॥

Generally people think that मानम्, the honor of the family, the honor of the individual is more important than even life. How often we read in the newspaper: even teenagers committing suicide because in the SSLC or +2, they did not get the rank. They passed but they became second or third etc. Because having got the rank all the time, this time they did not get - suicide. Or somebody running a company or something, all the money was lost - commit suicide. Why, because they consider मानम् is more important, they are not able to withstand अपमानम् and therefore they take away their life. अर्जुन, if this is true for every ordinary individual, for you, a क्षत्रिय how important should be मानम्. Do you want to live with अपमानम् or do you want to fight and sacrifice the life? Therefore He says, भूतानि कथयिष्यन्ति, all the people will talk insulting you, belittling you, criticizing you and they will spread rumors, अकीर्तिम् अपि कथयिष्यन्ति. They will give you permanent अपमानम् or infamy which is अव्ययम्. अव्ययम् means it will be passed from generation to generation. So अव्ययम् अकीर्तिम् भूतानि, भूतानि means human beings, they will spread. If you are unknown person in the world, whatever happens even if ill fame comes nobody knows. But having got the name in the society, there afterwards अपमान comes it is very very very excruciatingly painful. Therefore He says सम्भावितस्य having enjoyed the fame as the greatest warrior, the most courageous person having enjoyed the fame, suddenly being dropped down; अकीर्तिम्, ill fame is मरणात् अपि अतिरिच्यते is worse than death. And therefore अर्जुन better die than live with ill fame. Continuing;

Verse No .35

भयाद्रणादुपरतं मंस्यन्ते त्वां महारथाः ।

येषां च त्वं बहुमतो भूत्वा यास्यसि लाघवम् ॥ २-३५॥

भयात् रणात् उपरतम् मंस्यन्ते त्वाम् महारथाः ।

येषाम् च त्वम् बहु-मतः भूत्वा यास्यसि लाघवम् ॥ २-३५॥

महारथाः त्वाम् भयात् रणात् उपरतम् मंस्यन्ते; येषाम् च त्वम् बहु-मतः भूत्वा, लाघवम् यास्यसि ।

कृष्ण explains the same thing further. How अपमान will afflict अर्जुन, if he goes away from the battle? When अर्जुन withdraws from the battle, if at all he withdraws, his reason for withdrawal is not fear. In अर्जुन's mind it may be compassion and respect for भीष्म and द्रोण, but unfortunately, अर्जुन's intention is not visible. Therefore the society and the world will never know what अर्जुन's intention was. Since it can never be known, there is enough scope for spreading all kinds of rumors. Even अर्जुन's cause may be legitimate cause, दुर्योधन's people are going to spread all types of rumors. That is why they say, all the journalist, magazine people and all, all over the world, they have got a particular profession or method it seems that whenever there is a well-known person, right from the President of the America (we do not know what is true and what is not true) what they do is: somebody brings some story, it may be a fact, it may not be a fact, it may be a pure fiction also; immediately all the journalist people will contact that person and they say you tell the story, we will give you one million dollars and the magazine they will put such a such person did such and such thing and put a question mark at the end. They are fair. By putting a question mark what they mean is, it may be true or it may not be true? But what will be the public do? They will not remember the question mark. For them, it becomes a fact and once the name has gone, it is very very difficult to get back and having got the story, they go to that particular famous person and say, if you do not want the story to come, pay us so many millions of dollars. You had it and it is at that time, this person begins to know that even fame is a curse. Till that time, he would have enjoyed the fame. When the other people like journalists begin to blackmail, then alone he would come to think that it would have been far better to be an unknown person to walk on the road. Or else, journalists would clamor you for sensational stories or pictures. Where a person feels fame is a curse and therefore here also अर्जुन somehow or the other, you have got the fame and दुर्योधन people will blackmail you, they will get a wonderful opportunity to spread all types of stories about you. And the first thing they will say is what: भयात् रणात् उपरतम्. They will say अर्जुन withdrew from the battle, only out of fear and how will you disprove the rumor, whether it is because fear or respect, nobody can understand because it is in your mind, how do people know. So मंस्यन्ते त्वाम् महारथाः. महारथाः means all the great warriors in the कौरव side, they will all consider that you have withdrawn out of fear. And not only that even कर्ण is waiting for an opportunity because he has been insulted all the time. In महाभारत if there is one person who faced insult all the time, it is कर्ण. All the पाण्डव, including द्रौपदी, has insulted even though क्षत्रिय blood is flowing in कर्ण, they have been telling that you are a सूत पुत्रः. Insulted very often and कर्ण is waiting for an opportunity, the moment अर्जुन runs away, कर्ण will say, “that he was surveying the army and he just saw me and at that time I just stared at him and then he decided to withdraw.” Therefore महारथाः कर्णादयः they will look down upon you. And येषाम् च त्वम् बहुमतः भूत्वा, until this moment they were all respecting you, they were keeping you in awe and fear, from this moment onwards you will become light in front of them. लाघवम् यास्यसि you will go to disgrace in their vision. And not only that: Continuing;

Verse No .36

अवाच्यवादांश्च बहून्वदिष्यन्ति तवाहिताः ।

निन्दन्तस्तव सामर्थ्यं ततो दुःखतरं नु किम् ॥ २-३६॥

अवाच्य-वादान् च बहून् वदिष्यन्ति तव अहिताः ।

निन्दन्तः तव सामर्थ्यम् ततः दुःखतरम् नु किम् ॥ २-३६॥

तव सामर्थ्यम् निन्दन्तः तव अहिताः च बहून् अवाच्य-वादान् वदिष्यन्ति । ततः किम् नु दुःखतरम्?

कृष्ण explains the same idea further just to prick अर्जुन. कृष्ण's game is somehow or the other, he should make अर्जुन fight this war.

Therefore he is passing pain in अर्जुन's mind by using strong words. तव अहिताः वदिष्यन्ति. अहिताः means शत्रवः, your enemies, i.e., कौरवः, अवाच्यवादान् वदिष्यन्ति, they will utter words, spread rumors about you in such a language that it is difficult for me to utter those words, unmentionable words, unmouthable words, they will utter against you. बहून् वदिष्यन्ति. And they have the advantage also because they are the rulers of the state. After all, you are a non-entity in the forest, 13 years in the forest and दुर्योधन has got the kingdom, he has got all the control over the people, all the fourth estate (newspaper, television, radio, all of them are in their hands) and therefore they can spread any rumor they want. Therefore, बहून् अवाच्यवादान् वदिष्यन्ति तव सामर्थ्यम् निन्दन्तः criticizing or belittling your proficiency, your skill in archery they will be criticizing. ततः दुःस्वप्नम् नु किम्. What is more painful than अपमानम्? This argument you will find often given in the scriptures. In रामायण, दशरथ refuses to give boon to कैकेयी because he is ready to sacrifice everything but he does not want to sacrifice राम. कैकेयी uses all the arguments, all arguments fail. Ultimately, कैकेयी gives one argument and that argument is all your forefathers have kept their words, they are all known for their वाक्य परिपालनम्, entire रघुवंश is known for वाक्य परिपालनम्, such a blotless glory they have maintained, if you withdraw your words, you eat your own words, you will be the first person to bring a blot in your entire family. Do you want to sacrifice the name that you enjoy or do you want to go down the history as one who brought a blot in the blotless family of रघुवंश. The moment that अपमान word was given दशरथ relents and says: does not matter; he allows. Similarly, कंस also, he decides to kill देवकी because when अश्वत्थामा comes and tells that देवकी's 8th son will be his killer. वसुदेव uses all the arguments to dissuade कंस and fails. All the arguments fail. Ultimately the powerful argument is this, your family has got wonderful name and fame and down the history your name will go as the killer of your own sister out of fear of a son to be born. Do you want such an अपमान? The moment the word अपमान is given, कंस puts the sword inside. And he says: OK. I will try some other method. All over we find, for every human being मानम् is very important, अपमानम् they cannot withstand, especially for a क्षत्रिय, ego is very powerful, many wars have been fought, just because of this अपमानम्. If you read the history of so many countries in India, one राज will ask another राज, your daughter I want to get married and that राज will say: 'No. I am going to give to another king or prince.' Immediately war starts. All for what: because that king insulted me by not giving the daughter. युद्ध! So you can imagine how much powerful the ego is. And कृष्ण is using that weakness of a क्षत्रिय and he says ततः दुःखतरम् नु किम्? What is more painful than अपमानम्? And therefore what should you do अर्जुन?

भवद्यशश्चन्द्रमसोऽस्य माभून्नवः कलङ्को भगिनीवधेन ॥ श्रीकृष्णविलासकाव्यम् २-१३॥

Verse No .37

हतो वा प्राप्स्यसि स्वर्गं जित्वा वा भोक्ष्यसे महीम् ।
तस्मादुत्तिष्ठ कौन्तेय युद्धाय कृतनिश्चयः ॥ २-३७॥
हतः वा प्राप्स्यसि स्वर्गम् जित्वा वा भोक्ष्यसे महीम् ।
तस्मात् उत्तिष्ठ कौन्तेय युद्धाय कृत-निश्चयः ॥ २-३७॥
हतः वा स्वर्गम् प्राप्स्यसि, जित्वा वा महीम् भोक्ष्यसे । हे कौन्तेय! तस्मात् युद्धाय कृत-निश्चयः उत्तिष्ठ ।

Therefore अर्जुन if you do not want ill fame and if you do not want नरकम्, better you fight this battle. हतः सन् स्वर्गम् प्राप्स्यसि if you are killed in this battle certainly you are going to get वीर स्वर्गम्. Either way it is gain. Suppose you do not die but win this war, जित्वा वा महीम् भोक्ष्यसे you will get back the kingdom, which you were craving for for the last 13 years; you were waiting waiting and waiting because in the forest you had all kinds of sufferings, having enjoyed the comfort of a palace, living in the forest with all the mosquitoes and insects and all kinds of things and there is no pure water and there is no privacy, nothing is there; even for ordinary people forest life is miserable, what to talk of a क्षत्रिय. You have been waiting for 13 years to get back the kingdom, you will get it back. Therefore, either way you are going to gain if you fight this war. Therefore, जित्वा victorious – you will get the kingdom, you will enjoy the kingdom; killed – you will go to स्वर्ग. And therefore अर्जुन your decision must be तस्मात् कौन्तेय उतिष्ठ. Therefore अर्जुन first you get up. Because at the end of the 1st chapter, we have seen that अर्जुन dropped the bow and arrow and then

रथोपस्थ उपाविशत् विसृज्य सशरम् चापम् शोकसंविग्नमानसः ॥ १-४७॥

This is the last verse of the 1st chapter. He dropped the bow and arrow and he was sitting afflicted by sorrow, he was seated. Therefore कृष्ण says, ‘first get up, then we will see what has to be done.’ कृष्ण is afraid that after getting up अर्जुन may run away, so he adds: युद्धाय कृतनिश्चयः. For running also he has to get up, therefore कृष्ण wants to make sure, युद्धाय कृतनिश्चयः having decided to fight. So कृतनिश्चयः – having taken a resolve to fight this war, अर्जुन may you get up. So with this the third level of argument is also over. So what are the three levels? आध्यात्मिक दृष्टि, धार्मिक दृष्टि and लौकिक दृष्टि. Philosophically speaking, you have to fight, ethically speaking you have to fight, from worldly angle to save your honor you have to fight. And therefore, अर्जुन fight this war. And now having given all these arguments, कृष्ण gives one advice to अर्जुन, how to fight this war? Because we have got duties and generally we divide the duties into two types – one is pleasant duty and the other is often unpleasant duty. That is why whenever there is a function, they will say that it is my pleasant duty to introduce the speaker, etc., or it is my pleasant duty to give the vote of thanks, etc. The words ‘pleasant duty’ make it clear that there is another duty called unpleasant duty. How to do the pleasant duty everybody knows? One need talk about it, because it is pleasant. But the problem is with regard to unpleasant duty. Therefore how one should do the so-called unpleasant duty, how should you do that: that is given in the 38th verse:

Verse No .38

सुखदुःखे समे कृत्वा लाभालाभौ जयाजयौ ।

ततो युद्धाय युज्यस्व नैवं पापमवाप्स्यसि ॥ २-३८॥

सुख-दुःखे समे कृत्वा लाभ-अलाभौ जय-अजयौ ।

ततः युद्धाय युज्यस्व न एवम् पापम् अवाप्स्यसि ॥ २-३८॥

सुख-दुःखे लाभ-अलाभौ जय-अजयौ समे कृत्वा ततः युद्धाय युज्यस्व । एवम् पापम् न अवाप्स्यसि ।

So in this verse, Lord कृष्ण concludes his first phase of teaching and he is introducing the next phase of teaching. Therefore, this is the transition श्लोक and this happens to be the introduction to the next topic which is known as कर्मयोग, which is another important topic of the भगवद्गीता. ज्ञानयोग or साङ्ख्य योग has been very clearly talked about from verse no.12 to 25, he clearly discussed the philosophy and here afterwards he wants to enter into religion. As I said, the entire वेद is divided into two portions: religion and philosophy. Religion is A Way of Life; philosophy is The Right View of Life. And the philosophy part is over, now the religion part is coming. वेद-अन्त is over वेद-पूर्व is coming, ज्ञानकाण्डम् is over कर्मकाण्डम् is coming, ब्रह्मशास्त्रम् is over धर्मशास्त्रम् is going to come. How to act in the world? कृष्ण says most important aspect is समत्वम् योगः उच्यते. If a person has to efficiently act in the world, the most important characteristic is learning to be balanced in mind. Therefore, समत्वम् as कर्मयोग is being introduced in this श्लोक which will be elaborated in the later verses, those details we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 02, VERSES 38-41

अवाच्यवादांश्च बहून्वदिष्यन्ति तवाहिताः ।

निन्दन्तस्तव सामर्थ्यं ततो दुःखतरं नु किम् ॥ २-३६॥

हतो वा प्राप्स्यसि स्वर्गं जित्वा वा भोक्ष्यसे महीम् ।

तस्मादुत्तिष्ठ कौन्तेय युद्धाय कृतनिश्चयः ॥ २-३७॥

सुखदुःखे समे कृत्वा लाभालाभौ जयाजयौ ।

अर्जुन was suffering from the problem of संसार, because of which he had a big conflict in the battlefield and he was not able to decide, whether he has to fight the धर्म युद्धम् or not. And not only he had this delusion with regard to धर्म-अधर्म; he was afflicted by intense sorrow also and the only good thing that अर्जुन did was he surrendered to Lord कृष्ण, accepting his helplessness. Now it is कृष्ण's responsibility to rescue अर्जुन and कृष्ण has two-fold jobs – one is he has to remove the problem of sorrow, शोक निवृत्तिः and also he should convince अर्जुन that this महाभारत युद्धः is धर्म युद्धः and therefore, it does not come under violence but it is only proper to fight for the sake of धर्म. And कृष्ण begins to convince अर्जुन by giving arguments at different levels. We saw that कृष्ण gave arguments from 3 different levels; the first level of argument was आध्यात्मिक दृष्टि, from philosophical angle. From this angle, he talked about the true nature of the individual and how the true nature is free from all the action and therefore there is no question of proper action or improper action because from the standpoint of this true nature, he does not do any action at all. So when there is no action at all, where is the question of propriety or impropriety? This is from philosophical angle. And later कृष्ण feels that everybody may not be able to appreciate this stand and not only that it may be even misinterpreted by people and therefore कृष्ण decides to come down and again argue the case from the stand point of ethics, which we called धार्मिक दृष्टि and from ethical or moral angle,

कृष्ण established that it is अर्जुन's duty to fight. And having talked about धार्मिक दृष्टि, कृष्ण later comes down further, even if a person is not able to appreciate ethics, even if a person does not believe in पुण्य पापम्, still from worldly angle, लौकिक दृष्टि or from social angle, or from empirical angle also अर्जुन has to fight this war otherwise he would lose his name and fame. And therefore, whether अर्जुन looks from philosophical angle or whether अर्जुन looks from ethical angle or worldly angle, अर्जुन you have to fight this war. And thereafter, कृष्ण concludes this facet of discussion in the 38th श्लोक in which he talks about the attitude with which अर्जुन has to fight this battle and this is not only from अर्जुन's angle, this is from the standpoint of every human being, what should be the attitude when he does his duty and that attitude he presents in the 38th verse which is समत्वम्. कृष्ण will be emphasizing this value more and more throughout the गीता. समत्वम् means balance of mind. That means, not being carried away by any situation in life, even in the worst crisis, the capacity to remain cool. The समत्वम् is very important because a person's thinking power will be functional only when the mind is समः. When the mind is विषमः, disturbed, the first thing that happens is the discriminative power goes, for not only the decisions will go wrong; still worse, the man will lose the capacity to learn from every experience. As they say, the very life is like a university. That every experience can teach us a lesson, especially tragic experiences teach much more than happy experiences. As they say, a knife can be sharpened only when it is rubbed against a rough surface. When the knife is rubbed against a sponge, nothing will happen but when it is rough surface it increases the shine and sharpness. Similarly, we can learn much more from adverse circumstances than happy circumstances and if I have to learn valid lessons from such experiences, I should be able to have a relatively calm mind and therefore, कृष्ण emphasizes the capacity to maintain the emotional balance, the most important virtue that is required. As somebody was telling that previously they thought that Intelligence Quotient, called IQ is responsible for the success of a person but later they are finding that more than IQ what a person requires is EQ. You know what EQ? Emotional Quotient. If the EQ is not healthy enough, a person will be easily disturbed and a disturbed person cannot perform well, even though he is very sharp in intellect. Like a student, who has studied very well and look at the examination paper and first question he does not know. In fact, all other questions he knows well and enough choices are there, nothing to get panicky, but if he sees the first question and he does not know that, then he can become jittery and second question he knows the answer, but because of the disturbance he forgets that and when he forgets the answer the second question, he is more disturbed. Then the third question even though he is very sure, he will certainly forget. Whereas, even if he has not studied that well, if the EQ is very well, he will write whatever he knows well. And therefore EQ is more important for human success than IQ. And In fact, too much of IQ can make a person cranky also. Therefore, कृष्ण says that I am not interested in your IQ, I am interested in your EQ. EQ in गीता is called समत्वम्. Therefore he says: सुखदुःखे समे कृत्वा prepare yourselves to build your EQ. And what is that सुखदुःख experiences. As we know, that no human being can permanently expect success. You ask any tennis player in the French Open or a cricket player you know, nobody is always successful. And therefore, hundred percent success is not possible. Therefore, दयानन्द स्वामिजि nicely says: Success in life is nothing but the capacity to face success and failures. A successful person is one who knows how to face success and failure without being too much emotionally disturbed and therefore कृष्ण says as an active person doing your duty, समे कृत्वा – learn to keep your mind in balance, in सुखम् and दुःखम्, सुखदुःख means comfortable and uncomfortable situations. Then next, लाभ-अलाभौ, लाभ means profit, अलाभ means (निरोधार्थे नञ्) नष्ट, whether it is gain or loss, nobody gains all the time, nobody losses all the time, both come together in life; then जय-अजयौ, जय means success, अजय means failure. This is very important verse. कृष्ण does not teach how to succeed all the time. कृष्ण never teaches how to succeed all the times, कृष्ण only says you should learn how to face both success and failures. Therefore, जय-अजय and you have to include all the other pairs of opposites, like मान-अपमान, जन्म-मरण, growth and decay, summer and winter, therefore 44o centigrade as well as the other temperatures - all of them, समे कृत्वा – learn face equally, i.e., not to be carried away by them. Having prepared the mind, ततः युद्धाय युज्यस्व. There afterwards, अर्जुन get ready to do your duty. In this context to fight this legitimate, proper or moral युद्ध. न एवम् पापम् अवाप्स्यसि, if you work in the world with this attitude, you will never have a spiritual fall. Material ups and downs you will not be able to avoid; materially ups and downs will come but if you have a proper attitude, spiritually you will never have a downfall; you will only grow. Even from the worst experience, you will learn a lesson. What is the lesson? That I expected such a thing, is not the mistake of the world, it is my mistake. So, if I expected a person to come or help and if he does not help me, I can look at the situation from two angles: I can find fault with that person who cheated me or I can find fault with myself that I expected such a thing to happen, that I was not prepared to face the other thing. My lack of preparation is exposed by this bitter experience. That is why somebody nicely said: Adversity introduces a person to himself. Every adversity exposes my limitation. And therefore पापम् न अवाप्स्यसि, you will learn from every experience. Continuing;

Verse No .39

एषा तेऽभिहिता साङ्ख्ये बुद्धिर्योगे त्विमां शृणु ।

बुद्ध्या युक्तो यया पार्थ कर्मबन्धं प्रहास्यसि ॥ २-३९॥

एषा ते अभिहिता साङ्ख्ये बुद्धिः योगे तु इमाम् शृणु ।

बुद्ध्या युक्तः यया पार्थ कर्म-बन्धम् प्रहास्यसि ॥ २-३९॥

हे पार्थ! एषा ते साङ्ख्ये बुद्धिः अभिहिता; योगे तु इमाम् (बुद्धिं) शृणु । यया बुद्ध्या युक्तः (त्वं) कर्म-बन्धम् प्रहास्यसि ।

So this श्लोक is a transit verse. कृष्ण is changing from one topic to another and कृष्ण points out that here, until now हे अर्जुन! I talked about ज्ञानयोगः. ज्ञानयोगः, आत्म-अनात्म विवेकः which is the main topic that has gone by from verse no.12 to 25, which the central theme of the previous portion, viz., Self-knowledge. That is discovery of the fact that I am an Independent One, Discovery of Self-dependence or freedom from external dependence to be happy; that Self-discovery is called आत्मज्ञानम्. Here कृष्ण calls it साङ्ख्यम्. Therefore, एषा साङ्ख्ये बुद्धिः अभिहिता. Here the word साङ्ख्यम् means आत्मा. साङ्ख्यम् is equal to आत्मा. The word साङ्ख्यम् means उपनिषत्. सम्यक् ख्यायते आत्मतत्त्वम् यस्याम् सा सङ्ख्या, सङ्ख्या means the उपनिषत्. साङ्ख्यम् means the truth which is revealed in the उपनिषत् and what is the truth revealed: the truth of myself, i.e., the आत्मा. So साङ्ख्यम् means आत्मा and बुद्धिः means knowledge, बुद्धिः in this context means knowledge not intellect; so साङ्ख्ये बुद्धिः, आत्मज्ञानम्. (सम्यक् ख्यायते प्रकाशयते वस्तुतत्त्वम् अनयेति सङ्ख्या सम्यग्ज्ञानम् तस्मिन् प्रकाशमानम् आत्मतत्त्वम् साङ्ख्यम्) So until now, हे अर्जुन! I have given you Self-knowledge. Now here afterwards, I am going to give you another knowledge, what is that: योगे इमाम् (बुद्धिम्) शृणु. Here after, I am going to deal with कर्मयोग. Here the transit is from ज्ञानयोग topic to कर्मयोग topic. And why does कृष्ण introduce कर्मयोग topic here? कृष्ण has previously said that ज्ञानयोग alone frees a person from sorrow; it is the only remedy for sorrow, the disease called sorrow. गतासून् अगतासून् च न अनुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः. Without Self-knowledge one cannot get out of grief. So if ज्ञानयोग is the means of liberation and कृष्ण has taught ज्ञानयोग, why should he teach कर्मयोग at all? Is कर्मयोग another means of liberation? No, that cannot be said so, because कृष्ण clearly says, ज्ञानम् alone is the means of liberation. Therefore, there is no other alternative method of liberation also. Then why should कृष्ण come to कर्मयोग. The reason is this: That even though ज्ञानयोग is the only means to liberation, everybody is not fit to enter ज्ञानयोग. It requires certain preparations, just as we have entrance exams to enter IIT or MBA or any other American university one has to pass that entrance examination, which is the qualification. Similarly, one cannot enter ज्ञानयोग without initial preparation. And कृष्ण is going to present कर्मयोग as a stepping stone to enter ज्ञानयोग. So thus the entire teaching is going to be: Follow कर्मयोग (which will be taught in the following verses), prepare your mind and there afterwards go to ज्ञानयोग and be liberated. ज्ञानयोग is impossible without कर्मयोग and कर्मयोग is incomplete without ज्ञानयोग. So generally there is a misconception that in कलियुग, ज्ञानयोग is very difficult. And it is accepted in all the scriptures also. In कलियुग, ज्ञानयोग is very difficult. It is true. But what people say is: since ज्ञानयोग is difficult, try some other योग. But what कृष्ण says is: if ज्ञानयोग is difficult, you cannot try some other योग because, some other योग cannot give liberation. ज्ञानयोग is the only method. If ज्ञानयोग is difficult in कलियुग, what should you do? Make ज्ञानयोग easy. If ज्ञानयोग is difficult, you should find out methods of making ज्ञानयोग easier. And how can you make ज्ञानयोग easier? By preparing the mind. And therefore, कर्मयोग will make ज्ञानयोग easier that you will begin to enjoy ज्ञानयोग. Like mathematics. For many people, mathematics is allergy. But for many other people, mathematics is halwa. That means, mathematics by itself is neither easy nor difficult. Then what is mathematics is mathematics; it is neither easy nor difficult. If my mind is prepared, it is easy; if it is not prepared, mathematics is difficult. Therefore the problem is not with mathematics, but problem is with my mind. And therefore, ज्ञानयोग is neither easy nor difficult, it all depends upon what type of mind you have. Therefore, कृष्ण is going to teach कर्मयोग, by which you begin to love वेदान्त. Or else, for any dry subject, they will name it as वेदान्त. वेदान्त has become an example for any dry subject, See the situation! So वेदान्त will not appear dry, you will find it most relevant teaching in this world, most enjoyable teaching in the world is वेदान्त. How to make it so: by following कर्मयोग. And therefore, योगे, कर्मयोगे, इमाम्, means this teaching शृणु. And then what will happen? बुद्ध्या युक्तः, once you learn this science of कर्मयोग and not only learn but also practice this कर्मयोग, then what will happen? कर्मबन्धम् प्रहास्यसि you will easily destroy all your shackles born out of कर्म. So0 कर्म-बन्धम् प्रहास्यसि means you will attain liberation. By liberation you do not think it is some kind of a posthumous business, going to some लोक after death, going to forest, etc., liberation means freedom from all kinds of emotional problems: anxiety, fear, depression, worry; all these are called संसारः; liberation means enjoying a wonderful mind. A mind which doesn't have the problem of all these common संसारिक problem like depression, etc., are not there. That मोक्ष you will attain. This is the introduction to कर्मयोग. Here afterwards, कृष्ण will give an elaborate introduction to कर्मयोग, which we will read.

Verse No .40

नेहाभिक्रमनाशोऽस्ति प्रत्यवायो न विद्यते ।

स्वल्पमप्यस्य धर्मस्य त्रायते महतो भयात् ॥ २-४०॥

न इह अभिक्रम-नाशः अस्ति प्रत्यवायः न विद्यते ।

स्वल्पम् अपि अस्य धर्मस्य त्रायते महतः भयात् ॥ २-४०॥

इह अभिक्रम-नाशः न अस्ति, प्रत्यवायः न विद्यते, अस्य धर्मस्य स्वल्पम् अपि (अनुष्ठानं) महतः भयात् त्रायते ।

So in these verses, कृष्ण is glorifying कर्मयोग. Even though he has not clearly defined कर्मयोग, he is glorifying it. What exactly is कर्मयोग, we will be seeing later; but to put it in a nutshell, कर्मयोग is that way of life in which we grow internally more and we give importance to inner growth more than external accomplishment. Because the basic philosophy of गीता is this: the peace of mind does not depend upon what you have, on the other hand, peace of mind depends upon what you are. This is the basic philosophy of गीता. Our general misconception is that our happiness, our security, etc., depend upon what we have and we think that the more we have the more secure we are; but भगवद्गीता says: it is the biggest misconception. In fact, those people who have more, they alone require maximum security; greater the person is, the more number of black cats and all the other cats they require! So the President, he has got lot of money, position, possession, everything is there. Therefore we think that peace and security is directly proportional to what we have; कृष्ण says that is the biggest myth. The peace and security depends upon what type of personality you enjoy, what type of inner growth you enjoy. And in our culture, you find that some of the greatest people enjoyed greatest happiness.

भोग त्यागः कस्य सुखम् न करोति विरागः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् १८ ॥

So saints and sages, they did not possess anything but still they had maximum security and maximum peace. And therefore कर्मयोग is a lifestyle in which we focus more on inner growth and comparatively the outer accomplishments are subservient to the inner growth. Not that we ignore external possessions; we respect money, we respect possessions, we respect status, all of them are respected but when there is a comparison between inner growth and external accomplishment, a कर्मयोगि focuses more on inner growth. And if he is asked to choose one of these two, he will choose inner growth more. And such a lifestyle is called कर्मयोग. The details we will be seeing later, but here the glorification we are going to see. कृष्ण says: इह अभिक्रम-नाशः न अस्ति. इह means in कर्मयोग, there is no such thing called failure. A कर्मयोगि never feels that he has failed in life, because even though he might be a failure from the worldly angle, because he failed in business or he lost money or he lost something, he lost job, the world may say he is a failure, but a कर्मयोगि is going to look from the stand point of the lessons, the valid lessons he learned from such experiences and since he feels such lessons are very valid and important, while the world says he is a failure, he says I have got lot of inner growth that I consider as success. And therefore, a कर्मयोगि does not know failure. अभिक्रम-नाशः means failure. Similarly, प्रत्यवायः न विद्यते. प्रत्यवायः means adverse result. From material angle, any action can have positive result or adverse result. When I do a business, if I get profit, it is called positive result; if I lose my money, it is adverse result. So when there is some disease, I take to medicine, if the disease is cured, positive result; sometimes the disease is not cured, I get another disease. I took my medicine for headache and I got stomach-ache also. That is called प्रत्यवायः. From material angle actions will have positive and negative result, but for a spiritual person, action will have only positive result because from any experience a कर्मयोगि learns. A person who learnt music for seven years and then he said I learnt an important lesson that music does not come for me. That is valid thing; at least hereafter he will not disturb the neighbors. Therefore, any experience he will positively interpret and grow; that is what is called building castles with the stones thrown by other people. कर्मयोग always builds inner castles. Therefore प्रत्यवायः न विद्यते. There is no adverse result. And not only that, स्वल्पम् अपि अस्य धर्मस्य, even if he practices to a limited extent, to that extent he will get proportional result; whereas, in the case of material result, an action can produce a result only when it is completed. This is the normal rule. Suppose I am digging the well. I dig 10 feet. So I have dug 10 feet, let me get a little water. No, I have to complete the job and reach the layer where the water is available, unless I complete the job I will not get the result. Normally, from material angle, a कर्म will produce result only when it is completed but in the case of कर्मयोग, whether the action is completed or not, inner growth will take place whether the action is done one fourth, whether the action is done half, whether the action is done three fourth, the कर्मयोगि will get the benefit. I will give you a solid example, then it will become clear. Suppose a person wants to chant विष्णुसहस्रनाम and somebody asks what is the purpose? Then he says I have consulted some astrologer and the astrologer has said that you should chant the सहस्रनाम so many times. And that too at this particular time and you should offer such and such नैवेद्यम् and you should give such and such दक्षीणा, etc., and then you will get the result. Then the विष्णुसहस्रनाम chanting is called a सकाम कर्म meant for material result. And suppose another person is chanting the same विष्णुसहस्रनाम and I am asking for what purpose you are chanting? Is it for this purpose or that purpose, he says: I am not expecting any material benefit out of it and I am purely chanting for the sake of inner growth. Then the difference will be: in the case of the first person, he will get the result only when he does the chanting as many times as prescribed. Suppose that person has said 11 times and then he chants 10 times, no benefits. He has prescribed this much amount of नैवेद्यम्, all prescribed and he gives only 3/4 of that नैवेद्यम्. I get 3/4th result. No. Either you complete it and get the full result or you do not complete it and get the no result. So in the case of material result, only when you complete the job you will get the फलम् or whereas when you are chanting the सहस्रनाम for inner growth, you need not complete it. Suppose you have chanted only 10 श्लोकs or 200 नामs, (so don't take advantage of this statement!) So whatever amount you chant, even if one नाम also, you will get the result. Therefore, कर्म will produce the result only when it is completed; in the case of कर्मयोग even अल्प will produce the result. And therefore he says: स्वल्पम् अपि अस्य धर्मस्य. And not only that, when a person wants material results, the chanting also should be proper. If you use a तमिक् book on विष्णुसहस्रनाम, finished! There every letter is अद्वैत only. Tamil is the best अद्वैत!! क, ख, ग, घ etc., for all only one क. ट, ठ, ड, ढ for all only one ट. So you if you don't pronounce the letters properly, no result. Not only no result, sometimes adverse result. Whereas when you are chanting for purification of mind, even if it is wrongly chanted the benefit is supposed to accrue. Thus, what कृष्ण wants to say is सकाम कर्म will have to be completed to produce the result, निष्काम कर्म or कर्म for inner growth, will give the result anyway. So स्वल्पम् अपि अस्य धर्मस्य, here the word धर्म means कर्मयोग, even a little bit of कर्मयोग, महतः भयात् त्रायते, महतः भयात् means from संसार, the great fear called संसार. From that संसार, the कर्मयोग will protect a person. And therefore अर्जुन be a कर्मयोगि. Continuing;

Verse No .41

व्यवसायात्मिका बुद्धिरेकेह कुरुनन्दन ।

बहुशाखा ह्यनन्ताश्च बुद्ध्योऽव्यवसायिनाम् ॥ २-४१॥

व्यवसाय-आत्मिका बुद्धिः एका इह कुरु-नन्दन ।

बहु-शाखाः हि अनन्ताः च बुद्ध्यः अव्यवसायिनाम् ॥ २-४१॥

हे कुरु-नन्दन! इह व्यवसाय-आत्मिका एका बुद्धिः । अव्यवसायिनाम् हि बुद्ध्यः अनन्ताः बहु-शाखाः च ।

One of the problems that we face while we read our scriptures is that there are countless number of spiritual साधनs prescribed. Unlike the other religions, which appears to be very simple or simplistic; they just give you certain do's and don'ts, so 10 commandments or something, therefore, it appears to be less complicated, whereas when you want to read our scriptures it seems to be very very complex. The scriptures themselves are so voluminous, the four वेदs, the इतिहासs, the पुराणs, their commentaries, sub-commentaries and in all of them, varieties of साधनs are prescribed. So in some place they talk about पूजा, some place they talk about जप, some place they talk about meditation, some place they talk about

भजन्s, some place they talk about pilgrimage. So thus as many scriptures are there so many साधनs are there and if you look at the various, the television programs also, in one place प्रह्लाद चरित्रम् will be there, then धृव चरित्रम् will be there and in each one, you will find one, one साधन. In one place they will say, he did not do any साधन, singing, music itself gave him liberation. He got मोक्ष by singing only. You have to do ध्यान for मोक्ष in another place. In another place, it is said that you do not do anything, do your duty at home, धर्म व्याध story. They will give that story also. Butcher got liberation just by butchering. Therefore you also will get. Thus we have got so many साधनs mentioned we do not know, what are we supposed to do. Read the last page of The Hindu, one day they would have reported that just ‘Who I am?’ enquiry you do, instant liberation. Another day in the same The Hindu, they will say that you will have to raise the कुण्डलिनि from behind. And another day they will say, that you will have to utter राम, श्रीराम राम रामेति रामे रामे मनोरमे. Utter रामनाम only once enough, you will get मोक्ष. In another place they will say धृव and प्रह्लाद and all those people went to forest and did तपस् and all. Now I am confused, what should I do? So therefore, if we have to successfully pursue spirituality we should first have a clear idea of every साधन and its role. If I don’t know the role of each साधन, I don’t know how to use it, I will only abuse it. And here कृष्ण says, कर्मयोगि is one who has got a clear understanding about the साधनs that he has to practice. And that clarity regarding the means and the ends – साध्य साधन विषय निश्चय ज्ञानम्. The clarity regarding the means and the end. And even in the means and end, we have got intermediary ends as well as ultimate end. So when a person wants to go to दिल्ली and he wants to go to airport or railway station, the ultimate destination may be दिल्ली but for the time being the destination is airport or railway station, that is intermediary end. And to go to the railway station, he might have to go to the taxi stand or the auto stand and then the taxi stand becomes what? Another intermediary end. Next end is the railway station. The ultimate end is New Delhi. So he should know what is the immediate end and what is the ultimate end and that is called व्यवसायात्मिका बुद्धिः, clarity regarding what I want in life. Many people you ask, what you want, they will scratch their head; I do not know what I want, first I thought I want this and I am not very sure, this or that. So very clear understanding. And what is that understanding? कृष्ण does not say but we should know, the ultimate goal is freedom because whether you like or not, everybody is instinctively working for freedom alone. Even a child you watch, it holds on to mother's hand until its legs are strong, the moment its legs are strong, the child will drop the mother and run away. The child also wants freedom; animals also want freedom. Here what do we mean by freedom? Not external freedom to run away, but inner freedom. What is that inner freedom? I should be happy with myself without depending upon any other human being or his behavior or his presence or absence. Because ultimately, the basic formula is

Dependence is sorrow, independence is happiness. And therefore my goal is freedom. Now the next question to get that freedom what is the means? कर्मयोगि has studied and analyzed enough and he has recognized this fact that the freedom is already natural to me, it is only I have not claimed that freedom, therefore, ज्ञानम् is the साधन for discovery of that freedom. Therefore freedom is the goal, ज्ञानम् is the means. So some kind of a picture has come. Then he recognizes that for ज्ञानम्, or any knowledge I require a prepared mind; whether it is physics knowledge or chemistry knowledge or English knowledge or any knowledge. If I have to study M.Sc physics, I should have B.Sc. physics, at least should have passed in the third class. If distinction is not necessary. If I have studied some other subject and go to M.Sc. physics, I would not get anything. Any knowledge requires preparation. Self-knowledge requires tremendous preparation, which we call as ज्ञानयोग्यता. Ultimate goal is freedom, for that I require ज्ञानम्, for that I require ज्ञानयोग्यता, fitness of the mind. Then the next question is: for that ज्ञानयोग्यता what should I practice? And for that alone, कृष्ण gives कर्मयोग consisting of varieties of actions. The details of which again we will be seeing later. कर्मयोग position is it gives ज्ञानयोग्यता. Therefore what is my vision? Take the path of कर्मयोग, take ज्ञानयोग्यता, then go to ज्ञानम् and discover the inner freedom. And whatever religious practice I do whether it is पूजा, जप, दान, यज्ञ etc., all of them will come under कर्मयोग – the purification of mind. So there is no confusion. He knows where he is now, he knows he has to be next and he knows what is the ultimate goal and कृष्ण says, this is व्यवसायात्मिका बुद्धिः, clarity regarding my priorities of life and this understand is एका – it is one, it is unchanging. Here एका means unswerving. अबाध्या. Even if somebody comes and tells something, he will not be confused; whereas, most of the other people, who are not कर्मयोगिs, they have no idea about spirituality. At least if they were नास्तिकs, they would not waste their time in religious practices at least, but the so called half-baked आस्तिकs are wasting their time, who is religious but does not know what he is doing for what? And therefore, most of the religious practices will become waste of time because he does not know how to use that. And therefore कृष्ण says, अव्यवसायिनाम्, those who do not have clarity regarding means and end, बहु-शाखाः, बहु-शाखाः means many branched, they will listen to somebody's discourse and suddenly they will start भजन्s. Then they heard somebody else say that this the quicker method is raising the वण्डलिनी. They will start वण्डलिनी योग. Then somebody comes and tells, you have to study गीता. They will come to गीता class for 4 days. And next what to do? OK, I want to sit and say, 'Who am I', Who am I enquiry and thus they are neither here or nor there; 1008 practices, they are only on confusion. Who says: Not I, कृष्ण says बहु-शाखाः, multi-branched, utter confusion and often they end up as नास्तिकs, because when religion is not properly understood and when a person doesn't get the benefit, he will not blame his lack of understanding, he will blame the religion. "I also did so many things: No result, except that I got cold" would be his statement. That means if you are religious you should not have cold. What sort of logic is this I do not know? Some silly logic he gives. So thus he will not know how to look at religion, he will end up often as a नास्तिक only. He would have been doing something, fearing the parents only and not out of his conviction. In his heart, religion goes. And remember, if such a thing happens, the problem is not with religion, the problem is that we have not clearly understood what it is. When you want to practice computer, there is a training course, 6 or 9 months, you learn how to operate, spending Rs 10,000/- or 20,000/-. So first you learn, then you operate; any machine, even tennis. Seems to be very simple, even that requires training; whereas we practice religion, without learning, anything about religion. If you operate computer without knowing what it is, not only you won't get the benefit; the computer also would go. Similarly, practicing religion without some learning of scriptures is the most ridiculous thing often producing adverse results, adverse effect. In those days, the basic learning about religion was given in ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम. When they had this schooling, they have to learn the basics of religion, but unfortunately that is not there. Therefore many people do not value and those people who practice also, they do not know what is what; therefore कृष्ण criticizes them, बहु-शाखाः and not only they are many branched notions; अनन्ताः च, countless notions they have. Which we can learn from the type of questions they ask; countless notions they have regarding god, regarding world, regarding कर्म, regarding पूजा, regarding dress, regarding dress; countless questions; because the basics are not clear. बुद्धयः अव्यवसायिनाम्. More we will in the next class.

एषा तेऽभिहिता साङ्ख्ये बुद्धिर्योगे त्विमां शृणु ।

बुद्ध्या युक्तो यया पार्थ कर्मबन्धं प्रहास्यसि ॥ २-३९॥

नेहाभिक्रमनाशोऽस्ति प्रत्यवायो न विद्यते ।

स्वल्पमप्यस्य धर्मस्य त्रायते महतो भयात् ॥ २-४०॥

व्यवसायात्मिका बुद्धिरेकेह कुरुनन्दन ।

बहुशाखा ह्यनन्ताश्च बुद्धयोऽव्यवसायिनाम् ॥ २-४१॥

After taking about ज्ञानयोग, which was given from verse no.11 to 25, now Lord कृष्ण wants to concentrate on कर्मयोग. And before starting the topic of कर्मयोग, कृष्ण wants to make certain general observations regarding कर्मयोग and कर्मयोगिs and afterwards he will introduce the proper कर्मयोग. In the first, i.e., the 40th verse, Lord कृष्ण glorified कर्मयोग by pointing out that it never has got failure, because कर्मयोग is primarily meant for inner growth and whatever be the external consequences of the action, a कर्मयोगि will inwardly grow, which means he gets the capacity to learn from successes also and to learn from failures also, to learn from gain as well as loss, to learn from मानम् as well as अपमानम् and since a कर्मयोगि learns and grows, there is no question of failure in कर्मयोग. And next, in the 41st verse, which we have just completed, Lord कृष्ण glorified कर्मयोगि, by pointing out that he has got a very clear picture about the goal of life and his priorities in life are very clear and therefore he knows what are the immediate goals and what are the long-term goals and what is the ultimate goal, which he has gathered not only from his experiences in life but also with the help of the scriptures he has understood and what is that clear thinking that a कर्मयोगि enjoys. कृष्ण does not say that in the verse. शङ्कराचार्य brings out that clear thinking and that is he knows the ultimate goal is inner freedom alone. All human beings are working for this inner freedom only; by inner freedom, I mean the psychological freedom, the emotional freedom. And he is very clear that this inner freedom or मोक्ष is परम पुरुषार्थः and he has also understood that this can be attained by Self-discovery alone. Just as a child by discovering strength in its legs, learns to drop all the hold of the mother and learns to walk by itself, by developing strength in its feet or in its legs, similarly, my mental feet, my emotional personality should discover sufficient strength that I don't depend upon any external factors to be secure, to be comfortable, to be happy. So this discovery of inner strength is called आत्मज्ञानम् and he is very clear that the ज्ञानम् is the only means to attain or discover that freedom. And he is also very clear that this ज्ञानम् cannot come or take place unless I have prepared my mind for that discovery and therefore my immediate goal is discovery of the qualification or acquisition of those qualifications, which we call in शास्त्र as ज्ञानयोग्यता. So these stations are very clear. I have to go to ज्ञानयोग्यता station, from there I have to go the penultimate station called ज्ञानम् and from that I acquire the मोक्ष. And how to reach the ज्ञानयोग्यता station? For that he is very clear that I have to lead an active religious life known as कर्मयोग; an active involved, committed, wholehearted, religious, ethical life I have to lead, which is otherwise known as कर्मयोग. Thus through कर्मयोग I attain ज्ञानयोग्यता. From there, I go to ज्ञानम् and from there I go to मोक्ष. This is the route map which I have to travel. This is very clear in his mind. And this clarity कृष्ण calls as व्यवसायात्मिका बुद्धिः, very clear about what he wants; whereas in the case of the all the other people, who are not कर्मयोगिन्, the problem is they are religious alright, but they are not very sure about what they have to do. Therefore, anybody prescribes any साधन, they will practice that साधन for a week and listen to some other महात्मा talking about some other साधन, practice for another week and they listen to some other person prescribing some other साधन, practice for another week; ultimately they will be going round and round, not able to reach anywhere, utterly confused. And therefore कृष्ण criticizes them, बहु-शाखाः अनन्ताः च बुद्धयः अव्यवसायिनाम्. These confused, confounded people have got so many ideas regarding religion and spirituality, many of them wrong ideas, many of them are incomplete ideas and therefore बहु-शाखाः, multi-branched and अनन्ताः च and infinite, because even though the fact is one, confusions are many. Errors can be many. 2+2, the right answer is only one but how many wrong answers are there? Infinite wrong answers are there and therefore अनन्ताः. Up to this we saw, Continuing;

So in these three verses, Lord कृष्ण is strongly criticizing those people who are confused people, who do not have clarity regarding the ultimate goal, i.e., non कर्मयोगिs or I will call them कर्मिs to contrast them with कर्मयोगis, these people can be called कर्मis. To understand these three verses, we should have a little bit of background, so I will briefly mention that here.

i) Later, in the 17th chapter, Lord कृष्ण is going to divide all the human activities into three types known as सत्त्विक कर्माणि, राजस कर्माणि and तामस कर्माणि.

➤ And कृष्ण defines सत्त्विक कर्मs are those which will benefit the maximum number of people, which can be termed as selfless actions, which takes into account the welfare and well-being of other people; non-self-centered action. self-less actions. These are called सत्त्विक कर्माणि.

➤ Then the second type of action, कृष्ण mentioned is राजस कर्माणि, which actions are purely individual oriented, purely self-centered action; the person is not bothered about anybody else; whether they are harmed or benefited, he doesn't bother, I should get the benefit. These are called selfish action; in संस्कृत, राजस कर्माणि.

➤ And third type of actions, कृष्ण mentions is तामस कर्माणि, in which a person is not only selfish but for the sake of fulfilling the selfish ends, he does not mind harming other people also and therefore they are क्रूर कर्माणि, which involves hurting other people. Thus harmful actions are called तामस कर्माणि.

➤ Thus we can divide all the actions into three, selfless actions, selfish actions and harmful actions. And in terms of the growth of an individual, what is the contribution of these types of action? In terms of the growth of the individual, what is the contribution of each of these three types of actions?

➤ The scriptures point out that the सत्त्विक कर्मs primarily contribute to the inner growth of the human being. The primary benefit of all the सत्त्विक कर्मs is the inner growth, which you can call purity, which you can call as ज्ञानयोग्यता and these सत्त्विक कर्मस may produce outer benefits, material benefits also but material benefits are secondary. Primarily they produce inner growth, but as a by-product they produce material growth.

➤ Then we come to राजस कर्माणि, they also contribute to the growth of a person, but the proportion is different, all the राजस कर्माणि, primarily contribute to the outer material growth of a person; he will be able to accomplish a lot in the material sense of the term, but in terms of spiritual growth, its contribution is minimal; it is only a slow growth.

➤ Whereas the third type of कर्मस are तामस कर्मस, where a person is harming another person and through that harmful action he may material benefit; because through corruption, through scams, through cheating, through adulteration, through bluffing, through all these things, certainly a person does all these things for material benefits only; the तामस कर्मस may contribute to material benefit but the scriptures point out that in terms of inner growth not only they do not contribute but they pull a person down spiritually; that means he does not grow; he doesn't even remain in the same place not even status-quo but that person is going away from the inner growth.

This is one point we have to remember; सत्त्विक कर्माणि predominantly contributes to inner growth; राजस कर्माणि contributes to inner growth in a limited way only and तामस कर्माणि retards the growth, it pulls down.

ii) Then the second most important information that we have is the real peace and happiness of a person primarily depends upon the inner growth alone and not the external growth. No doubt the external growth in terms of material accomplishments will give some joy and peace, nobody says No, but the primary contribution to peace and joy is contributed by inner growth alone, which means suppose there is a person who does not have inner growth but even if he has got all the external gadgets he cannot enjoy life, because he will have conflicts because he would have gone against the conscience. So when the inner growth is stunted the external things cannot give peace and joy, whereas when the inner growth is there, whether the external things are there or not, a person can enjoy peace and joy.

This is the basic information kept in mind when कर्मयोग is being taught. So first we should know the three types of कर्म in terms of the inner growth; second we have to know that inner growth alone primarily contributes to the peace of mind of a person. Having kept this lesson in mind in these three verses कृष्ण strongly criticizes those people who are committed to राजस कर्माणि.

i) कृष्ण criticizes who are committed to राजसिक actions, which means who are interested in their own personal benefit and that too material benefits alone. And they do not care about any other thing. And such selfish people are criticized strongly. कृष्ण does not criticize here तामस कर्माणि, but that is to be understood. When राजस कर्म itself is criticized, what to talk of तामस कर्म? So तामस कर्म brings a person down, राजस कर्म does not bring down a person, but राजस कर्म keeps a person without spiritual growth. And therefore those actions are criticized here. So we will have to take the words from all the three verses because all these three verses put together is one grammatical sentence, it is a very long संस्कृत sentence therefore I will be taking the words from various places and rearranging for the sake of understanding. So first is criticism of selfish people. Who are they? Selfish-cum-materialistic people. Who are they? 42nd verse 1st line, last word अविपश्चितः they are unintelligent people. They are unintelligent people, indiscriminate people. What do you mean unintelligence or non-discrimination? Unintelligence here is thinking that material accomplishments alone can make the life successful. That material accomplishments alone can make the life successful - wealth alone can accomplish everything. This notion is called here अविवेकः. Whereas the conclusion of the गीता is material accomplishment alone cannot give that. As they say money can buy bed but money cannot buy sleep, money can buy food but money cannot buy hunger, money can buy people but it cannot buy love. So thus money can buy many things but there are many important things in life which money cannot buy. If I do not understand that, I am a अविवेकि and these people think, अर्थ-काम are the ultimate पुरुषार्थs. So No.1 अविपश्चितः, अविवेकिनः, अर्थ-काम प्रधानः प्रेयोऽर्थिनः, अविपश्चितः.

ii) Then, the next criticism कृष्ण gives is वेद-वाद-रताः. In the वेदs, especially the कर्मकाण्ड portion of the वेदs, there are so many rituals prescribed for material end. In the वेदs and that too in the कर्मकाण्ड portion of the वेदs, there are innumerable rituals prescribed for material benefits. One popular होम which you would have heard and attended in many places is आवहन्ती होम. Many people do that.

आवहन्ती वितन्वाना कुर्वाणाऽचीरमात्मनः । वासोऽसि मम गावश्च ।

अन्नपाने च सर्वदा । ततो मे श्रियमावह । ॥ तैत्तिरीय उपनिषत् १- ४- २ ॥

श्रियम् आवह I should get lot of wealth. Not only money, but also अन्नम्, पानम्, वस्त्रम्; there is a ritual. Since the वेद itself prescribe the rituals, it is very clear that material needs will have to be fulfilled. वेद does accept that money is required, food is required, clothing is required, house is required; वेद is not against material accomplishments, वेद prescribes. But what वेद says is that your life cannot be totally dedicated to these accomplishments alone; the same वेद: talks about the emotional growth, the intellectual growth, the spiritual growth and these selfish materialistic people they do not read those portions of the वेदs. सत्यम् वदः. It is on the other side, they will not see. Even if they see, they will do सत्यम् 'वध' (by saying they will be killing सत्यम्). धर्मम् चर स्वाध्यायान् मा प्रमदः, you should study the scriptures. Many people think that if I am studying गीता, I am doing a great thing. वेद: does not consider it so; just as if a child is going to school, you do not consider it as a great accomplishment; going to school is the fundamental need of a child; similarly, वेद says, learning गीता is the fundamental necessity of every human being. Because going to school takes care of getting salary. But गीता alone takes care how to face unemployment; what to do when you do not get employment or when you lose employment? The situations in life, as I said the other side, the emotional quotient can be handled; the school would take care of the intelligence quotient; गीता alone can take care of your EQ. By EQ it is not meant as emergency quota in the Railways. EQ means the emotional quotient, the capacity to maintain the mental balance in ups and downs. That being equally important, स्वाध्यायान् मा प्रमदः; गीता study is compulsory. So come to the classes, regularly. So it is important. But these unintelligent people do not read these portions; they only read about the आवहन्ती होम, this होम, that होम, etc., in this temple or in that temple and they are committed to material pursuits. वेद-वाद-रताः means राजस कर्म रताः, सकाम-कर्म रताः. This is the second criticism.

iii) The third one is न अन्यत् अस्ति इति वादिनः. When we talk about nobler things in life, about mortality, about ethics, about scriptures, about God, about religion, about service, all the other topics when I raise, they are not interested in those things; they consider life is only as they say कावो पीयो मजा करो – Eat, drink and be merry. Therefore, अन्यत् धर्माख्याः मोक्षाख्याः वा पुरुषार्थः वा न अन्यत् न अस्ति इति वादिनः.

उपनिषत् uses a stronger word. They are all प्रमूढः, means what: मूढः means fools, प्रमूढः means the filtered ones. न अन्यत् अस्ति इति वादिनः. No.3.

iv) What is the 4th description? काम-आत्मानः. Verse 43, 1st word. They are embodiment of materialistic desires. They are embodiment of physical pleasures, they are embodiment of sensory pleasures and again what कृष्ण criticizes here is not pleasures themselves. You should always remember that वेद itself talks about material pleasures, but what is criticized here is giving predominance, undue importance to the sense pleasures at the cost of inner and spiritual growth. That is why he uses the word, काम-आत्मानः, that means that if you take all the sense pleasures and give hands and legs, they are embodiment of that only; काम-आत्मानः. They have a very big list of pleasures. What to do? What is your ambition? He will give list and list and list. Even by mistake they do not include धर्म or मोक्ष in it. And in this list, what is highest is, they have स्वर्ग-पराः the heaven is the ultimate goal. Just as we have got America as the ultimate goal for many youth; by hook or crook, 3 months visa or 9 months visa, by somehow or the other settle there. Just as people are rushing to some such place, in those days they were interested in स्वर्ग because that is described, as now-a-days people describe America. Everything good, this is good, that is good, roads are good etc. Like that स्वर्ग is supposed to be hundred times superior to America. The only difficulty is, the first qualification to go to स्वर्ग is: you have to die. To go to America you to need do that. So स्वर्ग-पराः. These are the five descriptions of the selfish, materialistic people who can never become कर्मयोगि. And what do they do? Again come back to 42nd verse, 1st line, प्रवदन्ति. Not only they are selfish and materialistic, they spread their philosophy to everyone. And always materialistic philosophy is attractive. So even if we are little bit religious, constant association with that person, our intention is to convert him but in the process, we find we get converted because materialism is माया, remember माया is more attractive than ब्रह्मन्, माया is always more attractive than ब्रह्मन्. Materialism is always more attractive than spiritualism. Therefore, if somebody repeated says, why should you go to गीता now itself? You should become a grandpa or grandmother, then you can take up गीता. What happened to you? What is wrong with you? Why you are going to गीता classes and all? If somebody asks you 4 times like that, you will start doubting and think that you are doing some wrong, etc. As such, people coming to गीता class is difficult and on top of that, if people ask you consistently, 4 times then it is finished!! Like that donkey story. And you will wonder, after retirement we will see. So therefore, these people spread their philosophy unasked, like the advertisements coming inside the news, etc. Every five minutes there is some advertisement; just as the advertisement people advertise, Similarly, these people talk about these things, प्रवदन्ति. What type of talk they give? कृष्ण give the description the speech of those selfish, materialistic people so that we will be forewarned. So that the शास्त्र says, you can avoid friendship with such people, because that is like a bait and the fish is attracted by the beautiful bait they have kept, fish goes and bites and gets hooked, similarly, if you have too much materialistic friend, unknowingly you will be drawn. That is शङ्कराचार्य warns in भजगोविन्दम् and says: सत्सङ्गत्वे निरसङ्गत्वम्. Choose your friends also. And therefore here कृष्ण says: पुष्पिताम् वाचम् प्रवदन्ति there speech is very flowery, very eloquent, very attractive, very tempting, very seducing; like the advertisement: you buy this, free plastic spoon; one day also it will not last; If you buy soap powder, in which the plastic spoon price is included. All the people go there, they are interested more in the spoon than the powder itself. Similarly, here also, पुष्पिताम् वाचम् – flowery speech. And then, verse 43, 1st line, last word, जन्म-कर्म-फल-प्रदाम् वाचम्. They speak of such activities, in fact, next word, we will see and then we will come back to this word as it is easier to understand. क्रिया-विशेष-बहुलाम् वाचम् प्रवदन्ति, we will see this first. They talk about varieties of projects and projects. You take up this project and you do not have expenditure at all and it will get this much of profit and you take that money and put in this project and it will bring this much money and project after project they will talk about, क्रिया-विशेष-बहुलाम्, full of saturated with varieties of actions or projects. In the वैदिक parlance it is varieties of rituals, in the modern parlance it is varieties of ambitious projects. And ultimately what is the casualty: गीता Class. Because no time, Saturday also busy and Sunday are also busy as I get extra money. And therefore you will not drop anything. The first casualty is सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, even mistake if you are doing at all, it will also go, otherwise the prayer is the casualty, or the गीता is the casualty, why because he has got 25 hours of work in a day of 24 hours. क्रिया-विशेष-बहुलाम् – full of varieties of activities and they will lead to what? जन्म-कर्म-फल-प्रदाम् they do not know that one action will lead to another action, which will again suck you into another action and you get into a whirlpool of action and you go round and round and you have entered into it and like अभिमन्यु, you know how to enter, but you do not know how to get out of them. Even though I know I am too much involved, I should reduce (many people confess, स्वामिजि, somehow I have been caught up in all these, I am not able to come out. I plan to come to the class, but unable to put into effect. By that यम will have planned something else and the man is all out. So thus he knows he is in a चक्रम् and he does not know how to get out of that and then what happens: he dies. Then what next: पुनरपि जननम्. And there also again the same चक्रम्.

इह संसारे बहुदुस्तारे कृपयाऽपारे पाहि मुरारे ॥ भजगोविन्दम् २१ ॥

Now गीता does not say that you should not get into action; but what गीता says is you get into but you should also know how to gradually get out also so that you can involve and dedicate yourself in higher pursuits. That's why we have got the four आश्रम concept: ब्रह्मचर्य, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ and संन्यास. A person gradually gets into, grows and gets out. Not that a person physically takes to संन्यास, do not get frightened; whether a person physically renounces or not, a person should be able to get into and get out. If I myself get out it is victory, if यमधर्मराज pulls me out it is pain. Therefore, instead of यम pulling you out, why can't you yourself grow out. And therefore, these people do not know that: जन्म-कर्म-फल-प्रदाम् वाचम्, they speak of only such activity which will lead a person from action to action and birth to birth; birth represents finitude, mortality. And all these are meant for what? They do not present these activities for purity of mind; if they are prescribing activities for mental purity, they are सात्त्विक कर्म, but these selfish people never prescribe anything; even if they prescribe any religious action, it is also meant for material profit, i.e., commercialization of everything and therefore कृष्ण says, भोग-ऐश्वर्य-गतिम् प्रति. Their target are only two: one is called भोग, which means काम पुरुषार्थ, enjoyments and ऐश्वर्य means अर्थ पुरुषार्थ; भोग-ऐश्वर्य means अर्थ-काम पुरुषार्थ, money and pleasures only are their target. And such words all meant for even if they talk about the temple, they will say that if you go to that temple for seven Fridays or three पौर्णमिस, you will get all the things which you desire. How convenient? You go to this temple, this will happen. You go to the शनि temple, that will happen. You go to that दुर्गा temple, that will happen. We are so catholic, that we include, अन्नै वेलाङ्कन्नि (Velankanni) and नागुर, etc., all for what? None of them for development of love or compassion, but everything for only money, money, money and money alone. And what will happen to them? कृष्ण further criticizes them in the 44th verse, भोग-ऐश्वर्य-प्रसक्तानाम्, not only they talk about अर्थ-काम for others, but they are totally involved in, totally attached to अर्थ-काम alone, प्रसक्तः means totally attached and they are attached to such an extent that, तया अपहृत-चेतसाम्, gradually they find that they cannot fulfill the desires by legitimate methods; because the mind can develop desires in geometric progression. One desire to ten, ten to hundred, hundred to thousand. Therefore the increase of desires is very fast, but the fulfillment of desires is very slow. Then a time comes, when the desires are so compelling and I do not have a legitimate method of fulfilling them and when legitimate methods are not available what do I do: slowly put our hand in the wrong place. I begin to take to अधार्मिक methods – gambling, all kinds of evils start; therefore, तथा अपहृत-चेतसाम्, their sense of conscience, sense of discrimination, sense of propriety, sense of honesty, sense of justice all of them will go away. If we are seeing corruption, corruption is done by not illiterate people, educated people are doing and there is no question of conscience pricking at all. So we have reached such a state; that it is done and always the answer is when everybody is doing, what is wrong if I do. Auto-rickshaw people ask, 120 crores they are taking; I am only asking Rs. 2 extra. He also justifies what he does, only in terms of the राजा; because यथा राजा तथा प्रजा. And in democracy, यथा प्रजा तथा राजा, because you get a government that you deserve. Because one of us is only ruling; one from among the idiots? How will he be? He will be महा idiot. Therefore, अपहृत-चेतसाम् means conscience is stifled, suppressed, stunted; therefore, विवेक शक्ति goes away. And in the olden days, they talked about पापम् and people believed and avoided अकर्मम्. Now they say what is पुण्यम् and what is पापम्? Who has seen? There is no scientific proof for पुण्यम् and पापम्. On the other hand, they will argue, see that chap, who had done all अकर्मम् and is living a fine life. They have some examples also and if I say that you will go to नरकम्, who knows such a नरकम् is there and if I got to नरकम्, I wont be remembering all these things and even if I go to नरकम्, I would not be remembering all these things, because I would have dropped this body and all, how will I know I am that one. You have got enough arguments to do अकर्मम्. To do कर्म is difficult; to do अकर्म we have got enough excuses and कृष्ण is referring to them: अपहृत-चेतसाम्. And for such people, व्यवसाय-आत्मिका बुद्धिः न विधीयते; न विधीयते means नास्ति. Such people do not have clarity of thinking, they do not have clear priorities of life, they are not very sure about the goals of life also and clear thinking they do not have, where? समाधि. Here the word समाधि means mind. समाधि should be understand here as mind. So in their mind or in their intellect there is no clear thinking at all, which is proved by all these three verses. Thus कृष्ण has criticized selfish, materialist people who can never become कर्मयोगिs. Now who can become कर्मयोगि is the next question? कृष्ण is going to talk about that. These are all preparation, OK.

Verse No .45

त्रैगुण्यविषया वेदा निस्त्रैगुण्यो भवार्जुन ।

निर्द्वन्द्वो नित्यसत्त्वस्थो निर्योगक्षेम आत्मावान् ॥ २-४५॥

त्रैगुण्य-विषयाः वेदाः निस्त्रैगुण्यः भवार्जुन ।

निर्द्वन्द्वः नित्य-सत्त्वस्थः निर्योगक्षेमः आत्मावान् ॥ २-४५॥

हे अर्जुन! वेदाः त्रैगुण्य-विषयाः । (त्वं) निस्त्रैगुण्यः, नित्य-सत्त्वस्थः, निर्द्वन्द्वः, निर्योगक्षेमः आत्मावान् भव ।

An important श्लोक. Who can be a कर्मयोगि? What is the personality of a कर्मयोगि? What is the thinking pattern of a कर्मयोगि? What is the goal of a कर्मयोगि? What is the attitude of a कर्मयोगि towards sense pleasures? That is being said here: त्रैगुण्य-विषयाः वेदाः. Here, त्रैगुण्यम् means material accomplishment. त्रैगुण्यम् means the material goals of life; विषयाः, such subject matter is there in the वेदs. कृष्ण says, हे अर्जुन! वेद does talk about material accomplishment, वेद doesn't condemn them totally; वेद approves of material accomplishment, sensory pleasures. But what should a कर्मयोगि do? हे अर्जुन! निस्त्रैगुण्यः भव. A कर्मयोगि or you should not be enamored by, overwhelmed by such material pleasures mentioned in the वेदs. That means that they should not be given over importance in life. They have their role, काव्य शास्त्र विनोदेन कालो गच्छति धीमताम्.

In our culture there is a provision for entertainment, music is there, dance is there, literature, fiction, drama, etc., everything is there, it is all allowed; but what वेद asks is whether that is the primary thing of life or whether they should be subservient to some other higher goal. Remember my example, to eat curd rice we do use pickle; there is no taste in that curd rice; insipid, therefore a little hot; there is nothing wrong in having pickle, but you should very clear, whether pickle is the side-dish for curd rice or curd rice is the side-dish for pickle. If the priority is not clear you will be in trouble. Similarly, अर्थ and काम are approved, accepted पुरुषार्थ but life cannot be dedicated totally to their pursuit alone. Therefore constantly I should remember, धर्म and मोक्ष are मुख्यम्, but all the time I cannot pursue धर्म alone, therefore I require a relaxation, I require what is called recreation, I require विहार; to use the 6th chapter, युक्त-आहार-विहारस्य युक्त-वेष्टस्य कर्मसु, we do require entertainment. And in the वैदिक days, there they had वैदिक entertainment and in these days, we have got the modern entertainment which are धार्मिक and which will not pollute the mind of the people such entertainments are welcome, but don't be carried away by them. Like the children seeing the cartoon network; all the mothers complain now. Because it is there 24 hours. And the child doesn't know where to put an end; Mother is very clear, she is very wise; युक्तः with regard to that. She knows that cartoon the child can see but he has to learn the school lessons and when all the time the child is learning, for some entertainment it can see; but the child doesn't know whether cartoon is मुख्यम् or school-study is मुख्यम्. And we complain that the children do not know but कृष्ण says: Why children, the grown up people themselves are not very clear whether money and pleasures are alone important or गीता Study or धर्म, पूजा, prayer, ध्यानम्, etc. Therefore, don't get caught like that. निस्त्रैगुण्यः भव means निष्कामो भव. निष्कामो भव means don't give undue importance to अर्थ-काम fulfillment. They should be subservient, alright. So निस्त्रैगुण्यः भव. Then निर्द्वन्द्वः भव. All very beautiful श्लोक; Let अर्थ-काम be subservient to मोक्ष; that is the first advice. What is the second advice? निर्द्वन्द्वः भव, द्वन्द्व means opposite experiences. Opposite experiences means comfort and discomfort, healthy condition and sick condition; all the astrologers say you know, शनि दशा, गुरु दशा, etc., 2-1/2 years it would be like that. Thereafter you will get accustomed, thereafter it will go, some other will come, therefore, the stars keep moving and all the industries are down and we keep hope after hopes that things will improve. Now when ups and downs come, in our tradition we have a practice called परिहार कर्माणि; very, very common. The moment consistently things go wrong catch an astrologer or catch a वास्तुशास्त्र, it is becoming so popular. One lady told me that स्वामिजि, there in the first floor one window in there in that particular place and therefore I have got tooth ache it seems; therefore I am asked to shift the window; What I am saying is that वास्तु शास्त्र comes with his version, astrologer is there, numerologist is there, palmistry is there, etc. They all prescribe what: परिहार कर्माणि. Whether this person's lot improves or not those people really thrive well. Now कृष्णI says, if you are going to do परिहार for everything, right from mosquito bite, etc., then you will have lifelong परिहार कर्माणि only because, so many अक्रमम्s we have done in our past life, consistently. So for that अक्रमम्s, if you are going to do परिहारम्s now, there wont be much time. So, in case of very important things you may do परिहारम्, but learn to strengthen your personality, to accept minor difficulties, convert them into pinpricks by strengthening your mind, by immunizing your mind learn to transcend the opposite experiences – निर्द्वन्द्वः भव. Learn to accept the pairs of opposites, unless it is too grave that I cannot pursue anything, I cannot pursue even मोक्षः, such extreme cases only परिहार कर्माणि. Therefore the aim of a कर्मयोगि should be what? Reducing the परिहार कर्माणि. And if totally later he can eliminate it is good, but reduce परिहार कर्माणि or प्रायश्चित्त कर्माणि. निस्त्रैगुण्यः भव means reducing काम्य कर्मस, निर्द्वन्द्वः भव means reducing प्रायश्चित्त कर्मस. Learn to accept. More we will in the next class.

भोगैश्वर्यप्रसक्तानां तयापहतचेतसाम् ।

व्यवसायात्मिका बुद्धिः समाधौ न विधीयते ॥ २-४४॥

त्रैगुण्यविषया वेदा निस्त्रैगुण्यो भवार्जुन ।

निर्द्वन्द्वो नित्यसत्त्वस्थो निर्योगक्षेम आत्मावान् ॥ २-४५॥

After talking about the ज्ञानयोग which is the direct means of liberation, now कृष्ण is going to talk about कर्मयोग which is for preparing the mind for ज्ञानयोग. If a person's mind is prepared for ज्ञानयोग, he doesn't require कर्मयोग; but if the mind is not prepared then a person has to go through कर्मयोग and in 99 percent of the people, preparation is not there; therefore, कर्मयोग is compulsory. And in this 45th verse, which we are seeing, कृष्ण gives the basic principle of कर्मयोग. He puts the foundation for कर्मयोग and also how a कर्मयोगि looks at his life and his goal of life. First He said त्रैगुण्य-विषयाः; वेदs do talk about lot of activities for the fulfillment of अर्थ and काम; अर्थ means wealth, काम means pleasures or entertainment. वेद does talk about a lot of activities purely meant for fulfilling our need of अर्थ-काम and this कृष्ण calls त्रैगुण्यम् and then कृष्ण says निस्त्रैगुण्यः भव; do not be carried away by the pursuit of अर्थ-काम alone; money and entertainment cannot be considered the ultimate goal of life. No doubt they are necessary but more than that, we, the human beings are born for some other higher purpose and that higher purpose is inner growth. Because ultimately, the peace of mind does not depend upon what we have but peace of mind depends upon what we are. So if a healthy inner growth is there even if wealth is not there a person can enjoy and even if wealth is there he can enjoy both the presence and the absence of wealth, but if the inner growth is not there then the wealth cannot offer much to that human being. And therefore, अर्जुन you should not consider अर्थ-काम as the primary goal of life, let it be secondary or subservient. If अर्थ-काम should be subservient, then it should be subservient to what? What should be the primary goal and that is nothing but धर्म and मोक्ष. धर्म means inward growth, inner health, mental health is धर्म. And मोक्ष is spiritual wisdom. Therefore, inner growth leading to spiritual wisdom should be the primary goal and therefore निस्त्रैगुण्यो भव, transcend the lower goals. And as शङ्कराचार्य says, निष्कामो भव, reduce those activities which are meant only for अर्थ-काम or to put in technical language, reduce काम्य कर्मs, reduce राजस, तामस कर्मs; let there be an increase in सत्त्विक कर्मs. So राजस कर्म, I hope you remember, in which I am the only beneficiary, तामस कर्म is a कर्म in which I am the beneficiary and others suffer, but सत्त्विक कर्म is that कर्म in which not only I am the beneficiary there are so many others, that self-less action is सत्त्विक कर्म; selfish action is काम्य कर्म; निस्त्रैगुण्यो भव means निष्कामो भव which means reduce money-oriented action. कृष्ण doesn't say: drop money-oriented action, but कृष्ण says the whole-time and energy should not be spent for this alone. And then He said: निर्द्वन्द्वो भव. And even if you reduce your काम्य कर्मs, even if you reduce the अर्थ-काम pursuits, you are going to face so many ups and down in life brought out by the प्रारब्ध कर्म. Because of the past कर्मs that we have done, whether we invite or not, whether we work for it or not, we are going through ups and downs in life, we are going through pairs of opposites known as द्वन्द्वs. द्वन्द्व means मान-अपमानः, लाभ-नष्टः, जय-अपजय, all these things are called pairs, निर्द्वन्द्वः भव means strengthen your mind to such an extent that you can withstand most of the ups and down of life. And what is the advantage of this strengthening? If I do not strengthen my mind, for every pinprick, for every small problem, I look for remedial measures in the शास्त्र called प्रायश्चित्त कर्मs. For even a small cold, I will go to the astrologer and ask for this remedy and that remedy and not only that once you go, the tendency, just as coffee addiction; initially you will go for an important purpose and thereafter for a less important purpose and like that and thereafter for anything and everything, go to वास्तुशास्त्र, go to astrologer; but becoming addicted and putting our life into the hands of somebody else totally, that is also not a healthy thing and therefore reduce प्रायश्चित्त कर्म and do not seek remedy for anything and everything; learn to withstand.

सहनम् सर्वदुःखानामप्रतीकारपूर्वकम् । चिन्ताविलापरहितम् सा तितिक्षा निगद्यते ॥ विवेकचूडामणि २४॥

All the time some planets or other planets will be presiding over our life. All planets will bring in some good also. All planets would bring some pinpricks also. Whether it is शनि दशा or गुरु दशा. Some दशा. Not that we disrespect that, not that we disbelieve astrology; it is a traditional शास्त्र, but what we say is for anything and everything do not rely on external factors. Even for medicine also, many of the doctors say that don't take medicine for anything and everything; if you start depending upon external help, naturally your immune system will not have an opportunity to fight and grow strong. That is why if the immune system is to be activated, what do they do? They themselves inject that particular disease so that the immune system is activated. Just as the physical immune system is activated only when face situation, Similarly, the mental immunity also will be activated, only when we allow some problems to come. We did not work for problem, anyway they are bound to come: Why should we ask: Oh Lord give me troubles so that I will have strength, etc. We need not ask; because we have done enough अक्रम for भगवान् to give us problems. So whatever trouble comes, we learn to face it. This is called निर्द्वन्द्वो भव, try to maintain equanimity, do not dissipate your energy in काम्य कर्म and प्रायश्चित्त कर्म. In fact, the whole principle of कर्मयोग is saving mental energy. Therefore, निर्द्वन्द्वो भव. And if you have to withstand all these things you require another important guideline to be followed: नित्य-सत्त्वस्थः भव. May you maintain your सत्त्व गुण. सत्त्व गुण stands for विवेक शक्ति. विवेक शक्ति stands for discriminative power; maintain your discriminative knowledge. And what is the discriminative knowledge? In life कर्म and मोक्ष are more important than अर्थ and काम. And धर्म and मोक्ष alone primarily decide my security and peace of mind; अर्थ and काम are only contributory factors, they should not be given more importance than they deserve. So this awareness that धर्म मोक्ष are more important, that is called नित्य-अनित्य वस्तु विवेकः. Spiritual growth is more important than material growth. This awareness of giving importance to spirituality is सत्त्व गुणः. Therefore may you maintain that. And how can you maintain that? Only by, all the time associating myself with such sources of knowledge; either reading those books which highlight, focus the importance of inner growth or being associated with महात्माs who do not possess much, but still they are very happy or being associated with friends who value spirituality more than other things, which we generally call as सत्सङ्गs. Reading sacred books, mingling with sacred people or mingling with even seekers as शङ्कराचार्य said:

सत्सङ्गत्वे निरसङ्गत्वम् निरसङ्गत्वे निर्मोहत्वम् । ... ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ॥

When a person for example, when all over the houses, they have television, children will think that life is impossible without television. Cannot imagine. I am not asking you to sell your television. What I am telling is just how we use certain things, initially we use it and there afterwards we need it, there afterwards without that we cannot survive. So this is a shackle which I myself have put. But a few years before, In fact, during the younger days of most of us, including mine, we never had even radio or television or fans. So therefore it is the mind which is capable of doing that. I do not say that therefore we should go back to 12th century and sell off all those things, but we remember that it is not impossible to live without them. And therefore, सत्त्व गुणः means that mental strength, धर्म-मोक्ष is more important that we should we and only when we move with those people, who are happy without most of the things, which we consider as inevitable, still they are happy. Once we see them, we will know that: Oh! So we can be happy without that.

So therefore, सत्सङ्ग is the best method of maintaining सत्त्व गुणः. So नित्यसत्त्वस्थः. And निर्योगक्षेम. And another important concern that we all have is about योग and क्षेमः, worried about the basic needs of life for survival. Because we know that we need certain things for our survival and acquiring those basic things for our security is called योगः – अप्राप्तस्य प्राप्ति. Acquiring those things which we do not have and which are required for our survival. Food, clothing, shelter, medicine, so many things are there. And क्षेमः means having acquired the need for our security, I am worried about preserving them – प्राप्तस्य रक्षणम् क्षेमः. अप्राप्तस्य प्राप्ति योगः, in English, acquisition; प्राप्तस्य रक्षणम् क्षेमः, in English, preservation and maintenance. Even if I don't want luxurious things, minimum things I need for security, the minimum varies from individual to individual. And what कृष्ण says the concern for this योगः-क्षेमः takes lot of your energy. What will happen to me in old age? And whether the children will protect and we do not have total faith in our children, because we are worried and say that even though my child is good, I do not know who will come as the spouse of the child. My son is very good; after that daughter in-law came, he has totally turned away. Or my daughter is good but after my son in-law came, she has changed her mind. So I do not know what will be his mind. And therefore even though I have children, I want to have my own security and all those things I want to keep, I tell you any amount of security we have, the sense of insecurity cannot go away because insecurity is ultimately an inner feeling which has nothing, which has no connection with what we possess or what we have. In fact, after the medical field has advanced so much, there are treatments for which you can spend 20 lakhs or 30 lakhs, 40 lakhs; marrow transplant and all they say. So I can now always worry about that disease for which the medical cost may run to 30-40 lakhs. What will I do? And even if I have all the money, what is the guarantee that like in रामायण, दशरथ had wonderful children but at the time of death not a single one was around; therefore what security we have. We know that every water lorry on the road is a potential threat. Last week only when I was coming from the class, just somebody died hit by water lorry, you might have read in the newspaper; later I came to know that it is a young boy of 17 years. And for no mistake of his that he has been hit. And then nobody was around. I am not you going to frighten you or anything; what you call it security, is it real security? It is doubtful. If we have too much of money that itself will become insecurity because in many states, rich people's children are kidnapped and ransom are asked. Then the rich people are worried, 'if we are poor this problem would not have been there, where is the question of kidnapping or anything.' So I tell you, if you a politician, you are the maximum insecure person, proved by the black cats, white cats, red cats, etc., all kinds of cats are around, where is the question of security? And Prime Minister can be killed by her own security itself. So therefore कृष्ण says no doubt you work for your security but the ultimate security does not come from what you possess, it comes from only your inner strength and inner strength has to be either wisdom or devotion and until wisdom or devotion to the Lord comes, the Lord is there to give me strength to face; remember this one श्लोक

तेषां नित्याभियुक्तानां योगक्षेमं वहाम्यहम् ॥ ३-२२॥

Have your local योगक्षेमम्, keep it (what is that? LIC). So therefore have your local योगक्षेमम्, nothing wrong, but the real योगक्षेमम् is the Lord's alone. Therefore transcend your worry about योगक्षेमम्, and be a कर्मयोगि. Otherwise, you will have no time for spirituality because the mind will be always thinking about what about tomorrow, what about tomorrow, what about tomorrow and therefore, नियोगक्षेमः भाव, go beyond the योगक्षेमम्, drop your concern about your योगक्षेमम् by surrendering to the Lord. Devotion is the only remedy. So have an इष्ट देवता and invoke the इष्ट देवता in the heart and tell yourselves, even if nobody in the world is around me, because every time you cannot take your family members all over; even if nobody is around me, my इष्ट देवता, the Lord is within me. So that is devotion. If you do not have devotion to इष्ट देवता, you have to invoke your own inner strength, that we have the potential to face the problem. Faith in your own potential strength. After all, God according to वेदान्त is within you only. Either believe a God outside or believe in a God inside (inside God means your own infinite potential) when the crisis comes. Therefore surrender to that either to the inner God or to the outer God, that is only way to drop your worries. We will face. Will cross the bridge when it comes. After retirement, what? Why to worry now itself and get tired? So tired and later re-tired. Why do you do that? Drop your worry. So निर्योगक्षेमः भव. And finally, आत्मवान् भव. आत्मवान् means be alert in your life, don't be carried away by circumstances, don't lead a mechanical life just because people are doing certain things, mechanically going through education and getting a job, etc., getting employed, getting married, getting children and why do all things, because my forefathers did; like that don't lead a sheepish life; let your life be a deliberate one. अप्रमत्तः भव. शङ्कराचार्य writes; अप्रमत्तः भव, don't be careless, so be alert, don't forget your goal. It is like a long journey you take. So in between so many intermediary stations come, you get down and most of the people they have to get down, you have to stretch the legs and all, invariably whatever thing is sold there you have to buy and eat; you cannot cross the station without eating something from the station even though pantry car is there in the train itself; he buys the dosa, gives the money, gets the change, all these things he does, but whatever he does, one corner of the mind, there is the awareness, I am on a long journey, this is an intermediary station, I have to get into the train and travel further. Just as you remember, that I am in the railway station and I have to go back, Similarly, remember earning, getting married, working in company, they are all intermediary stages, nothing is an end-in-itself, end is totally different from all these things. That is why we call it ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम, गृहस्थ आश्रम, आश्रम means a stage of life. Therefore, never get carried away by any particular pursuit, this is called alertness. In वेदान्त शास्त्र, it is called चित्त समाधानम् चित्त एकाग्रम् तु सन् लक्ष्ये समाधानम् इति स्पुटम्. Being aware of the goal. So this is this sign of a कर्मयोगि, the attitude of a कर्मयोगि, the outlook of a कर्मयोगि. अर्जुन you also be a कर्मयोगि.

तावान्सर्वेषु वेदेषु ब्राह्मणस्य विजानतः ॥ २-४६॥

यावान् अर्थः उदपाने सर्वतः सम्प्लुतोदके ।

तावान् सर्वेषु वेदेषु ब्राह्मणस्य विजानतः ॥ २-४६॥

यावान् अर्थः उदपाने (तावान्) सर्वतः सम्प्लुतोदके (भवति) । (तथा यावान् अर्थः) सर्वेषु वेदेषु तावान् विजानतः ब्राह्मणस्य (भवति) ।

So here कृष्ण talks about the reward for a कर्मयोगि, so that once अर्जुन sees the benefit of कर्मयोग, he doesn't mind to put forth any amount of effort to attain that goal. Just as they say, “dangle a carrot” before someone is to encourage them with an incentive. Showing the carrot in front, so that you will go after that. Otherwise one will wonder, why to take to कर्मयोग, being deliberate all the time, to remember the goal; isn't it better to have a loose life, to do whatever I feel like doing. So always loose life is tempting, because there is no energy involved in it. But कर्मयोग is an alert life, certainly energy is involved in life and therefore something must be there to tempt and therefore कृष्ण shows the reward and he says the reward is मोक्ष – infinite आनन्द. It is worth the effort. If a person is climbing Everest even though he knows the amount of trouble involved, the risk involved, money involved, why does he go? Because he is aware of the reward, the thrill that he gets when he does that. Therefore, he does not mind any amount of struggle. Here also once you know the goal, certainly, you will it is worth the effort. And therefore कृष्ण defines the मोक्ष in this श्लोक. So he says the आनन्द, the fulfillment that a person enjoys through spiritual wisdom is all encompassing fulfillment, in which all the worldly pleasures are included. So through worldly achievements, money, status, position, children, wife; all these things are going to give certain आनन्द, certain fulfillment. कृष्ण does not deny that fulfillment. But what कृष्ण says when you seek मोक्ष, you are not losing worldly pleasures because, all the worldly pleasures are included in मोक्ष. You are not missing anything. But if he is a संन्यासि who has left everything and that too in a young age and goes, the world will feel sympathy. Alas, nobody, no children, etc., etc for him. What a drab life it must be? Cannot have a new fashionable dress! Even hairstyle change not possible. Nothing new is possible. So what a drab, meaningless life it should be - even though world feels but what he gets includes all the pleasures that all the people can get. And therefore, कृष्ण gives a beautiful thing, कर्मकाण्ड talks about varieties of rituals for worldly pleasures. कृष्ण says each pleasure is a finite pleasure. Money pleasure, wife pleasure, child pleasure, status pleasure they are all परिच्छिन्न सुखम् and the ज्ञानकाण्ड, the final portion the वेद talks about an आनन्द, मोक्ष which comes under infinite pleasure. And within the infinite pleasure all the finite pleasures are included and therefore, he does not miss anything. It is not that if you get धर्म you miss मोक्ष; if you get मोक्ष you miss धर्म, it is not so. In धर्म-अर्थ-कामs मोक्ष is not included but in मोक्ष धर्म-अर्थ-कामs are included. In finite, infinite is not included, whereas in the infinite, all the finite things are included. Therefore, it is worth the effort. And to convey this idea, कृष्ण gives an example of a small pond of water, उदपानम्. उदपानम् means small pond of water which may supply you drinking water, that much only. Because only a few liters are there and also सर्वतः सम्प्लुतोदकः means a huge lake, pure water lake. Not salt water; pure water lake. So in America they say that they have five big lakes, superior.... all pure water lakes and some of them are close to oceans, so big it is. Now कृष्ण says: what you can get in the lake, those benefits cannot be got in a pond of water; but if you have got a huge lake then whatever benefit you can get through the pond, that can be gained through the lake, in addition to those benefits, drinking or washing the vessels, not only that you can fulfill, but even other benefits, स्नानम् you can do, swimming you can do, you can irrigate, all kinds of things you can do. Therefore the benefit of pond is included in the benefit of lake; but the benefit of lake is not included in the benefit of pond. In short, finite is included in the infinite, but infinite is not included in the finite; therefore धर्म-अर्थ-काम are included in मोक्ष, but मोक्ष is not included in the other three. This is the essence. Look at the श्लोक, this is also an important श्लोक very often quoted. उदपाने अर्थः. In a pond, अर्थः, certain benefits are there like you can drink water, or you can wash, maximum you can bathe also but that much only, you cannot use for irrigation, etc. That is why in many houses, one for plants and other things, one for washing vessels, one for drinking, one for cooking, different sources of water, each one is finite, if you misuse you will be in trouble. Whereas if you have one lake, it can be used for watering the plants, cleaning the whole house, taking bath, even guests can be allowed. Now-a-days in Madras, to have a guest, one has to think repeatedly, because of water shortage. Alternate days only water is supplied. Here कृष्ण says उदपाने whatever limited प्रयोजनम् is there, तावान् अर्थः, all those benefits can be obtained in a lake, सर्वतः सम्प्लुतोदके. Whole put together is one word. सर्वतः सम्प्लुतोदकम् is one word, which means तटाकम्, a lake, a huge reservoir of pure water; in that not only you can get the finite benefits but you can get more also. Similarly, सर्वेषु वेदेषु यावान् अर्थः in the entire ritualistic portion, here वेद means कर्मकाण्ड, काम्य-कर्म, in that varieties of benefits are said,

धान्यम् धनम् पशुम् बहुपुत्रलाभम् ॥ ऋग्वेदसंहिता २-६-२७ ॥

You can have this and that, all kinds of things are said. Whatever आनन्दs is promised through these rituals, all these आनन्दs can be gained by विजानतः ब्राह्मणस्य, gained in the मोक्ष. मोक्ष we have to supply. Gained in the मोक्ष. Belonging to whom: विजानतः, belonging to a wise man. So मोक्ष is compared to the reservoir of water, whereas money, family, office and factories and big positions all of them are compared to various उदपानम्s, and we do not know when they will dry. Therefore those ponds are dryable ponds, whereas this is only the eternal source. And therefore, सर्वेषु वेदेषु यावान् अर्थः, whatever benefit is acquirable through वैदिक rituals all can be acquired through one मोक्ष ज्ञानम्. Therefore अर्जुन, you have to choose मोक्ष if you are intelligent and for मोक्ष you require कर्मयोग and therefore better be a कर्मयोगि. The word ब्राह्मणस्य, here ब्राह्मण should be understood as a विवेकि, a discriminative person. So later we will be seeing that ब्राह्मण can be by profession a person can be a ब्राह्मण – taking to priest craft or by birth a person can be a ब्राह्मण and finally by गुण a person can be a ब्राह्मण. Here the word ब्राह्मण does not refer to जाति-ब्राह्मण, does not refer to कर्म-ब्राह्मण but does refer to the गुण-ब्राह्मण. Therefore a cultured, discriminative गुण-ब्राह्मण through his विज्ञानम् knowledge will get the ultimate fulfillment. Continuing;

कर्मण्येवाधिकारस्ते मा फलेषु कदाचन ।

मा कर्मफलहेतुर्भूर्मा ते सङ्गोऽस्त्वकर्मणि ॥ २-४७॥

कर्मणि एव अधिकारः ते मा फलेषु कदाचन ।

मा कर्म-फल-हेतुः भूः मा ते सङ्गः अस्तु अकर्मणि ॥ २-४७॥

ते अधिकारः कर्मणि एव; कदाचन फलेषु मा । कर्म-फल-हेतुः मा भूः ते सङ्गः (च) अकर्मणि मा अस्तु ।

This is another important verse, very often quoted which gives the principles of कर्मयोग. The wisdom behind the कर्मयोग is given here. What attitude or what understanding a कर्मयोगि has with regard to action and results? Because in कर्मयोग, most important thing is two things. We act in the world, कर्म is important. And whatever कर्म you do, it is going to produce a result - कर्म-फलम् is important. And I should have a healthy attitude towards both कर्म and कर्म-फलम् to be a कर्मयोगि. And if I should have a healthy attitude, I should have a proper understanding of both, because attitude depends upon my understanding. Without understanding something I can never have a proper attitude. Suppose I introduce a new person and ask you what is your attitude towards him? Do you respect him, do you revere him or do you look down upon him; what is your attitude? You cannot have any attitude with regard to an unknown person; but suppose you start moving with that person and you come to know that he is a person of virtues, a person of ideal, then naturally you develop respect towards that person. Respect is born out of what? Your knowledge about the person. But suppose you come to know that he is a corrupt person, a cheat, etc., then naturally you are not going to develop a respect for that person, again it is based on your understanding. That's why स्वामिजी always says: Without a cognitive change, an attitudinal change is impossible. And in life, what primarily matters is attitudinal change and for the attitudinal change the foundation is cognitive change. And by cognitive change what we mean is a change in our understanding of the thing. And therefore कृष्ण gives two important principles here. अर्जुन, first you know ते कर्मणि अधिकारः अस्ति. First you understand, as a human being you have a free-will. This is one of the important verses which establishes free-will on the part of human beings. In the case of animals, they lead an instinctive life, they have a programmed life, they cannot have a goal and work for that; you interview a cow or a dog and ask what are your future plans? Like in TV (they do for football players, tennis players, cinema actors, politicians are introduced and asked, what are your future plans?) ask a dog. What it will do? It will bark twice that is the only plan; not only future, the present also it has no plans. Because it cannot have a goal, it cannot have a judgment, it cannot work consistently for that because that is what animal life is. Human being alone has that power to learn from experience and also accordingly project and have appropriate goals and work for it; these are all because of human free-will, and free-will means choice. And therefore कृष्ण says, ते अधिकारः अस्ति – certainly you have a choice with regard to the action that you want to do, whether it is secular or sacred, लौकिके वा वैदिके वा कर्मणि तव अधिकारः अस्ति – you have a choice. And that means what: you should be a responsible person to use the choice judiciously, intelligently. Just as the politician says that you have got the power to vote. You have the power and therefore use it properly. First use it and then use it properly. Therefore, ते कर्माणि अधिकारः अस्ति. But फलेषु कदाचन मा अधिकारः अस्ति. With regard to कर्म-फलम् you do not have a choice; therefore you should know what is choice-full and you should know what is choice-less. So that when there is a choice-full situation (it is my English word), you should know which is choice-full and choiceless, so that when it is a choice-full situation you will intelligently operate that and with regard to choice-less situation, intelligently you accept that. And for acceptance whatever preparation is required that also you will do. So with regard to choice-less situations, I should not try to influence and with regard to choice-full situations, I should not blindly accept lying down. Where choice is there you can use. Why should you forgo that privilege which भगवान् has given. Where privilege is there better you use it. Where privilege is not there better accept. For that you should know, where it is there where it is not there; therefore कर्म विषये अधिकारः अस्ति, कर्मफल विषये अधिकारः नास्ति. Use your fullest choice before you take any course of action; don't blindly jump into any action; but at the same time, be intelligent enough and strong enough to accept the result. Here we have to understand an important point. When कृष्ण says with regard to the result you have no choice, what कृष्ण means is you do not have total choice with regard to result. He doesn't say zero choice but what He says is you do not have total choice; you have got, you are only a contributory factor, you are only one of the contributory factors with regard to a result of action. Like tilling the land, sowing the seed etc., are contributory factors in producing the crop; but tilling the land and sowing the seed and putting the fertilizers, they are only contributory factors but they are not the only factors that determine the result, because a cyclone can come at any time. That also determines the result. Therefore, I do not say you do not determine; I do not say, you totally determine, I only say that you partially determine the result; therefore, the ultimate is not totally in your hand. Therefore don't be totally pessimistic, therefore do not be totally optimistic; be rational. Suppose we are collecting some funds. There is a fund-raising event for some function and somebody wants to give hundred rupees and he asks, do I decide the total collection? I say that you don't decide the total collection because total collection is decided by so many other people also. Therefore I tell him that you do not decide the total collection. And then can we say that you do not decide at all; totally you do not decide, can I say? Suppose he hears that, 'I don't decide' therefore I won't give you any money. Then I go to the next person and he asks the question do I decide the total collection? He says that if he does not decide, he will also not give; and like that if everyone refuses to give money, there will be no collection at all, what to talk of total collection? Therefore, whenever a result is decided by a group, an individual is neither totally responsible, at the same time an individual is not totally useless also. So does he have power? He has power. Does he have no power, can you say? He has no total power also. So suppose we take an alphabetic letter "A" A asks the question. Do I decide the words in a book, an alphabet asks? Do I decide the word in a book, I say that No, the word cannot be decided by you alone because if near the letter A I am going to put T, it becomes AT, if I am going to write M, it becomes AM, therefore A cannot totally decide what the word is. It all depends upon what? What the other letter is going to be. Then hearing that the alphabet says, since I am not going to determine the word, it seems that I do not have any power at all, therefore I will go away from the dictionary. Similarly, B asks and it finds that it also cannot determine the words and goes away. If all the alphabetic letters go away then where will be the dictionary? Alphabetic letters do contribute, but at the same, a single letter cannot contribute. This is what is the conflict between fate and free-will. Human being wants to know whether I decide my future and he wants a black and white answer; so one person says I do not decide my future at all - he is called a fatalistic person, nothing is in my hand; another person says I alone determine everything - he is an arrogant person. 'Fate is right or free-will is right' if we ask, what should be the answer? You play a role, but you do not play the total role. Similarly, here also कृष्ण says, just because I say your कर्म-फलम् is not under your control, it does not mean that your efforts are useless; what I say is your efforts do contribute to determine the result; just as every alphabetic letter is important, just every individual contribution is important, just as every individual vote is important, so also every individual's action is important. But at the same time, but when you use the vote, it is very important, but the party that comes to the power may not be the party that you have voted for. At the same time, we cannot say that therefore I do not vote. You vote and pray that the party you want, to come to the power. Similarly, कृष्ण says, don't stop actions; at the same time, don't expect that whatever result you want that alone will come, that also you do not think. Do your action, it is very very important; but be prepared for any type of the result which is determined not by you alone but determined by so many other factors. Therefore, this mental preparedness to receive any result is intelligent attitude. As they say, hope for the best, but be prepared for the worst. And therefore कृष्ण says फलेषु कदाचन अधिकारः मा you cannot determine the result. At the same time, अकर्मणि सङ्गः मा. At the same time, don't think that your actions are waste. Even though a single vote, does not determine the result, single vote is not a waste. Even though single contribution does not determine the totality, single contribution is not waste. Even though single alphabet does not determine the word, single alphabet is not a waste. Therefore, your action is very important, but at the same time, be aware that the result may not be to your expectation. Therefore, as even you do your action, mentally tell. Oh Lord give me the strength to accept the consequences gracefully. Therefore कृष्ण says सङ्गः अकर्मणि मा अस्तु, do your actions as there is choice, but result is choiceless; so strengthen your mind. Then मा कर्म-फल-हेतुः भूः. This is also another important part of कर्मयोग, about which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदव्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

यावानर्थ उदपाने सर्वतः सम्प्लुतोदके ।

तावान्सर्वेषु वेदेषु ब्राह्मणस्य विजानतः ॥ २-४६॥

कर्मण्येवाधिकारस्ते मा फलेषु कदाचन ।

मा कर्मफलहेतुर्भूर्मा ते सङ्गोऽस्त्वकर्मणि ॥ २-४७॥

After introducing कर्मयोग in these verses, now in the 47th verse Lord कृष्ण is presenting the principles of कर्मयोग, which is an important verse, very often quoted. We were seeing the meaning in the last class – ते कर्मणि एव अधिकारः अस्ति. Through this line, Lord कृष्ण points out that we all do have a free-will to determine what type of action we have to do in life. We have the capacity to think, Lord has given us discriminative power and we have the got the capacity to act also, because the Lord has given the कर्मेन्द्रियाणि, to implement what we want to do. Of course, we are not omnipotent to accomplish anything and everything but within the limited power we can accomplish many things and therefore you have a choice over the action, कर्मणि अधिकारः अस्ति. Here अधिकारः should be taken as choice indicating free-will. Then Lord कृष्ण points out फलेषु कदाचन अधिकारः मा, अधिकारः we have to repeat here also, फलेषु अधिकारः, that we have an अधिकारः, choice over the action. Lord कृष्ण is explicitly pointing out that we have something called a free-will. And therefore अर्जुन make use of this privilege called free-will which is unique to human beings, which is denied to animals and plants, which is otherwise called पुरुषार्थः and because of that alone the four पुरुषार्थs, called धर्म, अर्थ, काम and मोक्ष are possible; make use of this unique privilege. That is why in संस्कृत, the word पुरुषार्थः has two meanings – one meaning is free-will and another meaning is the human goal, both meanings are there; because where free-will is there, there alone a goal is possible; where there is no free-will, there is no question of accomplishing any goal. Therefore since free-will and goals are interconnected, in संस्कृत one word is used both for free-will as well as goal. Thus धर्म-अर्थ-काम-मोक्ष are also called पुरुषार्थ, the effort that we put forth to accomplish that that free-will is also called पुरुषार्थः and therefore ते पुरुषार्थः अस्ति. अर्जुन you accept that. At the same time, फलेषु कदाचन; अधिकारः मा, मा means नास्ति, you do not have a choice over the result. This line can create confusion in the mind and we can easily misinterpret this line; it is often misinterpreted. When कृष्ण says: I don't have a choice over the result, many people think, the result is already predestined by God. And they think that since the result is already predetermined my effort has no result or no benefit at all, all our actions are only dummy actions, everything God has already determined before; this is called determinism or fatalistic approach and the rule for the fatalism is the misinterpretation of this line, because भगवान् says 'you have no choice over results' many people think results are already determined by God, we are helpless. Like certain companies, if they have some vacancies, already they would have chosen somebody, just for the sake of record purpose they give advertisement; advertisement is only eyewash and it is only dummy, already the person is chosen; Similarly, the fatalistic people think that even before we do the action or in spite of our action the result is already determined by the Lord or destiny and therefore we are totally helpless individual and in support of this determinism and fatalism, they take this line, मा फलेषु कदाचन you cannot choose your result. But unfortunately, this is a wrong interpretation, what कृष्ण wants to say is this, when He says you do not have a choice over the result, कृष्ण does not mean that your efforts are a waste, because no effort of anyone can be a waste because, कर्म should necessarily produce a result according to the quality and quantity of कर्म; therefore, whenever I do any action, from minutest to biggest, an appropriate result, according to the law of कर्म, is definitely produced. But what कृष्ण wants to say is: the result produced is not determined by your effort alone, your effort does contribute to the result but the result is not determined by your effort alone, there are so many other factors which contribute to the results of action. Therefore, your effort is one of the contributory factors, your effort is neither totally useless nor does your effort totally decide the action. If this particular class should go on now, certainly my arrival here plays an important role; should I come here or not? I should come to this class. Should you come or not? You also should be there; without the student, नग्नक्षपणके देशे रजकः किम् करिष्यति? One गुरु thanked the शिष्य that I am able to enjoy the status of a गुरु only because of the शिष्य. किम् करिष्यन्ति वक्ताः श्रोता यत्र न विद्यते. Where will, what will the lecturers/speakers do if the listeners are not there? Therefore I should come, you should also come. They give an example for that. नग्नक्षपणके देशे रजकः किम् करिष्यति. One washer-man settled in a village to start his business and later he found that it is a village of दिगम्बर जैनस. In दिगम्बर जैनस village what will be washer-man do? Like that, if this class is going on, I am not the total decider, I am contributing by my arrival and you are very much contributing by your arrival in spite of the rains (I admire all of you, because you have so much of जिज्ञासा), in spite of the rains your arrival and our arrival alone is not enough; there are other factors which are required for the continuation of the class. What factors? Electricity, very much evident and therefore, I am contributing certainly for the class; you are certainly contributing and the corporation or the electricity is certainly contributing; similarly, with regard to every कर्म I do contribute for the result but I am not the only contributor. And the contention is my contribution is called free-will, the contribution of all other factors, i.e., all of you, the electricity and whatever other factors are required, all other countless factors, other than me, we called as fate or God's will. Therefore, from my standpoint your arrival is a fate and the electricity is fate and all the other external factors are called fate and my contribution is called free-will and therefore the class is a result of both the free-will that is my contribution as well as the fate which is the contribution of all other factors in this creation. And therefore when कृष्ण says, you do not determine the result, what कृष्ण means is, you alone do not determine the result, so many other factors determine. And if you can predict all other factors, then certainly you can predict the result also but unfortunately, how many factors are involved I do not know at all. That is why the meteorologists are trying to predict the rain, trying to do a lot of research and when they say that there will be no rain, we can definitely take the umbrella. Even though they say that 160 factors, 170 factors they take into account but there are so many hidden factors, unknown factors and there are so many other known factors, but uncontrollable factors. We know rain is one factor which will determine our Besant Nagar class, because it is in the open. Even though it is a known factor, it is unfortunately uncontrollable factor. Thus there are so many unknown factors and known uncontrollable factors; therefore I can never predict the result and therefore the result that I am going to receive happens to be unpredictable. Therefore once you know that it is unpredictable result don't make your happiness dependent on unpredictable things of life; this is a simple lesson that कृष्ण is teaching; do not make your happiness depend upon unpredictable factors because if your happiness is dependent on unpredictable factors the happiness itself would become unpredictable. And if happiness is unpredictable, your very life is unpredictable; therefore, let the result be a by-product for you; but what you should focus is the growth, the experience, the enjoyment that you will get as the reward of the very performance. Learn to enjoy the very action itself and be ready to learn from the experience and that if you focus on these particular factors, the results - positive or negative will not have a big role in deciding your happiness of life. It is like a person who wants exercise for his body and plays a game of tennis. Now the very play is giving the reward because he enjoys the very playing of the game and he is definitely improving his physical health and what is going to be result of the game that is insignificant for him. One day he wins, another day another person wins but he is playing not for the victory in the game, but the very enjoyment in the playing and the very exercise that he gets. Similarly, if I can convert every action into the very reward, I enjoy doing what I am doing and I enjoy learning just as tennis gives physical health, my action gives mental health and growth, then the result will become what? An incidental by-product. So I conducted a pilgrimage to अमरनाथ 10 years before or 9 years before. I never knew it is going to be such a tough journey, I took 90 people also and average age of the group is 70. So I never knew that, out of sheer ignorance I just took and we all came back in one whole piece and thank God Lord अमरनाथ. Even before we left for the camp, I told all the campers nearly 90 to 100 that the temple has got an ice लिङ्गम्, whose existence depends upon the weather condition, unlike our रत्नगिरीश्वर - he will be always there; but अमरनाथ ईश्वर is ice लिङ्गम्, so it is too much hot then the लिङ्गम् will melt. So we are spending so much money, 3 days we have to walk and the height is 14,000 feet and all kinds of struggles we should have: कर्मणि एव अधिकारः, whether the लिङ्गम् will be there or not we do not know, be mentally prepared. But one thing the whole journey is wonderful because all over the हिमालय ranges snow covered peaks, the nature in its clear beauty, that is wonderful. Therefore, if you decide to enjoy the journey, enjoy the atmosphere, the peaks, snow, etc., then whether the Lord will be there or not it will not be primary for you. Otherwise, the very temple will be enjoyable for you, be mentally prepared, I warned. And as our ill-luck would have it, the लिङ्गम् was practically not there; it was just a small mound like. Now I saw so many people profusely crying. स्वामिजि, in spite of so much tired, no proper food, no proper toilet. I went to one आश्रम and asked where is the toilet? That local स्वामि he showed the hand. Then went I walking, walking, nothing is there. Later I understood, outside his आश्रम, whole world is toilet. So no toilet, no food nothing is there then there is no Lord also. This is the problem if you are not prepared. So enjoy the journey. I enjoyed the journey, I did not miss it because I was mentally prepared. Similarly, in every action, enjoy the action, enjoy the experience, enjoy the growth that you will have then that inner growth will become success, external material accomplishment or failure will become insignificant; the world may judge me from the standpoint of external accomplishment but I should learn to judge my life from the standpoint of the internal accomplishment and therefore कृष्ण says, मा फलेषु कदाचन – external accomplishment is not in your hands whereas inner growth is in your hands alone. And therefore, कर्म-फल-हेतुः मा भूः. May your motive not be heavily on the external accomplishment! When you are working in the world, let not your focus be on the money-gained, name-gained, the status-gained etc., which is going to be unpredictable. कर्म-फलम् here means material gain, हेतुः means motive, may not your motive be material gain. And if that is the motive what will happen? If the material gain is there you will be on the top of the world and when it goes down like many companies and all and even big big countries are falling flat, they say industries are dull, this is dull, that is dull, etc. One person who used to be on top; पुंथानम् नंबुदी says in the ज्ञानप्पान, ‘By God’s wish, a king sitting in a palace can become a beggar with a dirty bag hanging from his shoulders.’ Therefore, if you depend upon unpredictable factors your life would be full of ups and downs; therefore do not make your fulfillment depend on that. मा कर्म-फल-हेतुः भूः. Then what should be the focus. The focus the very action, the very experience that you are going to get. At the same time, मा ते सङ्गः अस्तु अकर्मणि. When I face a few failures in life my tendency will be to become fatalistic, to become frustrated and to drop all the actions. Because the possibility of failure comes when I am acting in the world. Therefore, I have decided to avoid failures in life. How? Don't attempt anything, be lazy and after 10 years tell everyone that "I never failed in life." What did you do? Nothing. So, therefore, do not take to inaction also; there is an advantage in inaction; What is the advantage? You never fail. But there is a very big disadvantage in inaction and that disadvantage is that you lose an opportunity for inner growth. Because action alone can give the initial spiritual growth. कृष्ण will tell in the 6th chapter,

योगारूढस्य तस्यैव शमः कारणमुच्यते ॥ ६-३॥

An active life also contributes to growth, a withdrawn life also contributes to growth. Therefore activity is also important, withdrawal is also important. What activity can contribute withdrawal can never contribute and what withdrawal can contribute activity can never contribute. That's why in our शास्त्र they say प्रवृत्ति is also important, निवृत्ति is also important and therefore कृष्ण says in the 6th chapter, the initial stage of spiritual growth is only in action and interaction. That is why they kept गृहस्थ आश्रम as a compulsory आश्रम for everyone because in that alone there is scope for action and inter-action. And also they kept वानप्रस्थ आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम, representing निवृत्ति; what निवृत्ति can give प्रवृत्ति cannot give. In fact, if you to attend the class, what you have to do? निवृत्ति, you dropped all your actions. So family, whatever duties, whatever actions are involved, whether it is in your work, in your family, in fact, you are all संन्यासिस now, निवृत्ति. Therefore learning takes place in a quiet, non-extrovert mind. Therefore, अर्जुन action is also important, withdrawal is also important. First stage of life is action; second stage of life is withdrawal. And अर्जुन, you are in the first stage; therefore, अकर्मणि सङ्गः मा अस्तु. May you never get out of society! Even if you do not get married, if you at least be a ब्रह्मचारि and do some service. And that is why स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द made all those people who joined his आश्रम, he gave the knowledge, training and all and then he said to all the people, you should all straightaway (when they are youngsters, they cannot take to गृहस्थ आश्रम, they have not served in the world at all, that growth you will never get if you remain in the आश्रम, therefore,) get out, go to the society and serve the society in whatever way you can, at least by propagating the scriptures; this becomes another type of गृहस्थ आश्रम for us, where the children are the students. Therefore the idea is प्रवृत्ति is important. Therefore अर्जुन! Don't run away from your responsibility at the same time focus on inner growth, not external. Continuing;

Verse No .48

योगस्थः कुरु कर्माणि सङ्गं त्यक्त्वा धनञ्जय ।

सिद्ध्यसिद्ध्योः समो भूत्वा समत्वं योग उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

योगस्थः कुरु कर्माणि सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा धनञ्जय ।

सिद्धिं असिद्ध्योः समः भूत्वा समत्वम् योगः उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

हे धनञ्जय! सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा सिद्धि-असिद्ध्योः समः भूत्वा, योगस्थः कर्माणि कुरु । समत्वम् योगः उच्यते ।

Therefore, अर्जुन act in the world by having proper attitude towards material gain. And what is the proper attitude that should become subservient to inner growth. And what is the advantage of this change of attitude; the advantage is material gain and material loss will not create a big turmoil in your mind. Because you do not give more focus to it than it deserves. You are focusing on inner growth and therefore you do value money and material but it is only subservient; that means it loses its capacity to disturb the mind too much. That is why even though ten people fail in a particular field, all the people are not uniformly agitated. So one person is flat and he thinks of committing suicide. Another person is disturbed, he doesn't have sleep for days together; there is another person who always says in life failure will come; I have learnt a valid lesson as they talk about that Greek philosopher, 'What? to So What?' indicating inner maturity. OK I have learnt the lesson. Like the executive who was very successful.

They interviewed him and asked, what is the secret of your success? And he said Right Decision. And then they asked the question, what is the secret of your Right Decision? He said Experience in Life. Then they asked, what is the secret of your Experience in Life? He said Wrong Decisions. Therefore, even though you may consider it as wrong decision, it is an experience. And therefore, this mental balance because of the appropriate focus on the inner growth is called समत्वम्. Therefore, कृष्ण says, समत्वम् योगः उच्यते. The one who values the inner growth more than external accomplishment and therefore the consequent mental balance. He gets a great profit then also he will not lose his balance. There is a big loss then also he does not lose his balance. They say like the Sun;

सम्पत्तौ च विपत्तौ च महताम् एक-रूपता । उदये सविता रक्तो रक्तः वास्तमये तथा ॥ पञ्चतन्त्रम् २-७ ॥

These are the simple सुभाषितम्s which they teach in the sixth standard and seventh standard संस्कृत class. Wonderful सुभाषितम्s are there. सम्पत्तौ च विपत्तौ च in prosperity and in adversity, महताम् एक-रूपता the great people enjoy mental balance. Like what? उदये सविता रक्तः when the Sun is rising, it is on its rise, it's color is रक्तः and when the sun is about to set, everything is going to go away at the time of setting also it is रक्तः; often when you get a picture of the Sun, you will not know whether it is rising Sun or setting Sun. Be like the Sun, ups and downs will come, value the learning that you have and therefore समत्वम् योगः उच्यते. The main indication of a कर्मयोगि is mental balance. Therefore, अर्जुन be mentally balanced. And योगस्थः, remaining in this mental balance कर्माणि कुरु don't be afraid, take all the undertakings, do your duties and do whatever you have to do. And certainly whatever action we take it is risky. There is no riskless action, as दयानन्द स्वामिजि nicely says: Even crossing the road is a risk. If you have any doubt, you visit the emergency ward of any hospital; nobody visits that emergency ward with prior appointment; they just wanted to cross the road and they find themselves in the hospital and sometimes in a different लोकs also. There is no question of riskless life and therefore you have to take risk but at the same time have the mental balance. So योगस्थः कर्माणि कुरु. How? सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा, shifting the attachment from material growth to spiritual and inner growth. सङ्ग means attachment; here attachment is attachment to the material gain. And what about attachment to spiritual growth. शास्त्रs say that is an allowed attachment. As they say: ‘Cling thou to that which He, to Whom naught clings, hath bid thee cling, cling to that bond, to get thee free from every clinging thing.’ – Desire the desire of Him who is without desire; in order to renounce desire, desire that desire. (तिरुवकुल 350) Every attachment may be problematic, but there is one attachment which is worth and what is that? Attachment to that which transcends all attachments. Therefore, attachment for spiritual growth, attachment to God, attachment to शास्त्रs they are not negative; only dis-attachment is a problem. Therefore give them up. So सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा धनञ्जय. सिद्धि असिद्ध्योः समः भूत्वा be equanimous both in success and failure by enjoying the appropriate attitude towards them. So सिद्धि means success, असिद्धि means failure; towards both maintain equanimity. Because the definition of कर्मयोग is समत्वम् योगः उत्पद्यते. It is not any particular action but it is particular state of mind that is called कर्मयोग. Therefore अर्जुन you be a कर्मयोगि. Continuing;

Verse No .49

दूरेण ह्यवरं कर्म बुद्धियोगाद्धनञ्जय ।

बुद्धौ शरणमन्विच्छ कृपणाः फलहेतवः ॥ २-४९॥

दूरेण हि अवरम् कर्म बुद्धि-योगात् धनञ्जय ।

बुद्धौ शरणम् अन्विच्छ कृपणाः फल-हेतवः ॥ २-४९॥

हे धनञ्जय! कर्म बुद्धि-योगात् दूरेण अवरम् हि । बुद्धौ शरणम् अन्विच्छ । फल-हेतवः कृपणाः ।

So here कृष्ण is contrasting two types of people:

- one is the कर्मि and
- another is a कर्मयोगि.

कर्मि is one who gives importance to the material accomplishments alone; we can call him a materialist who does not value the inner growth or the spiritual growth at all. And therefore naturally, when the action produces the result he goes to the top, otherwise he is flat; people die of heart-attack caused by sometime success also, sometime failure also. Recently when India won cricket match against Pakistan, which nobody thought, which we successfully fail, consistently fail and that too a high scoring match, this person was so happy that he got heart attack and died. So therefore both extremes are dangerous. अति सवर्त्र वजयेत्. This materialist gets kick in success also, kick in failure also, both are extremes and therefore he suffers; whereas a कर्मयोगि is one who is balanced both in success and failure; therefore कृष्ण shows the contrast. हे अर्जुन! कर्म दूरेण हि अवरम्. The कर्म of a materialistic is far far inferior; far far, it is a great life threatening action. Inferior to what? बुद्धि-योगात्, the कर्मयोग done by a कर्मयोगि. Here बुद्धियोग means कर्मयोग. And why is कर्मयोग called बुद्धियोग? Because the main feature of कर्मयोग is not in action, the main feature of कर्मयोग is in the attitude, in the value, in what I focus on. So the difference is not in action but in attitude, therefore कर्मयोग is alternatively called बुद्धियोग. Therefore, कृष्ण says, कर्म of a materialist is far inferior to the कर्मयोग of a कर्मयोगि. And therefore what should you do: बुद्धौ शरणम् अन्विच्छ. Therefore, हे अर्जुन! take resort to कर्मयोगः. बुद्धौ means once again बुद्धियोग and बुद्धियोग here means कर्मयोग; may you take resort to कर्मयोग attitude, proper attitude, proper perspective you have. Otherwise what will happen? फल-हेतवः, those people who do not have this attitude and those who are utterly materialistic, they are called फल-हेतवः, who are material-result oriented; so फल-हेतवः, refers to the people who are the material-result oriented; they कृष्णाः, they are unfortunate people, they go through tremendous anxiety, tremendous stress, tremendous strain and therefore अर्जुन take to कर्मयोग. Continuing;

Verse No .50

बुद्धियुक्तो जहातीह उभे सुकृतदुष्कृते ।

तस्माद्योगाय युज्यस्व योगः कर्मसु कौशलम् ॥ २-५०॥

बुद्धि-युक्तः जहाति इह उभे सुकृत-दुष्कृते ।

तस्मात् योगाय युज्यस्व योगः कर्मसु कौशलम् ॥ २-५०॥

इह बुद्धि-युक्तः उभे सुकृत-दुष्कृते जहाति । तस्मात् योगाय युज्यस्व । योगः कर्मसु कौशलम् ।

So here, the result of कर्मयोग is pointed out. So बुद्धि-युक्तः means a कर्मयोगि, who has got a proper बुद्धि, means proper attitude, proper perspective, the one for whom the priorities of life are very clear, that clear divisioned person is called बुद्धि-युक्तः, a कर्मयोगि. What will happen to him? Ultimately, he will become a ज्ञानयोगि. Because कर्मयोग will have to lead to ज्ञानयोग because, a कर्मयोगि will learn lessons from life and sooner or later his mind will ask for something which is lasting and permanent. Because he alone analyzes life's experiences thoroughly and he will discover sooner or later that I am seeking permanent happiness from impermanent things, which is a mistake. Even a person who is successfully wins 10 Wimbledon titles, is going to lose the 11th which is going to make that person miserable. One who hits two centuries, he is also miserable because he could not hit the third century. Therefore he soon discovers I am committing a mistake and the mistake is seeking permanent happiness from impermanent things. I am seeking security from insecure things and I am seeking fulfillment from finite things; therefore my search itself is in a wrong direction. And sooner or later, he will come to the appropriate source, which will talk about the permanent thing, secure thing, the infinite thing and coming to that line is called ज्ञानयोगः.

Every कर्मयोगि will come to ज्ञानयोग one day or the other and once he comes to ज्ञानयोग and discovers his true nature, then he transcends all the कर्मफलs; therefore कृष्ण says सुकृत-दुष्कृते जहाति. He discovers his original nature which is the आत्म-स्वरूपम्, which we saw in the ज्ञानयोग portion of the गीता, i.e., verse no.12 to 25 we saw, he discovers his own higher nature which is free from all the पुण्यम्s and पापम्s. And therefore, he gives up सुकृतम् and दुष्कृतम्, as a result of Self-knowledge, which is the result of ज्ञानयोग, which is a result of कर्मयोग. The stages are कर्मयोग → ज्ञानयोग → ज्ञानम् → सुकृत दुष्कृतम् त्याग, renunciation of all - transcending पुण्य पाप which is called मोक्ष. Remaining in कर्म a person can never transcend; like a person in a whirlpool he will be going round and round and one day he himself will ask, what is the benefit of all these things? Previously I was in rat race; now he asks the question, why be a rat at all? That will come. So therefore, अर्जुन, तस्मात् योगाय युज्यस्व. But to come to that ज्ञानम्, now you have to do action. You cannot say that I will leave everything now itself. Like the boy who says, 'mother, ultimately I have to come out of the college, so why enter at all?' That is not proper logic; we have to enter the college, grow and come out of the college; throughout life it is like that; enter कर्म, grow and come out of कर्म. And therefore, योगाय युज्यस्व. May you take to कर्मयोग and योगः कर्मसु कौशलम्. And कर्मयोग is nothing but efficient performance of action. Efficiency in action, skill in action is कर्मयोग and what do you mean by skill in action? It has got a technical meaning, which शङ्कराचार्य explains, which we will see, in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

दूरेण ह्यवरं कर्म बुद्धियोगाद्धनञ्जय ।

बुद्धौ शरणमन्विच्छ कृपणाः फलहेतवः ॥ २-४९॥

बुद्धियुक्तो जहातीह उभे सुकृतदुष्कृते ।

तस्माद्योगाय युज्यस्व योगः कर्मसु कौशलम् ॥ २-५०॥

कृष्ण presented the कर्मयोग in a nutshell in verse no.47 and 48 and Lord कृष्ण himself will elaborate this topic of कर्मयोग in the next chapter. The entire 3rd chapter is going to be devoted to the topic of कर्मयोग. Therefore we can say that the entire 3rd chapter is a commentary upon two verses: that is the 47th and 48th verses. Here in these two verses, कृष्ण does not exhaustively discuss कर्मयोग but He only hints at the important aspect of कर्मयोग. In the 3rd chapter, we will be seeing that कर्मयोग consists of two portions, one is कर्म and another is योग. By कर्म we mean proper action, appropriate action, right action, legitimate action or technically सात्त्विक action. This aspect of कर्मयोग, कृष्ण has not brought out in this chapter; He will talk about in the 3rd chapter only, what is proper कर्म. Then there is a second part for कर्मयोग that is the योग part and this word योग indicates proper attitude when we are doing the action. There also a proper attitude is required; as a कर्ता, as a doer of the action I should have a healthy attitude; that is why they say, if you are doing a particular job which you do not like and daily eight hours and every week five days and every month, four weeks and 25 or 30 years you work in a firm, doing a job you don't like then certainly you can never have a healthy attitude towards your action, it will be a boredom and that itself will spoil your mental health which will ultimately affect your physical health also. Therefore, a healthy attitude is possible only when I love whatever I do. It should never become a drudgery. Therefore, as a कर्ता I should have a proper attitude and not only that for every action that I do, I myself will have to reap the result. The boss may congratulate me; the boss may appreciate me, the boss may give me increment or the boss may snub me and also promote somebody who doesn't not work at all. That man may be expert in buttering. So, as a भोक्ता I am going to receive the result of the action and then also, I should have a healthy attitude in receiving the result or the consequences. That means every moment I am a कर्ता or I am a भोक्ता, either facing कर्म or facing कर्म-फलम्; the healthy attitude towards the action and the result is called योग. Thus कर्मयोग consists of healthy action and healthy attitude, proper action and proper attitude. Of these two aspects of कर्मयोग, कृष्ण does not deal with proper action in this chapter, that He will discuss in the next chapter; He is only dealing with proper attitude, that too not elaborately, but just He is showing the direction. And what is the proper attitude: समत्वम् योग उच्यते, the mind must not be a disturbed mind. If I do not love a job, my mind is in strain and if resist the कर्म-फलम् then also the mind is strained. Therefore, a strained mind is not a कर्मयोगि mind, it is a mind in stress and that is why there are lot of articles: how to manage the stress? If you read in गीता, it is free of cost but if you go to some such course, you have to pay through your nose. For one hour talk they will charge of Rs.1,000 and feed you some Taj Coromandel food, perhaps. But these are what is said by कृष्ण alone. Therefore, समत्वम् योग उच्यते. Thus कृष्ण briefly dealt with कर्मयोग in the two seed verses; these are बीज श्लोक, 47 and 48, details we will get in 3rd chapter; now from the 49 verse onwards, कृष्ण is talking about the benefit of कर्मयोगः. The immediate benefit is peace of mind, there is relaxation, there is no tension, there is no stress, there is no strain, therefore only even family relationships will improve because when there is a stress in one field, it will certainly overflow into another field. To show anger you need somebody. When there is a pain inside, I am looking for a victim; now, for a कर्मयोगि nobody is a victim. Therefore, the immediate benefit is relaxation, peace of mind. But गीता is not meant for immediate benefit;

गीता is talking about the ultimate benefit also. And what is the ultimate benefit: the mind becomes more and more refined. चित्तशुद्धिः increases and what is the sign of चित्तशुद्धिः: interest in Self-knowledge will increase. Previously, the topic of Self-knowledge is not appealing, it is not attractive, it is too dry a subject but when the mind becomes purer and purer, यदा हि नेन्द्रियार्थेषु न कर्मस्वनुषज्जते ।

सर्वसङ्कल्पसंन्यासी योगारूढस्तदोच्यते ॥ ६-४॥

In the 6th chapter, कृष्ण calls that person as योगारूढः when philosophy or Self-knowledge appeals to him. And once it begins to appeal wherever he goes only that topic will fall in his eye. Previously when we read the newspaper, you only see wherever bumper sale is taking place, 30% reduction is going on, that will fall in your eye; there may be hundreds of spiritual discourses, articles and spiritual items in the paper but that will not fall into your sight. Now you will find such books, such titles will appeal, such discourses will appeal, sooner or later, you would come to an appropriate person;

तत् विज्ञानार्थम् सः गुरुम् एव अभिगच्छेत् ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् १-२-१२ ॥

When a person comes to a गुरु and he has graduated from कर्मयोग to ज्ञानयोग, religion to philosophy, वेद-पूर्व to वेद-अन्त, कर्मकाण्ड to ज्ञानकाण्ड and once he discovers the Self, then he is free from all the bondage – बुद्धि-युक्तः जहाति इह उभे सुकृत-दुष्कृते. So the benefit of कर्मयोग is ultimately liberation. And what are all the stages that one will go through is going to be explained in the next श्लोक, verse no.51 and there in the 50th verse, कृष्ण gave a second definition to कर्मयोग and that is योगः कर्मसु कौशलम्. First definition was समत्वम् योग उच्यते – balance of mind is कर्मयोग. Not by withdrawing from action but balance of mind amidst action. Now he is giving a second definition – कौशलम् योगः, skill in action is योगः. So what is that skill in action? In the last class I raised this question and left. Do you remember? What is that skill in action? Here by the word skill, कृष्ण does not mean expertise in the performance of action; anybody can be a skillful expert if only he repeats the action again and again; even coffee cooling is a skill. If you are not habituated, only 1/3 cup of the coffee will be there in the end. Go to a teashop and see how he is doing, you will find that the tea will fly from the davara to the glass almost horizontally. The law of gravitation being violated, rubber-band like expansion and contraction. If you have not seen then go to any Kerala tea shop. That is 'skill in action.' Therefore, that is not here. शङ्कराचार्य gives a beautiful definition: तद्धि कौशलम् यत् बन्धनस्वभावान्यपि कर्माणि समत्वबुद्ध्या स्वभावात् निवर्तन्ते। If proper attitude is not there कर्म can lead to more and more strain and tension. It can lead to more and more संसार, but कर्मयोगि is one who uses the very same कर्म and uses it to attain liberation. A कर्मयोगि converts a binding-कर्म into liberating-कर्म. And this conversion is not by changing the action, but the conversion is purely brought out by changing the attitude. It is like using cobra poison to make a medicine. Normally the cobra poison is the cause of death, but if it is appropriately used you can create medicine out of it and save a person. Similarly, कर्म is like cobra-poison because, if a person does not how to handle the कर्म it can such an amount of tension and destroy him, whereas a कर्मयोगि the कर्म to produce चित्तशुद्धिः and attain immortality. Therefore, skill is conversion of binding-कर्म into liberating-कर्म by the change of attitude. Skill is conversion of a binding-कर्म into a liberating-कर्म by the change in attitude. बन्धक कर्म शोधकत्वेन अथवा मोक्ष प्रदत्वेन परिणम्यते, because of the attitude. Therefore, कर्मयोगि is skillful. Now in the 51st verse कृष्ण is going to talk about the various stages that a कर्मयोगि has to go through.

Verse No .51

कर्मजं बुद्धियुक्ता हि फलं त्यक्त्वा मनीषिणः ।

जन्मबन्धविनिर्मुक्ताः पदं गच्छन्त्यनामयम् ॥ २-५१॥

कर्मजम् बुद्धि-युक्ताः हि फलं त्यक्त्वा मनीषिणः ।

जन्म-बन्ध-विनिर्मुक्ताः पदम् गच्छन्ति अनामयम् ॥ २-५१॥

हि बुद्धि-युक्ताः मनीषिणः कर्मजम् फलं त्यक्त्वा जन्म-बन्ध-विनिर्मुक्ताः अनामयम् पदम् गच्छन्ति ।

So what are the stages a person must go through to attain liberation through कर्मयोग?

i) The first stage is बुद्धि-युक्ताः one should have proper attitude towards life and the various experiences that come. So, here बुद्धि means proper attitude, बुद्धि means भावना. This attitude is born out of right discrimination; without discrimination healthy attitude cannot come and what is the discrimination: spiritual growth or inner growth is as much important or more important than material growth and accomplishment. Initially when we enter life, we value अर्थ and काम more and more, money and pleasures more and more; that is an immature mind, when the mind gets विवेक not that it throws away अर्थ-काम, they are very much part of life, they are very much accepted by the शास्त्र, but a person begins to consider धर्म and मोक्ष as more important than अर्थ-काम. So thus there is a balance of अर्थ-काम and धर्म-मोक्ष. अर्थ-काम represents external accomplishments or विषय सुखम् and धर्म-मोक्ष represents आत्मसुखम् (remember the उपनिषत् introduction). That is why in नवरात्रि also we worship for 9 days – 3 days we worship दुर्गा, another 3 days we worship लक्ष्मी and last three days 3 days we worship सरस्वती. It indicates how वैदिक culture gives importance all the three. दुर्गा stands for शक्ति, therefore health and strength are important; वेदान्त never says you should ignore the body, therefore take care of the body; feed the body, give the required comfort to the body, if there are diseases, treat the body; health must be given importance. And the next 3 days लक्ष्मी is worshipped which indicates never ignore the value of wealth. Money is also extremely important; we never look down upon money, if we look down then लक्ष्मीदेवी we will never worship. If we step over a coin or rupee note we consider that it is an insult and we touch and also we just ask for pardon. And that is why traditional people will not keep the money in the back-pant-pocket, because it is the supposed to be lower area, अशौचम्; upper area is शौचम्. I am talking about the attitude. Why because: money is लक्ष्मीदेवी. Even Lord विष्णु does not put in his jeans (don't ask whether he has or not), he keeps on the chest only. Therefore, our culture never looks down upon material progress. Therefore लक्ष्मीदेवी is important. And on the last 3 days, we worship सरस्वती which stands for knowledge, both material more than that spiritual knowledge also. Therefore नवरात्रि indicates balanced growth, outwards and inwards. So a कर्मयोगि gives importance to अर्थ-काम alright but more than that he gives importance to धर्म-मोक्ष, because अर्थ-काम is superficial, it will come and go whereas धर्म-मोक्ष are enduring. And because of this विवेक, नित्य-अनित्य विवेकः, श्रेयः-प्रेयः विवेकः, he has got a proper attitude towards life and what is the attitude: inner growth is equally or more important than money and pleasures. This is called बुद्धि-युक्ताः.

ii) And once he has got a healthy value, then कर्मजम् फलम् त्यक्त्वा, here कर्मजम् फलम् means the material results of कर्म; त्यक्त्वा means he gives up and here giving up means he is not overly concerned about the material benefits of action. That he considers as a secondary benefit, an अवान्तर फलम्. Primary benefit which he focuses upon is the inner growth; money will come and go, name will come and go, others will acknowledge or not, no doubt they are important but they are secondary. This is called कर्मज फल त्यागः, not giving over importance to the material results but giving more importance to the inner growth. This is the second stage.

iii) Then what is the third stage? मनीषिणः भूत्वा. So the first two stages are not sufficient to attain the ultimate goal; a person has to come to ज्ञानयोग finding out the true goal of life. What is the inner growth? Many people often ask the question? What is the goal of life?

What is the purpose of life? Everyone is asking? Not in the beginning but after 75 years. ‘Why was I born?’ At 99!! At least then, not bad! So this is one of the basic questions often asked: ‘what is the purpose? What is the goal?’ I say that if you are not able to find out, look at the nature you can easily find out. Take any animal or plant. What does it do? It grows. It is a natural process, the seeds sprout, it becomes a plant, it becomes a tree. So the very natural programmed goal of every plant is growing, growing, growing and while they grow, they contribute to the creation in the form of leaves and in the form of fruits and in the form of everything; they contribute and after reaching their highest growth they wither and perish. Similarly, the animals also, they grow and grow and grow and reach the maximum growth and then they wither away. If this is the natural goal of every animal and plant, I also being an integral part of the creation; my goal also should be what? Grow to the maximum. But there is a slight difference between animals and human beings. Animals and plants have to grow only physically. They have to grow only physically. For them mental and intellectual growth are neither possible nor do they work for that. They don’t have those problems. And therefore they have to grow physically only whereas in the case of human beings, physical growth of course is required and we do that efficiently, perhaps, sometimes growing more than required also (physically), therefore, there is no problem with the physical growth, but we all are very successful or over successful. But, since our more than plants and animals, we do require corresponding growth at mental level, emotional level which I would call as universal love, universal compassion, the capacity to share; this is वसुधैव कुटुम्बकम् attitude.

अयं निजः परो वेति गणना लघुचेतसाम् ॥ उदारचरितानां तु वसुधैव कुटुम्बकम् ॥ हितोपदेश ॥

The universal love is emotional growth and similarly, we should attain maximum intellectual growth also which is discovery of answer to the fundamental questions: Who am I? And what is this world? And is there a God and who is that God? These are the three basic intellectual questions which will rise in the mind of every human being. And unless I discover this, I cannot attain maximum intellectual growth or you may call it spiritual growth that I cannot attain. And therefore, a कर्मयोगि has to not only grow physically but also emotionally, but also spiritually or intellectually and that is said here by the word, मनीषिणः भूत्वा. मनीषि means ज्ञानि. मनीषा means आत्मज्ञानम्. शङ्कराचार्य wrote a work called मनीषापञ्चकम् – five verses on मनीषा. मनीषा means ज्ञानम्. मनीषि means ज्ञानि. So one should attain this knowledge also which is called ज्ञानयोग. That is the next stage. And then what is the final stage. जन्म-बन्ध-विनिर्मुक्ताः. As the result of this knowledge, they are freed from all the shackles of संसार and shackles can be presented in different ways; in the 1st chapter of the गीता, बन्ध was presented as रागः, शोकः and मोहः. Do you remember: रागः is attachment, शोकः means anxiety or grief and मोहः means conflict. We can say this is the shackle. Or you can put the very same shackle in philosophical language, i.e., जन्म-मरणम्:

भजगोविन्दम् २१ ॥

This transmigration, repeated births and deaths or mortality can be called a shackle. And this कर्मयोगि becomes a ज्ञानयोगि, becomes a ज्ञानि and becomes a मुक्तः. And how long he will enjoy that? As long as he is alive he will enjoy this freedom. What a beautiful life it will be. I continue to be in the world and world continues to be the same but I am not afflicted by, affected by the various events of life. In fact, कृष्ण himself will talk about the state of such a person at the end of this chapter, स्थितप्रज्ञः. So, ups and downs do not affect him. This is called जीवन्मुक्ति. So the inner freedom, mental freedom while living, where the mind becomes a light and enjoyable too. अशान्तस्य मनोभारः, when there is no peace of mind the mind itself becomes a burden. We can face everything in life except one thing. What? My own mind is burden to me. If anybody else is a burden, you can think of getting away from that. If the place Madras is burden then one can shift to Bangalore or Hyderabad. If any other thing in the world is a भारम् for you, you can get rid of. Now people get rid of even spouses. What would you do, if your own mind is a burden to you? Wherever you go the mind also comes. You may go to मानसरोवर and worry about the situation of Madras Coovam. Therefore the greatest tragedy is my own mind becoming my enemy. जीवन्मुक्ति is that state when the mind is the lightest one and not only the lightest one, it is a beautiful instrument which is the gift of the Lord, which enjoys love, compassion, relaxation, आनन्द etc. And this जीवन्मुक्ति he enjoys as long as the प्रारब्ध कर्म allows and once that कर्म is exhausted, अनामयम् पदम् गच्छन्ति. This person merges into the Lord or ब्रह्मन् which is called विदेह मुक्तिः or ईश्वरः ऐक्यम्. So here पदम् means the ultimate goal of ब्रह्मन् or ईश्वरः and which is अनामयम्. अनामयम् means free from all kinds of evils. So thus this is a beautiful comprehensive verse, beginning from कर्मयोग then to ज्ञानयोग then to जीवन्मुक्ति and finally विदेहमुक्ति. The details कृष्ण himself will give later. Because you should remember, the entire 2nd chapter is a summary of the entire गीता. So every idea mentioned in the 2nd chapter, कृष्ण himself is going to blow up in the 3rd, 4th, etc., up to 17th chapter, it is the blowing up of the 2nd chapter. Then in the 18th chapter, again he will condense the entire गीता. Therefore all these ideas कृष्ण himself will elaborate later. Continuing;

Verse No .52

यदा ते मोहकलिलं बुद्धिर्व्यतितरिष्यति ।

तदा गन्तासि निर्वेदं श्रोतव्यस्य श्रुतस्य च ॥ २-५२॥

यदा ते मोह-कलिलम् बुद्धिः व्यतितरिष्यति ।

तदा गन्तासि निर्वेदम् श्रोतव्यस्य श्रुतस्य च ॥ २-५२॥

यदा ते बुद्धिः मोह-कलिलम् व्यतितरिष्यति, तदा श्रोतव्यस्य श्रुतस्य च निर्वेदम् गन्तासि ।

So these two verses, 52 and 53, are elaboration of the previous verse, i.e., again the stages are presented. So what will कर्मयोग do? How it will take to ज्ञानयोग and how ज्ञानयोग will liberate a person. Like 2 halves. One half कर्मयोग to ज्ञानयोग and another jump ज्ञानयोग to मोक्ष. 2 jumps. In the 52nd श्लोक the 1st jump is given and 53rd श्लोक the 2nd jump. So what will this कर्मयोग do? कृष्ण says बुद्धिः मोह-कलिलम् व्यतितरिष्यति. The intellect will cross over its confusion. Intellect will get clarity of thinking. Intellect will be able to know the priorities of life, because before that, मोक्ष is only a vague concept. They think that मोक्ष is only a goal of a few संन्यासि, who have failed in other fields of life like jobless people, unsuccessful people in the exam or no one married them, therefore some or other failures especially if they are young. If old, in the family children might have rejected therefore संन्यास. Generally people think मोक्ष is a goal of only a few संन्यासि who have nothing else to do in life. This is called बुद्धि's confusion. Not knowing what is मोक्ष. We think मोक्ष means going to forest only or putting on काषायम् only growing a long beard only. It is not like that. मोक्ष is inner maturity. To understand this you will take some time. Therefore, कृष्ण says that बुद्धि will get over the confusions regarding the priorities of life, confusions regarding the value of मोक्ष. And the confusion is between what and what? Whether अर्थ-काम is the ultimate goal or धर्म-मोक्ष is the ultimate goal. And if both of them are important which should be given more importance. Regarding these things अविवेक is called मोहः and this mental confusion alone is called कलिलम्; कलिलम् means the dirt, the impurities, intellectual impurity regarding course of life, regarding the priorities of life and this confusion the intellect crosses over the more a person becomes a कर्मयोगि the more a person leads a religious life. Then what will happen? तदा निर्वेदम् गन्तासि. When this conflict goes away, when नित्य-अनित्य वस्तु विवेकः comes then the natural consequence is वैशग्यम् or dispassion. निर्वेदम् means dispassion. Dispassion towards गन्तासि निर्वेदम्. This कर्मयोगि will develop dispassion towards what: श्रोतव्यस्य श्रुतस्य all external dependencies. All external dependencies, all अनात्माs. श्रोतव्यम् means those external factors or sources of security which are mentioned in the ritualistic portion of the वेदs. Ritualistic portion talks about so much external security - you can get a nice house, you can get a nice स्वर्गलोक, you can get a nice children, you can get nice job all these are promised; they will come under what? All external course or support. And they are very good initially. But as a person becomes wiser and wiser he understands any dependence is a risky, remember the coalition government. When it will fall they do not know because dependent. If you do not have majority then black mail. I will withdraw now or afterwards. Everything in the creation will threaten, even if it is going to be there at least we will have the anxiety when we are going to lose it. That is why when any telegram comes (it can be any news. We do not know what news) invariably mind thinks 'somebody is no more.' Telegram means that only? Why can't it be a very good news? But human mind is such that it knows that external things are always unpredictable and therefore there is constant fear. Therefore कर्मयोगि is one who understands that external dependence means fear, total fearlessness can come only when I learn to depend upon myself. Or maximum if you want to have an external dependence, one concession, that is dependence on God. So therefore, learn to switch your dependence from the world to God and finally from God to myself. Thus the one who understands dependence is risky, not physical dependence, that we cannot avoid; psychological dependence is risky, therefore he does not want to hold on to that; that is called निर्वेदम्, dispassion towards external holds. And when we say dispassion, we do not mean hatred, we continue to love, we continue to help others, only we do not want to seek help from them. It is not hatred but it is learning to be independent and not only towards the things which are श्रोतव्यम्, mentioned in the scriptures, श्रुतस्य च and also the external dependencies which are already known to us. In short, towards all the known and unknown external dependencies he develops dispassion and he wants to become independent. This is the benefit of a religious life. This is the first stage. Then what is the second stage?

Verse No .53

श्रुतिविप्रतिपन्ना ते यदा स्थास्यति निश्चला ।

समाधावचला बुद्धिस्तदा योगमवाप्स्यसि ॥ २-५३॥

श्रुति-विप्रतिपन्ना ते यदा स्थास्यति निश्चला ।

समाधौ अवचला बुद्धिः तदा योगम् अवाप्स्यसि ॥ २-५३॥

यदा श्रुति-विप्रतिपन्ना ते बुद्धिः निश्चला (भूत्वा) समाधौ अवचला स्थास्यति, तदा योगम् अवाप्स्यसि ।

So when a person gets more and more interested in independence or Self-dependence, the scriptures themselves come and say: “Really speaking you need not depend on any external factor. You have got within yourself an eternal source of security, an eternal source of fullness, an eternal source of आनन्द, that source is within you yourself.” Just like a person having water right under his own property, struggles to get it from outside and miserably fails, corporation water does not come, lorry man does not bring, all kinds of problem and somebody comes and tells, why do you struggle?, under your own property there is a perennial source of water. Similarly, somebody comes and tells, your innermost nature is आत्मा and which आत्मा is source of security, source of love, source of आनन्द, why can’t you tap that eternal source and the advantage of that is once I have got my own perennial source of water not only I need not get from outside I can start distributing also. Thus imagine a life where you ask everyone do you love me? Do you love me? And they are not openly telling. We have a doubt whether this persons loves me or not and instead of going with a begging bowl to everyone give me security, give me love, give me happiness, give me peace and the other person refusing to give or blackmails you (if you do like this I will give). So blackmailing has become our very philosophy! Now imagine a state where I no more ask anyone: Do you love me? On the other hand I say, whether you love me or not is your problem but I have got an infinite source of love within me because of which I can unconditionally love you in spite of your deficiency, in spite of your weaknesses, in spite of your ugly look (you can keep it that way also). So therefore, there is a big switchover that is the discovery of पूर्णत्वम्, अभयत्वम्, आनन्दः, etc., from oneself. And this is called Self-discovery. This confused mind which was struggling where to turn to get some love and care; स्वामिजि, no one is enquiring about us? 3 days cold. No one enquired? I do not want anything. I did not ask anything. I did not ask to be taken to such and such people. Just for courtesy sake also they did ask how are you? So many people are eagerly waiting for some care and love. And this mind which is struggling and turning towards all directions to get a drop of miserable love, which does not come like the local tap water, that intellect is called श्रुति-विप्रतिपन्ना. The mind which is totally deluded because of hearing various श्रुति वाक्यs – the statements of the ritualistic portion of the वेदs which talk about various external sources, such mind is confused, that mind comes to ज्ञानकाण्ड and instead of going to external sources, it decides to go to inner source. And what does it discovers? यदा समाधौ स्थास्यति. Here the word समाधिः means आत्मा. Very careful. Normally the word समाधि has got different meaning. Here the word समाधि means आत्मा. What type of आत्मा? पूर्ण आत्मा, ever secure आत्मा, आत्मा which is an embodiment of love. After all what is love? पूर्णत्वम् expressed outside is love, fullness expressed outside is love. That is why you see in your life, it's a very interesting thing, suppose you have succeeded in something or you have accomplished something, the child has got rank and you have completed the house or you are playing a game you have won, whoever it is, whoever has won the world cup, you will find you are so full because of any accomplishments, if anybody commits any mistakes you will forgive. On the day of accomplishment your heart is so full; a full heart forgives everyone, you will not get angry that day, you will give ten rupees extra to the auto driver if he asks for only five; on other days you will shout on the top of your voice. Only sharing, forgiving, त्याग, etc., because अहम् पूर्णः. But it is only for one day, temporary accomplishment. But in the case of पूर्णत्वम् which is discovered through wisdom, imagine that state of mind continuing permanently! It is not an unknown state of mind, everybody has experienced पूर्णत्वम् when they accomplish that job, when they got a child or when they got a promotion or when they won that particular game, everybody has temporarily experienced that पूर्णत्वम्, when love flows, when forgiveness comes, when compassion is natural. Extend it time-wise, permanently it is there; that is the state of mind of a person who has discovered पूर्णत्वम्. Therefore, कृष्ण says: समाधौ स्थास्यति पूर्णे अभये अदृश्ये अनात्मे अनिरुद्धे अनिलये अभयम् प्रतिष्ठाम् विन्दते। अथ सोऽभयं गतो भवति ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-७-१॥

उपनिषत् beautifully describes that state of mind. What type of discovery it is? आत्मज्ञानम् it is? अचला निश्चला स्थास्यति. Two words are said here which have got technical significance. Self-discovery or Self-knowledge should be free from two obstacles. Self-discovery or Self-knowledge should be free from two obstacles (this topic we will discuss elaborately later. I am just giving you a hint here).

i) One obstacle is doubt regarding my पूर्णत्वम्. Am I पूर्णः आत्मा? One doubt in that respect. That is called संशयः.

ii) The second obstacle is the habitual notion that I require external factors to be happy. A very strong notion. Like a person who smokes cigarette for years he cannot imagine a life without smoking. Even though millions of people are happily surviving, they are not even aware of the existence of that and he himself before he started smoking he never missed it but having been used to that he cannot even imagine a life without that a few grams of tobacco. He is परंब्रह्म but depending upon a few grams of tobacco. Imagine! Infinite depending upon this finite thing, for another person it is coffee. Similarly, we have a notion that we cannot be full and complete without certain factors, that habitual notion does not go away so easily, even after Self-discovery that वासना lingers. Like the flower वासना or onion वासना, even after removing that smell would be there days together. Like that, the notion that I need things to be happy that is called विपर्ययः.

First one is called संशयः, second one is called विपर्ययः. These two are powerful obstacles to knowledge, therefore, even after gaining knowledge, one should eliminate these two. For that appropriate exercise are given. That we will discuss later. When a person has removed these two obstacles then the Self-knowledge is complete. And therefore कृष्ण uses two words, निश्चला तिष्ठति, अचला तिष्ठति. निश्चला means संशयः रहित तिष्ठति. अचला means विपर्ययः रहित तिष्ठति and such a person is called स्थिरग्रज्ञः, the one who does not depend upon anyone, except himself. By himself he mean his true Self. Self with capital S. And then and then alone, तदा योगम् अवाप्स्यसि. And then and then alone a person attains योग which means मोक्ष. A person attains freedom. Freedom from what: freedom from begging, internal bankruptcy. Even though we have got a lot of money in the bank, mentally, emotionally we are bankrupt; asking for this person that person, etc., when that goes away that is called freedom. With this कृष्ण concludes his essence of the गीता teaching consisting of ज्ञानयोग and कर्मयोग. Now that the teaching is over, कृष्ण allows अर्जुन to ask any question if he wants. Because वेदान्त is not a matter of belief but it is a matter of understanding, wisdom and once the question of understanding comes doubt should not be there in the mind of the student, therefore वेदान्तिक आचार्य allows the student to raise any question. And अर्जुन is going to come up with a question, which we will see in the next class.

यदा ते मोहकलिलं बुद्धिर्व्यतितरिष्यति ।

तदा गन्तासि निर्वेदं श्रोतव्यस्य श्रुतस्य च ॥ २-५२॥

श्रुतिविप्रतिपन्ना ते यदा स्थास्यति निश्चला ।

समाधावचला बुद्धिस्तदा योगमवाप्स्यसि ॥ २-५३॥

With the 53rd श्लोक, Lord कृष्ण concludes his teaching to अर्जुन and in this portion, beginning from the 11th verse onwards up to the 53rd verse, Lord कृष्ण has summarized the entire वैदिक teaching which teaching talks about the spiritual life of a seeker as designed by the वेदs and we can say this portion is the essence of वैदिक teaching and all the later chapters, that is from the 3rd chapter up to 18th chapter is only a build up, a magnification of this particular teaching alone, consisting of कर्मयोग साधन and ज्ञानयोग साधन and therefore this portion is like a foundation upon which 16 storied building is going to be raised from the 3rd chapter to 18th chapter. And therefore, we should remember this portion very well, from verse no.11 to 53, we should regularly read and we should be in touch with the content of this portion. In fact, the benefit that we derive from the later chapters is directly proportional to your familiarity with this portion. If you are going to forget this portion the later chapters will not give that much impact. On the other hand, if you remember this portion, that is 2nd chapter verse no.11 to 53, if this is very well studied and remembered we have a very strong foundation that the later 16 chapters will be very interesting and well assimilated. And therefore, try to read this portion off and on and remember the ideas in this portion. As I said, the topic discussed in this portion is two-fold – कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. कर्मयोग is a religious way of life in which we give importance to spiritual progress in life and material progress is considered subservient to, secondary to spiritual progress. Such a life is called religious life or कर्मयोग. More details we will see in the 3rd chapter. Once a person goes through such a religious life of कर्मयोग, the mind will become sufficiently mature to go into ज्ञानयोग which is nothing but study of my own true nature. And this ज्ञानयोग also was given from verse no.11 to 25 where कृष्ण clearly pointed out that I am not the body which is only a medium for interaction with the world, I am not the mind also which is also another medium of interaction. Just as a spectacle has got two goggles, the body and mind are like two media with which I interact. At the time of sleep, both these media the body and the mind are resolved temporarily and our transactions with the world stops. But even when the transactions stop I continue to exist as a conscious being, a non-transacting conscious being. And कृष्ण's contention is this conscious being is my true nature, this body mind media are only incidental instruments. As long as they are there I will transact with the world. When they are folded I will stop my transaction; transactions will come and go, but I the pure conscious being will never come and go: न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचित्, अच्छेद्यः अयम् अदाह्यः अयम् अवलेद्यः अशोष्यः एव च. That pure conscious being is my nature, this recognition is called Self-knowledge. And this Self-knowledge alone liberates a person from the fear of death, from the fear of old-age, etc., because I know that body is not myself, it is a shell which I make use of. And therefore, ज्ञानयोग will lead to Self-discovery. So thus the entire वैदिक design of life is practice कर्मयोग, prepare the mind, practice ज्ञानयोग, discover the Self and thus be free from all limitations and limitation caused problems. This is the essence of the गीता, this is the essence of the वेदs also. And कृष्ण will elaborate these two topics only – कर्म and ज्ञानम्, these two topics alone will be elaborated in the following chapters. And before elaboration कृष्ण gives a chance to अर्जुन for any clarification, if he wants to have. And therefore there is a temporary silence and कृष्ण wants to know whether अर्जुन has to ask for something and अर्जुन also was waiting for an opportunity. At least he does not interrupt कृष्ण. अर्जुन is decent enough for कृष्ण to stop his talking. And now अर्जुन is going to raise a question which is the fourth and final topic of the 2nd chapter. And what is going to be अर्जुन's question, we will see in verse no.54;

Verse No .54

अर्जुन उवाच ।

स्थितप्रज्ञस्य का भाषा समाधिस्थस्य केशव ।

स्थितधीः किं प्रभाषेत किमासीत ब्रजेत किम् ॥ २-५४॥

स्थितप्रज्ञस्य का भाषा समाधिस्थस्य केशव ।

स्थितधीः किम् प्रभाषेत किम् आसीत ब्रजेत किम् ॥ २-५४॥

हे केशव! समाधिस्थस्य स्थितप्रज्ञस्य का भाषा? स्थितधीः किम् प्रभाषेत? किम् आसीत? किम् ब्रजेत?

अर्जुन is a very practical person. He wants to know whether there will be any practical benefit of these spiritual साधन's. He is not interested in mere academic knowledge, he does not want to say "I also have studied the गीता", that is not his intention; he wants to know whether there will be a transformation in my life? Whether I will get any benefit out of this गीता study? because especially now-a-days, people consider time as very valuable; in fact, many people keep the board also: Time is Money. Therefore, if I, a big executive! has to spend so many hours to come and study the गीता, I want to know whether I will have any practical benefit. Don't promise me some स्वर्ग and all, I am not very sure whether it exists or not and that too after death how can I verify, if it is not there I cannot come back to you to question also; 'please give me my time' I cannot ask; therefore I want to know whether I will get any benefit here and now.

i) And for that purpose, अर्जुन puts a question, suppose there is a person who successfully goes through both the stages of spiritual साधन, i.e., he follows a religious life of कर्मयोग and he prepares the mind and then he withdraws from all activities and embarks upon Self-enquiry and let us assume he is able to discover the Self. And not only this knowledge he gets very vaguely, but he gets a conviction in this teaching, he is totally satisfied with this teaching; suppose there is such a person whom we call a ज्ञानि. And अर्जुन gives a special title for this ज्ञानि, he calls him स्थितप्रज्ञः; प्रज्ञः means a ज्ञानि. Then स्थितप्रज्ञः means the one whose knowledge is free from all doubts, free from all vagueness. And such a person of conviction is called a स्थितप्रज्ञ.

ii) And he gives another title to this person – समाधिस्थः the one who is ever established in his true nature; समाधि means आत्मा; I told you in the previous verse itself, समाधि here does not mean trance. In this context, समाधिः means आत्मा, समाधिस्थः means आत्मनिष्ठः the one who binds in his true nature. And what do you mean abiding in true nature? It means the one who does not forget his real nature even during day-to-day-transactions, because the problem that a student faces is while studying the scriptures he accepts the fact that I am different from the body, I am different from the body, I am सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा, everything he nods very well, fully accepted and admired. But the problem is, the moment he puts on the slippers then the relatively egoistic-petty-worldly-bankrupt-personality comes and then all the transactional problems also come. Therefore, it is not enough that I know my nature, this knowledge must help me in the day-to-day transactions, this non-forgetfulness of this teaching and this teaching being available during day-today transactions especially when there is crisis, especially when there are problems, this knowledge must bless me, help me to remain cool and tranquil. And such a person for whom knowledge is easily accessible. Such a person is called समाधिस्थः. The one who never forgets his nature. The second title is स्थितप्रज्ञ then समाधिस्थः.

iii) Then a third title is also given for a person who has successfully passed through these two stages and that is स्थितधीः. स्थितधीः is the same as the same as स्थितप्रज्ञ. धीः means ज्ञानम्, स्थितधीः means a person of clear knowledge, doubtless knowledge. For him this knowledge is a fact. It is not information coming from scripture, it is not hypothesis given by some स्वामि, but just as $2+2$ is 4 is a fact for me similarly, I am the आत्मा must be like हस्त आमलकवत् it must be a fact for me. Such a person is called स्थितधीः. So all these three words talk about a ज्ञानि – स्थितप्रज्ञ, समाधिस्थः, स्थितधीः.

iv) Now अर्जुन wants to know what is the description of such a ज्ञानि? हे कृष्ण! please describe the characteristics of such a ज्ञानि. का भाषा? Here भाषा means description, not language. What is the language of a ज्ञानि? Whether he will talk only in संस्कृत or some other देव भाषा!! It is not the language he uses; here भाषा means भाष्यते इति भाषा. Description of a ज्ञानि you please give so that I can decide whether to become a ज्ञानि or not. Is it worth the effort or not? If it is not, I will withdraw from the next class itself. So let me be practical. Therefore, का भाषा?

And किम् प्रभाषेत? How will he talk to other people? Is there any difference in the way he communicates with others or whether he will talk at all? At once will he become a मौनि? So realized and mouth gets shut! Thereafter wards no talk at all. So will he talk, if at all he will talk, how will he talk? Is there any change in his talking? किम् प्रभाषेत?

v) And किम् आसीत्? How will a ज्ञानि sit? Poor अर्जुन doesn't know what will be a difference between a ज्ञानि and an अज्ञानि and therefore he thinks that there will be some physical difference; so if he going to sit down whether in शिर्षासन or पद्मासन or without touching the ground or will he sit on like that भीष्म शरशय्या, on the sharp आसन. कथम् आसीत्? Or will he sit at all? Will he be walking always? In fact, if you go to बद्रीनाथ, केदारनाथ, etc., you can see all varieties of संन्यासि's not knowing what to do with their संन्यास. If there is no गुरु, संन्यास आश्रम is the most dangerous आश्रम, because there is plenty of time and not knowing what to do they will do all kinds of thing. One person doesn't want to sit at all. Therefore, just over the branch of a tree he has hung like a cradle and he uses that as a prop and he permanently stands there. And the legs have become so swollen and sleeping also he just sleeps over that only and in front he has put a cloth for getting some money from people. Having taken संन्यास आश्रम, doesn't what to do with their time. Scriptures are there to guide, गुरुs are there to guide, if one doesn't have scriptural guidance or गुरु's guidance, they will do all kinds of torturous things and not reaching anywhere and there afterwards they take all kinds of drugs also like ganja, etc., freely available in उत्तरकाशि. Because generally people think that a ज्ञानि must be an abnormal case. If he does everything like any other person he must not be a ज्ञानि. 'He is also seeing with his eye. Some change must be there. At least minimum a long beard.' So, thus people expect all kinds of physical changes and therefore अर्जुन also got some misconceptions like that; therefore he asked the question, किम् आसीत्? Will he sit? And if at all he will sit, how will he sit?

vi) And व्रजेत किम्? Will he walk and if he is going to walk, how will he walk? Whether he will walk with the hands, upside down? How he will walk? All kinds of doubts अर्जुन has.

In short, he wants to know how does a ज्ञानि conduct himself in the world? What is his state of mind, how does he transact with people and worldly people will continue to be the same, how will he react to different types of people and different types of behavior? So in संस्कृत we call it स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि. To put it in a single word स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि. लक्षणम् means the characteristics of a स्थितप्रज्ञ. This is अर्जुन's question for which कृष्ण is going to give an elaborate answer from the next verse onwards.

Verse No .55

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

प्रजहाति यदा कामान्सर्वान्पार्थ मनोगतान् ।

आत्मन्येवात्मना तुष्टः स्थितप्रज्ञस्तदोच्यते ॥ २-५५॥

प्रजहाति यदा कामान् सर्वान् पार्थ मनोगतान् ।

आत्मानि एव आत्माना तुष्टः स्थितप्रज्ञः तदा उच्यते ॥ २-५५॥

हे पार्थ! यदा (नरः) मनोगतान् सर्वान् कामान् प्रजहाति, आत्मानि एव आत्माना तुष्टः (भवति) तदा स्थितप्रज्ञः उच्यते ।

An important portion of the 2nd chapter, स्थितप्रज्ञ portion; very often quoted by शङ्कराचार्य and other आचार्यs. It is very important because once we know the characteristics of a ज्ञानि we have a model to guide us in our spiritual साधन. Therefore, this description serves as a guideline to all the seekers in साधन. Therefore शङ्कराचार्य says, यानि स्थितप्रज्ञस्य लक्षणानि तानि मुमुक्षोः साधनानि – whatever is the natural trait of a ज्ञानि they will serve as an example for the other people so that he can also try to acquire those traits. Therefore, it is an important guideline for every साधक. And the second benefit of this portion is we can check up ourselves and see to what extent we have got the benefit out of this study. Because often people ask this question, स्वामिजि how do I know whether I have become a ज्ञानि or not? If I am already a ज्ञानि I can stop coming to the next class!! I should know how long I should continue. Will there be any physical indication? Halo will be there? Will there be some such halo? So regularly I can watch for it. Will there be any physical change at all? How am I to know whether I have reached the goal? Or will you give a certificate? ‘To whomsoever it may concern, the bearer of this letter is a स्थितप्रज्ञ and therefore better hold him in respect and if possible do some पादपूजा, etc.’ like will you give me a letter. How am I to know whether a ज्ञानि or not? If there is any such doubt you can easily check up by studying these verses because कृष्ण tells, the characteristics of a स्थितप्रज्ञ, I can compare myself and see whether I am getting closer to that model. But one important statutory warning: ‘Use this portion only to judge YOURSELVES.’ Don’t go with this to check others whether this man or that man become or not. Don’t give certificate to other people especially to your family members. This portion must be utilized only for changing ourselves. Therefore this portion is very important for every seeker. स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि. Then in this portion itself, कृष्ण discusses another topic also and that is स्थिरप्रज्ञ साधनानि which means ‘What are the साधनs to be practiced to become a स्थिरप्रज्ञ?’ Two portions.

➤ One portion is: what are the natural traits of a person who has already become a स्थिरप्रज्ञ?

➤ And second topic is: what are the disciplines or साधनs to be practiced to become स्थिरप्रज्ञ?

So regarding the साधनs, I have to give you some note, because कृष्ण does not discuss all the important साधनs elaborately but he discusses only certain साधनs. So first he has already hinted that everybody has to go through कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग; there is no choice there. Now this ज्ञानयोग that a person has to go through is presented in three stages in the scriptures. ज्ञानयोग consists of three stages, the first stage is called श्रवणम्.

i) श्रवणम् means receiving the scriptural teaching which means no self-study allowed. So it should be scriptural teaching and that too I should not study by myself, I should receive it from a competent person otherwise I will get into all kinds of wrong interpretations and problems. Because there is a particular method of extracting the meaning out of the scriptures. For details we will be seeing in due course. This first stage is called श्रवणम्, receiving the scriptural teachings from a competent गुरु. And this receiving of the scriptural teaching will reveal my true nature, this will help in Self-discovery. Because the scripture and गुरु are like mirrors. For what purpose do we use the mirror? We know that I cannot see the forehead directly - have you tried to see your forehead directly? If you try you will have only headache, you can never see your own forehead however powerful the eyes be. Therefore, what do you do? You use a mirror. And even though you are looking outside into the mirror actually what you are seeing not the external mirror but with the help of an external mirror you are seeing your own face or your own forehead. Similarly, if I have to see my real Self, the local mirror is for seeing the physical body, if I have to see my real self I should use a special mirror and this special mirror is गुरु शास्त्र उपदेश. This scriptural teaching is a verbal mirror that if a student appropriately uses this teaching it will help in discovering my real nature. Therefore श्रवणम् removes Self-ignorance, श्रवणम् helps Self-discovery, श्रवणम् serves as a mirror to see my real-I. This is the first stage of ज्ञानयोग. And these stages are mentioned in the उपनिषत्s themselves.

आत्मा वा अरे द्रष्टव्यः श्रोतव्यो मन्तव्यो निदिध्यासितव्यः ॥ बृहदारण्यक उपनिषत् २-४-७ ॥

उपनिषत्s makes it very clear. The first stage is to receive the teaching.

ii) Then comes the second stage of ज्ञानयोग. As even I am receiving the teaching several doubts come in my mind, because the teacher does not want the student to believe what he says, it is not a matter of believing but this is called a matter of knowing. Where knowing is involved, बुद्धि is involved and बुद्धि will not accept something unless it is convinced. It should be logical. It will be keeping with my day-to-day experience. If I say this is an elephant, what will you do? Since स्वामिजि is saying it should be right. “I can take a stick and say that you nod your head. If I threaten that you should say that it is an elephant. If you say ‘OK, OK, I will accept’ and I force you to say: ‘Repeat my words, this is an elephant.’” But that does not constitute knowledge, because of in your heart of hearts you will be sympathizing with me and tell: what has happened to स्वामिजि, till now he was sensible now he is talking irrelevantly, incomprehensibly. We will go home and pray for स्वामिजि. Intellect., you can deceive everything in the world, except your intellect. If your intellect is not convinced let even भगवान् come and say, you will not accept. Therefore, this is a matter of knowing and not believing. Therefore the गुरु allows the student to think rationally and see whether his intellect is able to accept this knowledge. And if there are any doubts regarding this teaching the गुरु allows to raise any number of doubts; वेदान्त class is a place where there is no question of threatening or forcing or brainwashing or conditioning, etc., it is not communism that we are doing but it is the knowledge of my real nature. Therefore the second process of ज्ञानयोग is asking my own intellect honestly, 'Am I convinced?' Of what? I am not the body, I am not the mind but I am the eternal consciousness functioning through the body and mind and until the student is convinced the गुरु is ready for any amount of discussion. And this interaction and clarifying all doubts is called मननम्. This is the second important part of ज्ञानयोग – मननम्. By मननम् I remove all the intellectual obstacles. With this the knowledge has been converted into conviction; it is no more mere vague hypothesis or idea but is a fact for me.

iii) And then comes the third stage. Up to this I have only handled my intellect and asked whether the intellect is able to accept it and there are no more intellectual problems but that is not enough. This intellectual knowledge must be converted into emotional strength. This intellectual knowledge must be converted into emotional strength, psychological strength because it is our emotional personality which is predominantly transacting in day-to-day life. If you just study your life very rarely we use the intellect. When studying in college, whether we used it a little itself is a great doubt and that too whether it had any effect in my system is a great doubt. Only one thing was to by-heart it upside down and write it and forget it. We will get the benefit. Therefore, we very rarely use, early morning if we see, it is our emotional personality that is predominant - we are disturbed because coffee did not come or we are disturbed because the bus did not come or the car doesn't start at all or while going on the way somebody overtakes your vehicle or the road is dug and you go to office the business is dull and you find throughout the day I am agitated or I am jealous and depressed, I am anxious and I am angry and I am irritated; you find throughout the day it is a series of emotional interaction. So if I do not strengthen emotional personality the knowledge will remain isolated and in my day-to-day situations I would continue to be as bitter as before. Every moment disturbed, every moment irritated, afraid, angry, frustrated, worried, with all kinds of complexes. Therefore, if I should enjoy emotional freedom then I should free myself from all unhealthy emotional responses. I should be free from all unhealthy emotional responses. Emotional immunity is very important. Or else you will say अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि cryingly. ‘ I clearly understood that अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि but (immediately say) that my daughter is like this or my son is like that, etc. Therefore, it is one-sided only. One man came, who is in a very big position in Larsen & Toubro or some company. Just came, a very great intellectual, high IQ. As I said the other side high IQ is there, he enjoys a very important position drawing 5 of 6 figures salary but there is some misunderstanding, communication gap with his wife or child, he is so much upset and worried, he came to my room and he asked ‘shall I close the door, स्वामिजि.’ I said OK and after closing he cried for 15 minutes non-stop, I do not even know for what. I have not seen him earlier; then thereafter wards he calms down. It is not that he is not intellectually strong, well-educated, occupying position; his problem: ‘IQ is there, EQ is waiting in Q!’ It is no there at all. Only God will know when he will get it. Therefore, any amount of IQ, intellectual understanding will be useful only when you convert it into emotional strength, a rock like mind which can withstand all kinds of weather. This conversion of IQ into EQ, intellectual knowledge into psychological strength is very important otherwise the knowledge does not help practically. This conversion is like going from one country to another country. You have got plenty of rupees in America. You might be the richest person, the rupees will not useful there. You have to convert it into dollars. If you come here from there, you have to convert from dollars to rupees. So correspondingly change, corresponding exchange. Similarly, here also knowledge must be converted into mental strength. This is the third and final and important stage which is called निदिध्यासनम्. I have to study what are my emotional weakness? Many people have so many varieties of complexes; therefore, what all complexes I have and in the light of knowledge I should see all these unhealthy responses are meaningless one, born out of ignorance. Somebody said that all the negative emotions are developed in the dark room of ignorant mind. All negatives are developed in the dark room. Similarly, in us also, all the negatives – कामः, क्रोधः, लोभः, मोहः, मदः, मात्सर्यः, राग, द्वेषः, भय, all negatives are developed in the dark mind of ignorance. And once a person has gone through the third stage of निदिध्यासनम् then he has converted his ज्ञानम् into स्थिरप्रज्ञ.

Through श्रवणम् and मननम् he gets प्रज्ञ; through निदिध्यासनम् he converts प्रज्ञ into स्थिरप्रज्ञ. Therefore कृष्ण wants to deal with two topics in this portion and one topic is how to convert प्रज्ञ into स्थिरप्रज्ञ and another thing is after converting into स्थिरप्रज्ञ what type of mind you will enjoy. That mind is called जीवन्मुक्ति. In fact, जीवन्मुक्ति is a light mind, enjoyable mind, lovely mind, a mind which is not burdensome. Many people think ज्ञानि means no mind; ज्ञानि has no mind and he keeps on talking. All thoughtless talks, how will it be and moreover somebody else is taking notes of it. Better than that, one can go to the mental hospital and take notes! Therefore ज्ञानि is not without mind, ज्ञानि is free from burdensome mind, ignorant mind, problematic mind is not there and his mind is so light that he is not aware of its presence. Is this not true? Any part of the body that is healthy you are not aware of it. Isn't it like that? If all the knee joints are working you will not be aware of its existence. But when it has started giving problems then you will become aware of it. Then it will draw your attention and tell you: 'take care of me, take care of me.'

whatever is fit you do not feel its presence. There is a Chinese proverb: 'when the shoe fits shoe is not known at all.' You feel that you are walking with bare feet; Similarly, you feel the presence of mind as long as there are worries and anxieties and fears. For a ज्ञानि, since all these are not there, it is so light that you will not feel its presence; therefore it is said, ज्ञानि has मनोनाश. But really speaking it is not; ज्ञानि enjoys a wonderful mind. What is that wonderful mind? कृष्ण is going to tell hereafter. Now look at the श्लोक.

i) What is the first trait of a ज्ञानि? It says: आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. Very important line. Very important line. आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. A ज्ञानि is one who is happy with himself. He is self-sufficient. He does not require any external factor to be happy. He might require external factors to provide food, that is a different thing; physical dependencies may be there for food, clothing, shelter but as far as his emotional being is concerned he is not going to go with a begging bowl asking each and everyone whether you will take care of me. As I said the other day, his life is for giving love and care but his life is not for begging for love and care. What a wonderful life. As long as I beg there will be sanctions. You know what is sanction? Constant blackmail. Like minority governments trouble will be there. You are never at ease with yourselves. And ज्ञानि's advantage is आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. If you come, welcome; if you go, goodbye. Not only with regards to things and situations with regard to beings also. Why, even with regard to his own physical body, he does not depend upon even his physical condition; if I am going to depend upon my physical condition I cannot accept my old age, I cannot accept my grey hair or I cannot accept my bald head, I cannot accept my wrinkles because my happiness is dependent on physical condition. But ज्ञानि is one who does not depend upon any factor. Why? He has got indigenous happiness. That is why, people say, we are not bothered about sanctions, we are all self-sufficient. To politicians they say, we are OK.

So this is the first indication of ज्ञानम्, Self-sufficiency. Self-contentment.

ii) And once there is fullness within myself, what is the natural consequences? कृष्ण says सर्व काम त्यागः renunciation of all expectations, all desires because desire is born out of what? वेदान्त has diagnosed the problem, why the desire comes? Very simple. It is like a person looking for a walking stick. Why does he look for a walking stick? Because his legs are not strong enough to stand on their own legs and therefore to complete myself I require a stick. Similarly, when I don't see myself as a complete person and I think that only when there is a house or a wife or a child, that too a male child, (all girls only, one boy at least or else my life is incomplete), children are there but grandchildren are not there; my neighbor has got it but I do not have it therefore it makes me incomplete; something or the other desire is there; my eyes see the अपूर्णत्वम्. काम is not a disease in itself, it is a symptom of the sense of incompleteness. And in the case of a ज्ञानि, he never sees himself as incomplete, आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. Therefore I do not require any thing to complete myself. I may use the things of the world but I do not need those things. I have often said, using a thing is different from needing a thing. Like a person who goes for morning walk, they use a baton - a small 1 foot or 1-1/2 thing which is usually used by the policeman, just keeps it for stylish walk, he uses the stick but does not need it as a prop. How do you know that? Because even when the stick falls nothing happens, he is able to retain his balance. Whereas when he uses a walking stick as a support, he needs that support; the moment that support falls, he also falls. ज्ञानि also may have people around him or various other things also; for a ज्ञानि all of them are like the small 2 feet baton which he just enjoys waving. But for all other people, every object, is a mental walking stick. If it falls, shattered. That thing falls, he is shattered; this thing falls, he is shattered. So कामः means dependencies born out of sense of incompleteness. And all these dependencies सर्वान् कामान् प्रजहाति because of his mental strength. And where are these कामाः? मनोगतान् all these countless numbers, wriggle in the mind, like worms, they are wriggling all over, torturing, inflicting pains and all those cleaned up not because he forced the desire away, that is called suppression, forcibly saying NO to things is suppression; dropping of the desire must come out of the discovery of पूर्णत्वम्. It should naturally happen. Like when the fruit comes all the flower petals fall away. Similarly, all these desires should fall because of the discovery of पूर्णत्वम्. And this is called काम त्यागः. This is the second trait of a स्थितप्रज्ञ. First trait is he is happy with himself; not that he will be laughing alone, do not think like that! He is not a mad person. Inside there is a sense of पूर्णत्वम्; expressed when people are around, unexpressed when there is nobody. More in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

We have come to the 4th and the final topic of the 2nd chapter, viz., the topic of स्थिरप्रज्ञ. And this topic is given as an answer to अर्जुन's question and अर्जुन's question is: suppose a person goes through all the साधनs prescribed in the scriptures and becomes a ज्ञानि, well established ज्ञानि, how will he face the situations of life and how will he respond to various situations of life? In संस्कृत, we say स्थितप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि. लक्षणम् means a natural trait. Spontaneous trait is called trait. What is the लक्षणम्'s of स्थिरप्रज्ञ? And before a person becomes a स्थिरप्रज्ञ he has to go to three stages of life, the first stage is by following a religious lifestyle, by following a life of कर्मयोग he must purify the mind which is the first stage of चित्तशुद्धि, otherwise called ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्तिः. So through कर्मयोग one has to become ज्ञानयोग्यः which is the first stage and thereafter he has to study the scriptures especially the Vedantic scriptures he has to systematically and consistently study under the guidance of a competent गुरु which is called श्रवण-मननम् which is the second stage and through this stage a person becomes प्रज्ञः. So first stage is ज्ञानयोग्यः and then by receiving the teaching from a competent आचार्य he should become a प्रज्ञ, which means he has got conviction in the teaching of the वेदान्त. But even this प्रज्ञ status is not enough, because the knowledge remains at the intellectual level and therefore in the third stage he has to convert the intellectual knowledge into emotional strength, because throughout the life, it is our emotional personality that is interacting. If you analyze our life from morning till night every situation is only straightly attacking our emotional personality either creating irritation or creating depression or jealousy or anger, it is our emotional personality which is standing out. Even when we come to the class and somebody comes late and crosses you and sits right in front of you and he is a taller person, so you have chosen a vantage point coming early at 5.30 itself, and a person comes at 6.45 and sits right on your lap, then you may feel so irritated till the class is over. You do not listen that day. That means more than the intellect it is the emotional personality which is bearing the brunt of every situation. And if that emotional personality is not transformed, knowledge will be there at one level, but in my day-to-day life I may go through the turmoil's I went through before. And therefore, if वेदान्त should be of any practical use I have to spend time converting this knowledge into emotional strength which is called प्रज्ञः to स्थिरप्रज्ञः. That means my whole personality is soaked in this knowledge to such an extent that to every moment this knowledge is available to help me out especially when there is crisis in life. Who wants वेदान्त when everything is going well? Everybody is happy even without वेदान्त. We require when there is crisis. And this process of converting प्रज्ञ into स्थिरप्रज्ञ, ज्ञानम् into ज्ञान निष्ठा is the third stage and that person who has purified, who has gained the knowledge and who has derived emotional strength from that knowledge such a person is called स्थिरप्रज्ञः, such a person is called ज्ञान निष्ठः, such a person called आत्मनिष्ठः, such a person is called जीवन्मुक्तः. He has insulated himself, like a person who has insulated his hands and legs can touch a live wire and it will not shock him. Similarly, this person has insulated himself by ज्ञानम् glove, the glove of ज्ञानम् he has used on himself, nothing in life shocks him. And अर्जुन wants to know what is the conduct of such a person. And कृष्ण has started giving the answer from 55th and first main definition that he gives is: आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः, ज्ञानि is independent of external factors to be happy, to be fulfilled; he has attained emotional independence. Physical dependence everybody has got, there is dependence on food, clothing, shelter, we are not talking of physical dependence, emotionally ज्ञानि is independent of external factors, he is happy with himself. And when there is emotional independence, he does not want to hold on to anything, just as a person who has a broken leg is physically dependent on a wheel chair or a walker or a stick, how long he will hold on to this walker? Until he finds strength, once he has got strong legs, it is impossible for him to hold on to the stick. Naturally, he drops the stick and that is called सर्व काम त्यागः. काम means walking sticks, emotional walking sticks are called काम. House is an emotional walking stick, people all the time smiling at you is an emotional walking stick, (if somebody does not smile at you on a day, you are upset). The smile normally is two inches and today it is only one inch, I am upset, all these are emotional walking sticks which we hold on to. When I do not depend upon any of those factors I am a free person and therefore पूर्णत्वम् leads to काम त्यागः. This is the trait of a ज्ञानि. Therefore he says सर्वान् कामान् प्रजहाति. Here काम does not mean desire but here काम means (OK desire also we can take, also) the desired object, both of them. We can take the primary meaning itself – desire and where are they: in the mind wriggling like worms, wherever we go, we may be in कैलास मानसरोवर, we cannot drop it, it follows us everywhere disturbing us all the time. Therefore, he says, सर्वान् कामान् प्रजहाति, यदा when a person is able to do that, मनोगतान् कामान्. Because of what: not grapes are sour renunciation; two types of renunciation are there

- i) one is I tried, the grapes are sour and
- ii) I am not able to reach and therefore I gave up, but that giving up is not real one because the desire continues potentially, somebody plucks it and brings, I jump at it.

Like somebody going to ऋषीकेश because of some problem at home. One month there and they will comeback. Therefore it is not born out of suppression, oppression or because of somebody's words, it should come out of maturity and one who is mature and desireless is स्थिरप्रज्ञः. Therefore the first definition is one who is independent, the second definition is one who is desireless. Now here, the word desireless must be understood very clearly. Because in the शास्त्रs, they talk about two types of desires, one type of desire comes under ‘allowed.’ Like cholesterol, there are two varieties: HDL and LDL, one of them is allowed variety, not only allowed, it is good also they say. Another one is only dangerous. Similarly, among desires also we have got allowed-one and not-allowed one. Therefore we should clearly know what is allowed so that we can happily enjoy those desires. What are those desires which are allowed? They are those desires which fulfill 3 conditions, if those three conditions are fulfilled those desires are allowed. What are they? All the 3 are important conditions.

1. They must be legitimate desires. One is legitimate desire, which we call धार्मिक desire. Like a desire of a parent that a child should grow well. And the child should be well educated. And I should be able to do my duty towards my children and I want to fulfill my duties which is a very very legitimate desire, शास्त्र is allowed desire, In fact, I have to fulfill them, that is legitimate. Similarly, I want to buy a house, I want to buy certain things, by earning money legitimately, that is also legitimate. Only when I try to steal that is problem. Therefore the first condition is legitimate.

2. The second condition is moderation. What we mean by ‘moderate’ is this, when a person’s worldly desires go to such a level that his whole life is dedicated to only material pursuits, that he has no time to contact his spiritual centre. Because शास्त्र says however much you are busy, you must be able to spend some time to contact your spiritual personality, invoke your spiritual personality, you should be able to allot some time for spirituality. It may be study of scriptures, it may be reflection on what you have studied, or it may be a reading a spiritual book, or it may be interacting with a spiritual person, it is not enough that you spend time only earning money and providing for your family, you should have time for invoking the आत्मा. Because every human being is a mixture of both spiritual and material personality, a life dedicated to only material gains is a lop-sided approach. And therefore if the desires go beyond a limit, i.e., so much absorbed, he goes out of the spiritual centre, he loses the spiritual balance, it is a dangerous life. It's like a person going round and round when the speed reaches a particular intensity then the centripetal force they say, you know, that takes him out of the centre which is not good. Whatever you do, I must be able to remember that these are all impermanent and these are all incidental, whether it is body or money or all these things, our real pursuit and real personality is the spiritual. Therefore the second condition is what: providing time for spirituality, you do anything. You have hundred factories we do not care, you travel all over the world we do not care, वेदान्त doesn't want to restrict you, but what वेदान्त says is whatever you do like a cyclist, whatever you do you should not forget the centre of gravity, the balance. Because that is your core personality. Therefore, let not your worldly roles carry you away from the real centre. Therefore what is the second condition of desires: Have any amount, but you should have time, quality time for spiritual invocation, श्रवणम् or मननम् or निदिध्यासनम् about which we will see more, In fact, that you are finding time for गीता class itself is great. Otherwise, you will be without time for that also. You will say that I have to go there, go here, etc., etc. Therefore minimum you should keep coming to गीता class. Let me make sure that I can talk to you. Or else it would be off the hands. So this is the second condition: fulfill all your desires ~ wonderful, legitimate desires ~ wonderful, but have time for spirituality. Some prayer, more about I will discuss later, some basic spiritual disciplines कृष्ण himself will talk about, we should find time for that. Now minimum is continuing the गीता class. OK. More I will tell later. This is the second condition.

3. The third condition is very important condition. All these desires i.e., the moderate and legitimate desires should be non-binding desires which is very difficult but important condition. I will explain it. The third condition is convert your desires into non-binding desires or to put in another language convert your desires into preferences. What is the differences non-binding and binding desires? The difference is this. When a desire is a binding desire it has the potentiality to upset you, to afflict you because when I have a binding desire, naturally I tried to fulfill that desires but whether the desire will be fulfilled or not is not totally under my control. As we saw before, कर्मणि एव अधिकारः ते मा फलेषु कदाचन. I can have wonderful plans for my child, 'what all he should do? He should become a doctor, an engineer, this, that, etc. And then he should earn 5 or 6 figure salary and then when I am old, he should take me around the world, all these plans' and this boy is interested in totally something else. I want to become Tendulkar. I am not saying it is wrong. He has got a totally different desire or he becomes a संन्यासि. So every संन्यासि's parents had wonderful dreams about their child, so therefore, any dream can be shattered because we are not omniscient and omnipotent, that means a binding काम is a bomb, a time-bomb which can disturb me at any time. And therefore you have to defuse that bomb by proper understanding and what is that understanding? I have got this desire and I will work for that very well also and I will seek the grace of the Lord also but in spite of all these things, there are chances that they are not fulfilled or they are not fulfilled to the extent that I want. And when such a situation happens I am mentally prepared to take that also. This mental preparedness is defusing the bomb. This mental preparedness even when you plan to watch a TV program, football match, or US Open final, or Wimbledon final or a movie, whatever it is, you have prepared from early morning with popcorn, because you cannot watch the TV without doing something, most important preparation you have to keep on putting, you make sure that no guest comes, you switch on and power goes away. Be ready every time you plan for a TV program, every time you plan for a class. We can try, if we do try we can do all those things. This mental preparation born out of wisdom is converting the काम into non-binding काम. And in शास्त्र such a काम is called शुद्ध कामः. शुद्ध काम is a desire which fulfils these three conditions.

- Condition No.1 legitimate,
- Condition No.2, moderate,
- Condition No.3 non-binding.

And if all these 3 conditions are there and that काम is शुद्ध काम, you have any number of शुद्ध कामs, no harm. Even ज्ञानिs have शुद्ध कामs, because of the desire of शङ्कराचार्य alone, he could write a भाष्यम्, he wanted to bless the humanity, help the humanity, it was also a desire. Why शङ्कराचार्य, even भगवान् had a desire, वेद itself says: सो कामयत, सः means भगवान्, भगवान् when he got bored, when he was sitting alone thought one day that he will create a drama,

सोऽकामयत । बहुस्यां प्रजायेयेति । स तपोऽतप्यत ।

स तपस्तप्त्वा । इदं सर्वमसृजत । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-६-४ ॥

In that particular context only शङ्कराचार्य writes a beautiful भाष्यम्, he asks a question, if भगवान् also has a desire, isn't he also bound? Because here in the 2nd chapter, ज्ञानि is defined as desireless, how come the वेदs say that भगवान् has desires. शङ्कराचार्य himself raises this question and he answers saying that भगवान्'s and ज्ञानि's कामs are शुद्ध कामः, they are fulfilled ~ wonderful, not fulfilled ~ OK. It is like a cricket game, you always remember this example, a five match series is there, three matches they have won and wrapped up the series and then how will they play the 4th and 5th match. That is called ज्ञानि's लक्षण. If you want to understand a ज्ञानि, just watch the 4th match, in the 4th match they will play well, enjoy the game, so many records have to be broken; the 7th catch behind the wicket; 27th catch just before the line, statistics, they work for the statistics alright, but आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. Victory is bonus. No victory, cup is with us. This is a ज्ञानि. For those people, only the 4th match is like that but for a ज्ञानि, the whole life is like that, he plays very well, not that he is so full that therefore he is without motives, no, the 4th match they play very well. Similarly, ज्ञानि has got motive coming from him to work hard but that motives is without a sting. So whatever happens, it does not hurt him. And therefore, प्रजहाति यदा कामान् means प्रजहाति यदा अशुद्ध कामान्, ज्ञानि renounces all अशुद्ध कामs, whatever कामs he has they are शुद्ध. This is an important verse. Whole section is important. Why I say this is important is rest of the verses are all commentary upon this verse alone. This is सूत्र श्लोकः and all the other verses are व्याख्यान श्लोकs. Continuing;

Verse No .56

दुःखेष्वनुद्विग्नमनाः सुखेषु विगतस्पृहः ।

वीतरागभयक्रोधः स्थितधीर्मुनिरुच्यते ॥ २-५६॥

दुःखेषु अनुद्विग्न-मनाः सुखेषु विगत-स्पृहः ।

वीत-राग-भय-क्रोधः स्थितधीः मुनिः उच्यते ॥ २-५६॥

दुःखेषु अनुद्विग्न-मनाः, सुखेषु विगत-स्पृहः, वीत-राग-भय-क्रोधः मुनिः स्थितधीः उच्यते ।

So how does a ज्ञानि respond to situations in life? And that too unfavorable situations. So from this it is very clear that ज्ञानि also cannot avoid unfavorable situations. Not that by becoming ज्ञानि I can avoid painful or difficult situation, because ज्ञानि or अज्ञानि we are all born with our own प्रारब्ध कर्म, very birth is because of प्रारब्ध, so until death happens पुण्यम् and पापम् are going to affect, ज्ञानि may not create fresh पुण्य-पापम्, he does not acquire आगामि कर्म, I hope you remember आगामि, सञ्चित, etc., (or else I have to take it as my कर्म) so ज्ञानि does not add to his fresh कर्मs, आगामि कर्मs, remember whatever कर्मs he has acquired when he was ignorant before they are going to impinge on him in the form of favorable and unfavorable situations. When they come what happens? He says, अनुद्विग्न-मनाः. ज्ञानि's mind is so emotionally strong and he has got a shock absorber called ज्ञानम्. He has insulation called ज्ञानम् or with a good shock absorber. How will it be when we travel in our roads? The disturbances are minimal. So disturbances are minimal. How do you know that? We can easily grade. All these things do not suddenly happen. It is all a gradual growth, as even we learn to assimilate this teaching the mind does not become strong overnight but it becomes gradually strong. How to measure the strength of the mind? Is गीता really going inside me, how to know? I will give you a measuring method, but again I warn you this must be used for measuring yourselves not your friend or family members, it is abuse, just to check yourselves or introspection.

i) The number of things or the frequency of mental disturbances becomes lesser and lesser. Previously in a day, 10 times to 15 times I get disturbed because of son's behavior, wife's behavior, daughter's behavior, policeman's behavior, that person's behavior, the number of things that disturb you that becomes lesser and lesser, that means the frequency of mental disturbance should become lesser gradually. In fact, for some people once in a while they are calm! Generally they are irritated or irritable. They are just waiting to jump. So it should change to once in a while irritated. Therefore the frequency should become lesser. You can have a diary also to just note the frequency. I do not mean anger alone, any emotion.

ii) Second thing is the intensity of the mental disturbance. How to measure the intensity of mental disturbance? When it is of lesser intensity it just creates a small ripple of reaction in the mind and then it goes away. But when the intensity of the mental disturbance increases then it begins to overflow into our वाक् – the organ of the speech, that the words also are affected. I use powerful words and hurt other people, I curse, I do this, I shout all those things, that is the mental disturbance is overflowing from मनः into वाक्. And if it is still more intense, from वाक् इन्द्रियम् it overflows to the physical body also, that the body is shivering and some people feel heavy gasping and all, some people gnash their teeth, lips are shivering, as अर्जुन said

सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि मुखं च परिशुष्यति ।

वेपथुश्च शरीरि मे रोमहर्षश्च जायते ॥ १-२९॥

When there is lesser intensity mind alone is affected, when there is more intensity mind and वाक् are affected, when there is maximum intensity it affects मनः, वाक् and काय - शरीरम्. From that we can know to what extent assimilation is taking place. So what is the second test? Intensity. What is the first test? Frequency.

iii) So what is the third test? When I am disturbed or affected by an adverse or unfavorable situation, how much time I take to recover or come back to balance? The recovery period, the balancing period. So when the intensity is more and the weakness of the mind is also more, when I have a strong weakness, s t r o n g weakness, then it does not recover it becomes a trauma even. It is so deep that the whole day I am upset and sometime whole week I am upset, sometime whole month I am upset, sometime whole year I am upset, sometime whole decade I am upset, sometime whole life I am upset, that is the recovery period that also should become lesser and lesser.

This is the sign of knowledge getting converted into emotional strength, the more emotionally strong the mind is the lesser will be these three. These three means what: the frequency, the intensity and the recovery period of the mental disturbance. And a ज्ञानि is one who has got a good strong mind. Therefore दुःखेषु अनुद्विग्न-मनाः. Similarly, the disturbance can be because of unfavorable situations, sometimes the disturbance can also be because of favorable situations also. That is also an excitement. Excitement can be because of negative things, excitement can be because of positive things also. I told you the other day. One person was contesting the elections, 27 times he failed, but still like that Robert Bruce, he just and he never thought that he will win the 28th time, he himself was surprised that he has won and got so excited that he got heart attack and died. Heart attack can come because of positive excitement also, therefore वेदान्त says both types of excitement are not healthy. Both types are not healthy, because even biologically it is not good to get over excited. So who is a ज्ञानि? सुखेषु विगतस्पृहः. Even when there are favorable conditions he is not carried away. So विगत-स्पृहः means he is dispassionate, he is balanced. And in short, वीत-रग-भय-क्रोधः, so वीतः means free from; free from these basic emotional problems, first one is रगः, emotional dependence or attachment, which is the basic problem, we saw in the 1st chapter itself. If you remember the very definition of संसार, I told three, do you remember, रगः, शोकः and मोहः, first one is रगः, रगः means not काम्बोजि, कल्याणि, तोडि etc., this is वेदान्त रग, रग means attachment. Therefore ज्ञानि is free from attachment. And when I say free from attachment, you should remember as pointed out in the 1st chapter, attachment is different from love, love is a positive wonderful trait which वेदान्त glorifies but attachment is that which is criticized by वेदान्त. And I told you three differences, to remind you briefly:

* Attachment comes out of weakness or dependence. In weak mind, that is depending which is expressing in the form of attachment and since it is based on dependence, attachment is always expecting. In attachment I always think what will I get out of this relationship? I am not much bothered about what the other person will get but what will I get, therefore it is more self-centered, more expectation based, it comes out of a weak mind, whereas love means that which comes from a strong mind. Therefore, love comes out of mental strength, therefore it is not primarily based on what I alone get but I am equally interested in what the other person gets out of relationship. That is the first difference. Expectation based. It always think of what I can get. The other one thinks what I can give. One is getting based, another is giving based.

* The second important thing is in attachment, since I want to get the benefit from the other person, I want to control the other person because it is for my benefit I am keeping the relationship and therefore I want to keep control, it is control based. I never want to give freedom to the other person, whereas in I love basically understand that everybody is seeking freedom, just as I do not want to be controlled by anyone, it is improper me to control everyone, therefore the relationship should lead to the freedom of the other person. In love my goal is giving more and more freedom to the person loved. In attachment the goal is controlling more more of the other person. Bear-hug. And kill the person because of that possessiveness. Very difficult. This is second difference. Here we say ज्ञानि has got love but what कृष्ण says he is free from रागः. Details we will see in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 02, VERSES 56-57

In this final part of the 2nd chapter अर्जुन wanted to know about the स्थितप्रज्ञ or स्थिरप्रज्ञ, the one who has got आत्मज्ञानम् and the one who has assimilated this आत्मज्ञानम्. How does such a person conduct himself in his life and when different occasions come, in what way his response is different from an ordinary अज्ञानि? In short to put in single language: is there any practical benefit for गीता study, because nobody is interested in studying गीता merely for academic benefit. We want to know whether there will be any practical benefit in life? This is अर्जुन's question for which कृष्ण begins his answer from verse no.55 onwards and this goes on till the end of this chapter, this is the well-known स्थिरप्रज्ञ portion of the भगवद्गीता, a very important portion, worth getting by-heart and remembering. And in the last class, I pointed out that a person comes to the level of स्थिरप्रज्ञ by going through two stages, i) the first stage is a religious life, known as कर्मयोग by which he attains a pure mind which we call ज्ञानयोग्यता. Everybody has to necessarily go through this religious life of कर्मयोग to prepare the mind.

ii) And the second stage is consistent and comprehensive study of the scriptures which is a compulsory process, every seeker has to go through which is technically known as वेदान्त श्रवणम् and मननम्, about which I will elaborate later or in a simple language, वेदान्त विचारः, scriptural analysis. This is also a compulsory stage of साधन. Otherwise called ज्ञानयोग also, nobody can escape. Even though there is a very wide misconception that in कलियुग we can avoid ज्ञानयोग, in कलियुग we can avoid scriptural study and attain the goal through alternative methods, that is not traditionally accepted, it is not scripturally accepted, nobody can circumvent ज्ञानयोग. Therefore the second stage is ज्ञानयोग, otherwise called श्रवण-मननम्, otherwise called वेदान्त विचारः. In fact, what you are doing now is ज्ञानयोग, systematic, consistent study of the scriptures. It is not a stray talk on a stray subject. We are developing systematically. Such a study is called ज्ञानयोग. And by this ज्ञानयोग a person becomes a प्रज्ञः or ज्ञानि. So by the second stage, a person becomes प्रज्ञः, otherwise called ज्ञानि through which there is an intellectual conviction regarding the teaching of this scriptures and that intellectual conviction is that I do not need any external help to be complete. I must be convinced because at present our strong notion is: “To be happy I require so many things around.” And this is so strong that we are not even ready to question this basic premise but वैदान्त attacks the basic premise and asks the question: “Do you really require things to be happy?.” I do require things for survival. We are not mixing up survival-requirement and happiness and security requirement. If survival requirements are identical with happiness requirement then all rich people who have got all the gadgets and houses, they must be the happiest people. In fact, many of the richest people committed suicide out of frustration. So from this it is very clear that we should not mix up survival requirements and happiness requirements. We have a notion that we require too many things to be happy. By systematic Vedantic study, I should be intellectually convinced that I don’t require anything to be secure, to be fulfilled, to be happy, to be fearless, to be anxiety free and to be self-sufficient. This is an intellectual transformation which दयानन्द स्वामिजि called (in our last series of talk, ‘Need For Cognitive Change.’ It is a cognitive process which we may call intellectual conviction. So ज्ञानयोग्यता to प्रज्ञः - two stages and

iii) Then we have to go to the third stage where this intellectual conviction should be converted into emotional strength, emotional immunity because it is the emotional personality which is facing the brunt of various situations, that is why most of the time, even though our IQ is very high, as I said the other day, but EQ is terribly wanting. Very intelligent person but most of the time upset because the set-up is not alright. Set-up changed, what happens? Set-up. Up Set. Therefore the moment there is a slightest disturbance in the set-up, the class is changed from the ground to the temple it is enough for some people to get disturbed. Therefore, I should have that emotional strength not to get upset by the set-up and this conversion of intellectual conviction into emotional strength is called the process of निदिध्यासनम्, which कृष्ण will talk about briefly in this chapter and He will talk about it elaborately in the 6th chapter. Therefore कर्मयोग, then ज्ञानयोग, then निदिध्यासन. Preparation of mind, intellectual conviction, emotional fortification. And a person who has successfully gone through these three stages has gone from ज्ञानयोग्य to प्रज्ञः to स्थिरप्रज्ञः. And how does he respond to the situation, what are his natural traits अर्जुन wanted to know. कृष्ण is enumerating them.

a) The first thing that He said was प्रजहाति यदा कामान्, all expectations are dropped. Because expectations come out of self insufficiency, I look for a crutch because I am not able to stand on my own feet. Suppose you have to get up, there are some people who look for wall to get up they look for some hold because they do not have enough strength, therefore I look for a wall. Therefore every expectation comes out of an incomplete mind. A non-self-sufficient mind, an अपूर्ण mind. Therefore a ज्ञानि is one who doesn't have any expectations from a thing, from a being, from a set-up. This is called काम त्यागः. This is the first trait of, natural trait of a जीवन्मुक्त. And because of this natural trait, what difference do we find, कृष्ण himself tells later, when the expectations are not fulfilled I am bound to get upset. So every expectation is a risky thing because every expectation is potential sorrow. I expect my son to be like this, my wife to be like this, my daughter to be like this, I don't want anyone as they are or he is, I want everyone to behave as I want. What about myself? I will behave as I like. Wonderful philosophy! I do not want anybody else to expect anything from me because I want my freedom but as long as the others are concerned, everything they do: getting up, doing this, doing that, doing this, in everything, I have expectations, one millimeter different from that I am terribly upset. If at all I ask somebody to do something, if I am suggesting it for the other person's improvement it is not expectation. If I ask anyone to do something for the other person's improvement it is a non-binding expectation, but if I want somebody to do something so that I will be comfortable it is a hooked expectation, it is a poisonous expectation. What is the difference between a poisonous expectation and a non-poisonous one? If it is a non-poisonous one, if I suggest, if you do this it is good for you and if you do not do this, better you be ready for facing the consequences. It is non-poisonous expectation, its fulfillment and non-fulfillment will not disturb me. Poisonous-expectation is: I don't ask the other person for something for their own good, even though I tell that it is for your betterment, etc., (it is all Bluff, with capital B), I will be happy only if you do that. How do I know that, if that person doesn't do that I am tremendously upset, this is called संसार? And ज्ञानि is one who has suggestions for everyone, who has advices for everyone, who has got recommendations for everyone but who has expectation from none. N O N E. none. Not nun. Therefore the first benefit is what? Drop the expectation. It cannot be forcibly dropped. Don't try to push away your expectation, it will never fade, it will never succeed, expectation should naturally drop because of the discovery of पूर्णत्वम् through knowledge. It is not that you are going to push the darkness straightaway. Suppose you try to sweep off darkness it will never work. You light up the lamp, darkness will go away. Never attack the expectations directly, you can never succeed. Go to the root cause of the expectation. The root cause is: I feel that my पूर्णत्वम् depends upon this type of behavior from these people. Therefore, self-incompleteness is the cause of expectations and by wisdom and wisdom alone that has to be knocked off and that is called काम नाशः. No.1.

b) Then the second natural trait that कृष्ण presented is: आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. He could drop all expectations because he is full and complete by himself. Not 'because.' The moment you add one because, suppose I say that I am full and final because my son listens to whatever I say, that means what: as long as my son listens to what I say, I am happy. The moment he changes, you will ask: My son did this!? The moment you hear the news we are very sure that everybody else will do and not my son. And one day the shocking news comes and shattered, therefore if I say I am full because of something there is potential danger, ज्ञानि is one who says I am full because I am 'I.' Fire is hot because of what? What will you answer? Because it is fire. If I say why is water hot, there is a reason for water being hot, because it is in contact with something and the moment it is because of something and when that something goes away water will go cold. Similarly, as long as my happiness depends on external factors, I am in potential danger, ज्ञानि's happiness is because of what: 'I am happy' because that is my nature. And how did he know that: because of consistent ज्ञानयोगः. Therefore what is the second trait? आत्म-तुष्टि, Self-sufficiency.

c) Then in the 56th श्लोक, the third natural trait, in संस्कृत it is called लक्षणम्, the third स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणम् was pointed out, समत्वम्, equanimity, poised state of mind, in spite of external turbulences. The mind is generally calm, the disturbances gradually recede. I gave you three experiments to find out whether I am getting emotional strength through गीता Study, 3 experiments I gave.

Look at the frequency of the disturbance, how often you are disturbed during the day, you can start a diary also, initially you will have to ask the question the other way around, how often I was peaceful. Or else the diary will not be enough. So start with when was I peaceful. Between 2 and 3. When I was sitting in meditation or sometime when others were sitting in meditation I get peace! That's why I always say that you should all practice meditation, because, if not you, at least others will get peace of mind when you meditate. At least some time they will be peaceful. So initially we start with higher frequency by that frequency is reduced.

The second is intensity of emotional disturbance. How do you know the intensity? In intense disturbance it is not only attacking the mind, it affects my expressions and even it flows into my physical body, physically I am disturbed as अर्जुन was. And when the intensity is less, physical disturbances are less but verbally I go on talking, sometime even when nobody is there, lonely, alone, talking to oneself. So much inside. And when still lesser intensity, verbal and physical expressions are gone, it is at the mental level it disturbs, but you don't disturb others. It is a silent disturbance. So intensity is less.

Finally the recovery time also becomes lesser. Previously the disturbance flows into hours, why hours, days and months and years and some time decades, even after 25 years also if one utters the name of that person one gets disturbed. That day he did like that! I can never forgive him. And sometime they tell about that person to me, they will start cursing me also! From third person, they start abusing you. It might be extreme agitation. You might be criticizing someone. But he/she, they will start telling and in the end they will start telling: Where is YOUR बुद्धि, as if I am at fault! And I am fearsome that somebody nearby will listen to this and think it is about me!! And if I ask them to stop, they will get too wild also because they are agitated so much. I only pray at that time, nobody should be around. They say: You do not have any sense at all. You do not keep quiet, etc.!! They are talking about their father-in-law or mother-in-law!! But temporarily I become the mother-in-law of that person!! So therefore recovery period also becomes less and less.

If frequency, intensity and recovery time of emotional disturbances become lesser and lesser and lesser and a time comes, when it is practically nil or it is almost insignificant. कृष्ण will tell in the 6th chapter, गुरुणा अपि दुःखेन न विचाल्यते ॥ ६-२२॥. Even the greatest tragedy in life, for one second he may ask: Whaaaaaaaat? Next moment he will say: So What? Only two words: from प्रज्ञ to स्थिरप्रज्ञ. When he says Whaaaat, you will think that he is going to have an attack, but he immediately says: So What, I will recover and carry on life. So कृष्ण said दुःखेषु अनुद्विग्न-मनाः, the unfavorable situations do not disturb his mind too much. And also सुखेषु विगत-स्पृहः and he is not carried away by favorable situations also, because we should remember when there are favorable situations we can enjoy, there is nothing wrong in it, but even when we enjoy favorable situations we should know that this is also subject to arrival and departure. We should not forget the truth of anything, once the discriminative power is clouded, it is getting carried away. Even pleasurable situations should not cloud my discriminative power; what is the discriminative power: every situation in life is subject to arrival and departure. Therefore, I do not want to become an addict to the favorable situation also, so that when the favorable situation also goes I am ready to face that also. That is called सुखेषु विगत-स्पृहः, he is not carried away, he enjoys but not carried away. Up to this we saw in the last class. And then in the 2nd line he adds some more. The first line is समत्वम्. So this is the third trait of the जीवन्मुक्त or स्थिरप्रज्ञः.

Then he says, वीतरागभयक्रोधः. Every verse is very important, because it is useful for self-introspection. So राग means attachment, dependence is called रागः which is the fundamental trait of संसारः. In the 1st Chapter I said रागः, शोकः and मोहः, but here कृष्ण is presenting differently. There रागः, शोकः and मोहः, here it is रागः, भयः and क्रोधः, another route of संसार, both are संसार, former is one route of संसार and later is another route. रागः means dependence, attachment, psychological leaning. What is wrong with that? What is wrong? भयम्, the more I am dependent the more I feel insecure. The more I am dependent. the more I feel insecure because, whatever I depend upon in the world that itself is insecure. Other than God, other than God every blessed thing in the world is insecure by itself. And the fundamental mistake I commit is as an insecure person I am trying to hold on to another insecure. Insecurity plus insecurity is equal to security? What sort of arithmetic it is I do not know. Insecurity plus insecurity is equal to more insecurity; insecurity squared. This is the fundamental mistake in our very approach to life, that is why we are not able to solve our problems not because we lack our effort, we lack direction. It is like a person who wants to go to a महाराज, not departmental store and then he says: स्वामिजि I walked for hours and I never reached, भगवान् is without compassion. (for our failure भगवान् has to take the shots!!!)

I have done so much and I have never achieved anything. Then I ask him, 'In which direction you walked?.' 'I went in that direction.' So if you walk in the wrong direction not only your effort will not reach you to your destination, on the other hand you're going away from destination. That's why, we use the word प्रयत्नः in संस्कृत. यत्नः, means effort. That प्र prefix is very important. प्र means proper direction. In English also proper is coming. What is proper? Right direction. What is right direction? An insecure person should hold on to, if at all he wants to hold on to, he should hold on to a secure one. As they say, 'if you want to hold on to, you have to hold on to a tamarind branch, not a mango branch, otherwise you will fall along with mango branch.' That tamarind branch is भगवान्. Until you discover security in yourselves hold on to the ever secure Lord. But an unintelligent person neither discovers security in himself or herself nor tries to hold on to the Lord but he goes on holding on to more and more insecure ones, like a drowning man holding to a grass. This is called रागः. Unintelligent dependence is called रागः. It will only increase insecurity. Therefore the consequence is what: भयम्. What should I do, instead of feeling secure now I am worried about the security of the companion. And the companion is worried about my security. And both of them are worried about the security of the next one. Whole thing goes like that. यत्र यत्र रागः तत्र तत्र भयम्. This is our basic emotion. There is constant fear running in our mind. That is why any telegram comes, what will we think first, who is out? यत्र यत्र telegram, तत्र तत्र somebody out. We have generalized that rule. Why can't you think about a wonderful news? Why because, that indicates what is there in our deep subconscious. Therefore, रागः leads to भयम्.

Then what is the next one. क्रोधः, anger. Directly proportional to रागः is anger. Because when I want to hold on to something, I find there are so many obstacles to that. And every obstacle makes me angry. I want that person to be with me whereas that person wants to be away from me. I get angry. Therefore, रागः leads to भयम्. भयम् leads to क्रोधः. These three are as though brothers and ज्ञानि has got out of रागः, because of his self-sufficiency, he does not have emotional dependence. Where रागः नास्ति तत्र भयम् नास्ति. अभयम् प्रतिष्ठाम् विन्दते. By मोक्ष we are thinking that we have to go to some other लोक, by मोक्ष we think that we have to wear कावि, मोक्ष means we think what one has to grow the beard, it is not like that. कृष्ण defines मोक्ष as अभयम्. तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् defines मोक्षम् as:

यदा ह्येवैष एतस्मिन्नुदरमन्तरम् कुरुते । अथ तस्य भयम् भवति ।

तत्वेव भयम् विदुषोऽमन्वानस्य । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-७-१॥

As long as there is Self-ignorance भयम् cannot be avoided. Self-knowledge is the only way to fearlessness. Therefore, the fourth, fifth and sixth traits of a ज्ञानि are freedom from रागः, भयः and क्रोधः. रागः भयः क्रोधः अभाव. वीतः means freedom. As even we describe the benefit of गीता study, very tempting isn't it. That is कृष्ण's aim. You should be tempted to study गीता, because the benefit is: freedom from anxiety, fear, emotional dependencies etc. How wonderful it is! And such a person, स्थितधीः मुनिः इति उच्यते. Such a person is a मुनिः, a sage. So therefore whether a person is sage or not does not depend upon his external attire, when we say sage we think that he is in forest, he should have beard, जटा should be there, he should be sitting with closed eyes, he should have a 'T-दण्ड' keeping one hand on it etc. This is the picture we have. कृष्ण says external transformations do not guarantee freedom from संसार but the internal transformation gives freedom and one who has brought about this internal transformation he is a sage even though he is a family man, even though he is very much world of activity, he might be coated, booted and suited but still he will be a मुनिः. मननात् मुनिः. मुनिः means one who has got the right knowledge. मननात् मुनिः. And how did he become मुनिः? Because of स्थितधीः. Because of his knowledge. What type of knowledge? That knowledge which is converted into emotional strength. स्थितधीः is another word for स्थिरप्रज्ञ. Not only he is intellectually strong which means that if anybody questions his basic philosophy he is able to intellectually defend, because our scriptures are dealing with knowledge not belief, knowledge means clarity. Let anybody ask any question he has got the understanding. Not only he is intellectually sound but he has converted it into emotional strength, that he enjoys peace of mind also. Continuing;

Verse No .57

यः सर्वत्रानभिस्नेहस्तत्प्राप्य शुभाशुभम् ।

नाभिनन्दति न द्वेष्टि तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-५७॥

यः सर्वत्र अनभिस्नेहः तत् तत् प्राप्य शुभ-अशुभम् ।

न अभिनन्दति न द्वेष्टि तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-५७॥

यः सर्वत्र अनभिस्नेहः, तत् तत् शुभ-अशुभम् प्राप्य, न अभिनन्दति, न द्वेष्टि, तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ।

Continuing with the same topic, स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि. कृष्ण says a स्थिरप्रज्ञ is one who is सर्वत्र अनभिस्नेहः. The one who is free, the one who is not hooked to any person, any situation or any object, whereas an अज्ञानि is one who has got gum all over the body, suppose you do an अभिषेकः with gum, imagine that, (you need not have to do the अभिषेकः!), what will happen, wherever you go you are stuck or that sticks to you. Similarly, now our mind is so much gummed, in संस्कृत the word स्नेहः has two meanings, one is gum, that which sticks is स्नेहः. Therefore in संस्कृत, gum is स्नेहः; any oily substance, any sticky substance is called स्नेहः and attachment is also called स्नेहः. So सर्वत्र अभिस्नेहः means, his mind is so weak that anywhere he goes he wants to hold on. Anything, including a particular place in the class. If he sits 4 days in a particular place in the class, he will start telling that it is his place. This is temple's. He makes other person get up from there. He is gummed to that place that unless he sits in the place he cannot listen to the class. Can you imagine? He takes coffee for a few days and says from emotional dependence it has become a biological dependence, headache is coming. So anything and everything we get stuck. ज्ञानि is one who moves with all people, who loves everyone, who enjoys the company but at the same time he does not get stuck to anyone. That is why in those days he is called परमहंस परिव्राजकाचार्य. He freely moves loving everyone but one not stuck to anyone and this psychological freedom is called अनभिस्नेहत्वम्, that emotional freedom. Like certain gadgets which have got so many attachments with screws and with that screw you can attach and you can also detach. You can detach and keep it. But there are certain things which are riveted firmly, you cannot remove it. Similarly, ज्ञानि is one who can screw anywhere and who can unscrew. He will be coming and he will be going too. He enjoys the company of everyone but he does not miss anyone. But somebody asks: Do you miss me? He may tell yes, just not to hurt the other person. Because now in the regular life the thing is we feel wanted, that somebody should miss us. Everyone wants it written in the letter and told over the phone: that I am missing you very much. Then only he feels happiness. ज्ञानि doesn't miss anyone, for the sake of encouraging others he will tell without you the class is not good. So he will feel that he is very important, VIP. He will think that VIP is very important. For ज्ञानि it is very insignificant. So therefore सर्वत्र अनभिरुहेदः.

And तत् तत् प्राप्य शुभ-अशुभम्. Again this is important. Even a ज्ञानि faces external favorable and unfavorable situations, because a ज्ञानि may not acquire fresh पुण्य-पापम्s but a ज्ञानि also was an अज्ञानि before. He was a संसारि before in this जन्म itself or at least in the previous जन्मs. All those previous पुण्य-पापs are not going to leave a ज्ञानि. Do you remember what कर्म it is? In तत्त्वबोध, it is said प्रारब्ध कर्म. He doesn't acquire आगामि कर्म but he has to face प्रारब्ध कर्म. It is like switching of a fan, even after you switch off the fan because of its intensity of the movement the fan continues for some more time, Similarly, even after ज्ञानम् the प्रारब्ध कर्म continues for some time, therefore even ज्ञानि faces what: favorable and unfavorable situations, कृष्ण calls them शुभ-अशुभम् प्राप्य. शुभम् means favorable, अशुभम् as unfavorable. Some people glorify this ज्ञानि, you are wonderful, you are doing great service, whereas some other people may criticize, these people are not productive citizens of the country, useless for anything, they do not work in the world at all and they are setting a wrong example also, emphasizing all these निवृत्ति and all those things and there are many people, even now that they think that it is वेदान्त which is responsible for Indian problems. Even now, there are people to criticize. Therefore they may criticize all these people who are propagating वेदान्त, therefore glorification comes, criticism also comes, there is health, and there are sometimes diseases also, all these comes, what is his attitude? न अभिनन्दति न द्वेष्टि. He is not carried by favorable situations and he is not over agitated by unfavorable situations also, which is the same as समत्वम् which was mentioned before. Therefore this श्लोक is almost the repetition of the previous श्लोक, समत्वम्. But here we should understand a very important thing. When we say a ज्ञानि, a person of wisdom is not disturbed by situations and the people's proper conduct as well as their improper conduct, this is often misunderstood by people. They argue: स्वामिजि if we are going to accept all the situations without any reaction, then people think that you are too innocent a person and they begin to exploit you. If we keep quiet they make us a doormat. So therefore do you mean to say that I should meekly surrender to all the situations and keep the balance of mind, doesn't it make me a weaker person. so previously I reacted to the situation and therefore I could stop the misbehavior of that person and if I am not going to react: यः सर्वत्र अनभिस्नेहः न अभिनन्दति न द्वेष्टि, then that mean they will think that I am a simpleton. Instead of taking me as a simple person, they will say I have tons of simplicity that I am a simpleton. Now वेदान्त doesn't say that you should meekly surrender to all unfavorable situations or improper behavior. वेदान्त doesn't say that. In fact, in the very भगवद्गीता itself, कृष्ण is asking अर्जुन to fight अधर्म. वेदान्त does not mean just blind acceptance of whatever अक्रम is done by other people or injustice by done others. What is वेदान्त trying to say? We should clearly understand that for any situation, we can have three types of responses. For any situation, we can have three types of responses,

- One is impulsive reaction, in which there is no time, there is no thinking, there is no planning, there is no बुद्धि involved without using discrimination or anything immediately I react to the situation that impulsive reaction is one possibility.
- And the second possibility is meek surrender to the situation, whatever abuse the other person does I meekly surrender and I do not take any step to remedy that. It is unintelligent inaction.

Generally we swing towards these two extremes. One is impulsive reaction where thought is not involved, another is unintelligent inaction born out of weakness. And वेदान्त says both are equally bad. Impulsive reaction is bad because it affects me, myself, because any reaction disturbs the mind and if I continue to be in that mental disturbance for long time, it will create stress in me and I am going to suffer from many physical diseases. Therefore, impulsive reaction may get things done because the other people get frightened and you may get your things done, but the side effects are more terrible. There may be immediate positive benefit but there are long-term negative benefits like antibiotics when we take them indiscriminately at the first sign of a disease. Antibiotics may work, it's like many of the powerful drug which may immediately give me relief but it is going to damage my vital organs. Any impulsive reaction is like a powerful drug which has got long-term adverse result - mental and physical. And many people think impulsive reaction is strength but it is not strength, it is seeming strength, but it is real weakness alone. Lack of self-control it shows and weak surrender to the situation or inaction is also improper because we have to suffer injustice, nowhere in the शास्त्र it is said that we should meekly suffer or surrender. Therefore, both are improper. Then what does शास्त्र say, avoid impulsive reaction, avoid unintelligent inaction but take to intelligent action giving sufficient time, sufficient thought. Study the situation and see whether there is a remedy or not, for certain situations there are no remedy at all, if it is a choiceless situation strengthen your mind to face the situation, you have got so many methods which we will discuss later. Therefore, if it is a choiceless situation don't try to change the situation which is not going to work because it is a choiceless situation. If you ask me: 'can't we change choiceless situation.' I would say the definition of choiceless situation is 'what cannot be changed.' Therefore be intelligent. Intelligent response is that I don't waste my time to change that, I put forth effort to strengthen me so that the impact of the choiceless situation is insignificant or nil. That is called intelligent action. And if it is a choicefull situation, I think very well what remedy has to be taken and after sufficient thought, I very carefully deal with the situation, sometimes साम, sometime दान, sometimes भेद and sometimes दण्ड. If we have to punch the nose, do it consciously. Don't miss the nose! But what शास्त्र says is don't do it impulsively. Let it be a thoughtful action like a court which gives even capital punishment if it is required, but it is thoughtfully done after enquiry into the affairs sometime for seven years, 10 years and then punishment. Do what is required, but let it not be impulsive. And that is a ज्ञानि and कृष्ण also is a ज्ञानि and that's why he tried with दुर्योधन all the legitimate methods, when they all did not work he consciously decided: 'अर्जुन kill दुर्योधन, no other method' and if भीष्म and द्रोण have unfortunately joined the wrong party, you will have to fight them. This is action. Therefore what is वेदान्त, avoid impulsive reaction, avoid unintelligent inaction but take to thoughtful action and thoughtful action is two-fold,

- i) If the situation is choiceless one the intelligent action to strengthening myself,
- ii) If the situation is choicefull situation the intelligent action is changing the situation itself.

Do some परिहार, go to some place and do some होम, etc. Nothing wrong, शास्त्र itself has provided. Use परिहार. If everybody says you have to live with that, don't go on complaining, you learn to live with that particular situation. And that is स्थिरप्रज्ञः. More in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

अर्जुन asked a question to Lord कृष्ण. What is the lifestyle of a स्थिरप्रज्ञ, how does he conduct himself and how does he respond to different situations in life? And स्थिरप्रज्ञ is one who has attained Self-knowledge. We should remember that in the context of वेदान्त, the word ज्ञानम् can refer to only one thing and that is Self-knowledge. A कर्मयोगि also has got knowledge, the knowledge of कर्मयोग he has got. Because of that knowledge alone, he is able to practice कर्मयोग, but even then, we do not call a कर्मयोगि a ज्ञानि. Because कर्मयोगि has the knowledge of कर्मयोग only but the word ज्ञानि can be used only for one who has got जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्य ज्ञानम्. कर्मयोगि only surrenders to the Lord, but he does not know that I am ब्रह्मन् and therefore here the word स्थिरप्रज्ञ refers to only that person who has the knowledge, who has the knowledge अहम् आत्मा अस्मि and the nature of that आत्मा as described in the previous verses, from verse no.12 to 25, we talked about the nature of आत्मा. The one who knows I am that आत्मा which is अकर्ता, which is अभोक्ता, which is एकः, which is सर्वगतः, which is नित्यः, that आत्मा I am. I am the eternal imperishable and full आत्मा, the one who knows he is called a प्रज्ञः. And it is not enough that one gains that knowledge.

➤ As I said in the last class that this knowledge which is intellectual in nature has to be converted into emotional strength. Without this conversion my emotional personality will remain fragile, knowledge will remain in the intellect but mind will continue to be vulnerable to situations. So I will continue to have all the emotional problems like anger, jealousy, depression, anxiety, fear all of them and at the intellectual level 'I am ब्रह्मास्मि' I will tell. This split personality is of no use. Therefore, this intellectual knowledge should be converted into emotional strength, such a person is called स्थिरप्रज्ञः. And naturally, the knowledge has trickled down into his emotional personality. Therefore, he knows and he feels that I am आत्मनि एव

आत्मना तुष्टः, which means I do not miss anything in life. Only when I have a feeling of incompleteness, sense of incompleteness, I miss things in life, this missing alone becomes a desire. What I miss in life, I desire. Some people miss a companion, therefore I would like to get married, that is how a miss becomes a Mrs. Why, as a miss, she missed something and therefore, she becomes a Mrs. hoping that things will be better, then what happens we have to ask her only. Therefore, missing things makes me seeking for things and from that seeking all the later problems - successes and failures. But in the case of a स्थिरप्रज्ञ, he doesn't miss anything. Therefore, what is the basic trait of a स्थिरप्रज्ञ? आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः – I am happy as I am. This is the first trait.

➤ And the next trait is: because I am as I am, I don't require things to complete me, I may possess things, but I don't need things, there is a lot of difference between possessing a thing and needing a thing. When I possess a thing, I am not bound by that, but when I need a thing, I am not possessing it, in fact, I am possessed by it, you know who is a possessed person. Therefore, when I need a thing, I am possessed, when I don't need a thing, I may be a possessor; be a possessor no problem but never be a possessed. And this is called सर्वकाम त्याग, no more need for things.

➤ Then the third trait that कृष्ण mentions is समत्वम्. So he has got an emotional balance, in spite of the situations turning favorable and unfavorable, therefore the third trait is समत्वम्.

➤ Then the fourth trait is वीत-रागः, freedom from रागः otherwise called वैराग्यम्. Does not emotionally depend upon anything. Emotional dependence is the biggest problem.

➤ And then the next trait is when there is no emotional dependence there is no fear, I may lose, I may lose, directly proportional to the dependence is the constant fear of losing things. ज्ञानि is one who is ready to lose anything at any time. That preparedness to lose anything is the inner strength. Therefore, वैराग्यम्, next one is अभयम्. He is fearless.

➤ Then the next trait that कृष्ण said, because of the absence emotional dependence and fear, he is free from anger. Anger is the converted form of desire, कृष्ण will say in the 3rd chapter, anger is the converted form of desire, when I expect something there is potential anger, any expectation is potential form of anger because, the moment that expectation is threatened, it gets converted into anger, whoever be responsible for that, anger will turn to towards that person. Even that very person whom I depend upon, he has been assisting me so much and because of him I am very very happy and that person says I want to go away. Until now, I had tremendous so-called love for that person, the moment that person wants to be independent of me, I get angry with him, because since I depend upon that person, I expect that person to depend upon me, I never want to give freedom to others, why, because I need them to depend on them. If anybody says: I am happy without you also, we cannot stand that. We want everybody to say: 'I am missing you, I am missing you.' You have to keep on telling that, without you I am fine if you tell, we will get doubts. What is the reason? There must be something. Some story. So therefore, the next problem is what? Anger. रागः भयः क्रोधः, they go together, ज्ञानि is free from all these three.

And therefore only:

यः सर्वत्रानभिस्नेहस्तत्तत्प्राप्य शुभाशुभम् ।

नाभिनन्दति न द्वेष्टि तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-५७॥

No situation, favorable or unfavorable will carry him away. He is neither lost in a happy situation nor he is lost in an unhappy situation. Getting lost in a happy situation is: thinking that it will always be there, getting lost in a happy situation is: thinking that the happy situation will be eternally there, an intelligent person, a ज्ञानि is one who will enjoy a happy situation but he knows that any situation is fluctuating one, i.e., his intellect is not clouded by happiness. And at the same time, when a tragedy comes also, he is not totally lost, suddenly turning philosophical, what is life for? Suddenly he will start talking philosophy. 'Life is Myth.' All meaningless. I will go as a संन्यासि, etc., he will say only for a day, start looking for आश्रम, something like that, when something happens saying that life is meaningless, that again shows that I am carried away by a particular situation, life is always meaningful, no person make my life meaningless because of his or her disappearance because I have to find my own growth whether other people are there or not. To say that my life is meaningless because that person has left me again shows clouded thinking. As स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द beautifully says: We have all come alone and we have to travel alone and ultimately we have to go alone. Alone to the Alone, All Alone is Life. Because our intimate feeling, we will never be able to share with anyone and therefore to say that life is meaningless when some tragedy happens that is also clouded thinking and when everything is fine to forget God and religion, spirituality because things are fine that is also clouded thinking. ज्ञानि is not carried away by any situation. Up to this we saw. Continuing;

Verse No .58

यदा संहरते चायं कूर्मोऽङ्गानीव सर्वशः ।

इन्द्रियाणीन्द्रियार्थेभ्यस्तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-५८॥

यदा संहरते च अयम् कूर्मः अङ्गानि इव सर्वशः ।

इन्द्रियाणि इन्द्रिय-अर्थेभ्यः तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-५८॥

कूर्मः अङ्गानि इव, यदा अयम् इन्द्रिय-अर्थेभ्यः इन्द्रियाणि सर्वशः संहरते, (तदा) तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता च ।

Up to verse no.57, कृष्ण talked about a person who has attained knowledge and who has converted the knowledge into emotional strength. Not only he has become प्रज्ञः but he has become a स्थिरप्रज्ञः, there is a mental transformation also. Not mere cognitive change but there is an emotional transformation also. Such a person is स्थिरप्रज्ञः. Now from the 58th verse, कृष्ण is changing the topic. And that topic is: how can a person convert the knowledge into emotional strength? How can a person convert the knowledge, which knowledge? The Self-knowledge. What is Self-knowledge? Which has already been discussed from verse no.12 to 25, कृष्ण assumes that we remember that portion. For you also, whatever I say will be meaningful only if you remember that portion, if you don't remember, go back, read and again continue, it will be meaningful, the essence is अहम् पूर्णः – I am full and complete. I don't need anyone to be complete. This Self-knowledge, a person has received, it is a cognitive change but it has to be converted into mental strength, how to convert? In the previous श्लोक, we talked about a person who has already converted. Here afterwards, कृष्ण is going to talk about a साधक who wants to convert the knowledge into emotional strength. How to convert, कृष्ण is going to talk about three exercises or three साधन or disciplines to convert the Self-knowledge into emotional strength. What are those three disciplines? I will briefly mention. Then we will see in the verse.

➤ One thing which is very important is निदिध्यासनम्, in English, Vedantic meditation. निदिध्यासनम् or Vedantic meditation. And what do you mean by Vedantic meditation, dwelling upon the teaching, which says I don't depend on anything to be happy. I have to see that part of the teaching again and again. That अहम् आत्मा अस्मि, अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि, अहम् शुद्धः अस्मि, अहम् नित्यः अस्मि, I don't have mortality, so the idea is we have been thinking that we need things and people to be emotionally full and complete and we have never questioned that assumption. Like a smoker, who uses the cigarette for some time, 10 years, 15 years, he cannot imagine a life without cigarette, for him life is impossible without that two-inch-of substance. And he even refuses to think that even before he started smoking, he has happily survived and there are millions of people who are happy or even happier without smoking. But he refuses to think that is called we get used to a particular way of life and we never question that assumption. Similarly, we think that life is complete only when certain things and people are around and without them life is impossible we think and that वासना is so stronger I have to break that वासना by repeatedly asserting I don't need the so-called people and situations to be happy. If I have to experiment I can go alone to some आश्रम or some place, some people have been practicing going as a couple and now they believe that they cannot go alone; go alone to an आश्रम and stay for a week and In fact, you will find that you are happier. You don't have to tell that after coming back to home! So you will find that you are really happy. You don't need, Thus, I have to break my rut-of-thinking and I should tell that I can be without anything. I may need things for physical survival, food, clothing and shelter for survival, but to be happy psychologically I don't need anything, I need only myself. Go on repeating this and get used to it. This is called निदिध्यासनम्, owning up independence. Like a baby, which thinks that it cannot walk without holding on to the mother or while learning the cycle, somebody has to run behind holding the cycle and then you will tell not to drop the hand. Afterwards what that person does is he only runs behind but doesn't hold the cycle! But what you have been feeling that he is holding the cycle. Thereafter some day he says that he never held the cycle and that I have been driving the cycle on my own only. Thereafter he stops and asks. It is all psychological feeling. Therefore, I have to break that, that breaking exercise is called निदिध्यासनम्, for which the support of वेदान्त also is there, which says: you are not this physical body, physical body has dependence, you are not the mind, you are not the intellect, you are the आत्मा which is ever independent, this practice is called निदिध्यासनम्. This is exercise No.1, which is the main exercise. That means that you should not stop with listening to the class and thereafter wards you think of वेदान्त only next Sunday at 6.30 p.m. It should not be like that. You have to go back home, sit quietly and spend some time:

न च व्योम भूमिर्न तेजो न वायुः । विदानन्दरूपः शिवोऽहम् शिवोऽहम् ॥
निर्वाण षट्कम् १॥

There are so many निदिध्यासन श्लोकs written by our आचार्यs, which you may know or may not know but essence of the teaching I have to dwell upon, just listening is not enough. That is called निदिध्यासनम्.

➤ Then कृष्ण adds two more exercises. One exercise is इन्द्रिय निग्रहः. इन्द्रिय निग्रहः means regulation of the sense organs. Regulation of the sense organs, because until the knowledge becomes steady and it contributes to emotional strength, we should not go through violent emotions. Violent emotions are detrimental to the assimilation of वेदान्त. Violent emotions are detrimental to Vedantic assimilation, therefore until the knowledge takes root it has to be protected like a plant. When a plant is planted, initially it is not strong, any goat can come and eat, therefore, they keep a protection, how long, until the plant becomes a very very strong tree. Once the plant has become a tree then goat cannot destroy, you tie even an elephant it cannot shake the tree. Until the knowledge becomes well steady one should not allow violent emotions. And emotions come through what? Through the five sense organs, because the world enters through the five sense organs into the mind and it is this world in the form of शब्दः, स्पर्शः, रूपः, रसः and गन्धः. The five-fold world is gate-crashing into my mind, they all gate-crash into the mind through the five doors and any of them can disturb the mind. Therefore, I should use my discrimination and wherever the world can disturb the mind, avoid such forms, such smells, such tastes, such touches, such sounds, one should avoid. This is called इन्द्रिय निग्रहः. So never get into arguments. Argument is one thing which can very much disturb the mind. In many houses the problem is there are so much frequent arguments on silly matters. In fact, the normal talking itself is argument. Anybody says anything I contradict it. Why, because you say that and therefore I don't agree, Argument is a very highly disturbing thing. And often arguments are for things which have no relevance, atom bomb whether we should have blasted or not, whether we should have or not is a different matter, as it has already taken place and there is nothing to be gained by arguing now. Now why should you have another nuclear explosion at home, over that? Already Pokhran is over, why do we argue? You can just exchange, share, you agree or disagree, but converting it into a heated argument and ego gets well bloated, that is all dangerous. Anything that provokes रागः, द्वेषः, काम, क्रोधः, लोभः, मोह, those provoking things you avoid. If the other person argues and you are getting emotionally disturbed, just tell him that I am not ready for exchange because my mind is disturbed, as स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द nicely writes: "In argument more heat is created than light." What we want is enlightenment, light is knowledge; in argument nobody learns anything. Everybody wants to establish their own ego only, I don't learn anything because, I don't listen at all, then how to learn, when the other person is arguing, I am planning my answer and when I am talking he is planning his answer, both of them are not listening. So whenever you get such an occasion, tell I am sorry I am not interested in this and still he continues to talk quit that place, that is called, इन्द्रिय निग्रहः, never allow violent emotions. This is इन्द्रिय निग्रहः.

➤ Then the third exercise that कृष्ण prescribes is मनो निग्रहः. मनो निग्रहः means regulation of the thought process. You started talking to someone and he entered into argument, even though you didn't want, he entered into argument and he said it is non-sense, etc. He said nonsense, now I have such an ego that I cannot take, the word nonsense from that person and I have quit that place, I didn't want to get into argument further, but even though physically quit, I go on meditating upon Nonsense Nonsense. He said: I am nonsense, therefore dwelling upon such an event and building upon that, first time when he said nonsense I didn't get that much annoyed, but I again and again re-lived that life and that is my son, my own son or my son-in-law or somebody or the other, I again and again create that set-up and again and again re-live those words and as even I think anger becomes a very big build-up. Any emotion is a build-up. No event can produce an emotion in one second. Even the most tragic event when we listen first it is an information. It's a cognitive process that is taking place. It never produces an emotion. I live it, it happened, Money gone, what I will do tomorrow, Money gone, what I will do tomorrow. Money gone, what I will do, I go on dwelling upon that, only after dwelling upon for hours or days or even for weeks, that becomes such a powerful emotion of anger, frustration, depression and therefore every emotion is thought build-up. One thought is not an emotion. Thought build-up is an emotion. And thought build-up is in my hands. So I can refuse to build-up that line of thinking and that is called mental regulation. If an event causes emotional build-up, I will set aside that event, after one month or two months, when I can have sanity, if I want to learn something from that event, without emotional disturbance I bring that event and I study and I learn a valid lesson and then forget it. Any event which creates emotional build-up I keep aside, I don't dwell upon that. This is called मनो निग्रहः.

➤ And if इन्द्रिय निग्रहः and मनो निग्रहः are practiced, the benefit is mind will not have violent emotions and when the mind is steady, then alone the knowledge will get absorbed into the subconscious like the pickle, that is why it is called: pickle. Similarly, like the pickle, we have to float in this knowledge and it should penetrate into every cell of mine, then alone it will transform my life. Thus the three साधनs are required, निदिध्यासनम्, इन्द्रिय निग्रहः and मनो निग्रहः. In English: dwelling upon the teaching, regulating the sense organs and regulating the thought process. Of these three processes, कृष्ण is highlighting the sensory regulation first from verse no.58 onwards up to 61. Four verses deal with sensory regulation. This is for whom: who has become a प्रज्ञः but not yet become a स्थिरप्रज्ञः. A स्थिरप्रज्ञ doesn't need sensory regulation. Why, because his knowledge is so firm that nothing can disturb him, he has become a tree but प्रज्ञ is a plant, therefore this प्रज्ञः plant will have to follow these three disciplines, the स्थिरप्रज्ञ need not follow them. So therefore, कृष्ण gives an example here for sensory regulation. What is the example? The example of a tortoise, a turtle, it can easily be killed, because it doesn't have any special weapon in its hand to strike back, Every other animal has got horns or nails or something, where tortoise does not have any weapon to fight back, therefore in any situation it can be easily killed, therefore भगवान् has given it a protective armor, a thick shell is given. You cannot do anything to the shell. Therefore what does the tortoise do: It freely moves about, Sightseeing it goes and the moment it sees a slightest danger, it doesn't have the strength to fight and therefore it withdraws the four legs and also the head, all the five things which are outside, all those five limbs are withdrawn. Five-number is important, because sense organs are also five. Therefore four legs and one head, all the five limbs are withdrawn, how long, as long as the threat is there. The moment the threat is gone again it puts out and it starts its journey. Similarly, a प्रज्ञ can transact with the world freely but the moment he sees there is an occasion where the राग-द्वेष, काम-क्रोध may be provoked or invoked, where the ego can become stronger, because a non-argumentative person also will become argumentative, if the other person starts argument, this is a very interesting experiment to do and watch. Normally, you may not be arguing type. But there are some people, they provoke. And unknowingly you will find that you are in argument and once you get into it, it is like you cannot go back. Like toothpaste. Once it comes out, it cannot push back inside. So remember the toothpaste, once you come out and get into argument it is extremely difficult. So prevention is better than cure and once you get into, if you successfully withdraw, it is a great accomplishment, it's a very wonderful experiment, very interesting thing, you can watch, right from this evening, generally happens every day at home in the evening, Therefore, you can see that how situations carry you away. And therefore, he says: कूर्मः अङ्गानि संहरते, कूर्मः is a tortoise, संहरते – withdraws its five limbs, सर्वशः – from the five directions, when? Not all the time. You cannot say that you will walk with closed eyes; even after walking with open eyes you get into accidents, therefore not always but when there is a possible distraction. So TV has got so many programs. There are so many wonderful programs but there are so many terrible programs which can pollute my mind. I can decide not to see that, instead of seeing that and trying to control the mind, why:

प्रक्षालनात् हि पङ्कस्य दूरात् अस्पर्शनम् वरम् ॥ महाभारतम् ॥

It is better to prevent rather than trying to what you call, filter in the mind, Similarly, the books that you read, there are wonderful books, there are terrible books which are all gossip books, Star-dust, it makes us dust, most of the books are filmy gossip, which has no benefit at all and we try to imitate them also, all kinds of problems, what I read, what I see, type of friends that I have, the type of movies that I go, I don't know whether there is any movies worth seeing, but even if some are there, I have to be choosy, with regard to my sensory interactions. Therefore, like the कूर्मः withdraws, in the same way, इन्द्रियाणि इन्द्रिय-अर्थेभ्यः. Similarly, a प्रज्ञः is one who withdraws the sense organs from the sense objects judiciously, intelligently, because always prevention is easier. Just saying 'No to Drugs.' Say No to Drugs. Because the first time, it is easy to say No, the second time that has become stronger and I have become weaker. The third time whether it is a drug, liquor, or cigarette or anything, first time saying 'No', I am acting from strength, second time that has become stronger and I have become weaker, that's why in रामायण, वालि is the example for every sensory addiction. Because वालि, as long as he is not in front, no problem, the moment he is in front, half of the strength goes to him, Similarly, every addictive thing as long as it is not in front I am strong, once they are in front half of the strength is gone, therefore don't confront them. Say 'No' in the beginning itself and therefore: यः इन्द्रियाणि इन्द्रिय-अर्थेभ्यः संहरते तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता भवति. His knowledge will become a स्थिरप्रज्ञः. Continuing;

निराहारस्य देहिनः विषयाः रसवर्जम् विनिवर्तन्ते । अस्य रसः अपि परम् दृष्ट्वा निवर्तते ।

Here कृष्ण says addiction to anything is of two types, one is the sensory addiction and another is mental addiction. Mental addiction is deeper than sensory addiction. Therefore, even if a person gives up a sensory addiction but still mental addiction lingers for some time. That's why many people quit certain habit but maintaining that is an extremely difficult job, during that period, alcoholics, during that period he must be extremely careful because once he violates again he will get back to the old addiction and therefore, कृष्ण says even after removing the sensory addiction one has to be very careful because the mind has got that weakness, therefore any time a person can again get into that weakness and therefore, he says, विषयाः विनिवर्तन्ते – the sense objects remain away for a person who has renounced them, the sense objects of addiction, any sense objects of addiction remains away for a person who has renounced them. How they remain away? Physically away from them, but रसवर्जम् – except the mental fancy for those objects, even though physically one is away, mentally there is fantasy going, imagination going, that will be there. Many people become संन्यासि and go to ऋषिकेश and उत्तरकाशि and all and there afterwards they envy every गृहस्थ who is visiting and they feel that they have committed a mistake. कृष्ण is going to talk about that in the 4th chapter also, many people become physical संन्यासि but mentally they are dwelling upon only worldly pleasures, such people are called hypocrites, they will face more problems. It is better that a person remains in the world and become a mature person and grows out of it, that is why we say growing out is more important than suppression, suppression is dangerous, growing out is very important and therefore, until a person grows out the रस continues, रस means what: fancy, the desire, the craving, the yearning, the urge continues, only the sense objects are gone and when will this also go away, he says, अस्य रसः अपि निवर्तते – even this craving for sense pleasures will go away when it is replaced by, when the mind's vacuum is replaced by spiritual आनन्द, a superior आनन्द; the शास्त्र gives such an आनन्द. In fact, many people think that a संन्यासि who has left everything is to be sympathized. Alas, he has left everything and come. We don't know what has happened; no movie, no TV etc. Even varieties of dress he can't wear, one dress he has to wear and get bored. Everybody else sympathizes because they think that the regular worldly pleasures alone are there, he doesn't have, but the आनन्द that he can get through शास्त्र, the विद्या आनन्द that he can derive is much much much much much much more higher than the petty, paltry miserable pleasures. But until that spiritual आनन्द is discovered that yearning will continue. So परम् दृष्ट्वा, पर दर्शनम् means the आत्मज्ञान दृढिकरणम्, so when this spiritual knowledge is well assimilated he gets such a joy that in front of that joy all the other worldly pleasures are insignificant, कृष्ण said in one of the previous श्लोकs, when a person has got a lake full of pure water why should he go after miserable corporation water, which may come or which may not come. You open the tap, anyone of the five elements will come, sometimes water comes; sometimes air comes - just the sound, that is वायु तत्त्वम्; sometimes stone, mud, all those things also come, पृथिवी तत्त्वम्; अकाश तत्त्वम् is always there; so anyone of them (तत्त्वम्) will come. Whether water will be there or not we don't know. How long we should go after that, until you discover that lake which never goes dry. And therefore परम् दृष्ट्वा, after discovering the आनन्द in himself, निवर्तते – no more craving. That doesn't mean that he should not be happy in worldly occasions, this also is very much misunderstood. Suppose a person is happy in himself and there is some occasion for external happiness. Somebody calls him for a wedding, somebody says I have got a child, etc. It is a happy occasion for sharing and many people think that ज्ञानि should not smile. Because he should not be happy in worldly happiness. Somebody cuts a joke and this man should keep the high chin, so spiritual आनन्द doesn't mean that we should not enjoy the worldly pleasures, I mean legitimate, it only means that I don't lean on them, they are all bonus आनन्द, it comes and it doesn't come, I am happy. Remember the example, when there is a five match series and we have already won the first three matches, already to start, the fourth match whether we win or not, no problem, we win, I won't say I am not happy, already we have got the happiness of winning the three matches,

No. I enjoy that. But that doesn't mean when it goes away, I become miserable. And therefore ज्ञानि enjoys the world also but the worldly enjoyment is a bonus to him, he doesn't depend on that, so therefore he says रसवर्जम् रसः अपि अस्य परम् दृष्ट्वा निवर्तते. Continuing;

यततः हि अपि कौन्तेय पुरुषस्य विपश्चितः ।

इन्द्रियाणि प्रमाथीनि हरन्ति प्रसभं मनः ॥ २-६०॥

हे कौन्तेय! प्रमाथीनि इन्द्रियाणि यततः विपश्चितः अपि पुरुषस्य मनः प्रसभं हरन्ति हि ।

So here कृष्ण says sense regulation is not that easy, sense control is not that easy. From this we should learn two lessons,

- i) One lesson is if he fail initially we need not feel guilty, because it is so powerful that a person is bound to fail in that attempt and therefore one need not feel bad, but at the same time कृष्ण wants to teach
- ii) Another lesson also, since they are so powerful it requires lot of alertness.

Therefore, one side we should know that if we fail we need not feel guilty and another lesson we learn is that we need not feel guilty but at the same time, we should be alert. Therefore alert with regard to our sensory operation - what we talk, what we hear, what we move with regard to all of them. Therefore कृष्ण says इन्द्रियाणि प्रमाथीनि, the sense organs are very, very powerful. They are like the churning rods, प्रमाथी means like the churning rod (मथ्) used for churning the curd, that is प्रमाथी. It is derived from the root √मथ् 9th conjugation, परस्मैपद - मथ्नाति, मथ्नीतः, मथ्नन्ति; मथ्नासि मथ्नीथः मथ्नीथ. मथ् – to churn, so माथी means a churner, a churning rod, प्रमाथी means a very powerful churning rod. What is the powerful churning rod? A sense organ is a powerful churning rod and how many churning rods we have: five of them. And these five rods churn what: मनः. So they can churn the mind into violent disturbance, how we are disturbed by one person using a word. Lifelong we remember - he said that, he said that, he said that; In fact, most of the problems are words, words, words. The eyes and the ears are the most powerful. The nose, tongue and the skin is not that powerful or dangerous, the ears and the eyes are most powerful, therefore he says मनः हरन्ति, they can take away your mind from वेदान्त, you might have heard the class for one hour without distraction. While getting up, if someone says something, you get upset that he said that to me, the listening वेदान्त for one hour has gone waste, one word can disturb us so violently and it can make us forget everything that we have learned. and therefore कृष्ण says मनः हरन्ति, it takes away the mind from where: the गीता teaching, the Upanishadic lessons that I have learnt I forget and temporarily I become a violent animal, either a tiger or a scorpion, or a snake or anything, scolding and they suddenly ask, what use of going to गीता etc., which makes me more angry. Then they will pull the स्वामिजि, what did he teach, etc., that is another problem, don't pull my स्वामिजि, so therefore if we are not alert, mind can become turbulent and if the mind becomes turbulent, वेदान्त is gone. Therefore, as much as possible, try to keep the balance, so that वेदान्त goes inside.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

In this final portion of the 2nd chapter, कृष्ण is dealing with two topics, one is स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि and the other is स्थिरप्रज्ञ साधनानि.

➤ स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि means the natural behavior or traits of a person who has assimilated the teaching. So the prefix 'स्थिर' is used to indicate the assimilation of this teaching. Just as assimilated-food alone will nourish a person, Similarly, the assimilated-वेदान्त alone will be of practical use. And as I said in the last class, this assimilation is converting the knowledge at the intellectual level into emotional strength; an emotionally strong mind which will not be swayed by कामः, क्रोधः, लोभः, मोहः, मदः, मात्सर्यः such an emotionally strong mind is called स्थिरप्रज्ञ mind. And how he will conduct himself etc, this is one topic.

➤ And the second topic is how the knowledge should be converted into assimilation. First the knowledge has to be gained only in one way and that method is listening to the scriptures from a competent guide. There is no other method of receiving knowledge, knowledge is received only by listening to the scriptures from a competent guide. कृष्ण will tell this in the 4th chapter.

तद्विद्धि प्रणिपातेन परिप्रश्नेन सेवया । ॥ ४-३४॥

And this receiving or reception of the knowledge is not enough, one has to work within himself, गुरु cannot help in this matter, गुरु can go only up to the transference of the knowledge, but the conversion of knowledge into emotional strength the शिष्य alone has to do, गुरु can only encourage. Now the question is what should I do to convert this knowledge into assimilation or emotional strength? In Vedantic language it is called निदिध्यासनम्. Here कृष्ण prescribes three disciplines for assimilation.

i) And the first discipline is sensory restraint. Sense mastery. Sensory regulation. What is the purpose of sensory restraint? Because the sense organs are like doors through which alone the world enters my mind. My mind does not have direct access to the world. It can never contact the world directly, it requires five-fold channels, the world enters either in the form of sound through my ears or in the form of smell or taste or touch, the five-fold universe enters my mind through the five-fold entrance gates. And every part of the universe, शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस or गन्ध is capable of entering my mind and agitating me. One word from my son at the wrong time, wrong place (I told him not to go and he said that he will definitely go; it is just, Vedantically speaking it is a sound disturbance). What you call a big cause of upset is nothing but a few words and words are nothing but disturbance in the sound, those words like a bug enter through the ears and whether the son intended or not I do all kinds of commentary, even शङ्कराचार्य would not do so much व्याख्यानम्, we do all kinds of things - my son said so, my son, my husband, my father, (main commentary, sub-commentary, तिप्पणि, footnotes, etc., you insert) after three days it becomes such a mental breakdown. What is responsible(cause)? A few words from a person. Similarly, forms and colors, therefore the world is capable of disturbing the mind and when the mind is disturbed it cannot retain the Vedantic knowledge required for assimilation. It is a freshly made flooring. When they have put the flooring freshly, it is not yet set, therefore what should you do, until it sets the flooring has to be protected. But once the floor has become strong let even an elephant walk nothing will happen. Similarly, when we receive the knowledge it is like fresh flooring and you have to allow that knowledge to set in, any disturbance in the mind it can disturb the knowledge itself. And therefore कृष्ण's advice is: 'avoid violent emotional turbulence.' And the cause is the five sense organs which let the world indiscriminately, but that doesn't mean you have to close the sense organs because sense organs are required for transactions, we need not close them, we need not indiscriminately use them, कृष्ण says intelligently use the sense organs. This is called regulation of the senses which is called दमः. And in the 60th verse कृष्ण said this exercise is not that easy because sense organs are very much disturbing, they are प्रमाथीनि, they are very very powerful which means one has to be very alert with regard to that. Therefore, कृष्ण uses the word यततः अपि. Even a person who has a value for sensory restraint, if he is negligent even for a moment, the sense organs drag. That's what they philosophically present in रामायण, सीता was very much with राम who is the ब्रह्मानन्द, which is the spiritual truth. मारिच, the golden deer represent the sensory attraction. सीता is naturally with राम, in spite of राम being around one moment सीता also got fascinated by golden deer and what is the consequence, the golden deer has got its own method of dragging, dragging, dragging and the ultimate result is she permanently or at least lost राम for a long time; राम represents spiritual आनन्द. Similarly, even though आत्मा is with us all the time, the golden deer of the world can trap me and therefore be alert. Up to this we saw. And कृष्ण uses even one more word, विपश्चितः; विपश्चितः means even for a learned person, he has studied the गीता, he has studied the scriptures but even an informed person in a moment of weakness can be distracted and therefore let him be alert. Continuing;

Verse No .61

तानि सर्वाणि संयम्य युक्त आसीत मत्परः ।

वशे हि यस्येन्द्रियाणि तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-६१॥

तानि सर्वाणि संयम्य युक्तः आसीत मत्परः ।

वशे हि यस्य इन्द्रियाणि तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-६१॥

तानि सर्वाणि संयम्य युक्तः मत्-परः आसीत । हि यस्य वशे इन्द्रियाणि तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ।

And therefore कृष्ण advises, हे अर्जुन! तानि सर्वाणि संयम्य आसीत, therefore may you keep all the sense organs as your instrument, you don't be enslaved by them, let them be your instrument. When you are driving a car, the wheels of the car should move, according to what you want it to do, not what they want to do, imagine while you are going the wheel decides for a moment like while taking the dog for a walk, it will just take you around, wherever something is there it goes, after sometime you wonder, whether you are taking the dog for the walk or whether the dog is taking the man for a ride. Which is the master which is the slave we don't know. Similarly, the sense organs are like such dogs, we are supposed to lead them but often they lead us and therefore don't allow that to happen. So सर्वाणि तानि संयम्य, restrain them, not suppression. Suppression is totally against the psychology. Suppression is a dangerous exercise. Therefore what we are talking about is not suppression but mastery. What is the difference between suppression and mastery? In suppression, I follow because somebody else has told me. I am not convinced but somebody else said today is एकादशि, there is no cooking in our house, therefore no food for you. Not that I value एकादशि, food is not cooked, nowhere else it is available around and therefore I don't eat, here the restraint is not based on my will and understanding but it is imposed on me, imposed denial is suppression. But when I value एकादशि and when I value उपवास and when I want to do spiritual साधन and even when the food is available around I decide not to take, that doesn't come under suppression but it is transcending, it is growing out, it is mastery. So the दमः of the भगवद्गीता is not sensory suppression but it is sensory mastery, mastering over them अर्जुन you have to do, because, यस्य इन्द्रियाणि वशे, because the person who has kept the sense organs under his control, for such a person प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता भवति the spiritual knowledge is assimilated very fast. वेदान्त becomes more and more meaningful, Self-knowledge becomes more and more relevant. So here प्रज्ञा means आत्मज्ञान will become प्रतिष्ठिता. With this the first exercise is over. And that is sensory control – दमः.

ii) Then in this verse itself कृष्ण introduces the second discipline also. 3 disciplines I have told you. Second is being discussed. What is that? In the first line, युक्तः मत्-परः आसीत्. When the sense organs are withdrawn from unnecessary pursuits we have lot of extra time. Because most of the time goes for only TV series or for many people TV surfing. Surfing means going from 1st to 100th channel and again from 100th to 1st channel, like sea surfing. When I don't have any of those distractions naturally there is lot of time at my disposal and I don't know what to do with that time. And a mind which doesn't have a healthy pursuit can become a dangerous mind because an idle mind, you know, is a devil's workshop. And therefore कृष्ण wants, by avoiding unnecessary pursuits you get extra time, use that extra time to dwell upon me i.e., the truth revealed in वेदान्त. Therefore मत्-परः means dwell upon the teaching. Dwell upon ME, so here ME indicates two things, one is कृष्ण as a सगुण ईश्वर, an अवतार, so that you can meditate upon कृष्ण, राम or any deity or you can also meditate upon कृष्ण as the very आत्मा of yourselves. Because in वेदान्त, कृष्ण does not want to reveal himself as a person but in भगवद्गीता कृष्ण reveals himself as the very आत्मा of everyone. Even in the भागवतम्, कृष्ण reveals only in that form to गोपीs, that is why the गोपीs themselves declared

गोपीगीतम् - ४॥

It's a wonderful lines गोपीs tell, हे कृष्ण! you are not the son of a particular person but who are you? अखिल देहिनाम् अन्तरात्म हृक्, you are the inner Self of everyone. And it is that कृष्ण परमात्मा that is revealed in the गीता and it is that आत्म-ध्यानम् कृष्ण is prescribing here, Therefore मत्-परः means see Me in yourself as the very आत्मा.

मनोबुद्ध्यहंकार चित्तानि नाहम् । ... चिदानन्दरूपः शिवोऽहम् शिवोऽहम्
॥ निर्वाण षट्कम् ॥

So do आत्म-ध्यानम्. And if you don't know the आत्मा, then you can do कृष्ण ध्यानम् as a person. Therefore, मत्-परः आत्म-ध्यान परः आसीत्. This आत्म-ध्यानम् is also not easy. Therefore कृष्ण says युक्तः with discipline, with integration you practice आत्म-ध्यानम्. Because otherwise the mind is generally extrovert mind. The extrovert mind has to be withdrawn and set upon the आत्मा. This is the second disciple called निदिध्यासनम् or आत्म-ध्यानम्. And if you ask what is that आत्मा you have to go back to the 2nd chapter beginning verse no.12 to 25, कृष्ण has elaborately defined the आत्मा in 13 verses. Therefore, may you dwell upon that teaching. So thus two disciplines have been talked about.

iii) Now comes the third important discipline to assimilate वेदान्त. What is that?

Verse No .62

ध्यायतो विषयान्पुंसः सङ्गस्तेषूपजायते ।

सङ्गात्सञ्जायते कामः कामात्क्रोधोऽभिजायते ॥ २-६२॥

ध्यायतः विषयान् पुंसः सङ्गः तेषु उपजायते ।

सङ्गात् सञ्जायते कामः कामात् क्रोधः अभिजायते ॥ २-६२॥

विषयान् ध्यायतः पुंसः तेषु सङ्गः उपजायते । सङ्गात् कामः सञ्जायते । कामात् क्रोधः अभिजायते ।

From this verse onwards, कृष्ण is going to talk about another important discipline that is thought discipline which is more difficult. The first one is relatively easier, it is sensory discipline, it is a gross organ therefore you can discipline it very easily, if you don't want to see something you can go out of that place. If you cannot go out of that place and you don't want to see you can close your eyes. You can close your ears. Therefore, at least physically restrain the sense organs but mind is not like that, the mind can go anywhere at any time, in the middle of the class also it can have a beautiful walk on the beach and come back. So therefore, thought discipline is very difficult but it is extremely important which is called शमः or मनो निग्रहः.

a) And to highlight the importance of thought-discipline, कृष्ण says what will be the harm if you are going to allow the thoughts to move around as they want. If you let your mind loose, what will happen? So the damage, कृष्ण is talking about. What is the damage? So when you are interacting with the world, so many things enter your mind through the sense organs. Even though you practice sensory discipline, in spite of the disciplines things enter your mind. You may not be thinking about it and it is just the neighbors that are talking about it and it is heard by you. I don't want to see a cinema magazine, but in the road there are cinema posters. What can be done? So you cannot totally avoid the world entering your mind. And when you move away from that object, the objects must have gone away from your sight but the mind can dwell upon the object, any object, anything and this is called विषय ध्यानम्. The mind has a tendency to dwell upon one thing or the other in the world which thing has entered through the sense organs. This is called विषय ध्यानम् and the interesting thing is ईश्वर ध्यानम् is extremely difficult whereas in विषय ध्यानम् we are all experts. For that one need not sit in पद्मासन or other postures are not necessary. Wherever you go you are in समाधि of that thing only. Either money ध्यानम् or house ध्यानम्, or this or that. Therefore कृष्ण says, the first thing that happens in a loose mind is विषय ध्यानम्, विषय means any sense objects. And according to वेदान्त, at this level itself a person should use his discrimination and ask the question whether it is worthwhile dwelling upon that object. Whether it is healthy to think of object constantly. Whether it is healthy to fantasize? And if he is alert and intelligent he can nip in the bud itself because the first thought is always feeble. It is very very easy to distract the mind from the first thought but if a person does not use the discrimination that goes on, on and on in the mind, like a feeble wave or like a ripple becoming a huge wave, a feeble thought can become a powerful one.

b) And what is the second stage that is going to come because of that? कृष्ण says तेषु सङ्गः जायते. You begin to develop a fancy for that object, it is a feeling, it is wonderful, it is attractive, it is beautiful or it is a source of joy, which according to वेदान्त is a misconception because according to वेदान्त, world is neither a source of joy nor a source of sorrow. Then what is world? World is world. World is only world. We alone categorize the world into a source of joy and sorrow. That is why when our children are playing the western music in front of the parents who are used to pucca carnatic music, that western music which is noisy and they go on jumping, for them it is a source of आनन्द, whereas for the parents it is a source of headache. So tell me whether the western music is source of joy or sorrow? It all depends on how I am trained and how I look at it. Therefore the first mistake I commit is whenever I dwell upon something for a length of time the mind has a tendency to appreciate it. Even a particular advertisement tune, you may not like it, in a 30 minute serial, advertisements is 25 minutes and 5 minutes only for the serial, when you go on hearing the advertisement song repeatedly without your knowledge you start singing that advertisement song. You hated it and you are singing it. You don't know. The mind has got that capacity. You say, it is wonderful, appealing and that attitude is called सङ्गः. Therefore कृष्ण says विषय ध्यानात् सङ्गः जायते, a fancy for that. Here also there is no problem. You are only saying that it is wonderful. भगवान्'s सृष्टि is beautiful. That rose is very nice. Nothing wrong. You are only appreciating ईश्वर विभूति, glory of the Lord. But the problem is the mind goes on picturing, if that rose is in my hand how it will be or for some people it is in their mouth, there is no restriction on what to eat!! So therefore I begin to look at my own position along with that object and then I begin to feel that I am more complete if that object or a person or anything is there in my hand, सङ्गः is there, it is OK, fine up to that.

c) But the next stage is along with me it looks nice, 'from nice' it goes to 'worth having', but we will not leave it at that. Repeatedly, again and again you go on dwelling on that. Then I begin to say 'I want it', like the stubborn children and mustached babies I want it right now come what may. I don't mind selling everything that I have but I want it and then still I continue, I want it and I want it, then a stage comes when I begin to say, 'without that I cannot live, I cannot survive without that object, without that person, without that situation, I cannot live', this is the height of fancy, which is called कामः. कामः means I am totally trapped and enslaved. I even forget the Vedantic teaching which says I am full and complete without any other thing in the world. I don't require any object at all to be full and complete, I have heard this teaching but still I forget everything and I conclude that without that I cannot survive. This is called कामः. Therefore कृष्ण says सङ्गात् कामः सञ्जायते, a deep yearning, a deep desire is born. So विषय ध्यानम् to विषय सङ्गः, विषय सङ्गः to विषय कामः.

d) So then what will happen? कृष्ण says: कामात् क्रोधः अभिजायते. Problem is getting more serious. From काम desire any route we can take. Two routes are possible. Because the desire may be fulfilled then it is one route or the desire may not be fulfilled then there is another route. कृष्ण is going to talk of the second route, if the desire is not fulfilled what will happen? Because there is heavy competition for everything. We have marked it we wanted to purchase it, by the time we go back with the money to the shop the salesman will say: 'just now only somebody purchased it', then, 'why not give me another piece', 'sorry, that was the last stock.' So therefore there is a heavy competition for everything and therefore often our desires are not fulfilled, unfulfilled desire, thwarted desire gets converted into anger. In fact, anger is desire itself in a different form. Therefore कृष्ण says कामात्, from the obstructed desire anger is born. And whoever is going to obstruct I want to destroy that person. In business field and all what all things you do to destroy the competitor. They even physically liquidate the person by engaging goons and all, all because of what: they want their business to succeed and the other person is an obstruction, therefore, remove, liquidate. All that a strong desire can make a person do everything. Now what about the other route? कृष्ण doesn't discuss that but we can note it. Suppose the काम is fulfilled, what will happen? Do we think that we will be happy, Never. We look for the next higher stage, if I have got hundred, I want to get thousand, if I have a thousand, I want to have ten thousand, there is no limit to the desire. Fulfilled desire lead to greed. That's how the gamblers get sucked into gambling. Somehow there is some psychology, initially they will succeed. Then you will find that they are attracted by that, then why we should go to ordinary people for धर्मपुत्र himself just got victimized. In fact, one of the lessons taught by महाभारत is gambling is the biggest weakness or the worst weakness which can destroy even a धार्मिक person. Even a धर्मपुत्र can get lost because of his weakness, धर्मपुत्र accepts his weakness. Similarly, we have to learn काम can lead to लोभः. But कृष्ण doesn't talk about that, if काम is not fulfilled it will lead to anger. So 4 stages, विषय ध्यानम्, विषय सङ्गः, विषय काम, then you should not say विषय क्रोधः, it is only क्रोधः. What happens then?

e) What happens then?

Verse No .63

क्रोधाद्भवति सम्मोहः सम्मोहात्स्मृतिविभ्रमः ।

स्मृतिभ्रंशाद् बुद्धिनाशो बुद्धिनाशात्प्रणश्यति ॥ २-६३॥

क्रोधात् भवति सम्मोहः सम्मोहात् स्मृति-विभ्रमः ।

स्मृति-भ्रंशात् बुद्धि-नाशः बुद्धि-नाशात् प्रणश्यति ॥ २-६३॥

क्रोधात् सम्मोहः भवति । सम्मोहात् स्मृति-विभ्रमः, स्मृति-भ्रंशात् बुद्धि- नाशः, बुद्धि-नाशात् प्रणश्यति ।

So क्रोधात् सम्मोहः भवति, when the mind is in the grip of anger the discriminative power is lost, the sense of decency is lost; I forget who I am and I forget who is the person in front of me, that person must be an elderly person, may be father, mother, गुरु, or grandfather, all these things are covered because of सम्मोहः, सम्मोहः means non-discrimination. शङ्कराचार्य writes elsewhere बुद्धः पुरुषः गुरुमपि आक्षिपति, even he may strongly scold his own गुरु forgetting that he is a person to be worshipped, मातरम् अपि ताडयति – there are children who even hit their mothers in a fit of anger, they forget that, later they may regret or apologize but during that moment, that person is mad, that is why in America another word for anger is madness. When they say I am mad at you, first time when somebody told me I could not understand the usage, they mean that they are angry at you, it is a right translation because at the time of anger we are mad only. Therefore, सम्मोहः भवति – a temporary madness comes.

f) So what? सम्मोहात् स्मृति-विभ्रमः when there is temporary madness all the learning that I have acquired they all will not be available for me. So for what purpose do I study the गीता? Not for world advertisement, not for time pass, not for any other purpose, I want this teaching to help me when there is crisis. Otherwise I will be like कर्ण. कर्ण had all the मन्त्रs, extraordinary मन्त्रs, but he had a शाप, that at the crucial moment you will not remember them. Like some of our children, only in the examination hall they will forget the answers, before and after they will answer properly. What is the use? Especially in our system which is memory based. So therefore all my गीता, उपनिषत्, everything is blocked; the computer virus has come. What is virus after all? Somewhere I read, VIRUS. V means Vital, I means Information, R means Resources, U means Under, S means Siege, VIRUS is a short form of Vital Information Resources Under Siege means the informations which I have stored they are not available for me. Remember, anger is virus for our brain computer. Therefore कृष्ण says, सम्मोहात् स्मृति-विभ्रमः so the entire knowledge is temporarily lost. And thereafter he can remember, he will quote the श्लोकs also. When? Afterwards. What is the use of studying the गीता and its meaning? Therefore, the next stage is loss of memory.

g) And then suppose still he is not warned and he doesn't take steps to remedy the situation, then what will be next fall: स्मृति-भ्रंशात् बुद्धि-नाशः, once the knowledge is obstructed then the discriminative power is permanently lost. Previously सम्मोहः word was used, which is temporary loss of discrimination, whereas बुद्धिनाशः means permanent loss of discrimination. That is a point of no return, previously there was some hope, now there is no hope at all, because बुद्धि doesn't function for him, so what?

h) कृष्ण says, बुद्धि-नाशात् प्रणश्यति. The loss of discrimination is the loss of human life, because I stop to be a human being once I lose my discretion. A donkey also brays whenever it wants to. It is not going to consider that there is a class happening here, I should bray a little far away; nothing of that sort, what it wants to do it does, suppose I am also like a donkey, I felt like shouting at my son or wife and I shouted, then what is the difference between a cow and me. So I should feel like shouting and I should be able to swallow the whole thing or I should be able to postpone the whole thing, that I will think and shout properly. But let it be thoughtful. When I think and do deliberately it makes me a human being, if I do things impulsively I stop to be a human being, and stopping to be a human being is losing the four पुरुषार्थs – धर्म, अर्थ, काम, मोक्ष. Because the four are called पुरुष अर्थः – the goal of a human being. And once I am going to be without discrimination I am no more a पुरुष which means I don't have any पुरुषार्थ, that is this human life is a waste, I have to hope for another human life and I don't when it is going to come. 'If I miss out in this life, I do not know what sort of a life I will have?’ Therefore कृष्ण strongly warns, don’t be impulsive, be deliberate in every action, in every thought, this is called the ladder of fall, the ladder of human fall. What are the stages, विषय ध्यानम्, सङ्गः, कामः, क्रोधः, सम्मोहः, स्मृति-भ्रंशात्, बुद्धिनाशः प्रणाशः – 8 rung ladder of human fall. What is the beginning of this fall? विषय ध्यानम्. Blindly dwelling upon any object. So therefore अर्जुन master your mind. Continuing;

Verse No .64

रागद्वेषवियुक्तैस्तु विषयानिन्द्रियैश्चरन् ।

आत्मवश्यैर्विधेयात्मा प्रसादमधिगच्छति ॥ २-६४॥

राग-द्वेष-वियुक्तैः तु विषयान् इन्द्रियैः चरन् । or वियुक्तैः तु

आत्म-वश्यैः विधेय-आत्मा प्रसादम् अधिगच्छति ॥ २-६४॥

विधेय-आत्मा तु राग-द्वेष-वियुक्तैः आत्म-वश्यैः इन्द्रियैः विषयान् चरन् प्रसादम् अधिगच्छति ।

Now कृष्ण comes back to sense control once again to highlight the importance of sense control. Even though all the three are equally important, कृष्ण gives importance to इन्द्रिय निग्रहः. Therefore He says, इन्द्रियैः विषयान् चरन्, so may you perceive the sense objects through the sense organs, it doesn’t matter, because you cannot close the sense organs totally and therefore use it, not that you can close your eyes and ears and walk on the road, as it is with open eyes you are in danger; therefore allow the sense organs, but what is important is राग-द्वेष-वियुक्तैः, a sense organ which will not easily develop रागः or द्वेषः for anything. It should be so alert that it should not form रागः or द्वेषः for anything, रागः is because of the misconception that this is an object of joy, द्वेषः is because of the misconception that it is an object of sorrow, never allow that misconception to be developed, appreciate ‘the rose is wonderful’, why should I have only in my pocket. And there is a beautiful land, appreciate it, why should I go to buy it; there are so many people, even people possessions, I want that person to be ..., I want to control the people, so that is all because of रगद्वेष सहित इन्द्रियाणि, never allow the sense organs to develop. So even a particular place you sit, it is best that once in a while you change or else you will claim it as 'yours' and ask the other person to get up. It is all भगवान्'s place and people is coming and sitting, it is fine, but after some time I have to sit there then only it is felt that you 'hear' the गीता. This is again addiction. In fact, never get addicted to anything. This is the principle. Therefore, रग-द्वेष-विरुक्तैः इन्द्रियैः, let the sense organs be addiction free, not only it should be free from this weakness, आत्म-वश्यैः and let the sense organs obey your mind, your discriminative intellect, आत्मा here means बुद्धि, वश्यैः means under the control of; so आत्म-वश्यैः इन्द्रियैः, operate with those sense organs which are obedient to your intellect. Yesterday they have put, one should know what are the evils of alcohol? It is clearly put. Now my बुद्धि reads it and it has understood it and then once it is very clear, शास्त्र also prohibits it, doctors also write it is not good, then I should have the power never to touch it, 'No.' And it is the easiest No first. But the second time it is like वाति, that becomes more powerful and I become weaker. Third time that is still more powerful, I am weaker. And a person who has taken it for sometime then he had it, he can never get out of it and then he says it is प्रारब्धम्. See the अक्रमम्. What has this to do with प्रारब्धम्? It is my abuse of the power given to me, therefore the intellect says: liquor is not good. Very simple, I say No. Smoking is not good, I say no. Beef eating is not good, I say No. Similarly, everything I should be able to say No and follow it. That is called the life of mastery. Therefore आत्म-वश्यैः विधेय-आत्मा, विधेय-आत्मा means a person of self-control, self-discipline, self-integration; so here also आत्मा means the instruments, not the सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा, but आत्मा represents the mind. Therefore विधेय-आत्मा, विधेय means disciplined, obedient, the one who has got an obedient set of organs. And such a person प्रसादम् अधिगच्छति. The greatest advantage is that there are no more violent disturbances in the mind. Even if there is some kind of argument at home, as the argument is getting heated up and the sound is rising and more heat is produced than light and the words are becoming less and less decent, as even the situation changes, he is able to feel the pulse and he will say that you are angry or I am angry, this is not an ideal condition for discussion. Discussion is for exchanging information not for scolding each other and if information has to be exchanged the mind should be calm enough to receive the message, a disturbed mind can never receive any message, so the moment slightest disturbance is taking place a Vedantin will sense it, red light begins to burn and he says: Let us stop the discussion now. Either I say I am angry, therefore I will stop or you are angry and I don't want to increase your anger. Let us again discuss tomorrow or day after. We will find that no situation goes out of his hand. The very nice experiment you can watch. And the greatest advantage is if we have avoided arguments for a long time, then within five minutes you can get back your composure and read something. But if you have not done that, argue for 50 minutes, some people 500 minutes also, now the lengthier the argument is the more time it takes to compose the mind and therefore a Vedantic student very very alertly avoids it and what is the advantage he has, प्रसादम् अधिगच्छति. प्रसादम् अधिगच्छति means प्रसादम् not 'वडा', chickpea, not that प्रसादम्, प्रसाद here means शान्तिः, प्रसन्नता, 'वडा' may give शान्तिः that might be the reason why it is called प्रसादम् also!! When the things come from भगवान् and when we eat that, we feel a शान्ति, peace, therefore indirectly they are called प्रसाद, in संस्कृत. प्र-सद् root, is to become tranquil. प्रसीदती. The word प्रसीद, you would have heard in prayers, प्रसीद – to be pleased, to be satisfied, to be calm, so प्रसादः is abstract noun of that, it means calmness of the mind. And we generally think, when we stop an argument we think it is because we are wrong, it does not mean that to stop an argument I am conceding victory for him and that I am accepting that he is on the right side, No. Even if I know 100% that I am right, still I can stop the argument, not because I am doubtful but because that person is no more ready to listen to me, therefore I can even say OK, you can think that you are right, nothing wrong in it, we will say that we will postpone it. Just because I stop it doesn't mean I have failed. Only the other person has failed to receive the message. And therefore, avoidance of mental turbulence is very important for the assimilation of this knowledge and therefore कृष्ण says प्रसादम् अधिगच्छति. More in the next class.

अर्जुन wanted to know about स्थिरप्रज्ञः, i.e., a person who has received Self-knowledge and who has assimilated the Self-knowledge, such a person is called स्थितप्रज्ञ. And कृष्ण divides this topic into two portion,

i) One is the natural behavior or traits of a स्थितप्रज्ञ, how will he conduct himself in day-to-day life and

ii) The second part is how can a person become a स्थिरप्रज्ञ, to put in संस्कृत, स्थितप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि and स्थितप्रज्ञ साधनानि. First स्थितप्रज्ञ लक्षणः were talked about in which Lord कृष्ण pointed out that a स्थितप्रज्ञ is happy with himself. He doesn't depend upon any external conditions for happiness. And he pointed out he has got equanimity in all situations, he is free from attachment, fear, anger, etc. Just the natural traits of स्थितप्रज्ञ were pointed out, then कृष्ण has now changed the topic to स्थितप्रज्ञ साधनानि, how to become a स्थितप्रज्ञ. And to become a स्थितप्रज्ञ first a person has to become a प्रज्ञः, without becoming a प्रज्ञः there is no question of becoming a स्थितप्रज्ञः. How to become a प्रज्ञः कृष्ण doesn't discuss, we have to supply that. प्रज्ञः means the one who has received Self-knowledge. And Self-knowledge can be received only by two साधनः, first listening to the scriptures from a competent आचार्य which is known as वेदान्त श्रवण; without वेदान्त श्रवणम्, without गीता or उपनिषद् श्रवणम् there is no question of receiving the knowledge. And it is not enough that one receives the knowledge, he has to eliminate all the doubts which are possible. Because wherever there is a question of knowledge there can always be doubts because intellect cannot know anything without raising doubts. It is a natural trait of any intellect to raise doubts with regard to any topic it studies including वेदान्त or Self-knowledge and as long as doubts are there knowledge is not knowledge because doubtful knowledge is as good as ignorance. And therefore not only one should the receive knowledge, one should remove all the doubts that come in the mind either by one's own reflection or by raising questions to the आचार्य. अर्जुन himself raises many questions to Lord कृष्ण because this is not a matter for belief but this is a matter for conviction. And this removal of doubt is called मननम्, श्रवणम् and मननम् will make me a प्रज्ञः. श्रवणम् and मननम् will make me a प्रज्ञः which means a person who has gained the knowledge without any doubt, the one who enjoys doubtless knowledge. But कृष्ण wants to point out that doubtless knowledge alone is not enough, because it will remain at the intellectual level only and the life situations are faced by emotional personality predominantly. It is the emotional mind that faces the situations, that is why several times we say that I know that worry is not useful, I have understood that worry will not change the situation, but even though I know I should not worry, I am not able to avoid worry. That means intellect tells something, the mind does quietly the other. Therefore, transformation in the intellectual personality is not enough, we require a transformation in the emotional personality also. Transformation at intellectual level is called a cognitive change, that is required, but it is not enough that we have that change, that knowledge must be converted into emotional strength so that whatever be the situation that come I can emotionally remain a balanced person. Attachment is an emotional problem, that's why even a highly educated person he might be intellectually strong but emotionally he is weak. Depression is an emotional problem, jealousy is an emotional problem, anxiety is an emotional problem, insecurity is an emotional problem, even great intellectuals can face this problem and therefore not only intellectual transformation is required through the study, we have to bring out the necessary emotional transformation which will convert me from प्रज्ञः to स्थिरप्रज्ञः. And how to transform this प्रज्ञः into स्थिरप्रज्ञः is the discussion of Lord कृष्ण from verse no.58 onwards. That is the topic how to convert the गीता study into emotional strength. It is not enough we stop with attending the classes it will bring about an intellectual change you begin to know what is body, what is mind, what is आत्मा, what is world, all these things become very clear in your intellect but that is not enough, it should give me the strength. And कृष्ण prescribes 3 exercises for this conversion of the knowledge into strength. And what are those three exercises.

i). No.1 sensory control, sensory regulation, sense mastery. By 'sense' we mean the five-fold sense organs and sense regulation is required because without the sensory regulation, the whole world can enter our mind without the permission. So when we build a house we don't want anybody to enter the house, what do we do, we have a door, we close it and in some houses not only a door is there, there is a watchman also, not only there is door and watchman, some places they put a board also 'No Admission Without Permission.' If the local house has got so many gates, what about our inner house called the mind which has got five openings in the form of five sense organs. कृष्ण says you should be able to close the door at the appropriate time and there must be a board also: No Admission Without Permission. Any sound should not enter, any form should not enter, I should be able to have a detector before anything enters. And if I am not going to do that स्वामी विन्मयानन्द nicely says: The place will be like a public-toilet. How all types of people enter and dirty the place, Similarly, all types of rubbish will enter through the sense organs and it would have entered in the morning but it can be so powerful that even during the night, that word that person used, that picture that you saw there, that will go round and round and round in the mind, therefore, sense regulation is very important and ii). the next exercise that कृष्ण prescribes is equally important, in spite of our sense control, still certain things may enter our mind. Not that I wanted to hear the conversation but because the ears are open, without any plug, even though I don't want certain things may enter, while I am traveling. Similarly, even though I don't want certain forms and colors may enter. Once the world has entered, in spite of my careful living, then what should I do? कृष्ण says what has entered your mind already you cannot stop. Because it has entered. Then what you can do: Whether that thought should be allowed to control. Whether we should re-live the conversation, some rubbish conversation happened, should you replay it again and again, a particular picture I saw whether I should revive in my mind, so the continuation of a thought pattern is in my hand. Often the arrival of a particular thought is not in my hand. Sometimes even without my own knowledge certain thoughts arise in my mind, surprising me myself. कृष्ण says: Doesn't mind, it might have come from outside or it might have come from your own subconscious mind, let that rubbish thought come doesn't matter, but you decide whether you should allow that thought pattern to continue. Use your willpower to nip that thought in the bud itself. This discipline is called thought discipline or mind discipline, otherwise called शमः. Sense discipline is called दमः, mind discipline is called शमः, these two exercises are extremely important for a गीता student.

iii). Then कृष्ण says these two alone are not enough, there is a third exercise also which is very important and what is that: dwelling upon the teaching that we have received from the आचार्यः. Dwelling upon the teaching which has been received during श्रवणम्, I have to revise it either in the form of reading or in the form of writing, you can write down notes, that's why I say writing notes is wonderful, even though you may never read again. And even though other people may not be able to read your handwriting, because you yourselves are not sure, so even though nobody may read the very writing process is dwelling upon the teaching or find someone to share and invite somebody for a coffee and give a very hot cup of coffee so that they don't run away and then you tell whatever you know. So in one form or the other re-live the श्रवणम्. This re-living the श्रवणम् is called निदिध्यासनम्. Re-living the class is called निदिध्यासनम् which is an extremely important exercise. Therefore we have to spend time either on the same day or before coming to the next class, just quickly revise the portion, not for examination sake, not that I am going give you pass marks or rank, not talking as a college lecturer, but I am talking from a different angle because re-lived-श्रवणम् helps in assimilating. Once I do this assimilation it gradually brings a transformation in the mind. Our own students say, giving happiness to the आचार्यः, they say, स्वामिजि I may not be able to claim I am a ज्ञानि, I may not be able to claim that I am a जीवन्मुक्त, I may not be able to claim that I am a स्थिरप्रज्ञः but I can say that previously for small incidents I used to worry for days together but now for big incidents I worry for a day or a few hours. Thus the गीता is capable of strengthening the mind. And therefore the third exercise is called निदिध्यासनम्, dwelling upon the teaching.

Even though all the three exercises are important, in this context, कृष्ण emphasizes sense control more. In this context, कृष्ण highlights the sense control. That's what we were seeing in all these श्लोकs. In the last श्लोक we saw, that is 64th श्लोकः

रगद्वेषवियुक्तैस्तु विषयानिन्द्रियैश्चरन् ।

आत्मवशैर्विधेयात्मा प्रसादमधिगच्छति ॥ २-६४॥

When you allow the sense organs to move in the world, let it be like a cautious driver. He may increase the speed of the vehicle, 50kms, 60kms, 70, but there is a difference between a rash driver and a cautious driver. A rash driver increases the speed and he doesn't have a control over the vehicle, gets into accidents, whereas a cautious driver he may go faster but at any moment he will be able to put the brake or even change the course of the vehicle. Similarly, remember your body is like the vehicle, your sense organs are like the wheels of the vehicle, your mind is like the steering. This is the example given in the कठोपनिषत्. Body is the car, sense organs are the wheels and mind is the steering, never loose the control over the mind-steering, never loose the control over the sense-organ-wheels, never loose the control over the body-car. And if a person is able to live such a disciplined life, प्रसादम् अधिगच्छति. The advantage is that he is able to maintain the equanimity of mind, he is free from violent emotion and as I said the other day, the frequency of violent reactions will become lesser and lesser. And also the intensity becomes lesser and lesser and the recovery period also will also become lesser and lesser. Not that they are totally eliminated overnight but I can manage my emotions. Therefore अर्जुन practice these three. Up to this we saw. Continuing;

Verse No .65

प्रसादे सर्वदुःखानां हानिरस्योपजायते ।

प्रसन्नचेतसो ह्याशु बुद्धिः पर्यवतिष्ठते ॥ २-६५॥

प्रसादे सर्वदुःखानाम् हानिः अस्य उपजायते ।

प्रसन्न-चेतसः हि आशु बुद्धिः पर्यवतिष्ठते ॥ २-६५॥

प्रसादे अस्य सर्वदुःखानाम् हानिः उपजायते । प्रसन्न-चेतसः हि बुद्धिः आशु पर्यवतिष्ठते ।

Here कृष्ण points out what is the advantage of enjoying an equanimous mind. प्रसादः, I told you in the last class, in this context means समत्वम्. Not the regular meaning of प्रसाद we receive from the temple. That is the extended meaning but the regular meaning of the word प्रसाद is प्रसन्न चित्तम्, शान्तिः, समत्वम्, poise, balance, equanimity is called प्रसादः. And in this verse कृष्ण says: प्रसादः will produce two fold benefits. What are the two fold benefits?

i). The first benefit is सर्वदुःखानाम् हानिः. The destruction of all sorrows. So समत्वम् will remove all the sorrows which means समत्वम् will bring in happiness or joy. Because here the idea is: we need not bring happiness from the outside world. According to वेदान्त, we need not bring happiness from the outside world because the outside world does not have happiness to give me. The outside world does not have even an iota of happiness to give me. So therefore, the outside world cannot give happiness no.1 and no.2 the outside world need not give happiness because we ourselves are the source of happiness, like the bone that is bitten by a dog. When the dog bites the bone, you know the bone does not have even a drop of blood. The bone is as dry as bone. That's why we say when anything is dry is bone-dry. But still the dog bites the bone and the bone hurts the very mouth of the dog and blood comes from dog's own mouth. And dog uses a funny logic, what is the logic? Before biting the bone, no blood; after biting the bone, blood, therefore, bone is the source of blood. We say this is dog-logic. But वेदान्त says that we are not better off. After using a sense object we enjoy happiness. Before using that we don't have happiness. Therefore we conclude the objective source of happiness. वेदान्त says every object is like the bone, it doesn't have even a droplet. The sense object only is responsible in bringing out the happiness which is our own. And how does the sense object bring out the happiness just by removing all our mental disturbances temporarily. Therefore, mental disturbances are blocking our happiness, by sense control and mind control when the mental disturbances are removed, when the blocks are removed our own आत्मानन्द manifests and therefore कृष्ण says: प्रसादे सर्वदुःखानाम् हानिः भवति. Once the disturbances are gone, in the previous श्लोक he said: शान्तिम् प्राप्नोति. That will come in the next श्लोक, शान्तिम् आप्नोति. Therefore, joy doesn't come from outside, it comes from oneself. This is benefit no.1. That is joy or आनन्द.

ii). What is the 2nd benefit? कृष्ण says, प्रसन्न-चेतसः, when the mind is calmer बुद्धिः पर्यवतिष्ठते, the Self-knowledge becomes well rooted, it becomes stronger and stronger, it becomes well assimilated. And you should remember it is not the amount of food that I consume that is important, but it is the amount of food that I assimilate that is important, because eaten food does not nourish me, but it is the assimilated food that nourishes me and when the mind is calm the knowledge gets assimilated. Therefore he says, बुद्धिः, here बुद्धिः means ज्ञानम्, प्रज्ञा will become पर्यवतिष्ठते, means it will get converted into स्थिरप्रज्ञ. And what is the difference between प्रज्ञ and स्थिरप्रज्ञ, as I said, it is available during our day-to-day-life to face the difficult situation.

Continuing;

Verse No .66

नास्ति बुद्धिर्युक्तस्य न वायुक्तस्य भावना ।

न चाभावयतः शान्तिरशान्तस्य कुतः सुखम् ॥ २-६६॥

न अस्ति बुद्धिः अयुक्तस्य न च अयुक्तस्य भावना ।

न च अभावयतः शान्तिः अशान्तस्य कुतः सुखम् ॥ २-६६॥

अयुक्तस्य बुद्धिः न अस्ति, अयुक्तस्य च भावना न (अस्ति), अभावयतः च शान्तिः न (अस्ति), अशान्तस्य सुखम् कुतः?

So in this verse, कृष्ण is highlighting the शमः and दमः exercises, the sensory control and mind control are highlighted and he points out that these two disciplines are important at every stage of spiritual साधन. I hope you remember these three words, श्रवणम् means listening to the scriptures. Don't you require mind control? Imagine you have come to this talk, your बुद्धि has decided well, instead of spending the time in any useless pursuit your intellect has concluded that गीता श्रवणम् is very beneficial. Therefore your judgment is very good. And you have come to this place but still it is not enough that you have a good judgment, you require a cooperative mind which should be in this temple, first in the temple, otherwise the mind can be all over the world, not only it should be in this temple, there also it can be wandering all over, it will be thinking, who all have come, how they have come, there also it can go anywhere, therefore the mind must be available. I told you that one old lady attended my classes long before, one day she brought a safety pin. I don't know what is the purpose? She said, स्वामिजि you are adjusting your अङ्गवस्त्रम् so often, so I thought to give you a safety pin, so that you can talk without disturbance. That means she has not heard anything. She has only observed my अङ्गवस्त्रम्. So therefore, if the mind is not behind your ears from 6.30 to 7.30, every minute and गीता श्रवणम् is different from रामायण श्रवणम्. रामायणम् even if you don't have concentration, you can leave the topic in between and wander all over and still come back, राम will be in the forest, because he was there in 14 years and you can pick up the thread. But this is a tight subject, with concentration you listen itself whether you understand or not it is doubtful, if the concentration is not there how tough it will be. Therefore every moment, every stage is a built up logic. That's how गीता is developed, that's how उपनिषत् is developed, therefore I require a mind. I remember, when we were at उत्तरकाशि, स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द had taken us for a camp. And then we had in उत्तरकाशि there is a military camp, with lot of military people. Those officers also were interested in listening to स्वामिजि. They were all seated. Then those military people came with their heavy boots and all those things, etc. Naturally imagine there was a set of people walking across and all the students turned. Then स्वामिजि said: Stop it: he wanted to give an equal shock. He said that वेदान्त students must have

काकदृष्टिः बकध्यानम् श्वाननिद्रा तथैव च । अल्पाहारम् जीर्णवस्त्रम् एवम् विद्यार्थि लक्षणम् ॥

Who is a student? काक-दृष्टिः – concentration like crow-eye. बक-ध्यानम् – like a crane which is on the shore of the river looking for fish, when fish comes and it just puts its beak and brings out; बक-ध्यानम्. श्वान-निद्रा – like a dog only he should sleep, short sleep only; अल्पाहारम् (very difficult) so अल्प-आहारम्, because अधिक-आहारम् means you will doze, जीर्ण-वस्त्रम् – simple life, simple dress, not a flashy life; एवम् विद्यार्थि लक्षणम्. स्वामिजि used to tell, let anybody walk across, even if somebody gets up and walk across, your eye should not move, right from the beginning to end, Can you do that? Try? If you can do that, you have got concentration. Therefore, for listening you require शमः and दमः and for reflecting over that you require शमः and दमः and later for निदिध्यासनम्, for dwelling upon and assimilation you require शमः and दमः, therefore अर्जुन, build-up these two values first and foremost. Without mind and sense control spiritual progress is impossible. And a person who has the sensory and mind control is called युक्त पुरुषः. युक्तः means a person with शमः and दमः. And अयुक्तः means a person without शमः and दमः. And here कृष्ण says अयुक्तस्य बुद्धिः नास्ति. The one who does not have mind and sense control, बुद्धिः नास्ति means श्रवणम् and मननम् are not possible. Or to put it in गीता language प्रज्ञः is not possible. बुद्धिः नास्ति means प्रज्ञः नास्ति, श्रवण मनन जन्य प्रज्ञ न संभवति. Not only श्रवणम् and मननम् are not possible, अयुक्तस्य भावना अपि नास्ति. Without sense control and mind control भावना, भावना means निदिध्यासनम्, otherwise called Vedantic meditation, (this is a very big topic, I have not elaborated on this topic. We will have to study this in detail. And we will be doing that in the 6th chapter of the गीता, the entire 6th chapter consisting of 47 or so verses deal with भावना or निदिध्यासनम् only. In English we can translate Vedantic meditation, आत्मध्यानम्. How to do that? कृष्ण will say. Here कृष्ण says that) निदिध्यासनम् cannot be practiced without mind and sense control, OK. And if a person does not practice श्रवण, मनन, निदिध्यासनम् then what will be the consequence? अभावयतः शान्तिः नास्ति. For a person who doesn't practice these three, शान्तिः नास्ति, peace of mind is never possible. So remember, गीता study is not an academic pursuit, is not mere a college like study, even though our class, (even I use the word classes, many people are surprised and say that I should use the word 'Discourse' or 'प्रवचनम्' 'उपन्यासम्', but I carefully avoid those words because here teaching is involved, concentration is involved, there is connection between first class and 2nd class and therefore, it is a built-up study, and therefore it is as though an academic study, but at the same time the purpose is not academic degree, but the purpose is total transformation of the way I look at life, the way I look at the world, the way I look at myself and that transformation brings peace of mind. So therefore, गीता study appears academic but the benefits are totally practical benefit and what is the practical benefit? शान्तिः. Therefore अर्जुन, if you want permanent peace of mind, study and assimilate the गीता. Therefore He says, अभावयतः शान्तिः नास्ति. And अशान्तस्य कुतः सुखम्, without peace of mind, where is the question of आत्म-आनन्द, because आत्म-आनन्द can reflect only in a calm mind. Just like if you want to see your reflection in a mirror or in water, what type of reflecting surface you require? Imagine the mirror is going up and down. And you want to look at your face, you cannot, the mirror must be clamped then only you can see your face, Similarly, आत्म-आनन्द can be reflected only in an undisturbed mind and if the mind is going to be disturbed, कृष्ण says अशान्तस्य कुतः सुखम्. How can the आत्मानन्द reflect? Just as the example of the mirror is not my example, it is given in the शास्त्र itself.

Just as in a clean surface I can see my face, Similarly, in a calm mind आत्मानन्द can be appreciated and without that आनन्द is never possible. Or even if you get peace of mind through other methods, they will never be permanent peace of mind. Other than knowledge you adopt any other method, you go to an आश्रम, स्वामिजि I went to the आश्रम and so wonderful, I could feel the vibrations of that saint and that place is so calm and quiet, I enjoyed peace of mind, enjoyed, what tense? Past tense, that means what: it is past and now I am tense, the आनन्द-peace is past and I am tense! Any other method you use it is temporary peace, whereas आत्मज्ञान, the उपनिषत् beautifully says, तेषाम् (शान्तिः) शाश्वती. This आत्मज्ञानम् alone will give शाश्वती (शान्तिः) न इतरेषाम् ॥ कठोपनिषत् २-२-१३ ॥. The other people can get temporary peace, but they will never get permanent peace. कठोपनिषत् beautifully presents. Therefore, कृष्ण asks how can you get peace and joy? Continuing;

Verse No .67

इन्द्रियाणां हि चरतां यन्मनोऽनुविधीयते ।

तदस्य हरति प्रज्ञां वायुर्नावमिवाम्भसि ॥ २-६७॥

इन्द्रियाणाम् हि चरताम् यत् मनः अनुविधीयते ।

तत् अस्य हरति प्रज्ञाम् वायुः नावम् इव अम्भसि ॥ २-६७॥

चरताम् इन्द्रियाणाम् हि यत् मनः अनुविधीयते, तत् अस्य प्रज्ञाम् अम्भसि हरति वायुः नावम् इव ।

So कृष्ण emphasizes sense control in these following two श्लोक्स also, 67 and 68. He says: If sense control is not there, दमः is not there, it will not allow the आत्मज्ञानम् to arise in the mind, even if I choose to listen to the talk of महात्माs, my sense organs, roving eyes, wandering eyes and wandering ears, will not allow me to listen to consistently, that ज्ञानम् does not arise at all. So there will be gaps, like certain types of old cassettes, you repeatedly use it again and again and you play it, 2 words will come, then gap, then some old lecture will come or go off and on. Similarly, the mind remembers certain things and sometimes the problem is they remember only the joke part and then I ask for what purpose the joke was said, they say they forgot for what; remember jokes are like pickles, they are meant for eating the main dish, you eat only the pickle and leave out the main dish what terrible thing it will be. Similarly, jokes do not have a primary value it is meant for receiving the गीता. Therefore the mind should remember the joke alright, but it should remember context for which it is said and therefore, a wayward sense organs will not allow the knowledge to take place and not only that even if the knowledge takes place somehow the wayward sense organs will rob away that knowledge. At crucial moments, when I require that knowledge it will not be available, it will take away the ज्ञानम्. Therefore, he says, इन्द्रियाणाम् चरताम् मनः अनुविधीयते, suppose the sense organs are wandering. So here चरताम् means like a grazing cow, which moves all over, Similarly, suppose the sense organs are wandering all over without my permission, I choose to look in the direction, wonderful, but without my will if they wander that is what is dangerous. And here चरताम् means they decide to go anywhere and behind the sense organs, मनः अनुविधीयते. Suppose the mind also wanders along with that. Like that cinema song they sing: 'should the mind follow wherever the eyes lead to? Should the man follow wherever the mind lead to?' If sense organs are wandering and along with that the mind is also wandering, what will it do? The wandering mind and sense organs will not allow the knowledge to take place and even if the knowledge comes they will rob away the knowledge, they will not allow the knowledge to remain with me. Therefore He says: तत् अस्य प्रज्ञाम् हरति. So तत् means the wandering mind and the sense organs, the wayward mind and sense organs अस्य प्रज्ञाम् हरति – it will rob, carry away the आत्मज्ञानम् and that is why, while receiving the knowledge during श्रवणम् and if it is not available during the day-to-day affairs, the robber has taken away. And to convey the idea, कृष्ण gives an example. What is the example? Suppose a person is traveling in a boat. And he is supposed to decide the direction of the travel, he should have oars, he should have appropriate controlling things must be there and he must direct the boat and if he is not going to control the boat, what will happen? The wind which is blowing will take the boat in any direction it wants. And wind is not going to get permission from me, whether to go to the west or east, it is not going to ask me, the wind will take in various directions, sometime the wind may take the boat to whirlpool or some such dangerous place and the boat may even capsize. Therefore just as the wind takes away the boat and destroys the boat and the traveler, similarly, the wayward mind and sense organs carries away the boat of knowledge and along with knowledge, it destroys the individual also. बुद्धि-नाशात् प्रणश्यति. Therefore here He says, वायुः नावम् इव. So वायु is compared to the wayward mind and नावम् the boat is compared to the ज्ञानम्, knowledge is called boat, सर्वम् ज्ञान-प्लवेन एव वृजिनम् सन्तरिष्यसि. Knowledge is compared to a boat because knowledge takes a person across the ocean of संसार. A Wayward mind will destroy the boat of knowledge and when the boat of knowledge is destroyed I, the traveler also am destroyed. All because of what? Lack of mind and sense regulation. Therefore कृष्ण is going to conclude,

Verse No .68

तस्माद्यस्य महाबाहो निगृहीतानि सर्वशः ।

इन्द्रियाणीन्द्रियार्थेभ्यस्तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-६८॥

तस्मात् यस्य महा-बाहो निगृहीतानि सर्वशः ।

इन्द्रियाणि इन्द्रिय-अर्थेभ्यः तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-६८॥

तस्मात् हे महा-बाहो! यस्य इन्द्रियाणि इन्द्रिय-अर्थेभ्यः सर्वशः निगृहीतानि तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ।

So कृष्ण concludes स्थिरप्रज्ञ साधनानि topic here. He says, तस्मात्, since sense control plays a very very important role in spiritual growth, यस्य इन्द्रियाणि निगृहीतानि, the seeker's sense organs must be restrained. And I would like to repeatedly remind you that कृष्ण is not prescribing suppression of sense organs. Always remember that is a very big misconception that suppression is prescribed in eastern culture. There is always the psychologists in the West are studying the eastern religion. Psychologists have come with an observation that suppression is extremely dangerous. And in our religion repeatedly we talk about इन्द्रिय निग्रहः, sense control, mind control and they mistake the control as suppression and they are warning the people that the religion is prescribing suppression which is extremely dangerous for psychological help and therefore they are prescribing a new system: Don't Suppress, Let Go, Now the Eastern system says: Letting go also is equally dangerous. If suppression is dangerous, then expression, violent and uncontrolled expression is also dangerous, what गीता prescribes is neither suppression nor unintelligent expression, but what गीता prescribes is intelligent regulation. Stopping the river is also dangerous, because if you stop a river, there will be flood and if you let the river flow in its own direction then also it becomes waste of water because it will go into the ocean. Therefore, neither stop the river nor allow the river to flow into the ocean. What do you do? Dam the river and channelize the water in the direction that you want. So गीता neither prescribes suppression nor uncontrolled expression, गीता prescribes channelization of sensory energy, channelization of mental energy, because even scientists say that we are not utilizing our full mental and intellectual energy. It is all dissipated. By this regulation we are only tapping our full potential. Therefore निगूहणम् here means channelization, direction, intelligent use of mental energy, which we had as children, you would have seen children's concentration. If an ant is running children will follow the ant. निर्विकल्पक समाधि we all had practiced. We have the capacity, in between let the mother call or let anybody walk the child will not know. We all have that capacity. In the name of growth we have lost that concentration. Also the photographic mind, the children just pick up the advertisement song seeing it once. If गीता is taught, they will pick up that also. Now for us गीता also will not come and also advertisement song. Not that we don't have, we have not used that faculty. Therefore, a person, a seeker should master the sense organs. तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता, then he can receive the knowledge and the knowledge will be well assimilated also. More in the next class.

We are in the final portion of the 2nd chapter dealing with स्थितप्रज्ञः which means a person who has attained Self-knowledge and who has assimilated the Self-knowledge, converting the knowledge into emotional strength. And in this स्थितप्रज्ञ or स्थितप्रज्ञ portion कृष्ण presents two topics,

➤ One is how can a person convert प्रज्ञः into स्थितप्रज्ञ, i.e., स्थितप्रज्ञ साधनानि, i.e., how to become a स्थितप्रज्ञ and ➤ Then the next topic is स्थितप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि, what are the natural traits of a person who is established in this knowledge.

➤ Of these two topics, स्थितप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि was discussed from verse no.55 to 57 and ➤ Then स्थितप्रज्ञ साधनानि from verse no.58 to verse no.68.

So first three verses on लक्षणानि and then 11 verses on साधनानि. Now from the next verse onwards, i.e., the 69th verse onwards कृष्ण is again reverting back to the topic of स्थितप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि once again, what are the natural traits of a person who is established in this wisdom? That means that person for whom all the साधनs are over, that person who is no more a साधक, in संस्कृत we say that person is a सिद्ध पुरुषः. The difference between साधक and सिद्ध is: साधक is one who is in the process of transformation, whereas सिद्ध is one who has accomplished complete transformation. And it is this सिद्ध पुरुषः that कृष्ण is going to talk about in the following four verses 69 to 72, i.e., the end of this chapter. We will read verse no.69;

Verse No .69

या निशा सर्वभूतानां तस्यां जागर्ति संयमी ।

यस्यां जाग्रति भूतानि सा निशा पश्यतो मुनेः ॥ २-६९॥

या निशा सर्व-भूतानाम् तस्याम् जागर्ति संयमी ।

यस्याम् जाग्रति भूतानि सा निशा पश्यतः मुनेः ॥ २-६९॥

या सर्व-भूतानाम् निशा, तस्याम् संयमी जागर्ति । यस्याम् भूतानि जाग्रति, सा पश्यतः मुनेः निशा ।

All these are important verses which are often quoted especially verse no.69 and 70. In these two verses, कृष्ण is talking about the glory of a स्थिरग्रज्ञः who is established in Self-knowledge. And to talk about the glory of such a person, कृष्ण is comparing this ज्ञानि to an ordinary अज्ञानि in the verse. Therefore a clean contrast between ज्ञानि and an अज्ञानि or संसारि and मुक्त-पुरुषः this contrast is given. And the idea that कृष्ण wants to convey is this. That is both a ज्ञानि and an अज्ञानि face the same world. It is not that they are going to face a special world which is going to be all fine, it is not so, the world is going to be the same, the world cannot be changed. The people are also going to be the same, because वेदान्त does not attempt to change the world, because it is impractical. वेदान्त does not attempt to change the people around, because it is again impractical. वेदान्त's attempt is only to change the way that I look at the world, the way that I look at the people, the way that I respond to situations and therefore, since a Vedantin has never accomplished any worldly changes the world is going to be same, corrupt world and with lot of problems, cheating people, lying people, misbehaving people, insulting people, all these people would be the same for a ज्ञानि also. And more than that even a ज्ञानि has got प्रारब्ध, because ज्ञान will not destroy प्रारब्ध we saw in तत्त्वबोध, ज्ञानि destroys his past सञ्चित कर्म, ज्ञानि avoids fresh आगामि कर्म, but ज्ञानि also has to face प्रारब्धम् which means ups and downs in life are going to continue for a ज्ञानि also. So the next question is: if both an अज्ञानि and ज्ञानि live in the same world, then what is the difference in their response? And कृष्ण is going to point out in this श्लोक that the response is going to be diagonally opposite because of the change of perspective. And कृष्ण is going to give an example which we will study later, but I will give you another example which is relatively simpler. Imagine two people are seated on the beach. Both of them are looking at the ocean. Both of them are seeing the waves rising and setting, getting destroyed. Now what both of them see is the same i.e., the waves. But imagine that one person knows that the truth of the wave is water and there is no such thing called wave at all. So one person has got wave-wisdom and that wisdom is wave is nothing but name and form, the truth is nothing but water. Therefore one person sees the indestructible water i.e., the immortal water and he does not focus upon the perishable or changing waves. Therefore one is absorbed in the immortal truth which is non-dual, अद्वैत, नित्य जलम्, one person is absorbed in because water is only one. And imagine another person who does not know the truth of the wave and therefore he is absorbed in the superficial names and forms only and therefore he takes wave as the reality. And when I am absorbed in the waves, I am going to see the perishable waves and not only that when a new wave is born, I am very much happy and I even celebrate the birthday of the wave and every year I cut the cakes also, distribute gifts also, because I am absorbed in the mortal wave. Not only I am absorbed in that, I even form relatives and friends because in the invitation it is also written with best compliments from friends and relatives, each one, one-one wave. So I see mortality, I see plurality. Both are looking at the ocean. One sees द्वैत अनित्य तरङ्गाणी. Can you understand? द्वैत means pluralistic, अनित्य means perishable, तरङ्गाणि means waves, whereas another person, has focused upon the अद्वैत-नित्य-जलम्. Just you have to change the 'अ', द्वैत-अनित्य-तरङ्गाणि is the ignorant person's vision and what is the wise person's vision, अद्वैत-नित्य-जलम्. And because of the change of perspective, what is the difference in the response? When the ignorant person is attached to the pluralistic perishable waves, the tragedy is: when every wave is born he touches the ceiling with happiness, when the wave perishes he is going to be shocked by that event. He is very gloomy. My wave is gone. And I have been so much attached, This is my grandpa-wave, this is my grandchild-wave, this is my wife-wave, husband-wave, there is crying all around, whereas in the neighborhood, there is the other person who sees that the birth and death belong to only to the superficial name and form, the content, the essence does not have mortality, therefore he is absorbed in immortality, therefore, there is neither elation in the birth of a wave nor is a depression in the death of a wave. Therefore one is absorbed in अद्वैतम् – immortality, another is absorbed in द्वैतम् – mortality. Similarly, you can take another example of a movie and the characters in the movie. Initially when you go to the theatre you see only the truth of the white pure screen and you know that the screen alone is there and once the movie begins the characters come, the hero comes, the heroin comes and of course there is villain and there is climax and all those things, gradually I am absorbed in the pluralistic superficial shadows of characters. No character is there other than shades of light and so much I am absorbed in the superficial character that I lose sight of the truth behind the characters which is nothing but the white screen, which is अद्वैतम् and the moment I loose sight of the screen the characters which are nothing but shadows, shadows become reality. And when the villain is trying to cheat the hero and shoot from behind, even we feel like shouting and telling to the hero to look behind villain is coming! So we are so much absorbed. Don't we know that there is no hero, no villain, no shooting, nothing is there, but it is capable of making us forget the truth of the screen and get lost in the superficial shadows. So one who knows that everything is screen, he is not carried away by the movie, he appreciates the movie, he might even what you call appreciate the acting of the hero or heroine, but once he comes out of the movie, he will say the heroine died very well, that means she acted very well. You are not carried away by these scenes there. But the moment the screen is forgotten, the movie moves you, that is why it is called movie, movie is one 'मुवति इति' movie! So therefore what are the two दृष्टिः: अद्वैत-दृष्टि and द्वैत-दृष्टि. ज्ञानि has got अद्वैत-दृष्टि which is the essence of the creation. Behind all the varieties of ornaments gold is one. Behind all the types of furniture wood is one. Behind all the types of waves water is one. That non-duality one who doesn't forget he has got अद्वैत-दृष्टि, he doesn't see birth and death. Whereas one who has got द्वैत-दृष्टि he is going to cry off and on. Therefore, an अज्ञानि has got द्वैत-दृष्टि, ज्ञानि has got अद्वैत-दृष्टि. where? Not in a different place, both of them live in the same world. I gave you two examples. Now कृष्ण is going to give another example in this verse. I will briefly discuss, then we will go to the श्लोक proper. In this verse, an ignorant person is going to be compared to an owl which is a type of bird which keeps awake during the night and which is awake to the night-life alone. Therefore an अज्ञानि is compared to an owl by कृष्ण. And ज्ञानि is compared to a human being. Very careful. ज्ञानि is compared to a human being and an अज्ञानि is compared to an owl. Two comparisons. And two more comparisons we should remember. The day time कृष्ण is going to compare to अद्वैतम्. Day time is compared to अद्वैतम् and the night time is compared to द्वैतम्.

- So ज्ञानि is equal to human being,
- अज्ञानि is equal to owl,
- Day is equal is to अद्वैतम् and
- Night is equal to द्वैतम्.

With these four comparisons, we have to understand the श्लोक. Now let us see. I will give some statement. See whether you are able to understand.

No.1 statement. Human being is awake to the day and he is asleep to the night. Human being is awake to the day, awake means aware of and he is asleep to the night. One statement.

And the second statement, an owl is asleep to the day and is awake to the night, an owl is asleep to the day and awake to the night. So now just replace properly. If you put equation correctly, the श्लोक will be simple, otherwise this verse is trickish!

No.1. Human being is awake to the day. Human being is comparable to the ज्ञानि and day is equal to अद्वैतम्. So human being is awake to the day, that means a ज्ञानि is awake to the अद्वैतम् and he is asleep to the night means he is asleep to द्वैतम्. So a ज्ञानि is awake to अद्वैतम् and asleep to द्वैतम्. What is the significance here? He is absorbed in अद्वैतम् and द्वैतम् is superficial for him. Like the beach man who is absorbed in the non-dual water, that the waves coming and going does not disturb him. Therefore what is the first statement? Human being is awake to the day and asleep to the night is asleep is equal to ज्ञानि is awake to अद्वैतम् and asleep to the द्वैतम्.

Now let us come to the next statement. An owl is asleep to the day, meaning not aware of the day, an owl is asleep to the day and awake to the night. How will you compare? What is an owl? An ignorant person. Fill up properly. An ignorant person is asleep to अद्वैतम् - the day, an ignorant person is asleep to अद्वैतम् and he is awake to what: he is awake to द्वैतम्. This is the essence of the श्लोक.

ज्ञानि is awake to अद्वैतम् and asleep to द्वैतम् and an अज्ञानि is awake to द्वैतम् and asleep to अद्वैतम्. In तमिळ् it is said: 'The gigantic elephant hides the wood, The gigantic elephant is (also) subsumed in the wood.' The whole thing is put in a simple language. There was a wooden elephant and it was made so realistically that from distance it looks like an elephant, even though actually elephant is nothing but name and form, the content is wood alone, an ignorant person was not aware of the wood, therefore when he missed the wood, what he was seeing was the elephant. What type of elephant? The frightening elephant and he was about to run away also. Then the wise man says: Don't run away, I will take you near the elephant. This person said near the elephant! To stand here itself I am nervous. Don't worry. I have got the मन्त्र-जालम्, elephant will do nothing. Then he goes near the elephant and asks this person to touch it and see and then he appreciates the wood which is the content, what type of wood: the harmless wood he appreciates and at once the frightening elephant has disappeared from the mind. Therefore one sees the elephant and misses the wood and another person sees the wood and not misses the elephant, he dismisses the elephant. There misses and here dismisses. Similarly, the world is now a frightening thing for an ignorant person, he feels that whole world is there only to affect me, the whole world is there only to give me trouble, that this world is a frightening thing for an ignorant person, whereas for a wise person, the very same world is harmless wood or harmless ब्रह्मन्, or beautiful God:

When you see the world you miss विष्णु or शिव, and when you see विष्णु or शिव the world is harmless नाम-रूपः. This is the example. Now look at the श्लोक. सर्व-भूतानाम् या निशा. So here सर्वभूत's refer to all the ignorant human beings, for the ignorant human beings या निशा, या means अद्वैतम्, the अद्वैतिक truth is like night, they are asleep to that. For all the ignorant people अद्वैतम् is like night, that means the अद्वैतम् is like day-time to which they are asleep, निशा means asleep to. निशा should be translated correctly. They are asleep to the अद्वैतिक truth. And तस्याम् संयमी जागर्ति and संयमी means a ज्ञानि, the wise person is awake to that अद्वैतम्. So तस्याम् means अद्वैतम्, जागर्ति means awake. So the wise man is awake to that अद्वैतम् and to that अद्वैतम्, all the ignorant people, which ignorant people? Owl like ignorant people, they are asleep to the अद्वैतम् day. Then यस्याम् जाग्रति भूतानि, all the ignorant people are awake to यस्याम्; यस्याम् refers to द्वैतम्, so all the ignorant people are awake to द्वैतम्, are awake to plurality, are awake to superficial नाम-रूपः and what is ज्ञानि doing there? सा पश्यतः मुनेः निशा. To that plurality, to that द्वैतम्, ज्ञानि is निशा. निशा means asleep to that. So in short the essence is ज्ञानि is absorbed in अद्वैतम्, an अज्ञानि is absorbed in द्वैतम्. ज्ञानि sees immortality everywhere, अज्ञानि sees mortality only. And when I see immortality, there is no question of birth and death and crying, whereas for the अज्ञानि there is birth of somebody and death of somebody and therefore constant crying. This is example No.1. Day-night example or human being-owl example. Now कृष्ण is going to give another example.

Verse No .70

आपूर्यमाणमचलप्रतिष्ठं समुद्रमापः प्रविशन्ति यद्वत् ।

तद्वत्कामा यं प्रविशन्ति सर्वे स शान्तिमाप्नोति न कामकामी ॥ २-७०॥

आपूर्यमाणम् अचल-प्रतिष्ठम् समुद्रम् आपः प्रविशन्ति यद्वत् ।

तद्वत् कामाः यम् प्रविशन्ति सर्वे सः शान्तिम् आप्नोति न काम-कामी ॥

आपूर्यमाणम् अचल-प्रतिष्ठम् समुद्रम् यद्वत् आपः प्रविशन्ति, तद्वत् यम् सर्वे कामाः प्रविशन्ति, सः शान्तिम् आप्नोति, काम-कामी न ।

So in this verse another example is being given which is a simpler one. For understanding the previous श्लोक, you should remember 4 comparisons.

- ज्ञानि is equal to human being,
- अज्ञानि is equal to an owl,
- अद्वैतम् is equal to day-time and
- द्वैतम् is equal to night-time.

One has to remember all these four and understand it. The example is for simplification and this example seems to make things tougher. व्यासाचार्य wanted to write महाभारतम्, there was this condition, he called विनायक to be his scribe and then he said that I will go on dictating you should write, then विनायक said it seems: I am a fast writer, I know shorthand therefore one condition is you should continuously dictate, if you stop my writing, then I will not be with you; continuously you have to give me work. Then व्यासाचार्य has to compose and dictate. It is not already composed. So व्यासाचार्य said it seems that: I will do that. I will put a condition for you also. You should not blindly write. Often the stenographers and typists, (don't mistake me), they have to do a fast work and therefore they cannot think while writing. This I remember very much, because previously I used to give a summary of every chapter in typed sheets. Therefore I used to ask some students to type it. In the 5th chapter, the whole chapter is renunciation chapter. When the typed sheet came and I found that everywhere where renunciation comes he had typed remuneration!! Through remuneration alone मोक्ष will come. He cannot think of the meaning, because he is doing fast. Therefore व्यासाचार्य said it seems you should not be like that and when you write you should understand the meaning you write. So what व्यास used to do was he used to compose and dictate, suppose he wanted to think a little bit he will write one श्लोक which is a little bit difficult. Then विनायक has to scratch his head to understand. By the time he understands, व्यास would have composed 100 or 1,000 श्लोकs. Therefore such श्लोकs are called ग्रन्थि श्लोकs. ग्रन्थि means knot. Knotty श्लोकs. Knotty also naughty also. So we find that 2nd chapter 16th verse, is a knotty verse. And you can find in शङ्कराचार्य's भाष्यम् also that such श्लोकs more. And this श्लोक is another knotty verse. Then the next knotty verse we get in the 4th chapter,

कर्मण्यकर्म यः पश्येदकर्मणि च कर्म यः । ... ॥ ४-१८॥

The one who sees action in inaction and one who sees inaction in action, he is wise. What did you understand? That is it. Then thereafter wards in the 9th chapter, there is a knotty verse.

मत्स्थानि सर्वभूतानि न चाहं तेष्ववस्थितः ॥ ९-४॥,

न च मत्स्थानि भूतानि पश्य मे योगमैश्वरम् ॥ ९-५॥

All the beings live in me, all the beings do not live in me. What do you understand? He is contradicting himself. So thus या निशा is a knotty verse, because he has to remember four comparison, therefore कृष्ण wants or व्यास wants to make the next one simple. Here ज्ञानि is compared to the ocean. What is the glory of the ocean? It is ever full, it is पूर्णम्. We can have dry rivers, like most of तमिळनाडु rivers. We will call it river, but children might be playing cricket there or some slum colony would have come up there, we say there is a river, so the rivers are not always full, they are full and dry also. Similarly, tanks, Similarly, wells, but what is the glory of ocean? It is ever full and it is independently full. Its पूर्णत्वम्, its fullness doesn't depend upon any external factors. Rivers do not fill up the ocean, the rains do not fill up the ocean, suppose the rivers claim I am pouring into you therefore you are only full, suppose a river ocean dialogue goes on and a river says because of me flowing into you alone you are full, for that ocean will reply, it won't even argue, it will just smile. Because ocean knows the very river is born out of me alone, from me alone water has been evaporated, because of me alone clouds are formed, because of me alone rains pour, because of me alone rivers are formed and rivers are entering me, I don't depend upon rivers but rivers depend on me. Therefore what are the two glories of the ocean? It is पूर्णम् and it is also स्वतन्त्रम्, it is independent. Rivers arrival also does not bother the ocean, rivers' non-arrival also does not disturb the ocean. Are you coming, please come; not coming, then don't come. And not only that, even the quality of rivers. गंगा also enters into ocean, यमुना also enters into ocean, our Coovam also enters into ocean, whereas ocean is ever the same, it does not get polluted that easily. In the same way ज्ञानि's mind is ever full, its fullness is not because of family condition, it is not because of somebody admires, it is not because somebody respects, it is not because somebody obeys. That is river mind. I am very happy because my children obey me. For how many days? Until the children grow. Now no need to grow, the children are not ready to obey at all! The moment they change their attitude I am shattered, the moment they become independent I am shattered. I want them to be permanently dependent on me. Thus all the अज्ञानिs have got well-mind, tank-mind, lake-mind and river-mind, they are never full and even if they are full it is dependent on external factors, therefore they are all संसारिs. ज्ञानि's mind is so पूर्णम्, wonderful experiences come, fine; no wonderful experiences, fine,

समदुःखसुखः स्वस्थः समलोष्टाश्मकान्वनः । शुभाशुभपरित्यागी... ।

We saw in the 2nd chapter itself, in the previous verses. If you remember, that is to be noted here:

यः सर्वत्रानभिरुनेहस्तत्तत्प्राप्य शुभाशुभम् ।

नाभिनन्दति न द्वेष्टि तस्य प्रज्ञा प्रतिष्ठिता ॥ २-५७॥

मङ्गल experiences come, the so called अमङ्गल experiences come, मान comes, अपमान comes, success comes, failures come, in all of them he is शमः. This is the beautiful example. Now look at the श्लोक. First example is described. समुद्रम्, the ocean is आपूर्यमाणम्, ever full and independently full. And अवल-प्रतिष्ठम् and ever remains undisturbed by the arrival or non-arrival (departure also you can say, because in form of evaporation water goes) so अवल-प्रतिष्ठम्, ever steady, ever magnanimous, ever peace, ever full, ever undisturbed and this great ocean आपः प्रविशन्ति, varieties of rivers enter the ocean. And even when all these situations, these events happen, समुद्र is पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम्. It is always full. Now we have to connect it to the ज्ञानि. Similarly, यम् कामाः प्रविशन्ति, so the ज्ञानि's ocean-like mind is there into which कामाः, here कामाः refers to sensory experiences, the world of sense objects enter शब्द, स्पर्श, somebody says you are so wonderful, you are great because you gave some donation, you think that they are glorifying you, it is only for the money, next day if you don't give they will curse you. So therefore you will find that they will scold you, you just listen, so thus some people glorify, some people criticize, so कामाः means the world of sense objects, प्रविशन्ति, they enter the full mind of a ज्ञानि. And what is the condition of his mind? सः शान्तिम् आप्नोति, he enjoys an unruffled mind, a cool mind, a poised mind he enjoys all the time. And न काम-कामी - not the ignorant person, who is heavily dependent on the external factors. So काम-कामी means dependent people, seekers of external approval. After buying even a dress constantly you have to ask, whether it is good, whether it is good, whether it is good, etc. Or some people don't ask, they expect from somebody to be asked: where did you buy? So they will walk here and there before you. So better ask it. They will walk up and down, expecting you to ask where did you buy, how much you paid etc., and if that approval is not there they are shattered. Even the small things people are flattered or otherwise they are shattered. This is काम-कामी, whereas the other person is neither flattered nor shattered. Ever समः. This is the 2nd example. Very often quoted example. This श्लोक is worth remembering. Once in a while, we may get a doubt, whether I am in a ज्ञानि or in अज्ञानि category, because you have been listening to the गीता for quite long!! And some ask the स्वामि also, whether they have become a ज्ञानि!! How to ascertain? Remember this श्लोक and think of your mind when somebody flatters you and look at your mind when someone criticizes you. That is the litmus test to know where I stand. Continuing;

Verse No .71

विहाय कामान्यः सर्वान्पुमांश्चरति निःस्पृहः ।

निर्ममो निरहङ्कारः स शान्तिमधिगच्छति ॥ २-७१॥

विहाय कामान् यः सर्वान् पुमान् चरति निःस्पृहः ।

निर्ममः निरहङ्कारः सः शान्तिम् अधिगच्छति ॥ २-७१॥

यः पुमान् सर्वान् कामान् विहाय, निःस्पृहः निर्ममः निरहङ्कारः (भूत्वा) चरति, सः शान्तिम् अधिगच्छति ।

कृष्ण continues with the topic of the ज्ञानि's state of mind. From this it is very clear that मोक्षः is not any mystic experience but enjoying a poise mind alone is called मोक्षः. And this poised mind is not unknown to you, we do have a poised mind with regard to neighbors' problem. Therefore, what is जीवन्मुक्तिः? Everyone knows. With regard to neighbors problem how you are जीवन्मुक्तः, extend it to your problem you are able to have the same state of mind. You are able to look at the neighbors' problem or your problem also on par with that. Not that you are going to ignore, you will help your neighbor, your friend or relative, you do everything but whatever you do in your heart of hearts you are not upset, you are objective that whenever they have the problem they ask for your suggestion, because they know that you are objective and when I have a problem I ask my neighbors suggestion because I know he is objective. If I can enjoy the same objectivity with regard to my problem also I am जीवन्मुक्तः. Therefore it is a known state of mind, it has nothing to do with mysticism or mystery, it is a known state of mind, only thing is that state of mind comes and goes, in the case of a ज्ञानि it is a persistent one. Therefore, कृष्ण describes: यः पुमान् सर्वान् निःस्पृहः, so पुमान् here refers to a ज्ञानि, so a ज्ञानि is one who is निःस्पृहः, not dependent on any external factors to be happy, he doesn't reject them, not that he physically renounces them, he handles all of them, he enjoys all those relationship, but he is not attached or dependent. Therefore, as long as such things and relationships are available it is wonderful, but if those things are not available - I may like to continue the relationship but if the other person breaks the relationship, what can I do, because relationship depends on two people. I may love to have relationship with the other person, that person cuts. Now-a-days, even divorce has become a very big problem. The husband doesn't want, but the wife wants. Or wife doesn't want or husband wants, the psychologists say that break is a shattering experience which is very difficult to get over. It is one of the biggest trauma, when the husband and wife get separated, why because the relationship depend upon two people, therefore, as long as I depend upon another person there is an eternal risk, I am ready to love the other person but I don't want to depend upon other person loving me. If the other person loves me, wonderful and if he doesn't like my nose, what can I do? So love is dependent on the nose, simple-nose, flat-nose, what can one do? because now the look of the person has become very important, beauty parlors are coming all over, previously females only had them, now men are very much bothered about the look, the teeth alignment and then you even the newspapers there are separate column, I have sent my photos, should I have long hair and short hair. I have very carefully made up, the other person doesn't like my nose what can I do? Therefore the other's person loves me for infinite reason and they may drop the love, what I can I do? I keep loving. In fact, I live in the world to give love not to seek love. That is a ज्ञानि. So निःस्पृहः – not seeking anything from others, कामान् सर्वान् विहाय, कामान् means sense objects, so giving up the dependence on sense objects and people, with total detachment a ज्ञानि moves in the world, निर्ममः निरहङ्कारः, निरहङ्कारः means without body identification. He doesn't even depend upon the body because body is born out of the five elements and the body depends upon these five elements for its survival and anytime this body will be claimed by these five elements. I may like to hold on to the body but the nature may not like that it has to go back. Therefore, he doesn't have identification or dependence on even the body. Body identification is called अहङ्कारः, निर्-अहङ्कारः means free from that. And therefore only निर्मम, without any ownership. Because I don't own anything in the world, I am only temporarily using things in the world, I only temporarily use things in the world, the moment I have ownership (ownership-flat, remember, it is a good example, wherever there is ownership, you are flat. Therefore, it is called ownership flat). But for the worldly sake have the ownership, keep papers, etc., that is not wrong, but in the mind remember you own nothing, even this physical body you cannot own because the nature takes this back whenever it wants not whenever I want. When I cannot claim my body how can I claim the land and waters, therefore, ज्ञानि remembers that I am not the body and nothing belongs to me. With this attitude, the one who enjoys the things as they are available and सः शान्तिम् अधिगच्छति, he enjoys life thoroughly. He enjoys life thoroughly. And now कृष्ण gives the last verse of this discourse.

Verse No .72

एषा ब्राह्मी स्थितिः पार्थ नैनां प्राप्य विमुह्यति ।

स्थित्वास्यामन्तकालेऽपि ब्रह्मनिर्वाणमृच्छति ॥ २-७२॥

एषा ब्राह्मी स्थितिः पार्थ न एनाम् प्राप्य विमुह्यति ।

स्थित्वा अस्याम् अन्तकाले अपि ब्रह्म-निर्वाणम् ऋच्छति ॥ २-७२॥

हे पार्थ! एषा ब्राह्मी स्थितिः, एनाम् प्राप्य न विमुह्यति, अन्तकाले अपि अस्याम् स्थित्वा ब्रह्म-निर्वाणम् ऋच्छति ।

So कृष्ण states that this state of mind is born out of thorough understanding of वेदान्त. Without वेदान्त ज्ञानम्, without आत्मज्ञानम्, we cannot accomplish this state of mind. That is why he is called स्थिरप्रज्ञः. Therefore, this state of mind, this perspective of the world born out of clear knowledge of who I am, as described in verses 12 to 25 of this chapter, I hope you are revising those verses, the entire गीता foundation is those few verses, therefore revise it again and again, गीता 2nd chapter 12 to 25, based on that knowledge he enjoys that state of mind which is called ब्राह्मी स्थितिः, ब्रह्मन् state, otherwise called स्थिरप्रज्ञः, otherwise called जीवन्मुक्तिः. So एषा ब्राह्मी स्थितिः पार्थ and what is the glory of it: एनाम् प्राप्य, नैनां – not the तेलुगु, it is संस्कृत, न + एनाम्, so एनाम् प्राप्य न विमुह्यति once a person attains this state of mind, there afterwards there is no fall back into संसार, there are no more conflicts in life as अर्जुन had in the battlefield. Until ज्ञानम् comes, conflicts are inevitable. To do or not to do, to be or not to be, to marry or not to marry so every stage there is a question. Conflicts are not there in him. And not only that. अस्याम् स्थित्वा, he enjoys state of mind called जीवन्मुक्तिः, how long: as long as he lives in the world, as long as there is प्रारब्धम्. And what will happen to him when प्रारब्ध is exhausted. At the time of death, what will happen to him? अन्तकाले अपि स्थित्वा ब्रह्म-निर्वाणम् ऋच्छति. He will attain विदेहमुक्तिः or merger into परंब्रह्म, which means he will not have पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम् cycle, the स्थूल शरीरम्, the सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, the कारण शरीरम् all the three bodies merge into totality. In the case of ignorant people physical body alone merges or is destroyed. The other two bodies travel, whereas in the case a ज्ञानि the other two bodies also merge, that is technical explanation. But for our simple knowledge, we can say ब्रह्म-निर्वाणम् means freedom from पुनर्जन्म, he is one with the Lord, which is otherwise called विदेहमुक्तिः and कृष्ण says for this freedom. You can attain knowledge at any time. You can get the knowledge as a youth, as a middle aged person, even during the fag end of the life you get this knowledge, मोक्षः is assured. Thus with the जीवन्मुक्तिः and विदेहमुक्तिः, कृष्ण concludes this स्थिरप्रज्ञ topic, which is the final topic of this chapter.

ॐ तत्सदिति श्रीमद्भगवद्गीतासु उपनिषत्सु ब्रह्मविद्यायां योगशास्त्रे श्रीकृष्णार्जुनसंवादे साङ्ख्ययोगो नाम द्वितीयोऽध्यायः ॥ २॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 02, SUMMARY

Today I would like to give the summary of the 2nd chapter of the गीता. The 2nd chapter can be broadly divided into four parts,

- i) The first part is from verse no.1 to 10, which is अर्जुन शरणागति part,
- ii) Then is the second part, from verse no.11 to 38, which is ज्ञानयोग part,
- iii) Then comes the third part, from verse no.39 to 53, which can be termed कर्मयोगः and
- iv) Finally from verse no.54 to 72, end of the chapter, can be called स्थिरप्रज्ञ portion.

So अर्जुन शरणागति, ज्ञानयोगः, कर्मयोगः and स्थिरप्रज्ञ, these are the four parts of the 2nd chapter. Now I will briefly sum up the 4 topics discussed in this chapter.

A) This अर्जुन शरणागति we can understand only if you remember the topic of the 1st chapter. This portion is more an extension or a continuity of the 1st chapter. In the 1st chapter we saw that अर्जुन discovered the problem of संसार in the oddest place viz., the battlefield and we saw what is the problem of संसार, it is nothing but the problem of रगः, शोकः and मोहः.

i) रगः meaning the problem of attachment, this is not अर्जुन's problem, this is the human problem, the object of attachment will vary from individual to individual but the problem of attachment is universal. And this is the fundamental human problem which अर्जुन had all the time but he discovers the problem with its intensity in the 1st chapter, कृपाया परया आविष्टः. व्यासाचार्य uses the word कृपा. कृपा here means attachment.

ii) Once a person has this attachment, then there is the natural consequence called sorrow which was called विषादः, grief. The grief because of two reasons, a) when I am attached to something, I never want to lose that particular thing. I want that particular thing or person to be eternally with me. I intellectually know that it is against the law of creation, but I forget that universal law and I want the object of attachment to be with me, I never want to lose that object.

b) And once I try to hold on to that object, any type of loss of that object, whether it is actual loss or even an imaginary loss of that object, I will not be able to withstand.

And अर्जुन was intensely attached to भीष्म, द्रोण, he had not lost them but he visualizes this war and also the possible death of these people and he continuing to survive without these people. The very imaginary loss of भीष्म, द्रोण etc., अर्जुन is not able to withstand and therefore he goes through the problem of sorrow, not born of actual loss but born of imaginary loss. This is the second problem of संसार. शोकः.

iii) Then the third problem is once the mind is under the grip of रागः and शोकः, it loses the capacity to judge things properly, it loses the capacity to discriminate between right and wrong, what is धर्म and अधर्म, which is called मोहः, धर्म-अधर्म अविवेक. Incapacity to decide what is the right course of action or we can say, human conflict. And therefore the third problem of संसार is मोहः or conflict.

This रागः, शोकः and मोहः, which is otherwise called संसार, अर्जुन intensely faces in the 1st chapter. Not only he faces or discovers this problem, he also tries to solve the problem by himself and therefore he gives a big lecture to Lord कृष्ण. In fact, in the 1st chapter, the roles are reverse, अर्जुन gives a sermon to Lord कृष्ण. And poor कृष्ण had to listen to अर्जुन's teaching. प्रारब्ध didn't spare कृष्ण also. कृष्ण withstands all this nonsense, अर्जुन says that it is not proper to fight this war and it is अधर्म and therefore I will run away from this battlefield and अर्जुन tries to solve the problem by himself and कृष्ण keeps quiet because if अर्जुन is going to solve, why should I poke my nose into his affairs and get cut. And this is how the 1st chapter ends.

अर्जुन discovers the problem and tries to solve the problem by himself, with this the 1st chapter ends. In the 2nd chapter, we get the continuity, since अर्जुन has not surrendered to Lord कृष्ण, अर्जुन has not felt the need to seek external help, कृष्ण chooses to remain silent. And in the beginning of the 2nd chapter we find अर्जुन discovers the helplessness which is called in संस्कृत कार्पण्य-दोषः. Unless we discover the helplessness, we will never surrender to the Lord. We will use the word, I surrender, as दयानन्द स्वामिजि says that daily during आरति, you will say, तन-मन-धन सब कुछ तेरा, I surrender my body, my wealth, everything to you. And it is all mechanical verbal surrender, it is never real surrender, because next day again he repeats it second time. How many bodies you have got to surrender, yesterday only you gave the body. Today also तन-मन-धन सब कुछ तेरा, next day also तन्-मन्-धन् And the poor Lord tries to find out, yesterday only he gave away everything to me, what is he offering the next day! From that it is very clear that the surrender is more a lip service, real surrender takes place only once, because in that surrender the surrenderer himself is gone, no more there to surrender again the next day. Therefore, real surrender we don't have, अर्जुन also discovers the helplessness and really surrenders because when the surrender follows discovery of helplessness, then and then alone it becomes true surrender. Therefore,

कार्पण्यदोषोपहतस्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वां धर्मसम्मूढचेताः । ... ॥ २-७॥

Therefore in the 1st chapter अर्जुन discovers the problem and tries to solve the problem. In the 2nd chapter beginning alone, अर्जुन discovers the helplessness or कार्पण्यम् and once the helplessness is discovered then what is the natural consequence: like a drowning person, who wants to hold on to anything available, अर्जुन looks around, but thank God he is lucky, if we look around the other people who are in front, who are around, are equally drowning. They are like the straw, if you hold on to them and both of them will together drown. अर्जुन was lucky, he had पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम् भगवता नारायणेन स्वयम्, he had Lord नारायण himself right under his feet. And therefore, अर्जुन surrenders to Lord कृष्ण. Just the key verse in this portion is:

कार्पण्यदोषोपहतस्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वां धर्मसम्बूढचेताः ।

यच्छ्रेयः स्यान्निश्चितं ब्रूहि तन्मे

And the last line is crucial. शिष्यः ते अहं शाधि मां त्वां प्रपन्नम् ॥ २-७॥ I am surrendering at your feet, that means what: I am not going to suggest any solutions, I am going to empty my mind so that you can fill up my mind with your wisdom. So the primary sign of a disciple is to empty the mind and hand over the empty mind, don't say already it is empty, if it is already empty then no problem, generally people have so many false notions, by reading all kinds of books and also independent philosophies they have, all these are false notions, prejudices, all these things are to be given up which alone is indicated by shaving the head when a person takes संन्यास. In संन्यास आश्रम he shaves the head, shaving the head is removing all the notions, every hair represents one false notion. How many hairs so many false ideas we have got and In fact, with that false ideas we listen, not only we listen, we judge the teacher with those false ideas and we even filter the teachings with our own prejudices. And that will not work. अर्जुन keeps aside all of them, he says: शिष्य, so the अर्जुन the यजमान, in the battlefield he entered as यजमान, the यजमान is converted into शिष्य and the moment अर्जुन becomes a disciple, कृष्ण who is a driver, an ordinary driver, the पार्थसारथि, gets converted into गीता-उपदेश कर्ता, कृष्णम् वन्दे जगत्-गुरुम्. Until this particular verse, कार्पण्य-दोष-उपहत, कृष्ण is पार्थसारथि, कृष्ण becomes a जगत्-गुरु only after this verse, that means what: a ज्ञानि becomes a गुरु not because of ज्ञानि's choice but because of the choice of the other person. As long as I don't want to learn even the greatest ज्ञानि cannot help me, the moment I open my mind and that is indicated by साष्टाङ्ग नमस्कार. That's why the first job a शिष्य should do to indicate his humility, to indicate the emptiness of his mind, the first job he should do is तद्विद्धि प्रणिपातेन, in the 4th chapter he talks about that. First humility should be shown by साष्टाङ्ग नमस्कार. An arrogant intellect will find it extremely difficult to do नमस्कार and अर्जुन is the most arrogant person in the world because he is a क्षत्रिय, a धनञ्जय, so many names and glories and wealth and position and beauty and wives, अर्जुन is such a person but he surrenders. People often ask the question? Why did कृष्ण teach अर्जुन, not to धर्मपुत्र, not to भीम, not to नकुल, not to सहदेव, not to भीष्म, not to द्रोण and people scratch their head trying to find out an answer? The answer is very simple, अर्जुन was taught because he asked for it, very simple. धर्मपुत्र never said शिष्यस्तेऽहं, भीष्म never said शिष्यः ते अहम्, अर्जुन said शिष्यः ते अहम्, if दुर्योधन had said शिष्यः ते अहम्, कृष्ण would have taught him also. So thus between the first verse and the tenth verse, we find अर्जुन getting converted into discipline, then the channels of communication is open and therefore from the 11th verse of the गीता the actual शास्त्रम् takes place. Up to 2nd chapter 10th verse गीताशास्त्रम् has not taken place, it is उपोद्घात प्रकरणम्, it is only introduction. The actual शास्त्र begins from the 11th verse. This is the essence of अर्जुन शरणागति.

B) Now we will go to the 2nd topic of the 2nd chapter from verse no.11 to verse no.38. This portion is the central or main theme of this chapter, viz., ज्ञानयोग, otherwise known as साङ्ख्य योग, both are synonymous. ज्ञानयोग and साङ्ख्य योगः are synonymous, that this portion is important we can easily know because the 2nd chapter is titled साङ्ख्य योगः. And what is the gist of this portion. We should remember, not only now, throughout the भगवद्गीता you should remember this portion, therefore you have to keep on reading this portion again and again, because this is the foundation stone upon which all the other chapters are developed. Therefore this portion from 11 to 38, especially from 11 to 25 that portion is very very important portion which has the essence of all the उपनिषत्s. And what is the theme of this portion? कृष्ण discusses the essential nature of every individual. What is जीव स्वरूपम्? Who am I in reality? कृष्ण has to talk about that because, unfortunately we do not have a very clear idea about ourselves, we have taken ourselves for granted that we never want to know who we are and we are spending all our life studying physics, chemistry, economics, dance, music, plan, we do research about everything, except ourselves because we think we know. कृष्ण wants to remove that notion and tell अर्जुन better you know what you are. And in this portion कृष्ण shows that individual is not the physical body. Thinking that I am the physical body is the biggest misconception we are born with. And the next misconception is, I am the mind with which I transact with the world. So this body and mind are considered falsely as ourselves, कृष्ण says you are not so,

तथा शरीराणि विहाय जीर्णान्यन्यानि संयाति नवानि देही ॥ २-२२॥

This body is only a temporary dress that you make use of which you will discard at the time of death. And if you have got any doubt with regard to the fact of this statement, you study your own sleep state, in the state of deep sleep you are never transacting through your physical body but still you are existent as a being. I don't function through my physical body, when I wake up, I use this body and when I go to sleep, I keep my physical body aside as it were and not only the body is kept aside during sleep, even the mind is not operational during sleep, thus body and mind are like the two goggles, two glasses of the spectacles, I use them for transaction before going to bed I remove. It is used and removed, similarly, body and mind are only media of transaction, you are not them. Then the next natural question is if I am not the body and mind, then who am I? Then कृष्ण reveals that you are the Consciousness-principle, चित्-रूपः त्वम्, चैतन्य स्वरूपः त्वम्, ज्ञान स्वरूपः त्वम्, विज्ञान स्वरूपः त्वम्, प्रज्ञान स्वरूपः त्वम्, all are synonyms, चित्, चैतन्यम्, ज्ञानम्, विज्ञानम्, प्रज्ञानम्, all these mean the same in this context, Consciousness. Then the next natural question is: what is exactly Consciousness? What is this चैतन्यम्? So this we discussed in the class which you should remember all the time, what is this Consciousness, remember the important point, a. Consciousness is not part of this body, not product of this body and not even a property of this body, it is neither a part, a product nor a property of this body,

b. Then point no.2 I said, the Consciousness which is not part nor product nor property of the body is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens this body. It is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body. Point No.2.

c. And the next point I said was, this Consciousness which pervades and illumines this body is not limited by the boundaries of this body. It is beyond the boundaries of this body. This is the third point.

d. Then the 4th and final point that we saw was that this Consciousness which is beyond the boundaries of this body continues to survive, continues to exist, even after this body collapses.

These are the four main points we should remember. And to remember I gave you an example, which you should remember, just as the light which are you are experiencing on the hand is not part, product or property of the hand, it is an independent entity which pervades and illumines the hand, the light is not limited by the boundaries of the hand and the light continues to survive even after the removal of the hand. The only difference is what: when the hand is there, light is visible and when the hand is removed, light continues but you are not able to see that. This Consciousness-principle, otherwise known as देही, otherwise known as शरीरी, otherwise known as आत्मा is your true nature. कृष्ण talked about 6 main features of this आत्मा. In the portion from 11 to 25 कृष्ण talked about six main features of this आत्मा.

a) The first feature is आत्मा is नित्यः. You can understand. नित्यः means it is eternal. Body is not, mind is not, but आत्मा the चैतन्यम् is eternal.

b) Then the second feature that कृष्ण conveyed is आत्मा is सत्यः, which means it is a reality, not a reality, the reality, which exists independently whereas everything else is dependent on the आत्मा.

नासतो विद्यते भावो नाभावो विद्यते सतः ।

उभयोरपि दृष्टोऽन्तस्त्वनयोस्तत्त्वदर्शिभिः ॥ २-१६॥

One of the very important verses of this portion, the 16th verse, शङ्कराचार्य writes a very elaborate commentary on that. आत्मा सत्यः.

c) Then the third important feature that कृष्ण presents आत्मा is सर्वगतः, Consciousness is all-pervading. The only difference being, in the body it is contactable whereas outside the body it is not visible, like the hand, light is visible upon the hand because of the availability of the reflecting medium, beyond the hand the light is, but not व्यक्तम्. In संस्कृत we have a good word. Light is व्यक्तम् upon the hand, it is अव्यक्तम् beyond the hand. चैतन्यम् is व्यक्तम् in the body but outside it is not व्यक्तम्. Therefore the third feature is आत्मा सर्वगतः. Like electricity is evident where the light is but in between in the wire electricity is, but not visible.

d) Then the fourth feature कृष्ण presents is also important, this being the foundation chapter, कृष्ण only presents the words but the details कृष्ण will build-up later like the newsreader, headlines and then the elaboration so also the 2nd chapter is headline chapter, he only shows the direction. अप्रमेयः. And what do you mean by that? आत्मा is ever the experiencer, never the experienced. It is ever the experiencer, it can never be experienced. Anything that you experience in life is called अनात्मा. And आत्मा is ever the subject, never the object. Remember a camera, the camera can click and take the pictures of every blessed thing, except what? The camera itself. Every photo proves the camera, but the photo doesn't include the camera. Every experience proves the आत्मा, but no experience includes the आत्मा. Therefore I am ever the Seer, never the seen. This is called अप्रमेयः. This is the fourth feature.

e) Then the fifth feature that कृष्ण gives is आत्मा is अकर्ता-अभोक्ता, (we have include both together) which means it never does any action, therefore, it does not reap the result of any action. अकर्ता means no connection with कर्म, अभोक्ता means no connection with कर्म-फलम्. कर्म अपि नास्ति फलम् अपि नास्ति. कर्म कर्मफल अतीतः आत्मा. That is why it is said

न पुण्यम् न पापम् न सौख्यम् न दुःखम् न मंत्रो न तीर्थम् न वेदा न यज्ञाः

अहम् भोजनम् नैव भोज्यम् न भोक्ता विदानन्दरूप शिवोऽहम् शिवोऽहम् ॥ निर्वाणषटकम् ४ ॥

it is neither a doer nor an enjoyer. This is the fifth feature.

f) Then the 6th feature is आत्मा is निर्विकारः.

न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचिन्नायं भूत्वा भविता वा न भूयः । ... ॥ २-२०॥

This is an important concept or important feature. कृष्ण himself wants to underline. Therefore he changes the meter of this श्लोक. Suddenly he changes the meter from smaller one to a lengthier one. So that you will get a jerk. Just to wake you up कृष्ण changes the meter. निर्विकारः means free from all six modifications, the modifications being potential existence, birth, growth, change, decay and death. Which we saw in तत्त्वबोध. अस्ति जायते वर्धते विपरिणमते अपक्षीयते विनश्यति. These are called six-fold modifications; षट् विकार रहितः and कृष्ण wants अर्जुन to recognize this आत्मा. and not only the आत्मा should be recognized, the most important thing is I should learn to claim this आत्मा as myself and I should learn to look upon the body and mind as incidental instruments which is a temporary gift from the Lord. And instruments will go away daily during the night it is temporarily lost, but later the body will be taken permanently once I know that I am not the body they are only instruments, then I don't have अभिमान and therefore the mortality of the body, the old age of the body, do not torment me.

So this is ज्ञानयोग portion. Knowing the आत्मा and claiming the आत्मा as myself. And कृष्ण presents this ज्ञानयोग as a permanent remedy for all problems. This is the 2nd topic.

C) Then the third topic is कर्मयोगः, from verse no.39 to 53. Even though ज्ञानयोग is permanent solution, there is a problem that since ज्ञानयोग is a subtle topic it is not that easy for everyone to comprehend. कृष्ण himself tells that:

आश्चर्यवत्पश्यति कश्चिदेन्माश्चर्यवद्भदति तथैव चान्यः ।

आश्चर्यवत्त्वैनमन्यः शृणोति श्रुत्वाप्येनं वेद न चैव कश्चित् ॥ २-२९॥

आत्मा is such a topic that you can study about it for 25 years and still successfully be ignorant of what that आत्मा is. All other things I have understood, स्वमिजि, in the गीता I have understood कर्मयोग, have understood विश्वरूप, भक्ति, have understood very well the 1st chapter. There is no difficulty, he blew this conch and that conch, I have nicely understood. But one topic is not clear. They are saying आत्मा आत्मा except that everything I have understood. That means it is the subtlest topic, a person will find it difficult unless he prepares the mind, therefore कृष्ण wants to consider those people, like we have got reservation system so that everybody is brought to the level, कृष्ण also wants to help those people who find ज्ञानयोग too dry, too irrelevant or too difficult for grasping. कृष्ण says: don't worry, drop ज्ञानयोग, don't bother about that, then what to do: ज्ञान प्राप्ति: if it is not there, work for ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्ति, get ज्ञानयोग्यता. How to get? Practice कर्मयोग.

Then कृष्ण briefly talks about कर्मयोग and what is the essence: we saw, proper action plus proper attitude is equal to कर्मयोग. Proper action plus proper attitude is कर्मयोग. Now we should know what is proper action? Later कृष्ण divides the action into three types, the best one, the mediocre one and the worst one. उत्तम, मध्यम, अधम, known as सत्त्विक, राजस and तामस.

What is the best action which is appropriate for कर्मयोग? सत्त्विक कर्म. What is सत्त्विक कर्म? An action in which the beneficiaries are more in number. Not I alone am the beneficiary. I also am included but the beneficiaries are more, the more the beneficiaries are then the greater the action is, which they call in the शास्त्र as निष्काम कर्म. That is I have got an expanded mind, whatever I do I take into account not only myself, if I take into account the entire family my mind is expanded a little bit more, I take into account the entire village still expanded, I take into account the entire society, the entire nation, the entire world, the entire environment, environment-friendly action. That is called ideal कर्मयोगः. Like throwing the dirt outside from my house. I am cleaning my house but am not aware of my surrounding. Therefore सत्त्विक action is self-less action. That is उत्तम.

राजसिक action is selfish action. I don't bother about society or world. The God will take care of it! It is their fate, they have to starve!! So therefore fatalism is very handy for a selfish person. And I heard that there was someone advising: "Never help another person because you are violating the Lord's order, because the Lord has decided that he should suffer! And when you are trying to help him you are working against the Lord's will. So don't help!!" Unique philosophy!! So selfish action is राजसिक, मध्यम.

And the worst action is what? An action in which I benefit at the cost of all the other people, harming other people I get the benefits, selfish person does not harm others he wants to enjoy for himself. That is called तामसिक कर्म.

A कर्मयोगि gives top preference for सात्त्विक कर्म, next one is राजस कर्म and the तामस कर्म should be nil and when this proportion changes it becomes कर्मयोग. This is proper action.

Then proper attitude is equally important. What is proper attitude? Whatever action I do, I do with love and sincerity. I enjoy what I do. Otherwise it is insult to that action. It is insult to the Lord. कृष्ण will tell that in the 18th chapter,

मुक्तसङ्गोऽनहंवादी धृत्युत्साहसमन्वितः । ॥ १८-२६॥

Learn to enjoy what you do. As somebody nicely said, ‘if you cannot/do not get the action that you love learn to love any action that you have to do.’ Therefore, love the action, we can develop loving that action. Even the most menial job that we have to do we can learn to love and once I love, there is sincerely, there is whole-heartedness, I will do it in as much perfect a manner as possible, without bothering whether it will be acknowledged or rewarded or not, that is none of my concern, If I am doing it I should do it properly. How to do it wholeheartedly? Only by having the attitude that this action is an offering to the Lord. So take every action however mechanical it might be, however secular it might be, do it as ईश्वर अर्पणम्. That is proper attitude with regard to action and then whatever be the consequences of my action, because every action has got a consequence. I would have done with so much sincerity and they may criticize me, even often the children criticize the parents, you didn’t bring us up properly. They could have brought up according to their knowledge. As somebody said a child was reading a book ‘How to bring up children’, then the parent asked, you are after all a child, why do you read this now?. Then the child replied, I am reading to find out whether you are bringing us up properly! Therefore, the children can criticize after you do everything and therefore it may be a thankless job, so whatever may be the consequence, take it as प्रसाद. Therefore what is proper attitude? Doing action as offering to the Lord and receiving the result as the प्रसाद, as the gift of the Lord. These two put together is कर्मयोग. More details we will be seeing in the 3rd chapter. And then कृष्ण talks about the benefit of this कर्मयोग, not that कर्मयोग will give मोक्षः, it should be very clear, कृष्ण or शास्त्र never accept कर्मयोग as a means of liberation. So then what is कर्मयोग meant for? It is to give ज्ञानयोग योग्यता प्राप्तिः. It will make me fit to enter ज्ञानयोग.

तदा गन्तासि निर्वेदं श्रोतव्यस्य श्रुतस्य च ॥ २-५२॥

To put in तत्त्वबोध language, one will get साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति by कर्मयोग. So this is the third topic from verse no.39 to 53.

D) And then from 54 to 72, we get the fourth topic which is also important topic, that is स्थिरप्रज्ञ or स्थितप्रज्ञ, both are same and what do you mean by the word स्थिरप्रज्ञ? A person who has successfully gone through कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. And therefore who has clearly gained Self-knowledge, that I am the आत्मा, I am not the body and mind. Not only he has got this knowledge, he has assimilated this knowledge and he has converted this intellectual knowledge to emotional strength. Because without emotional strength you cannot face the crisis of life, therefore knowledge must be converted into emotional strength, thus first become प्रज्ञः then you become स्थिरप्रज्ञः. प्रज्ञः means intellectual knowledge he has, स्थिरप्रज्ञः means he has not only intellectual knowledge but emotional strength to face life. And in this स्थिरप्रज्ञ portion we have got two subdivisions,

i) one is how to become स्थिरप्रज्ञ, that is one topic. That is after learning वेदान्त how to convert into emotional strength. Because in the class by studying the गीता, I can get the knowledge, people say 'intellectual knowledge, I do understand', स्वामिजि but worry is not leaving me. That means by श्रवणम् you get only प्रज्ञः. We have to initiate and work independently, गुरु is helpless. गुरु can only convert a person into प्रज्ञः. अज्ञः to प्रज्ञः. अज्ञः is अज्ञानि. गुरु will convert अज्ञः into प्रज्ञः but गुरु cannot do anything to convert प्रज्ञः into स्थिरप्रज्ञः. That effort शिष्य has to put separately. Otherwise knowledge will remain in one corner. Like water and oil and the life's problems, like love, hate, anger, greed, etc., will continue making life more miserable because people will say: What is the use of attending to गीता class, all useless teachings, etc. So therefore that effort has to be शिष्यः. So therefore first subdivision how to become स्थिरप्रज्ञः and

ii) second subdivision is if I have become a स्थिरप्रज्ञः, what transformation would have taken place in my life. In संस्कृत we say स्थिरप्रज्ञ साधनानि and स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि. First we will take up the साधनानि. How to convert your गीता study into emotional strength? कृष्ण prescribes three exercises or three disciplines, exercise here is not lifting hands 1,2,3, etc., but mental exercises. What are those three?

a) No.1 इन्द्रिय निग्रहः – sense mastery, which should be there even before coming to गीता. But we always come through back door. So कृष्ण says if you have not done that साधन already better you concentrate on that. And why sense discipline is important, if that is not there what enters your mind through your sense organs you would have no control and if anything and every rubbish enters your mind the world can disturb your mind, a disturbed mind cannot assimilate the वेदान्त. Therefore disciple No.1 इन्द्रिय निग्रहः. Not suppression. Remember, it is regulation, channelization, direction, because suppression is as dangerous as free-let-go-philosophy.

b) Then the 2nd discipline that कृष्ण emphasis is मनो निग्रहः, thought discipline, varieties of thought occur in my mind, so certain thoughts are deliberately entertained by me but many of the thoughts are not deliberately entertained, thoughts come just as they like, in between class so many thought. In ध्यान so many thoughts come unwontedly over which we do have control because thoughts are determined not only by our subconscious or unconscious, our previous जन्म can decide our thoughts. People say: स्वामिजि sometimes I get such dirty and rubbish thoughts which I have never thought in this life, I fear it. Only saving grace is that nobody will see what is happening in my mind. Now कृष्ण says: don't bother about the arrival of thoughts, because that is not under your control, Because past you cannot change now, but you can do and what you should do is, let that come, coming is not under your control, but whether I should patronize those thoughts, perpetuate those thoughts or not I can consciously decide.

इन्द्रियस्य इन्द्रियस्य-अर्थे राग-द्वेषौ व्यवस्थितौ । ॥ ३-३४॥

certain thoughts will come, but make sure that you decide their perpetuation. If it is not healthy for absorption of वेदान्त, nip it in the bud, don't feel guilty for its arrival, but only be deliberate in nipping them in the bud. This is called मनो निग्रहः.

c) Third and final discipline is निदिध्यासनम्. Dwelling upon this teaching as often as possible. It may be reading the book or it may be sharing your thoughts with somebody else or repeated listening in one form or the other, with closed eyes or without closed eyes, with open eyes dwell upon the teaching.

If these three you are ready to do, gradually you will get assimilated, more details कृष्ण will give in the 6th chapter. Because 2nd chapter is only introduction to the whole गीता. By this one will become स्थिरप्रज्ञः.

And the next topic is स्थिरप्रज्ञः लक्षणानि. Once I have assimilated, then what transformation it will bring about, कृष्ण gives many श्लोकs, I will emphasize two points, the first thing is freedom from binding desires born out of self-sufficiency, self-fulfillment. This knowledge will give me such a mental fulfillment that I don't have any binding desires, whatever I want to do thereafter, they are only preferences, I will like to do them and if they are done and successful, fine, if they are not fulfilled also it is fine. They are called non-binding desires. So all binding desires are gone, all binding desires are gone, only non-binding desires if any, which are harmless. And this is because of self-sufficiency. We can call it पूर्णत्वम्. I don't miss anything in life. And the 2nd important trait of this assimilation is समत्वम् or equanimity of mind, which means freedom from रागः, भयम्, क्रोधः, etc., turbulences caused by fear, turbulences caused by anger, turbulences caused by jealousy all of them don't come to me, I enjoy समत्वम् in spite of ups and down in life, therefore constant tranquility is the second benefit and to convey this idea कृष्ण gives the example the ocean, just as the ocean is ever full, irrespective of rain and irrespective of reverse, merging into the ocean or not. Therefore पूर्णत्वम् and समत्वम् are the main traits of स्थिरप्रज्ञः. And कृष्ण concludes the chapter by saying that this स्थिरप्रज्ञः is a free bird, wherever he goes he never faces any conflict, not only he enjoys freedom while living, he enjoys freedom after death also, both जीवन्मुक्तिः and विदेहमुक्तिः.

With this fourth and final topic of the 2nd chapter is over. Even though 4 topics are there, ज्ञानयोग being the central theme the chapter is called साङ्ख्य योग.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 01-03

Verse No .01

अथ तृतीयोऽध्यायः ।

अर्जुनः उवाच ।

ज्यायसी चेत्कर्मणस्ते मता बुद्धिर्जनार्दन ।

तत्किं कर्मणि घोरे मां नियोजयसि केशव ॥ ३-१॥

ज्यायसी चेत् कर्मणः ते मता बुद्धिः जनार्दन ।

तत् किम् कर्मणि घोरे माम् नियोजयसि केशव ॥ ३-१॥

हे जनार्दन! कर्मणः बुद्धिः ज्यायसी ते मता चेत्, तत् हे केशव! माम् घोरे कर्मणि किम् नियोजयसि ?

The 3rd chapter of the गीता begins with a question from अर्जुन which is based on the teaching given in the 2nd chapter. अर्जुन is confused with regard to कृष्ण's teaching, even though कृष्ण has been very clear. अर्जुन's confusion is because of the following reason. In the 2nd chapter कृष्ण began the teaching with ज्ञानयोग or Self-knowledge. He said:

अशोच्यान् अन्वशोचः त्वम् प्रज्ञा-वादाः च भाषसे ।

गतासून् अगतासून् च न अनुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः ॥ २-११॥

The main statement being: पण्डिताः न अनुशोचन्ति, the wise people do not grieve in life. Through this कृष्ण emphasized the point that the wisdom alone is the remedy for the problem of grief and from that we get a corollary that ignorance alone is the cause of the grief. This is the foundation of वेदान्त. अज्ञानात् दुःखम्, ज्ञानात् सुखम्. Ignorance causes sorrow, knowledge gives happiness or freedom from sorrow. Thus कृष्ण has emphasized ज्ञानम् in the very beginning of the teaching. And at the end of the 2nd chapter also कृष्ण has emphasized ज्ञानम् alone talking about स्थिरप्रज्ञ elaborately. अर्जुन's question was about स्थिरप्रज्ञ which means a man of clear knowledge and कृष्ण spent 17-18 श्लोकs or more to talk about the greatness of a ज्ञानि and he concluded saying:

एषा ब्राह्मी स्थितिः पार्थ नैनां प्राप्य विमुह्यति ।

स्थित्वास्यामन्तकालेऽपि ब्रह्मनिर्वाणमृच्छति ॥ २-७२॥

Thus a ज्ञानि will never have delusion in life. Not only a ज्ञानम् is a solution for sorrow, ज्ञानम् is the medicine for conflicts in life also. And in the 1st chapter we saw अर्जुन's primary problems were these two – sorrows and conflicts and in the 2nd chapter beginning and at the end of the chapter कृष्ण said that ज्ञानम् is the common medicine for both the problems sorrow as well as मोहः, delusion. Therefore, naturally अर्जुन gets the idea that we should work for the ज्ञानम् medicine. And naturally, how do we get ज्ञानम्? Only by going in search of the source of knowledge. Either going in search of a गुरु or going in search of a गुरुकुल. So therefore pursuit of ज्ञानम्, knowledge is presented as the remedy for the problem of संसार. In the beginning of the 2nd chapter and in the end ज्ञानम् is emphasized, but in the middle of the 2nd chapter कृष्ण talks about कर्म very much.

कर्मण्येवाधिकारस्ते मा फलेषु कदाचन ।

मा कर्मफलहेतुर्भूर्मा ते सङ्गोऽस्त्वकर्मणि ॥ २-४७॥

योगस्थः कुरु कर्माणि सङ्गं त्यक्त्वा धनञ्जय ।

सिद्ध्यसिद्ध्योः समो भूत्वा समत्वं योग उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

In this middle portion, कृष्ण strongly advises अर्जुन that कर्माणि कुरु, अर्जुन! perform action. Thus in the beginning and end, ज्ञानम् is glorified and in the middle कृष्ण is talking about कर्म, therefore अर्जुन's conflict is: "Should I go after ज्ञानम् or should I dedicate my life for कर्म? should I follow ज्ञानयोग or कर्मयोग?" And between these two, अर्जुन naturally has an inclination to give up the कर्म here, because in this context the कर्म that he has to do is extremely unpleasant. Therefore he is looking for an escapism route. Because here it is not a happy war, even though normally अर्जुन loves to fight, because he is a क्षत्रिय and he is a great archer, In fact, his hands itches for fighting, when for 13 years he was in forest he was waiting for this महाभारत war. Even though normally अर्जुन likes fighting, here in front भीष्म, द्रोण etc., are standing, therefore he doesn't like to do कर्म and therefore he is looking for an escapist route. And in the 2nd chapter, कृष्ण has talked about the glory of ज्ञानम्. Therefore, अर्जुन feels that it is a nice opportunity, I will drop the bow and arrow and say हे कृष्ण! you only have said ज्ञानम् is only remedy, therefore I want to go to some गुरुकुलम् and study गीता, उपनिषत्, etc. In fact, more than studying गीता, उपनिषत् what he wants is to get out of this war. But even while अर्जुन feels that he should run away from the battlefield, अर्जुन remembers कृष्ण's advice – योगस्थः कुरु कर्माणि, 'अर्जुन you should do your duty which happens to be fighting the war here.' Therefore अर्जुन feels that कृष्ण is a confusing teacher. Because we are experts in blaming others. As somebody said: To Err Is Human, To Put The Blame On Someone Is More Human. Therefore, अर्जुन finds fault with कृष्ण instead of finding fault with himself, अर्जुन says: हे कृष्ण! you are confusing me. How are you confusing? You are glorifying ज्ञानम् as the best, not even the best, the only remedy for sorrow and conflict and having glorified ज्ञानम् you are advising me to do what: to do कर्म. अर्जुन ज्ञानम् is great. Therefore do कर्म. How is this? It is like saying, here is Rs.500, 100 rupees note, I say Rs.500 is more valuable, therefore take the 100 rupee note. How will this be? It looks ridiculous, contradictory, unintelligent. So हे कृष्ण! you are doing the same thing, you glorify the ज्ञानम् and ask me to do कर्म. But we should know whether कृष्ण has confused अर्जुन or not. Let अर्जुन blame कृष्ण but we should not join अर्जुन. Therefore we should make a study of the 2nd chapter to find out whether कृष्ण has really confused

अर्जुन. You find that कृष्ण has not confused. In fact, the confusion is because of improper grasping. In fact, this is a widely prevalent confusion also. People always ask the question. कर्मयोग is superior or ज्ञानयोग is superior? And some people add two more योगs – भक्तियोग is superior or राजयोग is superior? Later so many God-men, they add some more योग, कुण्डलिनि योग is superior or some other योग. So we want to compare and find out which one is superior so that we can follow whichever is the best, which is presented as different paths to मोक्ष. कर्मयोग path, ज्ञानयोग path, भक्तियोग path, राजयोग path, all paths leading to one goal, we will choose which one is better. This approach is very very prevalent. अर्जुन also commits the same mistake. He compares कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग and he wants to dump one of them as superior. His claim is: ज्ञानयोग is superior method and therefore we should take to ज्ञानयोग so that we can avoid कर्म also. Here alone we should very very clearly grasp the शास्त्रिय essence. We should never compare कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग, because comparison is possible only where there are options. Comparison is possible only where there are options and from the 2nd chapter, if you clearly study, कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग are not optional साधनs. On the other hand, both of them are equally important for every individual. कर्मयोग is the first stage of साधन which makes a person fit for ज्ञानयोग. It is like asking whether you want what you call primary school or secondary school. Is there a choice? You have to go only one after the other, without going through the one the second is impossible, that is why I said before, कर्मयोग is incomplete without ज्ञानयोग, ज्ञानयोग is impossible without कर्मयोग. This कृष्ण had made very clear in the 2nd chapter.

अर्जुन, initially you have to go through कर्मयोग and prepare the mind. मोह-कलिलम् व्यतितरिष्यति, purify the mind, it is like washing the hand before eating. Suppose somebody asks, should I wash the hand or should I eat the food. What will you say? Should I wash the hand or should I eat the food, suppose I say eat the food, that means what: you will not wash and you will eat which is dangerous and therefore I say you wash the hand and you wash and go away. So what choice is there between washing and eating? कर्मयोग is washing, ज्ञानयोग is eating. When I say ज्ञानयोग is eating, don't think that from next class, you will get meals! So washing and eating are equally important. Then somebody says, both are important and therefore I will eat first and then wash the hand later! Therefore washing before eating is important, after eating one has to wash is a different matter. Therefore कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग are must for everyone. Therefore there is no choice. And when कृष्ण advised अर्जुन to do कर्म, not as an option but as a preparatory step, therefore कृष्ण's advice is: अर्जुन, do कर्म, purify, gain knowledge and be free. This is the essence of गीता. Act, Purify, Know and Be Free. This कृष्ण has made very clear, no confusion. But अर्जुन did not listen properly and therefore he mistakes कृष्ण. This is called filtered-listening. This is one of the greatest problems any student will face, when he comes to the class he wants to listen certain things because already he has formed a clear-cut philosophy, like some people say: in कलियुग, भक्ति only will work and not ज्ञानयोग, something like this has gone into his head, कर्मयोग will not work in कलियुग. They will say for emotional people ज्ञानयोग will not work, only भक्तियोग will work. In भक्तियोग, you should cry. As such you are crying. You have to add a little more and continue, because they have defined भक्तियोग as crying and already you are crying, continue that in the name of भक्तियोग; like that we have got some fixed notion and we listen with a filter in our brain and whenever स्वामिजि tells something which already we have thought of, 'स्वामिजि talked nicely today', because whatever he had thought of that only स्वामिजि talked. When children and parents listen (when both of them are listening to the class), whenever I criticize the parents sometimes, the children note that very well. And whenever I criticize the children, then the parents will note. This is called filtered-listening. अर्जुन wanted to avoid कर्म and therefore he did not listen properly. कृष्ण's advice was कर्म is necessary and then ज्ञानम् is necessary. And based on this wrong grasping, अर्जुन puts this question, but the greatness of कृष्ण is: कृष्ण does not blame अर्जुन. He does not say that you have not listened properly. Can't he say that, because the शिष्य is blaming the गुरु? The greatness of the teacher is he listens to the question as though it is a fresh and intelligent question, even though it is born out of improper listening, कृष्ण never blames, He teaches the whole thing once again elaborating the importance of कर्मयोग. Thus you will find the 3rd chapter will elaborate कर्मयोग portion, the 4th and 5th chapters will elaborate ज्ञानयोग portions. With this background we have to study अर्जुन's question.

अर्जुन उवाच. अर्जुन asked. What did he say: हे जनार्दन! बुद्धिः ज्यायसी कर्मणः. बुद्धिः means आत्मज्ञानम्, Self-knowledge, in संस्कृत almost every word has got different meaning in different contexts, because संस्कृत is a live language, where different suffixes and prefixes are used to one root and each affix has got a different meaning according to context. बुद्धिः is derived from the root √बुद्, to know and a suffix has been added ति, बुद् plus ति, this suffix according to context can refer different things, either it can refer to an object of knowledge, that ति refers to the object, बुद् means to know, therefore बुद्धिः can refer to an object of knowledge, बुद्धिः can refer to instrument of knowledge, बुद्धिः can refer to knowledge itself, whether it is object, whether it is instrument, whether it is knowledge itself, we have to see the context to know. In तमिऴ् when we ask: 'Do you have बुद्धिः?' In that place बुद्धिः refers to the instrument of knowledge, but in this context the word बुद्धिः does not refer to instrument but it refers to knowledge itself. ज्ञानम् and that too what ज्ञानम्? आत्मज्ञानम्. This आत्मज्ञानम् is कर्मणः ज्यायसी – appears to be superior to कर्म. From your 2nd chapter teaching, it appears Oh कृष्ण, that ज्ञानम् is superior to कर्म. Why, because you have praised ज्ञानम् in the beginning, you have praised ज्ञानम् in the end also and you have presented ज्ञानम् as the remedy for sorrow and conflict and therefore I assume that ज्ञानम् is superior to कर्म. And then अर्जुन says this is not my presentation, you yourselves have said that and he quotes, इति ते मता – this is your teaching. And then what mischief you are doing, after glorifying ज्ञानम्, repeatedly and talking so high of the स्थिरप्रज्ञ, you are asking me to do what? माम् घोरं कर्मणि नियोजयसि? Instead of inspiring me to go to some आश्रम and study the scripture, you are asking me to go to the battlefield and you are engaging me in action and we all know that action does not produce any knowledge. That is why we call it कर्मेन्द्रियाणि, कर्मेन्द्रियाणि cannot produce any knowledge, if you have got any doubt, daily morning you wash your room for one hour and see what is the new knowledge you have gained or you want to know when is the तमिळ्नाडु express coming to Chennai Central. You want to gain the knowledge. You do half an hour running. Will you get this knowledge? कर्म cannot produce ज्ञानम्. So you are glorifying ज्ञानम् and you are engaging me in action, which is of no use at all. And thereto if the action is a noble action, it is a pleasant action, it will be fine. Like people come to the vote of thanks and say that it is my pleasant duty and he will not finish and everyone of the audience wants to rush back home, but he gets a nice chance in front of the mic therefore goes on & on & on & on, because it is a pleasant duty for him but it is an unpleasant duty for the audience! So we know that certain actions are unpleasant. For अर्जुन if it were a pleasant action, it would have been fine. But you are engaging me in what action, घोरं कर्मणि which is a terrible action, bloody action because it involves blood flow, that too not for killing कर्ण which would have been fine, but in front of his mental eyes his dear भीष्म and dear द्रोण are standing. Therefore, how can I think of killing them? So, माम् घोरं कर्मणि किम् नियोजयसि?

किम् means कस्मात्. Why do you contradict yourselves? Glorify one thing and engage me in another thing. So जनार्दन and केशव are names of Lord कृष्ण. Continuing;

Verse No .02

व्यामिश्रेणेव वाक्येन बुद्धिं मोहयसीव मे ।

तदेकं वद निश्चित्य येन श्रेयोऽहमाप्नुयाम् ॥ ३-२॥

व्यामिश्रेण इव वाक्येन बुद्धिं मोहयसि इव मे ।

तत् एकं वद निश्चित्य येन श्रेयः अहम् आप्नुयाम् ॥ ३-२॥

व्यामिश्रेण इव वाक्येन मे बुद्धिं मोहयसि इव । तत् निश्चित्य एकं वद, येन अहम् श्रेयः आप्नुयाम् ।

अर्जुन continues with the same topic. He says व्यामिश्र वाक्यम् you are using. व्यामिश्र वाक्यम् means contradictory statements, confusing statements. And what is the confusion here, you glorify ज्ञानम् and ask me to vote for कर्म. Like election speech, this party is very good, therefore vote for the other party, that is called व्यामिश्र वाक्यम्. So हे कृष्ण! you are supposed to be सर्वज्ञ ईश्वर, in the first I found that I was confused and to remove my confusion I approached you and instead of removing my confusion you have added one more confusion. Earlier I had the only confusion whether to fight or not, but now whether it is कर्म or ज्ञान, this confusion has crept. Therefore through contradictory statements, बुद्धिम् मोहयसि – you are confusing my intellect. Look here the word बुद्धिः should be taken as intellect. In the previous श्लोक we translated बुद्धिः as knowledge, in this श्लोक we should translate as intellect. In every language, the words will have different meanings, it is true for संस्कृत also. That is why we say गुरु is required. Or else, you will get all wrong meaning. But here, अर्जुन uses an important expression which is to be noted, he says you are using contradictory statements as though, that as though is very important, because here अर्जुन doesn't want to say that कृष्ण is contradicting himself because अर्जुन has total faith in कृष्ण. How can my गुरु, my friend, the Lord करुणामूर्ति confuse me, therefore I don't want to say, you are contradicting me, for me it appears as though you are contradicting. That means, in the previous श्लोक he blamed कृष्ण but by that time अर्जुन recovers himself and puts the blame on himself. You will not teach wrongly, but I have understood wrongly, it is my mistake. This is called विनयः, this is called humility, this is called faith in the teacher. गुरु is illogical. That means improper attitude, that is called lack of श्रद्धा. But at the same time we also want it should not be blind swallowing of the statements also, because the गुरु has said, it appears illogical to me, but still OK, I accept, why, because my गुरु said. If I blindly accept it also it is not proper, if I feel there is illogicality I should not swallow that. If I swallow that it is called blind faith. At the same time, I should not blame the scriptures and the teachers, that is illogical, then what should I do? Instead of swallowing the seemingly illogical statement, I tell my teacher: for my understanding it appears illogical, I know that you will not be illogical, which means I have not grasped properly, therefore I would request you to teach again and again I listen and after grasping I see whether there is any illogicality. Suppose again if I find illogicality, what should I do? Ask again. And again ask again. How many times? Until you grasp properly. And how do I know whether I have grasped properly. When I grasp properly there will not be illogicality. There is no illogicality in our scriptures, In fact, we have got one separate text called ब्रह्म सूत्रा, which is called न्याय प्रस्थान, which is exclusively meant for logical analysis of scriptures. Therefore, other people might have, other religions might have illogicality, because of their emphasis of faith, but in our scriptures we don't emphasis faith alone, but we emphasis understanding. Therefore ask any number of questions until you are convinced. And therefore अर्जुन instead of blaming कृष्ण he shows his श्रद्धा and says: “कृष्ण you are confusing me as it were. Through contradictory statements as it were.” Two times as it were and therefore what do I want? I won't reject you, एकम् वद निश्चित्य. Therefore tell me very clearly one of the साधनs. Either stress कर्म so that I will fight or stress ज्ञानम् so that I will go away from here and look for knowledge, but you are stressing both of them and that too glorifying knowledge and asking me to do कर्म, which I don't want, so please tell me one thing for sure. So एकम् वद निश्चित्य very clearly. येन, so that by following that one path, I will either follow कर्म or ज्ञान. स्वामिजि, no classes are required, just tell me what I should do after getting up daily. Like that, 108 sit-ups. We would have used the intellect in our college days, that is doubtful, because our system is memorizing system, By mistake if we have used, then after that there is no scope for using at all, most of the jobs are monotonous - rote jobs - where thinking is not required at all. One job we have to repeatedly do and then we are so tired after office hours that we don't want to think, we only want to read either star dust or some kind of dusty book or we want to watch चित्रहार. So we have not used our intellect that we don't want to think in life which has become a big tragedy. And whenever there is a problem, they want to go to some स्वामिजि, they go and ask him whether to buy the house in Adyar or Anna Nagar. This स्वामिजि should give advice! Even for buying a house or whether I should wear this dress or that dress, स्वामिजि should give a commandment, 10 or 20 commandments, so that I need not think, whereas in वेदान्त we emphasize विवेक. शङ्कराचार्य wrote a book called विवेकचूडामणि, because we are different from animals, only because of that faculty. If we removed that also, what happens? We are मनुष्य रूपेण मृगाश्चरन्ति. Therefore कृष्ण doesn't want to advice. Therefore our primary importance in our scriptures is advice initially, but after some time stop advising. दयानन्द स्वामिजि says: The bane of our culture or many cultures is advice-giving, value-preaching, In preaching and advising I only ask you to do a series of things, but in that you do not use your thinking capacity, what is required is teaching and when I tell सत्यम्

वद, स्वामिजि says, it is preaching. But if I tell you, what is the glory of speaking truth, what are the plus points of speaking truth, what are the minus points of speaking truth and convert it into your value, then I tell you I have given you knowledge, hereafter wards you decide whether to speak truth or untruth. I don't want to decide for you, I want only to pass some knowledge. Therefore स्वामिजि says preaching is initial and superficial, teaching alone will have long-term effect. But in Army, अर्जुन is used to left-right, left-right, this blind army discipline, अर्जुन wants कृष्ण to say ज्ञानम् or कर्म, so that 18 chapters are not necessary. And since they have written, we also have to study them now!! In our school days we used to say, Tennyson could not keep quiet and he wrote poems and now we have to study! Could he not have kept quiet? Like that if कृष्ण had said: अर्जुन fight, 18 chapters not required, but कृष्ण doesn't want to preach, कृष्ण doesn't want to advice, कृष्ण wants to teach, in teaching alone transformation takes place. And once a person is transformed he knows how to decide, otherwise for everything right from Anna Nagar house to Adyar house, he will go गुरु for consultation. गुरु becomes a consultant, an advisor. So therefore कृष्ण doesn't want to do that, but अर्जुन is asking for that, एकम् वद निश्चित्य येन श्रेयः आप्नुयाम्, I will blindly follow. 'Yours obediently' like that. Yours obediently I follow your advice so that I will get श्रेयः, i.e., मोक्ष. And unfortunately, मोक्ष is not through action, मोक्ष is through knowledge alone. Continuing;

Verse No .03

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

लोकेऽस्मिन् द्विविधा निष्ठा पुरा प्रोक्ता मया नय ।

ज्ञानयोगेन साङ्ख्यानां कर्मयोगेन योगिनाम् ॥ ३-३॥

लोके अस्मिन् द्विविधा निष्ठा पुरा प्रोक्ता मया अनय ।

ज्ञान-योगेन साङ्ख्यानाम् कर्म-योगेन योगिनाम् ॥ ३-३॥

हे अनघ! अस्मिन् लोके साङ्ख्यानाम् ज्ञान-योगेन, योगिनाम् कर्म-योगेन द्विविधा निष्ठा पुरा मया प्रोक्ता ।

One statement that दयानन्द स्वामिजि repeats often is: A value is a value only when the value of the value is valued by you. It just looks like quibbling with words, but if you really understand that there is a very important thing. A value is a value only when the value of the value is valued by you. So if I say सत्यम् वद and you don't have value for that, then you are never going to follow. In preaching I am only talking about the value, I am not conveying the value of the value. So a preacher conveys the value, which already one knows in fact, a preacher conveys the value whereas a teacher conveys the value of the value. Conveying a value takes half a minute. Communicating the value of the value requires lot of talking. Similarly, I can just say, कर्मयोग is this, ज्ञानयोग is this, this is preaching, but if I have to tell why कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग are both important, why there is no option between these two and why कर्मयोग should come first and why it should be followed by ज्ञानयोग, if I tell you why, why, why, why, it is not preaching, it is teaching. We have had enough of preaching now we require teaching, that is what कृष्ण does in the गीता. So कृष्ण is not going to advice अर्जुन, He is not going to say: listen! I am telling you, go and fight. He is going to say why कर्म is important. So he starts with this श्लोक, this is a very important श्लोक, which is the foundation for the 3rd chapter.

लोकेऽस्मिन् द्विविधा निष्ठा पुरा प्रोक्ता मया नघ ।

ज्ञानयोगेन साङ्ख्यानां कर्मयोगेन योगिनाम् ॥ ३-३॥

शङ्कराचार्य quotes this very often in his commentary. What is the idea conveyed here, we should understand the essence very well. What the scriptures point out is that with regard to the साधन, कर्मयोग साधन and ज्ञानयोग साधन, there is no option at all. Everyone has to go through कर्मयोग first, like washing the hands which prepares me for eating, but washing the hands does not remove my hunger, कर्मयोग prepares me for knowledge, कर्मयोग does not remove the problem of संसार. Therefore we should remember, कर्मयोग can never give liberation, but at the same time कर्मयोग alone can give preparation for ज्ञानयोग. That is what I said the other day ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्ति will come through कर्मयोग. And we all are born अयोग्य's, don't think bad. We are all born अयोग्य's, अयोग्य's means unfit for ज्ञानयोग, how do you know? Very simple, the scriptures themselves present ज्ञानयोग only at the end of the वेदs. If we are all fit for ज्ञानयोग, we can start with ज्ञानयोग, then ज्ञानयोग will be पूर्वभाग and कर्मयोग will not be अन्तभाग, because after ज्ञानयोग, कर्मयोग is not required. Therefore the whole वेद will be ज्ञानयोग only. The very fact that the ज्ञानकाण्ड is at the very end of the वेदs shows that वेद wants us to prepare us for that which means we are all not prepared. And of course, there are exceptions to the rules, when I say we are not prepared, it means 99.99% is not prepared for ज्ञानयोग, therefore everyone requires कर्मयोग and when there are exceptions, शास्त्र says in the case of those exceptions they can straightaway go to ज्ञानयोग. People say रमण महर्षि at the very young age he was interested in वेदान्त and then he went to तिरुवन्नामलै and he sat and he never did any कर्म and he got enlightenment, they say. You cannot say that I will also do that and go wearing a loin cloth. That is the only remaining thing to be done by you!! So therefore what worked for रमण need not work for all people. In fact, will not work for all people, he is more an exception than rule, he is more a spiritual genius than an ordinary person, just as a रामानुजम् was a math's genius without going through the regular thing, his teachers themselves did not understand what he was communicating, even now research is going on. He had said that he will not go to school. Whereas in our case, it is not coming even after going to school!! Even by going to school he doesn't get and he refuses to go to school and wants to become a रामानुजम्. How foolish it is! Never quote the exception. Therefore we have got महात्माs who never went through all the stages, but what शास्त्र says that they have also gone through कर्मयोग, not in this life but in their previous जन्म they have all gone through कर्मयोग. Therefore it will come under brought forward a/c. So in every जन्म we have a brought/forward a/c. Our b/f may be 65 paisa. For others b/f may be very high. Therefore, we all should go through कर्मयोग which means religious life; the details will be given in this chapter. Then once we have prepared the mind, thereafter we have to necessarily go through ज्ञानयोग and attain liberation. This is one lesson that we should remember - for कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग साधन there is no option, everyone should go through both.

Now The next lesson that we should understand is: parallelly the scriptures talk about two types of lifestyles also called आश्रमस, and in this particular श्लोक कृष्ण uses the word निष्ठा, the word निष्ठा in this श्लोक means आश्रम or lifestyle. And we have got four आश्रमस mentioned in the शास्त्रस, for us all the four आश्रमस not relevant now but two आश्रमस are relevant, गृहस्थ आश्रम – a householders lifestyle and संन्यास आश्रम – a renunciate's lifestyle. An active social lifestyle and a relatively passive & secluded lifestyle. And the scriptures point out that of these two आश्रमस known as गृहस्थ आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम, otherwise called प्रवृत्ति निष्ठा or निवृत्ति निष्ठा, of these two आश्रमस, one आश्रम is designed for कर्मयोग and another आश्रम is designed for ज्ञानयोग. And what are the आश्रमस you can easily guess. गृह-आश्रम is designed for कर्मयोग, it is activity प्रधान. कर्म प्रधान आश्रम. We don't say ज्ञानम् is impossible. You are all गृहस्थस, you are coming and learning, but we are saying it is primarily designed for कर्म, ज्ञानम् is not impossible. Similarly, संन्यास आश्रम is primarily designed for knowledge, in that also कर्म is there to a limited extent, one is कर्म प्रधान आश्रम and another is ज्ञान प्रधान आश्रम; गृहस्थ आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम.

Once you have understood these two lifestyles, now based on this we can see that a human being can lead his life in three different ways, a human being can lead his life in three different ways. What are the three different ways?

i) One way that is visualized by the scriptures is go to the गृहस्थ आश्रम and follow कर्मयोग, go to गृहस्थ आश्रम, follow कर्मयोग and purify, then from there switch over to संन्यास आश्रम and follow ज्ञानयोग and be free. This is one route. गृहस्थ आश्रम, कर्मयोग, switch over to संन्यास आश्रम, follow ज्ञानयोग and be free. This is one route.

ii) The second route is what? Go to गृहस्थ आश्रम, follow कर्मयोग, purify, thereafter wards continue in the गृहस्थ आश्रम itself, you need not change the आश्रम, you need not take ochre robes, you need not quit your house, remain in गृहस्थ आश्रम itself but gradually change your emphasis and go to ज्ञानयोग. So enter गृहस्थ आश्रम, follow कर्मयोग, purify, continue in the गृहस्थ आश्रम, follow ज्ञानयोग and be free. So you will be what: गृहस्थ ज्ञानि. But you have to follow both कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग and you can continue in गृहस्थ आश्रम. Is it not good news? When I told first route you were all upset. Don't be afraid. First route is the four आश्रम method, it is called समुत्त्वय method, विकल्प समुत्त्वय method. Going through, changing the आश्रम also and changing the साधन also. The second one you don't change the आश्रम, you can do all your साधन in the one गृहस्थ आश्रम itself.

iii) And what is the third route, you can guess. Without going to गृहस्थ आश्रम, straightaway take to संन्यास, संन्यास आश्रम. But in संन्यास आश्रम also, you have to follow कर्मयोग where the कर्म are unique to संन्यास आश्रम, he cannot do rituals and all, संन्यासि cannot do rituals, he cannot run a factory or he cannot do anything. He is begging, how can he run a factory. He cannot do अन्नदानम् because he himself is a भिक्षाम् देहि. Therefore for a संन्यासि, for purification the गृहस्थ's कर्म are not available because he doesn't have resources, because संन्यास आश्रम is designed for knowledge, he cannot do the कर्म of a गृहस्थ, but how he has to manage, he has to do certain other कर्म, like जप, (for that money is not there). कृष्ण himself says in the गीता: यज्ञानाम् जप-यज्ञः अस्मि. अग्नि is not required, no दक्षिणा for the गुरु also. He can do जप, or he can do गुरु शुश्रूष – serving the गुरु. Thus he can follow certain other activities exclusively prescribed for संन्यासि and by following that he has to purify, that alone is indicated by the दण्ड; in the चातुर्मास्य and all संन्यासि do certain पूजा and rituals, etc. They are all meant for what? If they require what you call purification they can concentrate on those कर्म. And in the संन्यास आश्रम, he has to follow the संन्यास आश्रमि's कर्म, purify the mind and after purification, what should he do, he has to go after ज्ञानयोगः. And there he will become ज्ञानि, what type of ज्ञानि? संन्यासि ज्ञानि he will be.

Now the three routes you have understood. In the गृहस्थ आश्रम itself follow the two योगs or else in the संन्यास आश्रम itself follow the two योगs. Otherwise what to do? Go to गृहस्थ आश्रम, follow कर्मयोग, then switch over to संन्यास आश्रम and follow ज्ञानयोग. Follow any route, but what is compulsory is both the साधनs you have to follow. That is why I gave the example, that suppose you have got a screw driver and a knife, screw driver is meant for driving the screw, not people. Knife is meant for cutting vegetables. Suppose you have got some fruit which you want to cut and you don't have a knife but you have a screw driver, somehow manage to cut even though screw driver is designed for driving the screw, you can manage to cut. And Similarly, you want to drive a screw and screw driver is not there, only knife is there, we all have it but will not be available when required. You just take the knife and you can screw. Similarly, गृहस्थ आश्रम is कर्म प्रधान but you can gain ज्ञानम् in गृहस्थ आश्रम but you have to go through a lot of problems. Similarly, संन्यास आश्रम is ज्ञान प्रधान but that also can be used for purification. Therefore use the आश्रमs appropriately and follow both the साधनs and be free. Therefore अर्जुन

you require कर्मयोग. And for that you have to do your duty. And your duty is fighting. Not your duty, it is अर्जुन's duty. So don't go home and say that स्वामि said "Fighting is your duty" and start fighting with your wife. It is अर्जुन's duty. Therefore take the bow and fight.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 03-06

लोकेऽस्मिन् द्विविधा निष्ठा पुरा प्रोक्ता मया नम ।

ज्ञानयोगेन साङ्ख्यानां कर्मयोगेन योगिनाम् ॥ ३-३॥

After listening to the Lord's teaching in the 2nd chapter, अर्जुन gets a doubt regarding the role of कर्मयोग and that of ज्ञानयोग. अर्जुन thinks that there is a choice between कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग and a person can choose any one of these two as a means of liberation. This is the biggest mistake that अर्जुन has committed because कृष्ण has never provided or presented them as two optional methods of मोक्षः. As I have repeatedly said before, all the scriptures are uniform in one opinion and that is: there is only one means for liberation and that means is ज्ञानम् and ज्ञानम् alone.

तमेवम् विद्वानमृत इह भवति । नान्यः पन्था अयनाय विद्यते । ॥
पुरुषसूक्तम् १७ ॥

वेद is very clear, there is no other अन्यः पन्था, पन्था means path or means. Therefore there is no question of alternate means of liberation and therefore there is no question of choosing one of these two. And therefore everybody has to go through ज्ञानयोग before attaining liberation, if not now, later. But before going to ज्ञानयोग, before the pursuit of ज्ञानयोग a person has to make himself qualified for the pursuit and for acquiring those qualifications कर्मयोग is prescribed in the शास्त्रs. And therefore since everybody has to prepare, everybody has to go through कर्मयोग, everybody has to prepare the mind, then everybody has to go through ज्ञानयोग and attain liberation. Therefore there is no choice between कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. Both of them are equally important. One indirectly leads to liberation by preparing the mind, other directly leads to liberation by removing ignorance. Therefore कर्मयोग to ज्ञानयोग to मोक्षः, this is कृष्ण's prescription. But अर्जुन does not get this properly and therefore अर्जुन again puts a question: 'tell me which one of these two I should follow.' And कृष्ण does not want to blindly command अर्जुन; कृष्ण wants अर्जुन to clearly understand what is what and therefore He begins the teaching once again. And as I said, here कृष्ण introduces two things, one is the साधन and another is lifestyle. साधन is called योग and the lifestyle is called निष्ठा. And कृष्ण wants to point out with regard to योग or साधन you have no choice, everybody requires - कर्मयोग plus ज्ञानयोग is equal to मोक्षः. But the scriptures do talk about two types of lifestyles also which are known as निष्ठा. And what are those two lifestyles? One is प्रवृत्ति मार्ग, an active life in society which is called प्रवृत्ति मार्ग, otherwise called गृहस्थ आश्रम. And the other is called निवृत्ति मार्ग, a life of withdrawal, a life of quietude which is called संन्यास आश्रम. And taking these two आश्रमs into account and taking these two साधनs into account, a person can have three different lifestyles which I discussed in the last class. There are three possibilities in person's life.

a) One is the ideal possibility as envisaged by the शास्त्र. And what is that ideal method? First a person should take to गृहस्थ आश्रम, which is ideal for कर्मयोग, because गृहस्थ आश्रम is designed in वैदिक system for the pursuit of कर्मयोग, because कर्मयोग requires possessions, any कर्म, any project you have, you require money, you require place, you require man power. Therefore गृहस्थ आश्रम is an ideal आश्रम, because वेद allows a गृहस्थ to own things, own money, have a set-up, have the people around, which is ideal for undertaking activities. Thus वेद expects a person to follow गृहस्थ आश्रम, take to active life of service, contributing to the society and in the process refine the mind, remove the sharp edges of the personality, like कामः, क्रोधः, लोभः, मोहः, etc., it is ideal for polishing. Just as a knife is sharpened in a rough surface, only in the rough and tumble of life the mind gets mellowed, matured and then the very same वेद says, having gone through गृहस्थ आश्रम and prepared, वेद says may you change the आश्रम, from गृहस्थ आश्रम to संन्यास आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम is specifically designed for knowledge, because in संन्यास आश्रम a person is free from all responsibilities, he is not supposed to have any relationship with anyone like wife, husband or children, or anything therefore, no more responsibilities. And he is asked not to possess anything, because once he possesses he has to think of managing the possessions, finding the financial resources to maintain, योग and क्षेम is a burden. योग means acquisition, क्षेम means preservation. A संन्यासि is asked not to own anything, अपरिग्रह. Even the dress etc., they say, संन्यासि should not have varieties of dresses, then he has to think, for this दीपावलि which dress to buy and he has to scratch the head. And he has to see where 20% rebate, where 35% rebates is available. For a संन्यासि no such options are available, only one variety. And which shampoo, which hair oil he need not plan, because no hair at all. Which beauty shop to go he need not, because he is told only two things, either grow your hair or remove your hair. In between no this cut and that cut, everything is cut off. Similarly, varieties of duties prescribed are also suited for ज्ञानयोग only. For a गृहस्थ, पारायणम् is रुद्रम्, चमकम्, सूक्तानि, etc., for a संन्यासि daily पारायणम् is उपनिषत्, ब्रह्मसूत्र, भाष्यम्, etc. Even the daily कर्म are designed for the pursuit of ज्ञानयोग and therefore ज्ञानम् does not require any expenditure. कर्म requires expenditure, ज्ञानम् does not require any expenditure, even for food he is not supposed to have a kitchen to cook. That is why संन्यासि is called निरग्निः. He should not have fire around. अग्नि represents rituals and kitchen. Once kitchen comes, you have to plan how to ward off the cockroaches, cockroach ध्यानम्! Then what to do for food? वेदs says that whenever you are hungry, go to some house and say भवती भिक्षाम् देहि, eat whatever gets and finish off the job. Therefore वेद said a life of प्रवृत्ति मार्गः for कर्मयोग, निवृत्ति मार्गः for ज्ञानयोग, this is one route: IDEAL.

b) Then I said there is a second optional route, take to गृहस्थ आश्रम, follow कर्मयोग and there afterwards continue in गृहस्थ आश्रम itself and manage to follow ज्ञानयोग. There will be obstacles because daily duties will be there, when you want to attend the class there will be an important wedding or the in-laws will be visiting the house, anybody else you can ignore, in-laws are important people, you cannot ignore. Therefore in गृहस्थ आश्रम, ज्ञानयोग can be managed; manage and gain knowledge. Remember the example, with a screw driver you can cut the banana, but you will have to manage. With a knife you can drive a screw, but you have to manage. Therefore what is the second option, take to गृहस्थ आश्रम, follow कर्मयोग, continue in गृहस्थ आश्रम and follow ज्ञानयोग as you are doing right now, ज्ञानयोग continuing गृहस्थ आश्रम, this is the second option.

c) And the third option which कृष्ण is not going to favor. कृष्ण favors the first two options, the third option कृष्ण doesn't favor. What is that? Skip गृहस्थ आश्रम and straightaway take to संन्यास आश्रम and in संन्यास आश्रम the scope for purifying the mind is minimal. Because he cannot serve the society, because he doesn't have the resources to do कर्म or the resources to do दानम् or any kind of activities. Therefore a संन्यासि has got only minimum possibilities to purify the mind, but there also he can manage. Just as a गृहस्थ can manage ज्ञानयोग, a संन्यासि will have to manage कर्मयोग somehow by doing जप (for जप, no money required), he has to purify the mind through जप and आश्रम service, गुरु पाद सेवनम्, like that he has to do something and purify the mind and then in संन्यास आश्रम itself follow ज्ञानयोग and attain liberation.

- i) So in the first method, one will follow both आश्रमs,
- ii) In the second method, one will follow गृहस्थ आश्रम only skipping संन्यास,
- iii) In the third method, one will follow संन्यास आश्रम only skipping गृहस्थ आश्रम.

And of these three, कृष्ण favors the third one, the least. He says the third method is highly risky, therefore अर्जुन take the first or second method, either way you have to continue as a गृहस्थ. Therefore don't run away from the battlefield, continue to be a गृहस्थ, purify and know. This is going to be the teaching. Now look at the श्लोक number three, He says द्विविधा निष्ठा मया प्रोक्ता, two types of lifestyles, here we are not talking about the साधनस, two types of lifestyles are prescribed by me, पुरा – long before I have talked about that. So where did the Lord talk about that long before, we have to supply, वेद द्वारा, through the वेदs, because remember गीता has come only to revive the वैदिक सम्प्रदाय, the वैदिक lifestyle, the वैदिक teaching. गीता does not have any new thing to be taught, गीता is only to revive the वेदs. Therefore कृष्ण says, I myself have revealed these two lifestyles through the वेदs, when? In the beginning of the creation. Because according to tradition, it is said when भगवान् creates this world, simultaneously he gives the वेदs also. And whom does he handover to? Who is the first disciple of the Lord? ब्रह्माजि, the चतुर्मुख ब्रह्मा is the first disciple. If you remember the पुराण, it is said that from विष्णु's navel, a lotus comes, that is why he is called पद्मनाभः and from the lotus ब्रह्माजि appears and ब्रह्माजि does तपस् and a result of that, the Lord gives the वैदिक wisdom to ब्रह्माजि.

तँ ह देवमात्मबुद्धिप्रकाशम् मुमुक्षुर्वै शरणमहम् प्रपद्ये ॥ श्वेताश्वतरोपनिषत्
६-१८ ॥

The Lord creates ब्रह्मा and parallelly the Lord creates the world, brings out ब्रह्मा from his navel and parallelly gives the वैदिक teaching also. And that is why ब्रह्माजि has got four heads representing the four वेदs. And in those वेदs themselves प्रवृत्ति मार्गः and निवृत्ति मार्गः are talked about, therefore कृष्ण says अर्जुन I am only talking about the same thing now also. So द्विविधा निष्ठा पुरा सृष्टि आरम्भे मया प्रोक्ता, it was given by me through the वेदs, हे अर्जुन! अनय, is the name of अर्जुन; अय means impurity or sin, अनय means sinless, pure one. So, oh pure minded अर्जुन, these two lifestyles I have introduced. अस्मिन् लोके, among the human beings, the animals do not have four आश्रमs. Only the human beings have got these two main आश्रमs. And what are they? साङ्ख्यानाम् निष्ठा, one is the lifestyle of संन्यासिs. Here साङ्ख्य means संन्यासि, निवृत्ति मार्गस्थाः and for those संन्यासिs what is the lifestyle? ज्ञानयोगेन which is governed by the pursuit of knowledge. One is the lifestyle of a संन्यासि which is governed by the pursuit of knowledge only, he doesn't have any duty. And that is why when a person takes संन्यास, he removes his sacred thread and the गायत्री also he renounces which he took with so much reverence at the time of उपनयनम् ceremony and which he is supposed to have protected throughout his ब्रह्मचर्य and गृहस्थ आश्रम and even that गायत्री मन्त्र he simplifies and converts into ॐकार so that he doesn't require much time to repeat the गायत्री. गायत्री has got three lines, each line is simplified into one-one letter. तत्सवितुर्वरेण्यम् is simplified into अ, भर्गो देवस्य धीमहि is simplified into उ, धियो यो नः प्रचोदयात् is simplified into म्, अ plus उ plus म् is ॐ. Therefore even he doesn't require much time to chant गायत्री, so that all the time is available only for one purpose, like a government giving grants to scientists. In any advanced country which promotes science, which creates maximum noble laureates, what do they do? All the industries and as well as the government they give any amount of money and research facilities to the thinking brains, why does the government do? Why does the industry do that? Because if the scientist is free from all the burden of earning money, day in and day out, he can spend only on one thing, research, research, research. They won't even prescribe even the time, in big universities in the middle of a night if a scientist wants to go and do something it is open. A society which provides maximum benefit to a thinking person is an intelligent society, वैदिक society was an intelligent society, they said संन्यासि need not earn for his livelihood, संन्यासि need not earn for his food, for his clothing, for his shelter, they said let a संन्यासि dedicate his life to the study and propagation of scriptures and it is because of a such a society we have got a literature and literature. In fact, what वेदान्त I am teaching you now, it is only topmost layer I am teaching you. We have got a depth which are meters and meters down below, even the so-called ब्रह्मसूत्र I am teaching is only a tip of the iceberg. How come without all the printing press and all those things, we have got so much literature? Because वेद gave importance to knowledge and provided all the facilities. It said you should not bother about politics, संन्यासि doesn't have a vote, संन्यासि should not join any group. Nothing except research, research means there it is external research, here it is research into one's own true nature. There is a book called गीता भाष्यम्. Even now the book is available. It is never sold now, it has got 8 or 9 commentaries of गीता. We don't have time even to read one commentary, what to talk of writing commentary? I told you I got a book consisting of 4 volumes of ब्रह्मसूत्र. And I thought I will keep that book at least as a sample, because it contains the ब्रह्मसूत्र. ब्रह्मसूत्र has totally 555 सूत्रs. सूत्र means cryptic sayings. And when I was brushing through, at the end of the 4th volume, each book is of a pillow size with 9 commentaries or 8 commentaries, and the 9th commentary is the summary or gist of the first 8 commentaries and at the end of the 4th volume it is written, with this the commentary on the 4th सूत्र is over, इति चतुस्सूत्रि समाप्त. There are 555 सूत्रs in ब्रह्मसूत्र. How could they write so much, because वैदिक society allowed these people to dwell deep into तर्क, मीमांसा, व्याकरण, all of them? And therefore, कृष्ण says, साङ्ख्यानाम्, for those संन्यासि's a lifestyle is designed which is governed by ज्ञानयोग, commitment to knowledge. But all the people cannot be scientists, they don't have inclination. We cannot even read then what about others, कृष्ण says: योगिनाम्, for the other set of people, who are extroverts, who wants to be in the society, who dread free time, because for those extrovert people even one holiday is a big burden, they have to plan now itself, which movie to go, which video tape one should bring, which house we should go, or whom to invite to our house, etc. Even for शिवरात्रि extra movies are put. A mind which is not committed to knowledge, for that mind time will hang if no activity is there, therefore कृष्ण says for those people, योगिनाम् – for the active people, कर्मयोगेन – I have prescribed a lifestyle governed by कर्मयोग, governed by पञ्च महा यज्ञs, about which we will talk later, governed by an active life of contribution, active life of service, so both lifestyles are there. Continuing;

Verse No .04

न कर्मणामनारम्भान्नैष्कर्म्यं पुरुषोऽश्नुते ।

न च संन्यसनादेव सिद्धिं समधिगच्छति ॥ ३-४॥

न कर्मणाम् अनारम्भात् नैष्कर्म्यं पुरुषः अश्नुते ।

न च संन्यसनात् एव सिद्धिम् समधिगच्छति ॥ ३-४॥

कर्मणाम् अनारम्भात् पुरुषः नैष्कर्म्यं न अश्नुते । (कर्मणाम्) च संन्यसनात् एव सिद्धिम् न समधिगच्छति ।

कृष्ण's contention is whatever be the lifestyle you choose, you have to necessarily go through two साधनs, one is purificatory साधन which requires activity and another is the साधन of study, स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च which is now becoming obsolete now, that is why if you tell anyone now that you are attending वेदान्त classes, they raise their eyebrows, वेदान्त? Class? What is there to learn? And many students tell that they have been attending my classes for years together, they ask what is there so much to study? They don't even know what is there to study. So therefore study of scriptures and that too a systematic study of scriptures which requires a deep thinking is an important aspect of life, which is now being forgotten, we are trying to revive that. And thereafter wards they say, स्वामिजि I never thought, that so much meaning is there in it, so much study can be done, you are explaining one श्लोक for more than 20 minutes, one श्लोक you take for 40 minutes, which means that I am taking only one portion of the commentary, if I have to take all the 9 commentaries on one श्लोक, one श्लोक itself will take 10 classes to 15 classes. In the आश्रम when we were studying the भाष्यम्, some of the भाष्यम्s like सर्वधर्मान्परित्यज्य, क्षेत्रज्ञम् चापि माम् विद्धि, कर्मण्यकर्म यः पश्येत्, शङ्कराचार्य's भाष्य itself is so deep, it takes 15 continuous days to complete one मन्त्र. शङ्कर भाष्यम् alone and for that शङ्कर भाष्यम्, someone writes 15 lines for one line of शङ्कर भाष्यम्. You can study the entire life and you have exhausted only one hundredth of our scriptures, not even one hundred. Therefore so much is there in our शास्त्रs that is also equally important. So first कृष्ण wants to emphasize the importance of कर्म. Later he will emphasize the importance of ज्ञानम् also. First कर्म's importance He want to emphasize and therefore He says, अर्जुन you should not avoid कर्म, action. And for this he wants to give three reasons, why कर्म should not be neglected, why action should not be neglected.

i) The first reason he gives in this श्लोक is that by avoiding action or by giving up action you cannot get मोक्षः, you cannot avoid संसार, you cannot get peace of mind by running away from duties and family. Because it is always, 'The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence.' Like that when we have got so much duties and responsibilities, we always tell स्वामिजि, I want to run and come to your आश्रम. And स्वामिजि will say, I will be the victim! Because "your आश्रम" he says. Your संसार may go, but for स्वामिजि संसार begins. So therefore, whenever we have problems we think running away is the solution, it will give peace of mind, but according to शास्त्र, the problem is not external, the problem is internal. An ignorant mind will suffer संसार wherever it is. A knowledgeable mind will enjoy peace wherever it is. The problem is inside but the biggest mistake we commit is we think the problem is family therefore we have to go away. Therefore, कृष्ण wants to remove that notion first, therefore He says, by giving up कर्म's you are not going to get मोक्षः, peace of mind. So He says, न कर्मणाम् अनारम्भात्, कर्मणाम् अनारम्भात्, by avoiding activities, responsibilities, duties, service, अनारम्भात्, पुरुषः नैष्कर्म्यम् न अश्नुते – a person cannot attain मोक्षः. नैष्कर्म्यम् is a technical word which means मोक्षः or peace of mind, quietude or शान्ति. By renouncing action you are not going to attain मोक्षः. Then अर्जुन may get a doubt: what is that, there are several scriptures मन्त्रs which say that through संन्यास मोक्षः can be attained. There are certain statements. That is why we always say we should never study the scriptures independently because there are confusing statements all over. So here कृष्ण says, by renunciation you are not going to get मोक्षः. But there are statements which say through renunciation you can get मोक्षः. What is that मन्त्र? It is a well-known मन्त्र, you must be familiar,

त्यागेन अमृतत्वम् आनशुः. So अर्जुन might think that कृष्ण is contradicting the वैदिक statement. And therefore कृष्ण wants to clarify. He says, wherever it is said that there is मोक्षः through renunciation, कृष्ण says, there we should add an expression ज्ञान सहित त्यागेन अमृतत्वमानशुः. Mere renunciation or detachment cannot give liberation, it should be blessed with, supported by ज्ञानम्. How do we know that, because another उपनिषत् मन्त्र clarifies that, it comes in that section itself.

वेदान्त विज्ञान सुनिश्चितार्थाः संन्यासयोगाद्यतयः शुद्धसत्त्वाः।

ते ब्रह्मलोकेषु परान्तकाले परामृताः परिमुच्यन्ति सर्वे ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-४ ॥

There it is said संन्यास is great, but not mere ochre robes, not mere आश्रम वास, not mere running to हिमालयs, but वेदान्त विज्ञान सुनिश्चितार्थाः, संन्यास will work only if it is backed by scriptural study. Minus scriptural study संन्यास can become a big problem about which कृष्ण will tell later. And therefore कृष्ण clarifies in the second line, संन्यसनात् एव, by mere renunciation, by mere ochre robe donning, wearing, सिद्धिम् न समधिगच्छति – a person can never acquire मोक्ष. So सिद्धि means मोक्ष here. So the first line नैष्कर्म्यम् and in the second line सिद्धि, both these words are synonymous words, which means मोक्षः. Therefore what कृष्ण wants to say is that संन्यास does not guarantee मोक्षः. And if संन्यास can guarantee मोक्षः, the easiest job is what, give free संन्यास, by making everyone stand in a line, like the free-उपनयनम्, free-wedding, etc., like that conduct a मेला (gathering), संन्यास-मेला, like the loan- मेला, etc., and bring some 100-200 ochre धोतिस and distribute to everyone. And when you go out you are all liberated, why study गीता? Therefore कृष्ण says संन्यसनात् एव, एव is important here, what is that एव, i.e., mere renunciation cannot give मोक्षः. Then what gives, knowledge alone gives मोक्षः. This is the first argument. Now he is going to give the second argument in the next श्लोक.

Verse No .05

न हि कश्चित्क्षणमपि जातु तिष्ठत्यकर्मकृत् ।
 कार्यते ह्यवशः कर्म सर्वः प्रकृतिजैर्गुणैः ॥ ३-७॥
 न हि कश्चित् क्षणम् अपि जातु तिष्ठति अकर्मकृत् ।
 कार्यते हि अवशः कर्म सर्वः प्रकृतिजैः गुणैः ॥ ३-७॥
 कश्चित् जातु क्षणम् अपि अकर्मकृत् न हि तिष्ठति । प्रकृतिजैः गुणैः सर्वः
 हि अवशः कर्म कार्यते ।

So कृष्ण's main aim is to point that by giving up duties or actions you cannot get मोक्षः. So the first argument is because संन्यास does not guarantee liberation.

ii) Now the second argument He gives in this श्लोक is that it is impossible to give up all action. The first argument is giving up action does not guarantee liberation. The second argument is giving up of action is impossible, because everybody will be forced to do some action or the other governed by his character and therefore कृष्ण says

क्षणम् अपि अकर्मकृत् न तिष्ठति. A person cannot remain action-less, even for a moment. You may give up physical actions, the more you give up physical action and the mind becomes proportionately doubly active. You know that when you try meditation, when you try जप, normally mind moves slow, but when you sit for जप, you will find the mind seems to be so agile and active. And runs all over the world within a second, so therefore as कबीरदास or somebody said, in the tongue the नामs of the Lord roles and in the hand the माला roles and the mind rolls all over the world. All are rolling. So tongue rolls, hand rolls, mind also rolls. Therefore जातु क्षणम् अपि – even for a moment a person cannot remain quiet, why it is so, because प्रकृतिजैः गुणैः कार्यते. Every person is forced to do one action or the other by the three गुणs of प्रकृति. So प्रकृति means माया which is the basic cause of the creation, प्रकृति or माया is the basic cause of the creation and this माया has got three गुणs and therefore these three गुणs pervade the whole creation. If you make an ornament out of a lump of gold, whatever be the composition of the gold that will be composition of the ornaments also. If the gold has got 6% of copper or silver the ornaments also will have. The rule is: कार्ये कारणगुण अनुवृत्तिः, the traits of the कारणम्, the cause will be there in the effect also. The traits of the parents will be there in the child also. We say it is genetic. So there is a predisposition of certain tendencies, including diseases. Similarly, if माया has got three गुणाs, the whole creation also has got three गुणs, our mind or our intellect, everything, the only difference between the human beings is the proportion of the three गुणाs, सत्त्व प्रधान he will be, रज प्रधान he will be or तम प्रधान he will be, governed by these three गुणाs everyone will engage in one activity or other and कृष्ण says, human being is helpless. Therefore अवशः, अवशः means helplessly; कार्यते, he is pushed into one activity or the other, that is why interestingly, if you want to observe yourselves, even when we attend some class or lectures or anything, there also the hands and the legs will not be keeping quiet or else we will be biting the nails or we will be rolling the pencil or the pen, etc. The best thing is to distribute some pamphlet at the beginning of the lecture and get it back at the end of the lecture, you will find it would have gone through all the forms, ships, birds, boat, some would have torn into hundred pieces and if you are sitting on a lawn, you will be plucking the grass and some will be eating it too! Last जन्म he would have been a goat or cow, so the old वासना is showing up. Or we will be breaking the twigs around, you would be doing something or the other. Why, that is the nature. Therefore, it is impossible to give up action, maximum you can do is to reduce or redirect the action. In कर्मयोग कृष्ण's aim is channelization of our energy. That is why our children also we ask, especially in front of स्वामिजी they are asked to sit properly, and the child finds it very difficult to do that, and we complain that the child is does not sit properly, but we forget that it is not child's problem, you yourselves try to sit hands and legs tied in a place! How can we expect the child to do? Therefore our aim is not stopping the action, our aim is directing the action. Even in meditation, many people try to stop the thought, which is the biggest mistake one can do, because the mind also cannot stop because the mind is not meant for stopping, the mind is meant for functioning. Therefore, Vedantic meditation not stopping the thought, not stilling the mind, but again directing the mind; any type of meditation that we prescribe involves the appropriate thought. And therefore कृष्ण says that if you try to give up your action, wherever you go you will start fresh action. If you become a संन्यासि and go to ऋषीकेश and if you are a राजसिक person, your leadership qualities are there, you will form of संन्यासि association. ऋषीकेश संन्यासि Association. And there you will do good only. रक्तदान, hospital, etc. If he is a commercial minded person, he will start a रुद्राक्ष business. He will get रुद्राक्ष from Indonesia and thereafter he will give it to संन्यासि or he will fight with the Government. Government should give some land for the संन्यासिs, agitation in front of the Parliament at दिल्ली, he will be sitting there. संन्यास ochre robes will be there, but he will be doing some mischief. Therefore, अर्जुन why do you do that, better do what you have to do. Therefore, प्रकृतिजैः गुणैः ह्यवशः कर्म कार्यते. This is the second argument. So what are the two arguments? Argument no.1: by giving up actions you don't get मोक्षः or peace, the second argument is that you cannot give up action.

iii) Now comes the third argument:

Verse No .06

कर्मैन्द्रियाणि संयम्य य आस्ते मनसा स्मरन् ।

इन्द्रियार्थान्विमूढात्मा मिथ्याचारः स उच्यते ॥ ३-६॥

कर्म-इन्द्रियाणि संयम्य यः आस्ते मनसा स्मरन् ।

इन्द्रियार्थान् विमूढात्मा मिथ्याचारः सः उच्यते ॥ ३-६॥

यः कर्म-इन्द्रियाणि संयम्य, मनसा इन्द्रियार्थान् स्मरन् आस्ते, सः विमूढात्मा मिथ्याचारः उच्यते ।

So the third argument that कृष्ण gives here is that the giving up of action is a highly risky affair also. Instead of promoting Self-knowledge and मोक्षः it can become counter-productive also. Because a person can fully dedicate himself or herself to the pursuit of वेदान्त only when he has transcended the worldly pursuits or worldly desires. Everybody has got certain natural needs, so they talk about the hierarchy of needs, first the need is for survival - food and clothing and thereafter the need is for entertainment, thereafter wards the need is to be wanted - I want to love someone and I want to be loved by someone. I need someone to constantly ask: how are you? And they should constantly ask me about my cold. If no one calls you, you get into depression. Always grumbling nobody is there to look after me, nobody cares me, nobody is there on whom I can depend. Human mind has got different levels of needs, gross needs for self-respect, need for doing something in the society so that the society will remember me or at least build a house and put your name. Put a tube light and advertise your name to such an extent that the light itself is not visible. These are all needs to be wanted, to be respected, that is why when children grow and when they become independent many parents cannot withstand, until now they were wanted by the children and now the children are capable of taking their own decisions and especially they chose their partner also, then everything is finished and then we have different type of needs for recognition, accomplishment, etc., and a person has to go through them and accomplish some self-respect, as they say, the ego has to ripen before the ego falls. And the ripening of the ego and the growth of the ego takes place only in the society by achieving something, at least minimum marrying and getting a few children. That is also an accomplishment. And if these basic needs are not fulfilled and a person renounces and sits quietly in a place the mind will be thinking of those things. Perhaps I could have married, or perhaps I could have remained in गृहस्थ आश्रम. Or perhaps when he sees some nice family, envy that I don't have a nice family. And in our society, the peculiar thing is संन्यास मार्ग is one way traffic. You know one way traffic. From गृहस्थ to संन्यास आश्रम is possible, but not the other way around. ब्रह्मचारि to गृहस्थ is possible. But a गृहस्थ can never become a ब्रह्मचारि. A गृहस्थ can become a संन्यासि, but a संन्यासि cannot become a गृहस्थ. That is why दयानन्द स्वामिजि was telling, when he went to उत्तरकाशि, he met so many साधुs, संन्यासिs and he was talking with them, they were talking about his future programs, स्वामिजि said: I want to take संन्यास. Many of those संन्यासिs were telling: Don't take that decision, you know: somehow after a fight with the wife, I had taken संन्यास, because one day early morning coffee was not available or something like that, I got angry and left our places and came and now first day हिमालयs and Ganges is wonderful and fine and think that this is the best place for stay for life, but second day, third day, fourth day, the same गङ्गा, same हिमालयs and if you ask for भिक्षा, the भिक्षा also will be the same, unlike in your homes where it is different on different days. There will be some common places where morning Roti and Dal will be served and evening Dal and Roti, that is the only difference. That is the only choice. They said don't just jump into conclusion we are regretting, that's why there are some people who come back also and therefore if the ego has not become mature it can miss many things in life because संन्यास आश्रम is an आश्रम in which you are learning to be self-sufficient - physically and psychologically and even when people come, they will come with their problems, they will never ask, what problem you have स्वामिजि. Does anyone ask? May be, you will start from tomorrow. You all come with pressure with all the problems. So therefore कृष्ण says if the mind is not ready for संन्यास it can have a double life. Externally there is detachment, mentally the person may be dwelling upon only worldly things and such a life is a life of मिथ्याचारः, hypocrisy. Then it will be only at the mental level and whatever desire he has he cannot fulfill because in संन्यास आश्रम does not allow that particular thing, it is not meant for fulfilling those desires, therefore the pressure may mount in the mind, either he may go crazy or he may give up संन्यास. संन्यास for संन्यास! Therefore अर्जुन it is risky to straightaway go to संन्यास आश्रम skipping गृहस्थ आश्रम. More in the next class.

कर्मेन्द्रियाणि संयम्य य आस्ते मनसा स्मरन् ।

इन्द्रियार्थान्विमूढात्मा मिथ्याचारः स उच्यते ॥ ३-६॥

Lord कृष्ण is clarifying अर्जुन's doubt regarding कर्म and ज्ञानम् and I pointed out that कर्म and ज्ञानम् are equally important, therefore there is no choice between कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. Everybody has to go through कर्मयोग first which is the only means of purifying the mind and thereafter everyone has to necessarily go through ज्ञानयोग which is the only means of liberation and by ज्ञानयोग what we mean is study of the scriptures under the guidance of a गुरु. गुरु शास्त्र उपदेश श्रवणम् is called ज्ञानयोग and everyone has to go through that also. And even though no choice between these two साधनस, कृष्ण pointed out that there is a choice with regard to the lifestyle that a person chooses, it can be either गृहस्थ आश्रम or संन्यास आश्रम and whether a person is a गृहस्थ or संन्यासि, both of them will have to purify the mind first by doing their respective कर्मस and both of them will have to go through ज्ञानयोग. Therefore the choice is between गृहस्थ आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम. There is no choice between कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. And since there is a choice with regard to the आश्रम, the lifestyle that a person has to take to, the question may come which आश्रम can we choose. Because there is a choice with regard to the आश्रम, certainly the question will come, which आश्रम should we choose. And according to कृष्ण there is no uniform answer to the question because it will depend upon the type of the seeker, so the शास्त्र never uniformly point out that गृहस्थ आश्रम is better. शास्त्र does not uniformly point out that संन्यास आश्रम is better, because it depends upon the type of seeker, just as a doctor cannot prescribe uniform medicine to all people, it will depend upon the type of patient. And therefore कृष्ण makes a general observation with regard to the आश्रम and what is that observation. Between the आश्रमस, संन्यास आश्रम is more difficult. It is not meant for majority of people, it is only meant for minority, कृष्ण will point out that in the 5th chapter, संन्यासस्तु महाबाहो दुःखम् आप्तुम् अयोगतः. Either it is better that a person continues in गृहस्थ आश्रम throughout the life or if at all a person is interested in संन्यास, according to scriptures, let him go through गृहस्थ आश्रम and through गृहस्थ आश्रम let him go to संन्यास आश्रम. Direct संन्यास आश्रम, skipping गृहस्थ आश्रम, कृष्ण says, is meant for only minority. And therefore, कृष्ण feels in the case of अर्जुन also it is better that he continues in the गृहस्थ आश्रम for getting some more maturity. Thereafter wards, he can think which one is better and therefore activity is more safer than withdrawal. And to establish this view, कृष्ण gave three reasons in the last three श्लोक, 4, 5 and 6, he gave three reasons in support of कर्म. What are those three reasons?

a) The first reason is अर्जुन, by avoiding कर्म you are not guaranteed liberation, escaping from your duty you are not going to get peace of mind, because our general tendency is to think so, when we have lot of responsibilities and anxieties we always think that if I give up all those responsibilities and settle somewhere where I don't have any action to do, we may conclude, we generally conclude no action means peace of mind. कृष्ण says inaction does not guarantee peace of mind.

b) Then the second reason कृष्ण gave is that inaction is not totally possible. Because every person has got a स्वभाव which is governed by the three गुणs and everybody has got the pressure of these three गुणs making him to do one activity or the other. Therefore it is impossible for majority to sit quiet, if you have any doubt try to go to an आश्रम and stay there for a week or so without doing anything. People will take a tape-recorder and some cinema songs or something. Remaining quiet is impossible. That is why they tell a story also. In a temple there was a संन्यासि sitting without doing anything and from the temple नैवेद्यम् they were giving to the संन्यासि as a भिक्षा. And a new temple officer came. And he wanted to bring out changes and improve the situation and all and to cut costs, etc., and he wanted to establish himself and therefore he saw how many people are sharing the food, then they had prepared a list of all the employees and at the end they listed out the name of the simply-sitting संन्यासि. Now this officer said: what is this business. Why should you give to this संन्यासि? Then he said: I am not going to do that, then he met the पूजारी, etc., who said that the officer should talk to the संन्यासि. Then he approached the संन्यासि and said that he is doing nothing for the temple and yet he is eating from the temple, etc. Then the संन्यासि said: Doing nothing is doing a great thing. And this officer said he can also do that. He was challenged by the संन्यासि to sit only for one week near him and doing nothing. And then the officer said what is the great deal. And the next day he also went and sat. Half an hour over, one hour, then he slowly he started getting restless and was looking here and there and then he got up to help someone, then this संन्यासि told him to sit down and do nothing and after 2 hours he became so restless, he ran away and said to the priest, that here-afterwards the simply-sitting संन्यासि should get double the quota. Now only I knew that it is more difficult than doing. And therefore, it is impossible to give up action because स्वभाव pressurizes.

c) And the third reason is not only inaction will not give मोक्ष, not only inaction is impossible, even if you manage to remain quiet it can become a risky proposition. Why it is risky, because when you do not have anything to do, normally at least for a गृहस्थ so many responsibilities, therefore something to worry will be there and so his mind is always preoccupied. When there are no responsibilities, when there are no goals in life, no plan, nothing is there, the mind is idle and he is not going to meditate upon the self, because he doesn't know what the Self is, if he knows what the Self is then he is a ज्ञानि, so when a person without even आत्मज्ञानम्, remains quiet without doing anything, he cannot think of आत्मा also and he doesn't have any project to think of, healthy project to think of, he has got an idle mind, an idle mind is an ideal for a devil's workshop. All the suppressed desires come up and especially when he looks at the world and sees that so many people are going after so many variety of enjoyment, since he cannot do it physically, because he has become a संन्यासि, because the society doesn't accept that and therefore he does not do anything physically, then whatever he is missing physically he begins to fantasize, he begins to imagine and the mind goes on imagining, the thought becomes more and more powerful and a time comes either he violates the संन्यास आश्रम धर्म totally or his mind gets deranged because of suppression. Even psychologists say suppression is more dangerous than violent expression. So what वेदान्त talks about is transcending the worldly desires not suppressing the worldly desires, परीक्ष्य लोकान् कर्मचितान् ब्रह्मणो निर्वेदमायात्, getting वैराग्यम् is growing out of worldly desires. But this person is not growing out but he is suppressing and therefore कृष्ण calls him a मिथ्याचारः. Outside he is a स्वामि, he is declaring himself to the world that I am only thinking of धर्म and मोक्षः, that is the declaration through this वस्त्र and outside he declares one thing and inside his mind is in अर्थ-काम. Thus there is a double personality, split personality and therefore he is called a मिथ्याचारः. अर्जुन why should you be a मिथ्याचारः because there is a strain in the personality. And therefore, कृष्ण said, which we saw last class, कर्मन्द्रियाणि संयम्य because he has put on the ochre robes, he cannot go after pleasures like a worldly man, because ochre robe is meant for withdrawal, therefore कर्मन्द्रियाणि संयम्य – he physically withdraws from sense pleasures, but मनसा इन्द्रियार्थान् स्मरन्, he is cheating the world and he is cheating himself. Because of the complacency that what I am thinking of the society doesn't know. As he his sitting with closed eyes the society thinks he is in the highest meditation and does नमस्कार and goes. But he alone knows what he is meditating upon. One of the आचार्यs says like the fish which moves in the pure water but it consumes only rubbish in the water. That is why the fish is a cleaner. It is moving in water and whatever rubbish falls it eats. Similarly, I am in an atmosphere of an आश्रम, temple and the dress also indicates that, but mentally I am consuming else and such a life is such a person is called a मिथ्याचारः and such a person is विमूढात्मा – a deluded person, a split personality, a confused personality, he is not very clear what he wants in life. So इन्द्रियार्थान् should go with मनसा स्मरन्. इन्द्रियार्थान् मनसा स्मरन् विमूढात्मा मिथ्याचारः उत्पद्यते – he is a hypocrite. And therefore the third reason is what: inaction is dangerous and therefore अर्जुन don't think of संन्यास, don't think of inaction, think of an active life, how to do that? That is going to be given in the next श्लोक No.7.

Verse No .07

यस्त्विन्द्रियाणि मनसा नियम्यारभतेऽर्जुन ।

कर्मोन्द्रियैः कर्मयोगमसक्तः स विशिष्यते ॥ ३-७॥

यः तु इन्द्रियाणि मनसा नियम्य आरभते अर्जुन ।

कर्म-इन्द्रियैः कर्म-योगम् असक्तः सः विशिष्यते ॥ ३-७॥

हे अर्जुन! यः तु मनसा इन्द्रियाणि नियम्य, असक्तः कर्म-इन्द्रियैः कर्म-योगम् आरभते, सः विशिष्यते ।

So therefore what is the ideal आश्रम according to कृष्ण? It is गृहस्थ आश्रम, a life in society, where there is a scope for contribution, so that I can cleanse myself. गृहस्थ आश्रम while it is an ideal आश्रम where one can fulfill अर्थ-काम desires, parallelly it is an ideal आश्रम for service to the society. शास्त्र prescribes गृहस्थ आश्रम not merely for अर्थ-काम, अर्थ-काम is only secondary and subsidiary. That is why they say:

इयम् सीता मम सुता सह धर्मं चरी तव ॥

प्रतीच्छ च एनाम् भद्रम् ते पाणिम् गृहीष्व पाणिना हित ॥

श्रीमद्वाल्मीकिरामायणम् १-७३-२६/२७॥

So wife is called सहधर्मचरीणि, which means one gets married not for primarily fulfilling the अर्थ-काम desires, but it is only for primarily fulfilling service to the society, my contribution to the society, parallelly I also fulfill my personal desires in a legitimate manner. And therefore, कृष्ण says it is better one is in society. And what should he do in Society? What type of life he should lead? He says इन्द्रियाणि मनसा नियम्य. As a गृहस्थ, as an active person in society, let him regulate his sense organs first, even though गृहस्थ is given a freedom to fulfill his अर्थ-काम, अर्थ-काम means what: अर्थ means security, possessions like house, money, status etc., name, fame they are all security and काम means entertainment. So शास्त्र gives freedom to fulfill the अर्थ-काम desire only in गृहस्थ आश्रम and not in संन्यास आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम is exclusively meant for fulfilling मोक्ष: desire only. Not for fulfilling अर्थ-काम desire. Therefore let a गृहस्थ fulfill his worldly desires but under one condition, what is that: इन्द्रियाणि नियम्य – by regulating the sense organs, which means without violating धर्म, morality. Everybody is given freedom to enjoy physical pleasures, sensory pleasures, intellectual pleasures, emotional pleasures, you want to go to a movie and enjoy, nothing wrong, not three movies a day, but once in a while if it is a safe movie, that is not for संन्यासि, that is not meant for the संन्यासि, therefore you fulfill that, but before fulfillment ask the question, Is it legitimate? Is it moral? or Is it in excess? Even a legitimate fulfillment of desire should be within moderate limits. Even अमृतम् in excess is poison. The legitimate fulfillment of pleasures cannot be beyond limit, that is why I gave the example of pickle. A pickle is allowed, if you don't have BP of course, pickle is allowed but you should know what is the main dish, what is the side dish. You should not take the pickle as the main dish forgetting the main dish. Similarly, अर्थ-काम should not be primary, धर्म must be primary, giving must be primary, taking must be lesser, always the account must show that what I have contributed is more what I have consumed is less. That is called a धार्मिक पुरुषः. And therefore, regulating, avoiding indulgence, avoiding excesses - sensory excesses. And how do you control the sense organs? मनसा, मनसा means by discrimination, by discrimination - what is right and what is wrong and what is moderate and what is not moderate, the intellect must assess, judge and decide controlling the mind, controlling is not suppression very careful, controlling is regulating. Remember the example of a river, if you stop a river it is suppression, the water will increase and increase and increase, the pressure will mount up, a time will come when it will break the bund and flood the whole place. At the same time if you don't stop the river the water may be wasted, it may just flow into the ocean without benefitting anyone, that is also wastage of water. So that is also not correct, stopping also is not correct and then what is the correct thing: regulation of water, dam the river alright, but you have to channelize the water in a useful direction. Similarly, वेदान्त doesn't ask you to suppress, at the same time वेदान्त says don't violently allow the sense organs to as said the other day: 'should the legs follow wherever the eyes lead to, should the mind follow wherever the legs lead to, should the man follow wherever the mind leads to?' So don't allow that to happen. That is excess. At the same time don't suppress, that is also not correct. That is called regulation, channelization and having mastered, managed the sense organs – ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि, then what should he do? कर्मयोगम् आरभते – one should take to कर्मयोगः. A गृहस्थ, a person who is active in society should take to कर्मयोग, what is कर्मयोग we are going to see hereafter. कृष्ण is giving the introduction. He should take to कर्मयोग. And that too how? असक्तः – without getting attached to anything, so whatever he uses, he uses with mastery, he doesn't consider anything that he uses as an end-in-itself, whatever he uses is a means. According to शास्त्र, even गृहस्थ आश्रम is not an end-in-itself. Getting a wife or husband is not an end-in-itself, because both of them are not permanent. By holding on to them I am not going to retain, either I have to grow out of my need for family members, if I don't grow out, यमधर्मराज will forcibly snatch them away from me, before यमधर्मराज chooses to snatch I decide to grow out of them, so that when यमधर्मराज comes and calls, before he snatches I tell him, take it and there is no need to snatch. I am ready to come. So that is called detachment. Growing out of anything that I use. This is called असक्तः and such a person who follows कर्मयोग is विशिष्यते - he excels. He excels whom? He is superior to a संन्यासि who chooses संन्यास without getting maturity and gets into trouble, neither he is able to fulfill his worldly desires nor he is able to spend his lifetime in वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासन. संन्यास आश्रम is wonderful if we love वेदान्त. संन्यास आश्रम is horrible if you do not love वेदान्त. And therefore, a गृहस्थ is superior to an immature संन्यासि. Continuing;

नियतं कुरु कर्म त्वं कर्म ज्यायो ह्यकर्मणः ।

शरीरयात्रापि च ते न प्रसिद्ध्येदकर्मणः ॥ ३-८॥

नियतम् कुरु कर्म त्वं कर्म ज्यायः हि अकर्मणः ।

शरीर-यात्रा अपि च ते न प्रसिद्ध्येत् अकर्मणः ॥ ३-८॥

त्वं नियतम् कर्म कुरु, अकर्मणः हि कर्म ज्यायः । ते शरीर-यात्रा च अपि अकर्मणः न प्रसिद्ध्येत् ।

I) So in the previous श्लोक, कृष्ण said: कर्मयोग is ideal, it is best for majority. But always शास्त्र give exception to certain people where they can skip the गृहस्थ आश्रम and directly ब्रह्मचर्य to संन्यास, शास्त्र gives as an exception. And exception is always exception, it cannot be taken as the general rule. And according to शास्त्र, even that exception is really not an exception. If a person avoids the गृहस्थ आश्रम and takes to संन्यास आश्रम and he is able to pursue spirituality and attain मोक्षः, really speaking he has not skipped गृहस्थ आश्रम, शास्त्र says, you know the answer, he has already gone through the गृहस्थ आश्रम in the previous life and he has served the society and he has purified the mind and he is born with a pure mind, therefore naturally it has got inclination for वेदान्त, why वेदान्त, वेदान्त alone it has inclination. Therefore there also we are not circumventing or avoiding गृहस्थ आश्रम, it is brought forward. That is it. कृष्ण has talked about कर्मयोग in the 7th श्लोक. Now from the 8th श्लोक, कृष्ण wants to talk about what is कर्मयोग, which we are repeatedly saying कर्मयोग you should take to, कर्मयोग... . So what is कर्मयोग? कृष्ण had briefly defined कर्मयोग in the 2nd chapter,

कर्मण्येवाधिकारस्ते मा फलेषु कदाचन ।

मा कर्मफलहेतुर्भूर्मा ते सङ्गोऽस्त्वकर्मणि ॥ २-४७॥

योगस्थः कुरु कर्माणि सङ्गं त्यक्त्वा धनञ्जय ।

सिद्ध्यसिद्ध्योः समो भूत्वा समत्वं योग उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

In the two श्लोकs, 47th and 48th verses of the 2nd chapter कर्मयोग has been summarized. Now in this 3rd chapter कृष्ण is going to elaborately discuss from verse no.8 up to verse no.20. So this chapter is therefore famous for or well-known for this particular section alone and because of this particular section only this chapter itself is called कर्मयोग. Therefore the following portion is the most important. Now as I said, as I have said very often, कृष्ण gives the गीता teaching only based on the वैदिक teaching, कृष्ण doesn't have any new thing to offer, it is giving the old teaching itself in a modern form, because compared to the time of the वेदs the time of गीता is modern, compared to the time of the गीता our time is still modern, therefore you may change the example, tape recorder example, शङ्कराचार्य cannot give, cassette and all he will not say, therefore we give TV and cinema example. Certainly शङ्कराचार्य would not have talked in English. We change the language, we change the example, perhaps we have printed book and we have a got a modern pen and some people are also recording perhaps, we can change all these, but the content of the teaching is वैदिक alone, so वेद itself has talked about कर्मयोग in the कर्मकाण्ड section and there is a famous मन्त्र occurring in the बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् and ईशावास्योपनिषत्, which is the basis for the 3rd chapter. In the ईशावास्योपनिषत् the मन्त्र is:

कुर्वन्नेवेह कर्माणि जिजीविषेच्छतँ समाः ।

एवं त्वयि नान्यथेतोऽस्ति न कर्म लिप्यते नरे ॥ ईशावास्योपनिषत् -२ ॥

Very important मन्त्र in ईशावास्य. And in बृहदारण्यक, there is a मन्त्र, तमेतम् वेदानुवचनेन ब्राह्मणा विविदिषन्ति यज्ञेन दानेन तपसाऽनाशकेन ॥ बृहदारण्यक ६-४-२२ ॥

These two मन्त्रs are the basis for the entire कर्मयोग and कृष्ण also is talking based on that. So what is कर्मयोग I will generally discuss first and thereafter we can go to the श्लोकs proper. I had briefly discussed in the 2nd chapter, that also you can remember. I said कर्मयोग consists of two portions, one is कर्म and another is योग. कर्म is one word, योग is another word.

- i) कर्म means proper action. So one of the criteria for कर्मयोग is that the action must be proper action, what is proper action we will see later, कर्म is here proper action.
- ii) Then the second part of कर्मयोग is योग. And the word योग means proper attitude, towards what. Towards the action and not only the action, towards the result of action also, that is more important. So proper attitude towards action and result is called योगः.

Now we will take each part, each segment for study.

A) What is proper action? The scriptures divide action into three varieties, सत्त्विकम् कर्म, राजसम् कर्म and तामसम् कर्म.

- सत्त्विकम् कर्म is the best action, which is ideal part of कर्मयोग and
- राजसम् कर्म is only mediocre, secondary and ➤ तामसम् कर्म is the worst.

And therefore according to scriptures a कर्मयोगि's life should dominate in सात्त्विक actions and the राजसिक actions must be lesser and तामसिक action should be either zero or minimum. OK. Now the next question is: what is सात्त्विक action? Each one we will analyze. We have to understand it clearly.

a) The first one is, सात्त्विक कर्म. In simple language, we can translate सात्त्विक action as any action in which more number of people get benefit. I may also be a beneficiary, there is nothing wrong if I also get the benefit but the benefit doesn't come to me alone but the number of people that benefit is much much higher. Like a business man who gets lot of profit and he enjoys the profit, the benefit but equally he shares the wealth with the society. And when a person shares his wealth with the society, even संन्यासिs will bless him that may you get more profit, you know why, our आश्रम will also get! So everybody will bless him for more and more profit. Somebody said I want to get lot of money, is it wrong? I said nothing wrong, get lot of money and give lot of money also, I'm ready to bless you. If you say I want lot of money for myself and enjoy it sitting in a dark room, then no blessings. Therefore सात्त्विक कर्म is an action in which the beneficiaries are maximum, we call it निष्काम कर्म, self-less activity.

b) And then राजसिक कर्म is selfish activity in which the beneficiaries are minimum, minimum means what: we two and our two, myself and my family I keep. There are still worse cases, family also is not included, myself alone. No of beneficiaries become lesser and lesser and lesser that even with family members he doesn't want to share and he goes to court to claim the property. So we hear cases where brothers themselves quarrel for the sake of property, you can imagine what the state of mind should be, when I cannot share with the family itself, where is the question of sharing with the society. So राजसिक कर्म is मध्यम कर्म, selfish action is secondary.

c) And तामस कर्म is harmful कर्म in which for my benefit I hurt others. I am not bothered about what happens to others, even when I play the radio or TV, I don't even consider whether the neighbors will be disturbed or not, you see in India, full of that only. Everywhere mike is blaring. And nobody wants to consider the other people's convenience and they say it is विष्णुसहस्रनाम. Whether it is विष्णुसहस्रनाम or ललितासहस्रनाम, it is all the same, disturbance is disturbance. Suppose I am sitting in meditation and I don't want to get any other thing; विष्णुसहस्रनाम is great but not at the time of meditation, I am ready to chant विष्णुसहस्रनाम when I want, but when I want to meditate, even if someone is playing विष्णुसहस्रनाम cassette loud that is an obstacle for me. Just because it is a temple it doesn't mean that people can blare forth and disturb. So any action that disturbs others is तामसम् कर्म.

In English, selfless action is उत्तमम्, selfish action is मध्यमम् and harmful action is अधम. A कर्मयोगि's life should be such that it abounds in सात्त्विक कर्म and it has got minimum of तामसिक कर्म. Now let us go further, if सात्त्विक कर्म is निष्काम कर्म, what am I supposed to do as निष्काम कर्म, what am I supposed to do? The शास्त्र itself prescribe those सात्त्विक कर्म, शास्त्रs prescribes them as a compulsory कर्म, everybody has to do, you can do any amount of सकाम कर्म alright, but the शास्त्र says your life should have the सत्त्विक निष्काम कर्म also and what is that: शास्त्र says, पञ्च महा यज्ञाः comes under सत्त्विकम् कर्म and they are the best because they produce spiritual progress very fast. Double promotion, triple promotion in सत्त्विकम् कर्म; in राजसम् कर्म the progress is very slow and in तामसम् कर्म there is not only no progress, it is going away from मोक्षः. Therefore सत्त्विकम् कर्म is superior because it purifies the mind, it cleanses, it is like soap for the mind, special detergent for the mind, राग-द्वेषः काम-क्रोध, etc., it washes off like acid. Now the question is what are those पञ्च महा यज्ञs, all of which are equally important?

शास्त्र doesn't give them as choice, but they give them as compulsory, according to our capacity, शास्त्र doesn't enforce but according to our capacity it should be there.

i) The first महा यज्ञ is देव यज्ञ. Our life should have certain religious activity. However busy you are, a portion of the day must be necessarily allotted for worship. What type of worship you do we don't care, it all depends upon your background, your वर्ण, your आश्रम, your parentage, some people may know, some person may know वैदिक rituals, he may do अग्निहोत्र, another person may do सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, because we have been initiated because he has been taught. Another person may not know अग्निहोत्र or सन्ध्यावन्दनम् he may go to temple or he may chant राम नाम. He may do this or that, he says स्वामिजि, can I chant while I am traveling in the bus, etc. They are all additions. There must be some exclusive time allotted because then only it means that I have respect for देव यज्ञ. Suppose some guests have come in your house, how will you talk with him? Will you talk to him cleaning your house? If you are going to do some work and talk to him isn't it an insult? Similarly, if you are going to do पूजा, जप, etc., along with some other job then that is not the real one, we should first give some time for जप or पूजा or anything and after doing that regular मन्त्र जप, then if you are chanting while going to office in the bus or chanting while you are sitting quietly etc., that should be all additions, but they can never replace exclusive allotment for the देव यज्ञ. So let us call it prayer, religious activity, you may call it ritual, you may call it prayer; one should do.

ii) Then the next one is called पितृ यज्ञ, which means worship of the forefathers. Our scriptures consider it extremely important. Worship of the forefathers according to our tradition, family to family, forefathers have practiced in a particular way, therefore, that also should be done, one has to allot some time. I heard day in America there is mothers' day, fathers' day; in all cultures it is there. If you are allotting time for everything and if you cannot allot some time for your forefathers, because of whom we are solid 80 kgs sitting here, we are ungrateful people, not fit to be called even a human being. And therefore, पितृ यज्ञ any type of worship according to the family tradition. Some people have श्राद्ध, तर्पण, different things are there they are all important.

iii) Then the third one is called ऋषि यज्ञ or ब्रह्म यज्ञः, offering to or worship of our scriptures, because of which alone our culture, our tradition is so glorious. If Indian has got some name, not because of anything, because other than religion and philosophy, in everything we are a BIG ZERO. Nothing we are excelling. Only we have got the oldest ऋग्वेद, yet he doesn't know what it contains, यजुर्वेद, we have only that thing to claim, therefore glorious tradition because of the scriptures and the ऋषिs have dedicated their life to give us the scriptures, therefore I have to do something to preserve and also propagate the scriptures either directly or indirectly. So which will come under, this is called ऋषि यज्ञ, पाठयणम्, daily पाठयणम् of सहस्रनाम or गीता or उपनिषत् or some prayers, allotting some time for the study of scriptures, just read the भागवतम् from beginning to end with translation, it is wonderful. Read the रामायणम् from beginning to end, just at least one page per day, not all the 24,000 श्लोकs, therefore the study of scriptures, in fact, what you are doing now is ब्रह्म यज्ञ.

ऋतम् च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । सत्यम् च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । तपश्च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च ।

दमश्च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । शमश्च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । अग्नश्च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च ।

अग्निहोत्रश्च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । अतिथयश्च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च ।

स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च is repeated several times, to indicate that we are all responsible not only for receiving the scriptural knowledge and it is our duty to hand it over to the posterity, future also. We need not sit in the hall and lecture, that is not the idea, if every parent shares the traditional wisdom with their children and in every family in India the culture was transferred only in the families. Everything from the grandpa, grandma, papa and mama, we learn all the रामायण, पुराण only through our parents. Now they say: स्वामिजि now we don't have time and therefore we have purchased the अमरचित्रकथा and given to the children and then thereafter the children know more than the parents. We have a duty to preserve and propagate our scriptures; ब्रह्म यज्ञ means daily वेद पाठायणम् or any स्मृति, इतिहास, पुराण, anything, that is ब्रह्म यज्ञ and it has got a ritualistic form also, many people even now practice ब्रह्म यज्ञ which is a five minute ritual, in which I remember the scriptures, ऋग्वेदम् तर्पयामि, यजुर्वेदम् तर्पयामि, साम वेदम् तर्पयामि, अथर्वण वेदम् तर्पयामि, इतिहास पुराणम् तर्पयामि, कल्पम् तर्पयामि, व्याकरणम् तर्पयामि. Even grammar we worship, not only we offer पूजा to all these scriptures we also say सर्वान् ऋषिम् तर्पयामि. The ऋषि who have contributed to that and we also add सर्वान् ऋषि पत्निगुम् तर्पयामि or else the feminist movement would come and start an agitation! Therefore along with ऋषि, because our ऋषि were happily married also, therefore ऋषि also I worship, ऋषि पत्नि's also I worship. This is called ब्रह्म यज्ञ, no choice, compulsory. The amount of time you spend may vary. Even if it is five minutes, enough.

iv) Then the fourth यज्ञ, मनुष्य यज्ञः, all types of social service comes under मनुष्य यज्ञ, all types of social service, whether it is poor feeding or building orphanages, during दीपावलि you always get advertisement in some orphanages which asks for donations, etc., some of you may also go there and give some sweets etc., to those children, old people etc., give some dress to those people, even those people asks you not to bring anything and not bring money, but spend some time with them. etc., they are all thirsting for somebody's love, they are asking only for time, 15 minutes you just spend with children. Similarly, some old age homes are there, there if I contribute; I build schools or anything connected with the society, secular, it is not temple connected but social service, all of them will come under मनुष्य यज्ञ and वेद considers primary मनुष्य यज्ञ as अन्नदानम् or giving or feeding the people who do not have the facility. Poor feeding is considered a very very sacred thing. This is मनुष्य यज्ञ. And remember people ask the question when the श्राद्ध comes can I do poor feeding, this is invariably people ask, the शास्त्र say that poor feeding is मनुष्य यज्ञ, श्राद्ध तर्पणादि is पितृ यज्ञ, one cannot replace the other, only one can be added to other, but one can never replace the other, if one can be replaced, शास्त्रs would have said 'either' 'or' like in examination paper they give a choice 'either or', शास्त्रs never said that. The पञ्च महा यज्ञ is said in the वेद not in the स्मृतis,

पञ्च वा एते महायज्ञाः सतति प्रतायन्ते सतति सन्तिष्ठन्ते देव यज्ञः पितृ यज्ञः मनुष्य यज्ञो भूत यज्ञः ब्रह्म यज्ञ इति । ॥ तैत्तिरीयारण्यकम् २-१०-१० ॥

And वेद itself defines all the पञ्च महा यज्ञाः. It is there social service, they think that it is a new concept we have to learn from Christian missionaries, we have to learn people say. In the वेद it is said, we are not following that is all, the fourth one is मनुष्य.

v) The fifth one is called भूत यज्ञः and all environmental protection will come under भूत यज्ञ, so all animals should be respected. That is why we have got different deities having different animals as वाहन. Once you see them as the वाहन then you will develop a reverence for them. Therefore reverence for life, reverence for even plant, you can cut a tree, but if you are forced to cut a tree, minimum you have to plant a tree, maximum anything. Now they are talking about environmental thing, tree planting, etc. वेद says:

अश्वत्थो वट वृक्ष चन्दन तरुर्मन्दार कल्पोद्गुमौ ।... अश्वत्थ वट वृक्ष चन्दन तरु, a list of trees are given and कुर्वन्तु नो मङ्गलम्, early morning I remember all those representative trees and how they are contributing for my survival and that is भूत यज्ञ and again feeding them, taking them, SPCA, Blue Cross, if you are doing anything through anyone of them, that will come under भूत यज्ञः. In शकुन्तला, कालीदास writes, when शकुन्तला wants to go away from the काण्व आश्रम, he takes leave of the people there, then she takes leave of even the plants and the deer, there is a deer, very very dear deer for शकुन्तला and when she is going, finally it is pulling her dress and शकुन्तला gives a special attention to that deer and thereafter काण्व address all the trees,

पातुं न प्रथमं व्यवस्यति जलं युष्मास्वपीतेषु या नादते प्रियमण्डनापि भवतां स्नेहेन या पल्लवम् । आद्ये वः प्रथमप्रसूतिसमये यस्या भवत्युत्सवः सेयम् याति शकुन्तला पतिगृहं सर्वैरनुज्ञाप्यताम् ॥ अभिज्ञानशाकुन्तलम् चतुर्थोऽङ्कः ९ ॥

काण्व addresses all the plants and tells: Oh Trees! शकुन्तला is going away, till now she was taking care of you, you are like her children and please give her goodbye and he writes it seems all the trees bend their head. And now they say, scientists say that plants have got feeling, it responds when a person goes to cut the tree and when another person goes to what you call water the tree, the plants have got different responses and therefore respect for the environment, taking care of them. That comes under भूत यज्ञ.

And all the पञ्च यज्ञs are not optional but they are compulsory, they are called सात्त्विक कर्म. Once a person who leads such a life he always gives more than what he takes and such a person is no more a burden to the society, he is a blessing to the society. When people are the plants cutting, don't cut the plant, plant more trees, but when it comes to human beings, reduce the population, we always vote for more plants and we always vote for less human beings, who is saying that, human being, from this it is very clear, that plants are सात्त्विक ones and the human beings are तमसिक ones, every human being is a burden to the environment whereas every plant is a blessing to the environment. What a life we lead? कर्मयोगि is not like that.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 08-09

Lord कृष्ण talked about the importance of कर्म up to the 7th verse and now from the 8th verse onwards up to 20th verse the Lord is dealing with the important topic of कर्मयोग and because of this central theme of this chapter alone this chapter is known as कर्मयोगः, therefore this is a very important portion not only of the 3rd chapter but of the entire गीता, this portion is important, कृष्ण deals with कर्मयोगः. And in the last class I was introducing the topic and I pointed out that कर्मयोग consists of two parts, one is कर्म and the other is योगः. The word कर्म here means proper action and the word योग here means proper attitude and I was discussing proper action in the last class and I said that the actions are divided into three types in the शास्त्रs, which we will be seeing in the 17th chapter and those three types of actions are सत्त्विकम् कर्म, राजसम् कर्म and तामसम् कर्म.

a) सत्त्विक action is that action in which the beneficiaries are more number of people. I may be a beneficiary or not, even if I am the beneficiary of that action, there are more number of other people also who benefit from the action. Therefore, we can define सत्त्विकम् कर्म as निष्काम कर्म, selfless action, where I give more and take less. So in सत्त्विक कर्म, when I take the final account, I find that I have taken less and I have given more. According to our scriptures, the one who takes more is a failure, the one who gives more is success. According to many other materialistic people, what is the definition of success? If I spend the minimum, including working in the office, if I can do minimum action or no action and if I can get maximum money out of it, I consider it as a successful deal whereas according to शास्त्र, the whole thing is the other way, if I can give more and take less it is a successful spiritual deal, because the शास्त्रs say:

Therefore, सत्त्विक कर्म is self-less action, in which I may be a beneficiary but there are more other beneficiaries also.

b) The second type of कर्म is राजसम् कर्म in which other beneficiaries are lesser and lesser, I am the greatest beneficiary, it is a selfish action, I am bothered about myself or maximum I include 'We two and ours two.' Maximum four. Not even the parents. Husband nuclear family. So therefore I don't even want to take care of my parents, if I can manage by sending them to some old age home and just manage sending from Rs.500 and Rs.1,000 and get rid of them, that is ideal. In one old age home, the authorities were telling that when they sent a letter informing the death of the parent, they say we don't want to spend money and come all the way, you just do the disposal job also and whatever money you spend we will reimburse. We don't want to take the trouble. Therefore a lifestyle in which I don't want to include even my parents, brothers or sisters, maximum included is wife and children, that short-sighted frog in the well, limited mind attitude is selfish action, राजसम् कर्म.

c) And तामसम् कर्म is the worst type of action in which, while I am benefitting, not only other people do not get any benefit but other people are positively harmed. In राजसम् कर्म also I am selfish. In तामसम् कर्म also I am selfish, but what is the difference? In राजसम् कर्म I benefit, other people don't benefit, but they are not harmed, whereas in तामसिक कर्म I get the benefit and at the cost of other people's benefit and therefore it is harmful action.

Selfless action is सात्त्विक, selfish action is राजसिक harmful action is तामसिक.

➤ And the शास्त्र says सत्त्विकम् कर्म produces maximum and quickest spiritual progress, it is fast progress.

➤ In राजसम् कर्म, spiritual progress is slow and less.

➤ In तामसम् कर्म, spiritual progress is nil, not only it is nil the person is spiritually falling down. A man of तामसिक action may be materially successful because by cheating others, by adulteration, by bluffing, by doing all those things he may amass wealth, therefore the world may think, he is materially a successful person but the शास्त्र says he is going to fall down, he is getting more and more away from the शास्त्र.

Therefore, what should be aim of a कर्मयोगि? He has to increase the percentage of सत्त्विकम् कर्म, reduce the percentage of राजसम् कर्म and then third avoid (you cannot say reduce) possible तामसम् कर्म. This is called proper action. And the शास्त्र itself defines the सत्त्विकम् कर्म, which promotes spirituality very quickly, that सत्त्विकम् कर्म is given in the शास्त्र itself which I discussed in the last class, in the form of पञ्च महायज्ञ. My contribution to the deities in the form of daily worship, my contribution to the forefathers in the form of my prayer, like श्राद्ध, तर्पणम्, etc., my contribution to the scriptures in the form of studying the scriptures and handing over them to next generation. Then my contribution to fellow human beings in the form of all types of social service and finally my contribution to the environment, the ecological balance that will come final, भूत यज्ञ, in which I am aware of the plant life, the animal life and I want to respect them, I want to worship them. In Hinduism, almost every creature is worshipped from snake onwards, birds are worshipped, reptiles are worshipped, animals are worshipped, plants are worshipped, that is my contribution to the so-called lower beings, these put together is called पञ्च महायज्ञ. Therefore, कृष्ण says अर्जुन, if you are a कर्मयोगि concentrate on the पञ्च महायज्ञ, you might have selfish desires, fulfill them alright but predominantly it should be a life of contribution. This is proper action. I have only talked about first part of कर्मयोग, that is proper action. पञ्च महायज्ञ, सत्त्विकम् कर्म, निष्काम कर्म.

B) What is the second part of कर्मयोग, योग which is proper attitude. Even the best action will not give me any benefit, even the best action will not give me any benefit if I am going to look down upon the action and I am going to do it as burdensome. Many people they say that when October, November, December months come they are a problematic months, because there are so many functions and festivals it is a month of expenditure, those people who are bothered about budgeting they are not happy about these months, they are unhappy because दीपावलि means this and that, expenses and this function and that function, expenses, they think in terms of expenses and consider it as a burden. If we are going to do it half-heartedly it is not going to give any benefit, the attitude must be what: every action should be taken as an offering to the Lord which is called ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि. Every action that I do, सत्त्विकम् or even राजसम्, सत्त्विकम् or even राजसम्, for example, when I am serving the society, do some service to the society, there also, I don't consider it as my contribution and develop arrogance, I am humble and I am grateful to the Lord that I have got an opportunity to serve the Lord, which is in the form of all these people. They say दरिद्र नारायण, he may be a दरिद्र whom I am helping but I don't think that I am giving to that दरिद्र but दरिद्र नारायण. We have got the expressions like नर सेवा नारायण सेवा, मानव सेवा is माधव सेवा. This is संस्कृत सेवा which is service. Therefore the attitude must be I am offering this to the Lord, कृष्ण is going to talk about this in detail and I am only giving you a bird's eye view, in the 9th chapter कृष्ण will say,

यत्तपस्यसि कौन्तेय तत्कुरुष्व मदर्पणम् ॥ १-२७॥

Even your eating, offer to the Lord who is in the stomach.

कायेन वाचा मनसेन्द्रियैर्वा । बुद्ध्यात्मना वा प्रकृतिस्वभावात् ।

करोमि यद्यत्सकलम् परस्मै । नारायणायेति समर्पयामि ॥ ॥ श्रीमद्भागवतम् ११-२-३६॥

So thus all our prayers indicate that it is not for verbal repetition, it is to bring about an attitudinal change. Many people mutter कायेन वाचा and finish it. It is not for chanting but it refers to our भावना, our attitude. Even your doing the most mundane job of cleaning your desk it is an offering to the Lord, once I take it as an offering to the Lord, I will do it wholeheartedly because I cannot offer anything inferior to the Lord. If it is for the boss you may always think, this is enough and therefore if you are offering to the boss it may not be wholehearted and it will be hole-hearted! But if you are offering to the Lord it should be wholehearted. Therefore what is the attitude, ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, when I do the action as a कर्ता and most important thing is one more attitude, whatever I do is going to produce a consequence whether it is selfless action or selfish action. Even if you are doing selfless service in the society, people will criticize, people will say you are doing that so that you may appear in the photograph, so that you will appear in the newspaper or your name will be mentioned in the vote of thanks list. For name and fame you may be doing, public may criticize or as people often say, स्वामिजि it is thankless job, what is the use of dying for that person, it's like raring a buffalo, people will only criticize, I don't know what consequence is going to come for my action. And therefore, कृष्ण says whatever be the consequence your attitude must be प्रसाद बुद्धि. I accept it as the प्रसाद from the Lord. So as a कर्ता I have ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, as a भोक्ता I have प्रसाद बुद्धि. The difference is when I am doing it is an offering, when I am receiving the कर्मफल it is प्रसादम्, कर्मणि ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, कर्म फले प्रसाद बुद्धि, this attitude is called योगः. So योगः कर्मणि ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, कर्म फले प्रसाद बुद्धि. And if I entertain this attitude, what is the advantage I will have. There is a great advantage. If I am going to take all my actions as an offering to the Lord, I am not going to see whether it is a pleasant action or unpleasant action. Because in life we have to do many actions and many of them are compulsory duties and all duties are not going to be pleasant, there are going to be some duties which are not that pleasant. If I have to take care of my old parents or elderly person who is not that well, it is a duty but it is not going to be a pleasant one because expenditure is involved, physical strain is involved and he slightly prays for the speedy death of the person, that person is suffering, so at least Oh Lord let him get relief, let the lord relieve him, but what they really want is not relieving that person, they want a relief because it is a painful thing. Thus in life, there are many many unpleasant actions and for many people going to office regularly is unpleasant, that is why Friday comes, joy, special bloom will be there in the face, because of the week end, then on Sunday evening gloomy because tomorrow he has start running again. The housewife has also got similar complaint. Within the four walls cooking, cooking and cooking only, boredom; I want to go out. Therefore the going-out wants to remain in, the remaining-in wants to go out, both are unpleasant. Now for अर्जुन the duty is what: fighting the महाभारत war, which is not a pleasant duty at all because it involves killing the near and dear ones. And therefore, when I have ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि the advantage is I will not divide my actions as pleasant or unpleasant. No division should be made. Both are what? Offering to the Lord. Once I look upon every action as an offering I don't do it grudgingly, therefore what is the benefit of ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, there is pleasantness in any kind of duty, कृष्ण calls it समत्वम्. No work is done murmuring, mumbling, grumbling. Not only he is unhappy, he is freely distributing unhappiness to anyone going nearby. If anyone stands near him for five minutes, our face will also droop. There is no enthusiasm. There is no pleasantness. Whereas कृष्ण defines कर्मयोगि as

A कर्मयोगि will have a lot of उत्साह, with a smile. Therefore, that smile should be in the face. That is why स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द used to give one advice, easiest advice but most difficult, you just try to follow only one rule, that is the motto given for the children in the school – ‘Keep smiling.’ It looks very simple but it is one of the most important thing, whatever you have to do, be pleasant. Therefore, ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि makes the mind समम्, undisturbed. Similarly, प्रसाद बुद्धि has also got an advantage because when the result is favorable then everybody is happy, but the problem is when the result is not favorable I am going to react to that, criticize all the stars in the world, all the deities in the world, it is all unjust, you will always find that suppose there is some contest is there, बालविहार contest or the like, गीता chanting, etc. I find often mothers coming and complaining that if that girl’s or that lady’s or that man’s child did not get the first prize then the judges were partial and when are the judges impartial, only under one condition, when my child gets the first prize. So the human tendency is whenever I don’t get the expected result I look upon God as unjust. And I tell स्वामिजि I am such a great भक्त, regularly I come to temple and I never killed even a fly (though all lies), I have not killed a mosquito, I have not told a lie, which itself is a lie, everything and why me? Why am I going through this suffering and therefore भगवान् is unjust. So if I have got प्रसाद बुद्धि, how do I take, whatever भगवान् gives is the just result. It is what I deserve. And if I have been extremely good and I am suffering now, we say that we are extremely good now, assuming that it is true, which is doubtful, I am extremely good now but शास्त्र says the result that I experience is not the results of the present actions only, some of the results that I receive come from पूर्वजन्म कर्म and do I know what अकर्मम् I have done in my पूर्वजन्म. As somebody said, we have all been doing अकर्मम् in क्रमम्. So therefore I don’t know what are all the कर्मस in my lot, whatever I get is the just result, therefore what भगवान् has given me I accept, as they have one rule in cricket, once the umpire says you are out, what is the batsman supposed to do? If he hesitates and if he throws the bat and he mumbles, all these things, he will be called and warned and what is the rule? Implicit obedience. If you can accept the local umpire who commits full of mistakes only, why can't we accept the universal umpire who doesn't require a third umpire, because His eyes are everywhere and He gives 'out' correctly. So if any of is 'out', in cricket, only you get out of that field, but here 'out' is different, we have to just vacate the place, including death, diseases, old age, association, disassociation, whatever भगवान् gives it is a just thing and I accept that and if I don't have the inner strength to accept that I pray to the very same Lord: Oh Lord! give me the strength to accept and this acceptance of the result without resistance is called प्रसाद बुद्धि and the advantage of प्रसाद बुद्धि is again समत्वम्. Thus both ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि and प्रसाद बुद्धि, here the word बुद्धि means the attitude, normally बुद्धि means intellect, here बुद्धि is attitude, ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि means the attitude of offering to the Lord, प्रसाद बुद्धि means the attitude of प्रसाद, प्रसाद cannot be translated, it is difficult. So the English word for प्रसाद is प्रसाद, receive it as प्रसाद. So these two attitudes give what? समत्वम्. That is why in the 2nd chapter, कृष्ण said, समत्वम् योगः उत्थते. The definition of proper attitude is a balanced mind born out of ईश्वरार्पण and प्रसाद बुद्धि, thus proper action plus proper attitude is equal to कर्मयोग. And what is the benefit of this कर्मयोग? Material benefits may come may not come, कर्मयोग doesn't guarantee material benefit, it may come, generally it will come, that is the by-product of कर्मयोग, generally. But we are not supposed to concentrate on the by-product, if you are concentrating on the by-product it is no more by-product, it becomes the main product. Therefore, material prosperity is a by-product but we are not supposed to concentrate on it, the primary result of कर्मयोग is what: very fast spiritual progress and what is the sign of spiritual progress? Interest in Self-knowledge. Spiritually I am progressing how can I know? I begin to love Self-knowledge and I will also easily grasp Self-knowledge. This is the bird's eye view of the कर्मयोग.

With this background, we will go श्लोक by श्लोक, every श्लोक is a gem. So कृष्ण says, look at the 8th श्लोक, अकर्मणः कर्म ज्यायः. अर्जुन, action is always superior to inaction. Action is always superior to inaction, because as we saw in the previous श्लोक, in inaction the mind is idle and an idle mind is a devil's workshop. Only a ज्ञानि can remain without action because his mind has no problem, but whereas as far as an अज्ञानि is concerned if he is idle and if he tries to remain alone, withdrawn from the society the very same aloneness will only create fear and loneliness. That is why whenever a place is a quiet place you will find two people will have two types of response. One will say that it is quiet like an आश्रमम्. Another person will say it is quiet like a cremation ground or burial ground. Quietness remaining the same, the one who has got a mature mind he enjoys that, he calls it aloneness, whereas the other person who is not prepared the very same thing is what: loneliness. Externally both are same but internally it is dangerous for an unprepared mind, therefore कृष्ण says, action is superior to inaction and not only that, look at the second line, अकर्मणः शरीर-यात्रा अपि न प्रसिद्ध्येत्. If you resort to inaction even living in the world will become impossible. If you resort to inaction, शरीर-यात्रा even the journey of life, even the procurement of the minimum needs like food, clothing and shelter, even that is not possible if you don't take to action. And suppose a person argues: I need not act for procuring the minimum needs. I already have got पूर्विक (ancestral) wealth. Suppose a person says, all that I have to do is to eat one's fill and take rest, if I have to eat I have to take some rest, after some rest I cannot do anything, I have to eat. For that शास्त्र says, even if you have got everything provided you have to act in the world at least for maintaining your physical health, otherwise cholesterol will get deposited all over, the person who has got the car and the other facilities, the doctor will say, keep the car at a long distance and walk. At least to maintain your health you will have to work, you have to act and therefore कृष्ण says, even for livelihood you have to work in the world. Therefore अर्जुन, त्वम् कर्म कुरु – you do action. And what type of action? नियतम् कर्म कुरु – you do those actions which are prescribed in the scriptures as compulsory actions. And what are those actions? All the selfless actions called पञ्च महायज्ञs are prescribed by the scriptures as compulsory action. Everyone has to contribute to the world, whether you earn, whether you enjoy, you eat, you do whatever you love to do, you want to enjoy dance, music, you do, may you pursue अर्थ-काम, nothing wrong, but one compulsory thing is you have to contribute to the society. In what way you contribute depends upon your facilities, your resources, it may be financial contribution, it may be विद्या दानम्, it may be अन्न दानम्, it may be time दानम् (in America and all they use that word – ‘thank you for giving me your Time’ (I didn’t know until that such a thing exists), only when they come and talk to me for fifteen minutes (we don’t have such practice!), thank you for the ‘Time’, then only I understand giving time to someone and just listening to whatever he says, it may be useful or not that is a different thing, but I listen to someone, I have not given money or solution or anything, but I have given some time from my life, that is also दानम्. If you smile at someone, that is also smile दानम्. If you smile at people, I tell you people, people come from miles to get a smile. So therefore contribute at all the five levels and कृष्ण calls it नियतम् कर्म.

Now here we have to note a very significant thing. The सत्त्विकम् कर्म or पञ्च महायज्ञ can be seen from different angles and it is given different names, indicating the significance of that particular angle. Now these compulsory duties, here कृष्ण calls नियतम्. नियतम् means it is the commandment of the Lord. It is the commandment of the Lord, that means what: there is an element of fear involved in it, because the moment you call it a commandment, if you don't do it there will be punishment, like the laws of the Government. Even though the laws are meant for our own well-being only, but the laws are looked upon as the laws of the ruler and we have to necessarily follow them and if you violate the laws, whether it is laws of the tax you have to pay the tax. If you don't do that you will have punishment. You have to follow the traffic rules, if you violate that the stop line at the signal, if you cross the stop line, Rs.50 penalty. See all these laws are meant for our own well being only, if we are mature enough we will follow by ourselves, but an immature person never follows the law by himself or herself and therefore what do we require: threatening and punishment. Similarly, any mature person will naturally do पञ्च महायज्ञ. Any mature person will naturally do पञ्च महायज्ञ, because he knows that he has got duty to the world and not merely rights. As J.F.Kennedy had said, "ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country." Any mature person will naturally ask the question, what have I done to the world, religion, to my forefathers, to my parents and therefore, a mature person will naturally do, an immature person will not naturally do and therefore our scriptures threaten the humanity by saying you have to compulsorily do पञ्च महायज्ञ. And if you don't do these कर्मस, what will happen? Punishment also is prescribed. It is called omissions of your duty. Just as we use the word commissions and omissions,

विहितम् अविहितम् वा सर्वमेतत् क्षमस्य जय जय करुणाब्धे श्रीमहादेव शम्भो ॥

विहितम् अविहितम् means what: not doing what is to be done is a mistake, omitting what I have to do. Therefore the scriptures say whoever does not do पञ्च महायज्ञ will get a special पापम्. There are other regular पापम्s which he is successfully doing, that's a different thing, there is a special पापम् for the omission of the पञ्च महायज्ञ and that पापम् is called प्रत्यवाय पापम्. If I don't contribute at these five levels I am incurring प्रत्यवाय पापम् which means I am spiritually falling down. I am getting more and more away from मोक्षः. And therefore कृष्ण uses the language of threatening, अर्जुन 'नियतम्' my commandment is कर्मयोग, therefore better you do it, he is saying that with a stick in hand, as if it is a stick treatment! Just as, only when the policeman stands, we will follow the traffic rules, then also he will look left and right and quietly sneak the signal. Only when there is a police & only when there is punishment only then the immature persons will follow. Therefore, the scriptures use the language of threatening, कर्मयोग one should follow or otherwise he would incur sin. Therefore, अर्जुन, नियतम् कुरु. The word नियतम् is otherwise translated as विधि or विहितम्. All the three are same. विधि or विहितम् or नियतम्. Here it is the language of fear that कृष्ण is using. Better you do. Better you obey my commandment. Continuing;

Verse No .09

यज्ञार्थात्कर्मणोऽन्यत्र लोकोऽयं कर्मबन्धनः ।

तदर्थं कर्म कौन्तेय मुक्तसङ्गः समाचर ॥ ३-९॥

यज्ञार्थात् कर्मणः अन्यत्र लोकः अयम् कर्म-बन्धनः ।

तत् अर्थम् कर्म कौन्तेय मुक्त-सङ्गः समाचर ॥ ३-९॥

यज्ञार्थात् कर्मणः अन्यत्र अयम् लोकः कर्म-बन्धनः । हे कौन्तेय! मुक्त-सङ्गः तत् अर्थम् कर्म समाचर ।

II) So in the previous श्लोक, कृष्ण presented कर्मयोग as ईश्वर आज्ञा, ईश्वर विधि, one has to follow otherwise you will incur sin - the language of fear is used. In fact, it is not correct because psychologically it is not healthy to cause fear. That is the new research that is telling, they are advising all the parents and teachers - never use fear as a method of making the child obedient, because in fear the mind is crumbled, the mind cannot grow or learn, that is why in America parents cannot beat the child. And then all the children are given a particular number to ring it and immediately police will come and arrest the parents. Previously the parents were threatening, now the children are threatening the parents. Because they say corporal punishment is extremely bad for the growth of the mind of a person. Threatening is extremely bad and therefore, one should avoid using that and if at all it is necessary, it should be used only extremely sparingly, first साम दान, भेद्य and as a last resort दण्ड. Because the side effects are dangerous even though it looks simpler, because by frightening the child you can get things done easily. Even when the child cries, they use the language - if you cry, again I will beat you. Now the child immediately stops. They say that the child has not stopped crying, but has pushed the crying into the subconscious mind, you have not stopped the child from crying, it stores like bank deposit, it stores all the crying in the subconscious and wait for a future opportunity and such children who have suppressed all the crying, they alone in future cry for anything and everything. No reason is necessary. Simply on seeing some person incessantly tears will start flowing down the cheeks. Only we स्वामि's come to know that because they all will be coming and all of a sudden start crying. Because of suppression. Therefore by frightening you can get things done, but it is not the right method but in inevitable cases sparingly it can be used, like Pethidine injection, only very very, when it is extremely necessary. So thus previously कर्मयोग was talked about as what: ईश्वर आज्ञा where fear was used, now कृष्ण improves the version you need not take it as ईश्वर आज्ञा. When you are immature I called it ईश्वर आज्ञा, but soon you should change your attitude, don't be a God-fearing person, you might have heard this idiom - 'he is a God-fearing person.' We think that this is a good quality, but fear whether it is the fear of parents or husband and rarely fear of wife or fear of anyone, any fear is bad including God-fear. So initially you are a God-fearing person, later convert कर्मयोग into God-worship and from this angle it is called ईश्वर यज्ञः. First we said ईश्वर आज्ञा (to create fear), now it is said ईश्वर यज्ञ, look upon कर्मयोग as a worship of the Lord. That Lord who has given everything to you free of cost - wonderful body, wonderful world, five sense organs are there, five sense objects are there, you have got hunger food is there, you have thirst water is there, you have बुद्धि, I suppose and we have got enough field for discoveries and discoveries and discoveries. Anything you naturally need भगवान् has provided. As somebody nicely said, 'There is enough for everyone's need but not for everyone's greed.' Whatever is needed it is provided, therefore why can't we worship the Lord for all these gifts he has given and therefore he says यज्ञार्थम् कर्म. कर्मयोग is for the worship of the Lord. It is converting the very life into a पूजा. Normally what do we think or do, पूजा means 15 minutes, what we do in the early morning, पञ्चायतन पूजा, we think that पूजा is a 15 minutes ritualistic job, done unwillingly, but कृष्ण says you may do that पूजा in the beginning, but ultimately the real पूजा is to convert your very life into a पूजा. यद्यत्कर्म करोमि तत्तदखिलम् शंभो तवाराधनम्.

पूजा ते विषयोपभोगरचना निद्रासमाधिरस्थितिः ।

संवारस्तु पदोः प्रदक्षिणविधिः स्तोत्राणि सर्वा गियो

यद्यत्कर्म करोमि तत्तदखिलं शंभो तवाराधनम् ॥ शिवमानस पूजा – ४ ॥

Oh Lord, let my very living become an offering to you.

जपो जल्पः शिल्पं सकलमपि मुद्रा विरचना गतिः प्रादक्षिण्यक्रमण मशनाद्याहुति विधिः ।

प्रणामः संवेशस्सुखमखिल मात्मार्षणदृशा सपर्यापर्याया स्तव भवतु यन्मे विलसितम् ॥ सौन्दर्यलहरी २७॥

शङ्कराचार्य tells in his सौन्दर्यलहरी, Oh Mother! wherever I go take it as प्रदक्षिणम् (like you may be doing the passport office प्रदक्षिणम्, instead of doing temple प्रदक्षिणम् he will be going rounds to passport office, or you are searching for an address but instead will be wandering), convert everything into a प्रदक्षिणम्. And whatever you are eating make it to an offering प्राणाय स्वाहा, अपाणाय स्वाहा... ब्रह्मणे स्वाहा and therefore what is कर्मयोग, Work Is Worship is कर्मयोग. We may ask the question I can do the worship in the early morning because the lord is in the temple, but how can I convert the office work into worship, there the lord is not present. कृष्ण says, you fool! Lord is not located in वैकुण्ठ or कैलास, the very world is the विश्वरूपम्, universal manifestation of the Lord –

whole universe is भगवान्, therefore

जगतः ईशधी युक्त सेवनम् । अष्टमूर्तिभूतं देवपूजनम् ॥ उपदेशसारम् ७॥

World is God. Therefore to offer your work to the Lord you need not come to the temple, look upon the very office as the Lord and offer it to the Lord through भावना – your attitude. Therefore He says, यज्ञार्थम् कर्म, कर्मयोग is a यज्ञ. What is the advantage of this attitude? कृष्ण says अन्यत्र अयम् लोकः कर्म-बन्धनः, अन्यत्र – otherwise, he is cautioning. If you don't convert your action into worship, then what will happen: कर्म-बन्धनः – every action will become a bondage for you. Action as worship is not a bondage, In fact, it leads to liberation, action as worship is not a bondage, In fact, it leads to liberation, whereas action which is not a worship is the cause of bondage. Why it is the cause of bondage? Because I will have tensions, whether it will work properly, there is a constant anxiety, whether the child will get admission or not, whether I will be able to go to America or not, whether I will be able to win this contract or not. Every action is a poison for us, because every action causes stress and strain. Now what they are talking all over is that the lifestyle of an individual now-a-days is such a stress, that is why so many people are talking about stress management, they talk about so many managements and now this stress management! And this person is stressed as to how to conduct the stress management. It should work properly and everyone should come and what is the seminar, stress management. They say the stress is causing such an amount of problem that by the age of 40 almost all executives are spent force, that they get all kinds of psychosomatic diseases because of tremendous tension. BP is up, sugar is up, all kinds of things are either up and down, cholesterol this and that. And he has got high salary alright but he cannot enjoy even good food. I have told you, he cannot take salt because of BP, he cannot take sweet because of sugar, he cannot take sour things because of ulcer, no salt, no sweet, no tamarind then what to eat? Pumpkin juice, three times daily!! For what purpose you are earning, if minimum you cannot eat well, why should I earn a salary of Rs.50,000/- a month. Therefore if you want to earn and eat well, moderately, remove the stress and that you can do only under one condition, what is that, convert your life into worship and tell yourselves whatever comes – प्रसादः.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 09-11

Lord कृष्ण is discussing the important topic of कर्मयोग from various angles. कर्मयोग, we saw consists of two parts, a) one is the performance of appropriate action, as I said सत्त्विक कर्माणि. And सत्त्विक कर्मs are those actions in which I contribute more to the world than I take for myself. That is in the form of पञ्च महायज्ञ's, in which I contribute at different level that is proper action.

b) And along with that कृष्ण pointed that there should be a proper attitude also and by proper attitude we mean that every action is dedicated to the Lord as an offering, as ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि and all the consequences of the actions are received without any resistance or without any criticisms, all the कर्म-फलम्s are received with प्रसाद बुद्धिः.

So when these proper actions and proper attitude join together it is called कर्मयोग and this कर्मयोग, कृष्ण is looking from various angles.

I) The first angle in which कृष्ण presented कर्मयोग is as a commandment of the Lord, that there is no choice with regard to कर्मयोग, this is the आज्ञा of the Lord, this is the विधि of the Lord, nobody can escape. And by saying that this is आज्ञा what कृष्ण means is if we do not follow a life of कर्मयोग it will come under the sin of omission, it will come under अकरणम्, विहित अकरणम् and for the omission there will be a पापम् called प्रत्यवाय पापम्. Therefore, whoever does not perform पञ्च महायज्ञ's is incurring a sin of प्रत्यवाय which will pull him spiritually down. And therefore, to avoid the पापम् at least, one has to take to कर्मयोग. This is the first angle, कर्मयोग as ईश्वर's commandment and failing in कर्मयोग a person will be punished. This is कर्मयोग presented as a threat. In this a fear is involved, but still for immature people fear has to be given. As I said, the government has to give punishment to those people who violate the laws of the land. If all the people are mature we don't require force of law, we don't require police people at all, punishment is required when the people are immature. Therefore कृष्ण also uses the same law punishment and threatens the people saying: Better you follow कर्मयोग otherwise you will be punished and what is the punishment: संसार कारागृहम्, the imprisonment called संसार is the punishment.

II) Then once a person is evolved enough and once he does not require punishment or threat, then the very same कर्मयोग can be seen from another angle. And that is the second angle which we are seeing. Here कृष्ण does not present कर्मयोग as a commandment of the Lord, He presents कर्मयोग as a worship of the Lord. An expression of gratitude towards the Lord, an expression of gratitude out of love and not out of fear. Previously कर्मयोग was presented as out of fear, that is why people use the expression – 'he is a God-fearing person.' He follows all the values, he doesn't cheat people, he doesn't tell lies, because he is God-fearing person that means that he doesn't follow values out of maturity, but he follows values out of fear. But it is still better to follow values out of fear rather than not following the values at all. Therefore in the second stage, कृष्ण says don't follow कर्मयोग out of fear but follow it out of gratitude towards the Lord. The more you appreciate the Lord, the more you appreciate the gift of the Lord, the more you appreciate the harmony and beauty of creation the more you want to express your gratitude. I don't whether you read in today's newspaper that in America, that one old person has gone by rocket a second time, some John Glenn and he has given a beautiful statement – 'To look out at this kind of creation out here and not believe in God is, to me, impossible.' He is a scientist, he has got a mature mind, the more we appreciate the beauty of creation, natural expression is gratitude and that is what we call as worship. Therefore early morning the moment we get up:

समुद्रवसने देवि पर्वतस्तनमण्डले । विष्णुपत्नि नमस्तुभ्यं पादस्पर्शं क्षमस्वमे ॥

My gratitude begins right at the beginning of the morning, before I step over the earth I just ask for forgiveness, it is a beautiful creation of the Lord, unfortunately I have to step on the Mother Earth for that I ask for forgiveness. What an amount of appreciation! And then when we go river to take bath or when we open the tap, when you open the tap,

गङ्गे च यमुने चैव गोदावरि सरस्वती । नर्मदे सिन्धु कावेरि जलेऽस्मिन् सन्निधिं कुरु ॥

I appreciate the beautiful water – one of the most wonderful chemical products of the creation is water. The more you think of the glory of water, the more you feel like offering prostration. If you are doing सन्ध्यावन्दनम् till now, by mistake perhaps, there also,

आपो वा इदं सर्वं विश्वा भूतान्यापः प्राणा वा आपः पशव
आपोऽन्नमापोऽमृतमापः सम्राडापो विराडापः

स्वराडापश्छन्दोऽस्यापो ज्योतींष्यापो यजूंष्यापः सत्यमापः सर्वा देवता
आपो भूर्भुवः सुवराप ओम् ॥ महानारायणोपनिषत् २९-१ ॥

I am supposed to have forgotten, because long before I did सन्ध्यावन्दनम्. So therefore, I take water in the hand and being conscious of the wonderful product; In fact, if they want to look for life in any planet, they look for water only. Because water is the basic of life and we have got so much plenty that we even let the water into the ocean. One rainy season only for a week only and it has given enough of water. If the rain is not there you know what the problem is. Therefore I don't take the gift for granted, I spend a few minutes looking at the water. And similarly:

नमो ब्रह्मणे । नमस्ते वायो । त्वमेव प्रत्यक्षं ब्रह्मासि ।

I don't take the oxygen for granted. If you have any doubt regarding the value of oxygen, close your mouth and nose for a few seconds you will know. Therefore, वैदिक life is intense awareness of the environment. So appreciation of the earth, appreciation of the water, appreciation of the air, appreciation of fire,

ॐ अग्निमीळे पुरोहितम् यज्ञस्य देवमृत्विजम् ।

In almost every ritual, it begins with the prayer to the fire. And also the most important element is आकाशः, which accommodates us very well, therefore during सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, I offer my prostrations to अकाश also, प्राच्यै दिशे नमः । दक्षिणायै दिशे नमः । प्रतीच्यै दिशे नमः ।

उदीच्यै दिशे नमः । ऊर्ध्वाय नमः । अधराय नमः । अन्तरिक्षाय नमः ।

All the five elements are the gifts of the Lord and therefore I am intensely aware of them and I don't have to produce them, I don't have to even purify them, what I have to do is if I don't pollute them, such a life itself is the greatest offering to the Lord. भगवान् says: 'you need not maintain the creation, you will only mess it, I know how to do that, if you don't disturb the harmony that is the greatest offering you can give to me, therefore convert your life as an offering to me, it is called यज्ञः.' And any life which violates this beautiful harmony and rhythm, कृष्ण says: that is a bondage to entire humanity, that will destroy the humanity. Therefore, he says, यज्ञार्थात् कर्म, let your life be an offering to the Lord, let your work be a worship. And if it is not so, अयम् लोकः कर्म-बन्धनः. An action which is not meant for ईश्वर worship all such actions are only bondage; that is the beauty. Action can be binding action, action can be liberating action, like cobra poison. The poison can kill a person within a few minutes, cobra poison, but the very same poison in certain places, they extract and make medicine out of it, the very same poison if handled properly it can become a saving medicine. So therefore, tell me whether poison is a killer or a savior. What will be the answer? It depends upon how you handle. Similarly, action is a savior, a binder, a killer or spiritual destroyer. कृष्ण says that action by itself neither binds nor liberates, but it all depends upon how you handle the action, action minus devotion is bondage. Action plus devotion is a liberator. This is the basic principle of कर्मयोग. Action plus devotion is a liberating factor. Action minus devotion is a महा-binding factor. That is why कृष्ण says in the later chapter:

तदहं भक्त्युपहृतमश्नामि प्रयतात्मनः ॥ ९-२६॥

Action plus devotion is called यज्ञः, action minus devotion is called कर्म. Action + devotion = यज्ञः, action - devotion = कर्म, यज्ञ liberates, कर्म binds. कर्मणा बद्धते जन्तुः. शास्त्र itself says: कर्मणा बद्धते जन्तुः. Therefore He says अयम् लोकः कर्म-बन्धनः. Therefore, अर्जुन, तत् अर्थम् कर्म कुरु समाचर. Therefore may you do all your actions as a worship of the Lord. So don't bother whether your family people acknowledge or appreciate. Family members may not acknowledge or appreciate your services, often they use the expression, it is a thankless job, it is an idiom. Whatever you do there is no appreciation, especially in our culture it is supposed to be your duty and therefore nobody appreciates anybody's contribution. OK, if they don't appreciate, it is OK. We with magnifying glass look for minute defects. A may cook and serve for years together, no dish is appreciated but if there is slightly less salt, they will pointedly tell that. They can very well say that the other dish is good, whatever is tasty is never recognized, whatever is not up to the mark, and that too the tongue is terrible tongue, that is criticized. Similarly, the Government. We are very good criticizing the Government, but we never ask the question, how do I live? So therefore, your job, your work may not be appreciated, if you look for appreciation you lose your interest, if you are doing it as an offering to the Lord the very action will give you to happiness. It has nothing to do with others appreciation. The very action is a very satisfaction. That is why we use the expression:

ममोपात्त समस्त दुरितक्षयद्वारा श्रीपरमेश्वर प्रीत्यर्थम्,

I am happy that I have done this as an offering to the Lord. And if people appreciate it is a bonus, but here it is very important. We are not supposed to expect appreciation, the शास्त्र's commandment one should understand clearly. We are not supposed to expect appreciation from the family members, so we have no right to expect appreciation. But at the same time, शास्त्र advises every family member, that your duty is to appreciate others contribution. What some people are telling is: I won't appreciate because it is said in गीता that no one should expect appreciation, very careful, they should not expect appreciation, but it is my duty to appreciate every contribution of every member of the family. They should not ask but you should give the appreciation. Therefore, wife should not ask for appreciation from the husband, but the husband should appreciate. Similarly, husband should not expect appreciation from wife, but wife should. And the teacher should not expect appreciation (I will also tell about me!), but it is the students' duty to appreciate, which is done in the form of नमस्कार, reverence, etc. Similarly, throughout our culture is unique, you have no right, but you have got duties and duties alone. And the beauty is, the beauty of duty is when you do your duty, the other people will get their right. When you do your duty the other people will get their right. Therefore our society is duty based society and दयानन्द स्वामिजी beautifully says, where duty is emphasized humility will come, whereas right is emphasized there fight will come, court will come, divorce will come, all these things will come. And therefore, कृष्ण says तत् अर्थम् कर्म कौन्तेय, you do what you have to do as an offering to the Lord and that too how: मुक्त-सङ्गः समाचर, without expecting anything in return. मुक्त-सङ्गः means without bothering about the consequences. Continuing;

So such a life of sacrifice is prescribed by the वेदs themselves for the harmony and progress of the society. Such a life of contribution, such a life of sacrifice, such a life of sharing called यज्ञ way of life, is prescribed by the वेदs themselves, for whose benefit? For our own benefit. And that is why we say that the वेदs are like a manual which has come along with the creation itself. I have talked about this before, whenever a company brings about a product and you buy the product, along with the product you get a manual. Even you buy a simple eye-drops or ear drops. Nothing is there. By simple common sense you can know it. But there will be small pamphlet in 25 languages, in English, मलयाळम्, हिन्दि, तमिळ्, Arabic - in all languages, because we are a secular country - and they will say: Remove the cap, press the bottle, put the cap and keep it in a cool place. Like that, you will find instructions. Why are there instructions? Because the manufacturer alone will know what is the ideal way of handling his product. And if he is giving instructions, not for his own benefit, it is only meant for the benefit of the user. And by following the instructions who is going to get the benefit? I am going to get the benefit. That is why they tell, just a joke, doctors should not mistake. A patient went to the doctor after a few days and said my disease is cured, I followed the instructions given in the medicine bottle, very clearly and what was the instruction, keep the bottle tightly corked, I kept it nicely corked and never used it and got well. So therefore, using the instructions, by using the instructions I am going to get the benefit. Similarly, who has manufactured this world? Not any one of the human beings. Human beings cannot create anything except some confusion. They cannot create anything and that too this wonderful world no ordinary human intelligence can create, we are not even able to fully understand the creation where is the question of creating this world? Therefore we say, भगवान् has created this world and he has given this world for our use and therefore भगवान् feels that there should be a manual given to the human beings, so that he will know how to live in the world and get maximum benefit out of the world. Maximum benefit means what: धर्म-अर्थ-काम, even मोक्षः पुरुषार्थः, he should attain. If भगवान् doesn't give the manual we don't know how to handle the world, as we are seeing how our life is environment unfriendly life it is, now they are coining the word, eco-friendly and eco-unfriendly and we only are polluting this creation, creating ozone holes, creating all kinds of problems, destroying whom? Ourselves only. Therefore we don't know how to handle the world, as they tell, "The soul or the jivatma is the mendicant who seeks human birth from the Divine (who is referred to as The Potter), and obtains a 'pot' (which refers to an earthly body) which is formed in around ten months. Without realizing the divine nature of his self and the true purpose of his life, man then indulges in materialistic pleasures and destroys the divine gift that is the human body." I don't want to translate, you will know the meaning. Similarly, if I don't know how to handle this world I will make this world the cause of my own destruction and therefore, along with the creation, भगवान् gave out the वेदs also:

श्वेताश्वतरोपनिषत् ६-१८ ॥

and what are the वेदs, they are the manuals who prescribe a life of harmony known as यज्ञः and here कृष्णI says, follow the manual and lead a life of यज्ञः you will prosper, otherwise you will be the cause of your own destruction. So that is said here, प्रजापितः प्रजाः सृष्ट्वा. प्रजापितः – Lord ब्रह्म, created all the living beings including the human beings. All the living beings including the human beings, the Lord created when: पुरा – long before, आदौ – at the time of सृष्टि and there afterwards, he called the human being alone and gave the वेदs to the human beings. The वेदs were never given to monkeys, donkeys, cows, none of them, you know why? Because they don't have a free-will to abuse. They don't have a free-will to abuse, they are all programmed creatures, therefore the life of all the animals will be in keeping with धर्म. No animal will violate what you call the harmony of the creation, no plant will violate the world harmony. And what is why you will find any forest will be in perfect harmony until - fill up the blanks - we enter. If we enter it is gone, after that the forest cannot survive. As long as we don't enter the ocean there is perfect harmony. They say there is a particular type of rodents, creatures known as lemmings, somehow they know when their population reaches beyond a limit, once their population reaches that limit, it will create a eco-imbalance and somehow they know that, again instinctive and what they do it seems, just certain number of those creatures will commit suicide so that there is a balance in their number and that too sacrifice, आत्म-त्याग for the sake of the universal harmony. And we also talk about balance of human population and we say, you all die, I am quite happy here, or you don't produce children, I will have children, as I need children for my home and it is not necessary for other houses, utterly selfish people we are. Therefore God need not give वेदs to animals because they are programmed to follow universal harmony. Whereas in the case of human beings, God has given a free-will. It is a great blessing also, it is a terrible curse also, like any faculty, any faculty in the creation is neither good nor bad, it depends upon how we use this faculty; atomic energy is good or bad, what will you say, you cannot say so, you cannot say either way, it all depends upon how we use it, it can be a power generator. In fact, because of Kalpakkam alone, we are getting power and a few days before, we know what happened, break down power went, it is wonderful but at the same time the same atomic energy alone destroyed millions of people in Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Any power. Similarly, human beings have got tremendous intelligence and free-will. With this we can create a heaven in the human society or we can create a hell also. स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द used to tell a beautiful example, that there were two rooms, in both rooms some people were there, they had a peculiar condition that they cannot bend their hand and food was available and they have to use the hand alone, they cannot put their mouth directly in the vessel as it was deep inside the vessel, etc. And therefore in one room the people were trying to take and eat and they could not eat and therefore they were starving and were about to die also. Still they were trying, but they found in the neighboring room they were hearing music and all, seems to be enjoying, they also have the same problem and when they went to their room, they found that each person was taking the food and feeding the other, wonderful and not in our room, even if I die I will not feed you. This is called selfishness. Therefore, a human being can lead an ideal life of giving and sharing, therefore the free-will is there only for the human being with which he can get the greatest benefit of मोक्ष or he can create a hell also. And therefore अर्जुन, अनेन प्रसविष्यध्वम् अनेन means with the life of कर्मयोग, with the life of यज्ञ, which is given out in the वैदिक manual, which is given along with the creation, by following that, प्रसविष्यध्वम् – may you prosper. That is what somebody wrote: that what is the difference between a life of competition and a life of cooperation, he says competition is a deadly thing to the society, because once there is a competition, there is only selfishness, I don't want to share any knowledge with the other company, one country doesn't want to share the scientific advancement with the other company, America put sanctions, I will not give you, I will keep it with me only. Therefore in competition we turn selfish, we don't share whatever we have, whereas in cooperation alone there is growth. Generally people think in competition the best comes out of human beings. Only when there is competition the best comes they say, but we say, the worst comes out of human beings. That is why even in sports, when there is heavy competition, there is cheating, there is a drug, all those things because somehow I want to win, वेद says competition is a disease known as मात्सर्यम्. Among the six evils of कामः, क्रोधः, लोभः, मोहः, मदः, मात्सर्यः. मात्सर्यः is the evil of competition. वेद says competition should be replaced by cooperation. I should be happy when the other person also thrives. I should not become jealous when the other person thrives. Therefore He says, अनेन प्रसविष्यध्वम्, through कर्मयोग may you all uniformly prosper and एषः इष्ट-कामधुक् अस्तु. इष्ट-कामधुक् means कामधेनुः. कामधेनुः is a mythological cow, a heavenly cow, like कल्पक वृक्षाः and what is the uniqueness of कामधेनुः, the very word shows कामम् कामम् दोषि इति कामधेनुः, whatever you desire the कामधेनुः gives out. The local cows can give you only milk. But कामधेनुः while milking you desire anything, instead of milk you want coca cola it will come when you milk. Badam Khir will come and not only liquids, even the solids. You want a house, you want a van, you want a vehicle, you want children, कामम् कामम् दोषि इति कामधेनुः. It can fulfill all your desires. After the class, don't ask where that cow is, it is a heavenly cow. And remember, what do you mean by कामधेनुः? It is only a symbolic expression of human intellect, In fact, human intellect is कामधेनुः, because with the human intellect we can accomplish and everything, look at the scientific progress what all things have become possible, something happens somewhere, a cricket match, cricket match between India and Zimbabwe takes place somewhere, you can just watch sitting here. So when we said व्यासाचार्य could see the war sitting in the palace, a few years back before the discovery of television, it was considered a cock and bull story but now it has become possible, you can watch, after internet and computer coming you need not travel anywhere, sitting in a 4×4 room and you can do everything. All because of what, only one faculty, human intelligence. Apply appropriately, it is कामधेनुः for you. And what all it can milk: धर्म-अर्थ-काम and not only it can milk धर्म-अर्थ-काम and if you are sufficiently intelligent and mature, it can give you ultimately मोक्ष also. And thus, intelligent way of living is कामधेनुः. कर्मयोग is कामधेनुः. And therefore कृष्ण says, एषः कर्मयोगः एषः यज्ञः इष्ट-कामधुक् तः, तः means for you, अस्तु. And that is why वेद is not against material progress also. We don't curse television. We don't curse computer, we don't curse the discovery of cars and the discovery of what you call rockets and all, whereas some people think that, that is all materialistic progress. As a spiritual seeker, I need not condemn them, because they are all gifts of the Lord. In fact, we are ourselves using them. In computer itself I heard महर्षि महेश योगि has a वैदिक channel. Why should वेद criticize science? वेद is never against science, on the other hand, we should welcome so that after some time we can have the class as a computer/internet classes. In rainy season, you need not come and you can sit at home and listen at your own timings, why should I criticize computer or anything for that matter? But what वेद says is if you are committed to material progress only and if you don't parallelly bring out the spiritual growth also, then the very same materialism can become deadly. Because every human being is a mixture of matter and spirit, अनात्मा and आत्मा, growth in life should be a well balanced growth and what is well-balanced growth, scientific progress also must be there, economic progress also must be there, these are all wonderful things. But let them not become an obstacle to the spiritual growth. And what is the spiritual growth, the ultimate growth is discovery of the fact that I am the आत्मा which is the substratum of the whole universe, infinite expansion is spiritual growth. Physically you cannot expand beyond a limit. Better you don't expand beyond a limit, therefore it will become unwieldy, therefore physically you cannot and better not expand beyond a limit, mentally also you cannot expand beyond a limit, intellectually also you cannot expand beyond a limit, total expansion infinite growth is possible only spiritually therefore cater to spiritual growth also while you are pursuing material thing. And such a balanced pursuit of materials धर्म-अर्थ-काम, as well as Self-knowledge is called कर्मयोगः. Therefore, एषः कर्मयोगः त्वः for you, be a कामधेनुः. Continuing;

Verse No .11

देवान्भावयतानेन ते देवा भावयन्तु त्वः ।

परस्परं भावयन्तः श्रेयः परमवाप्स्यथ ॥ ३-११॥

देवान् भावयत अनेन ते देवाः भावयन्तु त्वः ।

परस्परं भावयन्तः श्रेयः परम् अवाप्स्यथ ॥ ३-११॥

अनेन (यूयम्) देवान् भावयत, ते देवाः त्वः भावयन्तु, (एवं) परस्परं भावयन्तः परम् श्रेयः अवाप्स्यथ ।

So continuing with the same concept of यज्ञः, कर्मयोग as यज्ञ, कृष्ण says by following कर्मयोग यज्ञ, you are propitiating the gods of the creation, you are propitiating the देवताs. And who are the देवताs, according to the शास्त्र, देवताs are presiding deities over the natural forces. So when I lead a life of harmony I am propitiating the देवताs, who are the देवताs, इन्द्र is the lord of rain and thunder, वरुण is the Lord of the oceans. Similarly, यमः, प्रजापति, you take every देवताs nothing but natural forces that, means what: the nature will be propitiated by a harmonious life. That means what: the nature is not violated. And when I propitiate the gods, in return what do I get. The gods are going to give you plenty, so you and the creation should not be enemical, you are not fighting with nature but you are living in cooperation with nature. This is another uniqueness of our scriptures. Science approaches nature as something to be conquered, they always uses the expression – ‘conquering nature’, conquering Mt. Everest. Just climbing is conquering. We never should think like that at all. We need not conquer. Nature is not our enemy. World has not come to give us problems. I and world should live in harmony and therefore there should be progress at both levels. And therefore कृष्ण says propitiate gods which are in the form of nature and what will they do in return, तै देवा भावयन्तु वः, they will please you by giving you plenty of rains, seasons will come in time, rains will come properly. In scientific language what do they say? If you lead such a life in which the ecological harmony is destroyed then they say that the seasons will be violated, you won't get enough rain. They use scientific language, you cut the trees and then the rains will not come properly and they will give the scientific reasons for that. Same idea the शास्त्र will put in a different language, every tree is like the body of the Lord, in fact, in भागवतम्, every tree is compared to the hair on the body of the Lord. Every river is compared to the blood vessels of the Lord. So if the rivers are stopped, it is like what, blocking of the arteries and veins, then you will have to go in for by-pass surgery, called disease. Similarly, when you are polluting the river, you are polluting the blood of the Lord. When you are blocking the river, you are blocking the blood vessels of the Lord, the language is religious language but the ultimate result is respect the nature, live in harmony with nature, what you call as ecological harmony, we call as कर्मयोगः. Therefore, अनेन कर्मयोगेन देवान् भावयत, may you propitiate the देवs. And that is why कालीदास writes a मङ्गलाष्टकम्. It is a beautiful श्लोक, he addresses all the trees,

सरला वृक्षाश्च ये क्षीरिणः ॥

सर्वे ते फल संयुतः प्रतिदिनम् विश्वा जनम् यजते । रम्यम् चैत्रारथं च नन्दनवनम् कुर्वन्तु नो मंगलम् ॥

Early morning I remember all the trees and offer my नमस्कारम्s to them. I know how the trees are important.

गङ्गा सिंधु सरस्वती च यमुना गोदावरी नर्मदा । कावेरी शरयू महेन्द्रतनया चर्मण्वती वेदिका ॥

क्षिप्रा वेत्रवती महासुखन्दी ख्याता जया गण्डकी ।
पूर्णाःपूर्णजलैःसमुद्रसहिताःकुर्वन्तु मे मंगलम् ॥

I offer my prostrations to all the rivers, I offer prostrations to all the plants, I appreciate the role of everything and I take a vow that my life will be in harmony with nature and therefore he says, परस्परम् भावयन्तः, thus mutually propitiating; you propitiate the nature and the nature propitiates you or in religious language, you propitiate the gods and the gods will propitiate you, bless you and what is God's propitiation, seasons will come properly, rains will come properly, crops will be aplenty, परस्परम् भावयन्तः, thus mutually propitiating, परम् श्रेयः अवाप्स्यथ – may you accomplish all श्रेयः, all welfare, all well-being's. And परम् श्रेयः includes चतुर्विधः पुरुषार्थः. You can accomplish, not only धर्म, अर्थ and काम and even for economic prosperity कर्मयोग is required. That is what the UNO made a study, food organization, they made a study and what they found was we have got enough food for all the people to eat well, they have studied the total food production of the world and the total needs of the world and they have found that there is so much surplus that nobody need to starve. But our greatest problem is not the lack of food but the lack of proper distribution or sharing. In some places, people are dying of starvation. Another place people are dying of obesity; obesity is the cause of death in some advanced countries. Constantly eating, the only part of the body active is the hand and mouth. Eating and eating and therefore out. 'अद्यते अति च भूतानि' शास्त्र says you eat food and it will nourish you but when you overeat, the same food destroys you. Therefore, food is consumed by the human beings in limited measure but the very same food is the consumer of the human being when it is taken beyond a limit. उपनिषत् says अद्यते – it is eaten by human being, अति च भूतानि – food eats if it is overeaten. Therefore our problem is not the lack of food, everything is plenty, as somebody nicely said, 'There is enough for everyone's need but not for everyone's greed.'

Therefore don't be greedy, if you get more you share, you contribute, such a life of contribution sacrifice, giving, sharing is कर्मयोग. And by कर्मयोग may you attain all the four पुरुषार्थs.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 11-13

Lord कृष्ण is looking at कर्मयोग from various angles. We have already seen the general definition of कर्मयोग which is nothing but proper action plus proper attitude is कर्मयोग and what is proper action, selfless action in which I contribute to the world more and I take only less from the world is called selfless action, सत्त्विक कर्म and selfish action is an action in which I don't want to give anything free to the world. Whatever I do I want to convert into some benefit for me. I cannot imagine giving anything free to the world. So selfless action or selfish action both of them कृष्ण allows for a person but what he says is selfless action must be predominant in a person's life. Selfish action a person cannot avoid because he has to work for protecting himself and his family. But what कृष्ण says selfless action must be predominant, selfish action must be lesser and harmful action should be totally avoided. And whether one performs a selfless or selfish action, the attitude must be appropriate and the appropriate attitude is: dedicating both the action, selfless or selfish action, dedicating both of them to the Lord – ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि and if I am receiving anything in return, I receive it not as my accomplishment, I receive it as the gift of the Lord – प्रसाद बुद्धि. So thus proper action plus proper attitude is कर्मयोग we saw. And this कर्मयोग कृष्ण is looking from various angles.

1) The first angle through which कृष्ण studied कर्मयोग is as a commandment of the Lord. विधि of the Lord, विहितम् of the Lord, नियतम् of the Lord. And भगवान् has compulsorily enjoined a कर्मयोग way of life. And if a person refuses to live a life of कर्मयोग, then भगवान् threatened that person with imprisonment which is called प्रत्यवाय पापम्. Whoever does not follow कर्मयोग way of life he is incurring a special पापम् called प्रत्यवायम् and imprisonment that he undergoes is called संसार कारागृह; the jail called संसार. And therefore कृष्ण wants, at least out of fear of punishment you should follow कर्मयोग. This is the first angle of looking at कर्मयोग.

II) Then कृष्ण looked at कर्मयोग from another angle, because in the first angle there is a disadvantage because a person is following कर्मयोग out of fear. Fear is never a healthy emotion. As somebody nicely said, 'Fear is that little darkroom where negatives are developed.' Fear is the dark room in which all the negatives are developed. For developing film negative they use a dark room, similarly, fear is a dark room in which all the negatives, means negatives emotions are developed, that is why the psychologists say never try to discipline your children through fear. Fear is a terrible method of disciplining your child, because your child may follow discipline out of fear, but your child's mind will never progress when there is fear. And such children when they grow up, they will become terrible husbands and they will become terrible fathers and they will become terrible teachers. So if there are terrible husbands and fathers and teachers the mistake is not their own, the mistake is only of their parents, because they disciplined the child out of, or through the means of fear. But of course sometimes in extreme cases we might have to use the punishment method also. But what शास्त्र wants is that this method must be used only extremely, sparingly. Like certain powerful medicines like pethidine, etc., a doctor will not that easily use, but when there is no other way he uses, but only very very sparingly. Similarly, कृष्ण also uses the method of fear to make a person follow कर्मयोग but कृष्ण feels that this method should not be followed for long. Sooner or later, a person should follow कर्मयोग, not out of fear of God but out of love of God. Out of reverence towards the Lord. And this कर्मयोग performed as a worship of the Lord is called यज्ञः. कर्मयोग performed out of fear is called आज्ञा, कर्मयोग performed out of reverence is called यज्ञः. And in this I convert every one of my actions into worship of the Lord, because as स्वामि विन्मयानन्द nicely said: What भगवान् has given to you is भगवान्'s gift to you, whether it is the body or the world. And what is your gift to the Lord, because whenever we receive a gift we want to reciprocate as in marriages, etc. If somebody has given you a gift costing Rs.250/- this person notes it in his diary, when that person's son's marriage comes, he reciprocates by giving another gift, which is around Rs.250; not more. And to avoid this problem, some people write in the invitation card – please avoid presentations, because our culture says when you receive something you have to reciprocate. Therefore, what भगवान् has given to you that is the body and the world, they are भगवान्'s gift to you and what is my reciprocation. स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द nicely says: What you do with भगवान्'s gift, what you do with भगवान्'s gift is your gift to the Lord. भगवान् has given the body gift, with this body I can thoroughly enjoy the life, as they say, 'Eat, Drink And Be Merry.' When भगवान् sees that I am using the body for indulgence, भगवान् is very very unhappy as it were and if I use this body for परोपकारम्,

परोपकाराय वहन्ति नद्यः परोपकारार्थमिदम् शरीरम् ॥

परोपकाराय फलन्ति वृक्षाः, the tree produces lot of fruits, all for what purpose, only to gift to the world and even if somebody throws stone at the tree, in return the tree gives only fruits; परोपकाराय दुहन्ति गावः, the cow produces milk all for sacred purposes, our coffee, our tea, our रुद्राभिषेकम्; परोपकाराय वहन्ति नद्यः, the rivers carry water, all for blessing the society only. From looking at the nature we can easily understand why भगवान् has given this body, therefore परोपकारार्थमिदं शरीरम्. Therefore when I utilize my body to serve the world, when I utilize the mind to give love to others, when I utilize my intellect to share my knowledge with others that will become the worship of the Lord. And for this worship of the Lord, I am going to get the greatest benefit and what is the benefit? कृष्ण said:

देवान्भावयतानेन ते देवा भावयन्तु वः ।

परस्परं भावयन्तः श्रेयः परमवाप्स्यथ ॥ ३-११॥

When you lead such a life of यज्ञ then in return you get all the four पुरुषार्थs, even if you don't ask for it you will get the पुरुषार्थs. परम् श्रेयः अवाप्स्यथ. Therefore what is the second angle of कर्मयोग – convert life into a worship of the Lord. Up to this we saw. Continuing;

Verse No .12

इष्टान्भोगान्हि वो देवा दास्यन्ते यज्ञभाविताः ।

तैर्दत्तान्प्रदायैभ्यो यो भुङ्क्ते स्तेन एव सः ॥ ३-१२॥

इष्टान् भोगान् हि वः देवाः दास्यन्ते यज्ञ-भाविताः ।

तैः दत्तान् अप्रदाय एभ्यः यः भुङ्क्ते स्तेनः एव सः ॥ ३-१२॥

यज्ञ-भाविताः देवाः वः इष्टान् भोगान् दास्यन्ते । तैः दत्तान् एभ्यः अप्रदाय, यः भुङ्क्ते, सः हि स्तेनः एव ।

Here कृष्णI says when you lead such a life of worship, the Lord will bless you with everything that you want. If you say that I am not interested in धर्म-अर्थ-कामः, then the very same कर्मयोग will bless you with मोक्ष. If you are interested in धर्म-अर्थ-कामः, then the very same कर्मयोग will bless you with धर्म-अर्थ-काम. Thus कर्मयोग is like a double edged sword, which can give you both material benefit and spiritual benefit; it is like a two-in-one instrument – you have a got a radio also, you have got a record player also. If you switch on the radio, the radio song will come; if you switch on the record player, that music will come. Similarly, कर्मयोग is two-in-one, it will give both prosperity material as well as the spiritual growth, but which one do you want is your choice. Because everybody may not be interested in मोक्ष. There are many people who even now say स्वामिजि I will come to गीता class, it is fine, but one thing I want to make it very clear, I am not after मोक्ष and all. I have got so many responsibilities to discharge, now only I have two small children, I have to educate them, I have to settle them, I have got so many duties to discharge, how can I shirk those duties and work for my मोक्ष. कृष्ण does not criticize those people, if you don't want मोक्ष there is nothing wrong, if you are interested in धर्म-अर्थ-काम there is nothing wrong; but the only condition that भगवान् puts is, fulfill your धर्म-अर्थ-काम through कर्मयोग method not through any corrupt way of life. Through legitimate method, through legal method, through ethical method fulfill your goals, never take to shortcut method of becoming quickly rich, doubly rich, don't do that. Therefore he says, देवाः दास्यन्ते, the gods, various presiding deities of the creation, like इन्द्र, वरुण, अग्नि, etc., they will give you everything that you want.

धान्यम् धनम् पशुम् बहु पुत्र लाभम् शत संवत्सरम् दीर्घम् आयुः ॥ श्रीसूक्तम् ॥

In every ritual the priest will tell this without fail, whether he recites the necessary मन्त्रs or not and that too he will tell it very loud so that it falls in our ears, धान्यम् धनम् पशुम् बहु पुत्र लाभम् (in bygone days बहुपुत्र, now एकपुत्र / एकपुत्रि लाभम्) शत संवत्सरम् दीर्घम् आयुः. Here भगवान् says all the deities will bless you with all these gifts. When? यज्ञ-भाविताः, when these presiding deities are worshiped through कर्मयोग then they will bless you. For example, when I follow कर्मयोग I don't exploit the nature. A कर्मयोगि will never exploit the nature to feed his greed, when a कर्मयोगि does not exploit the nature then the natural rhythm, natural harmony is maintained which will result in the seasons flowing properly. That is why at the end of every पूजा, we say काले वर्षतु पर्जन्यः पृथिवी सस्यशालिनी । देशोऽयम् क्षोभराहितो ब्राम्हणाः सन्तु निर्भयाः ॥

काले वर्षतु पर्जन्यः, because our whole life is dependent on rains alone. If there are no rains, अतिवृष्टि or अनावृष्टि, famine is definite. The entire economy will be in doldrums if we don't have proper seasons, therefore we say काले वर्षतु पर्जन्यः. For what purpose? पृथिवी सस्यशालिनी – let the earth have plenty of greenery. I don't know whether you read a recent news item. When the green goes from the city it is red. When the green goes from the city it is red, meaning when the greenery goes from the city, the lungs of the city are damaged, the air pollution is going to increase and it is going to become red, meaning it is danger. And therefore पृथिवी सस्यशालिनी. Then naturally what is the consequence, देशोऽयम् क्षोभराहितः – let this country be free from famine and it will happen only when ब्राम्हणाः सन्तु निर्भयाः – when the ब्राम्हणाः, ब्राम्हणाः means cultured, educated followers of the वेद are able to boldly follow the धार्मिक way of life. Now if I want to lead a corruption-free life, I feel I am a black sheep and all the other people laugh at me (are you a great संन्यासि who never speaks a lie, are you a big person) thus all the people tease me if I choose follow a corruption-free life. A society is a healthy society when the धार्मिक people are able to follow धर्म fearlessly. And therefore कृष्ण says: देवाः इष्टान् भोगान् दास्यन्ते, follow कर्मयोग gods will bless you with all the पुरुषार्थs. Then we may ask a question, why should I accept a God, because after all when I going to do action in the world the very action is going to produce the result. When I sow the seed the earth has the capacity to produce the sprout, the seed has the capacity to sprout. Therefore the available laws of the nature itself are able to give me the कर्म-फलम्. When the world is capable of giving कर्म-फलम् why should I accept a God as the कर्मफल धाता? For that question we answer: Remember, whenever I do an action the action produces the result, it is not because of my glory. No doubt I have worked hard, I have tilled the land, I have put fertilizers, I have watered, I have put pesticides, I have done everything, therefore no doubt I have worked hard to produce the crops, but remember our scriptures say that this result is possible because of the Laws Of Nature. Because of the laws of nature alone I am able to accomplish everything. No doubt a scientist has discovered this microphone and because of that I am able to happily address all of you without throat problem. Imagine if this mike doesn't work! Now it certainly shows the greatness of the human intellect, but remember if this microphone has been invented by someone it is only because the possibility is already there in the creation, the law of magnifying the sound. This law no scientist has invented. Similarly, if television is possible, no doubt the ingenious human intellect has discovered this television, but remember the possibility of television is there in the creation. These possibilities alone we call natural laws and no human being can produce even one natural law. If I have not produced these natural laws, somebody else must have produced these natural laws and the producer of these natural laws, is called god or देवता. Therefore every time I enjoy something I have only tapped the natural laws and I am grateful to the देवता for putting that laws in the creation. And the greatest beauty is no animal can invent those natural laws or discover those natural laws. भगवान् has blessed me with a wonderful intellect and भगवान् has blessed the world with infinite natural laws, my intellect is also भगवान्'s gift, the laws are also भगवान्'s gift. My glory is neither the production of the intellect nor the production of the laws, my glory is the tapping of the laws. Therefore कृष्ण says everytime you tap a law remember the Lord who has placed that law in the world. And that is why, in our culture even before eating the food we have got a prayer. ॐ भूर्भुवःसुवः तत्सवितुर्वरेण्यम् or ब्रह्मार्पणं ब्रह्म हवि, some prayer or the other there. Why should I pray to the Lord? After all I have produced the food by my effort or I have purchased the food, producing or purchasing the food, why should I worship the Lord. What is the principle of worship: the production is possible because of the law of production. And therefore कृष्ण says you need not do anything, whenever you enjoy anything remember the Lord who has made that enjoyment possible. I don't want any money, you need not give Me anything, close your eyes for 2 minutes and remember that देवता because of whom alone that natural law is there, because of which law alone I am enjoying the benefit. Even our physical health is only because of a series of bio-chemical laws. When I eat my food, I only dump all types of food because there is no tax and the mouth is open and we go on putting in and I never bother about what is happening inside and there is a wonderful law because of which the food is digested and all the nutrients are separated and they are transported to every part of the body, the waste is segregated and everyday without fail, the waste is removed and even every disease is possible only because of bio-chemical laws. If there is temperature in the body, I curse the rise of temperature but if I remember the Lord, that is also a grace of the Lord, because there are certain toxins in the body and the natural system wants to destroy those toxins by raising the temperature. And if there is a block in the throat you cannot put the bottle-brush and clean it, it will be terrible, so therefore we should have a ingenious method of clearing the throat and therefore भगवान् has made the wonderful method of cough. So when you are coughing never curse the Lord, glorify the Lord. Every disease is because of bio-chemical laws. I have never produced any law, I am only trying to handle and tap the law and never forget this fact and if you are forgetting this fact, you never express your gratitude towards the Lord, कृष्ण says that you are a thief No.1. Look at the second line, तैः दत्तान्, by the देवs varieties of blessings are given, धर्म, अर्थ, काम, मोक्ष, food, clothing, shelter, what are all these, तैः दत्तान्, God has given. How has God given, remember, indirectly making the laws for tapping and when you are enjoying those benefits, what should they do, you should say: Thanks to the Lord. And if you don't do the thanks giving you are an ungrateful person. Ingratitude is the worst weakness of a human being. The शास्त्रs say that for all the पापम्s there is प्रायश्चित्तम्, there is one पापम् for which there is no प्रायश्चित्तम् and that is the पापम् of ingratitude. कृतघ्ने नास्ति निष्कृतिः. कृतघ्न means for an ungrateful person, निष्कृतिः नास्ति – there is no प्रायश्चित्तम्. That is why even in the western culture they say whatever you take you say 'Thanks.' And whatever you return, you write 'Returned with Thanks.' Suppose you don't inform the other person and make use of his possessions, making use of somebody else's possession without informing and without expressing gratitude that is called theft. If you have no money with you, suppose you want money, certainly you can borrow the money, nothing wrong in it, if the other person is ready to give, you ask and he gives and when you take that money you say very very thanks and later when you return the money, if you return, because now-a-days the bank loans are not repaid. Recently I read a news item which was a very very painful news item. The temple has got many lands and properties, the kings have built the temples and also they have given land or landed property for the temples so that the temples can be maintained and the people take those temple lands and do you know what is the rent: one paisa for sq.ft. So we are taking the Lord's land, this person is so insensitive, so gross, so criminal minded and all these people are not illiterate people, they are educated people using the temple lands and they are taking the land for one rupee rent, two rupees rent etc. And do you know what is the still painful news, even that one rupee rent they have not paid for last so many decades. So you can imagine to what extend human mind can go. To be a criminal I need not murder a person or steal somebody else's wealth, if I am using the temple land or for that any other land, even take a rented house and दयानन्द स्वामिजी says, people take house for rent and refuse to vacate it. They say that you yourselves find another house for me. Notwithstanding that this man has done good to me, I ask him to find a house for me. This poor fellow has to do all those things because somehow he wants to get rid from him. Then he puts various conditions that the rent should be of this range and the location should be in this area, all kinds of conditions to vacate his own house. And कृष्ण says all these people are ungrateful people and therefore they are thieves. Therefore तैः दत्तान् एभ्यः अप्रदाय. एभ्यः means देवेभ्यः. अप्रदाय means reciprocation. Without reciprocation if you enjoy the worldly benefits then you are No.1 thief. And what is the reciprocation? भगवान् doesn't want money in return.

He just asks you just to do नैवेद्यम् before eating. That is why in our culture whatever we cook you are supposed to place it in front of the Lord. Oh Lord, because of you alone I have this food and when I keep the food in front of the Lord, it is for what: निवेदनम्. निवेदनम् means not offering, निवेदनम् means acknowledgment. It is not an offering because I very clearly know भगवान् is not going to take even the smallest portion. Suppose भगवान् begins to eat your नैवेद्यम् then we will be careful from the next day. Now we are placing all those preparations in front of भगवान् so boldly, not because we are large-hearted and all, but because we know भगवान् doesn't take, therefore भगवान् says, you need not give anything to Me, just say a thanks, do a नमस्कारम्. Therefore तैः दत्तान् अप्रदाय एभ्यः यः भुङ्क्ते सः स्तेनः एव. That is why we say in our culture that every moment of our life is a life of reverence. This is one of the uniqueness of Hinduism and all other religions. They divide the life into two, secular life and sacred life; going to office and all other works they consider secular, going to the temple or church or mosque they consider as sacred, but in our Indian culture there is no secular/sacred division because every action is a sacred action. Every car driver or bus driver before starting his car he does नमस्कारम्. Before you start a factory you break a coconut. Before you construct a building you do a भूमि पूजा. Our whole life is one of reverence alone. And a non-reverential life is कर्म. Reverential life is कर्मयोगः. Continuing;

यज्ञ-शिष्ट आशिनः सन्तः सर्व-किल्बिषैः मुच्यन्ते । ये तु आत्म-कारणात् पचन्ति, ते पापाः अद्यम् भुञ्जते ।

III) Now कृष्ण is looking at कर्मयोग from a third angle. So the previous two angles are कर्मयोग as God's commandment – आज्ञा the second angle is कर्मयोग is worship of the God's – यज्ञः. Now in this श्लोक, कृष्ण looks at कर्मयोग as a spiritual purifier – वित्त शोधकम्, कर्मयोग as वित्त शोधकम्. So this one can appreciate only when he is a seeker of मोक्ष. This angle can be appreciated only when one is a seeker of मोक्ष. How? When I am seeker of मोक्ष, I know that there is only one means of attaining मोक्ष and that means is spiritual wisdom, आत्मज्ञानम्. Without आत्मज्ञानम् one can never attain मोक्ष, नान्यः पन्था अयनाय विद्यते ॥ पुरुषसूक्तम् १७ ॥

Then the scriptures point out that even though आत्मज्ञानम् alone can liberate you, आत्मज्ञानम् can take place only when the mind is pure; without mental purity आत्मज्ञानम् is never possible. That is why in a temple also before I install the Lord there are so many rituals, purifying the place etc. Similarly, when I want to study the वेद, वेद is a sacred literature, I want to keep the वेद in my mind and that cannot be done unless I purify myself and that is why before starting वैदिक study they have got a series of rituals called उपनयनम् ceremony. What is उपनयनम् ceremony: cleaning the body, cleaning my mind to install the वेद मन्त्रs. Without purification if I install the वेद मन्त्रs, instead of वेद purifying me, I pollute the वेद. That is why they say उपनयनम् is important for वैदिक chanting. People ask who can chant the वेदs, who cannot chant the वेदs, why do you say men alone can learn, ladies cannot learn, they ask umpteen questions. The criterion is not men or women, the idea is even a pucca ब्राह्मण cannot learn the वेदs if he has not gone through the purificatory process which is called उपनयनम् संस्कारः; संस्कारः meaning purificatory process. Therefore, in our culture anything you do you have to purify. Even if you want to paint the wall what they do have you seen? First they will use the sand-paper to remove the previous thing and thereafter only they will paint. Similarly, आत्मज्ञानम् can come only if the mind is scrubbed of राग-

द्वेषः, काम-क्रोधः, लोभ-मोहः, मद-मात्सर्यः and for purifying the mind you cannot use the local sand-paper, as they have a भजन् song, 'to clean the vessels there is a powder, to clean the cloths there is a detergent',... so for purifying so many things different methods are there, 'but to clean the mind there is no way (substance).' In fact, to clean the mind we have a special sand-paper, that sand-paper is called कर्मयोग sand-paper. So a seeker is interested in this inner purification, he is not bothered about material prosperity. कर्मयोग may fetch material prosperity or not. People may ridicule saying that you are the only foolish person trying to follow the values of life, you should know how to survive. It is a nice word (survive) to say that you should know how to be corrupt. So therefore, people may appreciate my कर्मयोग way of life, they may say I am a simpleton, they may say that you have lost all the prosperity because of values, they may say you can never earn money following values, the whole world considers him a failure because the world's definition of success is material prosperity. Minimum three cars, three houses, one in Madras, one in Kodaikanal another one in Yercaud, a few industries... The world considers success as material prosperity whereas कर्मयोगि does not consider material prosperity as success; not that he rejects material prosperity, it may come, it may not come but his focus is on inner purification. Material prosperity is secondary result, which may or may not come, the primary result is चित्त शोधकम् मुक्ति साधकम्.

ईश्वरार्पितम् नेच्छया कृतम् । चित्तशोधकम् मुक्तिसाधकम् ॥ उपदेशसारम् of रमण महर्षि.

If you dedicate your life to the Lord and if you consider material prosperity as subservient to spiritual growth, then your कर्मयोग will lead to mental purity, which mental purity will promote मुक्ति साधकम्. And therefore the third angle is कर्मयोग as inner purifier. And that is why we say there is no failure in कर्मयोग, which we saw in the 2nd chapter.

नेहाभिक्रमनाशोऽस्ति प्रत्यवायो न विद्यते ।

स्वल्पमप्यस्य धर्मस्य त्रायते महतो भयात् ॥ २-४०॥

You define failure only from the standpoint of material accomplishment and non-accomplishment. You started a business, you got profit, you are considered success; you got loss, it is considered a failure, but in the case of कर्मयोग, the inner purification takes place whether you earn profit through your business or whether you lose through your business. And therefore कृष्ण says यज्ञ-शिष्ट आशिनः सन्तः, those people who convert their life into a worship and receive the consequence as ईश्वरप्रसाद, यज्ञ-शिष्टम्; यज्ञ-शिष्टम् means ईश्वरप्रसाद, शिष्टम् means remnant. If some human beings eat and leave something in his plate, that is called defile, that we are not supposed to eat, but when we offer something to the Lord or a महात्मा, after you offer to the Lord or offer to a महात्मा and when you take back the very same thing is not called defile, it is called यज्ञ-शिष्टम्, प्रसादः. So those who take all the कर्म-फलम् as यज्ञ-शिष्टम्, all the कर्म-फलम् as प्रसाद and eat that, eat means enjoy, experience that, what is the benefit of that? सर्व-किल्बिषैः मुच्यन्ते, he becomes free from all the पापम्s. He becomes free from all the पापम्s. Very interesting, suppose you buy a book and something is written on the book, somebody has written something on the book, then that book is already utilized, then that utilized book is called a second hand book and therefore either you give that book back or you ask for a lesser prize. But the interesting thing is, you buy a book and if there is a महात्मा around, you hand over the book and स्वामिजि just put your signature. Would it not become second hand or become lesser values. When it comes from a महात्मा or Lord, it becomes greater; when it comes from anybody else it becomes second hand. Similarly, even a sweet प्रसाद, when it comes from the Lord, even if you are a diabetic patient you will still consume a little, because it is वैद्यकटाचलपति's laddu and it will only reduce my disease, any other sweet will only increase the disease, but when it is वेङ्कटाचलपति's प्रसादम् (not to eat the full laddu - very careful, not to eat the football size laddu saying that I have the प्रसाद बुद्धि. प्रसादम् is always be a little only) it is consumed. Then what is the benefit? सर्व-किल्बिषैः मुच्यन्ते. But if you do not offer to the Lord, ते पापाः भुञ्जते, if they enjoy their life without offering to the Lord, without acknowledging the Lord's grace, if a person consumes anything, in fact, even at home and all, when we take medicine for fever, etc., they have got one medicine, they have one दशमूलारिष्टम् - for everything from burn to jaundice, you will have body pain all over, they will not allow you to drink that easily, one is forced to sit up and that too sit up facing the Lord and then you take the medicine. Even that medicine is a law of the Lord, if a medicine has a curing property, it is भगवान्'s gift, therefore even I consume medicine as ईश्वर प्रसाद. If I don't do that, कृष्ण uses a strong word, you are a पापि.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
 पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 13-15

Lord कृष्ण continues with the topic of कर्मयोग. He was looking at कर्मयोग from different angles. Firstly he pointed out कर्मयोग a way of life, which is prescribed by the Lord as a commandment. Just as they talk about the Ten Commandments. Here also कर्मयोग is given by the Lord as a commandment, as आज्ञा or विधि: and कृष्ण said that if a person does not follow a life of कर्मयोग; for violating the Lord's commandment one would incur the पापम् called प्रत्यवाय पापम्. It is where we look at कर्मयोग as आज्ञा. There afterwards the very same कर्मयोग was seen from a different angle. Here we don't look upon it as the आज्ञा of the Lord; it is only a suggestion/request from the Lord. The Lord has requested us to lead or live a life of harmony: "I have given you this wonderful creation, in return I don't want you to do anything to me but I only request you to maintain the harmony of the creation, even if you are not interested in the world still you have to maintain the harmony of the world for the sake of the other living beings." And therefore a harmonious life is only an expression of gratitude towards the Lord, it is only a form of worship of the Lord, thus कर्मयोग can be seen as ईश्वर यज्ञः. Thereafter कृष्ण looked at the same कर्मयोग from yet different angle, it is neither seen as आज्ञा or यज्ञ but here कृष्ण looks upon कर्मयोग as a spiritual साधन; neither as a commandment of the Lord nor as a worship of the Lord but as a spiritual साधन by which I purify my mind. It is not that I am obliging the Lord, I am not doing a favor to the Lord by following कर्मयोग, I am only favoring myself. And what is the benefit that I am getting through कर्मयोग, that benefit कृष्ण is saying in the thirteenth श्लोक, यज्ञशिष्टाशिनः सन्तः सर्वकिल्बिषैः मुच्यन्ते. यज्ञ-शिष्ट आशिनः means the one who looks upon कर्मयोग as a worship of the Lord and he takes all the consequences as यज्ञ प्रसादः. यज्ञशिष्टम् means यज्ञ प्रसादः and when he receives the consequences as प्रसाद coming from the Lord - it is not a mere ordinary food but the very same thing (it may be in the form of food or any type of कर्म-फलम् also) when I accept it as प्रसाद, मुच्यन्ते सर्व-किल्बिषैः – all the पापम्s from the head, from one's inner personality will go away. So किल्बिषैः means पापम्. And how do you define पापम् in the Vedantic contest? Anything that obstructs Self-knowledge is पापम्. According to वेदान्त anything that obstructs my spiritual pursuits is a पापम्. Even if I have got lot of riches and sense pleasures and because of those sense pleasures, I am lost in the world and I don't come to वेदान्त, then the scriptures point out that even though the very sense pleasures are पापम्. Even money is considered a पापम् if I am going to be lost in the money and I am not going to pursue spirituality. On the other hand, even poverty is considered पुण्यम् if poverty leads to Self-enquiry; because of poverty a person is able to spend more time in spirituality then poverty is a blessing. Therefore we define पुण्यम् as whatever promotes spiritual growth and we define पापम् as whatever obstructs spiritual growth. This is called किल्बिषम् in the श्लोक and all the पापम्s go away.

What is the primary obstruction for spirituality? According to the scriptures, the primary obstruction is मोहः or delusion; अविवेकः. What do you mean by delusion here? Seeing the external world as a cause of happiness or a cause of unhappiness, that is delusion. According to वेदान्त, the external world is neither a source of happiness nor a source of unhappiness, because if you say the world is source of happiness then the other people who are living in the same world and suffering, you cannot explain why they are suffering. For example, if a particular music is source of happiness then whenever that music is played all the family members must be happy, but we see once the music is played the teenager is on the top of the world because it is a latest top, noisy music, which will even create a crack in the wall, such a music it is, he jumps perhaps he has kept earplugs and then he dances and he enjoys. But the very same music when the parents listen to who are interested in classical carnatic music, they will say:

‘detestable’ curse themselves for the kind of son born to them. Now tell me, is the music the source of happiness or unhappiness? It cannot be either. Extending this principle, वेदान्त says world is neither सुख हेतुः nor is the world दुःख हेतुः. As long as you are finding fault with the world and as long as you are trying to change the world to improve your happiness you are in delusion. And even if you are going to make certain adjustments in the world you are never going to be permanently happy, something or the other is going to affect you. And this wrong thinking is called मोहः. And this delusion must go away and I should understand that it is not the world that gives me joy or sorrow, it is my attitude towards the world which is responsible for happiness or unhappiness. It is my attitude towards the world which determines sorrow or happiness and therefore what is required is not a change in the world but a change in my attitude. And any attitudinal change, any perspective change is brought about by knowledge alone. Knowledge alone changes my attitude, therefore ultimately, what I require is knowledge, instead of finding fault with the world and once I turn towards knowledge then I have become a spiritual seeker. And whatever helps this misconception is delusion, which makes me go after the world and which makes me chase the world is called मोहः. And that is why शङ्कराचार्य wrote a work called भजगोविन्दम् which was called मोहमुद्गरः. मुद्गरः means hammer. मोहमुद्गरः means a work which will hammer and destroy your delusion. There he takes up each thing, whether money gives you happiness he analyzes, whether the family members are giving happiness he analyzes.

पश्चाज्जीवति जर्जरं देहे वार्ताम् कोऽपि न पृच्छति गेहे ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ७ ॥

All family members are wonderful, as long as you are a productive member in the family. The moment you are retired then the attitude changes, the earlier extra service is gone and now you have to help yourselves. Thus शङ्कराचार्य takes up everything - what is family, what is money, what is life and he removes delusion with regard to each thing and this delusion will go away only by कर्मयोग. And therefore कृष्ण says यज्ञ-शिष्ट आशिनः सन्तः, a कर्मयोगि will get out of this delusion and will understand that what I require is knowledge, not changing the people around, not changing the world. On the other hand, भुञ्जते ते तु अघम् पापाः, कृष्ण criticizes those people who are not कर्मयोगिs, who do not contribute anything to the world, those who are selfish people, he strongly criticizes here, ये आत्म-कारणात् पचन्ति – those people who cook for themselves. Here cooking represents all the actions, cooking for myself means I do not want to share anything with other people. As I had said before, पञ्च महायज्ञ, one of the महा यज्ञ is मनुष्य यज्ञ, which means sharing at least food or money with other people and according to our tradition, we should never eat food, without giving, without feeding at least one person. And that is why काञ्ची शङ्कराचार्य suggested that One handful-rice scheme, if you cannot call a guest and feed regularly, at least before cooking keep some rice separately and every month or once in 6 months you give that rice to some place, it will be cooked and distributed. So अन्नदानम् is considered a very very important thing and if I don't share and eat myself, ये आत्म-कारणात् पचन्ति – who cook and enjoy themselves, ते अघम् भुञ्जते, कृष्ण uses a strong word, they are not eating food at all, they are eating only concentrated पापम्. So every morsel they are eating, it is not sambar rice, it is not rasam rice, it is not curd rice, it is पापम् in different forms, So अघम् भुञ्जते and they are becoming what: पापाः and which means those people are becoming only पापिs, which means they are getting more and more away from spiritual knowledge. A selfish person goes away from spiritual knowledge, a selfless person goes towards spiritual knowledge. Continuing;

Verse No .14

अन्नाद्भवन्ति भूतानि पर्जन्यादन्नसम्भवः ।

यज्ञाद्भवति पर्जन्यो यज्ञः कर्मसमुद्भवः ॥ ३-१४॥

अन्नात् भवन्ति भूतानि पर्जन्यात् अन्न-सम्भवः ।

यज्ञात् भवति पर्जन्यः यज्ञः कर्म-समुद्भवः ॥ ३-१४॥

भूतानि अन्नात् भवन्ति, पर्जन्यात् अन्न-सम्भवः, पर्जन्यः यज्ञात् भवति, यज्ञः कर्म-समुद्भवः ।

So in the previous श्लोक, कृष्ण talked about कर्मयोग as a purifier. I used the संस्कृत word शोधकम्, otherwise called पावनम्, otherwise called पवित्रम्. So thus कर्मयोग as आज्ञा we have seen, कर्मयोग as यज्ञ we have seen, कर्मयोग as a शोधकम्, as a purifier we have seen.

IV) Now कृष्ण is studying कर्मयोग from a fourth angle. How versatile is कर्मयोग, the more you analyze the more beautiful is the concept of कर्मयोग. What is the fourth angle? In these two श्लोकs - fourteen and fifteen, कृष्ण presents कर्मयोग as धर्मः, कर्मयोग as धर्मः. And what is the meaning of the word धर्म – धारणात् धर्म, that which maintains the harmony of the creation is called धर्मः. A way of life by which I maintain the harmony of the creation. As I had said in one of the previous classes, we are not isolated individuals, whether we like or not, we are integral parts of the creation - our life is interconnected with fellow human beings, our life is interconnected with animals, our life is interconnected with plants, our life is interconnected with forests, our life is interconnected with the rivers and oceans, our life is interconnected with environment, our life is interconnected with the seasons. And as I said before, all the other living beings, other than the human being, they all are programmed to live a life of harmony. Plants will not create environmental problem or disharmony, animals will not create disharmony because they are all instinctively made to live a life of harmony. But only the human beings have been given a unique power called free-will and he has been given the बुद्धि शक्ति and since his intelligence is very powerful, he can either destroy the whole creation or he can create a heaven out of this wonderful creation. Making also is in human beings, human beings also mars. If the earth can be destroyed it will be only by human beings. Even if tigers go berserk nothing will happen. There are two sets of tigers. One set of tigers - human tigers, they can create problem, they can explode the atom bombs; but the local tigers - the animals whatever they do they cannot destroy the earth. Whereas, human beings can do that. Therefore कृष्ण says अर्जुन you may not believe in God, doesn't matter, you may not believe in मोक्षः, you may not believe in पुण्य, you need not follow कर्मयोग for the sake of purification, you need not follow कर्मयोग to worship God, you need not believe in God, you need not do कर्मयोग as a commandment of God; but still even if you are an atheistic person you have to live a life of कर्मयोग for maintaining the harmony of the creation. And even the worst atheist who does not believe in God and धर्म and पुण्यम् and पापम्, he will have to believe, why believe, he has to accept the harmony of this creation because science, every moment is proving that the whole creation is interconnected. Therefore we cannot lead a life of irresponsibility. We should be responsible citizen. And to indicate the harmony of the creation, कृष्ण shows that everything that happens in the creation is a cyclic process. Cycles indicate balance, cyclic processes indicate harmony. A simple example that we all know is what: we require oxygen to breathe in, without oxygen we cannot survive. Therefore naturally, when there are many people in a city, we breath plenty of oxygen in and we give out carbon dioxide, a time will come where the balance is disturbed. Then भगवान् has made a wonderful arrangement. What is that arrangement? The plants, the tree are there, wonderful, they need carbon dioxide and they release oxygen, thus we have got a beautiful cycle of oxygen and a beautiful cycle of carbon dioxide. We have not produced this cycle, we find this cycle is already existing, man and nature are interconnected. But what will we do, the बृहस्पति! These wonderful बृहस्पति, in the city population will go on increasing and when more human population is increased, should not the trees also increase! Very simple, even a little intellect is enough. But we do just the opposite, all the individual houses are surrounded by trees, they are all destroyed and that one house is given to the promoter and there are 32 flats in that area and the trees I cannot keep. Similarly, all over the promotion of concrete houses just go on and the trees are cut, then what happens, the cycle is broken and who is going to be the sufferer, we are going to be the sufferer. Therefore, cycle indicates harmony. There is nitrogen cycle, there is carbon dioxide cycle, there is water cycle, even water is a beautiful cycle. Cycles are required in the creation because of one law and what is that law: law of conservation of matter and energy. Therefore, we can never produce anything infinitely as we are producing somewhere else, it has to be done and here कृष्ण is taking one cycle as an example. We have got many cycles in the creation, but कृष्ण takes one such cycle as an example to show how harmonious the creation is and what is that cycle, look at the श्लोक, अन्नात् भवन्ति भूतानि. All the living beings are born and sustained by अन्नम् alone. Without food we cannot survive, it is not a great scientific reality, we know very well and if you have got any doubt don't eat for a few days, perhaps you may not be alive to come and tell me. Therefore,

अन्नरसेनैव भूत्वा अन्नरसेनैव वृद्धिम् प्राप्य अन्नरूपपृथिव्याम्
यद्विलीयते तदन्नमयः कोशः । तत्त्वबोध ७-१-२ ॥

This body is born out of अन्नम्. So भूतानि, here भूतानि means living beings, they are all born out of अन्नम्. अन्नम् does not mean rice alone, any form of food. Then how does अन्नम् come? पर्जन्यात् अन्न-सम्भवः – because of rain alone अन्नम् comes. Without rains we cannot produce अन्नम्. We might have enough seeds alright, seeds alone are not enough, we require rain. So therefore कृष्ण says पर्जन्यात् अन्न-सम्भवः. And one year there is no rain, then the कावेरी dispute becomes more intense. In the year when the rain is plenty there is no talk of कावेरी water, as they have enough water and they want to give and we also have got enough water we just release it into the ocean. So no quarrel, therefore there is no discussion, no tribunal. But one year when there is no rain there would be in so many problems, even wars can take place, In fact, I read somewhere in future some of the wars between countries may be caused by water problem. Water may become the cause of some of the wars. Already there is war between कर्नाटक and तमिळनाडु caused by water only. Therefore rain is the greatest blessing of the Lord, because of which we are surviving. When the rain comes, we curse, we complain but when the rain is not there then only we will know. And therefore, कृष्ण says beings are born out of अन्नम्, अन्नम् is because of पर्जन्य. And how does rain comes, can human being produce rain? I read somewhere that the science is so much advanced that they can produce rain. So first I thought not bad science seems to be so wonderful, because now there is some hope that iodide, silver iodide crystals, if they take in a helicopter and they spread it and the rain can come, I read. So I was so happy, like when I heard about the test-tube baby, that we have learned to create babies in test-tubes and take a test-tube and take some silver nitrate and sodium chloride and heat and you will get a baby, I thought. Thereafter wards they say it in small letters, you require a father, you require a mother and then you can produce the test-tube baby. Therefore remember, even if you can prepare test-tube babies, remember we require the gift of nature. I thought the scientists are producing the rain. They say that if there are clouds, how is it! if there are clouds they will produce the rain. Remember I am not criticizing science, I am an admirer of science, I am a student of science. While talking about scriptures, don't mistake me, I am not bringing down science, because even this particular technique is a great blessing because, because of this particular procedure they are able to make the cloud pour the rain in a particular area, otherwise the rain may go to the ocean. Certainly that scientific advancement is a great blessing, we are not belittling, but what we are saying is that science is wonderful but still it can never replace nature. And therefore, पर्जन्य is a natural phenomenon, we require. Now the question is what is responsible for rain? What is responsible for rain? कृष्ण says यज्ञात् भवति पर्जन्यः. यज्ञात् भवति पर्जन्यः. Here the word यज्ञः means अपूर्वम् or अदृष्टम्, because of invisible factor. यज्ञः means अदृष्टम्, invisible favorable factor called यज्ञः, sometimes it is called पुण्यम्, sometimes it is called अदृष्टम्, sometimes it is called अपूर्वम्; here the word यज्ञः means because of the पुण्यम् alone, rain comes. Then we may wonder, what are you talking - because of पुण्यम् rain comes, it looks like a cock and bull story, how do you say पुण्यम् produces rain. If you have to understand पुण्यम् in scientific language, remember पुण्यम् or अदृष्टम् is nothing but the cosmic balance or harmony, only when there is a harmony in nature, only when there is balance in nature, the rain will come at the appropriate time, because the seasons are indicative of natural harmony. The seasons are always indicative of natural harmony, therefore in our tradition, they always took rain as the acid test for universal balance, ecological balance, because in those days the scientific language was not available, therefore they call it पुण्यम्, but now-a-days because of the advancement of science we can use the language. When you are cutting the forest naturally the clouds are not formed properly, therefore the rains do not come, therefore deforestation or that is the cause, or pollution is the cause, etc they say. Now-a-days we use the word of ecological balance or harmony, in those days they called it यज्ञः. And therefore यज्ञात् भवति पर्जन्यः. So are you now able to see the connection? Living beings are born because of अन्नम्, अन्नम् is because of rain, rain is because of harmony, balance of nature. Then the next question, how do we maintain the balance of nature? How do we create the balance of nature? कृष्ण gives the answer, यज्ञः कर्म-समुद्भवः. One maintains the balance of nature only by कर्मयोगः, only by self-restraint, only by avoiding the exploitation of nature, only by revering the creation, only by respecting nature we will maintain the balance. As I said the other day, I need not bring about harmony of nature because nature is already harmonious, what I have to do is I should avoid disturbing the harmony. Like some people at home, when you are working they will come to help you and create such a mess and leave and you say that the best service you can do is go and sit outside. There are some people who do service by doing, there are some other people their best service is non-interference. Similarly, भगवान् says, you need not bring in harmony of creation, creation is already harmonious, by your interference you don't destroy the harmony, don't pollute water, don't pollute air,

नाप्सु मूत्रपुरीषं कुर्यात् । न निष्ठीवेत् । न विवसनः स्नायात् । गुह्यो वा एषोऽग्निः । ॥ कृष्णयजुर्वेदीय तैत्तिरीयारण्यक १-२६ ॥

Even वेद मन्त्र tells when you go to a tank or a river, how you should treat. First thing we will do is to put the leg for testing, in गङ्गा we want to find out whether it is chill. Whereas in our tradition it is said, never put the leg first, go and pray to the river, river is the lifeline of any civilization. All civilization have come only in the river shore, banks of river, therefore first you do नमस्कार, गङ्गे च यमुने चैव and then do प्रोक्षणम् and there afterwards, you enter the water and there also नाप्सु मूत्रपुरीषं कुर्यात्, don't pollute the river. न निष्ठीवेत्, some people have got, especially we have got the habit of spitting. Every two minutes, we go on spitting. Especially for the people who take pan, betel leaf-eaters, etc., still worse and you see them taking bath every other minute they spit into the river, न निष्ठीवेत्, न विवसनः स्नायात् गुह्यो वा एषोऽग्निः, How you should respect a river? How should you respect ocean? How you should respect air, fire? And therefore, a life of reverence, a life of कर्मयोग will maintain the cosmic balance. And that is why, they have a saying in तमिळ्, if there is one good person who has respect for nature, the creation, then at least for his sake there will be rain. It seems in तिरुवकुऱल्, there is one full अधिकारम् which talks about the Vanchirappu (Eulogy of Rain), the glory of nature and how one rain for this person, one rain for that person, they say rain will come properly if we have got reverence towards nature and reverence towards nature is called कर्मयोगः. And when I say nature it includes animals, humans, plants also. And therefore, balance is produced by what, कर्म-समुद्भवः. कर्म means कर्मयोगः. So now what are the layers? We are born out of food, food is because of rain, rain is because of cosmic harmony, cosmic harmony is because of कर्म or कर्मयोगः, that means the ultimate cause of human beings is कर्मयोग alone. So from कर्म alone through various layers the living beings are born. From कर्म alone through various layers the living beings are born, that means I or my existence is dependent on कर्म. Then from where does कर्म come, from where does कर्म come, ultimately the कर्म has to come from me alone, therefore I am born out of कर्म and the कर्म is born out of me, thus I and my कर्म are inter-dependent, therefore if you have to live in the society you have to keep contributing to the society, only then the cycle is complete and every time I eat, I am taking and every time I work, I am contributing; complete that cycle by a life of contribution. So यज्ञः कर्म-समुद्भवः and you have to add one line, कर्म भूत समुद्भवः, the कर्म are born out of living beings, then the cycle will become complete. Continuing;

Verse No .15

कर्म ब्रह्मोद्भवं विद्धि ब्रह्माक्षरसमुद्भवम् ।

तस्मात्सर्वगतं ब्रह्म नित्यं यज्ञे प्रतिष्ठितम् ॥ ३-१५॥

कर्म ब्रह्म-उद्भवं विद्धि ब्रह्म अक्षर-समुद्भवम् ।

तस्मात् सर्वगतं ब्रह्म नित्यं यज्ञे प्रतिष्ठितम् ॥ ३-१५॥

कर्म ब्रह्म-उद्भवं विद्धि ब्रह्म अक्षर-समुद्भवम् तस्मात् सर्वगतं ब्रह्म यज्ञे नित्यं प्रतिष्ठितम्

How do you know which कर्म maintains the balance of the creation and which कर्म violates the balance of the creation? This is a problem, because we human beings have got only a limited intellect.

Therefore I never fully know which action is ultimately good for humanity and which action is not good for humanity, I do not know. And that is why, if you see again the scientific study, you would have been reading in the newspapers, so we produced lot of chemicals called Chloro-Fluoro-Carbons – CFC which we widely use for so many things including the refrigerator and you know how important the refrigerator is. Because of the refrigerator alone the ladies are able to cook once a week only, lot of advantage! and I heard in some places once a fortnight, some places once in a month and put everything in packets and put the dates, so refrigerator it is extremely important for us and we started using the CFC and at that time we never knew what will be the consequences. After several years, they discovered that it is going to the atmosphere and it is reacting with the ozone layer and the ozone layer is getting depleted which is dangerous for our survival. Because ozone layer is a beautiful gift of the Lord. Because when the sun's rays comes to us it gives a lot of nourishment alright, but there are certain poisons also, toxins also and what a beautiful brain भगवान् has got, there is toxin but there is a filtering layer also. That is why even the meteorite cannot affect us, why because it gets burned out in the atmosphere itself. Now the ozone filters ultra-violet rays and others, so that we are safe. And we बृहस्पति, what do we do, create something and create a huge hole and we have to find out what should we do to replace that. That means what: we did not know what is harmful to ourselves. Similarly, I read elsewhere, when the population of the automobiles increase then the greenhouse gases, there are certain gases called greenhouse gases, like carbon monoxide etc. and when they go to the atmosphere there is a special effect called greenhouse effect, because of which the temperature in the earth increases. So automobiles increase on the road, the consequence is increase in temperature on the globe as a whole. And they say when the temperature increases, the polar ice caps (not near us, somewhere), melts and naturally the oceanic water level increases and because of that so many problems, so many countries on the shore are affected, can we easily see the connection, between the flooding of certain countries and increase of the automobiles. We do not see the direct connection but a lot of study and lot of suffering and lot of years later we come to know that some of our actions are harmful to ourselves. And why we are not able to know that, because of the limitation of human intellect. Certain medicines we discover, certain pesticides, DDT and other things we invent and then after using for several years, they themselves ban or they send to India. All the other things banned in Europe and American countries are dumped in India and we are so wonderful people and we start using. So thus everything that we invent, we don't know whether it is good or not, because we have got limited knowledge. Therefore शास्त्र says don't depend upon human intellect, depend upon the scriptures which talk about a way of life, which is meant for universal harmony. Because scriptures are not the products of human intellect unlike science. Science is called पौरुषेयम् शास्त्रम्. Scriptures are called अपौरुषेयम्. They are not the inventions of human's intellect. They are the revelations through the ऋषिः. Therefore कृष्ण says, be humble and follow the lifestyle prescribed by me. You might not know the scientific reason behind certain religious practices, you can do research alright and after 10 years, or 20 years, you might discover the scientific principle but until then, have faith in the scriptures and follow the lifestyle prescribed by the scriptures. Even leaves like तुलसी and बिल्व etc., we just make use of it without knowing its value, medicinal value. Then suddenly we discover the value only when an American takes a patent on Neem. We have been using this Neem for aeons, but we did not know; we use बिल्वम् we do not know, we use रुद्राक्ष we do not know. Whatever शास्त्र says, it is keeping the global harmony not only individual but the global harmony in view. And therefore who is the author of कर्मयोग, कृष्ण says, कर्म

ब्रह्म-उद्भवम् विद्धि. Harmonious lifestyle is taught by the वेदs, so here the word ब्रह्म means वेदs. So कर्म, a harmonious life, a religious lifestyle, we come to know only by the study of the scriptures and how do the वेदs know, after all they are also invented by some ऋषिs, if we ask, कृष्ण says, never take the वेदs as the inventions of human intellect because any invention of human intellect will have its own minus point. That is why one will do a research and get a PhD. And another will refute that theory and also gets a PhD. Both will get PhD. It is very useful for PhD. Whereas you find the वैदिक teaching not 100 years old, many of our theories and all are refuted within 10 years and now-a-days, even 10 years are not required because research is going all-over, that one theory is negated the next moment, but वेद has withstood the test of time, we don't know whether it is 5,000 years old or 10,000 years old, even now वेदs can stand the challenge of science. Even the वेदs can stand the challenge of science. If we find a defect in the वेदs, it is only because we do not know how to understand it. Simple coconut oil, for some days only criticism. And now it is good, best, etc., निन्दा-स्तुति. निन्दा-स्तुति. Confusion, now whether it is good or bad. Similarly, tea. Some say it is bad, some say it is very good, confusion. Alcohol, some स्तुति, as such it is a problem, a little bit is good they say, now how do we know what is good for me, what is not good for me, so our traditions says follow the वेदs. 'Believers shall not perish.' You will be wonderful. And therefore कृष्ण says ब्रह्म अक्षर-समुद्भवम्. वेद is not invention of human intellect, वेद has come out of अक्षरम्. अक्षरम् means भगवान्, ब्रह्म means वेद, very careful, ब्रह्म means वेद and अक्षरम् means ईश्वर, ब्रह्म अक्षर-समुद्भवम् means वेद has come out of the Lord. Then how come we say that the ऋषिs have given out the वेद. You know the answer I have told this before. ऋषिs have not invented the वेदs, ऋषिs have served as a medium for receiving the वैदिक teaching, exactly like the television set, the television set does not produce the music. Television set does not produce the music, music has been already transmitted elsewhere, the television set is serving only as a medium for the manifestation of this music. This is only a receiving set, transmission is elsewhere. Thus every ऋषि is like a television set, every ऋषि is a radio set, he has not invented, he has only served as a medium. Suppose if we ask, स्वामिजी why can't I be a medium when I close my eyes, I don't get anything, I only get the headache, I don't receive any मन्त्र, etc. Remember, television set is specially prepared, anything cannot be received, Similarly, we should also specially prepare ourselves by तपस्, by ध्यानम्, etc. The ऋषि have prepared themselves, but what we say is why should we become ऋषि. Already they have become, when food is there in the fridge why should you go and cook again, just go and enjoy. Similarly, we need not become ऋषि. They have already received it and out of compassion they have brought down for our use, therefore let us study the वेदs and get the benefit of the teachings.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 15-19

Lord कृष्ण is talking about the importance of कर्मयोग, looking at कर्मयोग from different angles.

- i) First he looked at it as a commandment of the Lord, ईश्वर आज्ञा,
- ii) Then he looked at it as a worship of the Lord, ईश्वर यज्ञः,
- iii) Then he looked at it as a means of spiritual purification, चित्त शोधकम् and
- iv) Now he is looking at the same कर्मयोग as धर्मः, a way of life, which helps in maintaining the harmony of the creation.

And कृष्ण talked about in the last श्लोक that everything is a cyclic process and any cycle will be completed only when receiving from the world is followed by giving unto the world also. If I am only going to receive things from the world without giving importance to giving or sharing, naturally the cycle is incomplete and once the cycle is not completed then there is the violation of universal harmony, then there is a stagnation which is not good for the physical health, the psychological health, the spiritual health, the economic health, at any level it is not good. Even from a simple angle of eating we can easily understand this principle. If I am only going to consume food then only taking takes place which means I am only receiving energy from the world and proportionally if I am not ready to spend the energy or work which they call exercise in some form or the other, again I am violating the natural cycle, I am physically consuming but I am not giving. So imagine a person goes on eating 3-4-5 times or permanently throughout the day and proportionately he does not work, then the cycle is broken, there is stagnation and the stagnation alone comes in the form of fat or cholesterol, then the doctor says you park the car 1 km away from the office and walk to the office. So you do some jogging or something or the other, again what is happening is: the doctor is talking about maintaining the harmony and what is harmony: proportionate to the food that I consume I have to give out also. This can be extended at all levels. With regard to knowledge also if I am receiving knowledge then proportionately I should share my knowledge with others also and that harmony is talked about स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च. This is harmony at knowledge level. I receive knowledge I have to give knowledge and that is why in those days they threatened also, if you learn any science or art and you die without sharing that knowledge with anyone, then, they say, that you will become a ब्रह्म यक्षस for the पापम् that you have committed; ब्रह्म यक्षस will be hanging upside down, etc., they frighten. Whether we become ब्रह्म यक्षस or not we do not know but the principle is what: whatever I take proportionately I should give also. Knowledge level there should not be stagnation, energy level there should not be stagnation, emotional level also - if I am receiving love from everyone they are there must be a proportionate giving of love to others. Thus at every level, धर्म, harmony or the cyclic process should be maintained. So when there is stagnant pool of water and a flowing river is there, which is a healthy place to take bath? We know that the flowing river is healthier whereas a stagnant pool is not a healthy place. From that it is very clear that nothing should stagnate, everything should flow, that means what: I should never own anything. Whatever I receive I should hand over to others, I should share with others, whether it is money, or energy, or knowledge, or love, or anything for that matter, I should be like the bank of a river that the water comes, knowledge comes, money comes, whatever comes, I hand over to the next person and that person also doesn't keep and he again shares with others, this principle of giving is meant for maintaining the harmony. So the principle of कर्मयोग is: Give to maintain harmony. And that has to be told because giving is not natural; grabbing is natural. If anything is distributed, suppose there is a book distributed freely, we won't even bother what book it is, it may be in Russian language, as somebody said in मलयाळम् 'if it is income, receipt - let anything may come, it is welcome', he was taught, varavu is good, varavu means income; chelavu is bad, expenditure is not good and he went to the astrologer for the first time. The astrologer said that, shaniyude varavanu, meaning शनि is coming, he knows only one law, varavu, so welcome him. So our natural law is whatever is freely distributed, receive it and later we can check it, at least it will be useful for packing the peanuts, that is the idea. Therefore शास्त्र need not teach us to take, शास्त्र has to teach us to give. That is why they say,

वक्ता शत सहस्रेषु दाता भवति वा न वा ॥ व्यासस्मृतिः – ४/७८ १३२ ॥

Among hundreds of people you can find one courageous person – शतेषु जायते शूरः. सहस्रेषु च पण्डितः – among thousands of people you can find one true scholar, scholarship is still rarer. वक्ता शत सहस्रेषु – among hundred thousand, among lakhs of people, you can find one good communicator, scholarship is easier but sharing that difficult knowledge with others is still rarer. Therefore among lakhs of people there will be one communicator, but what about a true giver? दाता भवति वा न वा – in the entire creation to find a true giver who wants to share with others there may be a person or may not a person and therefore कर्मयोग is in short GIVE.

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

Only if I train myself to give things ultimately in the wake of Self-knowledge I can give up the very अहङ्कार itself, the ego itself. Initially I give up my ममकार, that is called दानम् and later I can give up अहङ्कार. कर्मयोग is ममकार त्यागः, ज्ञानयोग is अहङ्कार त्यागः. And therefore कृष्ण said एवम् प्रवर्तितम् चक्रम्, so in this manner there is harmony in the creation and this harmonious life alone is taught in the वेदs and the वेदs have been given out by the Lord himself. So कर्म ब्रह्म-उद्भवम् विद्धि ब्रह्म अक्षर-समुद्भवम्, this life of sacrifice, this life of sharing has been taught by the वेदs which have been given out by ईश्वर. Up to this we saw in the last class. Now we have to see the second line, कृष्ण says: तस्मात् सर्वगतम् ब्रह्म and therefore the वैदिक teaching is all over, it is all-pervading, wherever the वैदिक संप्रदाय is there, there the वैदिक teaching is prevalent, तस्मात् सर्वगतम् ब्रह्म, ब्रह्म means the वेदs, the वैदिक teaching is all-pervading in the वैदिक society and especially it is prevalent where: नित्यम् यज्ञे प्रतिष्ठितम् - wherever यज्ञः is going on, wherever there is sacrifice, wherever there is sharing, wherever there is दानम् in all such places the वैदिक teaching is predominantly present, यज्ञे प्रतिष्ठितम्. Continuing;

Verse No .16

एवं प्रवर्तितं चक्रं नानुवर्तयतीह यः ।

अघायुरिन्द्रियारामो मोघं पार्थ स जीवति ॥ ३-१६॥

एवं प्रवर्तितम् चक्रम् न अनुवर्तयति इह यः ।

अघायुः इन्द्रिय-आरामः मोघम् पार्थ सः जीवति ॥ ३-१६॥

हे पार्थ! एवम् प्रवर्तितम् चक्रम् यः इह न अनुवर्तयति, सः इन्द्रिय-आरामः अघायुः मोघम् जीवति ।

So कृष्ण pointed out that कर्मयोग is giving-oriented, the importance is for giving and not for taking whereas कर्म is taking-oriented. This is the difference between कर्मि and कर्मयोगि, a कर्मयोगि measures his success in terms of his capacity to give, the more he can give he considers himself to be a successful person, whereas a कर्मि measures his success in terms of his capacity to grab, hoard, amass and possess. Therefore if I die with plenty of money a कर्मि will consider it a successful life, whereas a कर्मयोगि will consider success as that in which he may die a pauper, he has given everything that he has. You look at our पुराणs, you will find any person who has sacrificed and who has given he is glorified, whether it is शिबि चक्रवर्ति or whether it is बुद्ध, you take anyone who is glorified is not a materially rich person but a person who has given up. That is why somebody nicely said, the essence of गीता, you can easily understand by reversing the word, गीता. गीता गीता गी ता गी.. ता.. गी.. तागी. What is the essence of गीता, तागी, त्यागि is a successful person. And therefore कृष्ण strongly criticizes a person who has taken more and given less. He says all such people are sinners because they have consumed more and shared less. Therefore he says, एवम् प्रवर्तितम् चक्रम्, in this manner, in the manner of 'give and take' the universal cycle is maintained. So चक्रम् means the universal cycle or harmony is maintained in this manner, in which manner? In the form of taking and proportionately, why proportionately, even more of giving and यः न अनुवर्तयति. Suppose there is an immature person, a selfish person who does not believe in the principle of giving and sharing, यः न अनुवर्तयति, the one who amasses wealth, only for his own selfish interest, कृष्ण says such a person is अघायुः, अघायुः means his life is made up of पापम्, he is a sinner, he is a man of sin and इन्द्रिय-आरामः – he is sensualist who only spends his life for his sensory pleasures alone, he doesn't consider anything superior to that, he is a sensualist given to sensory pleasures only, हे पार्थ! मोघम् सः जीवति – such a person lives in vain, because he is neither useful to himself nor useful to the society. He is not useful to himself because being a sensualist given to sensory pleasures only, he is not going to accomplish anything greater. Because eating and drinking and procreating cannot be considered a great pleasure because or great achievement because even animals do that successfully. As विवेकानन्द says somewhere, living a long healthy life is not a great accomplishment because even a tortoise lives for 350 years. A coconut tree lives longer, therefore long-life or a having many family members, I have got 3 sons and four daughters and I have got 24 grandchildren and 72 great grand children that is not a great accomplishment, because pigs have got bigger family. If sensory pleasure is great accomplishment the animals also do that, therefore the real accomplishment is in the field of कर्म and मोक्षः. And this person who was a sensualist he did not accomplish anything, his human life has become a waste alone. And not only his life was useless for himself, was useless to the society, he did not contribute anything to the society also, that the society thanks the Lord that this person dies, because earth's burden is reduced by a useless' removal! So somebody sings, there are many animals which are very useful while living and they are very useful after death also like an elephant, while alive also it is very useful, after death also many part of its body is used and he enumerates. What about this human being? While living also utterly useless, afterwards? Some animals are useful for the teeth, skin, hair; elephant hair they use, rhino horn they use for so many things, but this human being while living also useless, after death also is utterly useless, what is the use of such a life? Life is meaningful only when I have shared things from the society and in the process, I have accomplished धर्म and ultimately मोक्षः also. Therefore कृष्ण says all the other people they live in vain. Continuing;

यस्तत्त्वात्मरतिरेव स्यादात्मतृप्तश्च मानवः ।

आत्मन्येव च सन्तुष्टस्तस्य कार्यं न विद्यते ॥ ३-१७॥

यः तु आत्म-रतिः एव स्यात् आत्म-तृप्तः च मानवः ।

आत्मनि एव च सन्तुष्टः तस्य कार्यम् न विद्यते ॥ ३-१७॥

यः तु मानवः आत्म-रतिः एव, आत्म-तृप्तः च, आत्मानि एव च सन्तुष्टः स्यात् तस्य कार्यम् न विद्यते ।

In the following two verses, कृष्ण talks about the benefit of कर्मयोग. As I had said often, गीता or the वेदs do not consider कर्मयोग an end-in-itself. कर्मयोग is not the ultimate साधन this must be very clearly remembered. Because as I have often said, कर्मयोग cannot give liberation, कर्मयोग cannot give Self-knowledge and therefore कर्मयोग can never be considered an end-in-itself, but at the same time we don't say कर्मयोग is useless also. कर्मयोग is extremely important, especially in the beginning stages because कर्मयोग alone can give purity of mind and therefore everybody has to follow कर्मयोग initially and purify the mind and after the purification of mind one has to necessarily go through the next higher stage of साधन. Here alone people commit mistake, they think that कर्मयोग can independently take to मोक्षः. कृष्ण makes it very clear, it is not so. Then what is the next stage of साधन, that alone we call as ज्ञानयोग. One has to contribute to the society, one has to purify the mind and having contributed sufficiently, one has to later withdraw from कर्मयोग or at least reduce कर्मयोग. Because he has to enquire into the true nature of himself. Because as we have seen before our basic spiritual problem is Self-ignorance and unless we solve the problem of Self-ignorance, any amount of spiritual साधन is incomplete. Therefore one has to withdraw from कर्मयोग, कृष्ण will tell that in the 6th chapter,

योगारूढस्य तस्यैव शमः कारणमुच्यते ॥ ६-३॥

Follow कर्मयोग, purify the mind and grow out of कर्मयोग and go to the next stage of spiritual साधन, like a child entering the womb of the mother and for 9 months the child remains in the womb; the womb is extremely important for the growth of the child for 9 months or 10 months and once the child is 10 months old, there afterwards, the very same womb becomes an obstacle for the child. Therefore the nature itself has kept an arrangement by which the child comes out of the womb, because the next stage of the growth is not within the womb but outside. In the same way कर्मयोग is like the womb of the mother, we have to lead an active mind and purify the mind but thereafter as they say, ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम, गृहस्थ आश्रम, that is like entering the womb and thereafter वानप्रस्थ आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम, is growing out of activity. First stage is called प्रवृत्ति, the second stage is called निवृत्ति. First stage is called involvement, the second stage is called seclusion or withdrawal and having withdrawn from extrovertedness. What I am supposed to do, ask the basic question, who am I, what am I really seeking in life, am I blindly doing things, because my parents did and the grand parents did, often it is mechanical, I went to pre-LKG, LKG, UKG, then school and then college and then education is over and I went to job, because everybody did all these, then, everybody married and I also got married, why, that is what my parents did, thereafter got children, why, because that happens and there afterwards I educated them and then got them married, often it is a mechanical life, I have to ask the question,

भजगोविन्दम् २३ ॥

What is life? What is my real nature? Why have I come here? What is my real destination? Why this human struggle? and this is called ज्ञानयोगः and this ज्ञानयोग is in the form of वेदान्त श्रवण, मनन & निदिध्यासनम्, study of the philosophical scriptures dealing with our true nature. And assimilating that teaching and discovering the real I which is ever पूर्णः, which is ever complete. That discovery of the complete-self is called ज्ञानयोगः. And only when I have successfully followed ज्ञानयोग, the struggle in life is over, remember the example I give of the पुरि, the पुरि you know, when they put in the oil it runs about and as even the पुरि runs about it becomes bigger and bigger and once it has become fully blown then you will find that no more knocking about, आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः, stationery, steady. It has attained पूर्णत्वम्: पूर्णत्वम् shortened is पुरि. So whenever you eat पुरि, you remember the life's goal is पूर्णत्वम्, until then I will be knocking about here and there not knowing what to do. Without ज्ञानयोग, कर्मयोग is incomplete; without कर्मयोग, ज्ञानयोग is impossible. Therefore follow कर्मयोग, follow ज्ञानयोग and be free. And the essence of ज्ञानयोग is given in these two श्लोकs briefly. कर्मयोग was elaborately discussed, ज्ञानयोग is put in a nutshell here and who is he, कृष्ण says, मानवः. ज्ञानयोगि is really a मानवः, he is an intelligent person because he has diagnosed the problem that the problem is Self-ignorance, problem is centered on me, as दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says, the “The Problem Is You, The Solution Is You” alone. Until now, I thought the problem is with the family, with the government and that is why in every election, they put the vote for the opposite party, thinking that previously when Congress was ruling, they thought that BJP would be wonderful. Then again Congress, how long, until the next election, then again the Janata Dal and then you keep on changing, because we have got only these parties, thus we go on changing the people, changing the house, changing the job, changing the government, some people changing the wives or husbands also, everything you keep on changing, that in spite of all these changes that I have not improved will show that the problem is not outside, the problem is with myself, the moment Self-enquiry starts he is a human being. That is why कृष्ण uses the word, मानवः. This intelligent person comes to Self-enquiry with the help of the scriptures, with the help of the गुरु, गुरु शास्त्र उपदेशवत्. When he does the Self-enquiry, then he makes the biggest discovery, the rarest discovery, a pleasantly surprised discovery and what is that discovery: whatever I have been seeking in life they already are within me, security I seek - I am the embodiment of security, fullness I seek - I am the embodiment of fullness, peace I seek - I am the embodiment of peace, in fact, all the basic needs of a human being that is already ours and that is the discovery he makes and there afterwards what is his nature: आत्म-रतिः एव स्यात्. So previously he was happy because of external conditions, after Self-knowledge he is happy, not because of external factors, he is happy because that is his very nature. We have already seen in the 2nd chapter, the one who is self-sufficient, one who does not depend upon external factors to be full and complete, therefore आत्म-रतिः means the one who revels in himself and आत्म-तृप्तः च and the one who is totally contented with himself. He doesn't think of the next higher possibility because he has discovered himself to be infinite and there is no question of next higher stage of the infinite, there is no infinite, infiniter, infinitest, it is not there and therefore, there is no comparison, otherwise the problem is however much I have I am never happy because there is always someone who has gone to the next higher stage, like breaking the record. Any amount of record you break, you ask that sportsman are you happy and he will tell that this person has got that record and I have to break it and there are some people who have broken all the records and they are on the top and ask whether you are happy, no. Why? I want to break my own record. There is a Russian pole vault jumper.. Bubka or so, I don't know how to pronounce his name, he keeps on breaking his own records. There is no contentment in the relative accomplishment but this is one field in which there is total satisfaction. Therefore, आत्म-तृप्तः च मानवः and not only that, आत्मनि एव च सन्तुष्टः – his self-sufficiency is total, that he doesn't depend upon any external factors. I am not one of the sources of happiness for me, I am the only source of happiness for me. So आत्मनि एव च सन्तुष्टः तस्य कार्यम् न विद्यते, there afterwards there is no struggle in his life, whatever he does is not done for fulfillment, there afterwards whatever he does is out of fulfillment. There is only a subtle difference, one acts for fulfillment, another acts out of fulfillment. What is the difference can you guess? When I am acting for fulfillment it means at present I am incomplete and therefore the action is not an enjoyable action, there is a struggle, there is a stress, there is anxiety, whether I will accomplish or not, there is always tension, therefore action for fulfillment is संसार, struggle; whereas imagine action out of fulfillment is no more struggle it is like bathroom singing.

You just enjoy singing. Not for anybody else. In fact, nobody else wants to listen, not for money, not for anything, you are so happy that you sing. Thus, an action out of fulfillment is called लीला or sport, ज्ञानि's every activity is a लीला, that is why we use the word कृष्ण लीला, राम लीला, etc., what is the meaning of the word लीला. लीला means an action done with fulfillment or out of fulfillment. Therefore कृष्ण says, तस्य कार्यम् न विद्यते. Continuing;

Verse No .18

नैव तस्य कृतेनार्थो नाकृतेनेह कश्चन ।

न चास्य सर्वभूतेषु कश्चिदर्थव्यपाश्रयः ॥ ३-१८॥

न एव तस्य कृतेन अर्थः न अकृतेन इह कश्चन ।

न च अस्य सर्व-भूतेषु कश्चित् अर्थ-व्यपाश्रयः ॥ ३-१८॥

इह कृतेन तस्य अर्थः न एव, अकृतेन (अपि) कश्चन अस्य (अर्थः) न, (तथा) सर्व-भूतेषु च (अस्य) कश्चित् अर्थ-व्यपाश्रयः न ।

So here कृष्ण says a ज्ञानि योगि is one who has discovered his inner independence, who has discovered inner freedom. External independence we can never have, physical freedom we can never totally have because physically we are dependent on external factors, we require food, we require clothing, we require shelter, even driving on the road you are not totally independent, you have to follow the traffic rules. Even if you don't believe in traffic rules, at least you have to follow the buffaloes are there and other things are moving on the road, which means to that extent I don't have freedom. Thus for physical freedom we can never accomplish, in fact, physical freedom I should not ask for, I should voluntarily accept the physical limitation and follow the rules and it will not become a bondage. If I accept the traffic signal as a necessity it is not a bondage, only if I don't understand it becomes a bondage. So external restriction I should accept that alone is freedom, but as far as the inner mind is concerned we can accomplish total psychological freedom and that inner independence is called मोक्षः. And here कृष्ण says, this ज्ञानि is so independent that he doesn't depend upon his action also for happiness nor does he depend upon inaction for happiness because these are also two weakness. There are some people who are so much addicted to action, who are called workaholics. Their problem is what: they cannot remain quiet. There is one holiday that is going to come it becomes a nightmare for them, they have to plan 100 things where to go, what to do and if nothing is there they get 4 video movies, for some people they are so addicted to action that inaction is a nightmare for them. Holiday is a nightmare for them, retirement is a nightmare for them, sickness is a nightmare, doctor says that you have a back pain and one month bed rest, that is how भगवान् wants to makes us introspect. For some people, addiction is with regard to action. There are some other people their problem is what: like buffalo they don't want to act, they will always find out some excuse or the other, even for drinking water they would not get up, they will wait for somebody to pass just to get water. We have got two addictions - either action or inaction. कृष्ण says ज्ञानि is one who is neither addicted to action nor addicted to inaction, he enjoys doing action whenever there is a situation and he enjoys not doing that also, therefore he says, तस्य ज्ञानिनः कृतेन अर्थः न – through action also he does not expect any result, any benefit or any improvement, न अकृतेन इह कश्चन – nor through inaction he expects any result; neither he is dependent on action nor is he dependent on inaction. Now people are forming retired peoples' club etc., they are forming and they are also just making the study how to spend time after retirement, very big issue now, because the whole day is there and my capacity to act also becomes less and less, I am not able to read when I think of reading something, when I want to hear something the ears are a problem, I want to talk to someone no one wants to come near you, they know that once they start talking they will start from 1967, old stories will start, so therefore, they will change the road on seeing me, so you cannot talk also. Therefore, gracefully growing old and enjoying old age requires tremendous maturity. We are ready to prepare financially for old age, many people are preparing wonderfully well financially. Medici claim, LIC, shares, house, financially we are preparing very well, but psychologically our preparation is zero. That when we grow old not only we suffer, the people around also go through hell, why, because we cannot face inaction. As they said, 'How to enjoy myself even if I am doing nothing.' Therefore कृष्ण says ज्ञानि is one who will enjoy activity, who will enjoy inaction also. Not only he is independent from the standpoint of action and inaction, more importantly कृष्ण says he is independent of people also. This is still more difficult, as we grow we get addicted to certain people also. And as we grow old and we are going to survive longer, even though it is a good news that I am surviving, the problem is I have to face the death of so many people around me. Long-life has got an advantage but remember, it has got a disadvantage also, one by one people will say ta-ta (goodbye). They will disappear, therefore I should be prepared for that also. That requires emotional independence, enjoying the people's company when they are available and learning to accept their absence when it becomes inevitable. It need not be death, why should we think of death, even a temporary reason - the wife has to go to the daughter's house or son's house or something, this husband 75 years old fellow he cannot withstand that, he doesn't allow the wife to go anywhere because right from toothpaste wife alone has to give in the hand, they don't know where the toothpaste is kept. 75 years old! They are emotionally dependent, food they have to be served, newspaper has to be handed to the hand, after bath clothes have to be given, so much dependence that I cannot withstand even one day's absence of a particular family member. All these are emotional weakness, ज्ञानि is one who does not have any emotional crutches. Therefore कृष्ण says, कश्चित् अर्थ-व्यपाश्रयः – he does not depend upon anyone in the creation, सर्व-भूतेषु among the entire creation he does not depend upon any person. There are some people who do not depend upon people but they have got pets at home. So I had a neighbor, previously when I was staying in another part of Madras and he had a dog and that dog died and for days together he could not get out of it, he was regularly coming and crying. First I thought his wife would have expired, he would have perhaps not cried that much if his wife had expired, so much attached. In fact, one husband used to tell me also, next birth I want to become my wife's dog because when my wife comes from the class (she was attending the class) first question she asks is: did you feed the dog? she doesn't ask whether I had eaten or taken coffee or something, that is later. So therefore if not people we are addicted to pets, something or other we want to hold on to. Therefore कृष्ण says, nothing doing, सर्व-भूतेषु कश्चित् अर्थ-व्यपाश्रयः. One great ज्ञानि sang a तमिळ् song, which is the height of independence, 'Cut asunder the desires, cut asunder the desires, cut asunder even if it be the desire for God', even dependence on God is dependence, but that is too much to expect. Therefore our progress is from world-dependence we go to God-dependence, from God-dependence we come to Self-dependence. World-dependence is संसार, God-dependence is भक्ति, Self-dependence is ज्ञानम्. संसार to भक्ति to ज्ञानम्. This is our progress. कृष्ण is talking about the height of ज्ञानम् here, न च अस्य सर्व-भूतेषु कश्चित् अर्थ-व्यपाश्रयः, totally emotionally free.

Verse No .19

तस्मादसक्तः सततं कार्यं कर्म समाचर ।

असक्तो ह्याचरन्कर्म परमाप्नोति पूरुषः ॥ ३-१९॥

तस्मात् असक्तः सततम् कार्यम् कर्म समाचर ।

असक्तः हि आचरन् कर्म परम् आप्नोति पूरुषः ॥ ३-१९॥

तस्मात् (त्वं) असक्तः (सन्) सततम् कार्यम् कर्म समाचर, हि पूरुषः असक्तः (सन्) कर्म आचरन्, परम् आप्नोति ।

So therefore कृष्ण gives the advice to अर्जुन. अर्जुन your goal is very clear now. मोक्षः – total emotional independence, fullness is your goal. Because that is all our struggle is for, knowingly or unknowingly our struggle is only for inner independence. And that independence is possible only through Self-discovery, discovering your own inner strength. So therefore, independence requires ज्ञानम्, Self-knowledge and Self-knowledge requires mental purity, which means freedom from रागः and द्वेषः. I told you the other day, the impurity is delusion and the delusion is the thought that the world is the cause of my happiness or unhappiness, that is the delusion, as long as I am going to consider the world to be the cause of happiness or unhappiness, I will go on adjusting the world miserably failing. Only when I understand that I am the source of happiness, I am the source of sorrow also, misunderstood-I is the source of unhappiness, understood-I is the source of happiness, अज्ञात अहम् दुःख हेतुः, ज्ञात अहम् सुख हेतुः, as long as I don't know myself I am the source of sorrow, the moment I know myself the very same known-I is the source of happiness. Until I recognize that there is delusion. I will go on adjusting the world and that delusion must go. That is called the inner impurity and that will go only by कर्मयोग. So now what is route map, follow कर्मयोग, purify the mind, follow ज्ञानयोग, discover Self-sufficiency and thus be free. This is the वैदिक life program. Follow कर्मयोग, thus purify the mind, follow ज्ञानयोग, discover Self-sufficiency and be free. And अर्जुन therefore you have to start from कर्मयोग right now. तस्मात्, therefore, कार्यम् कर्म समाचर – therefore take to कर्मयोग, by following your duty. कार्यम् means duty, what is expected of you in a particular set-up is कार्यम् and here what is अर्जुन's कार्यम् in this context, महाभारत war. Therefore don't try to run away from your responsibilities, कार्यम् कर्म समाचर and how should you do that: असक्तः – without anxiety, without projecting too much into future and missing the present, so therefore, असक्तः – without bothering about the future, without brooding over the past, live in the present and do what you have to do whole heartedly. सततम् – this you have to continue and what will happen as a result of that, असक्तः हि आचरन् कर्म and if you keep what you have to do, with a healthy attitude, परम् आप्नोति पूरुषः – such an intelligent कर्मयोगि will ultimately attain मोक्षः. परम् means मोक्षः. Such an intelligent कर्मयोगि with a healthy attitude will certainly attain मोक्षः, not immediately, as I said कर्मयोग → purification → ज्ञानयोग → Self-knowledge → मोक्षः. Therefore अर्जुन take the bow and fight. More in the next class.

तस्मादसक्तः सततं कार्यं कर्म समाचर ।

असक्तो ह्याचरन्कर्म परमाप्नोति पूरुषः ॥ ३-१९॥

Lord कृष्ण talked about the important topic of कर्मयोग from verse no.8 up to verse no.18. And the essence of कर्मयोग is giving more and taking less; it is a life of contribution. And when I say contribution, it need not be monetary alone - many people may be able to do, many people may not be, it can be contribution in the form of knowledge, our energy, our time, our love, even a few kind words is a good contribution only. And this कर्मयोग way of life, कृष्ण looked at from different angles and we gave different names also,

- If you take कर्मयोग as a commandment of the Lord it is called आज्ञा, विधि, or विहित कर्म.
- If you take the same कर्मयोग as a worship of the Lord, expression of my gratitude it is called यज्ञः,
- When you look at the same कर्मयोग as a means of purification, preparing myself for Self-knowledge then the very same कर्मयोग is called चित्त शोधकम्, purifier and
- If you look at the कर्मयोग as a means of maintaining harmony at all levels, harmony within the individual himself, harmony at the level of family, community, religion, society, nation and ultimately even ecological then the same कर्मयोग is called धर्म.

From whichever angle you appreciate कर्मयोग it doesn't matter, one way or the other you have to take to a life of कर्मयोग and then कृष्ण concludes the topic in the 19th verse which we were seeing in the last class, तस्मात् असक्तः सततम् कार्यम् कर्म समाचर. Since कर्मयोग is required for all the people for spiritual progress, अर्जुन you also have to necessarily follow कर्मयोग and what is the advantage of doing that, असक्तः हि आचरन् कर्म परम् आप्नोति पूरुषः – you will attain the highest result known as धर्म पुरुषार्थ or मोक्षः. And in this context, we should remember a point which is important that when कृष्ण says कर्मयोग will lead to मोक्षः, we have to remember कर्मयोग cannot directly lead to मोक्षः, कर्मयोग will lead to मोक्षः through ज्ञानयोग, that is कर्मयोग will prepare a person for ज्ञानयोग, In fact, he himself will get interested in ज्ञानयोग. It will be very natural and the ज्ञानयोग will directly lead to liberation. Therefore अर्जुन कर्मयोग is important and कर्मयोग involves doing the duty and as a क्षत्रिय your duty is maintaining social harmony and for the maintenance of harmony whatever obstacles is there you have to remove from the society and now दुर्योधन happens to be the obstacle for harmony and therefore you have to fight this धर्म युद्धम्, that is महाभारत war. And even though it is a painful duty, not a pleasant duty, as the people say when they inaugurate the function or give the vote of thanks, they say it is my pleasant duty to give the vote of thanks even though it maybe unpleasant to the hearer, at least he got the mike and therefore it is pleasant for him. So the very fact that he says it is a pleasant duty indicates that there are many unpleasant duties in life and अर्जुन this happens to be one, therefore, do not look upon it as an unpleasant duty, you take it as your duty and do the action. Up to this we saw, in the last class. Continuing;

Verse No .20

कर्मणैव हि संसिद्धिमास्थिता जनकादयः ।

लोकसङ्ग्रहमेवापि सम्पश्यन्कर्तुमर्हसि ॥ ३-२०॥

कर्मणा एव हि संसिद्धिम् आस्थिताः जनक-आदयः ।

लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् एव अपि सम्पश्यन् कर्तुम् अर्हसि ॥ ३-२०॥

हि जनक-आदयः कर्मणा एव संसिद्धिम् आस्थिताः । (त्वम्) अपि लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् एव सम्पश्यन् कर्तुम् अर्हसि ।

So after hearing this अर्जुन may still feel diffident, a diffidence which is common to all the people especially all the family people. They often say that स्वामिजि remaining in the family and tied down with endless responsibilities do you think that it is possible for us to get liberation. And many people have concluded that it is impossible because they off & on come and tell that 'staying in the गृहस्थ आश्रम one will not get मोक्षः and all and one has to run away from the whole thing and only if you take to संन्यास then it is possible' this is the staunch opinion of the majority of गृहस्थs. And you need not feel bad about that because अर्जुन himself has the same diffidence. He often asks In fact, he wants to take to संन्यास right now and अर्जुन's case is still worse, because an ordinary गृहस्थ has to take care of one family only, but a क्षत्रिय, a ruler has to take care of the whole society or nation. Imagine the prime minister attending गीता class with all kinds of worries, December 6 is coming, all over security you have to arrange. By that time, other people are saying protest march, assembly elections lost, all kinds of headache, how can a ruler think of spirituality. Therefore, अर्जुन may feel diffident, therefore कृष्ण says, अर्जुन never feel diffident, even a गृहस्थ remaining in गृहस्थ आश्रम can follow spirituality and attain मोक्षः. As I have said every आश्रम has got its own plus point and its own minus point, the only thing is 'the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence.' Therefore you interview some संन्यासि's privately they may tell that by mistake we got caught, and the संन्यासि's cases are worst cases because it is one way traffic. गृहस्थs are always in an advantageous position because they can anytime switch over to संन्यास आश्रम, but the संन्यासि is in a very big disadvantageous position he can never renounce renunciation. To संन्यास you cannot give संन्यास. Therefore every आश्रम has got its own plus and minus point, if you know how to handle the minus point you can utilize the आश्रम. That is why in our tradition every stage of life is called an आश्रम. It is not that the संन्यासि alone lives in an आश्रम and we think house is not an आश्रम, the very fact that tradition says गृहस्थ आश्रम it means that you can convert your house also into आश्रम and we can convert an आश्रम also into a house, because आश्रम is also made of bricks and mortar only and especially modern आश्रम is like any other house, because there also all the modern facilities are there, TV is there, internet is there, all kinds of things are there because आश्रम requires more, computers are there, this is there, that is there, everything is there. Now what is the difference between आश्रम and house: निवृत्त रागस्य गृहम् तपोवनम्. It is the attachment that makes the difference. If the attachment is there any building is a house, if detachment is there any building is an आश्रम. A संन्यासि is supposed to have detachment therefore his residence is called आश्रम. Many people have confusion, when they want to come to my residence, they wonder, what should I say about your residence. Should I call it an आश्रमम्? Because it is another apartment, upside there are other apartments and I am in another apartment and therefore, should I call it a flat, should it call it an apartment, should it call it a house, should it call it an आश्रम, they are confused. So now what makes the difference, there is no difference at all, therefore I say you call it residence. Because it is a place where I reside. Reside अति अस्मिन् इति residence. Therefore you call it residence you need not have confusion. So therefore the difference between house and आश्रम is not an external difference, it is a difference caused by the people who are inside there. And therefore कृष्ण wants to say that गृहस्थs can remain in that आश्रम and attain liberation, even rulers can continue to occupy the responsible position and still attain liberation. And कृष्ण wants to give an example and that example is popular example, taken from the उपनिषत् itself and here the example is of जनक महाराज. And we find in the बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् there are several occasions where the kings are very learned people. गार्ग्य-अजातशत्रु संवाद, there is a discussion in बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत्, a learned brahmin goes to अजातशत्रु and tells that I know ब्रह्मन् and then he gives a description of ब्रह्मन् and अजातशत्रु says, if you know only this much about ब्रह्मन् you have not understand properly, your knowledge is incomplete. एतावन्नू (२-१-१४), only this much you know, he asks? But again that brahmin who is very learned, whose life is dedicated to learning, he also doesn't keep his false ego, surrenders to अजातशत्रु and says if there is more knowledge that I should get I surrender to you, you please teach me, उप त्वा यानीति (२-१-१४). Then अजातशत्रु, a क्षत्रिय, a ruler answers.

प्रतिलोमम् च एतद् यद् ब्राह्मणः क्षत्रियम् उपेयात् ब्रह्म मे वक्ष्यतीति ॥
बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् २-१-१५ ॥

Everything seems to be ulta, प्रतिलोमम् means what: everything seems to be reverse, because brahmins are supposed to be the centers of learning, who have to teach क्षत्रिय, वैश्य and शूद्र and here I am a क्षत्रिय ruler and I have to teach you. But doesn't matter, व्येव त्वा ज्ञपयिष्यामि इति । अजातशत्रु a ruler teaches ब्रह्मविद्या, it is an important section in बृहदारण्यक known as अजातशत्रु ब्राह्मणम् / गार्ग्य ब्राह्मणम्. That means what: We had जनक and जनक occurs several times in बृहदारण्यक, thus अजातशत्रु is there, जनक is there, they were all responsible गृहस्थs and they could remain in कर्मयोग, purify the mind, acquire the knowledge and be liberated and even teach others. Therefore अर्जुन why should you run away from life; be where you are and gain knowledge. Therefore He says: जनकादयः – people like जनकः, अश्वपति, अजातशत्रु and others, संसिद्धिम् आस्थिताः – they have attained liberation, how, कर्मणा एव – remaining in a life of duties or responsibilities, without running away from responsibility, without changing the आश्रम these people have attained liberation which proves it is possible. And therefore what should अर्जुन do now, follow धर्म युद्ध, purify the mind, continue in गृहस्थ आश्रम, gain Self-knowledge and be a गृहस्थ ज्ञानि. In the 4th chapter also, कृष्ण will talk about गृहस्थ ज्ञानि. And with this example, कृष्ण has given confidence for अर्जुन and with this example the topic of कर्मयोग is over.

Now from the 2nd line of this verse, कृष्ण is changing into another topic. कर्मयोग topic is over with the 20th verse 1st line. Now from this second line we are going to have a new topic. What is the background for this topic we should know? Now कृष्ण said in two verses before, that is verse no.17 and 18, that कर्मयोग is important for purification and later for attaining knowledge and once a person has become a ज्ञानि then he is a free person and after becoming free for him कर्मयोग is not compulsory because means is a must only until the end is accomplished. So for a ज्ञानि कर्मयोग is not required, therefore कृष्ण said ज्ञानि can do कर्म, ज्ञानि need not do कर्म also.

न चास्य सर्वभूतेषु कश्चिदर्थव्यपाश्रयः ॥ ३-१८॥

कृष्ण has said that ज्ञानि doesn't require कर्म. Very careful, कृष्ण doesn't say, ज्ञानि should not do कर्म. ज्ञानि doesn't require कर्म, he may do, he may not do, he can sit in a place like रमण महर्षि or a तपोवन महाराज who was just sitting in a cave without bothering about anything, a passive ज्ञानि or like शङ्कर and others a ज्ञानि can be hectically active also. Now अर्जुन can take advantage of that verse because अर्जुन wants to get out of कर्म now, because some excuse or the other you want to get away from the painful duty, therefore there is a chance that अर्जुन claims that I am a ज्ञानि and there is no way of testing, ज्ञानम् cannot be tested with a tester. Is there any test, there is no physical criteria, that is why अर्जुन asked

स्थितप्रज्ञस्य का भाषा समाधिस्थस्य केशव ।

Therefore how can I know who is a ज्ञानि and who is not a ज्ञानि? From dress can we make out a ज्ञानि, from beard we can make out, if beard can be a criterion for a ज्ञानि, then no lady can become a ज्ञानि! there would be no use of your all coming to the class, it will be a big problem, so therefore, beard, locked hairs, shaven head cannot be criterion, age cannot be the criterion, nothing can be the criterion. Then what is the criterion for a ज्ञानि? ज्ञानम् is the criterion and ज्ञानम् being within the mind and since the knowledge is not physically visible we have no way of knowing a ज्ञानि. So people often ask, स्वामिजि, please enumerate the present 20th century ज्ञानिन्स. So somebody asked and a संन्यासि was telling, I can tell you about one ज्ञानिन्, what is that? I am the one, because I only know whether I know or not, the second one, how do I know. Therefore अर्जुन can claim that he is a ज्ञानिन् and then he can say that since I am a ज्ञानिन् I don't require कर्म for purification, because already I have accomplished the end and therefore I will go to ऋषीकेश, some reason or the other, then expecting such an argument from अर्जुन, कृष्ण answers in the following portion and what कृष्ण says: अर्जुन even if you are a ज्ञानिन् you have to continue your duties. Even if you are a ज्ञानिन् you have to continue your duties. Naturally the question comes, why should he continue, after all duty is for purification, purification is for liberation and liberation he has already got, why should he do कर्म. कृष्ण answers, we will see the details later, even though you do not require कर्म as long as you are in the society, considering the surrounding society and the environment, for the sake of the society you have to continue to follow धर्म, you don't follow कर्म for your sake, for your benefit but you have to do for the benefit of the society, because you happen to be in the society, you will have to do that and therefore he tells in the 2nd line, लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् एव अपि – for the sake of the well-being of the society, welfare of the society, the upliftment of the society, is called लोक-सङ्ग्रहम्, for that purpose you have to do your duty. So here कृष्ण is introducing this topic based on an important principle in our tradition. Now in our tradition, we say there are three sources of knowledge to find out what is the right way of living, to know what is the धार्मिक way of living we have got three sources. If we do not know the धार्मिक way of living certainly we will live a life according to our whim and fancy, that is called let-go philosophy, let-go philosophy means what: do whatever you like doing, in तमिळ् it is said: 'do whatever you feel like doing in the name of freedom', it becomes a licentious life, such a रागः- द्वेषः based life, likes-dislikes based life is wild life, प्राकृत पुरुषः he is called, he is not a refined person; refined person is called संस्कृत पुरुषः and if I do not know what is the right way of living and I go according to प्रकृति, प्रकृति means nature-like a child, what discipline a child has got, whatever it wants to do it will do, it wants to go to the bathroom, it goes wherever it is, only the mother knows. This always happens, you bring the child and put it in the स्वामिजि's lap and it goes for the urine, just at that time, the child senses the person, the child doesn't have any do's and dont's. रागः- द्वेषः based life is called प्राकृत life, धर्म-अधर्म based life is called संस्कृत life. If I have to be a refined person, I should not do what I like to do, I should do what is proper. Propriety is more important. Naturally, I should know what is proper and I should know what is improper. So the question, what is the source of knowing धर्म and अधर्म and in our tradition we have got the guidelines.

❖ They say वेदोखिलम् धर्ममूलम्, पूर्वं मीमांसा सूत्रs give this particular knowledge, पूर्वं मीमांसा सूत्र begin, अथातो धर्मः जिज्ञासा – now we are going to analyze what is धर्म, proper way of living, what is the source of knowledge: वेदोखिलम् धर्ममूलम् – the entire वेदs are our scriptures are the primary source of धर्म-अधर्म ज्ञानम्. The human being can never know totally because human beings' knowledge is limited. I discussed before, what we consider as good for some time later it is scientifically proved otherwise, it is not good for humanity. In spite of so much advancement we are not able to find what is good and what is bad. So therefore with limited intellect how can I know. Therefore we said वेद which is supposed to be revelation from the Lord is the primary source which we call as श्रुतिः.

❖ Then we talked about the second source of knowledge, which is called स्मृतिः, 'स्मृतिशीले च तद्विदाम्' ॥ मनुस्मृति २-६ ॥ स्मृतिः means all the secondary literature which is based on the वेदs. What was proper hundred years before, many of the धर्मशास्त्रs rules we are not able to follow, one rule they say is that the bathroom should be 50 feet away, the whole house is now 20×20, now you have to go to the neighbors' house, therefore many of the धर्मशास्त्रs rules we cannot follow because the society is changing and therefore there should be people to understand the spirit of the शास्त्रs and interpret it appropriately according to times and those people who study, assimilate and interpret should be objective people, informed people, interested in the welfare of the society, तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् says:

यथा ते तत्र वर्तेरन् । तथा तत्र वर्तेथाः ॥

How beautiful our वेदs are. They are never rigid. They understand that scriptures have to be flexible and therefore they give the freedom for the human beings to interpret according to times. But they put only certain condition, that the human beings should not have any axe to grind or else he will interpret the शास्त्र to his advantage, 'you have to give maximum दक्षिणा to me', he will say. Therefore he should not be the beneficiary, therefore the second source of knowledge is called स्मृतिः.

❖ Then the third source of knowledge is called शिष्ट आचारः. The way of life lead by responsible members of the society, the elders, the cultured people, the informed people, they are called शिष्टः, शिष्टः means they themselves have been refined by their elders and they have followed such a way of life, therefore they can serve as models for धर्म. And these models, the live-models in the society are called शिष्टः and आचारः means the way of life and शिष्टाचारः means the way of life of the live-models, responsible people.

Of the three sources of knowledge, which one is most powerful: वेद teaches धर्म, the स्मृतिः, secondary literature like even रामायण, महाभारत, भागवतम्, पुराण they are all called स्मृतिः, secondary literature, they also teach धर्म and live-models in the society also (just because I say models, don't think of somebody else, who walk the ramp, wearing something or nothing!) धर्मशास्त्र models I mean, (I am afraid to say Models! they are setting wrong models). So धर्म-शास्त्र models in society, of these three, the third one is the most powerful teacher because the श्रुतिः and स्मृतिः are only in written form, they are cold words, we only hear about them, it has got only an audio effect, I don't see a राम, I don't see विभिषण, I don't see लक्ष्मण, while the live-models give an audio-visual effect, they have got better impact on the society and therefore कृष्ण wants to emphasize here, शिष्टाचारः, otherwise कृष्ण calls here श्रेष्ठः आचारः, instead of शिष्ट श्रेष्ठः is used. श्रेष्ठः means those people who are superior ones. Now the next question is, who are the शिष्टs or श्रेष्ठs? For every individual or child the first and foremost example or model for a child is who you know, all of you know, the first and foremost and most powerful model during the formative period is the mother, therefore mother influences maximum and according to psychologists even right from pregnancy the mothers' thoughts begin to influence. The child knows whether it is welcome outside or not it seems, so if the mother says that that she doesn't want child as already a dozen are there, that is even after naming the earlier child as मङ्गलम् this has happened, therefore they gave the name मङ्गलम् thinking that this will be the last, but it still continues and both of them are not interested or they do what is that test - amniocentesis test, they know this is a girl child and they don't want, they say that the child knows whether it is wanted or not and if the child gets the impression that I am not wanted, both of them are cursing left and right, that child suffers from tremendous complex, inferiority complex etc. And that is why we have got rituals like पुंसवनम्, सीमन्तोन्नयनम् etc., in that they gather people and they create an atmosphere that we are all looking forward to the child's arrival, the child understand it seems and thereafterwards when the child comes out also, what the mother does and what the mother and father talk, the parents think that the child doesn't know the language, but the child knows the atmosphere, the heated atmosphere the child knows, the temperature it understands even though not the language. Therefore the first model is the mother, the next model is the father, माता, पिता. Then the next model is गुरु, because they are all, because if you take the child's life initial few years it is constantly with the mother, once it grows up then only it begins to go to its father, because he is always rrrrrrrrr. Which child will go? After some time only the child will go to the father and then in the गुरुकुल वास, the child lives with the गुरु, therefore गुरु's every action; one student was telling, previously I used to keep the cassettes and distribute and one student lost the cassette and he came and told that the cassette was lost and he thought that I will be shouting for 45 minutes and with all the fear he came and I said doesn't matter, now he says that even though I have talked about not getting angry for years together, but that one experience he keeps remembering all the time, 'स्वामिजि I lost the cassette and you didn't lose your temper', so, therefore it became an important lesson for him, that is only a second's action, one second's action is equivalent to hour's of verbal advice. So, therefore, in बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् it is beautifully said a person grows into a mature human being, if he has gone through three ideal relationships, one is मातृ सम्बन्धः, next is पितृ सम्बन्धः and the next is आचार्य सम्बन्धः, the उपनिषत् says, that person we can give a certificate that he will be a sane person, because he is talking about one person giving about some values about some teaching, then जनक (जनक-याज्ञवल्क्य संवादम् only) wonders, whether the teaching will be proper or not, then this आचार्य says that you need not have any doubt because the one who gives out the teaching is the one who has gone through these three ideal relationships.

बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-१-२ ॥

That means it will be true, so therefore, model No.1 is mother, No.2 is father, No.3 is the गुरु, and No.4 is the ruler of the country. In those days Kings were examples, now-a-days unfortunately the terrible politicians are the models and if those models are not there, we have cricketers and cinema actors with one year rating and torn jeans and button-less shirt and all kinds of things when we cannot provide ideal heroes all the other people will become heroes and the children will hero-worship only through imitations, that is the only way of hero-worship. That is why they always emphasized that the श्रेष्ठs must be responsible, mother must be aware of her responsibility before getting the child. If she wants to be a free bird and she doesn't want to be a responsible mother better she doesn't get a child. Similarly, father must be responsible, गुरु must be responsible and a ruler must be responsible and अर्जुन whether you like or not, you are an important member of society. अर्जुन is in a very popular position because he is an all-rounder, he is a great archer, he is a powerful person, handsome person, he can dance, he can sing, he has even gone to the heavens and conquered enemies, thus he is such an all-rounder and well-known person that whatever he does the society is waiting to follow and the unfortunate thing is we always like to follow the wrong things because it is easier. विश्वामित्र and दुर्वास have done so many wonderful things we will not follow that, we will follow दुर्वास in one thing, in his anger; so whenever people get angry they say even दुर्वास gets angry, why should not I? विश्वामित्र ran with मेनका, you need not follow that, you can follow so many other things, विश्वामित्र discovered गायत्री. Why are you thinking of मेनका, think of गायत्री, so both are connected with विश्वामित्र but why dwell on this. So society is waiting to follow the wrong thing. Therefore अर्जुन you must be an extra responsible person and therefore he wants to emphasize श्रेष्ठः आचारः in these verses. No.21;

Verse No .21

यद्यदाचरति श्रेष्ठस्ततदेवेतरो जनः ।

स यत्प्रमाणं कुरुते लोकस्तदनुवर्तते ॥ ३-२१॥

यत् यत् आचरति श्रेष्ठः तत् तत् एव इतरः जनः ।

सः यत् प्रमाणम् कुरुते लोकः तत् अनुवर्तते ॥ ३-२१॥

यत् यत् श्रेष्ठः आचरति तत् तत् एव इतरः जनः (आचरति)। सः यत् प्रमाणम् कुरुते, लोकः तत् अनुवर्तते ।

So these are all important useful verses to know and follow. श्रेष्ठः यत् यत् आचरति – whatever a श्रेष्ठः पुरुषः, a superior person, a hero, a model does and as I said for a child, श्रेष्ठः पुरुषः is the parents and whatever the parents or the teacher or a ruler does, इतरः जनः तत् एव आचरति – the other people also follow the same thing because human beings are sheepish people, that is why many new fashions come. So one person had a torn pocket, he was smoking or put something and it had torned and he cut that portion and took another piece of cloth in a different color and he did that, that's how the bell-bottom came it seems. Somebody wrong stitching, he had elephantiasis, big legs, for fitting he had, he did for both legs, these people started following that, therefore human minds are sheepish minds, therefore it has got an advantage also, it has got disadvantage also, take advantage of that and what do you do, do noble things at home, and when you use words also all swearing words, the child picks up, we think the child is sleeping or playing and at the most wrong time the child will repeat when स्वामिजि has come. The child will very very carefully repeat that word and the mother will say why did you repeat that word and the child will say that you only said the other day, so you feel like an idiot before the स्वामिजि. From where does the child get all these words? So every word I use, every action I do, if the father gets up early morning and does the पूजा, the child will also do दीपाराधन, etc., father lights up the cigarette, the child also will also do with the pencil or the pen in the mouth, the child will repeat the same thing, therefore, सः यत् प्रमाणम् कुरुते – whatever the श्रेष्ठः पुरुषः sets as a standard, प्रमाणम् means standard, whatever he sets as a standard at home or in the गुरुकुल or in the society, especially when the red signal comes, we can see everybody goes, that if there is one person who is waiting there because of red signal you begin to feel like the black sheep now, and you stop for red signal the person behind shouts at you, what kind of person you are, better go, this is how we find one person does, whether it is पल्लवन् bus or श्रेष्ठः पुरुषः because he has green bus, for him the green signal is there everywhere! and once पल्लवन् and everybody also goes, so everybody's action consistently somebody violates and we also tend to do that and still worse, if you don't violate we begin to feel bad, that is still terrible, सः यत् प्रमाणम् कुरुते लोकः तत् अनुवर्तते, लोक here means people, follow that only,

Verse No .22

न मे पार्थास्ति कर्तव्यं त्रिषु लोकेषु किञ्चन ।

नानवाप्तमवाप्तव्यं वर्त एव च कर्मणि ॥ ३-२२॥

न मे पार्थ अस्ति कर्तव्यम् त्रिषु लोकेषु किञ्चन ।

न अनवाप्तम् अवाप्तव्यम् वर्ते एव च कर्मणि ॥ ३-२२॥

हे पार्थ! (यद्यपि) मे त्रिषु लोकेषु किञ्चन कर्तव्यम् न अस्ति, अनवाप्तम् अवाप्तव्यम् च न (अस्ति, तथा अपि अहम्) कर्मणि वर्ते एव ।

So here कृष्ण gives himself as an example. So not only माता पिता गुरु should be models, they should give more good models and heroes for children. A society is an ideal society, refined society which can give healthy models and heroes to the children. You take all the पुराणs and take the characters, you will find that they serve as ideal model, especially for children you will find आञ्जनेय is always the hero of the children because he is Mr. Universe, with muscles all over and he is ready to do any kind of feat, crosses the ocean and if राम wants the herb he doesn't go on plucking the herb, the whole mountain he plucks and when the रक्षस's come like mosquitoes he destroys., like मशक he kills. So children naturally will love, because at that time you want it, but you will find that even though आञ्जनेय does all these things, through that story they will teach important values also.

आञ्जनेय goes and then he searches for सीता all over and then he goes to रावण's अन्तःपुरम्, the harems where many ladies are there and then he searches there and comes back and feels very bad. I have committed a big sin going to the harem of a king and where all ladies are there and that also they are sleeping, lying down, I have committed a big mistake, I am not supposed to do that and he feels guilty and there afterwards he consoles himself that what I can do, if I have to search for सीता, a women, where will I search, not in a pot shop. Therefore if you want to look for a cow you will see among the cows only. Therefore I have not done any mistake, even though I went all-over, in my mind all the time I was looking for, thinking of सीता whom I look upon as universal mother. My mind has never been polluted, therefore I need not feel guilty. Through आञ्जनेय they are indirectly teaching what should be the attitude of a male towards a female, मातृवत् परदारांश्च परद्रव्याणि लोष्ठवत्. The culture says that look upon every women other than your sister or wife as a mother, and after searching all over, आञ्जनेय fails to spot सीता and you know what he does, I have done everything, now I know what mistake I did. I was so overconfident that I thought that I myself can accomplish this task I never remembered the lord, therefore now I know that. Human ingenuity alone is not enough, human strength alone is not enough you require the grace of the Lord. The powerful आञ्जनेय, the He-man आञ्जनेय just closes his eyes and says,

नमोऽस्तु रामाय सलक्ष्मणाय देव्यै च तस्यै जनकात्मजार्यै ।

नमोऽस्तु रुद्रेन्द्रयमानिलेभ्यो नमोऽस्तु चन्द्रार्कमरुद्गणेभ्यः ॥

I know that strength must be supported by faith in God, devotion to God, therefore unknowingly when I am talking about आञ्जनेय, healthy attitude towards the Lord, healthy attitude towards women and again लक्ष्मण is another beautiful example, he is also a powerful person, highly restless, आदिशेष अवतारम्, so hissing like the snake, very very powerful and when सुग्रीव shows various ornaments to लक्ष्मण, to राम and लक्ष्मण to identify whether these ornaments belong to सीता or someone, लक्ष्मण says,

नाहम् जानामि केयूरे नाहम् जानामि कङ्कणे ॥ नूपुरे त्वभिजानामि
नित्यम् पादाभिवन्दनात् ॥ वाल्मीकि रामायण ४-६-२२,२३ ॥

राम, I don't know which one is the ear ornament, which is the nose ornament, which is the neck ornament, I have never starred on सीता with that intention but I can very well recognize, the नूपुर, that leg ornament, anklet ornament I can recognize because I was regularly doing नमस्कार to सीता like my mother. Thus you will find that throughout पुराण, we have got powerful people, they are learned people, they are strong people, they had devotion, they had healthy attitude towards money, गुरु, other people, women, thus ideal models we have to present and if we don't have proper models then we will have all kinds of violent models, complaining what is happening in TV and cinema, you will find that they get all kinds of unhealthy attitude and that is what कृष्ण emphasizes here, elders are responsible for the next generation, अर्जुन, you are responsible for the next generation. Therefore, act as you should.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 22-25

Up to verse no.20, Lord कृष्ण talked about the importance of कर्म, doing one's duty, in the case of a self-ignorant person, an अज्ञानि. अज्ञानि has to do कर्म because, through कर्म alone he can purify the mind and a purified mind alone can attain knowledge and a wise person alone can attain liberation. And there afterwards कृष्ण said once a person has attained wisdom then he does not require कर्म, because once the end is attained the means become redundant for him. Therefore, a ज्ञानि does not require कर्म. And this is the topic of कर्मयोग which कृष्ण concluded in verse no.20. Now after hearing this, अर्जुन may raise an argument for which कृष्ण gives the answer, a hypothetical argument, that is: अर्जुन may claim that I am a ज्ञानि, a wise person and since I am a ज्ञानि I don't require कर्म to purify the mind because the very presence of ज्ञानम् proves the purification of the mind and the very presence of purification or purity proves that he doesn't require कर्म, therefore अर्जुन can claim that I can get away from my duty, because I am a ज्ञानि. And if I don't require कर्म or कर्मयोग then I need not do my duty which happens to very very unpleasant duty in this context. In fact, if it is any other कर्म अर्जुन would have jumped at it but this कर्म is very unpleasant and therefore that argument is possible on the part of अर्जुन and imagining such an argument from अर्जुन, कृष्ण gives the answer in these verses from 21 onwards and here कृष्ण says अर्जुन even if you are a ज्ञानि you have to do your स्वधर्म, your कर्म. And for what purpose, कृष्ण says I do agree that you don't require कर्म for your purification, you don't require कर्म for your getting knowledge, you don't require कर्म for your liberation, even though you don't require, as long as you are in the society you have to serve as a model for other members of the society and the other members happen to be spiritually ignorant and since the other members require कर्म, you have to set an example by performing कर्म, not for your sake, but for teaching the society and in this context कृष्ण talks about certain general principles and that is according to our scriptures, there are different sources of learning the proper way of living, धार्मिक way of living, one can and one should learn from different sources. If a person doesn't learn the धार्मिक way of living then the person will go according to his रागः and द्वेषः and a life in keeping with my whims and fancies will be improper life, it will be प्राकृत जीवितम्. And therefore one has to change the life from प्राकृत to संस्कृत, from wild-life to a decent cultured-life, for that I should know the proper way of living, for that I require the source of knowledge, in संस्कृत, we call it धर्म प्रमाणानि. प्रमाण means source of knowledge, धर्म means right way of living, which will lead to liberation and धर्म-प्रमाण means sources for knowing about the right way of living and according to our scriptures three sources are there, one is the वेदs - the original source and the second is the स्मृतिः ग्रन्थs - the secondary scriptural literature which are based on the वेदs, like इतिहासs, पुराणs, स्मृतिः, etc., and thirdly and most importantly, the lifestyle of cultured people, the lifestyle of the ideal models of society, the lifestyle of responsible elders of the society and as I said in the last class, of these three sources the lifestyle of elders is a more powerful medium of communication, because the books have got only audio effect, whereas the lifestyle of elders have got a video effect, so one action is equal to thousands of books. Suppose a father tells or a son reads in the book, सत्यम् वद, सत्यम् वद, सत्यम् वद, tell the truth, speak the truth, speak the truth, he reads in all the scriptures and the child has learned this or heard about this and one day a phone call comes and son takes the phone and from the other side, from the office they ask, I would like to talk to so and so and father tells the son that tell them I am not here and the son also is an idiot like father and the son says, my father says that he is not here. This one instance is enough to rule out thousand हरिश्चन्द्र पुराणम्, books and books of literature can be just knocked off, canceled by one instance, that father does at the formative age of the child. Now tell me which is powerful, the action of the parents or the advices of the वेदs and स्मृतिs and इतिहासs. Our scriptures themselves say that the life of elders, their teaching is more intense. And therefore कृष्ण said यत् यत् आचरति श्रेष्ठः तत् तत् एव इतरः जनः – whatever the models of the society preach, not by their words, but by their actions, that is the most powerful teaching and as I said again in the last class, mother is the model for the child, father is the model for the child, माता पिता, next the school teachers, they never unfortunately know their responsibilities. They never come to the school punctually and what kind of punctuality the children will have if the teachers are not punctual, anything for that matter, therefore the teachers are responsible and the rulers are responsible and any other elder and here कृष्ण argues, अर्जुन whether you like or not, you are a hero in the society. Like a cricket hero, or a TV hero whether you like or not, the whole society is watching you, see what is happening to the President of America, the whole society is watching, millions of dollars are spent for one statement misleading the people, so you can imagine what is the worth of the statement coming from a responsible person in the society, it can shatter the whole world, it can create big moral problems, ethical issues and therefore अर्जुन whether you like or not, you occupy an important position. At this time, you may feel that it is unfortunate, because that is why, once you have a status, it is very nice to enjoy the status but along with the status goes responsibility also. And when responsibility comes, the man of status says that it would have been fine if I had been an ordinary person in the society, because responsibilities crush. But अर्जुन whether you like or not, you are a responsible member and therefore do your duty, not for your sake, but to lead the society properly. And कृष्ण wants to give himself as an example. अर्जुन I am an अवतार, in fact, I am greater than even a ज्ञानि, because at least a ज्ञानि was a संसारि before and later he became liberated, but an अवतार is one, we would be seeing about अवतार later, is one born ज्ञानि. But even though I am अवतार of the Lord, once I have become your driver, what a position, once I have become your driver I have to follow the rules, I will have to wash the horses, I will have to wash the chariot, I cannot say that I am the ruler of the world, nothing doing, once I am in a particular position, I have to follow स्वधर्म and as a गृहस्थ I have to follow अतिथि देवो भवः and when a कुचेल comes, even though I am the Lord of the Universe, I have to do पादपूजा because that is again the teaching of the scriptures, I don't claim that I am the Lord and therefore I will not touch the feet of कुचेल, let him do worship to me, no. Therefore, just as I am accepting my duties, whether it is painful or pleasant and कृष्ण also had to kill his own uncle. Therefore कृष्ण quotes himself as an example here, in this श्लोक no. 22, हे पार्थ! मे त्रिषु लोकेषु कर्तव्यम् अस्ति. I need not perform any duty to purify my mind, because as the Lord I am ever pure, as a ज्ञानि I am ever pure, through these actions I have nothing to accomplish, त्रिषु लोकेषु – in all the three worlds, I need not accomplish anything, न अनवाप्तम् अवाप्तव्यम् – there is no पुरुषार्थ which is not accomplished by me. I need not attain धर्म, I need not attain अर्थ, I need not attain काम, I need not attain मोक्ष, all the four पुरुषार्थs are part of me, that is why we have the word भगवान् for the Lord. It is a beautiful word, I just talked about this in my introduction, the word भगवान् is a beautiful word, भग means six-fold wealth. भगः, means six-fold wealth and वान् means the possessor, the one who enjoys, in full measure and what are the six-fold wealth.

ज्ञानवैराग्ययोश्चैव षण्णाम् भग इतीरणा ॥ विष्णु पुराण ६-७-७४ ॥

1) ऐश्वर्यम् means power, overlordship and not wealth. In तमिळ् ऐश्वर्यम् is taken as wealth, but according to संस्कृत ऐश्वर्यम् means ईश्वरस्य भवः, ईश्वर means ruler, ईश्वरस्य भवः means the status of being the ruler, controller of everything, overlordship is ऐश्वर्यम्.

2) and the second one is वीर्यम्, वीर्यम् means valour, courage,

- 3) then the third one is यशः, यशः means fame and
- 4) the fourth one is श्रिः, prosperity, so overlordship, courage, fame, prosperity,
- 5) ज्ञानम् – knowledge, and
- 6) finally वैराग्यम्, वैराग्यम् means what: the independence, freedom, freedom from all dependence is called वैराग्यम्.

All these six-fold wealth in full measure, समग्रस्य, suppose I have a few rupees, it cannot be called भग, all the wealth, Similarly, I have power over my servants, that is itself doubtful, power over my driver, doubtful, even if it is there that will not come under भग, absolute overlordship, absolute courage, absolute fame, each one in absolute measure put together all is called भगः and भगवान् the one who has got all these six in absolute measure. Now tell me, what भगवान् has to accomplish in the world, कृष्ण says, अनवाप्तम् अवाप्तव्यम् न अस्ति – there is nothing to be accomplished by me which has not yet been accomplished, but look at me, वर्ते एव च कर्मणि – still I am busy doing what I have to do, according to my वर्ण and my आश्रम. वर्ण means as a क्षत्रिय and आश्रम means as a गृहस्थ, what I have to do I do. So when I myself cannot escape from my duty how can you do that, therefore अर्जुन even if you are a ज्ञानि, you have to do your duty. Continuing;

यदि ह्यहं न वर्तेयं जातु कर्मण्यतन्द्रितः ।

मम वर्तमानुवर्तन्ते मनुष्याः पार्थ सर्वशः ॥ ३-२३॥

यदि हि अहम् न वर्तेयम् जातु कर्मणि अतन्द्रितः ।

मम वर्तमानुवर्तन्ते मनुष्याः पार्थ सर्वशः ॥ ३-२३॥

यदि हि अहम् अतन्द्रितः (सन्) कर्मणि जातु न वर्तेयम्, (तर्हि) हे पार्थ! मनुष्याः सर्वशः मम वर्तमानुवर्तन्ते ।

So here कृष्ण says what will happen if the elders are irresponsible, if people in position misbehave what will be the consequences? He says the entire society wants to sheepishly follow the so-called roll-models. As I said in the last class, when the healthy models are not available then the cinema actors and actress and all those people will become models and the whole society will be in utter confusion, which कृष्ण calls as सङ्कर, सङ्कर means confusion. Exactly like a traffic jam. Suppose there is red signal and people all are waiting and then one person looks around and nobody is coming and he therefore just goes and the others just watch, they only want somebody to create the precedent then you will find that all the people will follow, then there will be confusion and there is traffic jam, imagine in the entire society at all levels the violation of harmony taking place, the violation of harmony with regard to sociological disorder. What will happen, that is what कृष्ण says here, यदि हि अहम् न वर्तेयम् - supposed I do not perform my duty and that too how, अतन्द्रितः - tirelessly, if I don't perform my duty, that is enthusiastically I should perform, when I don't get the benefit, when I have to do it for others' sake often our tendency will be to do it grumbling and murmuring. कृष्ण says No. Even if you don't get any benefit, you have to follow certain things to teach others and when you do that, do it enthusiastically, do it sincerely, do it whole heartedly because even though you don't see any gross benefit, subtly you are teaching your family members, at least you are teaching your family members that itself is great. And therefore, अतन्द्रितः - tirelessly if I don't do my duty, जातु - at all the time, then, मम वर्त्म अनुवर्तन्ते - so the whole society is waiting for me, so even the thieves quote Lord कृष्ण by saying that कृष्ण stole butter, therefore why can't I steal. कृष्ण did so many other things, they are not willing to do that, still they want to follow with regard to those things which are very very convenient to them. Society is like that, therefore कृष्ण says, मम वर्त्म अनुवर्तन्ते -

the people will follow my way of life, so वर्त्म means way of life. That is why रामायण when you say, अयनम् means way of life, path and राम अयनम्, the path of life which was followed by राम, which is indirect teaching. So मम वर्त्म अनुवर्तन्ते मनुष्याः, all the human beings will follow me alone, सर्वशः – by all means, therefore if I go wrong, it will affect the entire society. And that is why, they tell this story, how because of human sheepish behavior problems can be created. It seems that there was a ब्राह्मण who went to रामेश्वरम् to take bath and he had a copper vessel and he wanted to keep this on the sand and take bath, he kept there and then he went, then he was worried, suppose somebody takes this copper vessel there will be a problem, therefore he dug a hole, put the vessel and covered it with sand, so that nobody will know and he went. After going some distance he thought, the beach is so big, how will I know where I have hidden the copper vessel, some indication must be there, I put any other indication, then persons will have curiosity and they may dig. Then he thought, to make a शिवलिङ्ग out of sand, so nobody will suspect and it will be easier for me after I come back, therefore he made a शिवलिङ्ग and went for bath and being a ब्राह्मण he has got elaborate मन्त्रs, अघमर्षणसूक्तम् he has to chant, prayer and तर्पण and all those things he had to. Then another person came for bath and he saw that one person is taking bath and there is a शिवलिङ्ग made out of sand, therefore he thought perhaps this is the tradition in रामेश्वरम्, because राम had done that perhaps you have to make a सैकत लिङ्गः – a लिङ्ग made out of sand, perhaps you have to do, offer prayers and then only one should take bath, he thought that that is the tradition, therefore he wanted to follow the tradition, because for many things we don't know what is the source at all, because ours is a 5,000 years old, 10,000 years old tradition and how do we know where it all began. Therefore he made a शिवलिङ्ग prayed and went for bath, Then a third person came he saw two people taking bath, two शिवलिङ्गs. Therefore he was a very definite that there is a rule that you have to make a शिवलिङ्गम्, worship and then only one should take bath. Then fourth, fifth and hundreds of people came and all over the beach, there was sand लिङ्गम् and this poor ब्रह्मन् finished his bath and came, he has got शिवलिङ्गम् all around. Now how will he know where his copper vessel is, under which शिवलिङ्गम् is this copper vessel hiding, so this person said,

गतानुगति को लोको न लोकः पारमार्थिकः । सेतौ सैकत लिङ्गेन नष्टम् मे ताम्र भाजनम् ॥

Can you follow this: गतानुगति को लोकः – the whole world seems to be sheepish, if one person wears a jeans which is torn, I saw in one TV program, they make fresh jeans and then with the guns they make the holes and then it has got more price it seems. Somebody wears a worn-out jeans and that becomes the fashion and people prefers it, that is how some dishes are made out of old remaining stale food and then later it became delicacy and people make the food stale and make it now-a-days, I don't name the dish and hurt some people, some dishes are discovered like that they say. So गतानुगति को लोकः, न लोकः पारमार्थिकः – no human being wants to think, reason out and do and because of this habit, सेतौ सैकत लिङ्गेन – because of this sand लिङ्गम् made by me in सेतु, रामेश्वर सेतु, disadvantages because of this sheepish tendencies and there are also advantages. So therefore, if the children are following you, you have got advantages and disadvantages, the disadvantages are that you have to be responsible and alert. The advantages are that you can teach your children more by action, very simple, without using any world,. Similarly, teachers also. therefore कृष्ण says, मम वर्त्म अनुवर्तन्ते मनुष्याः पार्थ सर्वशः. अहम् कर्म न कुर्याम् चेत् इमे लोकाः उत्सीदेयुः, सङ्करस्य कर्ता स्याम् इमाः प्रजाः च उपह्न्याम् ।

So कृष्ण says once I violate my स्वधर्म, i.e., I don't do my social duties which is पञ्च महायज्ञ and this स्वधर्म also will come under those duties only, if I don't do that then the other people also will violate the स्वधर्म. The consequences will not be felt immediately. Because always they say, that भगवान् does not punish immediately, for any violation of Lord's harmony he doesn't punish immediately. Even from health angle. If you violate the rules of health with regard to eating or with regard to the water you drink or any other health rule also, भगवान् has given enough immunity and strength, initially some indications will be given but only after years of violation the consequences will be felt, 'king punishes then and there whereas providence waits and punishes.' Even for the violation of ecological harmony we are not punished immediately, if one person cuts a tree in front of his house not that tomorrow the whole Madras people will die, that is not going to happen, one person does, another person does, another person does, all the houses are converted into flats, 32 flats, 54 flats, etc., population of human beings increase, population of trees decrease, the population of cars increases, if you violate all the rules not that immediately the result will be felt but in due course, the whole health of the society will vary gradually deteriorate, perhaps we may discover the fact and sometime it might have become even irreversible. You might be aware of famous or notorious Chembur fog. Have you heard about it? In मुम्बई, an area called Chembur, above that there is a fog which is permanently there, from aeroplane you can see it seems, that the Chembur people are not able to do anything. When I went to one house I asked that lady, she says, 'I have to live with that, I cannot do anything, I cannot even shift from here because we are here for the last 45 years, we cannot uproot ourselves and settle somewhere, we have to live with that.’ She has got wheezing problems and all kinds of health problems whole thing caused by that chemical fog. There is no remedy at all. Imagine if the same things happens everywhere, what will happen? Therefore what कृष्ण says is consequences will not be felt immediately, but gradually we are destroying the creation and the first person who violated the धर्म is ultimately responsible for that. So here कृष्ण says: इमे लोकाः उत्सीदेयुः – so all these people will perish, not immediately, but ultimately there will be total disorderliness and many types of diseases, doctors suspect because of the disorderliness and our way of life, using fertilizers now natural food is costing more, natural food is costing more. What भगवान् has given free, we have to pay more. Thus, because of fertilizers, because of chlorine, using this and that, they suspect many of the diseases, including cancer they are suspecting is because of unhealthy way of living. Therefore कृष्ण says, इमे लोकाः उत्सीदेयुः – they will perish, अहम् कर्म न कुर्याम् चेत् – if I do not do my duty, if I do not set an example, if I don’t serve as a model. And how will I destroy, not directly, सङ्करस्य च कर्ता स्याम् – by creating confusion in the society with regard to their duties, सङ्कर means वर्ण सङ्कर and आश्रम सङ्कर, with regard to their duties they will be utterly confused and by way of that, इमाः प्रजाः अहम् उपह्वयाम् – I will destroy all these people. So about this सङ्कर and वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म I will be discussing elaborately in the 4th chapter, I would like to give one relevant point, here. So what should be the basis to choose a profession? Suppose I want to choose a profession, what should be the basis of choosing the profession. Now the वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म has got a provision for that. All the professions must be promoted, all the vocations are important, all the arts must be protected, all the sciences must be protected, music must be protected, dance must be protected, so with regard to the choice of profession what should be the condition.

The शास्त्रs say when one chooses a profession it can be based upon two things,

1) one is based upon one's inclination, talents, गुण based कर्म, गुण अनुसारि कर्म, which is very good and which is very ideal because when I choose a profession, which I love, which I can do very well then the greatest advantage is what, that I will get satisfaction, I will enjoy what I am doing. In fact, enjoyment becomes the primary thing, the salary becomes incidental thing and there is no strain. I will look forward to Monday. When I love what I do, I look forward to Monday. When I hate what I do, I look forward to Friday. I look forward to my Sunday classes, you know why, because I love it. Friday Saturday is called weekend because you are weakened; why you are weakened, not the physical strain, you will never know the physical strain when you do a job with love, when you love the job physical strain will never be felt, but when it is done as a burden, as it is done to earn for livelihood, as it is done to double the income, not only husband but wife also has to work and even unfortunately in many schools also the teachers come because they have to augment the income, not because they would love to share the values and educate the children, but they want salary and therefore let me go for teaching profession and many teachers do that without love and that affects the children, that affects the future generation. In Schools and all these problems are there, therefore, when I choose the profession that I love, that is गुण is one criterion or condition.

2) And the other thing that was followed is जन्म that is the birth, which is the most notorious caste system now-a-days it has become, caste system is choosing the profession based on one's जन्म if a person is not able to choose based on one's गुण. The जाति was kept as a basis because the advantages are that the child is exposed to father's profession, right from very very early age and the child learns from imitation, haven't you seen, a doctor's child will convert every pen and pencil into an injection needle, because it says that I will inject like the father, the child of a musician hears music even when he is in the womb of the mother, he is exposed to that and therefore they thought that the child has got lot of advantages and therefore they said he can choose the profession of the father, even now you watch, this month is music month, almost every musician is promoting his son or daughter in which field, music field and they will talk about it as a plus point, their whole family is music family; Maharajapuram Santhanam family, 4 generations music; so they have in their genes. And in India, even occupying the दिल्ली throne seems to be based on जाति or जन्म! It is in our blood and therefore we would not give up. Therefore the शास्त्र says, let it be जाति based or गुण based but the शास्त्र's warning is - now in the जाति based also the advantage is that all professions are protected, because परम्परा a weaving person, this particular art, this particular music, everything is protected, that family takes care of that profession, but what शास्त्र warns is - let the profession be not choosed based on money. Once money becomes criterion, then there will be lot of problems there will be certain profession where everybody goes. For some days, it was bank, bank, everywhere banks, because less work and more salary or no work and more salary, I have not gone to any bank and then thereafter sometime everybody computer, computer, computer and you will find that the certain profession, there will be heavy competition, cheating, cut-throat all those things and there will be certain professions where nobody will come forward. All the ब्राह्मणऱs are taking to वैश्य profession, business or all the ब्राह्मणऱs are taking to क्षत्रिय position, they are occupying MLA and MP position or all the ब्राह्मणऱs are taking to शूद्र profession working under someone. But you will find nobody comes to the ब्राह्मणऱ's profession, what is that: learning the वेदs, learning the valuable scriptures, learning the संस्कृत, how many people are interested. Almost all schools and colleges are abolishing संस्कृत, either teacher is not there or student is not there, they learn every language under the sun, Japanese, French, Italian, Spanish, any language under the sun except संस्कृत. संस्कृत will die, scriptures will die, all these wonderful things, nobody will come forward, scriptures will die, वेद पाठ्यण will die, many ब्राह्मणस themselves I don't know whether they remember गायत्री and when they put उपवीत on son, the son asks, please teach me गायत्री and the father says, son! for you उपनयनम् was done yesterday and you have forgotten, for me it was done 35 years before, how the hell do you expect me to remember!!! Nobody to study वेदस. Atleast in some religion the family considers to dedicate one of the child to the church as a privilege and blessing but here you find, let the neighbors son become a संन्यासि, I am ready to go and do नमस्कारम् also, but I want my son to become an intact, means income intact. We are ready, we glorify the वेदस, we say it is wonderful, but we don't want our children to study the वेदस, our children to study संस्कृत. Now-a-days some children are learning संस्कृत, you know why, because that is one language which you can study without knowing. You know संस्कृत is taught and written in all the other language other than संस्कृत, संस्कृत is taught in English and the answers are written in English. Even without knowing to write, you can write all exams in संस्कृत by writing in English or any other language. And they find that you can get easily 90 marks even without studying which will give me a better advantage to get admission in college, for that purpose, we study संस्कृत not because of संस्कृत भक्ति. So what will happen if it is money based choice of profession, certain very very important things will be lost and if we lose our scriptures, valuable teachings will be lost and therefore अर्जुन the condition for स्वधर्म must be based on गुण or जाति, स्वधर्म should not be based on money or any other convenience. अर्जुन, whether you like it or not, do your क्षत्रिय धर्म. Your गुण is also क्षत्रिय गुण. Your Birth is also क्षत्रिय birth or whether it is गुण based profession or जाति based profession, you have to fight the legitimate war. Therefore never try to escape. उपहन्याम् इमाः प्रजाः. Continuing;

सक्ताः कर्मण्यविद्वांसो यथा कुर्वन्ति भारत ।

कुर्याद्विद्वांस्तथासक्तश्चिकीर्षुर्लोकसङ्ग्रहम् ॥ ३-२५॥

सक्ताः कर्मणि अविद्वांसः यथा कुर्वन्ति भारत ।

कुर्यात् विद्वान् तथा असक्तः चिकीर्षुः लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् ॥ ३-२५॥

हे भारत! अविद्वांसः यथा कर्मणि सक्ताः (कर्म) कुर्वन्ति, तथा लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् चिकीर्षुः विद्वान् असक्तः (सन् कर्म) कुर्यात् ।

So कृष्ण has pointed out that an ignorant person, an अज्ञानि also should do कर्म, a ज्ञानि also should do कर्म, only the purpose is different. an अज्ञानि does कर्म to get purity, knowledge and liberation, in stages, that is the route that is visualized by him. When ज्ञानि performs कर्म, it is not for purity, knowledge or liberation, because ज्ञानि has got all the three, his aim is what? Educating the society with regard to proper living, serving as a model, but both should do कर्म. Now a person may like to know, if both of them are performing कर्म, what will be the difference in their attitude, the attitudinal difference between ज्ञानि's कर्म and अज्ञानि's कर्म and what is difference, कृष्ण says: when अज्ञानि is doing कर्म, अज्ञानि has not attained liberation and not attained liberation means, he is not happy with himself. Bondage means self-insufficiency, self-incompleteness, self-dissatisfaction, not being at home with myself. And naturally, since an अज्ञानि is not happy with himself, when he does any action through the action, he wants to discover fullness and happiness, therefore he performs action for happiness, an अज्ञानि performs action for getting happiness, for getting fulfillment and therefore there is an anxiety also, will I succeed, will I get that, only if I get that I will be fine, if I don't get that I will be terribly disappointed, I would like to get that house, I would like to marry this particular man or this particular woman, I would like to get a child and I want the child to be male or female, everything that I do it is done out of incompleteness and therefore it is for completeness and therefore there is a problem of attachment or expectation or dependence, whereas when a ज्ञानि performs action, he is not doing with a sense of incompleteness, because ज्ञानि by definition is one who has ज्ञानम्. ज्ञानि means the one who has ज्ञानम्. ज्ञानम् अस्य अस्ति इति ज्ञानि, ज्ञानम् means what: knowledge. What knowledge: not two plus two is four, if that knowledge we are talking about, then all of us are ज्ञानिs. When we say ज्ञानम् in Vedantic context, the ज्ञानम् is my nature is fullness, my nature is security, my nature is peace. Whatever I am seeking in life, all those are my intrinsic nature. अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि, अहम् अमृतः अस्मि, I don't require any external support to fulfill me, to complete me, it is with the sense of fullness that ज्ञानि performs action and therefore he doesn't do action for happiness but he does action with happiness, therefore the difference is only in the preposition, that is the only difference. In one, for, in the other, with. When I do for happiness, I am Mr. संसारि. If I do with happiness, I am Mr. मुक्तः. That is why दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says, we have got स्वामि so and so आनन्द comes generally. Of course, there are other स्वामिs with a different title also, what does it indicate, since आनन्द is in his very name itself, it indicates that he is the embodiment of आनन्द and the entire life is lead with आनन्द, So स्वामि so and so आनन्द. And what about all other, opposite of स्वामि, is आसामि (vagabond), all others are आसामिs. This आसामिs is so and so दुःखम्. That we didn't add, we can read that in the face, all the other people do for happiness. And when I do action for happiness, the action is a struggle, when I do action with happiness the action is a game, a sport, in संस्कृत, लीला, ज्ञानि's every action is a लीला, अज्ञानि's every action is a drag. That is why in all languages, how is the life going, everybody has similar phrase, just going, just goes on in English, चल्ताहे in हिन्दि, in every language, nobody will be enthusiastic, that is typical संसार, this is the attitudinal difference, that is said in the श्लोक, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 26-27

Lord कृष्ण first talked about the importance of कर्म, an active life with regard to an ignorant person, an अज्ञानि. अज्ञानि has to perform कर्म because कर्म alone has the capacity to purify the mind, चित्तस्य शुद्धये कर्म: and this is the topic of कर्मयोग in which कर्म is used for the spiritual purification of the mind. Having talked about the importance of कर्म from the standpoint of an ignorant person, now कृष्ण talks about the importance of कर्म from the standpoint of a wise person, not a संन्यासि-wise-person, you should clearly remember, a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि who is very much in the society. As far as संन्यासि-ज्ञानि is concerned he does not have the right to do many of these शास्त्रिय कर्मस, because a संन्यासि formally renounces all the religious activities by removing the sacred thread. At the time of उपनयनम् he formally takes up all the religious activities and at the time of संन्यास he formally renounces all religious activities by symbolically removing the thread and therefore, a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि cannot do most of the कर्मस which are entitled for a गृहस्थ. So कृष्ण is not talking about a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि here, but a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि who is very much in the society. And the question is whether such a ज्ञानि can renounce all the कर्मस, because he doesn't require purification or knowledge, because he is already a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि. And कृष्ण's contention is a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि, even though he doesn't require he will have to continue to do all the duties, religious duties. Many people ask, can I give up सन्ध्यावन्दनम् श्राद्ध as we are all गीता students, that is one of the excuses, therefore, it becomes an ideal thing for giving up. The rule is, the maximum right the गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि has is he can reduce the कर्म and keep it in a skeleton form, if he has been doing 3 hour पूजा or 4 hours पूजा, he can reduce it and spend that time in वेदान्त and not to spend in TV or MTV. He can spend more time in वेदान्त if he feels he is ready, if he is a ज्ञानि, therefore he remains in निदिध्यासनम्, but at least skeletally he will have to maintain his religious duty. And if a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि wants to renounce religious duty, शास्त्र gives only one option he has to formally take संन्यास and quit the home or some other alternative arrangement, but as long as he is a गृहस्थ, religious duty must be maintained. And for what purpose a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि should continue this activity, कृष्ण says: लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् एव अपि. लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् means for teaching the society or for guiding the society, so लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् means social well-being, the well-being of the society, शङ्कराचार्य writes in his commentary to take the world away from अधार्मिक way of living, too much indulgent way of living, too much materialist way of living, people get caught up in materialistic cycle, therefore they have to be reminded that something else is there, लोक-सङ्ग्रहार्थम् कर्म कर्तव्यम्, अर्जुन therefore you do your duty. Then the next question, if a ज्ञानि also performs कर्म for लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् and अज्ञानि also performs कर्म for वित्तशुद्धि, the फलम् is different, one is for the well-being of the world, another for the one's own वित्तशुद्धि, then if both of them are working in the world, what is the difference in their attitude, because externally I don't see any difference, शङ्कराचार्य also, especially the मठाधिपतिs also do elaborate पूजा, 2 or 3 hours, then what is the difference, what is the difference in the attitude? We know the answer, they do the पूजा for लोक-सङ्ग्रहम्, whereas the others do the पूजा for (आत्म-सङ्ग्रहम्) their own well-being. How do you know? In the सङ्कल्प we know.

धान्यम् धनम् पशुम् एकपुत्र लाभम् (we have to change from बहुपुत्र to एकपुत्र)

शत संवत्सरम् दीर्घम् आयुः ॥ श्रीसूक्तम् ॥

If this is the difference in फलम्, what is the difference in the motive or the way in which both of them look at the कर्म? And कृष्ण gave the answer, the difference is an अज्ञानि does the action with attachment whereas ज्ञानि performs the action with detachment, सत्ताः and असत्ताः, सत्तः means with attachment, असत्तः means without attachment. As I said in the last class, one is doing action for happiness, another is doing action with happiness. There is only a change in preposition. When it is for you are a संसारि, when it is with you are a liberated person. When I am working for happiness, indirectly it means now I am not happy, not satisfied, therefore there is a dissatisfaction lingering in the mind of an अज्ञानि there is constant satisfaction in the mind of a ज्ञानि, आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. Now this itself, कृष्ण is going to technically elaborate in the next श्लोक. The simple difference is ज्ञानि has no attachment, अज्ञानि has attachment, is the simple difference, now he wants to present, technically what is the difference between ज्ञानि doing action and अज्ञानि doing action in the later श्लोकs, we will see. No.26;

Verse No .26

न बुद्धिभेदं जनयेदज्ञानां कर्मसङ्गिनाम् ।

जोषयेत्सर्वकर्माणि विद्वान्युक्तः समाचरन् ॥ ३-२६॥

न बुद्धि-भेदम् जनयेत् अज्ञानाम् कर्म-सङ्गिनाम् ।

जोषयेत् सर्व-कर्माणि विद्वान् युक्तः समाचरन् ॥ ३-२६॥

विद्वान् कर्म-सङ्गिनाम् अज्ञानाम् बुद्धि-भेदम् न जनयेत् (किन्तु) युक्तः समाचरन् सर्व-कर्माणि जोषयेत् ।

So here कृष्ण gives an important advice to a ज्ञानि, even though ज्ञानि doesn't require this advice, he knows it, but still कृष्ण clarifies in this श्लोक. This is an another important श्लोक which शङ्कराचार्य often quotes. Now when we study our scriptures we find one uniqueness in our scriptures. And that uniqueness is it is full of seeming-contradiction. That is why Hinduism is one of the most complex religion. It is full of seeming contradiction. I am very carefully adding the adjective, seeming-contradiction means what: there is no contradiction. If I say that you are seemingly beautiful means what: that is why I am saying that example, you are seemingly-intelligent, seeming-contraction means that there is no real contradiction but there is seeming-contradiction. And why there are seeming contradictions in our scriptures, the reason is the scriptures do not address only one set of people, the scriptures are addressing people of different degrees of spiritual evolution or spiritual level, the scriptures are addressing not one level of student but different levels of seekers, therefore advice can never be uniform, just as a doctor can never give uniform advice to all people. While for one the doctor will say eat well, while for another person who is crossing 128 kgs, then the doctor will say, reduce at least a bit, take 2 chappathis in the night, doctor said, then this person asked after or before dinner. Then he has to say during dinner. So therefore the doctor cannot give uniform advice, because the patients are different. This is technically called अधिकारि भेदः, अधिकारि means the seeker, भेदः means different level. So what is food for one person is a poison for another, therefore when the scriptures advice certain things, the scriptures glorify certain साधनs for a certain group of people and the very same scriptures criticize those very same things in a different context. For example if you go to the कर्मकाण्ड, the initial portion of the वेद, you will find that कर्म is glorified very much. If you remember the मुण्डकोपनिषत्, in the उपनिषत् itself, in the initial portion, कर्म was glorified, तदेतत् सत्यम् मन्त्रेषु कर्माणि कवयो यान्यपश्यन्तानि त्रेतायाम् बहुधा सन्तानि ।

मुण्डकोपनिषत् १-२-१ ॥

In the first portion of the उपनिषत्, it says: तानि कर्माणि आचरथ, perform rituals, perform पूजा, do जप, thus it vehemently advices everyone to do कर्म and the very same उपनिषत् after a few श्लोकs only

प्लवा ह्येते अह्ना यज्ञरूपाः अष्टादशोक्तमवरम् येषु कर्म ।

एतच्छ्रेयो येऽभिनन्दन्ति मूढाः जरामृत्युम् ते पुनरेवापियन्ति ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् १-२-७ ॥

Those people who take to कर्म are मूढाः, how is this, only 4 श्लोकs difference, it says तानि आचरथ नियतम् सत्यकामाः and later the very same वेद says, in तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् it says,

अग्निहोत्रम् च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । ... प्रजा च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च ।
प्रजनश्च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । प्रजातिश्च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । ॥ १-१ ॥

It glorifies कर्म and in another place, it says,

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः ॥ कैवत्योपनिषत्
१-३ ॥

The very वेद which prescribes कर्मs, the very वेद which glorifies गृहस्थ आश्रम, the very वेद says - that wife cannot give मोक्षः, the husband cannot give मोक्षः, money cannot give मोक्षः - therefore quit. Therefore if you read these passages, you will think that the वैदिक ऋषिs were themselves confused. Therefore how do you reconcile this seeming contradiction? There is only one way you can reconcile, at one stage it is a blessing and the very same thing becomes an obstacle at a later stage. So if you take the example of the child in the womb, the first 9 months the child requires the atmosphere of the womb of the mother, the child can grow only in that atmosphere and if there is a premature delivery they have to create an artificial womb called incubator, the child has to be carefully protected. Therefore the womb is extremely important for a child for 10 months but suppose the child feels very very nice and cozy inside the womb and feels that it doesn't have to do anything, everything is done by the mother, etc., therefore it feels comfortable and wants to remain permanently there, which mother wants to carry permanently? No. You will find the very nature has created what: त्यागेनैके, what त्यागः womb त्यागेनैके, mother need not request, the child need not request, the nature itself has created a situation in which the child grows out of it, therefore the womb is good or bad, if you ask, what will you say, up to the ten month it is a blessing, after that it is an obstacle for its further growth. Apply this principle to everything in life, everything is good for the initial stage of growth, you will have to enter, grow and then grow out of the set-up. A fruit requires the skin for ripening. Without the skin the fruit cannot ripen, when it is a raw fruit, raw fruit, I don't know the correct word. भगवान् knows the skin is important, the भगवान् has created the condition, that if you try to peel the skin it won't come like in the banana, because it is required for ripening, but once it becomes ripe you cannot say the skin is very important, because of that only the ripening happens, therefore I won't peel the skin, I will eat along with skin, you cannot do that, unless you are a naturopath, for whom the skin is important, unless you are such a rare case, you will peel off the skin, the fruit alone will be sweet and you will peel off and see the condition, the skin will naturally come also, the more ripe the fruit is, the peeling is smooth,

ॐ त्र्यम्बकम् यजामहे सुगन्धिम् पुष्टिवर्धनम् । उर्वारुकमिव बन्धनात् मृत्योर्मुक्षीय मामृतात् ॥

On Lord, I have entered into a set-up and I should not get struck in any set-up, I should learn, I should grow and I should grow out of that. That is why even wedding is considered only an intermediary womb stage, that is why we had four आश्रमसः. Don't be afraid, I am not asking you to take संन्यासः, the very fact that they kept four आश्रमसः is enter ब्रह्मचर्यः, grow and grow out of ब्रह्मचर्यः, enter गृहस्थ आश्रमः, grow and grow out of गृहस्थ आश्रमः, don't hold the sari of the wife permanently or the dhoti of the husband as the case may be. Similarly, वानप्रस्थ and संन्यासः. The idea is everything in life has validity of a particular stage, कृष्ण says कर्मसः also, an active life also is like a womb for the spiritual baby. Even though we are grown up physically, spiritually we are mustachioed babies, even though physically grown up, spiritually babies only and therefore the वेदसः say enter the कर्म womb, do lot of action, take to lot of activities, serve the society, do पञ्च महायज्ञसः and grow inwardly. And that is the glorification of कर्म and how long it should do, not permanently don't get struck with कर्म,

उपदेशसारम् २॥

Active life is such that you may get into the whirlpool of activity it will take to more and more and more, it will be like the catching the tail of the tiger, you hold, what happens: you have caught hold, now it runs round to attack you, to escape you also have to run and run around. Now the problem is the tiger never gets tired, but after some time if you are tired, now the problem is if you want to continue to run, you cannot and if you drop the tail, स्वाहा, over. Every कर्म can become a tiger tail, therefore make use of कर्म and then you should know how to grow out and spend time for वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्. And therefore कृष्ण warns: a ज्ञानि must be very careful in giving advice to the society. A ज्ञानि who gives discourses to the public, कृष्ण tells more responsibility lies in a person who teaches the society, what is that: he should not ask everyone to drop कर्म. If those people are mature then dropping कर्म is wonderful, because it will be beautifully replaced by वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासन, but imagine a person is not ready for that, as we saw before, मिथ्याचारः,

कर्मेन्द्रियाणि संयम्य य आस्ते मनसा स्मरन् ।

इन्द्रियार्थान्विमूढात्मा मिथ्याचारः स उच्यते ॥ ३-६॥

When an immature person drops कर्म, what happens is: the mind has no engagement, no family responsibilities. Now many of us do not think of many negative things not because we are saints and all, we don't have time to think because mind is preoccupied with so many problems. Now imagine an immature person drops कर्म, he doesn't have family preoccupation, he is not settled his son, he is not settled his daughter, he is not settled his house, he need not take care of his parents, no other duties are there. Therefore, lot of time and being immature, he cannot spend the time in वेदान्त. वेदान्त requires a type of mind, then what happens: neither कर्म nor ज्ञानम् he will become a मिथ्याचारि, he will spend his time, thinking of what, only sense pleasures, therefore कृष्ण warns, don't ask everyone to drop कर्म. Be very careful when you suggest वेदान्त to people, you have to ask them to continue to do their पूजा, continue their जप, continue their सत्सङ्ग, pilgrimage, because they are all supports, religious support for a person. And therefore here कृष्ण says, कर्म-सङ्गिनाम् बुद्धि-भेदम् न जनयेत्, कर्मसङ्गि means those people who are still interested in action and its results, those who are attached to worldly activities and why they are attached to worldly activities, because they are interested in worldly result, अर्थ-काम प्रधान, कर्मसङ्गि means materialistically oriented. कृष्ण doesn't criticize them, they are not what you call wrong or sinners or anything, exactly like a child asking for balloon, just remember, when a child is asking for a balloons, you say that it is all worthless, I will give you 500 rupee note, it can buy any balloon, the child doesn't appreciate the 500 rupees note, what will it do: it will tear and eat it. The child at that stage requires balloon only, therefore don't pull the balloon from the child, encourage and if you have time, play along with the child with balloon and hope, what, that the child will grow and ask for something higher. At 25th birthday if a person asks for a balloon that is a regrettable situation. Similarly, we are all spiritual babies, we are interested in money, we are interested in name and fame, we are spiritually in childhood state. Being in childhood stage is not a sin, we need not have any complex, कृष्ण says encourage them. Somebody asked, our student only. स्वामिजि I want to achieve lot of things, I want to get lot of money, is it wrong, I am a गीता student. Suppose I say, you should not, what will he do, he will drop, what, coming to the class, so therefore, when a person is seriously interested in name and fame an intelligent person should not criticize him and condemn and create an additional guilt complex in him, already full of complexes and then this is called spiritual-complex. So वेदs encourages do कर्म, earn money, enjoy legitimately, let it be धार्मिक, enjoyment, कृष्ण tells in the 7th chapter,

धर्माविरुद्धो भूतेषु कामोऽस्मि भरतर्षभ ॥ ७-११॥

I am in the form of legitimate sense pleasures also, legitimate sense pleasure also is Lord's glory. Therefore कृष्ण says don't confuse those people by encouraging वैराग्यम्, dispassion, renunciation, detachment, etc., don't encourage, ask them to do कर्म, but introduce God along with कर्म. What you have to introduce is not renunciation and वेदान्त. Many people say, स्वामिजि, all college students must be taught वेदान्त, because we are all in the late seventies and booked our tickets, so therefore, by our learning वेदान्त, what is much of a benefit, so imagine you teach:

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३॥ to a college student, how will it be, so what you have to teach is, follow अर्थ-काम, pursue अर्थ-काम i.e., entertainment and security pursue, but along with that add धर्म, add values and along with that add devotion and follow all those things and having gone through all these things, at the appropriate time,

परीक्ष्य लोकान् कर्मचितान् ब्रह्मणो निर्वेदमायान्नास्त्यकृतः कृतेन ।
मुण्डकोपनिषत् १-२-१२ ॥

यदा ते मोहकलिलं बुद्धिर्व्यतितरिष्यति । तदा गन्तासि निर्वेदं श्रोतव्यस्य श्रुतस्य च ॥ २-५२ ॥

If it is studied appropriately, that is why a गुरु is necessary, if the scriptures are studied appropriately there are no contradictions and therefore कृष्ण says, a spiritual teacher should not encourage dropping of कर्म, spiritual teacher should not criticize rituals, should not criticize पूजाIs, should not criticize temple visits, that should not be done, what should you do: encourage. If he wants to earn money, encourage, just put a word, 'you may also donate to some आश्रम', as it will be useful, etc., those people who are attached to कर्म and फल and अज्ञानम्, those who are still in the stage of Self-ignorance, बुद्धि-भेदम् न जनयेत्, don't create conflict by over emphasizing renunciation. Let renunciation be their ideal and renunciation is something which you don't force but it happens. Now are you attached to balloon, I hope you will say: No. Now what did you do for balloon-renunciation, it is not that you daily meditated that I should not have attachment for the balloon, drop the balloon, etc., and nor that if I show a balloon tomorrow you will not say that I will not look at that, because if I see I will get attachment to it. No, you may move with balloon, you may play along with children also, but you are not hooked to that, neither राग nor द्वेष, that is called transcendence, that is called sublimation, that is called growing out. Dispassion should not be forced, dispassion should grow in the mind of a person, what is the difference between forced detachment and natural maturity? In forced detachment, the person will become melancholic, long face, no smiling because he is missing something and when he sees गृहस्थs enjoying, more miserable, they are going nicely to the cinema, picnics, hotels, etc., etc., he will feel, I am not able to do this, because I have been caught in this dress of संन्यास. So therefore, one has to grow out, until then encourage religion, along with philosophy, religion also must be encouraged. Therefore कृष्ण says, जोषयेत्, जोषयेत् means a ज्ञानि should, a religious teacher, a spiritual teacher should persuade, जोषयेत् – persuade, encourage, you don't give up your पूजा, जप, some people may say, स्वामिजि, no question of giving up in my case, because, I have not started it at all, so therefore, so if you are doing, don't give up; if you are not doing, keep some amount of religious practice, at least गायत्री don't give up. One of the greatest मन्त्रs in the world is गायत्री, don't give up and if you are not initiated into traditional गायत्री, we have a got two types of गायत्रीs, I have told you earlier, one गायत्री for initiated people another गायत्री for the non-initiated people, one of the best मन्त्रs, don't give up. जप should be there, पारायणम् should be there, पूजा should be there, at least मानस पूजा should be there. Therefore जोषयेत्, a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि should persuade all the people to do: what, सर्व कर्माणि – to do all their duties, विद्वान्, is the subject, विद्वान् जोषयेत्, विद्वान् means a गृहस्थ ज्ञानि. A गृहस्थ ज्ञानि should persuade all other अज्ञानि in the society to do कर्म and how should he persuade, not merely verbally, mere verbal advice will not have any impact, the best advice is action. As they say, action speaks louder than words. So you may hundred times speak truth, speak truth, speak truth and you tell lie once; at least, in front of the children you should avoid, one lie in front of child can nullify years of advice. Therefore कृष्ण says समाचरन् जोषयेत्, a गृहस्थ ज्ञानि should persuade not by mere verbal advice but himself doing. Therefore शङ्कराचार्य's doesn't require any पूजा, according to शास्त्र, a संन्यासि doesn't require any physical पूजा, even if he wants to do पूजा, it is enough if he does मानस पूजा, विग्रह पूजा is not at all required for a संन्यासि, if the शङ्कराचार्य's in the मठ (आश्रम) are doing पूजा it is only to set an example because visitors are there, therefore कृष्ण says, समाचरन् means himself performing those acts and that too how should he act, not as a burdensome but युक्तः, with commitment, with involvement, whole heartedly, himself performing action wholeheartedly, the ज्ञानि must persuade others also to act. Continuing;

Verse No .27

प्रकृतेः क्रियमाणानि गुणैः कर्माणि सर्वशः ।

अहङ्कार-विमूढ-आत्मा कर्ता अहम् इति मन्यते ॥ ३-२७॥

प्रकृतेः गुणैः कर्माणि सर्वशः क्रियमाणानि (सन्ति, परन्तु) अहङ्कार-विमूढ-आत्मा 'अहम्' कर्ता इति मन्यते ।

Again these two श्लोक's are very important. These two श्लोक's contain the essence of all the उपनिषत्'s, two of the most important श्लोक's of the 3rd chapter, important श्लोक's of the entire गीता itself. Here कृष्ण talks about the technical difference, ज्ञानि performing action and अज्ञानि performing action. What is the difference in their attitude, in the way they look at the action? And first I will give you the gist of these two श्लोकs. What कृष्ण says here is: Every individual has got two-I's. First person singular-I's.

➤ One is the lower-I called the Ego, which is कर्ता, भोक्ता, which is limited, which travels from place to place, which is the lower-I, in संस्कृत we can call अहङ्कारः and

➤ There is another-I, which is the real-I, which is the higher-I, which we can call as आत्मा, साक्षि, etc.

What is the higher-I, I have discussed this before, higher-I which is called the आत्मा is of the nature of pure Consciousness, चैतन्य स्वरूपम्, which is known as आत्मा and कृष्ण often uses the word पुरुषः. It is a technical word. पुरुषः means not man, पुरुषः means the आत्मा, which is neither male or female and what is the nature of this Consciousness. I have discussed this also before, four points with regard to Consciousness, do you remember;

- 1) Consciousness is not a part, a property or product of the body,
- 2) Consciousness is something an independent entity, which pervades and enlivens the body,
- 3) this Consciousness which is different from the body, which pervades and enlivens the body, this Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body, the limitations of the body, dimensions of the body, it extends beyond the body, keep these four points in mind till गीता is over, for my convenience. Don't ask whether you can forget them after the गीता is over!
- 4) this Consciousness, which is an independent entity and not limited by the dimensions of this body, doesn't die even when the body perishes, it is eternal all-pervading principle.

We analyzed this elaborately, for your reference, I will give you the reference also, you can go back and see those श्लोकs, from 2nd chapter 12 to 25, I very elaborately discussed this point. I gave an example also, which you should remember is like the light pervading the hand, light is neither part, product or property of the body, it is an independent entity which pervades and illumines the hand, will not be bound by the boundaries, not limited by the boundaries of the hand, it extends beyond and the light will survive, even when the hand is removed. That is why Consciousness is often compared to light, it is called ज्योतिः. Now this Consciousness is our real I. And the aim of all spiritual साधन is to discover and own up this higher-I, which is worth owning because once I own up this higher-I, I am immortal.

and ज्ञानि is one who has owned up this higher-Self with these words - अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. ब्रह्मन् means not bound by time and space. That is the meaning of ब्रह्मन्. Then what is the lower self? The lower self is mainly the mind. The mind which is a located-entity, located in this body now, this mind which is enlivened by the higher-I i.e., the Consciousness, this live-mind is the lower-I. Consciousness is the higher-I, called साक्षि, आत्मा. The live-mind, why do I say the live-mind, the mind by itself is dead matter but this mind which is matter and inert is now live because of what, the Consciousness pervading and the blessing it, this live-mind is called अहङ्कार, कर्ता. Where is it located: it is located in this body and it is this अहङ्कार, which is operating through this body, experiencing सुखम्, दुःखम्, pain, pleasure and all of them, which is a finite entity. And it is this अहङ्कार which drops this body and takes up another body, पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्, etc., this is the lower-I, the अहङ्कार and every one of us is a mixture of आत्मा and अहङ्कार. Now, once we are born as a human being, we have got the biggest choice in life and what is the choice: should I continue to be the miserable अहङ्कार or should I claim my original glory? We talk about various rights, human rights, children's' rights, wife's rights and now they are talking husband's right also, they are forming association, fight for the right, वेदान्त says we are talking about all rights, but we are not talking about one great Right, as a human being, what is that, Right to मोक्षः, right to claim to our infinite glory. Like a poor boy who was told, that you are inheriting the father's wealth, but however he could not locate the papers, though somebody said that he is the heir, owner of Rs.50 lakhs or let us take as one crore in imagination; in मलयाळम् it is said that 'in मनोरञ्ज्यम्, why should there a half रञ्ज्यम्.' So one person imagined, 'I want to be the king of half of a kingdom.' Fool! after all you are imagining, why are you imagining I am a king of half of a kingdom, better say a big kingdom, as such you don't get it. OK he inherits one crore rupees, but he didn't have the papers and somebody comes and tells, why do you suffer with this begging bowl, you can be a millionaire. And this person says, imagine, 'I don't want, I like beggary', if he says, we can only sympathize. We are only beggars, all the time asking for some love, some security, some happiness, we are knocking at the door of everyone, can't you speak two kind words to me, etc., someone phones from another state. स्वामिजि I have got everything but my children don't spend a minute with me, she feels that there is emotional deprivation I am suffering from, millionaire, big house, many cars, therefore with a begging bowl we are going from person to person and वेदान्त is bringing that पत्रम्, at least in the case of children, once two children share it is 50 lakhs, if there are four children - 25 lakhs, that only will come, but here the beauty is each one of you can claim the infinite, even if two people share the infinite, it is not that you get half infinite and the other person gets another half-infinite, No. Infinite is that which will remain infinite however, whatever be the number of people share it. ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते। वेदान्त says why can't you claim the higher-I. Instead of begging start giving love, In fact, many beggars are anyway around, so instead of you joining the beggar group, why can't' you give love to everyone even if they are miserable and they don't reciprocate, why can't you give security, why can't you give moral strength, why can't you give support. So therefore, the higher-I and lower-I are the two things. And कृष्ण says, the अज्ञानि remains in the lower-I all the time and therefore he is always dissatisfied because lower-I is permanently अपूर्णम्. And अपूर्णम् plus one lakh rupees is equal to पूर्णम्? अपूर्णम् + अपूर्णम् is only अपूर्णम्. This पूर्णम् is not the पूर्णम् of the मोदक that you eat!! I am not talking about kozhakatti पूर्णम्, but Vedantic पूर्णम्, the infinite, therefore, a finite plus Rs.1 lakh is equal to finite, finite plus Bill Gates is equal to finite. So thus, a man who is claiming the lower-I he is suffering because of अहङ्कार and he miserably suffers संसार, whereas the one who has discovered the higher-I for him the lower continues for transaction but the thing is from the vision of the higher-I, the lower-I and its problems will become insignificant. Like a huge tree, when you are seeing from the ground it is so huge, but the very same thing you look from a helicopter, it is insignificant, it is so small. similarly, a ज्ञानि is one who is established in his higher-I. The lower-I is there, mind is there, body is there, it will go through its कर्म, he will accomplish lot of things, he will not be able to accomplish many of the things but those ups and downs of the lower-I will not disturb him because he has discovered something greatly wonderful. So thus the 27th verse talks about an ignorant man working in the world, centered on अहङ्कार and the 28th verse talks about a wise man working in the world, but all the time centered on the आत्मा. The wise man is not affected by the ups and downs which are like mosquito bite to an elephant. It will not even know. This is the difference between ज्ञानि working in the world and the अज्ञानि working in the world, the details of which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

In the beginning of this 3rd chapter Lord कृष्ण pointed out that an अज्ञानि, a Self-ignorant person, should perform कर्म or action because action alone is the means of purifying the mind. Therefore the teaching is कर्म is necessary for an अज्ञानि. And now from the 20th verse onwards, कृष्ण is pointing out that a ज्ञानि also should be performing कर्म, but the purpose of ज्ञानि's action is totally different from that of an अज्ञानि. ज्ञानि performs कर्म not for the sake of purity or liberation, because he has already accomplished that. If ज्ञानि should perform कर्म it is meant for लोक-सङ्ग्रहम्. So वित्त शुद्ध्यर्थम् अज्ञानिना कर्म कर्तव्यम्, लोक-सङ्ग्रहार्थम् ज्ञानिना कर्म कर्तव्यम्, are you getting. For वित्तशुद्धिः अज्ञानि should work, लोक उद्धारार्थम् ज्ञानि should work. So the purpose may be different but कर्म is necessary on the part of both अज्ञानि and ज्ञानि. So the present topic that we are seeing is ज्ञानिनाम् कर्म. So naturally the next question is, if ज्ञानि also performs कर्म for लोक-सङ्ग्रह, if अज्ञानि also performs कर्म for वित्तशुद्धिः i.e., mental purity, then what will be the difference in the कर्म that they perform. So the difference between ज्ञानि's action and अज्ञानि's action is being discussed in these verses. The first difference that the कृष्ण talked about is the superficial difference which anybody can understand, which difference we have already seen and what is that difference: अज्ञानि performs action for happiness, whereas ज्ञानि performs action with happiness. So one performs for the sake of happiness, while the other performs with happiness. Instead of happiness, you can replace with the word security or fulfillment, any word. अज्ञानि works for fulfillment, ज्ञानि works with fulfillment. अज्ञानि works for security, ज्ञानि works with security. In short, in the case of अज्ञानि whatever he is seeking, all of them ज्ञानि has already accomplished. And therefore in the case of अज्ञानि every action is a struggle, there is an anxiety, there is a tension, I should succeed somehow or the other, somehow is mixed with by hook or crook, so many things can be added there. So therefore just as we have in the sports field, they don't mind even taking drugs, somehow or the other to win the gold medal, otherwise they are miserable, in the case of ज्ञानि, actions are not a struggle at all, every action is a sport. One is burden, whereas the other is लीला, this is the difference at the superficial level which anybody can understand. Just by looking at the face, you can know, in the one the tension is writ large, on the other there is total relaxation. Having talked about that difference and now कृष्ण is talking about the difference between ज्ञानि and अज्ञानि or the ज्ञानि's action and the अज्ञानि's action from technical angle, from Vedantic angle and what is he going to say, I will give you the gist of these two verses, these two verses are important verses which contain the essence of the वेदान्त. In this कृष्ण wants to point that everybody has got a lower self called the ego and the higher-Self called the आत्मा. Everybody is a mixture of अहङ्कार and आत्मा. And what is the definition of अहङ्कार. अहङ्कार is the body-mind-complex which is blessed by the आत्मा and because of which it has become sentient and alive. This we should remember, the word अहङ्कार is used in this context in a philosophical sense. In the scriptures the word अहङ्कार is used in two different contexts, one is the context of ethics and morality, in the धर्मशास्त्र context we use the word अहङ्कार, there the word अहङ्कार means pride which is opposed to humility, as opposed to विनयः. In that place, अहङ्कार means that is arrogance or pride or vanity and what is the opposite of अहङ्कार: humility or विनयः. In the context of धर्मशास्त्र, अहङ्कार is pride, but in the context of वेदान्त, अहङ्कार does not mean pride, vanity, arrogance or superiority complex but it means totally something else. अहङ्कार means the body-mind-complex is called अहङ्कार, the body-mind-complex is called अहङ्कार and that too what type of body-mind-complex, naturally body-mind-complex is inert in nature according to वेदान्त शास्त्र, because body is made up of matter - पञ्च भूतानि, mind is also made up of matter - पञ्च सूक्ष्म भूतानि, the only difference is body is made of gross matter, mind is made up of subtle matter, therefore the body-mind-complex is inert, material according to वेदान्त. And if this material is now acting sentient or alive, it is not because of natural sentiency but it is because of borrowed sentiency. Like what, we know that the fan cannot go by itself, the fan does not have the capacity to go around itself, because I see that it doesn't go around, that means it doesn't naturally go around and this fan is going around, that means the fan which doesn't naturally go around is now going around, it means what: it is blessed by some other principle. I don't see the principle, it is not visible, both the fans are looking the same, but this is running and the other is not, from that I infer that this is blessed by something else and what is that something, electricity. If this is understood, वेदान्त says the inert body-mind-complex is now alive and sentient unlike the table, the table will not get angry whatever it is done to it, so there is a difference between this matter and that matter, which is caused by an invisible principle and that is called आत्म तत्त्वम् or चैतन्य तत्त्वम्, therefore this body-mind-complex is blessed by आत्मा, this blessed body-mind-complex is a live-entity, in संस्कृत it is called साभास, मनो or देह मनः; स आभास means that which has got borrowed Consciousness, स भासम् means borrowed Consciousness or blessed by आत्मा, what is blessed: the body-mind-complex, this live body-mind-complex is called अहङ्कार in वेदान्त. And in addition to this अहङ्कार i.e., is the body-mind-complex, there is another principle, what is that? The आत्मा and what is the आत्मा: the blessing-principle and body-mind-complex is what? Blessed-principle, आत्मा is what? The blessing-principle, the Consciousness-principle, thus every individual is a mixture of the blessed-body mind-complex as well as the blessing-आत्मा, the blessed-body-mind-complex is called अहङ्कार or the ego. And this ego is our lower-I and आत्मा is our higher-I. Ego is the lower self, आत्मा is the higher-Self; ego is our lower nature, आत्मा is our higher nature; ego is our incidental nature, आत्मा is our intrinsic nature. Now this ego and आत्मा, अहङ्कार and आत्मा have got several differences, this अहङ्कार and आत्मा have got several differences some of which we have already seen before, I will remind you.

1) The first basic difference is that अहङ्कार is a limited entity, because body-mind-complex, blessed-body-mind-complex, अहङ्कार is finite, whereas आत्मा the Consciousness-principle is infinite, infinite means it is all-pervading. So अहङ्कारः अल्पः, आत्मा is अनन्तः.

2) The second difference is अहङ्कार is अनित्यः. अहङ्कार is subject to arrival and departure, that is why in sleep we don't have अहङ्कार. Is anyone saying I, I, in sleep? The finite I, the located I, the individualized I, is it available in sleep? It is available now alone which is appearing with an individualized I, bio-data I. If application form is given, it is date of birth, (date of death they don't put, not because it is not there, but the date is not known now). Therefore, nationality, parentage, caste, creed, sex, they will ask and some of the bio-data are physical, some of the bio-data are intellectual, you say M.A., PhD., C.A., IIT., M.Sc In fact, all the alphabets in the language we put, intellectual bio-data, both of them belong to what: अहङ्कार, the individualized I, that obtains in the जाग्रत् अवस्थ, the moment you go to sleep the अहङ्कार is resolved. So therefore, अहङ्कार is अनित्यः, आत्मा is नित्यः and

3) अहङ्कार is सविकारः. अहङ्कार is subject to all types of modifications. Now I am happy-I, now I am depressed-I, now I am miserable-I, now I am old-I, young-I, sick-I, healthy-I, fair-I, dark-I, bald-I, haired-I, white haired-I, brown haired-I, all belongs to what? अहङ्कारः. So सविकारः, आत्मा is निर्विकारः and

4) अहङ्कार is कर्ता and भोक्ता, it performs all the actions and it reaps the results of all the actions. So अहङ्कार is कर्ता, भोक्ता, आत्मा is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. Where did you see all these? 2nd chapter from verses no.12 to 25. If you remember wonderful, otherwise go back and read those portions.

5) Then last one more main difference, अहङ्कार is ever a संसारि because it keeps on doing the action, which will produce either पुण्यम् or पापम्, which will produce सुखम् or दुःखम्, therefore अहङ्कार is ever a संसारि and आत्मा is never a संसारि.

Every individual is a mixture of this आत्मा and अहङ्कार, nobody is pure अहङ्कार because there cannot be a pure अहङ्कार without आत्मा. So everybody is a mixture of अहङ्कार and आत्मा, this अहङ्कार we call as ego or the lower self, आत्मा is the higher-Self. Now the शास्त्र says, you can claim any one of these two as your true self, it is your choice. You can claim any one of the two as your real self. It is your choice. And suppose you decide to own up अहङ्कार as your real I, which we have done unfortunately, because we always think of ourselves as what: the finite अहङ्कार I. वेदान्त says you are free to claim अहङ्कार as yourselves, but once you are अहङ्कार be prepared for संसार. 'If you marry a devil you have to climb the drumstick-tree', you are free to claim अहङ्कार as yourself, the other side of अहङ्कार is संसार. It is like two sides of the same coin, voting for अहङ्कार is voting for संसार. Because अहङ्कार will have प्रारब्ध कर्म, संचित कर्म and आगामि कर्म and even if you exhaust the प्रारब्ध कर्म, you are bound to accumulate आगामि कर्म, even if you don't accumulate any आगामि कर्म you have got the inexhaustible संचित कर्म. Therefore अहङ्कार will have to go through ups and downs, there is no such thing called freedom for अहङ्कार, मोक्षः for अहङ्कार it is not possible, then what can you do: there is only one alternative, like that riddle that was given to Birbal in Akbar's court. So a line was drawn and he was told they were given this riddle, you have to shorten the line without rubbing it off or breaking the board. You have to shorten the line, people were wondering how can I do that; he said it is simple, draw another bigger line in front of that line, even though I have not made any change in this line, in front of that line this line will become insignificant. Like the ladies do, the secret, whenever the salt is more you cannot remove the salt but what can you do is add hot water, therefore, it is as good as reduced without reduction, this is the Vedantic method. अहङ्कार can never get away from संसार, अहङ्कार means birth will be there, growth will be there, old age will be there, disease will be there, death will of course be there, not only my death I have to face the death of people around also, association and dissociation, etc., and even अवतार cannot escape what to talk of miserable human beings. Therefore what is the way to solve the problem, draw another bigger line and what is that bigger line: discovery of the higher-Self which is नित्य शुद्ध मुक्त स्वभाव, which is आनन्द स्वरूप, which is infinite, which is all-pervading and when I discover the higher-Self. Not that the lower self is free from problems, but those problems will become what? Insignificant. Sometimes you read the stories of the escape of some people from certain communist countries and dictatorship countries and they want to escape. The communist people are terrible and he will have walked without food for days together, first of all money will not be there, he cannot go to the hotel as police is there, body torture, body is emancipated and he reaches the neighboring country, North Korea to South Korea. Now even though his body is going through terrible suffering, having reached the border of the other country he celebrates. Now what happens to the other suffering? Is it gone? The sufferings are not gone, when he thinks of the freedom that he has attained, in front of that benefit all the sufferings, the pain and the legs broken, read wonderful stories, they are all real stories, which happen even now, you can read in Readers' digest, experiences of people, legs gone, we cannot imagine even one tenth of that, one mosquito bite we cannot tolerate and this is our condition and all those pains are not gone, those pains become insignificant in front of the freedom that he has discovered. In the same way, ज्ञानि has discovered a higher आनन्द in front of which the physical suffering, the worldly separation, the loss in business or anything and all these things will become insignificant. Whereas in the case of अज्ञानि since the higher-Self is not there, every suffering becomes too magnified like the undiluted रसम्, which is full of salt, just as he cannot taste that, the ego cannot withstand the suffering and this difference कृष्ण wants to talk about in the 27th verse. कृष्ण talks about an अज्ञानि who is caught in अहङ्कार, so कृष्ण gives him a special title, this is the season you know, ...सङ्गीत शिखामणि, etc., अज्ञानि शिखामणि कृष्ण gives the title, अहङ्कार विमूढ-आत्मा is the title given to all the संसारि, they are so much absorbed in अहङ्कार, they have not discovered their own higher-Self and therefore every problem of अहङ्कार is too magnified. For everything you will like to run away, get out of the whole thing or commit suicide he will say. Therefore, अज्ञानि who is अहङ्कार विमूढ-आत्मा, विमूढ means deluded, lost in the lower-I, is the topic of the 27th verse and in the 28th verse कृष्ण talks about ज्ञानि for whom अहङ्कार and its problems are not absent, but they are insignificant. This is the difference between an अज्ञानि and ज्ञानि.

Now in this verse, there are certain technical words which we have to clearly define.

1) Now the first word is प्रकृतिः. Every word has got a specific meaning in this context and each word has got different meaning in different context, the word प्रकृतिः is one such word which has got different meanings in different context and in this context the word प्रकृतिः means the basic matter-principle, otherwise called माया. So in this श्लोक, प्रकृतिः means the basic matter, which you may call the subtlest form of energy is called here प्रकृतिः, another word we use in the शास्त्र is माया. So प्रकृति is equal to माया is equal to basic matter, this is first technical word.

2) Then the next word we have to note is गुणः, the word गुणः also has got several meanings in different contexts, in this context the word गुणः means a product, कार्यम्, विकारः. So प्रकृतिः means matter, गुणः means product; joining these two - प्रकृति गुणः means product of matter, product of matter and what is that: any inert material in the creation is product of matter. Therefore we can call each one of them प्रकृति गुणः, the clock is प्रकृति गुणः, book is प्रकृति गुणः, anything that you see around they are all प्रकृति गुणः, material, in simple English, material is that which is born out of matter, is material. Matter कार्यम् is material.

And even though the प्रकृति गुणः means any inert material in the creation in this context which material कृष्ण keeps in mind? So does he keep this clock in mind, this amplifier in mind, what is he keeping in mind? In this context, कृष्ण keeps the body-mind-complex in his mind, the body-mind-complex is the inert material and therefore it is product of प्रकृति. And we have seen in तत्त्वबोध, I don't know whether you remember, long long before, once upon a time, from the माया alone five subtle elements were born and thereafter five gross elements were born and from the five subtle elements, the mind and other organs are created, from the gross elements body is created and we saw the details also, from the individual सत्त्व गुण the ज्ञानेन्द्रियः were created, from the total सत्त्व गुण mind is created, all these topics if you remember it will be good. If you don't remember, doesn't matter, you remember this much, the body-mind-complex is product of प्रकृति, therefore inert matter. And even though the body-mind-complex is inert by itself, now both of them are sentient, both of them are alive, because of what: because of Consciousness borrowed from आत्मा. Just as the fan is now capable of moving because of the energy, electrical energy is converted into mechanical energy, is borrowed from electricity. And this प्रकृति गुणः that is the body-mind-complex alone is called अहङ्कारः. Therefore the final meaning of प्रकृति गुणः is अहङ्कार, i.e., the body-mind-complex with borrowed Consciousness. Now look at the first line: कृष्ण says:

कर्माणि प्रकृतेः गुणैः क्रियमाणानि,

All the actions are performed by प्रकृति गुणs alone. All actions are performed by प्रकृति गुणs alone, प्रकृति गुणs means the body-mind-complex alone. What is the other name for body-mind-complex: अहङ्कार. All the actions are done by प्रकृति गुणs alone is equal to all the actions are done by body-mind-complex alone is equal to all the actions are done by अहङ्कार alone. And कृष्ण says सर्वशः, सर्वशः means under all conditions अहङ्कार alone can act and what is the corollary of it: अहङ्कार alone can act means आत्मा does not do any action, Consciousness does not do any action, just as the light is there pervading this hall and blessing all the activities here - devotees are coming the light illumines that and some devotees look around and return the light illumines that, some devotees chose to sit and the light illumines that and some devotes pull the book and see the light illumines that and some of them want to write notes the light illumines that and at the right time, the pen does not write the light illumines that, light illumines all the activities but itself does not enter the temple, does not go out, does not stand, does not sit, does not take the pen, does not write, does not do any action. And can you say that therefore light is not necessary, as it is not doing any action and switch off the light, then no work will happen. It does not perform any action but without it no action can be performed. Similarly, without आत्मा अहङ्कार cannot perform any action at the same time, आत्मा itself does not do any action. Therefore कृष्ण says, सर्वशः, अहङ्कार alone does all action, OK. So what? कृष्ण says in the 2nd line, अहङ्कार विमूढ-आत्मा – all the ignorant people are deluded by this अहङ्कार i.e., कर्ता-भोक्ता-अहङ्कार. All the ignorant people are deluded by this अहङ्कार and what do you mean by that? The idea is this: being deluded by अहङ्कार means being lost in अहङ्कार, being carried away by अहङ्कार, to what extent: to such an extent that they don't have time to think of what: the higher real nature, claiming which I can enjoy freedom. It is like a beggar he is so busy begging and somebody comes and tells, you have got his own land in the slum area and under that land, you have got a huge, what you call, treasure, if you can claim that treasure you need not beg hereafter and this person says, I am so busy begging that I have no time to spend for claiming my treasure. पत्रम् is ready. वेद is coming and telling, 'claim your birthright', Tilak said: 'Freedom is my birthright, I will have it', that is politically, in वेदान्त we say, spiritual freedom is your birthright, you claim it. When वेदान्त is saying, everybody is busy with his अहङ्कार and running here and there and it is only to suit them I have to adjust the classes, one class in the morning, one class at 11 o'clock, one class on Sunday, somehow try to come I say, still there is no time they say, even the cassettes and tapes are there, buy it and listen, but no, No time. They ask, is there a library which brings the cassettes to home and take it? Can I keep it for 3 months? Whatever you do, they want excuses, we can only pray for those people. Therefore, अहङ्कार makes you get lost in कर्म and therefore that person is called अहङ्कार-विमूढ-आत्मा, doesn't allow him to ask the question - am I this miserable अहङ्कार or am I something more than this?

कस्त्वम् कोऽहम् कुत आयातः का मे जननी को मे तातः ॥ भजगोविन्दम्

For basic questions we have no time. It is like watching a movie, initially I see the screen which is the truth and as even the movie starts I get absorbed in the characters of the movie who are nothing but मिथ्या, not even real, they are nothing but lights and shadows, I get carried away by the plot that I lose sight of what: the screen and then when there is some tragedy or there is some horror movie, I scream, screen to scream. So therefore कृष्ण says अहङ्कार-विमूढ-आत्मा, caught in the lower self, कर्ता अहम् इति मन्यते – this अज्ञानि claims that I am the कर्ता-अहङ्कार, I am the भोक्ता-अहङ्कार, instead of claiming अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि.

आर्द्रम् ज्वलति ज्योतिरहमस्मि ज्योतिर्ज्वलति ब्रह्माहमस्मि

योऽहमस्मि ब्रह्माहमस्मि अहमेवाहम् माम् जुहोमि स्वाहा ॥ अघमर्षणसूक्त ॥

All beautiful मन्त्रs which tell you to claim what you are, but this विमूढ-आत्मा, विमूढ-आत्मा means super-idiot, शास्त्र uses both of them, like that person, there were two people they wanted to put a nail in the wall and one person put the nail upside down and the sharp point was this side and he was about to hit and then he saw that the head is on the other side and the sharp portion is facing him and then he asked who has manufactured this nail, they don't know how to manufacture properly, the head should be this side, the sharp portion should be the other side. Then the assistant said: idiot! you don't know anything, they have manufactured properly only, you don't know how to use the nail, this nail should be used for the opposite wall, he said. So if one is मूढः, another is विमूढः, he is correcting and doing mistake. कृष्ण says, you are not ordinary fools, you are double-filtered fools, अहङ्कार विमूढ-आत्मा, कर्ता अहम् इति मन्यते. This is the अज्ञानि's action. Then what about ज्ञानि?

Verse No .28

तत्त्ववितु महाबाहो गुणकर्मविभागयोः ।

गुणा गुणेषु वर्तन्त इति मत्वा न सज्जते ॥ ३-२८॥

तत्त्ववितु महाबाहो गुण-कर्म-विभागयोः ।

गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते इति मत्वा न सज्जते ॥ ३-२८॥

हे महाबाहो! गुण-कर्म-विभागयोः तत्त्ववितु तु 'गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते' इति मत्वा न सज्जते ।

So an अज्ञानि has been talked about, he is caught up in his lower self, he is ignorant of his higher-Self and he is not only ignorant and he doesn't want to claim also. He will not know himself and even if advised also he will not know. Neither he claims by himself nor does he want to claim when somebody wants to help him, that is an अज्ञानि's lot. Then what about ज्ञानि? ज्ञानि also has got अहङ्कार, let it be very clear, ज्ञानि also has got अहङ्कार, because what is the definition of अहङ्कार, body mind-complex which is live blessed by the आत्मा. ज्ञानि has got a body or not? So suppose all the ज्ञानि's do not have bodies, they cannot teach, they cannot do उपदेश and if they do उपदेश, it will come like अशरीरि, you don't know where he is sitting and all those problems will come and ज्ञानि's happily have bodies determined by their प्रारब्धः and what about mind, another confusion, ज्ञानि does not have mind, it is a very big confusion in वेदान्त because they use the expression मनो नाशः which has created this problem. You should know clearly ज्ञानि has a beautiful mind which कृष्ण himself will describe later:

अद्वेष्टा सर्व-भूतानाम् मैत्रः करुणः एव च ।

निर्ममः निरहङ्कारः सम-दुःख-सुखः क्षमी ॥ १२-१३॥

‘ज्ञानि is compassionate’ when you say, compassion belongs to what? It is the mental attribute. So ज्ञानि enjoys the mind. Then why do you say मनो नाशः? It is a figurative expression, whatever is healthy you don't feel the burden, it is a very beautiful concept. When do you feel your body? Now there are fingers in your hand, do you remembering that when you are listening to class? While listening to the class you do not remember that fingers are there. Why because they are healthy. Suppose you have a wound in the finger, then what will happen? Then you will be doing finger ध्यानम्. It will be calling your attention all the time, therefore when your body is fit you don't feel the body because it is so light. Somebody said, when the shoe fits to your leg you don't feel the presence of the shoe. Anything, Similarly, your dress also, if it is too tight somewhere then you will be fidgety, when the dress fits you don't feel the dress, when the shoe fits you don't feel the shoe, when the body is fit you don't feel the body, when the mind is healthy, a sane mind which doesn't have रागः-द्वेषः-काम-क्रोधः problems are not there, that mind is so light. That's why somebody said:

भारोऽविवेकिनः शास्त्रम् भारो ज्ञानम् च रागिणः । अशान्तस्य मनो भारो भारोऽनात्मविदो वपुः ॥ योगवासिष्ठरामायणम् १-१४-१३ ॥

अविवेकिनः शास्त्रम् भारः – the one who does not understand the scriptures, the scripture is a भारम्. Even in school also same thing, suppose you get by-heart without understanding anything, that you have to carefully remember otherwise you will forget, that is a भारम्. If you see during exams the head is heavy, because without understanding it is cramping, but what you have understood it is no more a भारम्. भारः अविवेकिनः शास्त्रम् and अशान्तस्य मनो भारः, अशान्तस्य means when there is disturbance mind is a burden, when the mind is peaceful it is not a burden, ज्ञानि is free from mind means for ज्ञानि mind is not a भारः. That is called मनो नाशः, that is an aside topic. What I want to emphasize here is ज्ञानि also has got body-mind-complex which means ज्ञानि has got अहङ्कारः. But what happens to the ज्ञानि is since he has discovered the higher-Self, the आत्मा, the discovery of आत्मा makes the अहङ्कार lighter, it is no more toxic अहङ्कार, it is no more poisonous अहङ्कार, it is no more burdensome अहङ्कार and in the शास्त्र, they give the example, दग्ध बीजवत् like the roasted seed. When the seed is roasted it is not destroyed, it is very much there and the roasted seed when you use it is tasty also, it can do everything except one thing, what is that: germinate. Similarly, ज्ञानि's अहङ्कार will do everything, it will eat, it will talk, it will travel, it is a functional अहङ्कार, but it has lost its capacity to germinate into संसार, it is non-binding अहङ्कार, it has become अलङ्कार. अहङ्कार has become अलङ्कार, that is indicated by the Lord शिव having the snake in his neck as a भूषणम्. The snake which is a frightening thing, it is an

अलङ्कार for the lord. Like that अहङ्कार is, the snake signifies it, the frightening snake can become an ornament. Similarly, the frightening अहङ्कार can become an ornament. For a ज्ञानि अहङ्कार is an ornament. And that is said here, look at the श्लोक. हे महाबाहो! तत्त्ववित्, so हे अर्जुन! Oh powerful अर्जुन! तत्त्ववित्. A ज्ञानि knows the reality, a ज्ञानि knows the reality. So तत्त्वम् I told you it can be split into two ways, here the तत्त्वम् should be split not as two words but तत्त्वम् is one word and one suffix, तत् plus त्वम् suffix which means reality, तत्त्ववित् means the one who knows the reality, reality of what: गुण-कर्म-विभागयोः. Here also we should be careful, here the word गुण is the same as the प्रकृति गुण talked about in the previous verse, here the word गुण means प्रकृति गुण which we talked about in the previous verse, प्रकृति गुण means the product of basic matter, the body-mind-complex, अहङ्कार. Here गुण means what: the अहङ्कार, which is otherwise called कर्ता. अहङ्कार and its कर्म he clearly knows. That means what: all the कर्मs, i.e., actions belong to अहङ्कार alone, no कर्म belongs to आत्मा, this knowledge is very clear. Just remember the example, when I move the hand the motion belongs to the hand alone and the light does not and cannot move. It is there pervading all over, but it is नित्यः सर्वगतः स्थाणुरवतोऽयम् सनातनः. Similarly, even when we talk about rebirth, it is the अहङ्कार which travels from one place to another but the आत्मा can never have rebirth, because where is आत्मा: आत्मा is all-pervading. Therefore ज्ञानि is one who has understood that all कर्मs belong to अहङ्कार alone, not to आत्मा, this division, this distinction he knows. And therefore he knows that अहङ्कार cannot give up action. Because as long as अहङ्कार is there, being a कर्ता it will have to perform one action of the other, you can only give up one set of actions only to replace by another set of actions. So, if a person gives up गृहस्थ आश्रम and takes up संन्यास आश्रम, can he give up the action? Eating, cannot give up, only thing is he will change the words, no more house - earlier he used the word I am in house now he will be saying I am in आश्रम, previous he will say that I have got a cup or glass now he will say कमण्डलु, previously he will say lunch, dinner now he will say भिक्षा. You can change the words but you cannot give up action. Therefore, at the अहङ्कार level he knows that the actions will have to continue, therefore without resistance he allows the अहङ्कार to work in the world, depending upon what: the type of आश्रम. If you are a संन्यासि do the activities which is fitting for that, if you are गृहस्थ better do गृहस्थ's action. 24 hours you cannot sit and do the जप, then you will get thrashed. गृहस्थ will have to earn, he has to do what he has to, this is the difference between the ज्ञानि and the an अज्ञानि, the details of which we will see in the next class.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 28-30

In these verses beginning from the 21st verse onwards, कृष्ण is talking about the duties of a ज्ञानि who continues to be a गृहस्थ or who continues to be in the society. And since ज्ञानि serves as a model for the society, he must be extremely careful with regard to his lifestyle. And कृष्ण says that therefore many things ज्ञानि will have to do even though he doesn't require those activities for his own benefit; mainly कर्म a ज्ञानि doesn't require, by कर्म also ज्ञानि does not benefit anything and by dropping the कर्म ज्ञानि does not lose anything, even though for him कर्म is not required, कृष्ण says, he has to do to educate the society. And while a ज्ञानि performs actions to guide the people, what will be the difference between ज्ञानि's action and an अज्ञानि's action. कृष्ण talked about the difference from a superficial level first and the difference is an अज्ञानि acts for happiness, ज्ञानि acts with happiness. This is the difference which any lay person can understand. And now कृष्ण talks about the difference at the philosophical or technical level and what is that: ज्ञानि has discovered the higher-Self called आत्मा and from the level of the आत्मा he is able to see अहङ्कार as inferior and insignificant and incidental-I. He does not give अहङ्कार more importance than it deserves. In the case of an अज्ञानि, अहङ्कार is given over importance because अज्ञानि takes अहङ्कार to be himself, therefore अहङ्कार's biography is my biography, अहङ्कार's ups and downs are my ups and downs and therefore I am very very serious about the अहङ्कार's life. But in the case of the ज्ञानि, he has recognized his higher-Self from whose standpoint अहङ्कार is not unimportant, he doesn't neglect the अहङ्कार, he gives it that much importance as it deserves, putting अहङ्कार to play. And what is that अहङ्कार? We saw in the last class, body-mind-complex blessed by the आत्मा, the live body-mind-complex is called अहङ्कार and कृष्ण uses a technical word for अहङ्कार and that is प्रकृति गुणः. In these three verses, the word प्रकृति गुणः is the technical word to convey the meaning of live body-mind-complex and live body-mind-complex is called अहङ्कार in philosophical context and therefore in the 27th verse, कृष्ण talked about the ignorant person, ignorant person identifies with his lower self, identifies with his अहङ्कार and he is enamored प्रकृतेः गुण-सम्मूढाः, अहङ्कार विमूढ-आत्मा. Enamored by this अहङ्कार he suffers, he takes himself to be a कर्ता and consequently he becomes a भोक्ता and he is a doer and he is an enjoyer. And a भोक्ता, भोक्ता means the one who consumes, eats the कर्म-फलम् is called the भोक्ता and a भोक्ता, an eater always enters a mess, remember a भोक्ता always gets into a mess, double meaning. And having talked about an अज्ञानि who is lost in the अहङ्कार, now in this verse कृष्ण talks about the ज्ञानि who sees the अहङ्कार and gives it its-importance but not over-importance. And that is the श्लोक we are seeing, हे महाबाहो! गुण-कर्म-विभागयोः तत्त्ववित्. So a ज्ञानि is one who knows the truth about the गुण and कर्म, गुण means प्रकृति गुण, प्रकृति गुण means अहङ्कार, therefore गुण कर्म means अहङ्कार and its actions. ज्ञानि knows the truth of अहङ्कार and its action and what is the truth, अहङ्कार can never escape from action, whether we like or not, अहङ्कार will have to be eternally active. If अहङ्कार tries to rest as they say, if you rest you will rust, even for maintaining physical health, अहङ्कार has to be active. That is what now-a-days they are saying that the longevity has increased, previously 50 years was average life, now 60, 70 people are healthy because of medical wonders, but if we are going to live longer we should know how to gracefully grow old and how to maintain our physical and mental health and one of the instructions they give is to be active physically and also mentally and therefore, अहङ्कार has to be a कर्ता. And as long as अहङ्कार is a कर्ता it has to be a भोक्ता also, therefore, at अहङ्कार level life is a series of actions and a series of reaping the results of action and many कर्म-फलम्s will be wonderful and many

कर्म-फलम्s are going to be frightening or it is going to be very very painful and ज्ञानि accepts that nature of अहङ्कार and allows अहङ्कार to have its own life. And while he allows the अहङ्कार to go through its life governed by प्रारब्ध, what does he remember: कृष्ण here beautifully says: 'गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते', अहङ्कार is also प्रकृति गुणः, अहङ्कार is प्रकृति गुणः means प्रकृति is basic matter, गुणः means product, प्रकृति गुणः means product of basic matter, what is that: body-mind-complex. Last class what I told, you should remember, प्रकृति गुण is equal to body-mind-complex is equal to अहङ्कार, therefore the first गुण refers to body-mind-complex, which is material in nature and this 'गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते.' What about the world? The world is also प्रकृति गुणः, means product of matter. So body-mind-complex is product of matter, the world is product of matter, अहङ्कार is product of matter, world is also product of matter. अहङ्कार has got three गुणस being material in nature, the world also has got three गुणस; this अहङ्कार and world will eternally interact, you cannot stop the interaction between अहङ्कार and the world and this interaction is going to necessarily produce pleasure and pain. Some interaction will be welcome and many interactions will not be so welcome. But just because it is not welcome I cannot try to escape from the world. If you avoid the people in the city and go to ऋषीकेश, there also there are more people. Once upon a time ऋषीकेश was known as a quiet place, now go there, the so called Burma bazaar or Maya bazaar, that is there in ऋषीकेश also and we went to उत्तरकाशि for a camp and उत्तरकाशि is 4,000 ft height in the interior of हिमालय, we were expecting to see all kinds of ऋषि and all those things, we see the photo, Amitabh bachhan starring. That is welcoming us in उत्तरकाशि. On inquiry we come to know that there is the Tehri dam, the controversial dam, you know, they are building, therefore so many engineers, workers all the people are there, therefore a small market is there, whether the market is there or not, important the cinema theatre is there. You go to बद्रीनाथ and the first shop you find is, they know that Madrasis come and there is a board which says: Masala dosa available hot, hot. So you go anywhere people will be there, if people are not there animals will be there, if animals are not there trees will be there. You cannot escape from the world and people tired of world and trying to escape takes to drinks and drugs, that also will not improve, they are going to become more miserable and they will become incapable of facing the world, therefore, better accept the fact that I have to face the world and interact with the world and therefore ज्ञानि understands, knows - 'गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते', अहङ्कार will interact with the world. Why is ज्ञानि able to allow that to happen? Because he knows even when अहङ्कार is interacting, I have got a higher nature, which is of the nature of चैतन्यम्, which is not affected by all these dramas going, just as the activities of the dream world do not affect the Waker, just as the various things happening in a movie screen does not affect the screen itself, Similarly, the real higher-I am not affected by either the कर्म or फलम्. This fact, the ज्ञानि remembers. So the only way is to discover your higher-Self, so that you are ready to allow अहङ्कार to interact with the world without being fuzzy. इति मत्वा – with this knowledge, न सज्जते – ज्ञानि remains detached, he is able to look at his own अहङ्कार objectively. He is able to look at his अहङ्कार objectively, that means he is able to look at his own body-mind-complex objectively. After all our problem is not the death of the body itself, death of the body does not cause any problem because, so many bodies are dying regularly. What problem we have, daily you read the obituary column, so many people are dying and you are not worried, not only you are not worried you will also speak philosophically, 'after arrival departure is certain.' We will quote गीता also, जातस्य हि ध्रुवः मृत्युः when it is the neighbor's death, therefore the death of the body we are able to accept, with regard to some other body I am able to accept the law of creation, because with regard to the other bodies I am objective.

And I am not able to accept the death of this body or of a few other relatives, the only problem is I have lost objectivity, वेदान्त does not change any facts of life, वेदान्त gives me objectivity. I learn to look at the closest bodies of me or my relatives as one of the bodies in the world and if जातस्य हि ध्रुवः मृत्युः is a universal law for all, that is true for the husband or wife, father or mother, it only affects when it is one of our family, then starts cursing the God wondering whether the God does not have the eyes, ears, etc, so that means what: the problem is not with God, problem is not with the world. Suppose you say: let Lord abolish the law of death, let everybody survive, so that my family people also survive, let us have a New Law, constitutional amendment. 2/3 majority, we just put, imagine the law of physical death is revoked, what will happen, our great-great-great-great-grandfathers, all those people will be now also surviving, with the curved back, 800-year-old, 900 year-old-people, already population explosion, imagine भगवान् has kept mortality, physical mortality perfectly and properly. Our problem is we don't have an objectivity. We want two sets of laws, one for all the other people, they should die at the right time, one set of laws for me and my two. Like you are standing in a queue, when the queue is moving very very slowly, you curse, what is this, people are taking so much time, how many hours to stand, everyone should be given only one second, you should not allow anybody to stand before the Lord more than one second, भगवान् said OK. And the moment he comes in front of the Lord and hears 'move-on, move-on' then he says why I have stood here for 6 and half hours and only one second, again we want two laws, all the people in front of me should move fast, in my case, minimum one hour, this is our problem, we look at our body-mind-complex subjectively. Therefore we don't accept the laws of the Lord. ज्ञानि looks at every body, everybody and every mind from universal law, therefore he does not protest against any event in life, old age he gracefully accepts, separation he gracefully accepts, health deterioration he has to accept, death he has to accept. So this acceptance without resistance is called जीवन्मुक्तिः and therefore कृष्ण says, इति मत्वा – with this knowledge, with this objectivity न सज्जते, ज्ञानि remains detached. Continuing;

Verse No .29

प्रकृतेर्गुणसम्मूढाः सज्जन्ते गुणकर्मसु ।

तानकृत्स्नविदो मन्दान्कृत्स्नविन्न विचालयेत् ॥ ३-२९॥

प्रकृतेः गुण-सम्मूढाः सज्जन्ते गुण-कर्मसु ।

तान् अकृत्स्नविदः मन्दान् कृत्स्नवित् न विचालयेत् ॥ ३-२९॥

प्रकृतेः गुण-सम्मूढाः गुण-कर्मसु सज्जन्ते, तान् अकृत्स्नविदः मन्दान् कृत्स्नवित् न विचालयेत् ।

So कृष्ण comes back to an अज्ञानि once again. In the first line, he repeats the idea given in the 27th verse. So unlike a ज्ञानि, अज्ञानि's problem is he does not have that objectivity with regard to his body-mind-complex, अहङ्कारः. Therefore, कृष्ण says प्रकृतेः गुण-सम्मूढाः. Here also प्रकृति गुण means what: अहङ्कार, अहङ्कार is equal to body-mind-complex. These three don't forget, प्रकृति गुण = अहङ्कार = body-mind-complex. With regard to that सम्मूढाः – the अज्ञानिs are completely deluded, delusion means they don't have objectivity. They want two sets of laws, one for their अहङ्कार and one for others अहङ्कार, this is called delusion. And because of this delusion, गुण-कर्मसु सज्जन्ते – they are totally involved in, immersed in, carried away by, lost in गुण-कर्मसु. Here also the word गुण means प्रकृति गुण = अहङ्कार = body-mind-complex, in that and कर्मसु and their activities. So they are immersed in अहङ्कार and its activities. So immersed that they have no time to even ask the question, am-I this कर्ता-भोक्ता- अहङ्कार only or do I have a higher-Self, at least the question should come. That question doesn't come, because अहङ्कार keeps that person busy throughout his life. So बालस्तावत् क्रीडासक्तः - only play, तरुणस्तावत् तरुणीसक्तः - dating, etc., have started here also, therefore तरुणस्तावत् dating-सक्तः, वृद्धस्तावत् विन्तासक्तः once वृद्धः then lot of time, physically he cannot be active and lot of past life has gone by all these are in the mind, therefore worry-सक्तः. When can I study the गीता, I have been postponing postponing postponing, so therefore, गुण-कर्मसु सज्जन्ते, they are immersed in अहङ्कार. And what can you do with regard to them? Now what should ज्ञानि or what advice a ज्ञानि should give to such अज्ञानि? Which अज्ञानि? Those who are immersed in अहङ्कार and its activities. Now कृष्ण says, never ask them to renounce the कर्म and ask them to take संन्यास and go to ऋषिकेश and उत्तरकाशि, it is deadly, no doubt कर्म is bondage, कर्मफल is संसार no doubt, but initially कर्म is required to ripen the अहङ्कार. So which कर्म is cause for बन्धनम्, the same कर्म should help ripen the अहङ्कार. So कर्म has a negative side, alright, but we should remember that कर्म has got a very very important positive side. I gave the example of the skin of a fruit, it is very important in the initial stages for the ripening of the fruit and that is why भगवान् himself has kept in such a way, when it is raw even if you want to remove the skin it will not peel or else we will feel like an idiot. भगवान् has made it so wonderful and that is why it is not being able to peel off. And once it is ripe, भगवान् himself makes it easily peel able, removable, Why? Because it is not required and not only that, you should not get attached, after all skin is the cause for ripen how can I be an opportunist, I should not throw away the skin and I will eat along with the skin, etc., allow the skin until ripening and remove the skin when it is ripe,

उर्वारुकमिव बन्धनान्मृत्योर्मुक्षीय माऽमृतात् ॥

Oh Lord, keep all the attachments with me, so family is like skin, it should be there. That is why वेद made the four आश्रमसः compulsory, a ब्रह्मचारि was asked to get into गृहस्थ आश्रम, because गृहस्थ आश्रम, wife, children, duties are all like the skins to ripen a person. And once a person has gone through family life and its duties and also its ups and down, enough he brings up one child or (more children, more वैराग्यम्) bring up a few children. Like that person who said, I had five theories of bringing up children before getting marriage. So five theories and no children. Now I have got five children and no theories, because no theories seems to work, what you try for the eldest one you apply in the younger it will not work, then you thought I will change the strategy for the third, it fails; 4th, it fails; like that, you go through all these things they are all like what: skins, गृहस्थ आश्रम is a skin for the जीवात्मा to ripen and once the जीव has ripened,

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

That is called संन्यास आश्रम. I will not ask you to leave everything. If you don't renounce externally at least internally we have to necessarily get detached from everything we were attached to before. Every blessed thing we were attached to before, we have to get detached from, therefore what should a ज्ञानि advice: not renunciation. ज्ञानि should advice be in family life but follow कर्मयोग. And what is the sign of ripening? साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. How do I know I have attained that? कृष्ण himself will discuss that later. So therefore कृष्ण says, तान् मन्दान् कृत्स्नवित् न विचालयेत् कृत्स्नवित् means ज्ञानि, the one who has got total knowledge, कृत्स्नम् means total and what do you mean by total knowledge, the one who has got the knowledge of the lower self, अहङ्कार and also the knowledge of the higher-Self, the आत्मा, that is called the total knowledge, कृत्स्नवित् means a ज्ञानि, who knows his lower and higher nature and मन्दः means अज्ञानि, who has got a partial knowledge, अकृत्स्नवित्. कृष्ण himself says: अकृत्स्नविदः मन्दान्. मन्दः means that man of half-baked knowledge. What do you mean by partial knowledge, they know only the अहङ्कार the lower self, they don't know:

न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचित् ... ॥ २-२०॥ that आत्मा they don't know, therefore they are अज्ञानि. कृष्ण says ज्ञानि should not confuse an अज्ञानि. न विचालयेत् means should not shake him, should not disturb him by emphasizing संन्यास. That is why in our tradition they never emphasize संन्यास in public because unripe person taking संन्यास is danger for संन्यास itself and is danger for the शास्त्र, danger for the person, danger for the society, danger for everyone and therefore only after personal observation, seeing that the person is qualified then only they give. दयानन्द स्वामिजि always says, if a person asks should I take संन्यास, say No. You understand it in the question itself, so therefore never emphasize संन्यास to an अज्ञानि, encourage him to remain in duties because once he gets ripened he need not drop the attachment, once he gets ripened he need not drop the attachment, then what will happen: उर्वारकम् इव बन्धनात्, they will naturally drop like our balloon-desire. Doesn't we have वैराग्यम् in balloon or not or did you do daily balloon meditation. As you grow, from your higher status all these small petty things you cried-for as a child you naturally drop and it is so natural, that you are not even aware of the fact that we have dropped nor you put in your newspapers that I have got detachment from banana peel, you don't declare it, because it is natural, therefore you grow out of attachment and therefore कृष्ण says कृत्स्नवित्, a ज्ञानि should not confuse an अज्ञानि. Continuing;

Verse No .30

मयि सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्याध्यात्मचेतसा ।

निराशीर्निर्ममो भूत्वा युध्यस्व विगतज्वरः ॥ ३-३०॥

मयि सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्य अध्यात्म-चेतसा ।

निराशीः निर्ममः भूत्वा युध्यस्व विगत-ज्वरः ॥ ३-३०॥

मयि अध्यात्म-चेतसा सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्य निराशीः निर्ममः विगत-ज्वरः भूत्वा, युध्यस्व ।

With the previous verse, कृष्ण's advice to ज्ञानि is over, which started from the 21st verse or to be precise 20th verse 2nd line onwards this topic started. कृष्ण's first advice was to अज्ञानि and कृष्ण's second advice is to ज्ञानि. अज्ञानि have to do कर्म for चित्त शुद्धिः, ज्ञानि have to do कर्म for लोक-सङ्ग्रहः. And when an अज्ञानि does कर्म for चित्तशुद्धिः it is called कर्मयोगः, when ज्ञानि does for लोक-सङ्ग्रहः you don't call कर्मयोग, you cannot say ज्ञानि does कर्मयोग, to say that a person is a कर्मयोगि is to say that he is an अज्ञानि. So therefore, when an अज्ञानि does कर्म for purification it is called कर्मयोगः, when ज्ञानि does कर्म for लोक-सङ्ग्रहम्, upliftment of the society, we don't call it कर्मयोगः it is only ज्ञानि's लीला or ज्ञानि's कर्म. So this ज्ञानि's-duty topic is over. Now in the 30th श्लोक, कृष्ण comes back to the topic of कर्मयोग once again and sums up the entire कर्मयोग in one important verse. This कर्मयोग is for ज्ञानि or an अज्ञानि? कर्मयोग means अज्ञानि. Therefore, 29th verse is addressed to ज्ञानि, the topic is over. 30th verse is again addressed to an अज्ञानि, because कृष्ण knows अर्जुन belongs to which variety: अज्ञानि variety, कृष्ण knows, whether अर्जुन wants to accept it or not. अर्जुन, either way you have to do कर्म and I know you belong to an अज्ञानि category, therefore, perform your duty as कर्मयोग and what is the कर्मयोगः here कर्मयोग is defined as the five-fold-discipline. So a कर्मयोगि should observe these 5 rules, 5-point-programme is कर्मयोग, This is an important verse which sums up कर्मयोग in one श्लोक and what are the five points to be remembered. I will rearrange the verse so that we will get a development.

A) First condition is अध्यात्म-चेतसा. शङ्कराचार्य comments upon this verse as विवेक बुद्धि. So the first condition to be a कर्मयोगि is to have a विवेक बुद्धि, विवेक बुद्धि means a right knowledge or right discrimination, that is first condition and what do you mean by discrimination? The awareness that spiritual goal alone is the primary goal of life. My life is meaningful, purposeful and valid only if it is dedicated to the primary goal of spiritual knowledge or मोक्षः.

यः आत्मानम् विदित्वा अस्मात् लोकात् प्रैति स ब्राह्मणः ॥
बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ३-८-१० ॥

बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् says that only that person whose spends his life for Self-knowledge and dies after gaining Self-knowledge, only that person deserves the title ब्राह्मणः,

यः आत्मानम् विदित्वा अस्मात् लोकात् प्रैति स ब्राह्मणः । यः आत्मानम् अविदित्वा अस्मात् लोकात् प्रैति स कृपणः ।

कृपणः means a miserly person, because he didn't spend his life properly. And therefore, we should remember that the life is valid only if it is dedicated to spirituality primarily. Therefore to be a कर्मयोगि, मोक्ष must be my ultimate goal. We don't say धर्म-अर्थ-काम should not be pursued, we require धर्म, अर्थ and काम, अर्थ wealth is required, काम entertainment is required because mind requires relaxation and even पुण्यम् is required for getting a proper गुरु, गुरु one should get and he should be proper. Therefore we require धर्म-अर्थ-काम, but there are not ends in themselves. If I consider money to be an end, then I can never be a कर्मयोगि, for a कर्मयोगि money can only be a means,

आहारार्थम् कर्म कुर्यादजस्रम् स्यादाहारः प्राणसंधारणार्थम् ।

प्राणा धार्याः तत्त्वजिज्ञासनार्थम् तत्त्वम् ज्ञेयम् येन भूयो न दुःखम् ॥
महासुभाषितसंग्रह ११०६ ॥

आहारार्थम् कर्म कुर्यादजस्रम् – for eating you have to necessarily work in the world because you have to earn a living, eating for what purpose: स्यादाहारः प्राणसंधारणार्थम् – we have to eat so that we can keep ourselves alive and why should we live, earlier it was said, why should we eat? for living; why should we live? you should not say for eating. प्राणा धार्याः तत्त्वजिज्ञासनार्थम् – I keep my life going primary for तत्त्वजिज्ञासनार्थम्, Self-enquiry; तत्त्वम् ज्ञेयम् येन भूयो न दुःखम्. So this must be very clear, this is condition No.1. Spiritual goal, Then what is the next condition?

B) No.2. मयि सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्य. Dedicate, संन्यस्य should be carefully translated here, normally संन्यस्य means renouncing. Here in this context, does not mean renunciation, संन्यस्य means offering, dedicating, what: सर्वाणि कर्माणि – all the actions, to whom: मयि, भगवान् says मयि, therefore, at my feet, ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि. So dedicate all the actions to the Lord, convert your work into a worship, यद्यत्कर्म करोमि तत्तदस्वितम् शंभो तवाराधनम् ॥ शिवमानसपूजा ४ ॥ whatever I do, that all is your आराधनम्, even while eating we say प्राणाय स्वाहा, अपानाय स्वाहा that is also offering to the Lord who is in your stomach and in our religion, ultimately God is not in temples alone, the entire creation is manifestation of the Lord, therefore to do कर्मयोग or worship you don't necessarily require a temple, anywhere you do action mentally you offer to the Lord, that action has become a worship. Therefore what is the 2nd condition: ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, convert work into a worship and the corollary of that is, if I am offering the actions to the Lord whom I revere, naturally I do my best. So I cannot give rotten things to a reverend person. When you want to give to someone whom you respect you have to give the best, स्वामिजि I have made this dish, which has come good today, therefore I have brought it for you, other day it didn't come well. So therefore you want to offer the best to the Lord, therefore if I am going to offer my actions to the Lord, the actions must be wholeheartedly, sincerely done, without grumbling, without grudging, कर्मयोगि doesn't have all that in his dictionary. Even the most grossest job he does with love. So therefore the second condition is worship. Convert work into a worship.

C) Then what is the third condition? निराशीः. निराशीः means literally being not concerned about the result, आशा means concern, सङ्कल्प, anxiety, is called आशा or आशीः, आशीस् शब्दः, सकारान्त आशीः, आशिषौ, आशिषः; आशा is another word, आकारान्त स्त्रीलिङ्ग, here निराशीः is सकारान्त आशिस् शब्दः. Very careful, कृष्ण does not say we should not plan for the result, without keeping the result in view you cannot do any job, even when you have to get into the bus, the bus route number that you get into depends upon what? The destination in mind, that is why if you ask which bus number I should get in the bus stand if you ask, he will ask a counter question, where to go, you cannot say somewhere, then he will send you to mental hospital, so the bus number is determined by the destination. So every movement is determined by the goal that I want to acquire, therefore कृष्ण does not condemn planning, what कृष्ण condemns is planning is something, worrying is quite another, anxiety is quite another. Plan, implement and leave the rest to the Lord. I have talked about the difference between planning and worrying, planning is a deliberate action which can be done at a particular time chosen by you. Suppose you want to have a pilgrimage, काशि, रामेश्वरम्, गया, etc., you can sit down, also talk to other people, which train, which flight, first where to go, this is all called planning. Planning is a deliberate action done at a particular time, you can do it, you need not do it, you can change it to another time also. But what about worrying? Is worrying a deliberate action done at a particular time? If you say so, I will tell you, from tomorrow allot some time for worrying, morning 6.30 to 7.30 sitting in पद्मासन, first worry about the elder son, then the second daughter, then the husband is there or the wife and thereafter the father, for each 5 to 7 minutes, if worry is a deliberate action, you can choose and do, but worry happens, therefore it is a reaction. Planning will make you efficient, worrying will make you inefficient; planning is also with regard to future, worrying is also with regard to future; planning makes you efficient, worrying makes you forget even the plan, makes you deficient and inefficient. वेदान्त does not criticize planning, वेदान्त criticizes worrying. निराशीः here means worry dropping कृत्वा. So don't be concerned. Then you may ask an incidental question, स्वामिजि I don't want to worry, but what to do it is there in my mind, especially when I sit in meditation, whether भगवान् comes or not, worry comes first, what should I do? Worry is because of our inability to face the future which is born out of mental weakness, worry is our incapacity to face the future, our unpreparedness to face the adverse situations that may come, therefore the only solution for worry is preparedness, strengthening, I have planned for काशि, गया trip, but I don't know whether there will be strike exactly on that day, who is going to do the strike how will you know? Strike, so you cannot worry; if strike is there, strike your plan. I have plans and then wait, hope for the best and be prepared for the worst, therefore निराशीः means preparedness for the future, this the third condition.

D) The fourth condition is निर्ममः – Freedom from ममकार, what do you mean by ममकार? When success comes, the general human tendency is when the success comes, I take all the credit, I planned, I choose this train, everything I, I, I. The moment there is a failure, then the plan is given by my wife or my husband or some scapegoat or other, you all would have experienced. Therefore here कृष्ण says, when success comes don't claim the whole glory to yourselves, any success is because of so many factors being favorable to you, which factors are not under your control including the strike. And your role is only an insignificant role compared to the infinite number of hidden variables, they use in all kinds of management and other things, they are so many hidden variables and there are so many known variables but uncontrollable variables, so many factors are there, they all have been favorable therefore I got success, therefore no doubt I am proud, I have contributed to the success but I know that the भगवान्, all the hidden variables put together is called भगवान्. Like at the end of the program, vote of thanks, a long list, last but not the least, what we do in tradition is put all the external factors into one bracket and that is ईश्वरः. Therefore निर्ममः means be grateful to the Lord. You can tell: I succeeded but don't put a full stop, put a comma and add by the grace of the Lord. Let that humility be there, arrogance is deadly.

Therefore the 4th factor is humility. And then comes the fifth factor, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 30-33

From 30th verse onwards upto verse no. 35 Lord कृष्ण is summarizing the teaching of कर्मयोग which he had given before and in this 30th verse he is presenting the entire कर्मयोग as a five point program as it were, the five conditions to be taken care of to be a कर्मयोगि. This we were seeing in the last class.

➤ The first condition that कृष्ण prescribes is अध्यात्म-चेतसा. To be a कर्मयोगि, one should be very clear about the priorities of life. कर्मयोगि should be considering that spiritual progress is primary and if material goals have to be necessarily accomplished, but that is subservient to the spiritual goal only, this in Vedantic parlance, we call नित्य-अनित्य वस्तु विवेकः. नित्य वस्तु means मोक्षः, अनित्य वस्तु means धर्म-अर्थ-काम. धर्म-अर्थ-कामs are ephemeral, मोक्षः alone is eternal. I have to use धर्म-अर्थ-काम for attaining मोक्षः. This clarity of the primary goal of life is called अध्यात्म-चेतसा. शङ्कराचार्य comments, विवेक बुद्धि.

➤ Then the second condition that कृष्ण prescribes is सर्वाणि कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य. Once spiritual goal is my primary goal then the immediate thing to be taken care of is the purification of the mind, that has to start straightaway. Like when people buy a land for an आश्रम, the buildings may come later and activities may start later, the first thing they do is to dig a well and plant some trees so that the trees will be growing by the time the आश्रम is ready, trees will be sufficiently grown up. They will start that first, in the same way, when I am going to be ready for Vedantic enquiry I do not know, how long I will take for getting साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति I do not know. Therefore let me straightaway start purification of mind, for that you don't require any special license from Government or any other documentation, you can straightaway start, the only way of purifying the mind is involving God. God alone has the capacity to purify because everything else is already impure. Therefore if I try to use any other mode, it won't work.

It is like sometimes you have got, what you call, a hole to allow the dirty water to go out, so that the dirty water in my compound can go out, but often what happens is, instead of dirty water going out, whatever dirty water is there outside will come inside, because all around there is sewage water. Therefore, there is only one purifying source, that is भगवान्. And even if there is some saint you can purify me, saint does not purify me by himself, saint is the one who has the Lord in his heart and when I say a saint purifies me, who purifies is the Lord who is in the saint. And therefore the immediate procedure is to associate yourselves with God. How do you do that: convert every action into a worship, therefore सर्वाणि कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य, ईश्वरार्पण बुद्ध्या, सर्वं कर्म अनुष्ठानम् is the second condition,

➤ Then the third condition that कृष्ण gives is निराशीः. Any कर्म will produce a फलम्, there is no fruitless action, every कर्म will have to produce the result and unfortunately, I have no way of knowing what type of result it will produce. And that is how there is unpredictability in human life and there are shocking situations, कर्मयोगि has to prepare the mind to receive any type of result, because I appreciate the Lord as the most just-principle in the world. Lord can never do injustice to me. And if there is a gap between what I expect and what happens, the mistake is not with the Lord, but the mistake is with my wrong calculation, human computer may commit mistake because virus are all over, you know computer virus different types, whereas भगवान्'s computer can never commit mistakes, therefore the third condition is: preparedness to accept all the consequences which we call as प्रसाद बुद्धि. So विवेक बुद्धि, ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, प्रसाद बुद्धि. This is the third condition.

➤ Then the fourth condition to be a कर्मयोगि is: if at all your actions are successful, never take the credit to yourselves because any success depends upon innumerable factors. Of those innumerable factors, more than 90% is not under your control. If we are conducting this class, that we have put forth effort and we are sitting here, class is there, but if it should continue so many favorable factors are required including the power situation. If the power goes now we have to just say पूर्णमदः and get up. That is why somebody asked how is the current situation, the reply was 'shocking.' So therefore, anytime anything can happen, आध्यात्मिक, आधिभौतिक, आधिदैविक can obstruct, therefore if those factors are favorable, I am grateful to the Lord, therefore निर्ममः. We don't say that our contribution is not there, certainly we accept पुरुषार्थः, but पुरुषार्थः is the smallest percentage, ईश्वर अनुग्रह is the biggest percentage. So many factors are involved, therefore निर्ममत्वम् means what: be humble, be humble, up to this we saw, humility or ममत्व अभावः or in the 13th chapter कृष्ण calls अमानित्वम्. So what are the four factors now? विवेक बुद्धि, ईश्वर अर्पण बुद्धि, प्रसाद बुद्धि, अमानित्वम् or ममत्व अभाव. You can tell I did everything of course blessed by the Lord, add that clause, I worked hard, of course supported by the Lord and now we have to see the fifth factor, the first 4 factors we saw in the last class.

➤ Now the fifth factor, almost a natural consequence of the previous four factors. In fact, fifth factor we need not enumerate because if we follow the first four, the fifth is automatic, but still being important कृष्ण adds that, what is that: विगतज्वरः, ज्वरः means fever and the fever is of two types, one is स्थूल शरीर ज्वरः, कायिक ज्वरः and the other is मानस ज्वरः, mental feverishness which is stress or strain, because there also we say my mind got heated up, body 98.4%, mind temperature can't be measured, still we use the expression, I got heated up, there is a heated argument, heated discussion, means stress or strain or tension is called ज्वरः and विगतज्वरः means equanimity or to remember the 2nd chapter, समत्वम् योग उच्यते, विगतज्वरत्वम् नाम समत्वम्. Our equanimity is disturbed in two ways, because we function in two ways, one is we function as a कर्ता, as the doer of varieties of action and the second role that we play is as भोक्ता, because constantly the results are flowing in, one side we are acting, another side things are happening, that is why somebody asked, what is life? “Life is what happens to you while you’re busy making other plans.” You have wonderful plans, daughter must be like this, son like this, husband like this, suddenly a news comes something totally unexpected, till that no talk of life, now, life is what? Therefore we are functioning in two ways, constantly, as a कर्ता and as a भोक्ता and our mind can be disturbed both ways.

❖ When I am doing an action which I don’t like, there is tension, in fact, they have found that most of the problems are because we have jobs which we don’t love or like, especially in the present employment situation when getting a job itself is difficult, this person is qualified for something and he loves to do something and then what he gets totally something else, therefore there is resistance to that work, but what to do, family is there, children are studying, one has to work for the money. Fortunately or unfortunately 8 hours of our waking period is in job, 5 or 6 days of the week, 4 weeks of a month and 12 months of the year and so many years up to your retirement whatever be the age, I have to do that job. Imagine I don’t love that job, there is a strain every moment, there is a resistance every moment, there is a drag every moment, I always look forward to weekend and Sunday evenings are always terrible, why, I have to go for work tomorrow. गीता class is there and I am saved. So we get lot of diseases and lot of problems when I am not happy as a कर्ता and therefore the most important advice is if you cannot do what you like, learn to like whatever you have to do, start today itself, learn to like whatever you have to do, by innovating the job, by improving the job, finding something doing research so that I am enjoying what I do. One of the most important characteristics of a कर्मयोगि, कृष्ण tells in the 18th chapter is, धृति-उत्साह-समन्वितः, he must be the embodiment of उत्साह – enthusiasm, half of our tension is gone if I love to learn what I have to do and that is equanimity as कर्ता.

❖ Then the second source of tension is as a भोक्ता, I have resistance to what is happening and when I have resistance I blame everyone in the world and poor Lord also is scolded left and right. Therefore as a भोक्ता equanimity is possible if I learn to accept whatever comes as a result with the total understanding that भगवान् cannot be unjust, the most painful experience is justice only. And if I say that स्वामिजि I know that it is justice but I cannot bear it, what to do, you can say and go, but I cannot bear it, स्वामिजि you are only a single man, I know I have to accept it, but how to do it? Surrender to the very same Lord, Oh Lord, I know you are doing justice alone, but I don't have the strength to accept this, please bless me with strength to face what I should face, this is called विगतज्वरःत्वम् and अर्जुन as a कर्ता, he has problem, he has to shoot his near and dear ones, भीष्म, द्रोण, कृप, therefore as a कर्ता, it is painful and after shooting when they are killed.

❖ गुरुनहत्वा हि महानुभावान् श्रेयो भोक्तुम् भैक्ष्यमपीह लोके ।

❖ हत्वार्थकामांस्तु गुरुनिहैव भुञ्जीय भोगान् रुधिरप्रदिग्धान् ॥ २-७॥

❖ Even if he is victorious in war, he cannot be happy because it is the blood stained pleasures that he is going to get. What a painful situation that अर्जुन is facing. But there is no other way, he has to love killing them and without resistance, he has to accept the consequence either of their death or his own death. Therefore अर्जुन, be calm, विगतज्वरः. So समत्वम् is the fifth condition.

1) So priority with regard to life goals, 2) Offering all actions to the Lord, 3) Accepting all results as God's gift, 4) Humbly appreciating the blessing of the Lord in success, 5) Finally maintenance of समत्वम्. This is the five point program. And even if you want to have a five year plan, you can practice point no.1 for one year, take your own time, but it is worth it. Continuing;

Verse No .31

ये मे मतमिदं नित्यमनुतिष्ठन्ति मानवाः ।

श्रद्धावन्तोऽनसूयन्तो मुच्यन्ते तेऽपि कर्मभिः ॥ ३-३१॥

ये मे मतम् इदम् नित्यम् अनुतिष्ठन्ति मानवाः ।

श्रद्धावन्तः अनसूयन्तः मुच्यन्ते ते अपि कर्मभिः ॥ ३-३१॥

ये मानवाः श्रद्धावन्तः अनसूयन्तः इदम् मे मतम् नित्यम् अनुतिष्ठन्ति, ते अपि कर्मभिः मुच्यन्ते ।

So in these two verses, कृष्ण talks about the advantage of following कर्मयोग and the disadvantage of not following कर्मयोग. If you follow what will happen, if you don't follow what will happen. First he talks about the followers. इदम् मतम् मानवाः अनुतिष्ठन्ति – there are some lucky people, blessed people who follow this teaching of mine to their capacity. कृष्ण doesn't expect perfection from us, कृष्ण expects only sincere effort on our part and therefore मानवाः – some people, इदम् मतम्, मतम् means teaching, so this teaching of mine, which teaching: कर्मयोग teaching of mine, some people follow, when, नित्यम् – constantly, some people follow. Because every moment I am a कर्ता or I am a भोक्ता and how do they follow this teaching, श्रद्धावन्तः – with total faith in the efficacy of this teaching, in the validity of this teaching; faith is required because the benefit of कर्मयोग is spiritual in nature. It is not a concrete measurable benefit, like 5% profit or this particular result like crops coming. They say you put this fertilizer and see whether there is increase in the production. So there the benefit is spiritually quantifiable, measurable, but for following कर्मयोग, I cannot tell you follow कर्मयोग, your weight will increase, or it will decrease, or the hair will grow if you don't have, I cannot present any concrete benefit, because the benefit is subtle benefit. If it is सकाम कर्म the invisible benefit is अदृष्ट पुण्यम्, पुण्यम् also I cannot show and if it is निष्काम कर्म the benefit is purification of mind, I cannot show it. I can only say that you practice and see for yourself. I cannot physically show it, therefore what is more important: श्रद्धावन्तः – with faith in the efficacy of the teaching and अनसूयन्तः – without असूयः. So असूयः in Vedantic context or in धर्म- शास्त्र context असूयः means criticizing mentality, all the time looking for mistakes in others. दयानन्द स्वामिजि says: a proof readers' mind, a proof reader concentratedly looks for what: his job is to find out mistakes, but for a proof reader it is a virtue, but in life, I should not be a proof reader, but that tendency is very much, if we observe our life, children also if they bring their progress report, Maths, 95%, English 98%, Science 100, Physics... Social studies, 68%, how many dates one can remember, when this man was born, when that man died, poor child it gets only 68 marks, now the mother doesn't say wonderful for all these 95, 98, she doesn't see, only she is see the 68 with a magnifying glass, why did you get only 68. If the child doesn't get psychologically destroyed it is only because of भगवान्'s grace. So we think that only we have to point out the mistake, there is a logic also, the misconception is if I go on saying wonderful, the child will become arrogant and therefore I don't want to do that, but the other side is what? The child will be psychologically destroyed, therefore the most important thing is critical mindedness is a very very bad tendency. And कृष्ण says especially with regard to scriptures we should never have that attitude, because if we have such a critical mind then we will reject the scriptures and by rejecting the scriptures, scriptures are not going to lose anything and our ऋषिs are not going to lose anything, even भगवान् is not going to lose anything, भगवान् doesn't require our certificate - to whomsoever it may concern, गीता is without flaw - if I give the certificate, भगवान् doesn't expect any certificate from us. If we are critical we are only going to suffer, therefore, असूयः means परगुणेषु दोषः आविष्करणम् असूयः, परगुणेषु – even the wonderful features of another, दोषः

आविष्करणम् – seeing the दोषः and suppose I see some defect in the गीता, what should I do, should I blindly accept, am I not a rational person and an intelligent person, should I have a blind faith, should I be superstitious, because especially this is rational युग, we are supposed to think and accept, so if I see some defect in the गीता what should I do? We have two answers. Let us assume there is some defect, then our answer is don't bother about the defect part, bother about the beautiful teaching and try to follow that, like taking gold from the earth. When I am getting gold, gold does not come in pure form, there may be lot of impurity, just because there is impurity, I don't throw away the gold, what do I do, tons of ore is turned only into a few grams, still I hold on to that, my respect, value for gold is so much that I take it and remove whatever is unwanted and take the best part.

यान्यस्माकं सुचरितानि । तानि त्वयोपास्यानि ॥ २॥ इत्येकादशऽनुवाकः ॥

ऋषिः themselves openly declare that if there are any beautiful character features in us, take it. Similarly, why can't you take the wonderful features of the scriptures? Why do you throw the baby along with the bath water, this is the first answer, assuming that there are defects. And the second answer is: If you feel that there are certain defects in the scriptures, it only means I have not understood that portion properly. The problem is not with the scriptures, the problem is our limited intellect, if we have got sufficient श्रद्धा and probe into the scriptures once again with the guidance of a संप्रदाय गुरु, there संप्रदायम् gets importance, you will come to know that it is proper only and this attitude is called अनसूय. It is a very very important virtue. कृष्ण stresses in the गीता several times. In the 9th chapter he tells, in the 18th chapter, he talks of the 4 qualifications to study the गीता, among the four qualifications कृष्ण stresses this अनसूय qualification. So therefore, अनसूयन्त, not being critical. The one who follows the कर्मयोग teaching of mine, what will happen to him: ते कर्मभिः मुच्यन्ते – they will be freed from all कर्मs, they will be freed from all कर्म-फलम्s also, in short they will be liberated. ते कर्मभिः मुच्यन्ते means जीवन्मुक्तः भवन्ति. But we should add a note, what is that note, if the scriptures say that कर्मयोग will give मोक्षः, what is the note that we have to add, we have already seen कर्मयोग can give only purity, never मोक्ष and if कृष्ण says कर्मयोग will give मोक्ष, we have to add, through ज्ञानम्. That clause we have to add, कर्मयोग will ultimately lead you to मोक्षः, how by giving you purity, by giving you गुरु, by giving you शास्त्र, by giving an opportunity for श्रवण, मनन, निदिध्यासन ज्ञानम्, by giving you अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि ज्ञानम् they will be liberated. Verse No .32

सर्वज्ञानविमूढांस्तान्विद्धि नष्टानचेतसः ॥ ३-३२॥

ये तु एतत् अभ्यसूयन्तः न अनुतिष्ठन्ति मे मतम् ।

सर्व-ज्ञान-विमूढान् तान् विद्धि नष्टान् अचेतसः ॥ ३-३२॥

ये तु एतत् अभ्यसूयन्तः मे मतम् न अनुतिष्ठन्ति, तान् सर्व-ज्ञान-विमूढान् अचेतसः नष्टान् विद्धि ।

Now having talked about those people who follow कर्मयोग, in this verse कृष्ण talks about those who refuse to follow. So ये मे मतम् न अनुतिष्ठन्ति, there are so many people who refuse to follow this teaching. Refusal to follow is easier, following is always difficult. Not following is always easier, you know why, because when we do not follow the teaching it means we are leading a life according to our own whims and fancies, an instinctive life, a let-go life. Whenever I want to get up I get up and then sit in the bed and take bed coffee and think for another 15 minutets and decide whether to get up or sleep again, it is always easier to go by our instincts which life is called प्राकृत life, प्राकृत means doing according to the प्रकृति. Whereas कर्मयोग teaches us to go by शास्त्र propriety, शास्त्र विधि निषेधः, it is a संस्कृत life. And to follow a संस्कृत life often I have to always fight against my own nature, so always कर्मयोग is swimming against the tide, it is an uphill task. That is going down a mountain, what effort is required, our weight itself is enough, that will take us down but if you have to climb the mountain you have to go against the natural gravity and therefore we always look for what, some excuse or the other and you will find most of our religious practices are peculiar, during this one month when you will like to sleep one hour extra, they will say in this मार्गशीर्ष month one has to go to the temple at 4 a.m. You know why the शास्त्र have kept such rules, they want to break our laziness, they want to break our तमो गुण and for a तमो गुणि, it is always easier to give one excuse or the other and if they learn वेदान्त they can argue better also, after all भगवान् is सर्वव्यापि, should one come to the temple? Why should I come to some temple or anything? So therefore, it is always easier to go by our nature. Therefore he says: ये तु मे मतम् न अनुतिष्ठन्ति, because of what: अभ्यसूयन्तः – finding fault with गीता teaching, saying that it is all superstition, it is all obsolete, no more valid now, युग has changed, some excuse or the other, it is for त्रेता युग and not for कलियुग, etc., some excuse, अभ्यसूयन्तः न अनुतिष्ठन्ति, सर्व-ज्ञान-विमूढान् – कृष्ण says those people are utterly deluded people. So they are utterly deluded with regard to all knowledge, सर्व-ज्ञान means all knowledge and what does कृष्ण mean by that, we categorize the knowledge into two types, one is धर्म-अधर्म ज्ञानम् and the another is आत्म-अनात्मा ज्ञानम्. So one is धर्म-अधर्म ज्ञानम्. And another is आत्म-अनात्मा ज्ञानम्, first we have to get धर्म-अधर्म ज्ञानम्. Later we have to get आत्म-अनात्मा ज्ञानम्. First is अपरा विद्या, next one is called परा विद्या. कृष्ण says these people are confused not only with regard to आत्म-अनात्मा, they are confused with regard to धर्म-अधर्म also. Therefore with regard to वेद अन्त also they are confused, with regard to वेद पूर्व also they are confused, with regard to अथातो धर्म जिज्ञासा they are confused, with regard to अथातो ब्रह्म

जिज्ञासा also they are confused. OK. And why all these? अचेतसः because these people are indiscriminate people, they don't have the rational faculty, they don't learn from their experience, they are unintelligent people, because when the शास्त्र prescribes certain disciplines you can look at it positively or negatively. Positively you can take it as a prescription given by the शास्त्र for our own spiritual health, like doctor's health prescription. When they say that you should have some exercise regularly, it is always a painful thing, one hour walk in the morning is difficult, but get up, have breakfast and then TV is a happy thing. Walking is always a painful thing. If I know why that person is prescribing, not for doctor's health but for my own benefit then I will follow. Similarly, I should understand every prescription given by the शास्त्र is for my own good. शङ्कराचार्य says in his कठ भाष्यम्,

मातृपितृसहस्रेभ्योऽपि हितैषिणा ... । ॥कठोपनिषत् भाष्यम् २-१-१५ ॥

The श्रुति, the वेद is equal to a thousand mothers, just as a mother will not prescribe anything which is not good for me, शास्त्र will never mislead me. That conviction must be there, this is the positive way of looking. The negative way of looking which is easier is, if I have to follow the शास्त्र I lose my freedom and शास्त्र is restricting my freedom. I am a human being, I can choose to do whatever I want, therefore I will do whatever I like - false assertion of unintelligent freedom, this is the negative approach. कृष्ण says these unintelligent people have negative approach. And what will happen to them, कृष्ण says नष्टान् विद्धि, अर्जुन you understand all such people are destroyed spiritually, they are lost spiritually, they have lost one precious life - I do not know when my next chance is, I have got a rare chance I should make use of, I have destroyed myself, not physically, spiritually they are destroyed, therefore अर्जुन you decide which category you want to be. Verse No .33

सदृशं चेष्टते स्वस्याः प्रकृतेर्ज्ञानवानपि ।

प्रकृतिं यान्ति भूतानि निग्रहः किं करिष्यति ॥ ३-३३॥

सदृशम् चेष्टते स्वस्याः प्रकृतेः ज्ञानवान् अपि ।

प्रकृतिम् यान्ति भूतानि निग्रहः किम् करिष्यति ॥ ३-३३॥

ज्ञानवान् अपि स्वस्याः प्रकृतेः सदृशम् चेष्टते । भूतानि प्रकृतिम् यान्ति । निग्रहः किम् करिष्यति ?

So here कृष्ण points out that everyone is born with a particular personality which is determined according to शास्त्र by the three-fold गुणs known as सत्त्व, रजस् and तमस् and the personality of a human being is determined by the proportion of these three गुणs. सत्त्व representing the knowledge faculty, रजस् representing the dynamism or the activity faculty and तमस् representing the opposite of these two, that which dullens both सत्त्व and रजस्, inertia faculty, both physical and intellectual inertia; intellectual cholesterol is called तमस्. Based on this alone in our tradition they have classified the entire humanity into ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य and शूद्र, about which we will study in the 4th chapter elaborately, here it is sufficient if we note this much that some people are predominantly withdrawn, some people are predominantly extrovert and activity prone and there are some others who are not good in either of them they are good for unskilled mechanical type of action and knowledge. And once we know our personality, the ideal thing will be to take up a work which is in keeping with our personality. As I said only when the personality and profession tally properly, I will love what I am doing. Otherwise there will be a strain and therefore शास्त्र's first preference is we take up any action which is in keeping with our गुण. And that is why विश्वामित्र became a ब्रह्म ऋषि even though he was born a क्षत्रिय, he was सत्त्व predominant, became a ब्रह्म ऋषि and द्रोण, a ब्राह्मण became a warrior, he fought in महाभारत war. Now कृष्ण says अर्जुन it is better to go by your प्रकृतिः, by your

स्वभाव and you are born as a क्षत्रिय and you are an embodiment of क्षत्रिय गुण and क्षत्रिय गुण is what, not sitting and meditating, it is impossible for you, if that is what you like, 13 years of forest life you should have enjoyed, you should have considered as a wonderful blessing and you should also said that we will continue there itself doing तपस्. But अर्जुन was one of the most uncomfortable one in the forest and he was waiting for the 13th year and ready to fight the महाभारत war because he knew that दुर्योधन will create problems. अर्जुन enjoys warfare and he went even to help इन्द्र, he loved it, but now when he has to kill his own kith and kin he doesn't want to take up that bitter duty, therefore suddenly he talks about आश्रम, ध्यानम्, संन्यास. It is like some people whenever they have problems at home, I will go to ऋषिकेश they say, because they are definite that the wife will say, don't go and blackmailing like this, one day the wife will say, 'O.K. You go', then your idiocracy will be exposed, so this is called श्मशान वैराग्यम्, प्रसूतिका वैराग्यम् they say. Similarly, अर्जुन is trying to get out of the whole thing, because he is not ready, therefore कृष्ण advises अर्जुन, अर्जुन your personality is not meant for संन्यास. So you have to go according to your प्रकृति and not only you, but any human being, therefore he says, स्वस्याः प्रकृतेः सदृशम् चेष्टते – one acts according to one's own प्रकृति, here प्रकृति means what: the proportion of सत्त्व, रजस् and तमस् which will vary from individual to individual. So स्वस्याः प्रकृतेः स्वभावस्य सदृशम्, सदृशम् means अनुसारेण चेष्टते, that is why occasional guidance also they tell that you put the child in a room and keep all kinds of play things and watch what the child is doing. One child will take the choke piece and start scribbling, painting etc, another child will take to musical instrument, another child will take the screw driver and open everything, another type of mind, each child has got its own personality and they say that if you guide the child according to its inclination it will come up very well, don't say that our child is not interested in anything. You have to check, who knows whether he is fit for वेदान्त or not, you can be happy about it, OK. स्वस्याः प्रकृतेः सदृशम् चेष्टते ज्ञानवान् अपि, which is true even if that person is a ज्ञानि. Even a ज्ञानि's life is governed by his प्रकृति, that is why if you see the biographies of many ज्ञानिs, even though all are ज्ञानिs and all have got equal knowledge, the lifestyle that they lead varies from individual to individual. One has a tendency to withdraw from everything and sit inside a cave and another ज्ञानि he comes out and establishes institutions and writes books and all those things, which ज्ञानि is great, who is bigger ब्रह्मन्, so active ज्ञानि is bigger ब्रह्मन्, passive is smaller ब्रह्मन्. No. Active or passive, ज्ञानि is a ज्ञानि. So we have a tendency to criticize a passive one saying that they are not contributing to the society, etc., we feel but remember their very presence is a blessing and In fact, they indirectly teach that it is possible for a person to sit quiet without doing anything. That itself is a doubtful proposition for me, therefore even ज्ञानि's life is governed by their personality. That is why स्वामिजि again beautifully says: that even among gods you find that they have different personality. Even the very musical instrument that they keep vary, सरस्वती can't she have the flute, can't कृष्ण keep the वीणा, why: प्रकृतेः ज्ञानवान् अपि, even gods indicated that they have a personality, physical and mental and therefore अर्जुन, प्रकृतिम् यान्ति भूतानि – all beings, including animals, tiger has its nature, cow has its nature, भूतानि, here भूतानि means living beings, not पञ्च भूतानि, where to take the पञ्चभूतs and where to take the living beings, one should know. Here the word भूतानि means all the जीवs, which includes even animals and plants, प्रकृतिम् यान्ति – they go according to their nature and निग्रहः किम् करिष्यति – what can restraint do? That is it is impossible to stop the nature of a person, that is why I told sometime before, if अर्जुन is sent to ऋषीकेश and उत्तरकाशि and he becomes a monk, a संन्यासि, he has got that leadership quality, he will join all the संन्यासिs and will form R.S.A: ऋषीकेश संन्यासि Association. And will appoint one secretary and he will start fighting and say that संन्यासिs must be given at least five percent reservation in Parliament, Gherao, Delhi chalo, because you know dynamism, who can stop. Why are you doing all these with this वेषम्, why can't you do what you have to do, निग्रहः किम् करिष्यति, निग्रहः means suppression, what can suppression do, don't suppress your nature, just go according to your प्रकृति. More details we will see in the next class.

After elaborating talking about कर्मयोग in the beginning, now Lord कृष्ण is summing up the कर्मयोग in these verses beginning from verse no. 31 upto verse no. 35. In the previous two verses we saw what is the benefit of following कर्मयोग and what is the loss in not following कर्मयोग. The benefit is a कर्मयोगि will attain liberation, of course not directly, कर्मयोगि will get the mind purified, which will take him to ज्ञानयोग, which will bring him a गुरु also, which will give him an opportunity for श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्, which will give him knowledge and thus which will give liberation. Thus कर्मयोग will ultimately lead to liberation, this is the benefit. And what is the loss for not following कर्मयोग, कृष्ण said विद्धि नष्टान् अचेतसः – they are spiritually lost, they have spiritual destruction. Having said this much, कृष्ण in the 33rd verse pointed that everybody has got an innate स्वभाव called प्रकृति, which is determined by the proportion of the three गुण, सत्त्व, रजस् and तमस्, about which we will study in the 4th chapter. Different people have got different characters depending upon the dominance of one गुण or the other and this character is called स्वभाव and कृष्ण says life should be governed by one's स्वभाव, basic स्वभाव. And कृष्ण said even ज्ञानिs are governed by their स्वभाव, that is why even though all the ज्ञानिs uniformly know 'I am ब्रह्मन्', even though even though all the ज्ञानिs are uniformly liberated, their lifestyles are not similar or same, one is active ज्ञानि, one is passive ज्ञानि, one is teaching ज्ञानि, one is writing ज्ञानि, all kinds of ज्ञानिs are available depending on their स्वभाव. Therefore ज्ञानवान् अपि प्रकृतेः सदृशम् चेष्टते. Therefore, अर्जुन, don't try to violate your basic nature and in your case, you are a रजो गुण प्रधान person, a person in whom रजो गुण is dominant and if you are trying to go against your nature and trying to run away from your duty, it will not work and you will again take up कर्म elsewhere, the only difference will be that the type of work will be different, you may join an आश्रम and become an accountant of the आश्रम in ochre robes, There are some institutions, I am not saying for criticism purpose, they have got accountant स्वामि, they have got driver स्वामि, they have got ticket reserving स्वामि, they have got postal स्वामि, only difference will be the name will be स्वामि they will continue to do taking care of the accounts etc., etc. Therefore, why are you trying to break away from your own nature, accept your nature, accept your duty and convert that duty into a कर्मयोग. कर्मयोग does not depend upon the type of action. कर्मयोग depends upon the type of attitude, a ब्राह्मण is also a कर्मयोगि when he performs his brahmin duty as ईश्वरार्पणम्. Similarly, the क्षत्रिय is doing कर्मयोग when he is doing his क्षत्रिय duty as ईश्वरार्पणम्, even though a ब्राह्मण's duty may involve offering flowers to a deity because he is a priest, a क्षत्रिय's duty may involve killing people, वैश्य's duty may involve all kinds of manipulations for business, all of those duties can become worship. कृष्ण will say in the 9th chapter,

यत्तपस्यसि कौन्तेय तत्कुरुष्व मदर्पणम् ॥ ९-२७॥

कर्मयोग does not depend upon the type of actions, कर्मयोग depends upon the type of attitude. A commercial ब्राह्मण cannot be a कर्मयोगि, whereas a non-commercial business man, a business man who considers even that business as a worship of the Lord and considers his वित्तशुद्धिः as more important than making profit, making profit becomes subservient to purification or service, then that non-commercial वैश्य is a कर्मयोगि, rather than a ब्राह्मण priest whose rituals depend upon the length of the note (money) kept as दक्षीणाः, rituals depend upon the length of the rupee notes, even the रुद्रम् has different lengths - 7minutes रुद्रम्, 15minutes, 31minutes रुद्रम्, all depends upon the दक्षीणाः means even the noblest job cannot be a कर्मयोग. Therefore अर्जुन why should you change your profession, be where you are, fight, offer it to the lord, purify, know and be free. Up to this we saw in the last class. Continuing; Verse No.34;

Verse No .34

इन्द्रियस्येन्द्रियस्यार्थे रागद्वेषौ व्यवस्थितौ ।

तयोर्न वशमागच्छेताौ ह्यस्य परिपन्थिनौ ॥ ३-३४॥

इन्द्रियस्य इन्द्रियस्य-अर्थे राग-द्वेषौ व्यवस्थितौ ।

तयोः न वशम् आगच्छेत् तौ हि अस्य परिपन्थिनौ ॥ ३-३४॥

इन्द्रियस्य-अर्थे इन्द्रियस्य राग-द्वेषौ व्यवस्थितौ, तयोः वशम् न आगच्छेत् । तौ हि अस्य परिपन्थिनौ ।

Now the previous श्लोकः can create a doubt in the mind of the student. In the previous verse कृष्ण said, everyone acts according to his प्रकृति or स्वभाव and कृष्ण included even ज्ञानि in the list, दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says, even the gods has got their own स्वभाव, ब्रह्माजि is सृष्टि कर्ता using रजोगुण, विष्णु is using स्थिति कर्ता using सत्त्वगुण and शिव is तय कर्ता using तमोगुण, very careful, using तमो गुण not under the spell of तमो गुण, even gods are governed by the स्वभाव and actions and that is why different gods have got different types of वाहनम्s, different types of weapons, different types of even musical instruments. And कृष्ण also made a statement which can put us off. The statement is: निग्रहः किम् करिष्यति – what you can get out of trying to control them? निग्रहः means controlling the स्वभाव, किम् करिष्यति – what can happen by controlling your स्वभाव, indirectly what कृष्ण has said is स्वभाव cannot be controlled, because he asked the question, निग्रहः किम् करिष्यति. Now this statement can create a big question, what is that? If every person has got a स्वभाव and if that स्वभाव cannot be controlled, then it amounts to saying that we do not have any control over our nature, which is as good as saying that there is no such thing called free-will. Therefore the previous श्लोक seemingly negates the free-will by indirectly saying that स्वभाव cannot be controlled and trying to control the स्वभाव is futile. निग्रहः किम् करिष्यति, What can control do. It is not a question, it is a statement that nothing can be done. That is why one author conveyed this idea by giving a nice example of onion, onion has got a basic स्वभाव, a particular smell which nobody can remove and he said:

कर्पूरधूलि रचिताऽऽलवालः कस्तूरिकाकुङ्कुमलिप्तदेहः । सुवर्णकुम्भैः
परिषिच्यमानो निजम् गुणम् मुञ्चति किम् पलाण्डुः ॥

पलाण्डुः means onion. A person wanted to change the स्वभाव of पलाण्डुः. He made a beautiful basin of कर्पूर, वासना द्रव्यम् and then kept the onion in the middle of that and upon the onion he applied कस्तूरिकाकुङ्कुमलिप्तदेहः – कुङ्कुम, कस्तूरि, गोरोचना all the perfumes he applied and सुवर्णकुम्भैः परिषिच्यमानः – he did a long अभिषेकम् with rose water. So therefore, at the bottom is basin of कर्पूरम्, in the middle is कस्तूरि गोरोचना, on the top is rose water and after 45 minutes, he removed everything and took it (the onion) and kept in his nose and what is that, onion is onion, निजम् गुणम् मुञ्चति किं पलाण्डुः. Similarly, कृष्ण seems to say that we all have got some स्वभाव, I don't say onion स्वभाव, we all have got some basic स्वभाव and कृष्ण says स्वभाव cannot be controlled, then does it mean that we do not have a free-will at all, we cannot transform ourselves? Do we have some control over our स्वभाव? कृष्ण gives the answer and this श्लोक is very important श्लोक because in this श्लोक alone कृष्ण establishes free-will in the case of a human being. कृष्ण establishes free-will in the case of a human being, कृष्ण says a human being has got a control over himself, unlike the animal kingdom and plant kingdom and that is why we look down upon those जीवs because they have no method of working for their liberation, in our case we can plan, we can work, we can correct, we can improve and we can accomplish. And how do we do that? कृष्ण answers that in this श्लोक, He says: इन्द्रियस्य इन्द्रियस्य-अर्थे राग-द्वेषौ व्यवस्थितौ. Now what कृष्ण says here is: We all have got certain basic character and depending upon our character alone, we will have thoughts in the mind, this स्वभाव will produce thoughts in the mind and if those thoughts are continued in the mind and those thoughts when saturated, those thoughts when nourished gets further converted into our words and later they will get further converted into our action. Thus we have got three levels, स्वभाव à thought à words à action. स्वभावः, वृत्तिः, वाक् or वाक्यम् and finally कर्म. Now what कृष्ण says is, this स्वभाव produces thoughts and what type of thoughts: राग-द्वेषौ व्यवस्थितौ – because of your innate tendency you divide the world into two, the like part and the dislike part, your स्वभाव determines your likes and your dislikes, that is why I said in the last class, to find out the स्वभाव of a child what will be the best thing, put all the children in a room and keep varieties of gadgets, certain children are attracted towards certain things and also distracted from certain other things. One is राग विषय and the other is द्वेष विषय, therefore कृष्ण says, स्वभाव produces राग-द्वेषः वृत्तिः and we have no control over the arrival of राग-द्वेषः वृत्तिः. We have no control over the production of राग-द्वेषः वृत्तिः, helplessly they surface in the mind, as even you see the world, or even if you go on a tour, you will find certain things attractive and certain things do not attract you. That's why when you travel in a group, you have to just leave them at a place and then 5 or 6 of them will rush in one direction to the masala dosa, another to the boutique, another to diamond shop, another sits doing nothing. So thus स्वभाव produces राग-द्वेषः वृत्तिः. कृष्ण says we cannot avoid, in fact, we are all bundles of राग-द्वेषः. And that is why when any person is interviewed whether it is a cricketer, whether it is a cinema actor, or whether it is a politician, you see most of the questions will be centered on what music you like, which pop person you like, which book you like, which place you like, you will find most of the questions will be centered on likes and dislikes only. In fact, you cannot define a person without his likes and dislikes, you define a person in terms of his likes and dislikes. Therefore first कृष्ण says every person has got a स्वभाव and the स्वभाव produces राग-द्वेषः वृत्तिः. That is said in the first line, राग-द्वेषौ व्यवस्थितौ, व्यवस्थितौ means necessarily present, they are there as a rule without exception. That is why I said that even gods are attracted to certain वाहनस. गणपति caught hold of rat, can't he catch the elephant, he himself is an elephant. कार्तिक has got his own and so with musical instruments and with the ornaments. In fact, the ध्यान श्लोकs are the description of the ornaments, the weapons, the माता's etc., they wear. सरस्वती even her dress, she likes only the white cloth. Why can't she wear orange, or red, or yellow, or green? She says she likes the white only, what to do, या कुन्देन्दुतुशारहारधवला या शुभ्रवस्त्रावृता या वीणा वरदण्ड ...

या guitar वरदण्ड...', can't she keep guitar. One Japanese lady had come, she asked, 'स्वामि, what do you do?' I said, 'I teach गीता.' And she had not heard properly and she heard the word गीता as guitar. 'Oh you teach guitar!' Imagine myself teaching guitar! Standing there and walking around and it will be more interesting thing!!! So therefore she has got वीणा, कृष्ण has got flute. This is what, even gods have got इन्द्रियस्य इन्द्रियस्य-अर्थे, with regard to the sound they like, with regard to form, with regard to color, इन्द्रियस्य इन्द्रियस्य-अर्थे means with regard to every sense object they have got preferences, and the most interesting thing is even after coming to वेदान्त people ask, 'स्वामिजि which Vedantic text you like, गीता or उपनिषत्s or ब्रह्मसूत्र or पञ्चदशि or विवेकचूडामणि', therefore I say गीता, I don't want to answer. Suppose I say गीता, they will ask, 'in the गीता which chapter you like', suppose I say 'third chapter', 'which श्लोक you like', etc., etc. I say 'I like this श्लोक because it talks about likes and dislikes.'

1) Then the most important thing is कृष्ण says, the arrival of thoughts depend upon your स्वभाव, over that you have no control, but whether those thoughts should be allowed to continue or not - should I nourish the thought, should I support the thought or should I intelligently divert my attention from that type of thought is under my control. The arrival of thought is not under my control, it is dependent upon on my स्वभाव, प्रकृति, but the perpetuation of those thoughts is in my hand and therefore there is free-will for us to decide whether that thought should be encouraged or should I nip it in the bud, remember the 2nd chapter, ध्यायतः विषयान् पुंसः सङ्गः तेषु उपजायते । सङ्गात् सञ्जायते कामः

... ॥ २-६२॥

The world enters my mind and produces the thought of anger or jealousy or attachment or love or compassion or dependence, the world enters and generates a particular thought, but whether I should encourage that thought or not is in my hand, is under free-will.

2) And the second thing under free-will is, these thoughts which when are nourished, they alone become stronger and stronger and when they become stronger, these thoughts crystallize into words. Suppose you go on mentally scolding a person, donkey, donkey, donkey, etc., one day unknowingly at the wrong moment you will call him donkey. Thereafter you realize, Oh! स्वामिजि is standing nearby, something like that. So remember if a word comes it is not a sudden phenomenon, it is just like a tip of an iceberg, every word is the tip of the iceberg called thought build-up. If you are getting angry at a person and shouting it is not a sudden thing. I have built up the anger for hours or days together. And therefore, by controlling the perpetuation of thought; not arrival I have no control on arrival; by controlling the perpetuation of thought I can control what? my words. Therefore I have got a free-will over my words.

3) And then third thing that is under my control is what: these thoughts alone later get condensed into deeds or action and therefore the action is the grossest product of the subtlest thought, action is the grossest product of the subtlest thought, when the thought arrives if I am ready to handle that thought I can control the action also.

Therefore कृष्ण says free-will can control the action, free-will can control the words, free-will can control the second thought, free-will cannot control the first thought that arises, because the first thought is dependent on what: not free-will but स्वभाव, therefore अर्जुन let the thoughts come in your mind, you need not feel guilty about it, don't say: स्वामिजि, dirty thoughts come, etc., etc., you need not feel guilty at all. Let the thought arise, but I should feel guilty if I allow that to continue. Therefore कृष्ण says, there you have to use your discrimination. So judge those thoughts and ask the question, are these thoughts worthy of nourishment and if they are worthy of nourishment, dwell on that, if they are not worthy of nourishment, in the beginning itself nip. Just as a ripple in a lake is very very feeble, but if that ripple of water is fanned, it gradually becomes a small wave, then big wave and a huge tidal wave it becomes. Over a ripple I have a control, over a tidal wave I don't have a control. Therefore what is your job, तयोः न वशम् आगच्छेत् - don't come under the spell of those thoughts. And when do you come under their spell? Only by nourishing them. If you decide not to nourish unhealthy thoughts they cannot do anything. They give a beautiful example: when a flame, a feeble flame is there, the wind becomes the enemy of the flame, it can easily put out the flame, but somehow that flame is nourished in to a huge forest fire or conflagration, you will find that the wind doesn't have the capacity to put out and what is the rule, if you cannot fight the enemy, join. Therefore what does the wind do? The wind which was an enemy of the weaker fire becomes the friend of the stronger fire. Similarly, unhealthy thought also, initially it is like a flame and our intellect can handle that. Once that unintelligently, that unhealthy thought gets nourished, then addiction, then the intellect cannot control that and when the intellect cannot control, you know what it will do, intellect learns to justify every weakness. If I don't smoke, how can the cigarette company survive? I am doing the service. Or if I ask him to give up, he will say 'Yes, I'll give up', 'What?', 'Coming to your class.' Your intellect will have all kinds of arguments in favor of its weakness and once we have come to that stage it is almost unchangeable, incorrigible a person becomes, therefore अर्जुन, तयोः न वशम् आगच्छेत् - don't come under the spell of रागः- द्वेषः, always nip it in the bud if it is unhealthy, nip it in the bud - not everything - only if it is unhealthy. And if you don't nip it in the bud in the beginning itself, what will happen. There is another beautiful श्लोक also.

जातमात्रम् न यः शत्रुम् व्याधिम् वा प्रशमम् नयेत् । अतिपुष्टांगयुक्तोऽपि स पश्चात् तेन हन्यते ।

Two things must be destroyed in the beginning itself, what are they: शत्रुम् व्याधिम् च. शत्रु means enemy. If enemy is allowed to grow, then he will overpower. So शत्रु should be destroyed when, जातमात्रम्, and what is the second thing, व्याधिम् वा – a disease also. Many of the disease we have a cure if we approach in the beginning stages, if they have gone to the second degree or third degree doctor will say to give telegrams, cannot do anything, especially like cancer, certain types if it is in the beginning stages. Similarly, we have got internal enemies of काम-क्रोधः, लोभ-मोहः, आन्तर शत्रवः – the inner enemies you handle them in the beginning it is easier, otherwise it will be difficult, तौ हि अस्य परिपन्थिनौ – they are the robbers, they are the enemies in your spiritual path. Therefore the essence of this श्लोक is free-will is there, the first thought alone is not under our control. The second thought is under our control, the words are under our control, actions are also under our control, therefore you can discipline them. Continuing;

Verse No .35

श्रेयान्स्वधर्मो विगुणः परधर्मात्स्वनुष्ठितात् ।

स्वधर्मे निधनं श्रेयः परधर्मो भयावहः ॥ ३-३५॥

श्रेयान् स्वधर्मः विगुणः परधर्मात् स्वनुष्ठितात् ।

स्वधर्मे निधनम् श्रेयः परधर्मः भय-आवहः ॥ ३-३५॥

स्वनुष्ठितात् परधर्मात् विगुणः स्वधर्मः (अपि) श्रेयान् । स्वधर्मे निधनम् श्रेयः । परधर्मः भय-आवहः ।

So कृष्ण concludes here by saying, therefore अर्जुन you have to go according to your प्रकृति only, your प्रकृति is रजो गुण प्रकृति and therefore active thoughts are natural to you, therefore your life should be activity oriented life, but these activities can be धार्मिक or अधार्मिक, whenever there is a tendency for अधार्मिक activity you have to nip it in the bud and whenever there is interest in धार्मिक, legitimate activity you have to go according to that. Therefore you have to respect प्रकृति and you have to respect धर्म also and whatever falls within धर्म and your स्वभाव. Two coordinates, X and Y coordinates. one should be in keeping with your प्रकृति and also it should be in keeping with धर्म also and whatever comes within प्रकृति and धर्म, legitimacy, such things you can encourage. If your mind is activity-oriented, वेद says be active, why should you stop? Go according to प्रकृति. But what we are saying is when you are active according to your प्रकृति, let those activities be what: in keeping with धर्म, like the road rules, wherever, whichever destination you want to go you can go, the government does not say that you should go only to Thiruvannamiyur. What they say is: your desire can be fulfilled, when you want to go to a particular destination, you have to observe certain rules, keep left and all over one-ways, therefore go according to that one-way rule, whatever road regulations are there you follow. Therefore your travel is conditioned by two things, what are those two things? Your desire and road rules. The desire represents your प्रकृति and road-rules represent the धर्म, Similarly, your life's journey also must be governed by two principles, your personal desires, स्वभाव and also what is धर्म. And that is called स्वधर्म, a course of life which is governed by propriety and स्वभाव and that is called स्वधर्म. Here कृष्ण says, अर्जुन स्वधर्म is important, even if it is not perfectly performed. So imperfectly performed स्वधर्म is better than perfectly performed परधर्म, another's duty. Imperfectly performed स्वधर्म is better than perfectly performed परधर्म. That is what they tell, the story that a person who is the owner of the huge house having watchman and other things, so he wanted to go to a place and when he was about to go, the watchman came and said, you please don't go to that place because I had a dream in which your plane is crashing. That was his dream. The owner he also had belief about early morning dream. There is a belief that the early morning dream will generally come true, it is a belief and therefore the owner did not go and peculiarly enough that accident took place and by avoiding the travel the owner was saved. And this watchman was very happy. He expected that the owner will reward him well and the next day the person called the watchman and said that you really saved my life and I am going to reward you and gave some money and also I'll dismiss you. I will reward for saving my life and dismiss you. Watchman was wondering, why dismissing, do you know why, because when the watchman says that I had a dream, what does it mean, even though the dream is a very good dream, perfect परधर्म it is, perfect dream because it saved, but remember it is not the धर्म of watchman. Therefore परधर्मो भयावहः, therefore dismissed. Therefore, perfect परधर्म is inferior to imperfect स्वधर्म. And कृष्ण says स्वधर्मे निधनम् श्रेयः – even death in स्वधर्म is welcome, it is OK, whereas परधर्मो भयावहः. So परधर्म is dangerous for oneself and it is harmful to the society also, because once one person violates the स्वधर्म and the problem is remember यद्यदाचरति श्रेष्ठः only one person jumps the signal, the MTC or whatever it is, he goes and therefore the next person, even though he doesn't want to go but when all the others jump the signal, he also will, because the human mind is sheepish, one person violates स्वधर्म then everybody violates, there will be utter confusion in the society and therefore, it should be avoided. And अर्जुन your स्वधर्म as a क्षत्रिय is fighting a धर्म युद्ध. So with this conclusion कर्मयोग topic is over. Now अर्जुन is going to raise a question for which कृष्ण will give a beautiful answer. We will read the question only.

Verse No .36

अर्जुन उवाच ।

अथ केन प्रयुक्तोऽयं पापं चरति पूरुषः ।

अनिच्छन्नपि वाष्ण्येय बलादिव नियोजितः ॥ ३-३६॥

अथ केन प्रयुक्तः अयम् पापम् चरति पूरुषः ।

अनिच्छन् अपि वाष्ण्येय बलात् इव नियोजितः ॥ ३-३६॥

हे वाष्ण्येय! अथ केन प्रयुक्तः अयम् पूरुषः अनिच्छन् अपि, बलात् नियोजितः इव पापम् चरति?

Very important and valid question from अर्जुन. Here अर्जुन asks: हे कृष्ण! Scriptures are there to guide everyone and the scriptures clearly present which course of life is favorable and which course of life is not favorable, the scriptures present कर्मयोग is healthy and violation of कर्मयोग is spiritual destruction, it clearly presents and the scriptures talk about the values of life also. And not only the scriptures talk about them, भगवान् has given us a discriminative power also to know what is proper, what is improper, what is धर्म, what is अधर्म, we come to know from scriptures, we can easily come to know from our बुद्धि also, our thinking also. That is why दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says: We need not enlist the values to anyone because every human being knows what are the do's and what are the don'ts. Even a thief knows that stealing is wrong. How do you know? Because he knows stealing is wrong he is doing that secretly. Because he knows it is wrong he is doing it secretly. If he considers stealing is not wrong he would have just walked in and taken it and not only that, the most interesting thing is two thieves steal some money from a house and they have got the money, lot of currency is there and they wanted to divide but it was night, they were tired and sleepy and they decided that they will sleep somewhere and early morning we can easily know how much we have stolen from newspapers we need not count it. Even from newspaper report we can easily know how much money is stolen, we will share it, so they slept. Then out of the two thieves, one of the thieves in the night took the whole money and ran, then the second thief woke up and said that ‘that thief’ stole my money and ran. Now even a thief doesn’t want, even the stolen money to be stolen, who doesn’t know stealing is wrong, सत्यम् वद, should we teach, everybody knows the value, therefore, ignorance of values is not a problem. Everybody knows कर्मयोग, everybody knows धर्म, everybody knows the values, but the problem is as दुर्योधन says beautifully, I know the values but I cannot follow,

पाण्डवगीता – ५७ ॥

I know it is wrong but I cannot avoid that, like a doctor who can just talk on the evils of smoking with a cigarette in the mouth, he knows it is wrong but he is not able to leave. Therefore अर्जुन asks, in spite of knowing what is right and wrong, how come human beings, the intelligent human beings, the so-called roof and crown of the creation, how the human beings commit mistake. So, therefore, अनिच्छन् अपि even though he doesn’t want to be an evil person, even though he wants to be a धार्मिक person only, how come a person पापम् चरति, commits अधर्म, right from politicians onwards, everywhere scam only. How come people do that? So there seems to be some other devil in our heart, as they call Satan, like that शैतान्, whatever it might be, therefore there is some force in our heart, which seems to push us into all kinds of अधार्मिक action, not out of ignorance but in spite of knowledge, हे कृष्ण tell me what is that force, बलात् नियोजितः इव, as though the human being is forcibly engaged to tell a lie, to steal the money, to be corrupt, to be angry, to be jealous. He seems to be forced by some other unknown principle, केन प्रयुक्तः, persuaded by which principle does a person commit अधर्म. हे वाष्पेय! हे कृष्ण! you please tell me, कृष्ण has to answer that question, in the following verses, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 03, VERSES 36-38

With the 35th verse, Lord कृष्ण has completed the topic of कर्मयोग which is the main theme of the 3rd chapter. And कर्मयोग is considered to be the important first stage of spiritual साधन, even though कर्मयोग cannot directly lead a person to liberation, कर्मयोग is very important, because through कर्मयोग alone a person becomes fit for ज्ञानयोग, without कर्मयोग one can never get ज्ञानयोग्यता and to get that ज्ञानयोग्यता one has to necessarily go through कर्मयोग and once a person has attained ज्ञानयोग्यता there afterwards कर्मयोग is not compulsory. A person is given an option, either he can totally renounce कर्मयोग by taking to संन्यास आश्रम or one can reduce the कर्मयोग by remaining in गृहस्थ आश्रम. So reduction or relinquishment, either of them is permitted by the शास्त्र once a person gets ज्ञानयोग्यता, mental purity. And through ज्ञानयोग and ज्ञानयोग alone, one will attain liberation, this ज्ञानयोग has been already talked about in the 2nd chapter briefly and more elaborately the ज्ञानयोग will come in the 4th chapter. So कर्मयोग is over with the 35th verse. Now अर्जुन raises a question in the 36th verse, which we were seeing in the last class and अर्जुन's question is: a कर्मयोगि is one who leads a धार्मिक way of life. Without a धार्मिक way of life, there is no कर्मयोग and this धार्मिक way of life and धार्मिक actions are dedicated to the Lord, ईश्वरार्पण रूपेण स्वधर्म अनुष्ठानम् कर्मयोग. The very definition of कर्मयोग is ईश्वरार्पण रूपेण स्वधर्म अनुष्ठानम् and therefore a कर्मयोगि has to follow धर्म, धर्म means a legitimate, ethical, moral, non-corrupt way of life, कर्मयोग presupposes धर्म and कृष्ण also pointed out that only by following such a way of life he will ultimately attain liberation and if fails to follow कर्मयोग, he will be spiritually destroyed, विद्धि नष्टान् अचेतसः. Now अर्जुन's question is this: Every human being has got discriminative power. And it is very easy to know the importance of ethics. In fact, ethics need not be taught to any human being, because all the ethical rules are common sense rules. As I said in the last class, everybody knows what is proper and improper, even a thief knows stealing is improper that is why he does the stealing action secretly. The very fact that he does that secretly indicates that he knows that it is wrong, not only that, even a thief doesn't accept his money to be stolen by someone, from that it is very clear that every human being knows, even a child of 5th standard knows that taking somebody else's pen or pencil is wrong, that is why a stealing-child does that secretly. Similarly, everyone knows that telling lie is wrong. So therefore, ignorance of धर्म is not a problem, because everybody knows that and the norm of determining धर्म is this, what is that, what I do not want others to do to me I should not do to others, very very simple law. Very simple law to know, I am not telling simple law to practice. I don't want anybody to harm me therefore it becomes a धर्म that I should not harm anyone; I don't want anyone to insult me therefore I should not insult others; I want everybody to love me, nobody should hate me which means I should love others, I want everybody to help me which means that I should be helping others, therefore धर्म अज्ञानम् is not a problem. Everybody knows धर्म that is why I said in the last class.

जानामि धर्मम् न च मे प्रवृत्तिः । जानामि अधर्मम् न च मे निवृत्तिः ॥

दुर्योधन said. He said जानामि धर्मम् न च मे प्रवृत्तिः I know what is धर्म, I am not able to follow, जानामि अधर्मम् न च मे निवृत्तिः I clearly know what is अधर्म, but exactly religiously I do that only, so why do I do that,

केनापि देवेन हृदि स्थितेन यथा नियुक्तोऽस्मि तथा करोमि ॥ ॥
पाण्डवगीता – ७७ ॥

There seems to be some kind of a devil, some kind of powerful force within me which makes me act against my own conscience. Therefore what is that force which makes a person violates धर्म in spite of his desire to be noble? Nobody wants to be an असुरा, so what is that force? In many religions, they put that force as an external principle, a शैतान् or some devil or some राक्षस, almost every religion places that force as an external force which is making us violate धर्म, so here अर्जुन wants to know is there any such external power. And some people think perhaps God himself is making me do that because in the scriptures it is said: 'not even an atom moves without His consent.' God is supposed to make everyone do different actions, therefore some people think that God is making me violate. Some people think that devil is making me violate. Some people think it is my stars, शनि. विनाश काले विपरीत बुद्धि, it is easiest way to put the blame on some planet, so that I am saved. Therefore is it an extra force that is determining my actions or is it a force within myself and if it is within myself, do I have some control over it. As they say, Can the fate be conquered by free-will? Thus अर्जुन wants to know why people take to अधर्म, what is the cause, is there any method of transformation, therefore केन प्रयुक्तः अयम् पूरुषः पापम् चरति – persuaded by which unseen force, does a human being commit अधर्म, perpetrates अधर्म, अनिच्छन् अपि, even though everyone innately wants to be a noble person, अनिच्छन् अपि – against his own will and that is why many people even begin to doubt the existence of free-will, because he wills to lead a particular way of life, New Year decisions are many and they are written in the diary and maximum followed for a week and thereafter it is the same old thing only. Therefore, do we have really a will at all? Or is there some other force and that force seems to be what, one group of people say, there is no will at all, fatalistic people who say everything is determined by some other factor, it is called fatalistic type, there are some other people who accept the will, but they say that the will is so feeble that in front of all these extra forces we are helpless and therefore अर्जुन says, बलात् नियोजितः इव – as though forced with what you call a revolver on the temple and we obey, because a gun is there on your temple. Like that somebody seems to keep a gun on your head and make you say a lie, do अक्रमम्, do that, drink, somebody seems to say, what is that? This is a very basic and important question which comes to every human being one day or the other, so therefore this portion is important portion. Up to this we saw in the last class, Continuing;

Verse No .37

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

काम एष क्रोध एष रजोगुणसमुद्भवः ।

महाशनो महापाप्मा विद्ध्येनमिह वैरिणम् ॥ ३-३७॥

कामः एषः क्रोधः एषः रजः गुण-समुद्भवः ।

महा-अशनः महा-पाप्मा विद्भि एनम् इह वैरिणम् ॥ ३-३७॥

रजः गुण-समुद्भवः महा-पाप्मा महा-अशनः एषः कामः, एषः क्रोधः (अस्ति, त्वं) एनम् इह वैरिणम् विद्भि ।

So in these verses, up to the end of this chapter, कृष्ण answers अर्जुन's question and he points out that there is no external force controlling us. So there is no external angel, external devil controlling us; the whole thing is within yourselves only. So therefore in our philosophy, we do not have an external devil like certain other systems have, here we say it is all within you only and what is that basic force, if you ask, it is अज्ञानम्, ignorance alone is the cause of all problems, sheer ignorance working at two levels, in the initial level it is the धर्म-अधर्म अज्ञानम्, ignorance with regard to धर्म and अधर्म and at a higher level, it is ignorance with regard to आत्म-अनात्मा. So धर्म-अधर्म, आत्म-अनात्मा अविवेक, अज्ञानम् is alone the devil, if you want a devil, there is no other force other than this अज्ञानम्. Here कृष्ण doesn't talk about the अज्ञानम् directly, because we rarely understand that अज्ञानम्. This basic अज्ञानम् alone expresses in the form of two forces known as काम-क्रोधः, अज्ञानम् bifurcates itself, divides itself into two forces, one is called कामः and another is called क्रोधः, this काम-क्रोध alone is the problem and therefore in the following verses कृष्ण is going to discuss the problem of काम-क्रोध, the source of काम-क्रोध and the remedy or the medicine to the disease of काम-क्रोध. These are the three topics, काम-क्रोध स्वरूपम्, काम-क्रोध कारणम्, काम-क्रोध परिहारः, this is going to be three-fold topic. First कृष्ण introduces that, श्रीभगवान् उवाच. So what is your enemy to follow धर्म? He says कामः एषः क्रोधः एषः, कामः means desire, क्रोधः means anger, एषः कामः means the desire which is experienced by every human being intimately. I need not bring some desire from outside to demonstrate to you what is a desire. Desire need not be taught, because everybody intimately knows what is desire. The object of desire may vary from individual to individual, but the presence of desire is universal and since it is universally experienced by everyone, कृष्ण uses the pronoun, एषः कामः – this desire, which you feel in your mind intimately. And एषः क्रोधः – this anger which you feel intimately. Everybody has got anger at the tip of the nose, we are just waiting to jump on someone, if we don't get angry, not because it is not there we have not got an appropriate candidate only. If you get angry inappropriately it is problem, if it is on the boss you will lose the job, if on the wife you will not get dinner, it is already there at the tip of the nose, therefore कृष्ण says एषः क्रोधः साक्षि प्रत्यक्षतया अनुभूयमानः, intimately experienced - काम-क्रोध. And how are they born, रजः गुण-समुद्भवः – both of them are born out of रजोगुण, more about the गुणs we will see later, therefore I am not discussing that here, three गुणs, सत्त्व, रजस् and तमस्, we will see in the 14th chapter, you have to wait, there we will discuss the three गुणs; काम-क्रोधs are born out of रजोगुण. And why do we say they are the powerful forces which obstruct कर्मयोग or धार्मिक way of life? The reason is this, महा-अशनः, the nature of काम is that it is महाशनः, literally महा-अशनः means a great eater, महत् अशनम् भोजनम् यस्य सः महाशनः, it is a glutton, it is a belly fat, it comes in पुराण, he will go on eating without limit. So the idea is this there is no way of fulfilling the desires. Any amount of desires we fulfill, it will never end but it will only expand more and more, as somebody nicely said,

क्षितिपालताम् क्षितिपतिश्चक्रेशताम् वाञ्छति ।

चक्रेशः पुनरिन्द्रताम् सुरपतिः ब्रह्मास्पदम् वाञ्छति ब्रह्मा विष्णुपदम्
हरिर्हरपदम् तृष्णावधिम् को गतः ॥ सुभाषितानि सङ्ग्रह ॥

निःस्वः एक शतम् – when I don't have any money at all, एक शतम्, with one hundred rupees one can manage, शती दशशतम् – once I have got hundred then the next plan is दशशतम् thousand, लक्षम् सहस्राधिपः – once I get a few thousand then my desire is for लक्षम्, लक्षेशः क्षितिपालताम् – once I have got a few lakhs then I want to become some MLA, लक्षेशः क्षितिपालताम् – क्षितिपालः means a small king, चित्तराज, the king of a small country and once I have become a king of a small country, क्षितिपति चक्रेशताम् वाञ्छति - चक्रेशः, चक्रवर्ति I want to be an emperor with many kings under me, as a चक्रवर्ति am I happy. चक्रेशः पुनरिन्द्रताम् – what is the use of being a emperor of the miserable earth, I want to be the emperor of the heavens, इन्द्रः and you interview, इन्द्र and ask are you happy? सुरपतिः ब्रह्मास्पदम् वाञ्छति – इन्द्र is busy working for fighting the next election, so he wants to become ब्रह्माजि, what about ब्रह्मा? ब्रह्मा विष्णुपदम् हरिः हरपदम् – ब्रह्म wants to become विष्णु, विष्णु wants to become शिव, so if you are विष्णु भक्त, change the sequence! Or you will get angry, so शिव wants to become विष्णु. The net result is what: तृष्णावधिम् को गतः – there is no end to the desires. Why is it like that? Why the desires do not end? What is the reason? The logic is this. All the desires are different expressions of one basic desire only, all desires are expressions of one basic desire only and what is that, now I feel अपूर्णः, incomplete, I am not complete with myself, with a small house, or even without a house, I feel incomplete and my struggle is not to buy a house, or not to get a wife or not to get a child, my desire is through the house I want to become a complete person, I want fulfillment. So whatever be the type of desires, the desires are superficial, through the superficial desires I want to fulfill only one desire, that is I the finite want to become the infinite. So I don't want complaints I want compliments. Therefore whenever I am unhappy people ask the question, what is your complain? Then he says I have got house, I have got money, children also, they are also married, but for the third child there is no child; one child doesn't have a child and वेदान्त says, an incomplete one can never become complete by acquiring things, a finite one through acquisition can never become infinite, finite plus finite is equal to infinite? Finite plus finite plus finite is equal to finite; you may get anything, by a process of fulfilling the desires you can never become पूर्णः and therefore our very approach is very illogical approach. The very basic human approach is illogical approach, because I the finite wants to become infinite through acquisition. And that is why स्वामि विन्मयानन्द nicely puts, happiness is nothing but the number of desires you fulfill divided by the number of desires you have, is the happiness. Number of desires you fulfill divided by the number of desires you have. Suppose you have got 10 desires and you have a project, one by one you have to finish, for that installments schemes are started, one by one it is will be fulfilled. What is the calculation? Number of desires fulfilled divided by number of desires is happiness. So when I fulfill one desire what is my happiness? $1/10$. Two desires I fulfill, $2/10$. $3/10$, $4/10$, therefore the unit of happiness is becoming more and more, $5/10$, half has come, then $6/10$, $7/10$ and then once I complete the 10th desire, what will be my happiness: $10/10$ is one पूर्ण आनन्द. Until then it was fractional आनन्द, frictional आनन्द, now with the fulfillment of the 10th desire it will be पूर्ण आनन्द, this is wishful thinking. But what I discover is a peculiar thing, by the time I fulfill the 10th desire the number of desires has increased from 10 to thousands. So therefore when you fulfill the 10th desire, what is the unit of happiness, 10 by 1,000? So when fulfilling the first desire, the happiness was $1/10$ and by the time I fulfill the 10th desire, it is $10/1,000$, what is $10/100$? it is $1/100$, therefore I have 'progressed' from 1/10th happiness to 1/100th happiness, ‘progressed’ within quotes. How do you know? That is why the 60 year old person’s face is even though he has fulfilled so many number of desires, his face is all gloom, by walking itself it is understood. And what is the illogicality in that, the finite wants to become complete, since it is never possible we will go on struggling, struggling, struggling and therefore काम is called महा-अशनः, OK. So what? As long as I continue this struggle of fulfilling these desires, I am so preoccupied in my life, because remember, every desire takes your time, your energy, you don’t have even time to attend गीता class, you don’t time for सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, you don’t time for prayer, temples, scriptural study, because the more the number of desires the more time is taken and even if you have some leisure time, even at that time you cannot think of scriptures or anything, there also we have to do this and that there, previously at least communication systems were very very limited, now the communication system is revolutionized and therefore even if go to the beach, you go with a cell phone and there also you cannot get peace, you will get a call and you have to leave. Therefore what is the problem, your mind is distracted by worldly desires that you have no time to find out what is the basic problem. The basic problem you can discover only if you lead a religious life, the basic problem you can discover only if you study the scriptures. A religious life plus scriptural study is required to enquire into my way of materialistic life, so that I will know that my very direction is wrong. And therefore कृष्ण says desire is your enemy, it doesn’t allow you to ask the fundamental question and therefore you should know how to handle. So महा-अशनः, how does काम obstruct? By distracting your mind to materialism,

कठोपनिषत् २-२-१ ॥

In कठोपनिषत्, यमधर्मराज is the teacher, everywhere यम is feared, कठोपनिषत् यमधर्मराज is the गुरु. He says that the people are so extrovert, they have no time to ask what am I doing? For the last so many years, I have worked OT(overtime), what have I accomplished, he will never ask the question. And therefore, it distracts, it makes a person extrovert. Not only काम is a problem by making me extrovert, then क्रोधः is also a problem, what is क्रोधः, anger and how is anger a problem, anger makes a person violent and violence is हिंसा and हिंसा is a पापम्, harming other people is a पापम्, as व्यासाचार्य tells elsewhere,

श्रूयताम् धर्मसर्वस्वम् श्रुत्वा चैव अवधार्यताम् । आत्मनः प्रतिकूलानि परेषाम् न समाचरेत् ॥ or

श्लोकार्थेन प्रवक्ष्यामि यदुक्तम् ग्रन्थकोटिभिः । परोपकारः पुण्याय पापाय परपीडनम् ॥

Any type of violence is पापम्, there is no sacred violence. Anger makes a person violent, both verbally and physically. Many people are not physically violent, but they have a got a very very sharp tongue, at every stage they will strike, that is all महा पापम्. Therefore anger makes me do पापम् and पापम् brings me down in spiritual ladder. And therefore महा-पाप्मा, anger is a problem because it makes a person violent. Therefore काम makes a person extrovert, क्रोधः makes a person violent, an extrovert violent person can never follow धर्म. An extrovert violent person cannot follow धर्म, cannot follow कर्मयोग, therefore these are the two enemies. And therefore कृष्ण says, हे! अर्जुन, एनम् वैरिणम् विद्धि – अर्जुन, may you understand that these two principles, कामः and क्रोधः are your enemies. This कृष्ण will emphasize throughout the गीता. In the 5th chapter also the will point out:

शक्नोतीहैव यः सोढुम् प्राक्शरीरविमोक्षणात् ।

कामक्रोधोद्धवम् वेगम् स युक्तः स सुखी नरः ॥ ५-२३॥

Handling काम and क्रोध should be the lifelong project of an intelligent human being, because the quality of life is determined by these two powerful forces. And in the 16th chapter again, कृष्ण repeats -

त्रिविधम् नरकस्येदम् द्वारम् नाशनमात्मनः ।

कामः क्रोधस्तथा लोभस्तस्मादेतत्त्रयम् त्यजेत् ॥ १६-२१॥

There are three roads to hell, there are three express highways to health. Why big road? So many people are going, not narrow lane and what are the three roads, कामः क्रोधः तथा लोभः and therefore कृष्ण says एनम् वैरिणम् विद्धि, OK. Here we have to note an important point. कृष्ण is talking about two enemies inside, desire and anger. So naturally, he must be using dual number in संस्कृत, because in संस्कृत we have got three numbers, singular, dual and plural and that is why whoever studies संस्कृतः रामः रामौ रामाः, so three वृक्ष, वृक्षौ, वृक्षाः; वृक्ष - one tree, वृक्षौ - two trees, वृक्षाः - three or more trees. Here कृष्ण is talking about two enemies, therefore he must be using dual number. Peculiarly you find that (if you know grammar then these problems, otherwise you can be blissfully ignorant, no problem) he uses singular number एषः is singular, रजः गुण-समुद्भवः is singular, वैरिणम् is singular. Why does कृष्ण use singular number, because according to कृष्ण and it is a fact also, desire and anger are not two separate entities, they are nothing but one and the same enemy from two different angles, they are like two sides of the same coin. How do you say so? शङ्कराचार्य says in the 2nd chapter, desire obstructed gets converted into anger, obstructed desire turns to anger, fulfilled desire turns to what (that is not required here, but as an aside note) fulfilled desire turns to greed! That is why gambling people will always, they have a trick, when you gamble first time, you will win, they will create such a situation. So winning makes him to go for second game. Second time also you will win, third time, fourth time, at last, he will lose everything. Therefore desire obstructed turns to anger, desire fulfilled turns to greed. We are not talking about greed here, obstructed desire turns to anger and therefore anger is what, a different version of desire only. And that is why the intensity of anger is directly proportional to the intensity of desire, suppose you want to see a particular program in TV. One day match, something like that you have plan to see, and you have planned it one month before, so he has prepared the TV, he has prepared everything, sofa is arranged and also planned not to go anywhere; popcorn also is ready because you should never watch the TV with empty handed and empty mouth. So everything is prepared, but on that crucial day there is no power. How do you feel, so how much anger, anger is directly proportional to the desire, from that it is very clear that both of them are one and same. How to handle that कृष्ण has to tell. Next श्लोक he introduces,

Verse No .38

धूमेनाव्रियते वह्निर्यथादर्शो मलेन च ।

यथोत्बेनावृतो गर्भस्तथा तेनेदमावृतम् ॥ ३-३८॥

धूमेन आव्रियते वह्निः यथा आदर्शः मलेन च ।

यथा उत्बेन आवृतः गर्भः तथा तेन इदम् आवृतम् ॥ ३-३८॥

यथा धूमेन वह्निः, यथा च मलेन आदर्शः, आव्रियते, (यथा) उत्बेन गर्भः आवृतः, तथा तेन इदम् आवृतम् ।

So in the previous verse कृष्ण said, काम & क्रोधः or काम alias क्रोधः is your enemy, काम's another name. And therefore if you learn to handle काम you need not separately handle क्रोधः, because काम alone gets converted to क्रोधः and therefore कृष्ण doesn't want discuss the problem of anger, he wanted to discuss the problem of desire only. Therefore first he answers the question. How does desire cause problem for the human being, just like analyzing a disease. How does this particular disease, insulin is not enough, pancreas is not working, how does it affect the person, lack of insulin affects digestion, if that doesn't get digested this will affect that, etc., etc. It is the study of how the disease will affect various organs. For some people kidney will go, for some people eyes will go, for some people brain will go, so unless you know how it works you cannot deal with that. Similarly, how to deal with desire for that we should know how does it cause the problem. कृष्ण says desire causes problem by blunting your discriminative power, reasoning power, thinking power. So a person who is obsessed with a desire cannot think, that is why we use the word - blinded by काम. And विवेक शक्ति or discriminative power is like a charioteer which guides your life. In कठोपनिषत्, बुद्धि or discriminative power is said to be the driver of the vehicle, just as the driver alone decides which way the vehicle should go, similarly, the बुद्धि-driver alone has to decide what should be my way of life, therefore every moment I should know whether I should give importance to spirituality or whether I should give importance to materialism. Which is more important? So that means what: I should have discriminative power to know the relative priorities of life. Every moment you have to decide: you have got a job in a place where the culture is there but money is not there; you have a job in a place where money is there but culture is not there, you have to choose whether money or culture. Every moment we have to choose, life is full of choices. And what does काम do, it blunts or covers the विवेक शक्ति, therefore he says in the second line, तेन इदम् आवृतम्, तेन means कामेन, इदम् means ज्ञानम्, ज्ञानम् means विवेक शक्ति, आवृतम् – is clouded, veiled. And how does desire cover the discriminative power, कृष्ण gives three examples.

1) The first example is the smoke covering the flame or fire. धूमेन अग्निः आव्रियते, fire is enveloped. Why this example is given? अग्नि has got brightness, it can illumine the places around, so it has got enlightening power, it is covered by smoke, when it is covered by thick smoke the fire is not able to do what it has to do, what is that: illumining the place. Just like when there is thick fog even if the car light is on it cannot show the road clearly, the visibility is so poor that they cancel the flights also. So this is example No.1.

2) The second example is आदर्शः मलेन आव्रियते, the mirror being covered by dust. When the mirror is covered by dust the mirror cannot do what it has to do, what should it do: it must be able to show my face and it cannot do that. This is the second example.

3) The third example is गर्भः उत्बेन आवृतः, गर्भः means a child, a fetus, a child in the womb is called गर्भः, and उत्बः means a womb, just as a child is covered by the womb which means the child is not able to do anything, it doesn't have the power to function, a child in the womb is non-functional, at least not fully functional because it doesn't have enough space to function.

Therefore covered by the smoke fire cannot do what it has to; covered by the dust the mirror cannot do what it has to; covered by the womb a child cannot do anything. In the same way, covered by desire बुद्धि cannot do what it has to do. What it has to do? It has to think, thinking is lost. So therefore तथा तेन इदम् आवृतम् and these three examples have got significance also. When the smoke is covering the flame it is easier to remove that smoke, you have to only just fan a little bit, smoke will leave, in the होम we do that, it is easier. When the mirror is covered by dust you cannot just fan it and remove, you have to bring a cloth and wipe and sometimes you have to bring a wet cloth and wipe, sometimes you have to even rub because it is hardened, so it is a little bit more difficult. And if the child is covered by the womb, you cannot do anything except wait. Child has to become mature, for 10 months and then and then alone it will grow out of it. Similarly, the desires are also of three types, those desires which can be easily eliminated by विवेक शक्ति, In fact, we need not fulfill all desires. Interview the people who have fulfilled the desires, then you will come to know what they have got by fulfilling, so if it is of a milder variety sheer discrimination is enough and if it is slightly more intense then विवेक शक्ति will not work, one has to go through the fulfillment of those desires. If you don't understand by बुद्धि you have to suffer and understand, you have to go through the experiences and know what it is all about and if the desire is so intense, you can never talk about the evil of desires, you have to allow the person to remain and hope that one day he will grow out. Just as a child asking for a balloon, you don't complain, you allow the child to fulfill the desire and hope that on the 25th birthday the child won't not ask for a balloon. Similarly, in some cases, you have to go through ब्रह्मचर्य, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ and all those things you have to go through, for some people not three आश्रमs but जन्मs they have to go through, then they will grow out of that. Similarly, here also it has to be handled properly. More details we will see in the next class.

अर्जुन asked a question to Lord कृष्ण, How come a person violates धर्म in spite of his desire to be a good and a noble person? Everybody wants to be a good person, a noble person and everybody knows what do's are and what are don'ts. The do's and don'ts are known to everyone and in spite of the knowledge of right and wrong, how come a person violates that, how is a person corrupt in spite of his knowledge that corruption is wrong? And कृष्ण is giving the answer in these verses and कृष्ण's answer was, it is nothing but कामः and क्रोधः. कृष्ण does not mention how काम and क्रोधः arise. कृष्ण does not mention but we have to note that both काम and क्रोधः are products of Self-ignorance. And that is why कृष्ण is telling at the end that without Self-knowledge, काम-क्रोधः cannot be totally handled. Because the root of काम-क्रोधः is Self-ignorance, as long as Self-ignorance is there I will mistake myself as a limited person and as long as I conclude that I am a limited person I am going to continue to have wants. The sense of want, the sense of incompleteness, as one person came the other day and told, 'स्वामिजि, everything is fine in my life. भगवान् has given everything but something is missing and I don't know what it is and you have to tell me, but I can only say that there is something missing in my life.' So either in vague form I miss something or in the crystallized form I miss something, the crystallized form of missing is: "I don't have a wife, I don't have a husband, I don't have a child, I don't have a house." What 'I don't have' varies, that 'I don't have' will continue like तम्बुर श्रुति – 'I want, I want, I want' will be there, as long as the Self-ignorance is there. The रागIs will change but the श्रुति will continue प सा सा प प. Therefore I want, I want, I want wife, wife, wife has come, then I want that 'wife राग' is changed, from आनन्द-भैरवी to दुःख भैरवी; I want a child called मुखारी and केदार गौल - anger, मुखारी - crying, started from आनन्द-भैरवी then मुखारी, केदार गौल, etc., रागIs change but the श्रुति doesn't change. Similarly, the entire human life is a series of 'I want' continuously, only that gap is filled by one thing or the other, I want son, then I want grandson, then I want great grandson, etc., etc. And therefore Self-ignorance is the cause of काम-क्रोध and काम क्रोध is the cause of violation of धर्म. And how does काम-क्रोध lead to violation of धर्म. What is the mechanism? How the bacteria of काम-क्रोध affect the health of धर्म? कृष्ण gives the mechanism, काम's job is what, in English also you can put, comma, comma, there is no full stop at all, since काम is endless, in English it is called comma, means no full stop. काम means desire, क्रोध: means anger, desire and anger cloud the discriminative power, discrimination between धर्म and अधर्म is temporarily lost. दुर्योधन had the same problem in spite of his शास्त्रिय knowledge, रावण had the same problem in spite of he is being a great शिव-भक्त, a great वेदाध्यायी, a great साम वेद singer who pleased Lord शिव himself and Lord शिव himself appeared and blessed रावण. Such a decent well educated person had the clouded discriminative power to such an extent that in spite of the advice of so many people, he could not listen. It is not that intelligence is lacking but the intelligence is temporarily clouded. So that is कृष्ण said in the 2nd chapter,

क्रोधाद्भवति सम्मोहः ... ॥ २-६३॥

the सम्मोहः of the 2nd chapter is explained in verse no.38 as covering the discriminative power. What is सम्मोहः in the 2nd chapter you get the answer in the 3rd chapter, 38th verse. Just as the mirror is covered by the dust, just as fire is covered by the smoke, just as a child is covered by the womb, Similarly, the discriminative power is made defunct, is made non-functional temporarily. And at that time what he does is continuous अधर्म, that is why in daily सन्ध्यावन्दनम् he says कामो कार्षीत् मन्युरकार्षीत् नमो नमः। During सन्ध्यावन्दनम् it is said, काम did it. Oh Lord, because of काम I violated decency, धर्म, because of क्रोध I did,

कामो कार्षीत् कामः करोति नाहम् करोमि कामः कर्ता नाहम् कर्ता
कामः कारयिता नाहम् कारयिता एष ते काम कामाय स्वाहा ।

One आहुति for काम in the hope that somehow it should leave us, मन्युरकार्षीन्नमो नमः । मन्युरकार्षीन्मन्युः करोति नाहम् करोमि मन्युः
कर्ता नाहम् कर्ता मन्युः कारयिता नाहम् कारयिता एष ते मन्यो मन्यवे स्वाहा ॥

Therefore, we worship काम and क्रोध because we know that they are the pair of dacoits, that is why in our पुराणs generally they will be in pairs, मधु-कैटभ, शुम्भ-निशुम्भ, रावण-कुम्भकर्ण, शिषुपाल-दन्तावक्र, हिरण्यकशिपु-हिरण्याक्ष, they all come in twins, do you know who are they, they are काम-क्रोध, they are not in पुराण and all, they are here and now, where are they: they are within me in my head as रावण-कुम्भकर्ण, शिषुपाल-दन्तावक्र, etc. And that is why during श्रावणी पौर्णिमा also, 108 or 1008 times, कामो कार्षीत् जप is done, which means what: these two are responsible for blunting my discriminative power and that is further explained in 39th verse, we will read;

Verse No .39

आवृतं ज्ञानमेतेन ज्ञानिनो नित्यवैरिणा ।

कामरूपेण कौन्तेय दुष्पूरेणानलेन च ॥ ३-३९॥

आवृतम् ज्ञानम् एतेन ज्ञानिनः नित्यवैरिणा ।

कामरूपेण कौन्तेय दुष्पूरेण अनलेन च ॥ ३-३९॥

हे कौन्तेय! नित्यवैरिणा एतेन दुष्पूरेण कामरूपेण च अनलेन ज्ञानिनः
ज्ञानम् आवृतम् ।

In the previous श्लोक कृष्ण said तथा तेन इदम् आवृतम्, that 4th quarter is explained in this particular श्लोक. So कृष्ण says काम otherwise क्रोध, as I had said before, desire and anger are not two separate things but they are one and the same in two different versions. One profile, one picture from the front another from the behind, for same person two types of exposure, therefore कृष्ण talks about काम and you can replace it by क्रोध also. So this काम covers the discriminative power, the judging faculty is gone and what type of कामः the description of काम is given, अनलेन च – a desire which can be compared to fire, fire will destroy the person or the place where it is, fire will destroy its locus. Similarly, काम will destroy its locus, locus means what: the very mind in which it exists. If the fire is here the fire burns the hand, if the desire is in the mind it corrodes, it destroys the very mind and therefore it is called अनलेन, अनलः means fire and why is the fire called अनलः? In संस्कृत, every word has got a derivation, it has a got a meaning, कारण name it is, अलम् means satisfaction, तृप्तिः अ नलः (न अलम्) means that which is never satisfied, that which can never be propitiated, the more you offer oblations to the fire the more it grows. It never says I will go away. By offering the oblations you can never remove the fire, on the other hand the fire will only increase by feeding it. Similarly, when you fulfill your desire, you are not removing the desire, In fact, you are nourishing the desire, feeding the desire, therefore the desire becomes what: it become further gross and again you offer more oblations it expands further, since the fire can never be satisfied, since it is insatiable, it is called अनलः, न विद्यते अलम् यस्य सः अनलः, desire also is अनलः. That is why I said in the other class, when you get Rs.100 your target is Rs.1,000 and once you get Rs.1,000 the target is Rs.10,000. One man was telling, he was talking about his watch, स्वामिजि you know how I got this watch, previously in Madras Island ground there was some fair. And in that fair some lucky dip game was there and in that game, whoever wins the first prize, he will get the watch, then he won the prize and he got the watch, you are very very lucky, without spending money at all you got the watch. Then he said, 'स्वामिजि you know', he should be happy but he was gloomy while reporting because, 'the next day for the same first prize they were giving the scooter.' Now he is not happy with the free watch but he is talking as though he has lost a scooter. He has never got a scooter but he imagines 'if I had won the same first prize the next day I would have got the scooter.' Now I could not get the scooter, therefore I have lost the non-existent scooter and he is crying and in that crying he is not able to enjoy the free watch. This is called कामः, therefore दुष्पूरेण – that which can never be satiated and what kind of fire it is, कामरूपेण – the fire which is in the form of inordinate desire and ज्ञानिनः नित्यवैरिणा – and a desire which is an eternal enemy of the scriptural student. कृष्ण makes a beautiful note here, desire is an eternal enemy of a scriptural student, गीता student, whereas it is not an eternal enemy of non-गीता student. So गीता study is advantageous or disadvantageous. कृष्ण says, for गीता student it is a greater enemy, for others it is not. Why? The reason is this, the other people do not look down upon their desires, they don't consider it as a weakness at all. They don't consider it a minus point at all, therefore they go on fulfilling their desires and whatever be the consequence, they face. They don't have any guilt complex or any such problem. But after studying गीता, the problem is what: I am going to feel the guilt like a person; I'll give an example which will make it clear. Suppose a person has got sugar problem, he doesn't know that he has a sugar problem, he is not informed or he is not educated, therefore what does he do: he fulfills his desires without any guilt or any complex or any problem, laddu and Jalebi comes and he eats without restraint. Later the sugar level shot up and whatever consequences he has to suffer, he suffers. Therefore, for an ignorant person suffering comes only later and but this person he knows he has sugar and he knows that eating this Jalebi, this gulab jamun is going to increase the sugar and he is not able to give it up also, it is so tempting, therefore what does he do: even as he is eating he is going to constantly feel the guilt that 'I am eating that which is not prescribed', 'I am eating that which is not prescribed.' Even before eating, during eating and of course later he suffers but the other person who is blissfully ignorant he suffers only later. So all non-गीता students are blissfully ignorant, they may suffer later but for the गीता student it is going to be a bug throughout. Therefore either be totally ignorant or totally be knowledgeable, half-baked is always a problem and therefore ज्ञानिनः – for a partially informed person it is a नित्य वैरि – an eternal enemy and that काम, ज्ञानम् आवृतम् – by that desire the discriminative power is clouded. And for a spiritual student the most important wealth is discriminative power, because the first part of his life is कर्मयोग. And in the first part of life he has to use the discrimination to find out what is धर्म & what is अधर्म, therefore the first stage of spiritual life involves धर्म-अधर्म विवेक. For that बुद्धि is required. Once he has crossed कर्मयोग stage and he comes to ज्ञानयोग stage there also he has to use the discriminative power only, discrimination between what and what: सत्य-मिथ्या विवेक, he has to know what is real and what is unreal. Therefore the first stage of spirituality is also discrimination, between धर्म-अधर्म, the final stage of spirituality is also discrimination, between real and unreal, that means what: discrimination is required in each stage of spiritual life, throughout the spiritual life विवेक is important. Therefore for us the most important wealth is discrimination. The local wealth may be there or not but विवेक सम्पत् that is called साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत् विवेक धनम् is the most important one and the काम robs away this wealth of discrimination. The other robbers may take away my money, they may take away my ornaments, it is all OK, you can again build-up, काम is a greater robber or a worse robber because he robs away the विवेक शक्ति and therefore you should be very very guarded. Continuing;

Verse No .40

इन्द्रियाणि मनो बुद्धिरस्याधिष्ठानमुच्यते ।

एतैर्विमोहयत्येष ज्ञानमावृत्य देहिनम् ॥ ३-४०॥

इन्द्रियाणि मनः बुद्धिः अस्य अधिष्ठानम् उच्यते ।

एतैः विमोहयति एषः ज्ञानम् आवृत्य देहिनम् ॥ ३-४०॥

इन्द्रियाणि मनः बुद्धिः अस्य अधिष्ठानम् उच्यते । एषः एतैः ज्ञानम् आवृत्य देहिनम् विमोहयति ।

So now I am a spiritual seeker, a मुमुक्षु, a जिज्ञासु and कृष्ण has pointed out काम is a शत्रु, an enemy. So now there is a war, a cold war going on between me and my enemy, कामः. So how to win this war, this is the discussion, therefore कृष्ण wants to take the example of a war itself because अर्जुन is a क्षत्रिय, a warrior, कृष्ण also is a warrior and therefore he takes the symbolism of a war. There are two kings or countries and there is a war between them, how to defeat the other country, when one country has to attack another country, now America is planning or already attacking Iraq. I don't want to say whether it is right or wrong, there is a war. You know what is the most important thing that they require, because there is a big distance between these two countries, around the enemy territory they need a base to store the weapons, to fuel the aeroplanes, all these requires a base, without a base they cannot support their army and that is why around Indian ocean also there are trying to have a base and this can lead to a big problems also. Therefore victory requires what: a nourishing base near the enemy. And therefore if I want to win over the other enemy, I have to find out what are the bases of the enemy and if I destroy those bases the enemy doesn't get nourishment. Even during the last war, even there was a rumor that a plane came to India and fueled and went, it fueled a lot of problems, did India allowed or not, it is required and therefore, काम also requires certain bases to nourish it and therefore we have to find out what are the bases? Even those terrorists who want to attack Israel, they just take the help of some neighboring countries like Lebanon and all and they have got bases, even ISI have bases in India. What can Israel do? Once they have got sufficient weapons they just go and bulldoze, destroy all those bases. So destroying the bases of enemies' support is the most tactical action a person has to do, if he has to win over the enemy. Therefore कृष्ण asks the question. For काम to attack me, what are the bases? You handle the bases, काम-war is half won or fully won. कृष्ण says there are three bases from which desire gets nourishment. First it is generated, later it is nourished by three bases, what are they?

1) No.1, इन्द्रियाणि – the five sense organs are the first one because they alone introduce the sense object to me. So just as those people who want to advertise their product they present the product in the TV and they want to make you somehow watch them, therefore even in between the news also advertisements will come. Then at the time of the advertisement you want to go somewhere and do something, you will find they will increase the volume, always during ads volume will be in high-pitch, even if you are a mile away it will fall in your ears. Suiting's, suiting's, suiting's they will shoot. They will go on shooting you with their suiting. That is the principle. So what the TV does the sense organs do the same thing, constantly present शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध. It will be kept in front of your mind, take this take this, very cheap, super sale, 30% off, buy two take three, whatever has to be said, they will say and somehow they want to DUMP. So the sense organs dump the sense objects in front of me. This is the origin, the beginning.

2) And then what is the next nourishing base, मनः. The advertisement is only for one minute, even not that length, 20 seconds or 30 seconds only, because they have to pay so many lakhs of rupees for a few seconds they spend so much money. The advertisement can push the sense object into your mind only within a half a minute or a few seconds but the problem is the mind takes over that, because it records that object, it has got a wonderful recording power. Whereas the local recording you have to change the cassette off and on, the mind records what you saw when you were visiting मुम्बई in which shop, which object, all these will be remembered properly, whether you remember the गीता or not. It creates a strong संस्कार or वासना by what: ध्यायतो विषयान्पुंसः, it is relay race, the sense organs do the first job and hand over the baton to the mind, the mind says that I will take care of the rest and what does the mind do? It goes on dwelling: that it is wonderful, it is wonderful, it is wonderful, etc., etc. The every advertisement is because it is useless, even though it doesn't have any stuff or any value in it I go on dwelling upon this, what is the mind's job: production of वासनाs, by what: dwelling upon it by repeating it, 'that is nice', 'that is nice', 'that is nice', and 'it is worth having', 'it is worth having', 'it is worth having' and then gradually 'I want it', 'I want it', 'I want it', then I say, 'without I cannot survive.' See where it started and where it has come. Without that I have been surviving all these years and I am fat also, where is the problem of survival. Like that boy who lost the non-existent scooter. Similarly, even though I don't possess that object, the imaginary possession itself gives a such a nice feeling that I cannot imagine even an imaginary loss of that thing. So therefore, how does mind do that, by आवृत्तिः, sense organs present, the mind repeats it. So this is the second base, मनः.

3) And what is the third base of कामः? बुद्धिः, बुद्धिः means the intellect, the third source. The intellect contributes to the desire by its wrong judgment, by its delusive thinking, by its indiscriminate attitude and what is the wrong judgment of the intellect? That is the judgment is, that external object will make my life happier and secure. That external object or situation or person will make my life happier and more secure and according to वेदान्त, this is the worst judgment because वेदान्त says the external world is neither a source of joy nor a source of sorrow, external world is what: external world. And according to वेदान्त, I alone am the source of joy also, I alone am the source of sorrow also. अहम् एव सुख हेतुः, अहम् एव दुःख हेतुः. How can I myself be both the cause of joy and sorrow? For that वेदान्त gives the example, suppose there is a garland, there is a garland in semi darkness, it is not very bright. That garland is a nice garland which I can take and wear or adorn any photo or anything. It is a garland, now what do I do: I mistake the garland as a snake and that mistaken garland or the mistaken rope becomes the source of sorrow or fear. When it is seen as it is, it is not a source of sorrow or fear, whereas the mistaken rope becomes the source of fear or sorrow. Similarly, वेदान्त says when I understand myself as I am it is the source of आनन्द, when it is not understood I am not understood as I am, then the very same I become the source of sorrow. Understood I is सुख हेतुः, misunderstood I is दुःख हेतुः. What about the world, it is neither सुख हेतु nor दुःख हेतु, how do you prove that the world is not a source of सुख or दुःख? That also can be very easily proved, one and same object which is the source of joy for someone the very same thing is the source of sorrow for other and that is why when one person wants to sell the house, why because he wants to dispose it off, because he finds that he is not comfortable, he is not happy with that, there is another person to buy it. And even people, two people get married and after some time they say you are the source of sorrow and they decide to divorce and the same lady somebody else is waiting to marry and this man also wants to marry some other lady. This is going on like that, so therefore what is the source of joy for one, the same person is the source of sorrow for the other, from that it is clear that person is neither the source of joy nor the source of sorrow. Then I only superimpose सुख हेतुत्वम् and दुःख हेतुत्वम्, therefore the desire arises because of the wrong conclusion that the external object is source of happiness and that wrong judgment is the contribution of what: intellect. The sense organs contribution is what: presentation of the object. Mind's contribution is what: developing a liking, an addiction by repeated thinking, आवृत्तिः and intellect's contribution is what: wrong judgment that this is the source of happiness and that is why शङ्कराचार्य said:

Oh deluded man, other than गोविन्द, other than God, there is no other source of joy in the world.

संप्राप्ते सन्निहिते काले न हि न हि रक्षति डुकृन् करणे ॥ भजगोविन्दम् १

Now let us come to the present topic, these are the three bases, इन्द्रियाणि मनः बुद्धिः अस्य. अस्य means कामस्य अधिष्ठानम्, they are the nourishing factors, एतैः – with the help of these three supporting bases, एतैः means इन्द्रिय मनो बुद्धि रूप अधिष्ठानैः, through these three bases, एषः विमोहयति – this desire overpowers the intelligent human being who can learn from experiences. Such an intelligent human being is completely deluded, shattered and how does it delude this person, देहिनम् means this person, this जीव, this intelligent human being it deludes, how: ज्ञानम् आवृत्य – by covering the discriminative power and that is why I had said in my उपनिषत् introduction that for a thinking person every sense object is not only not a source of आनन्द, but for a thinking person every sense object can be only a source of sorrow, because of three defects.

1) The first defect is, दुःख मिश्रितत्वम्, in acquiring an object there is pain, in maintaining the object there is pain and finally the losing the object there is the greatest pain, that is the first defect;

2) The second defect is any amount of acquisition doesn't give satisfaction. Instead of enjoying what I have - remember the watch, every time I look at the watch I don't enjoy the presence of the watch, I am reminded of what: the missing scooter. What a tragedy, the missing scooter is reminded. The second defect is dissatisfaction and;

3) The third defect the more I get used to the external crutches the more I develop dependence on them. A time comes when I can no more be independent, you can never strengthen your leg by using crutches, you strengthen your legs only by dropping the crutches and learning to walk.

And therefore, the sense object have got three defects, दुःख मिश्रितत्वम्, अतृप्तिकरत्वम्, बन्धकत्वम् and an intelligent person knows that but by covering the intelligence the काम deludes this person, he doesn't recognize these defects, therefore ज्ञानम् आवृत्य देहिनम् विमोहयति. So until now how काम attacks and what are the bases of काम have been talked about. Now कृष्ण is going to deal with how you have to handle these three bases,

Verse No .41

तस्मात्त्वमिन्द्रियाण्यादौ नियम्य भरतर्षभ ।

पाप्मानं प्रजहि ह्येनं ज्ञानविज्ञाननाशनम् ॥ ३-४१॥

तस्मात् त्वम् इन्द्रियाणि आदौ नियम्य भरतर्षभ ।

पाप्मानम् प्रजहि हि एनं ज्ञान-विज्ञान-नाशनम् ॥ ३-४१॥

हे भरतर्षभ! तस्मात् त्वम् आदौ इन्द्रियाणि नियम्य, ज्ञान-विज्ञान-नाशनम् एनं पाप्मानम् प्रजहि हि ।

So कृष्ण says here, since काम can delude a person and lead only to more and more dependence, you have to handle the काम, you have to conquer the काम, is what He wants to say in this श्लोक and here He uses the expression ज्ञान-विज्ञान-नाशनम्. So if काम covers the discriminative power, what will be the consequence? He says by covering the discriminative power, काम destroys both ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम्. आत्मज्ञानम् and आत्मविज्ञानम् are destroyed by काम. So here he uses two technical words, ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम्. Both refers to the आत्मा only. One gains आत्मज्ञानम् in two stages, here the first stage is called ज्ञानम्, the second stage is called विज्ञानम्.

1) What is the first stage called ज्ञानम्? In the beginning stages the teacher points out that you, an individual consists of two parts, one is the अनात्मा, the body-mind part and the second is the Consciousness, which is the आत्मा part, this is the first stage, आत्म-अनात्मा विवेक. And what is the Consciousness part, I have told you before, Consciousness is not a part, product or property of the body, Consciousness is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body, Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body and the Consciousness survives even after the death of the body and that Consciousness is आत्मा, which is different from the body-mind-complex and this teaching repeatedly has to take place, after so many hours of teaching the student at last understands and says now I have learnt one thing that I have got an आत्मा, till now he had no belief in the आत्मा, he doesn't know at all, now he says there is an आत्मा, he calls it soul, he calls it spirit and he says I have got an आत्मा, then who are you, of course I am the mortal body and behind my body there is आत्मा I believe in that आत्मा, गुरु has said, it should be true and therefore I believe in that आत्मा. In fact, that itself is a big stage, previously he never thought that there is something which survives death. Scientists even now don't accept, only religions talk about the soul or spirit with survives, science doesn't accept that. Because it is invisible, so now he says I am the body and I have a got a spirit, now वेदान्त says that this is the first stage.

2) And what is the second stage of learning? Instead of saying I am the body and I have a soul, आत्मा, we have to shift the identification and I have to learn to say: what, I am the आत्मा and I have an incidental, temporary medium called the body. And I operate the body sometimes, I don't operate through the body sometimes. Just as the spectacles, I use for some time and I remove the spectacles, Similarly, body is a temporary medium through which I function. That is why in waking state, I function through the body and experience the world; during sleep state, I set aside the body and I don't experience the world. How using the microscope I see the microbes, like that, when I remove the microscope I am not able to see the microbes, like that through the body scope I see the world in the waking, when I set aside the body, I don't experience the world, but am I there or not in the sleep? I am there. Therefore who am I? I am not the body but I am the user of the body. That is what we saw in the 2nd chapter, वासांसि जीर्णानि यथा विहाय ॥ २-२२॥ Just as you change the dress you change the body also. So this requires lot of श्रवणम्, lot of मननम् and much much more निदिध्यासनम् and when I say I am the आत्मा, it is called विज्ञानम्.

So what is the difference between ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम्? I have an आत्मा, is ज्ञानम्, is परोक्ष ज्ञानम्, I am the आत्मा is विज्ञानम्, अपरोक्ष ज्ञानम्. And कृष्ण says everybody has to go through ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम्, initially विज्ञानम् will not come, in the initial classes one will say that I have understood well, स्वामिजि, that I have an आत्मा and they say, that you teach well and give me a certificate, so through ज्ञानम् alone one has to go विज्ञानम्. कृष्ण says काम is a big enemy because it doesn't allow both ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम् to take place in the mind, because to get both ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम् he has to come to गीता class, because the desires will keep him busy, 26 hours a day, OT, now internet has come, even business in the night, now no 10 A.M – 6 P.M, 24 hours. स्वामिजि I have come to India but I still I work with internet. I am not saying that you should not work, should not earn. The problem is when I have to spend my whole life in accomplishing, acquiring these things only, it means काम has won, if a person has got discrimination, he will also work, he will also earn, not that one should not earn, one has to earn, but the thing is he intelligently plans his life, that whatever be the work he will find time for this ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम्. And therefore when I am a slave of काम I won't get an opportunity for ज्ञानम्, but when काम is my slave I will find time, I should find time, scriptural study is compulsory for all. Generally people think that गीता is only for those who are good for nothing after retirement, there is no work and if he sits at home, it creates a problem and quarrels, etc., so if there are some camps etc., I am advised to go and come, why are you troubling us always, at least trouble the स्वामिजि for some time! Therefore, they want to send such people to me and therefore when nothing else is to be done they take up गीता, many people think that गीता is only for elderly people, when they have spent, spent forces they are, they have exhausted all their energy and it is not like that. According to our tradition scriptural study is compulsory for all, काम obstructs scriptural study, because it always makes you say, 'Time is Money', which was on somebody's table, why can't someone put 'Time is मोक्ष' board!! Because in Time only you get ज्ञानम्. Nobody puts Time is मोक्ष, everybody puts time is money, therefore these two hours if I work something I can earn a little bit more money. And therefore कृष्ण says काम is ज्ञान-विज्ञान-नाशनम् and therefore better you handle काम by dealing with the three bases. The details of which we will see in the next class.

अर्जुन asked a question to Lord कृष्ण in verse no.36 and the question was what is the obstacle to the practice of कर्मयोग and ultimately an obstacle to the practice of ज्ञानयोग also, because the scriptures very clearly talk about कर्मयोग convincingly and they do talk about ज्ञानयोग also convincingly and the human beings have a discriminative intellect and the human being is interested in the ultimate goal of आनन्द. In spite of all these things, how come many people are not able to follow कर्मयोग? There seems to be some powerful obstacle and for that कृष्ण is giving the answer from verse no.37 onwards and that answer is राग द्वेषः or काम-क्रोध which is otherwise known as मोहः, delusion. And that is why शङ्कराचार्य wrote the well-known work of भजगोविन्दम्, in which he addressed the people

भजगोविन्दम् भजगोविन्दम् गोविन्दम् भजमूढमते ।

मूढमतिः means the one whose mind is caught in delusion and this मोहः, otherwise known as अविवेकः is nothing but confusion regarding the priorities of life, अर्थ and काम, wealth and entertainment becomes more important पुरुषार्थs compared to धर्म and मोक्षः. So all the human goals can be broadly classified into four - अर्थ, काम, धर्म and मोक्षः. अर्थ is wealth, काम is entertainment, धर्म is values, मोक्षः is spiritual freedom. So one side there is wealth and entertainment, endless entertainment through all the channels of TV and through the internet also now. And the other side we have got the pair of values and मोक्षः, the spiritual freedom. In कठोपनिषत् they are called प्रेयस् and श्रेयस्. An intelligent human being is one who considers the श्रेयस् as the prominent and the important one and प्रेयस् is subservient to श्रेयस् and the one who has got this clarity of vision he is विवेकि, non-deluded person, कृष्ण tells in the 2nd chapter: व्यवसायात्मिका बुद्धिरेकेह कुरुनन्दन ॥ २-४१॥ The goal of life is very clear, whereas in the case of अविवेकs, deluded people, the अर्थ-काम become more important than धर्म, मोक्षः. This problem is called the राग-द्वेषः problem, otherwise कृष्ण calls here काम-क्रोधः problem. And of these two problems, कृष्ण says, काम is the main problem, क्रोधः is only a different version of the same काम; काम meaning desire to complete myself. I have a sense of incompleteness, self-insufficiency and I am struggling to make myself पूर्णः through various methods and this struggle to complete myself is called कामः. It may be through wealth, it may be through entertainment, it maybe through people, wife, husband, children, grand children, status, all of them are struggles to complete myself. And कृष्ण does not talk about the क्रोधः, the anger, because according to कृष्ण, and it is true also, obstructed काम, obstructed desire alone gets converted into anger, therefore tackling काम is indirectly tackling क्रोधः. Therefore the question came, how can a person handle the काम? And कृष्ण suggested three methods as the first step. It is the first aid method, not ultimate solution, just as first aid is very important but that is not the ultimate solution, if you just give first aid and send him home he will be finished, afterwards we have to take to the hospital and treat and the first aid solution to काम is three-fold, they are called दमः and शमः and विवेकः.

1) दमः means discipline of the sense organs. So filtering what enters my mind through the sense organs; there must be a board in front of the eyes, no admission without permission, trespassers will be prosecuted, unnecessary thing should not enter. Our mind is not a wastepaper basket for everything to enter, I am particular. This is called दमः, इन्द्रिय निग्रहः.

2) And once things have entered my mind they are capable of generating thoughts, I begin to live in my internally projected world and these thoughts also I have to edit, monitor because these thoughts alone get converted into words and action and therefore I take care of my thoughts also and unhealthy thought I nip in the bud itself.

जातमात्रम् न यः शत्रुम् व्याधिम् वा प्रशमम् नयेत् । अतिपुष्टांगयुक्तोऽपि स पश्चात् तेन हन्यते ।

Two things must be nipped in the bud itself, what are those two things: शत्रुम्, व्याधिम्. शत्रु means an enemy, व्याधि means a disease; if a disease is not tackled in the early stages itself, that disease can grow and destroy even the healthiest person. That is why now-a-days there is master check up. Only thing is it costs too much. The idea is if the disease is detected in the beginning you can solve. Another thing which has to be nipped in the bud is the enemy, there the verse talks about the external enemy. We should extend it to our internal enemy. Any negative thought can become my own आन्तर शत्रु. The fifth column like a terrorist or militant, they are very much within the country which makes it very difficult to handle. In Punjab we faced, in Kashmir we are facing, a clean open war we can fight and win, but this war is very difficult to win because the enemy is within the country. Similarly, an unhealthy thought is like a militant or terrorist, so this internal enemy in the form of an unhealthy thought is like a terrorist or militant which can obstruct my spiritual pursuit and therefore handling the thoughts, disciplining my thought life is the second method, which we call शमः. So sensory discipline is method one, mental discipline is method two.

3) And the third discipline is विवेकः. विवेकः is thinking. कृष्ण has to tell this because generally we don't think, because if we really think many of the things that we are doing now we will not be doing. Our problem is either non-thinking or careful wrong thinking. Like that person who saw a house with a low door, in villages the door is very low and this person is a tall person, so many people hit their heads while walking, somebody gave a warning it is very low be careful. Therefore just bend and go and this person wanted to be careful and started bending from here itself and exactly when he came under the door, he raised his head and got a bump. That is called thoughtful mistake. There are two types of mistakes - one is thoughtless mistake, another is thoughtful mistake and what is that विवेकः, understanding that anything external in itself is incomplete thing, a finite thing. I, a finite being, by the acquisition, possession or relation with any finite thing I can never become infinite. Finite plus finite is equal to finite. You get the whole world as your property, you will be incomplete; you get the whole solar system as your property, you will be incomplete; you get the whole galaxy as your property, you will be incomplete. Therefore we find in कठोपनिषत् a 9 year old boy says, न वितेन तर्पणीयो मनुष्यः – any amount of material possession will not satisfy a human being. The logic behind is finite plus finite is finite. Insecure person gets a few more insecure thing, it will only be insecure plus insecure, husband is insecure, wife is insecure, insecure-husband plus insecure-wife is more insecure, because previously he was worried about himself only, now worried about wife also and gets an insecure child, it becomes insecurity cubed and he gets extra money and that is again insecurity, the money is insecure. A little bit thinking, you don't require a PhD and all, a lit bit thinking is enough, in spite of this if there is any doubt interview any person who has got maximum possessions and highest position, he will tell you that he is maximum insecure. Ask Clinton he will tell, impeachment sword is just above his head, rightly or wrongly he is saved. Who is secure? Therefore security and fullness I have to find in myself or I can never find. This must be crystal clear, this is called विवेकः. Either I am ever secure or I am never secure, either I am ever full or I am never full. So this is called विवेक, world is neither a source of joy nor a source of sorrow; world is world, I am the source of joy and I am the source of sorrow, mistaken-I is source of sorrow, taken-I is the source of happiness.

Thus, दमः, शमः and विवेकः are three what you call three-fold disciplines, दमः at sensory level, शमः at mental level and विवेकः at the intellectual level and कृष्ण says of these three disciplines, which one should be the first step. What should be the order? कृष्ण says, दमः is the first, first start disciplining your sense organs beginning with your tongue. Tongue first, in तमिळ्, 'if one sense-organ is under control then all four sense-organs are under control' there is such a statement. That is my opinion, I don't know about the original commentary. So you master your tongue both the eating-tongue, entrance and talking-tongue, exit; discipline that. Therefore कृष्ण said in verse no.41, तस्मात् त्वम् इन्द्रियाणि आदौ नियम्य – therefore अर्जुन start with the discipline of your sense organs and by way of that पाप्मानम् प्रजहि ह्येनम् – handle, master the problem of काम and what type of काम, not only it is an obstacle to कर्मयोग, but ज्ञान-विज्ञान-नाशनम् – it is an obstacle to ज्ञानयोग also, it destroys both ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम्. And I told you in the last class, I hope you remember, long gap, ज्ञानम् is 'there is ब्रह्मन्', विज्ञानम् is 'that ब्रह्मन् I am.' परोक्ष ज्ञानम् is ज्ञानम्, अपरोक्ष ज्ञानम् is विज्ञानम्. So both ज्ञानम् and विज्ञानम् are threatened by this काम and therefore if you interested in these two, better learn to handle this. Continuing;

Verse No .42

इन्द्रियाणि पराण्याहुरिन्द्रियेभ्यः परं मनः ।

मनसस्तु परा बुद्धिर्यो बुद्धेः परतस्तु सः ॥ ३-४२॥

इन्द्रियाणि पराणि आहुः इन्द्रियेभ्यः परम् मनः ।

मनसः तु परा बुद्धिः यः बुद्धेः परतः तु सः ॥ ३-४२॥

इन्द्रियाणि पराणि आहुः, इन्द्रियेभ्यः मनः परम्, मनसः तु बुद्धिः परा, यः तु बुद्धेः परतः सः (आत्मा अस्ति)।

I said that these three-fold disciplines are only the first aid. This is not the ultimate solution, it is only a temporary stop gap solution, like two types of medicine - palliative medicine and curative medicine. Palliative medicine is, it will give you temporary relief, you take cough syrup for one hour you will not cough. When the effect is gone the cough will come back, it is only a temporary solution. Then what is the ultimate solution? Temporary solution you should take to, just as first aid is compulsory, दमः-शमः-विवेक are compulsory but don't stop with these three, having got temporary relief from काम, you to have to go to the permanent solution. And what is that permanent solution, आत्मज्ञानम् एव – Self-knowledge alone is the ultimate solution. Why do we say so, what is the logic behind it? The logic is this, desire is an expression of a symptom of sense of incompleteness. Why do I want things, because without that I am incomplete? Incompleteness expressed is desire, that is why we always ask, what is your complaint, then he says everything is there, but no child, no grandchild, etc., etc., only girl children not there, something or the other, I told you about the तम्बुर श्रुति, I want I want, it continues. Therefore desire is an expression of अपूर्णत्वम् and it will go only by the discovery of पूर्णत्वम्. अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि, पूर्णः means not the sweet पूर्णम्, this is Vedantic पूर्णता, पूर्णम् means full and complete, I don't lack anything, I don't miss anything.

न चास्य सर्वभूतेषु कश्चिदर्थव्यपाश्रयः ॥ ३-१८॥

and in the 2nd chapter,

प्रजहाति यदा कामान्सर्वान्पार्थ मनोगतान् ।

आत्मन्येवात्मना तुष्टः स्थितप्रज्ञस्तदोच्यते ॥ २-७५॥

When I am full and complete I don't need anything, whatever around is luxury. दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says converting everything around you into luxury is मोक्षः. What is luxury? Whatever you possess you enjoy, when it is not there you don't miss that is called luxury. But if you miss that object it is no more luxury it has become a necessity. So when the things around me are necessities it is bondage, when the things around me are luxuries it is called मोक्षः. The very presence of body is a luxury. That भगवान् has given me eyes is luxury, that hands are there is luxury, you will know value hair is there that is a luxury, when you know many people struggling to get some kind of hair on their head, at least pseudo or patch up, when they struggle only, you have to meditate Lord I have luxurious hair, whatever be the color. It is there, it is a blessing. Therefore मोक्षः is अहम् पूर्णः and that is possible only through आत्मज्ञानम् and therefore in these two verses, 42 and 43, कृष्ण talks about आत्मज्ञानम् as the ultimate remedy for काम-क्रोध problem. And to talk about आत्मज्ञानम् कृष्ण has to define आत्मा. What is आत्मा and we get the definition of आत्मा in this verse, it is an important verse, this verse is a borrowed teaching from कठोपनिषत्. In the कठोपनिषत् there are two well-known मन्त्रs, इन्द्रियेभ्यः परा ह्यर्था अर्थेभ्यश्च परम् मनः । मनसस्तु परा बुद्धिर्बुद्धेरात्मा महान्परः ॥

महतः परमव्यक्तमव्यक्तात्पुरुषः परः । पुरुषान्न परम् किञ्चित्सा काष्ठा सा परा गतिः ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-३-१०/११॥

Those two verses, कृष्ण condenses in this verse and here कृष्ण is revealing the आत्मा, through a particular method called अरुन्धती-दर्शन न्याय. अरुन्धती दर्शन न्याय means gradual revelation. In अरुन्धती दर्शन, during the wedding, so one has to see the अरुन्धती star and this अरुन्धती star is extremely subtle and therefore a person cannot directly see, therefore first one has to show the grossest one like the moon, therefore you show the grossest luminary that is the moon, then you say you just see in that direction there is a bright star, from that you see the third one and then you go to that, each time the person asks, is this अरुन्धती and you have to say No. Then he shows the next one and thus in few stages he reveals the अरुन्धती. This gradual revelation is called अरुन्धती दर्शन न्याय or शाखा चन्द्र न्याय. You show the tree, then show the branch, then take the tip of the branch, then show two twigs which are bifurcating and between two twigs you ask the person to see and that is the star. Now the वेदान्त uses the same method of revealing the आत्मा step by step, it is otherwise known as पञ्चकोश विवेक. अरुन्धती दर्शन न्याय is otherwise पञ्चकोश विवेक. First reveal the grossest, then subtle, then subtle, then subtle. And here the word used is परः, a very significant word, literally the word परः means superior. So a gradation of superior thing is shown, this is superior, superior to that the next one, superior to that is the next one and the superior most is the आत्मा. And this word पर has got lot of philosophical significance also, which शङ्कराचार्य explains in his कठोपनिषत् commentary, he says the word परः signifies three things, simple meaning is superior, but it signifies three features, सूक्ष्मः, महान्तः प्रत्यगात्मा भूताश्च.

1) So that which is superior is subtle, a subtler thing is called a superior thing, that is meaning No.1 and;

2) The second meaning is महान्तः, air is still subtle, as you go subtler and subtler it becomes more and more pervasive and when you come to space, the आकाश, it is extremely subtle and therefore it is all-pervading.

Therefore superior means No.1, subtle; No.2 more pervading and;

3) No.3 शङ्कराचार्य says, it is more closer to you, प्रत्यगात्मा भूताश्च.

So this gradation is talked about, we have to take our mind along with these steps and then ultimately we land in the आत्मा. And there is the 4th idea also which is not directly mentioned by कृष्ण, but to be taken note of here is: a subtler thing controls a grosser thing, a subtler thing is more powerful, capable of controlling a grosser thing. Keeping this we will see the gradation. इन्द्रियाणि पराणि आहुः – the sense organs are superior ones compared to the sense objects, the sense organs are पराणि superior to the sense objects, why: because the very existence of sense objects is proved by the sense organs alone. For a blind person the world of forms and colors does not exist, therefore the existence of forms and colors depend upon what: the very sense organ. And therefore compared to the external world, the sense organs are superior. Then कृष्ण says इन्द्रियेभ्यः परम् मनः – superior to the sense organs is the mind, because the sense organs can function as sense organs only when the mind is there to back, if the mind is not behind you cannot see. Suppose you are in a railway station, you are going to receive someone, very very crowded and you are looking for that person, your mind is occupied with the thought of that person and the other people come and pass you, you don't notice. And sometimes they complain also, I came in front of you and you didn't smile at all. What happened? Then goes on building up also, I saw the other day he was moving up with my enemy. And he must have put in some word, therefore he also should have become, build-up and we kill ourselves, simple reason is he was preoccupied therefore the mind was not behind the eyes and that is why in English we have an idiom, blank look, means eyes are open but no perception takes place. Similarly, sometimes in the class, ears are open no hearing takes place. And that is why I stop the class exactly on time, because our mind is tuned for one hour class. If I say one and half hour and take class you will listen, but if I say one hour and exceed, it is switched off. That is why I am very punctual, don't think that I am very very punctual, the reason is selfish because I want you to hear me, and that is why बृहदारण्यक says अन्यत्रमना अभूवम् नादर्शमन्यत्रमना अभूवम् नाश्रौषमिति मनसा ह्येव पश्यति मनसा शृणोति । ... ॥ १-७-३ ॥

surely through mind alone you are really seeing or hearing, therefore eye is an eye only when it is backed by the mind and therefore mind is superior to a sense organ, then मनसः तु परा बुद्धिः – superior to the mind is the intellect. Mind has got mainly two-fold functions, one is emotions and another is doubt, सङ्कल्प विकल्पात्मकम् मनः, सङ्कल्प विकल्पता means to be nor to be, to go not to go, to eat or not to eat, that doubting faculty is called mind and emotions also, now both the emotions and doubts can be controlled by knowledge, your discriminative power, In fact, that is what a ज्ञानि accomplishes, अशोच्यानन्वशोचस्त्वं प्रज्ञावादांश्च भाषसे ।

Wise people are not under the grip of emotion. Not that they don't have emotions, very careful, minus emotions there is no difference between ज्ञानि and a rock, they are different because we have got sentiments or emotions. What I say, ज्ञानि is not free from emotions, ज्ञानि is not under the grip of emotions because he knows how to handle them because of his wisdom. Most of the emotions are because of ignorance, unintelligent judgment of situations, wrong perceptive, hatred, jealousy most of them are unintelligent response. Therefore through intellect emotions can be handled, through intellect doubts also can be handled, In fact, any doubt will go only by clear knowledge and therefore बुद्धि is capable of handling the mind that is why in कठोपनिषत्, a beautiful analogy is given, the body is like a chariot, the sense organs are like the horses, mind is like the reins controlling the horses and बुद्धि is like the driver who alone controls the reins and through the reins controls the horses and through the horses controls the very direction of the life's journey and therefore कृष्ण says मनसः तु परा बुद्धिः – विज्ञानमय कोश is superior to मनोमाय कोश. Intellect is superior to mind, rational intellect is superior to emotional mind. Then what is superior to intellect he says, यः बुद्धेः परतः तु सः – that which is superior to even the intellect is सः, is the आत्मा, सः means आत्मा is superior to the intellect also and what do you mean by आत्मा: is the Consciousness because of which I am aware of the very intellect, its knowledge and its ignorance. So when you say I know, I ask you the question, how do you know you know, you say I know English, I ask the question how do you know, you say I know, you say I know that I know English, that means what: the knowledgeable condition of the intellect I am aware of, therefore intellect is also an object of my awareness, the knowledge in the intellect is also an object of my awareness and then I ask you, do you know Chinese, then you say I don't know, then I ask the question how do you know. No स्वामिजि I know, what do you know, I know that I don't know Chinese. So I don't know is another quality of the intellect, quality of ignorance, therefore not only I am aware of the knowledgeable mind I am also aware of the ignorant mind, both knowledge and ignorance are properties of the intellect, which I am aware of. Therefore I am neither intellect, nor am I knowledge, nor am I ignorance, I am the Consciousness who am aware of the intellect and its property of knowledge as well as ignorance, that I who is neither the body nor the sense organs, nor the mind, nor the intellect, all these four are the object of my knowledge, body is the object of my knowledge, mind is the object of my knowledge, senses are the object of my knowledge. Again दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says when you want to test your eyes or ears, the doctor asks the question do you see, why can't he find out, स्वामिजि says, I thought that because he is an American doctor, with advanced equipment he will know what I can see and what I cannot. But he puts an empty frame and puts different glasses and asks me: do you see, that means what: I know whether I see and I know whether I don't see. Therefore seeing property of the sense organ and non-seeing property of the sense organ I am aware of, the hearing property of sense organ, the non-hearing property of sense organ, अन्धत्वमन्दत्वपटुत्वधर्माः सौगुण्यवैगुण्यवशाद्धि चक्षुषः । विवेकचूडामणि

In विवेकचूडामणि, शङ्कराचार्य beautifully says, अन्धः, मन्दः; total deaf is one thing, मन्दः means ears are slightly dull, dullness of the ear, sharpness of the ear, total deafness of the ear, all I am aware of. Thus the world is object, body is object, then sense organs are object, mind is object, intellect is object, I am object. No. I am ever the subject, who am aware of all the objects. And I the subject can never be objectified, If I the subject can never be objectified, how do I know I am existent. Suppose somebody asks, if I the subject cannot be objectified, how do I know I am existent. What is the proof? You don't require any proof, the very availability of the object is the proof for the presence of subject. That I have got eyes, I don't see my eyes? I don't see, but the very fact that I am seeing every one of you is the proof for my eye. I don't see, but the very fact that I am able to see you is the proof. When you take a picture in that picture so many people are there and you conclude that if there are 9 people in the picture for that program at least 10 people must have gone, why because there must be a photographer. Suppose you say, automatic photograph, I will ask you the question, camera is there or not, camera is never seen in the picture, but camera's existence is never doubted, I the awareness is never seen but its existence can never be questioned and that I the awareness which proves everything but which doesn't require any proof, that awareness is the आत्मा and this आत्मा I should know or I should own up as myself. Then what will happen? That is said in the last verse.

Verse No .43

एवं बुद्धेः परं बुद्ध्वा संस्तभ्यात्मानमात्मना ।

जहि शत्रुं महाबाहो कामरूपं दुरासदम् ॥ ३-४३॥

एवम् बुद्धेः परम् बुद्ध्वा संस्तभ्य आत्मानम् आत्माना ।

जहि शत्रुम् महाबाहो काम-रूपम् दुरासदम् ॥ ३-४३॥

हे महाबाहो! एवम् (आत्मानं) बुद्धेः परम् बुद्ध्वा आत्माना आत्मानम् संस्तभ्य, काम-रूपम् दुरासदम् शत्रुम् जहि ।

So अर्जुन, your ultimate task is knowing this आत्मा, the चैतन्य तत्त्वम्. And what type of चैतन्य तत्त्वम्: बुद्धेः परम् which is superior to even the intellect, which is the objectifier of even the intellect, which is the subject behind the intellect, that आत्मा, the Consciousness you should own up. And what is the nature of that Consciousness, I have discussed before, Consciousness is not part, product or property of the body; Consciousness is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body; Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body; Consciousness survives even after the fall of the body, that surviving Consciousness cannot interact because of the want of, because of the lack of medium. So that boundless Consciousness and what is the example I give, like the light pervading the hand, but which is not limited by the boundaries of the hand, just as the boundless light is all-pervading but beyond the hand you don't see the light but it is there. Similarly, the Consciousness is in the body and it is beyond the boundaries of the body, this सत्-चित्-अनन्त आत्मा one should know. And it is not sufficient to know that there is Consciousness, more important is learning to train our mind to own up the formless Consciousness as the real-I, the formed-body is not the real-I, the formless-Consciousness is the real-I. One western author, Wayne Dyer, who writes beautifully, who is influenced by Oriental teaching, he says when you shift the I, from the formful-body, formed-body to the formless-Consciousness, that is called transformation. What is the real transformation in life? Not converting the thin-body to fat-body, that is not the real transformation; nor converting fat-body to thin-body by regular walking, that is not the real transformation; the real transformation is transcending the form. And then what is that, I am the formless Consciousness. Then what about the body and mind, just as I use the spectacles consisting of two glasses to transact with the world, the body and mind are like the spectacle which I use to transact with the world, during waking I use the body and mind and transact, during sleep what do I do: body and mind are set aside that is why I am not able to transact. Transacting-I is absent in sleep, am I absent in sleep? Non-transacting-I still continues. What is the proof? That is why I happily go to sleep. If sleep is the death of the individual, if sleep is the death of the individual nobody will go to sleep. We will all stay awake by all means. Now I know during sleep the transacting-I alone is gone, the non-transacting, un-located I continues. Therefore body and mind I use and set aside, therefore they are the media, they are not me.

न च व्योम भूमिर्न तेजो न वायुः। विदानन्दरूपः शिवोऽहम् शिवोऽहम् ॥
निर्वाण षट्कम् १॥

So this is the Vedantic training. And then what should you do? आत्मना आत्मानम् संस्तभ्य, by claiming this new identity we have to remove the previous orientation, that I am a finite, mortal, insecure individual is my orientation. Right from my birth, my orientation is that I am finite and mortal and I cannot be happy within myself, I require to be fine, to be OK, as a baby बालस्तावत् क्रीडासक्तः I wanted the balloons and computer games (now 21st century, people will not understand balloons). One भरत नाट्यम् teacher was telling, when she wanted to teach about यशोदा churning the buttermilk, so they have got the symbolism for that. The students asked what is this, because now there is no more that churning is there. So I was recommending hereafterwards whenever such a theme comes show the way they use mixie. So भरत नाट्यम् मुद्रा is changed hereafter. Where is buttermilk for churning when no milk is there. So therefore, the orientation we have to change and new orientation comes, that is called ज्ञान निष्ठा. कृष्ण says आत्मना आत्मानम् संस्तभ्य, संस्तभ्य means स्थिरकृत्या, internalize this teaching, steady this teaching, reinforce the teaching, to use the 2nd chapter language, स्थिरप्रज्ञः भव. What is the different between प्रज्ञः and स्थिरप्रज्ञः? If you are only प्रज्ञः, this knowledge is alive in this playground, the moment the class is over and the chappal is on, the good old miserable, bitter, limited, angry, restless, irritable, irritated, that person comes, again if you come to the class it is good. Whereas if I am a स्थिरप्रज्ञ this knowledge continues and it is available whenever I need. So ready availability of knowledge during crisis is called ज्ञान निष्ठा, otherwise it is like 'a drawing of the vegetable cannot be used for the cooking', 'Just knowing something is not the same as being able to do it.' And how do you that: by निदिध्यासनम्, by dwelling upon this teaching in any manner, either by sharing with someone, or by reflecting within myself, or I write, or I teach, I do something or the other, that dwelling is important. So आत्मा here means the mind. So steady your mind, आत्मना, with the mind, steady your mind with the mind, which means by the practice of meditation, by the practice dwelling upon the teaching, re-living the teaching is meditation. Meditation is not only sitting with closed eyes, re-living the teaching, either by reading, writing, or thinking, or teaching, or sharing etc., is all re-living, संस्तभ्य. जहि शत्रुम् महाबाहो. When you own up this Consciousness as myself, I discover पूर्णत्वम्, because the physical body alone is limited, but I the formless आत्मा is not limited at all. And this owning up of the पूर्णत्वम् removes all the wants. In fact, everything is in me the Consciousness, what do I miss in life and therefore शत्रुम् जहि, अर्जुन may you destroy your enemy, what type of enemy: काम-रूपम्, which is in the form of insatiable want, greed, yearning, urge in the form of that desire whatever enemy is there, what type of काम it is, दुरासदम्, which is incomprehensible, which is very difficult to understand because majority has not yet understood what is काम and that is why they try to fulfill the काम by acquisition,

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः । ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

That they didn't know, therefore this incomprehensible, inscrutable काम you just give up only by पूर्णत्वम् owning. So this is the ultimate solution. Thus first aid is दमः-शमः and विवेकः and आत्मज्ञानम् is the ultimate solution and once काम is handled, क्रोधः is also automatically handled.

CHAPTER 03, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the 3rd chapter, which we have just completed. As the very title of the chapter indicates, this is a chapter elaborating the topic of कर्मयोग and the background for this chapter is अर्जुन's doubt which he expresses in the beginning of this chapter and अर्जुन's doubt is based on the Lord's teaching of the 2nd chapter. In the 2nd chapter, Lord कृष्ण has dealt with both ज्ञानयोग and कर्मयोग, but you find that Lord कृष्ण has focused more on ज्ञानयोग, it's very teaching begins with the topic of ज्ञानयोग and the Lord says that the wise alone will be free from sorrow.

अशोच्यानन्वशोचस्त्वं प्रज्ञावादांश्च भाषसे ।

गतासूनगतासूंश्च नानुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः ॥ २-११॥

Thus कृष्ण's teaching begins with the glorification of knowledge as a means of liberation. And in the 2nd chapter कृष्ण concludes the teaching also by glorifying स्थिरप्रज्ञः, describing his knowledge as ब्राह्मी स्थितिः,

एषा ब्राह्मी स्थितिः पार्थ नैनां प्राप्य विमुह्यति ।

स्थित्वास्यामन्तकालेऽपि ब्रह्मनिर्वाणमृच्छति ॥ २-७२॥

Thus कृष्ण begins with ज्ञानयोग and ends with ज्ञानयोग, in between कृष्ण talks about कर्मयोग and asks अर्जुन to fight.

योगस्थः कुरु कर्माणि सङ्गं त्यक्त्वा धनञ्जय ।

सिद्ध्यसिद्ध्योः समो भूत्वा समत्वं योग उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

अर्जुन, may you do कर्म. Even though कृष्ण has made the teaching very clear because of अर्जुन's filtered listening he does not grasp the teaching very clearly and therefore he gets a doubt. And that doubt is: if ज्ञानयोग is very important and ज्ञानयोग alone leads to liberation, Oh Lord, you should persuade me to take to ज्ञानयोग, on the other hand you are glorifying ज्ञानयोग and ultimately you are advising me to follow कर्मयोग. You glorify कर्मयोग and asks me to do कर्म it is understandable, you glorify ज्ञानयोग and ask me to follow ज्ञान it is wonderful, but you glorify ज्ञानयोग and ask me to do कर्म it looks unacceptable to me, it is like advertising a product and saying therefore you buy the other product. So therefore the 3rd chapter begins with अर्जुन's question which happens to be the introduction to this chapter. With this background we will enter into the chapter proper.

From verse no.1 to 7 we get the introduction in which अर्जुन asks the question, कृष्ण tell me which is better - should I follow ज्ञानयोग or should I follow कर्मयोग, which is a better path for liberation and if you consider ज्ञानयोग is better, please don't ask me to fight this war, especially the war which I cannot take to at all. So it is comparison of the relative superiority of कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग, that's what अर्जुन wants. And in the introductory portion, कृष्ण makes certain fundamentals very clear and which is every important for every seeker to know and the points that we have to note in this context is:

There is no choice between कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग, therefore we can never ask the question which one is better. You can choose between two types of pants which pant is better to wear, you can choose between two types of shirts which shirt is better, you don't ask the question whether pant is better or shirt is better. Why because there is no choice between these two. If कर्मयोग is one means of liberation and ज्ञानयोग is another alternative means of liberation then you can ask the question, which one is better, but our scriptures have never accepted more number of means for liberation for us to choose, and it is very clear that the ज्ञानयोग is the only means of liberation, so where is the question to follow ज्ञानयोग or not. The only choice is whether you want मोक्षः or not? And if I am a मुमुक्षु I have no choice with regard to ज्ञानयोग and the next problem that I face is, if I have to take to ज्ञानयोग, I have to possess the required qualification, not only for ज्ञानयोग, anything in life requires qualification. Whether you want to play cricket, whether you want to undergo a treatment, whether you want to learn music, music also requires some basic qualification. So ज्ञानयोग also requires the qualification and most of us do not have the qualification, which is purity and maturity and detachment. And this qualification, therefore, we have to acquire before entering ज्ञानयोग and the qualifications can be acquired only through कर्मयोग, there also no choice. So qualifications can be acquired only through कर्मयोग, मोक्षः can be acquired only through ज्ञानयोग, therefore the essence of our scriptural teaching is: follow कर्मयोग, acquire qualifications, follow ज्ञानयोग, attain मोक्षः. This is the 'Grand Trunk Road' of the वेदs, there is no question of any confusion, any other confusion is our creation and if you talk of any other योग they all will be combined in कर्मयोग. If you talk about अष्टाङ्ग योग that is part of कर्मयोग, if you talk of जप योग it is part of कर्मयोग, if you talk of varieties of meditation on various देवताs that is part of कर्मयोग. Any योग you name, it will be clubbed, it will be within the fold of कर्मयोग and by following that कर्मयोग one should acquire qualifications, then follow ज्ञानयोग and attain मोक्षः. Therefore अर्जुन, your question is wrong, never ask which योग is better, follow both. But there is a choice with regard to the lifestyle that you should take to. So there is something called प्रवृत्ति मार्ग, a life in society with family, children, with activities etc., which is called प्रवृत्ति मार्ग and there is another lifestyle which is called निवृत्ति मार्ग, where I don't take any responsibility, no family, no possession, no work, nothing. One is called गृहस्थ आश्रम, another is called संन्यास आश्रम, between the two ways of life, which we call as निष्ठा, with regard to निष्ठा you have choice. And whatever be the lifestyle that you choose, you have to follow both the साधनs. Therefore if you choose गृहस्थ आश्रम lifestyle you have to follow कर्मयोग and you have to follow ज्ञानयोग and if you choose संन्यास आश्रम lifestyle there also you have to do कर्म, known as संन्यास आश्रम विहित कर्माणि, for संन्यासि also कर्मs suitable to संन्यासि are there, which is indicated by the दण्ड. For a गृहस्थ आश्रम कर्म is represented by sacred thread, for a संन्यास आश्रमि his कर्मs are represented by दण्ड. And कृष्ण says, अर्जुन whatever be your lifestyle you follow both and attain liberation. And naturally the question will come, if there is a choice between गृहस्थ आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम, which one is better. And कृष्ण openly says, between the two आश्रमs, गृहस्थ आश्रम is better for 95% or 96% or 97% or 98% or 99% or 99.9%. If an unfit person takes to संन्यास आश्रम it will bring down the very glory of संन्यास आश्रम and in the society, संन्यासिs will come under a joking matter. I hear that in most of TV dramas, they are digging at संन्यासिs. All kinds of things are coming, the संन्यास आश्रम as a whole and संन्यासिs as a whole will be brought down and therefore better, गृहस्थ आश्रम is safe. So therefore in the introduction कृष्ण's teaching is: अर्जुन, continue in गृहस्थ आश्रम, do your duty, purify the mind, acquire knowledge and be free by becoming a ज्ञानि गृहस्थ. And a ज्ञानि गृहस्थ is liberated and superior to an अज्ञानि संन्यासि, a ज्ञानि गृहस्थ is better and superior to an अज्ञानि संन्यासि and कृष्ण gives himself as an example. You see I am a महा गृहस्थः, because 16,008 wives, not one or two. That is why स्वामिजि tells, somebody asked स्वामिजि it seems, that you are worshipping कृष्ण who has got 16,008 wives, does he deserve worship. स्वामिजि said that I am worshipping only because he manages 16,008. You fools are not able to one keep one wife happily and if कृष्ण can make 16,008 wives happy, he requires 16,008 नमस्कार. This is the introductory portion, the most important मन्त्र is

ज्ञानयोगेन साङ्ख्यानां कर्मयोगेन योगिनाम् ॥ ३-३॥

Two lifestyles are there, take to anyone lifestyle, follow both the साधनs and be free, this is from verse no.1 to 7.

Then from Verse no.8 to 20, कृष्ण elaborately discusses the topic of कर्मयोग. So what is कर्मयोग? I told you कर्मयोग is a mixture of two words, कर्म meaning proper action and योग meaning proper attitude, Proper Action plus Proper Attitude is कर्मयोग. Then the next question is: what is proper action, the scriptures divide the actions into three types, सत्त्विक, रजसिक and तामसिक actions. सत्त्विक action is the best action, रजसिक action is mediocre and the तामसिक action is the worst, why because सत्त्विक action promotes spiritual growth the maximum, whereas रजसिक action promotes the spiritual growth only less compared to सत्त्विक whereas तामसिक actions not only do not promote spiritual growth, it will take a person away from spirituality. Therefore this gradation is based on spiritual benefit or mental purity.

1) And what is the general definition of सत्त्विक action? All those actions in which the beneficiaries are more, that will come under सत्त्विक action, if the beneficiary is my entire family, a little सत्त्विक; and it expands further into the village, still better; it goes to the entire state, still better; goes to the entire nation, it is still better; it goes to the entire humanity, it is still better; it goes to the entire living beings, it is still better; the more the number of beneficiaries the more सत्त्विक the action is and the more the purity is.

2) And रजसिक action is that action in which the beneficiaries are lesser, confined only to the family or even in family only myself, I am not bothered about others in the family, so utterly selfish action will come under रजसिक action where the purity is minimum or less.

3) And the तामसिक action is harmful action, in which I get the benefit and all the other people are harmed and कृष्ण says अर्जुन a कर्मयोगि will take to more and more of सत्त्विक action and the scriptures themselves prescribe पञ्च महायज्ञs as a set of सत्त्विक actions. And I don't want to go to the topic of पञ्च महायज्ञ, you must be recollecting. This is proper action.

Then कृष्ण talks about the proper attitude, which is the attitude of समत्वम्, maintaining the equanimity of mind. And how does one maintain the समत्वम्? कृष्ण prescribes two methods, one is ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि – dedicating all actions to the Lord so that you don't dislike any action. When you are forced to do an action you don't like there is a tremendous strain. Those people who go to work without liking their job, there is a tremendous strain and five days a week, six days a week, 8 hours a day, I am doing something I don't like, imagine what a tremendous mental strain a person has to undergo. You get physically and mentally exhausted very quickly and within 40 years you grow old, why because there is a constant split personality, I don't like to do this, but I have to do this. In कर्मयोग, what we do is if I cannot get the action that I like, then learn to like whatever action you have to do. If I cannot get a job that I like, better I learn to like whatever job I have to do, how do I developing that liking, by dedicating that action to the Lord and as a भक्त I don't want to do any action, I don't want to offer any action to the Lord half-heartedly. Therefore, to maintain समत्वम्, I should love my carrier, my profession, whatever I do, this is called ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि. This is not only sufficient, for my actions I am reaping results constantly, not only I am a कर्ता, simultaneously I am a भोक्ता, every moment the results of my past action are coming, not only the result of the immediate past but the result of the remote past also, that is why some people get confused, I am leading such a very nice life, how come I am suffering, they forget the fact that my present experience is not the result of, need not be the result of my present life, my present experiences can be the result of the remote past also, that is why often I lead a good life and suffering come, like धर्मपुत्र suffering and नळ suffering, many people, noble ones have suffered. And how can I accept that, the only way is learning to accept all the experiences as ईश्वर प्रसाद. Thus as a कर्ता develop ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, as a भोक्ता develop प्रसाद बुद्धि. ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि plus प्रसाद बुद्धि is equal to समत्वम्, बुद्धि here means attitude. The attitude of dedicating every action to the Lord and attitude of accepting every experience as ईश्वर's gift and कृष्ण says:

सिद्ध्यसिद्ध्योः समो भूत्वा समत्वं योग उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

So कर्मयोग is समत्वम्.

Then कृष्ण asks everyone to do कर्मयोग, by looking at कर्मयोग from different angles. Four angles we saw in this chapter, beautiful way. From any angle you look at कर्मयोग it is wonderful.

1) First angle is: take कर्मयोग way of life as a commandment of the Lord, ईश्वर विहितम्. If you cannot understand the glory or the importance, at least out of fear you follow, doesn't matter. So this is called the attitude of ईश्वर's commandment. And just like the rules of the Government, many of them we follow not because we appreciate those laws, because we will get punishment if we don't follow. Even we obey traffic signal not because of our maturity, if it is out of maturity we will follow at all times, but we follow after seeing whether the policeman is there, if he is, we obey. Even now, after so much education, still we follow only out of fear, whenever there is a gross mind we have to instill fear. For those people who are gross, the Lord says follow कर्मयोग, if not out of appreciation at least out of fear because if you don't follow you will get प्रत्यवाय पापम्. Not doing सन्ध्यावन्दनम् then you will get पापम्; not doing prayers, पापम्; not doing श्राद्ध, big पापम्. Always fear, that is the only language we learn. So this is called कर्मयोग as ईश्वर आज्ञा.

2) Suppose we are a little bit matured, कृष्ण says it need not be out of fear but it can be out of a sense of gratitude. Follow this way of life as an offering to the Lord as a यज्ञ. As स्वामि विन्मयानन्द beautifully says, what God has given you is His gift to you, what you do with what God has given is your gift to the Lord. So with the life what I accomplish, what I contribute that becomes my expression of gratitude to the Lord. Therefore convert कर्मयोग into यज्ञः, this is the second angle of कर्मयोग.

3) Then the third angle that कृष्ण presents is कर्मयोग as शोधकम्. Whether you take it as a worship of the Lord, whether you take it as ईश्वर's commandment, it doesn't matter, कर्मयोग is the best method of cleansing your mind of raga, द्वेषः, काम, क्रोधः, लोभ, मोहः, etc. Therefore शोधकम् means it is a great purifier.

4) Then the fourth angle of कर्मयोग that कृष्ण presents is कर्मयोग as धर्म. कर्मयोग is the only way of life by which cosmic harmony can be maintained, ecology can be maintained, environment can be maintained, social harmony can be maintained. Singing a choir, a group of singing, if I want to sing, the first and most important condition is that I should know which श्रुति they are singing. If everybody is singing पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम्... at a particular श्रुति and you chant at a different श्रुति it creates dissonance. Even twenty people chanting in one श्रुति you hear as one chanting, but one person's अपश्रुति it disturbs. Therefore, for that I should be attuned to the श्रुति that is there or I should keep quiet without singing. But those who sing in अपश्रुति, as they say, are the loudest because they are not aware of it, they are blissfully ignorant of the श्रुति. A कर्मयोगि's mind is so expanded that he appreciates the cosmic orchestra, cosmic harmony, that he is incapable of violating that harmony and that is called धर्म.

Thus follow कर्मयोग as आज्ञा, follow कर्मयोग as यज्ञ, follow कर्मयोग as शोधकम् or follow कर्मयोग as धर्म, whichever aspect appeals to you take to that aspect but follow कर्मयोग. This is the beautiful teaching that is given from verse no.8 to first line of verse no.20.

Then from verse no.20 second line up to verse no.29, कृष्ण talks about the duties of a ज्ञानि. Even though it may not be relevant to many people because it is the duties of a ज्ञानि. 'It is not necessary as we are not ज्ञानि and also we are not going to become one in the near future', this is the view of many people!!! But still कृष्ण wants to narrate from which we get valuable corollaries also. Corollary is more important to us. And what are those duties, कृष्ण says, ज्ञानि does not require any साधन, because he has already accomplished the साध्यम्, the goal. A means is required only to accomplish the end, after accomplishing the end the means become irrelevant, therefore, ज्ञानि does not require कर्मयोग, ज्ञानि does not require ज्ञानयोग, he doesn't require पूजा, he doesn't require जप, he doesn't require तपस्,

निस्त्रैगुण्ये पथि विचरताम् को विधिः को निषेधः ।

He has no do's and no don'ts also. कृष्ण says even though ज्ञानि doesn't require any discipline, all the other people in the society, being अज्ञानि they all require discipline and therefore, as long as the ज्ञानि is in the society he should follow the disciplines to serve as a model to other people, because ज्ञानि being great, the whole society will be looking up to him, that is what it is, when a person wants to become a great cricketer, then he will watch Tendulkar right from the hairstyle onwards. Because he becomes a model. What is your secret of success, it is asked in all interviews. Therefore ज्ञानि being a successful human being, the society wants to emulate him, imitate him, follow him and if ज्ञानि drops all the disciplines and the society is already lazy and they are waiting for some excuse they may follow and therefore, कृष्ण says यद्यदाचरति श्रेष्ठस्तत्तदेवेतरो जनः ।

स यत्प्रमाणम् कुरुते लोकस्तदनुवर्तते ॥ ३-२१॥

Society wants models. Children always the photos of different people in the wall, pin-ups. Keeping cricketers, cinema actors and actress in varieties of dresses, then constantly watching that, that becomes the impression. If the elders are not ready give good models, bad models will replace the good ones and therefore it is the elders' responsibility, especially the ज्ञानि. Therefore अर्जुन, even if you are a ज्ञानि better do your duty, not for your sake but for the society's sake, don't confuse them.

न बुद्धिभेदम् जनयेदज्ञानाम् कर्मसङ्गिनाम् ।

जोषयेत्सर्वकर्माणि विद्वान्युक्तः समाचरन् ॥ ३-२६॥

So this is primarily advice to a ज्ञानि, but corollary also is very important. Indirectly through ज्ञानि कृष्ण is advising all the elderly people in the society. It is not an advice to a ज्ञानि alone, but this is an advice to all the important people who count in the life of younger generation and four people count in the life of a young person, i.e., माता, पिता and गुरु and राज. (राज means now you have to say मन्त्रि – minister), all these four count very much and therefore कृष्ण is giving a warning to all the parents, watch your life because even though you don't say anything directly to the child, the child is watching and the audio visual effect is more powerful than any number of advices. In fact, you need not advice at all, lead a proper life that is better teaching than hundred hours of lecturing. Therefore, कृष्ण advises the parents, कृष्ण advises the teachers also, which is very relevant to all the elders. This is the topic from verse no.20 second line to verse no.29.

And then from verse no.30 to 35, कृष्ण summaries the whole teaching and talks about the significance of कर्मयोग and the 30th verse is the most important verse of this chapter in which कृष्ण condenses कर्मयोग and that verse is:

मयि सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्याध्यात्मचेतसा ।

जिराशीर्निर्ममो भूत्वा युध्यस्व विगतज्वरः ॥ ३-३०॥

So he gives a five point program to become a कर्मयोगि, what are the five factors to be taken care of to become a कर्मयोगि. What are they?

No.1 is have spiritual goal as the primary priority of your life. That is the first indication of कर्मयोग. Spiritual goal is the primary goal. We do not say that other goals are not required, but we should remember that the other goals are subservient to this primary goal. Because if all the other goals do not lead to spiritual goal then all the other goals are utterly useless, because they are subject to arrival and they are subject to departure also. I got any amount of money, so what, it is going to go. So therefore let material goals be there but let spiritual goal be given top priority. Therefore prioritization is No.1.

No.2 is ईश्वरार्पण बुद्ध्या सर्व कर्म अनुष्ठानम्, dedicate all your actions as an offering to the Lord so that you don't have any of your duties. You don't call pleasant duty. 'It is my pleasant duty' don't use that phrase, any duty must be made pleasant and for अर्जुन, the duty happens to be what, what an unpleasant duty, it is killing his own kith and kin, गुरुs and elders and अर्जुन you cannot divide the duty into pleasant and unpleasant category, make everything pleasant by dedicating it to the Lord. So मयि सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्य, convert work into worship. This is factor no.2.

That spiritual goal be primary is Factor no.1. Convert your work into worship is the second factor.

No.3 is निराशीः means be prepared for all types of future situations because future is not totally under your control, you are only one of the factors determining your future. You don't say you are helpless, that is called fatalistic approach; you don't say everything is predetermined, we don't say. Certainly you determine your future, but we don't say you alone determine your future, that is called arrogance. If I say you don't determine at all, everything is predetermined, then it is fatalism. If I say everything is determined by you then that is arrogance. You also determine your future, you are one of the important factors who determine your future. In addition to you, there are many other factors which can influence your future and the number of factors that can influence is infinite, your husband, your wife, your children, the very government, the budget, my God, all things are there and a war in Iraq can affect our condition here, some Saddam Hussain's capricious decision can affect our future here. So therefore, future is unpredictable is a fact and therefore an intelligent person is one who is prepared for facing any type of future and that preparation is the third factor of कर्मयोग and that preparation is प्रसाद बुद्धि. Lord whatever is the genuine result let it come to me and if it is going to be unfavorable, I cannot ask you to change the law for my sake, if it is unfavorable give me the required mindset so that I can accept that and work to improve the future. So this is called प्रसाद बुद्धि or preparedness to accept the future, then there is no anxiety at all. Anxiety is unpreparedness to face the future.

No.4 is निर्ममः. When success comes don't claim the total credit, even though you are responsible for your success, you are not the only one responsible for your success. There are infinite factors other than you, which all put together we call दैवम्. You may call it luck, you may call it दैवम्, you may call it grace, you may call it पूर्व पुण्यम्, some X factor, all external factors together is called दैवम्. Therefore in success remember the Lord's grace. That is called humility. So निर्ममः means be humble, take wherever credit is due to you take the credit. 'I didn't do anything, I didn't do anything', you need not say. If you had not done anything, you would not have got anything. I have also done, let us also not be falsely humble also. Therefore, I have certainly done, I have certainly worked hard, day and night worked, wonderful, let me remember that is not the only factor, other factors were also favorable, so Thank God! This is called humility in success. Acceptance in failure, humility in success, these are the hall marks of a कर्मयोगि, this is the 4th factor and

No.5 and final factor is विगत-ज्वरः. Maintain mental poise, mental equanimity, mental balance, which is extremely difficult but if the first four factors are followed then the fifth factor is almost a natural consequence. So विगत-ज्वरः means avoid mental feverishness; otherwise called समत्वम्. So these are the five factors, spiritual priority, converting work into worship, be prepared to face the future, humility in success and equanimity and if you are able to follow these five, you are a कर्मयोगि and the benefit is your mind is getting purer and purer faster. So this is the essence of 30th श्लोक in which कृष्ण summaries कर्मयोग. And then he points out that whoever follows

ये मे मतमिदं नित्यमनुतिष्ठन्ति मानवाः ।

श्रद्धावन्तोऽनसूयन्तो मुच्यन्ते तेऽपि कर्मभिः ॥ ३-३१॥

ये त्वेतदभ्यसूयन्तो नानुतिष्ठन्ति मे मतम् ।

सर्वज्ञानविमूढांस्तान्विद्धि नष्टानचेतसः ॥ ३-३२॥

They are spiritually doomed, they may get some material benefits but ultimately they are spiritually lost, they won't get peace of mind at all. So with this कृष्ण concludes the summary of कर्मयोग from verse no.30 to 35.

Then from verse no.36 to 43, अर्जुन asks a question and कृष्ण answers the question and the question is: What is the obstacle to the pursuit of कर्मयोग, in spite of knowing its superiority, what prevents people from following कर्मयोग and कृष्ण gives the answer, the obstacle is काम-क्रोध otherwise known as राग-द्वेष. So the materialistic attraction take away the entire life of a person that he is never recognizes that he has got a spiritual aspect which also has to be developed. That is why we divided पुरुषार्थः into four, अर्थ-काम is important but धर्म मोक्षः also is important. We are made up of both material and spiritual personality, अनात्मा is matter, आत्मा is spirit, देह is matter, देही is spirit, we are a mixture of both and therefore our life should be well balanced in which I take care of both my material needs and also spiritual needs, in the case of this person, the अर्थ-काम becomes so dominant that he has no time for spirituality,

वृद्धस्तावत् चिन्तासक्तः परमे ब्रह्मणि कोऽपि न सक्तः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ७

Even now people ask (there are some youngsters coming to गीता), why are they coming now itself? That means when you have exhausted all your energy and when you are good for nothing and when you not wanted in the family, at that time you have to come to गीता, this is the biggest unfortunate misconception. So कृष्ण says काम-क्रोध is the obstacle. So naturally the question is: how to handle them? Here कृष्ण deals with the problem of काम or materialistic desires, he doesn't handle क्रोध: because according to कृष्ण and also it is a fact that क्रोध: or anger is only a modified version of काम or desire, obstructed desire is anger, therefore if we know how to handle desire we can handle, we have handled anger. Why do we consider काम-क्रोध to be an obstacle? Because a person is preoccupied with their fulfillment and they can never be fulfilled, even if we have got 500 crores dollars, we cannot be satisfied as the उपनिषत्s says, न वित्तेन तर्पणीयो मनुष्यः – no human being can be satisfied with any amount of money. Therefore it will just suck us into activity, therefore one should learn to handle. Now the question is how to handle काम. So it has to be handled in two stages, the first stage is to handle काम in a relative measure and the second stage is handling it in the absolute or total measure. In the first stage one has to follow three-fold discipline to take care of काम, what are those three disciplines: दमः, शमः and विवेकः.

1) दमः means mastery of sense organs, don't allow anything and everything to enter your mind without any control, because the sense object have a knack of taking the mind away, therefore discipline of the sense organ is No.1. and;

2) the second is शमः, which is disciplining the mind or thought pattern, if that is not done,

ध्यायतो विषयान्पुंसः सङ्गस्तेषूपजायते । ॥ २-६२॥

The mind has a knack of getting attached to any blessed thing, even a particular place where you sit for the class. So a few class you sit, you begin to say 'my place' and if somebody else sits, you ask him to get up and go and sit elsewhere. So the mind has got 'gum' all over, it sticks to whatever is available. Imagine you have poured gum all over your body and you walk, what will happen, anything that flies around will stick, Similarly, the mind has a problem, any person, any object, any situation will stick. So first time I move, thereafterwards I say that I need that person, then without that person I cannot survive and I am struck and hooked for good. So therefore be alert. Even if you form an attachment, let it be for a noble thing. Attachment to गीता class, OK. So therefore the second is शमः.

3) The third one is विवेकः, discrimination and the discrimination is what: a finite plus finite is equal to finite alone. If I already a finite being any amount of acquisitions which are finite can never make me infinite. Insecure plus insecure will it be secure? It will be more insecure. Therefore thinking that by acquiring and adding I will get more security, more fullness is a myth. Either I am full with myself or I can never be full with any amount of acquisition. Therefore I should clearly know world is neither a source of joy nor a source of sorrow, I alone am the source of sorrow and joy. As दयानन्द स्वामिजी beautifully puts: “The problem is You, the solution is also You.” Any amount of adjusting the worldly norms cannot bring about any change here. Spirituality begins when you decide to change yourselves, until then spirituality has not started. So this is called विवेकः.

By these three methods, we learn to handle the problem of काम and this is only relative solution. Having gone through these relative solution we have to go to the absolute solution, which is Self-knowledge, discovery of fullness within myself, security within myself, आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. Once I am full and complete within myself, since I am not empty, since I am not emotionally bankrupt, I don't go with a begging bowl of 'Do you love me, Do you love me, Do you love me', I won't care because I am an embodiment of love which I can give to others, whether the others reciprocate or not. So this is called आत्मज्ञानेन काम त्यागः, which is the ultimate solution and therefore कृष्ण tells in the concluding verse,

एवम् बुद्धेः परम् बुद्ध्वा संस्तभ्यात्मानमात्मना ।

जहि शत्रुम् महाबाहो कामरूपम् दुरासदम् ॥ ३-४३॥

By gaining Self-knowledge and discovering fullness take care of काम for good and if काम is taken care of, क्रोधः is also taken care of. So with this कृष्ण has answered अर्जुन's doubt and with this कृष्ण's discourse on कर्मयोग is over and since कर्मयोग is the main theme of this chapter, this chapter itself is titled कर्मयोगः.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

अथ चतुर्थोऽध्यायः । ज्ञानकर्मसंन्यासयोगः ।

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 01-04

In the first chapter of the गीता, व्यासाचार्य revealed the human problem of संसार through अर्जुन. And it was shown that the human problem is in the form of रागः, शोकः and मोहः.

- रागः means the problem of emotional dependence upon external factors. This is called रागः and
- शोकः means because of this emotional dependence, the mind faces the problem of grief or sorrow and then
- the third problem is मोहः, when the mind is in the grip of emotional dependence and sorrow, it is not able to think properly, it is not able to discriminate properly, this indiscrimination or delusion or conflict is the third problem.

रागः, शोकः and मोहः. And when अर्जुन faced this problem intensely in the battle field, अर्जुन tried to solve the problem by himself and then he did not succeed and therefore he did an intelligent thing and that was surrendering at the feet of the Lord and accepting the Lord as his गुरु. In the भगवद्गीता, कृष्ण does not function as the Lord but in the भगवद्गीता कृष्ण functions as a गुरु only. That is why in the ध्यान श्लोक we say,

वसुदेवसुतम् देवम् कंसचाणूरमर्दनम् ।

देवकीपरमानन्दम् कृष्णम् वन्दे जगद्गुरुम् ॥

कृष्ण may be different, different relationships for different people, but for अर्जुन and his students of the गीता, कृष्ण is गुरु. अर्जुन did an intelligent thing of surrendering to Lord कृष्ण and कृष्ण also willingly and happily accepted the role of the गुरु. Then in the 2nd chapter, कृष्ण started working on the solution and कृष्ण's approach was that Self-knowledge alone can be the remedy. Any other solution can only temporarily work as a palliative, no other solution can work as the curative, it cannot solve the problem. And therefore कृष्ण decided to give Self-knowledge to अर्जुन and because of that alone, भगवद्गीता is आत्मविद्या. No doubt, गीता deals with umpteen topics, right from dietary disciplines onwards गीता talks about so many topics, but गीता is मोक्षशास्त्र, गीता is आत्मविद्या and that is why when भीष्म at the time of his death he glorifies Lord कृष्ण and at the time of glorification, भीष्माचार्य says in the भागवतम्,

व्यवहितपूतनामुखम् निरीक्ष्य स्वजनवधाद्धिमुखस्य दोषबुद्ध्या ।

कुमतिमहरदात्मविद्यया यश्चरणरतिः परमस्य तस्य मेऽस्तु ॥ १-९-३६ ॥

भीष्म tells Lord कृष्ण when अर्जुन was confused in the battlefield: Oh Lord you removed the कुमतिम्, कुमतिम् means the confused intellect, you removed by what, आत्मविद्यया अहरत्. So भीष्माचार्य calls भगवद्गीता as आत्मविद्या only, he doesn't look upon गीता as भक्तिशास्त्रम् or कर्मशास्त्रम् or योगशास्त्रम्, भीष्माचार्य looks upon गीता as ज्ञानशास्त्रम्, Self-knowledge. And in the 2nd chapter, कृष्ण gives the entire range of साधनस required for this Self-knowledge, which is the only ultimate remedy for रागः, शोकः and मोहः स्वसंसार and in the 2nd chapter which is the essence of the entire गीता, कृष्ण talked about two stages of spiritual साधन, the first stage being कर्मयोग stage which is an active stage of साधन and the second is ज्ञानयोग stage which is a passive or withdrawn stage. While one is प्रवृत्ति the other is निवृत्ति, while one requires अनात्मा orientation the other requires आत्मा orientation. कृष्ण deals with कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग briefly in the 2nd chapter. कर्मयोग was prescribed as a means of mental purity and कृष्ण made very clear that कर्मयोग cannot give liberation, कर्मयोग can only give preparation and preparation itself cannot give मोक्ष, after preparation one has to go through ज्ञानयोग which is वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासन. कर्मयोग involves converting our activities into worship, ज्ञानयोग involves Self-enquiry through the scriptures under the guidance of a गुरु. कर्मयोग is converting our activities into worship and ज्ञानयोग is Self-enquiry, through the scriptures under the guidance of a competent preceptor. कृष्ण condensed both कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग in this second chapter. And then कृष्ण's aim was to magnify or expand both these topics, because in the 2nd chapter even though both these topics are discussed, they were discussed in capsule form, condensed form, कृष्ण wants to elaborate that. I gave the example of the news report in the radio or TV. The first few lines are the headlines and after the headlines are read, the elaboration of each of the headline in that order, if there is an aeroplane accident near दिल्ली, first they will talk about the accident and there afterwards elaborate on how it happened, who all had attended condolence meeting, etc., how much persons died, all details will be told, this minister visited and they will talk the next news item and then elaboration, the elaboration will be in the order of the headlines and at the end of the news, what will they say, to conclude the news the headlines once again. This method of communication is called सङ्क्षेप, विस्तार, सङ्क्षेप, condensation, expansion and condensation again, this is the ideal method of teaching. The 2nd chapter is condensation of the गीता, the 18th chapter is also गीता in capsule, from 3rd to 17th is elaboration. So कृष्ण had to elaborate, both the topics कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग and the 3rd chapter happens to be the elaboration of कर्मयोग and the 4th and the 5th chapters are going to be the elaboration of ज्ञानयोग. So the 2nd chapter condenses कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग, the 3rd chapter is the expansion of कर्मयोग, the 4th and 5th chapters are the expansion of ज्ञानयोग topic and since कृष्ण considers ज्ञानयोग to be abstract, subtle and difficult, कृष्ण allots two chapters for elaborating ज्ञानयोग. And that is why, the 3rd chapter is called कर्मयोग, the 4th chapter is going to be called ज्ञान-कर्म संन्यास योगः, the significance of the title we will see later. So with this background we have to enter the 4th chapter, we are going to get the elaboration of ज्ञानयोग. And therefore only to understand these two chapters well you have to remember the ज्ञानयोग portion of the 2nd chapter and what is the ज्ञानयोग portion of the 2nd chapter, from verse no.12 to verse no.25, this is condensed ज्ञानयोग.

न त्वेवाहं जातु नासं न त्वं नेमे जनाधिपाः ।

न चैव न भविष्यामः सर्वे वयमतः परम् ॥ २-१२॥

And concluding with the verse

देही नित्यमवध्योऽयं देहे सर्वस्य भारत ।

तस्मात्सर्वाणि भूतानि न त्वं शोचितुमर्हसि ॥ २-३०॥

This particular portion consisting of about 13-14 verses, this is condensed ज्ञानयोग, the 4th and 5th chapters are व्याख्यानम् of that portion. And therefore you keep reading that portion as often as possible, at least until the 4th and 5th chapters are over. Because these chapters are based on those or that particular portion. With this background we will enter into the 4th chapter.

Verse No .01

अथ चतुर्थोऽध्यायः ।

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

इमं विवस्वते योगं प्रोक्तवानहमव्ययम् ।

विवस्वान्मनवे प्राह मनुरिक्ष्वाकवेऽब्रवीत् ॥ ४-१॥

इमम् विवस्वते योगम् प्रोक्तवान् अहम् अव्ययम् ।

विवस्वान् मनवे प्राह मनुः इक्ष्वाकवे अब्रवीत् ॥ ४-१॥

अहम् इमम् अव्ययम् योगम् विवस्वते प्रोक्तवान् । विवस्वान् मनवे प्राह । मनुः इक्ष्वाकवे अब्रवीत् ।

Even though कृष्ण's intention is elaboration of ज्ञानयोग, before entering into that topic कृष्ण takes a small diversion in the first eight verses and this diversion has got two topics,

- one is the greatness of the गीता, गीता स्तुति and

➤ the second is the अवतार रहस्यम्, what is अवतार of the Lord.

These are going to be the two topics which happen to be a diversion. Afterwards from the 9th verse onwards, कृष्ण will come back to the topic proper.

The first topic is the glorification of the गीता and what is the greatness of the गीता, कृष्ण says, गीता is the condensed form of the वेदs themselves. कृष्ण doesn't want to claim any originality with regard to गीता teaching. Normally when we do something, even if it is borrowed from someone, often it happens in the scientific field, somebody does the research and somebody else takes the name it seems by publishing the paper. Poor students do research and this man will come and put a title and take a doctorate. Normally, this is done, here कृष्ण doesn't want to claim the teaching as his own original teaching, कृष्ण says: अर्जुन, I want to confess one thing that this is the beginningless वैदिक teaching alone, whose beginning we cannot trace at all and in tradition we look upon the वेदs as a gift from the Lord himself, through the ऋषिs. So the ऋषिs are like the receiving centers and God is like the transmitting centre, the ऋषिs received the wisdom and that is why वेद is looked upon as revelation, otherwise technically called अपौरुषेय शास्त्रम्. And वेद contains all the teachings required for humanity, whether human beings are interested in material prosperity or spiritual fulfillment, वेद has the teaching and it has been coming down in the form of गुरु शिष्य परम्परा and कृष्ण says, somehow this wonderful teaching, people lost their interest in and therefore this teaching became what, weaker and weaker and therefore it being the Lord's teaching, Lord himself had to take the responsibility of reviving the teaching for the benefit of the humanity and therefore the Lord once in a while finds out some method or the other to revive and कृष्ण says one of the main purposes of my अवतार is the revival of वैदिक wisdom, killing कंस is incidental. In fact, for killing कंस, he need not come down, one lightning on कंस's head is enough, why should कृष्ण take the trouble of गर्भवास and jail वास and all kinds of असुरा facing, to kill the असुरा, भगवान् doesn't require an अवतार, whereas to revive the teaching, भगवान् has to take the अवतार and therefore कृष्ण says, whatever other roles I played, they are all incidental, my primary role is I am functioning as जगत् गुरु, teaching you हे अर्जुन! and through you, I am teaching the entire humanity. And that is why at the end of the गीता, कृष्ण openly tells हे अर्जुन! I love all the people but whoever propagates गीता, I love more. This secret he tells in his 'ears.' I love all the people, but I love people who propagate गीता more, that is why I am taking गीता classes, so that Lord will loves me more! And I love you more because for me to teach you are required. Otherwise, what will I do? Therefore कृष्ण as the गीताचार्य is the real purpose of the अवतार and गीता is revived वेद. This is the glory of the गीता, that is why in the ध्यान श्लोकs also,

पार्थो वत्सः सुधीर्भोक्ता दुग्धं गीतामृतं महत् ॥ ४॥

कृष्ण is only a milkman and गीता is the milk, coming from where: the Upanishadic cow and at the end of every chapter also, इति श्रीमत् भगवद्गीतासु उपनिषत्सु, therefore the first three verses talk about the greatness of the गीता as a condensed version of the वेद. So look at the verse, कृष्ण says here, अहम् इमम् योगम् प्रोक्तवान्, हे अर्जुन! I had given out the same teaching before in the name of the वेदs, now I am giving the teaching in the name of the गीता. Previously I had given the teaching in the form of वेद, what I have done is only give a new name, like Super Surf, same product, only change the cover, add a free spoon and sell the same product. कृष्ण says गीता is the new name for वेद. So अहम् इमम् योगम् प्रोक्तवान्, योगम् here stands योग द्वयम्, कर्म and ज्ञानयोग and whom did I teach before, विवस्वते प्रोक्तवान् – I revealed this wisdom to सूर्य भगवान्, I revealed this wisdom to विवस्वान्, विवस्वान् is सूर्य भगवान् and the other teachers will come later, सूर्य भगवते अहम् प्रोक्तवान्. And what type of teaching it is: अव्ययम् योगम्

– a teaching which can never go out of date, which can never become obsolete, which is ever valid even in the 20th century, all other sciences may change but it is relevant even now, that is why this teaching is called सनातन धर्मः, अव्ययम् means सनातनम्. So I revealed as who: as भगवान् महा विष्णु I revealed to सूर्य भगवान् and what did सूर्य भगवान् do, the Sun is called विवस्वान्, because विवः means अन्नम् and विवस्वान् means अन्नम्, represents energy or nourishment and therefore विवस्वान् means the energizer, because we know that the Sun alone is responsible for our food, directly or indirectly, if the vegetation should grow, the crop should come, you require rain, if the rain should come, the waters should be evaporated from the ocean. कृष्ण will tell all these in the 9th chapter.

अमृतं चैव मृत्युश्च सदसत्त्वाहमर्जुन ॥ ३-१३॥

The Sun alone absorbs the water from the ocean and the Sun alone gives it out in the form of rain and the rain alone is responsible for the crops. Therefore the Sun is required for our food. And again Sun is required for photosynthesis, without that the plant kingdom cannot get their energy, therefore Sun is called food giver, nourishment giver, energy giver and therefore the संस्कृत word विवः अन्नम् अस्य अस्ति इति विवस्वान्. संस्कृत every word has got its derivation, moment you know the derivation, your reverence will increase or else you will say just Sun and that the sun is hot in May, etc. When you look upon the Sun as a heating energy, then you begin to curse, already you have started cursing. Now March started till October what are you going to do? So therefore don't look down upon the Sun, without Sun, no food, that is why विवस्वान्. And what did this विवस्वान् do? विवस्वान् मनवे प्राह – so विवस्वान् taught this to his son known as वैवस्वत मनुः who belongs to सूर्य वंश. So राम's परम्परा is called सूर्य वंश. सीता's परम्परा is चन्द्र वंश,

सूर्यवंश-समुद्भूतं सोमवंश-समुद्भवाम् ॥ २ ॥ पुत्रं दशरथस्याद्यं पुत्रीं जनकभूपतेः ।, beautiful श्लोक,

अयोध्यापुर-नेतारं मिथिलापुर-नायिकाम् । राघवाणामलङ्कारं वैदेहानामलङ्क्रियाम् ॥ श्रीहनुमत्कृत-सीतारामस्तोत्रं - १॥

one part राम's महिमा, the other part सीता's महिमा, in that it is said:

सूर्यवंश-समुद्भूतं सोमवंश-समुद्भवाम् ॥ श्रीहनुमत्कृत-सीतारामस्तोत्रं - २॥

What I want to say is राम belongs to सूर्य वंश, from सूर्य, वैवस्वत मनु came, from वैवस्वत मनु all the other परम्पराs came and therefore, विवस्वान्, वैवस्वत मनवे प्राह and our age is supposed to be presided over by वैवस्वत मनु. If you have the habit of saying the सङ्कल्प during rituals like श्रावणी पौर्णिमा, etc., there it comes:

स्वायम्भुव-स्वरोचिष-उतम-तामस-रैवत-चाक्षुषाख्येषु षट्सु मनुषु व्यतीतेषु सप्तमे वैवस्वते मन्वन्तरे अष्टाविंशतितमे कलियुगे जम्बुद्विपे, etc.

So therefore this age is supposed is presided over by वैवस्वत मनु, therefore this age is called वैवस्वत मन्वन्तरम् and that is why we are also called मानवाः, मनु पुत्राः, therefore विवस्वान् मनवे प्राह, प्राह means he taught to मनु. And what did मनु do: मनुः इक्ष्वाकवे अब्रवीत् – मनु taught this to इक्ष्वाकु. इक्ष्वाकु is the name of another king. So in our tradition we say that the spiritual teaching has been coming down from two परम्पराs, one परम्परा is क्षत्रिय परम्परा and another one is ब्राह्मण परम्परा. Through both the परम्पराs the knowledge has been coming down. So this सनक, सनन्दन, सनातन, etc., represent the ब्राह्मण परम्परा. विवस्वान्, मनु etc., represent क्षत्रिय परम्परा, कृष्ण is quoting क्षत्रिय परम्परा, because here both the teacher and the student belong to that परम्परा. Therefore अर्जुन, you belong to wonderful परम्परा, you should gain this knowledge. Therefore, मनुः इक्ष्वाकवे अब्रवीत्. Then what happens. Continuing;

Verse No .02

एवं परम्पराप्राप्तमिमं राजर्षयो विदुः ।

स कालेनेह महता योगो नष्टः परन्तप ॥ ४-२॥

एवम् परम्परा-प्राप्तम् इमम् राजर्षयः विदुः ।

सः कालेन इह महता योगः नष्टः परन्तप ॥ ४-२॥

हे परन्तप! एवम् परम्परा-प्राप्तम् इमम् (योगं) राजर्षयः विदुः । सः योगः महता कालेन इह नष्टः ।

एवम् परम्परा-प्राप्तम् – thus this teaching has been coming down in the form of गुरु शिष्य परम्परा, like the perennial गङ्गा river. In our tradition, गङ्गा is often looked upon as the ज्ञान गङ्गा - the flow of knowledge; गङ्गा is perennial, the ज्ञानम् is also perennial; गङ्गा also comes from Lord's head, ज्ञानम् also comes from सदाशिव समारम्भाम्, from the Lord alone; and गङ्गा also removes all the impurities, this wisdom also -

मल निर्मोचनम् पुंसाम् जल स्नानम् दिने दिने । सकृद् गीताम्भसि स्नानम् संसार मल नाशनम् ॥ गीता महात्मय ३ ॥

So if you are going to take a dip in गीता गङ्गा then your संसार मलम् will go away. That is why कृष्ण will tell in the 18th chapter that everyone should read at least one verse from the गीता daily. It is a wonderful habit, you can develop just reading one verse, two verse, कृष्ण tells, daily chant 18 chapters, then you will ask: What, don't we have any other job? He says at least 9 chapters, then at least 6 chapters, at least 3 chapters, at least 2 chapters, at least one chapter, at least one 4th of a chapter, at least 5 verses, 4 verses, 3 verse, one verse or half verse. He comes down to that level - from 18 chapter to at least half a श्लोक he asks us to study. Who can say I cannot do that, so that is why शङ्कराचार्य also said in the भजगोविन्दम्,

गेयं गीता नाम सहस्रं ध्येयं श्रीपति रूपमजस्रम् ।

Therefore गङ्गा and गीता are compared because both are purifiers. So here गङ्गा is perennial, this knowledge also is perennial, परम्परा प्राप्तम्, गुरु शिष्य परम्परा प्राप्तम्. Who knew that: राजर्षयः विदुः – all the राज ऋषिः knew this wisdom, even though they were very much involved in worldly activities, not that they were like संन्यासिs who were staying in आश्रम, they were very much involved in activities, we are complaining that we have to manage one family and that too now-a-days a nuclear family of 2-3 members. Earlier 5 brothers, 6 sisters, parents, grandparents, aunts, cousins, etc., etc., were all in one family. Generally a house will be a small village. Now, having become smaller only one generation we are making such a big complaint. A क्षत्रिय has to take care of a huge kingdom and they in spite of their busy schedule, they managed to get the wisdom indicating that where there is a will there is a way. In fact, in the बृहदारण्यक, most of the teachers and students are क्षत्रियs, teacher also is a क्षत्रिय often, like अजातशत्रु, etc. and the student is also क्षत्रिय like जनक learning from याज्ञवल्क्य. Therefore कृष्ण says even if you are in the world, you can get this wisdom, when the राज gets this wisdom he is called a राज ऋषि, therefore राजर्षयः विदुः. But what happens gradually people started losing interest in that, because distractions were many, TV channels are increasing, MTV even though it is empty, therefore there are so many distractions now, कृष्ण is complaining of the distraction during भगवद्गीता itself, 5,000 years have gone by, how much he should have complained. Therefore he says, हे परन्तप! हे अर्जुन! सः योगः नष्टः – this teaching disappeared from the earth or got weakened, महता कालेन – during long passage of time, lesser and lesser number of people were interested in this knowledge. Now गीता, वेद etc., nobody is interested in and therefore I had to revive this teaching. Continuing;

स एवायं मया तेऽद्य योगः प्रोक्तः पुरातनः ।

भक्तोऽसि मे सखा चेति रहस्यं ह्येतदुत्तमम् ॥ ४-३॥

सः एव अयम् मया ते अद्य योगः प्रोक्तः पुरातनः ।

भक्तः असि मे सखा च इति रहस्यम् हि एतत् उत्तमम् ॥ ४-३॥

सः एव अयम् पुरातनः योगः मया अद्य ते प्रोक्तः । (त्वं) मे भक्तः सखा च असि इति, हि एतत् उत्तमम् रहस्यम् ।

So what did I decide, because protecting this teaching is my job. Because I am the one who brought this teaching to the universe through the ऋषिs and therefore it is my job to preserve this teaching. And therefore I decided to revive this teaching by choosing you as the representative of the entire humanity. Therefore He says, सः एव अयम् योगः मया प्रोक्तः – the very same योग, very same योग means what: कर्म-ज्ञान योग, which was there, which was previously called वेद, that is why वेद itself was divided into two parts, one is called वेद पूर्व and the other is called वेद अन्त; वेद पूर्व teaches कर्मयोग, वेद अन्त teaches ज्ञानयोग; वेद पूर्व gives purity, वेद अन्त gives wisdom; वेद पूर्व is called कर्म काण्डम्, वेद अन्त is called ज्ञानकाण्डम्. So the very same योग द्वयम् अयम् is taught by me in the 2nd and the 3rd chapters. So therefore, सः एव अयम् योगः पुरातनः – which is the oldest teaching, most ancient teaching. And the beauty is even वैदिक ऋषिs declare that we are not the inventors of this wisdom, the ऋषिs say we ourselves got this wisdom got from our गुरु,

इति शुश्रुम पूर्वेषाम् ये नस्तद्व्याचवक्षिरे ॥ केनोपनिषत् ४ ॥

The वैदिक ऋषिs says, इति शुश्रुम पूर्वेषाम् – we heard it from our ancient forefathers. The वैदिक ऋषिs themselves were very ancient and they say we got from our ancient forefathers, which means the beginning can never be traced. Maximum we can trace is the time of recording the वेदs, but we can never trace the beginning of the वेद. Therefore कृष्ण calls पुरातनः योगः मया प्रोक्तः, therefore, who am I, one of the traditional आचार्यs only. And then the next question is why did कृष्ण choose अर्जुन? A very big issue, Patti mandram (village court) they will start, unique to तमिळनाडु it seems. Somewhere I read in news item, patti mandram for children - for summer which is better, whether it is ice-cream or buttermilk? And then the children come and say ... therefore the best thing for summer is only Ice-cream, Ice-cream and Ice-cream only. So Patti mandram why did कृष्ण choose अर्जुन and people scratch their heads, the answer is very simple, कृष्ण chose अर्जुन because अर्जुन asked for it, that is all. If धर्मपुत्र had asked, कृष्ण would have happily taught, he didn't; भीम didn't ask; द्रोण didn't ask. अर्जुन said शिष्यस्तेऽहम् शाधि माम् त्वाम् प्रपन्नम्, Do you remember, कार्पण्यदोषोपहतस्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वां धर्मसम्मूढचेताः ।

यच्छ्रेयः स्यान्नश्चितं ब्रूहि तन्मे शिष्यस्तेऽहं शाधि मां त्वां प्रपन्नम् ॥ २-७॥

I am your disciple, please teach me and to become a disciple, what is the most important qualification: श्राद्ध and भक्ति.

श्रद्धाभक्तिज्ञानयोगात् अवेहि ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् २ ॥

Therefore कृष्ण tells, अर्जुन I chose you because you are भक्तः असि मे – you are my disciple, you are ready to listen to me. Getting people to listen is the most difficult thing, if you have any doubt try at home. Most of the time when you are speaking the other people also will be speaking at the same time. Therefore, you are asking that itself is a big thing, so भक्तः असि मे and सखा च इति. And here कृष्ण adds another beautiful statement, अर्जुन, even if you had not asked I would have told you because you are my friend. When a friend commits a mistake it is the responsibility of the friend to point out that mistake,

पापात् निवारयति योजयते हिताय गुह्यम् निगूहति गुणान् प्रकटीकरोति।
आपद्रतम् च न जहाति ददाति काले सन्मित्रलक्षणमिदं प्रवदन्ति सन्तः ॥ नीतिशतकम्-६७ ॥

The definition of a friend is given by भर्तृहरि in his नीतिशतकम्, one of the definitions is पापात् निवारयति, if the friend is committing a mistake I can just point out and see whether he is available for listening, if he doesn't listen, leave it. Therefore, कृष्ण says you are a friend, therefore it is my duty to suggest my solution to you, because you are my friend, you are my disciple and therefore I decided to give out this wisdom. What type of wisdom: एतत् उतमम् रहस्यम् – which is the greatest secret in the world. Self-knowledge is considered to be the greatest secret. Why it is the greatest secret, because what we are searching for in life happens to be within ourselves and that which is very closely there, we will never search, like that person you know that story, how a person was carrying a lot of money in the train and a thief also was traveling along with him, No.1 thief and it is from कन्याकुमारी to जम्मू तवी, 4 or 5 nights. During day time, he counts his money and thief puts out his tongue, my god so much money, I'll try my hand in the night, and in the night he will search and search and never finds the money, then the 2nd day, 3rd day, 4th day, at last he just decides to openly confesses his inability and he asks where did you hid the money? I am such a great thief and you defeated me. He said I hid it in a place where you will never search, where it is: under your pillow. So in the night when you go to bathroom I keep under the bed and under your pillow and in the early morning when you go to the bathroom I take it out and put it in my pocket. The safest place was your own pillow. Similarly, whatever we are searching for in life,

बालस्तावत् क्रीडासक्तः तरुणस्तावत् तरुणीसक्तः। वृद्धस्तावत् विन्तासक्तः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ७ ॥

‘स्वामिजि, please tell me where will we get शान्ति?’, you ask. Everything is there but no शान्ति, we are seeking शान्ति and security and fullness and all those things and we can never find because it is hidden in the most secretive place and that is you yourselves and therefore this wisdom is called उत्तमम् रहस्यम् and this secret wisdom I have decided to give you, because you are ready to listen, the problem is what you know, when the whole world is busy searching for peace, these ऋषिs sitting under the tree call us, ‘why are you running, for what are you searching we can guide you to its location, etc., come to me’ they say. But we tell, ‘No No No, I have to leave immediately.’ He wants to stop the running, but to stop the running he should at least listen a little bit, they don't have even that much time he says, गीता and all after retirement. They have decided that way. When I am good for nothing and when it is like I give you the example, suppose a person visits the चारुधाम - गङ्गोत्रि, यमुनोत्रि, केदारनाथ, बद्रीनाथ, he is returning in the month of May; in May month he visited and coming back, on his way back to Madras I gift him a sweater and shawl. What is the use? It has to be given when he is going, Similarly, how to live the life when should we learn, 99 and 1/2. So therefore, this is a teaching of how to live and therefore, people unfortunately are not available for listening, अर्जुन you are available and therefore I decided to teach you, एतत् उत्तमम् रहस्यम्, मया प्रोक्तः – taught by me, प्रोक्तम्, Continuing;

अर्जुन उवाच ।

अपरं भवतो जन्म परं जन्म विवस्वतः ।

कथमेतद्विजानीयां त्वमादौ प्रोक्तवानिति ॥ ४-४॥

अपरम् भवतः जन्म परम् जन्म विवस्वतः ।

कथम् एतत् विजानीयाम् त्वम् आदौ प्रोक्तवान् इति ॥ ४-४॥

भवतः जन्म अपरम्, विवस्वतः जन्म परम्, (अतः) त्वम् आदौ एतत् प्रोक्तवान् इति कथम् विजानीयाम् ?

So in the previous three verses, कृष्ण had talked about the glory of the गीता, the glory is that it is the condensed वैदिक wisdom, that is why it is called स्मृतिः. The original scripture the वेद is called श्रुतिः because it is heard by the ऋषिः during their meditation, it was heard from the Lord, heard means internally heard, not the gross sound, but they heard and therefore they are called श्रुतिः. And all the other scriptures are whatever has been learned from the वेदs by the ऋषिः, that वैदिक wisdom, they remembered, they chewed and they gave out the same wisdom, which is well digested, like horlicks, complan, etc., the ऋषिः put in their mouth, chewed well,

निगमकल्पतरुर्गलितम् फलम् शुक्लमुखादमृतद्रवसंयुतम् ।

पिबत भागवतम् रसमालयम् मुहुर्हो रसिका भुवि भावुकाः ॥ श्रीमत्
भागवतम्: १-१-३ ॥

भागवतम् निगमकल्पतरोर्, the वेद tree has produced the tree of wisdom, the भागवतम् wisdom is taken by शुक महर्षि and then digested and that one is given out, that means what: we need to digest half only as the better half is already done by him and शुक has been used in a double meaning, like a bird eating a fruit and again giving out. And therefore it is called स्मृतिः, स्मृतिः means that which is remembered by the ऋषिः and represented and that गीता is स्मृतिः is the glory. And now we are going to enter the next topic in the diversion which is going to be based on अर्जुन's question. When अर्जुन heard this much he gets a big doubt. The doubt is based on कृष्ण's statement, what is that, I taught this wisdom to सूर्य भगवान् at the time of creation, at the beginning of the creation and then कृष्ण said, I myself am teaching this same wisdom to you also. Now अर्जुन's doubt is, हे कृष्ण! I can understand you are teaching me, but when you say that you have taught सूर्य भगवान् in the beginning of the creation I am not able to swallow that statement, because I know you were recently born to देवकी and we are almost of the same age, that is why we are able to be friends also, that is why, the word सखा is used, समानख्यानौ सखायौ - those who have got certain common inclinations etc., people of the same age alone will have common tendencies, therefore you are my friend, we are almost of the same age, how can you be the teacher of सूर्य भगवान्, there is a chronological discrepancy and therefore you must be bluffing, No doubt I am confused but just because I am confused you cannot get away with any statement, if it is a bluffing I will not nod my head. Therefore, what is the secret of your contradictory statement. If you have taught सूर्य भगवान्, you cannot teach me; if you are teaching me now, you didn't exist at the time of creation. This is अर्जुन's question. Look at it. अर्जुन उवाच, पप्रच्छ, he asked. So कृष्ण! भवतः जन्म अपरम्, your birth is very recent, within this century, certainly within 100 years only, अपरम् here means recent, whereas विवस्वतः जन्म परम्, so the birth of विवस्वान्, सूर्य भगवान् is परम्, परम् means millennia before, not even centuries but millennia before, because this is supposed to be the beginning of the creation. So then, कथम् एतत् विजानीयाम्, how am I to reconcile your two statements. What are the two statements: that I am that Lord who is teaching अर्जुन now and also you yourself taught सूर्य भगवान् before, त्वम् आदौ प्रोक्तवान्, that you are teaching me now, there is no question, because it is seen now, but what I am not able to accept is, त्वम् एव आदौ विवस्वते प्रोक्तवान्, that you yourselves are सूर्यस्य गुरु, that I cannot assimilate. Therefore tell me, what is the meaning of that statement and as an answer to this question alone, कृष्ण is going to introduce the topic of अवतार in the following verses, which details we will see in the next class.

I said in the last class that कृष्ण gave a gist of कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग in the 2nd chapter and then कर्मयोग topic was elaborated in the 3rd chapter and the ज्ञानयोग is being elaborated in the 4th and 5th chapters. This is the development of the गीता and therefore the 4th chapter happens to be ज्ञानयोग प्रधान chapter. And before entering into this ज्ञानयोग chapter, we find a small diversion in the first 8 verses. In the first 3 verses, Lord कृष्ण glorifies this knowledge consisting of कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग and the glorification was that the very essence of कर्म and ज्ञान has been already taught in the वेद at the beginning of the creation itself which was received by सूर्य भगवान्. So thus at the time of the creation itself the very same teaching was given in the name of वेद and the very same वैदिक wisdom is now again revived in the name of गीता. Only the names are different, in the beginning of the creation it was वेद and now it is called the गीता. And वेद was received by सूर्य भगवान् and गीता is being received by अर्जुन. And therefore it an ancient wisdom, it is a time-tested wisdom and therefore it is reliable and valid wisdom. This is the idea that कृष्ण wanted to convey. While conveying this idea कृष्ण mentioned one thing which provoked a doubt in अर्जुन and what was कृष्ण's statement: I taught this same wisdom to सूर्य भगवान् in the form of वेद and I am teaching the same wisdom in the form of गीता to you. The students are different and the times are also different, not by a few decades or not even centuries but by a few millennia. कृष्ण's statement is that the students are different but the teacher is one and the same. Who is the teacher? इमम् विवस्वते योगम् प्रोक्तवान् अहम् अव्ययम्, there also अहम् सः एव अयम् मया ते अद्य योगः प्रोक्तः पुरातनः, now also I am teaching. This creates a doubt in अर्जुन, therefore he asked the question, how can You (कृष्ण) be the teacher? Suppose I tell you, I only taught your great grandfather also (you are laughing already), you cannot accept it. I am teaching you, you will accept but you will never accept that I taught your great-grand-grandfather. If I say I taught, you will not accept because you know I was not existent at that time. And therefore अर्जुन asked the question, how am I to reconcile your statements: हे कृष्ण! भवतः जन्म अपरम् and विवस्वतः जन्म परम्, your birth is recent and your student's birth was very very long time before, how can a recent person teach an ancient student, how am I to reconcile? So अर्जुन does not totally negate कृष्ण, because he has got faith in the गुरु, therefore he only asked for clarification. This is अर्जुन's question and for which कृष्ण gives the answer from verse no.5 to verse no.8;

Verse No .05

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

बहूनि मे व्यतीतानि जन्मानि तव चार्जुन ।

तान्यहं वेद सर्वाणि न त्वं वेत्थ परन्तप ॥ ४-५॥

बहूनि मे व्यतीतानि जन्मानि तव च अर्जुन ।

तानि अहम् वेद सर्वाणि न त्वम् वेत्थ परन्तप ॥ ४-५॥

हे परन्तप अर्जुन! मे तव च बहूनि जन्मानि व्यतीतानि, तानि सर्वाणि अहम् वेद, त्वम् न वेत्थ ।

By way of answering अर्जुन's question, Lord कृष्ण is introducing the topic of अवतार which is a unique concept in the वैदिक tradition. अवतार is Lord's incarnation, which कृष्ण points out, is different from human birth. When a human being is born, we call it birth or जन्म whereas when Lord appears in the creation we call it अवतार and कृष्ण wants to say here that there are a lot of differences between जन्म and अवतार, birth and incarnation. This is the topic. Before entering into the verse proper I will like to generally discuss this topic of जन्म and अवतार. There are many differences between मनुष्य जन्म and ईश्वर अवतार. What are the differences?

- Firstly the very cause of मनुष्य जन्म and ईश्वर अवतार are different, at the cause level itself there is a difference. So कारण भेदः is there and
- Secondly in the very nature of मनुष्य जन्म and ईश्वर अवतार there is a difference, स्वरूपम्s are different, their natures are different and
- Thirdly the very purpose of मनुष्य जन्म and ईश्वर अवतार are different and therefore कार्य भेदः, उद्देश भेदः are there.

Thus there are three basic differences – कारण भेदः, स्वरूप भेदः and उद्देश भेदः. Now we will see what are the differences.

1) The very first difference is the cause of the ईश्वर अवतार and जन्म. In the case of a birth of a जीव it is caused by ignorance. It is अविद्या or ignorance which is the cause of the जन्म of a जीव, because of ignorance the जीव has got the problem of ego and because of the problem of ego or अहङ्कार there is the problem of कर्म and because of the problem of कर्म there is the problem of पुण्यम् and पापम् and because of the problem of the पुण्यम् and पापम् there is a जननम्. Therefore the जन्म of a जीव is because of ignorance, therefore we can call it as a fall. It is a clean fall of a जीव. Whereas in the case of ईश्वर it is never because of ignorance that the birth of ईश्वर takes place, it is because of his सर्वज्ञत्वम्, omniscience, because of the knowledge alone भगवान् chooses to appear on the earth and do what he has to do, the purpose we will see later, here I want to refer to cause. Therefore what is the first difference: जीव जन्म is अज्ञानात्, ईश्वर अवतार is ज्ञानात्. Since the जीव जन्म is because of ignorance it is called fall, since ईश्वर अवतार is because of knowledge it is called descendance. अवतार means coming down out of compassion. It is compassion-based, knowledge-based, conscious, deliberate descendance. But here it is a fall, there is a difference in getting down a well and falling in the well. When something has fallen into the well, someone comes who gets into the well and picks up the thing from the bottom; in village one can see, just goes down and he takes and comes out, that is called descendance and when something falls into the well it is a helpless phenomenon. Therefore, कारण भेदः is the first difference.

2) The second difference is the very nature is different. What is the difference? Since जीव जन्म is because of ignorance, जीव continues to be a संसारि. He is a bound person. He is born with sorrow which is indicated by crying and continues that throughout the life. He is helpless, he is miserable, he is not a master of himself, he is a slave. As we saw in मुण्डकोपनिषत्,

समाने वृक्षे पुरुषो निमग्नः अनीशया शोचति मुह्यमानः । ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-१-२ ॥

Therefore जन्म is संसारः, whereas since ईश्वर अवतार is because of or backed by knowledge. अवतार is नित्य मुक्त स्वरूपः and असंसारः or असंसारि. So जीव is संसारि, अवतार is असंसारि. And not only that, even another technical difference कृष्ण points out in this context that all the bodies are made up of matter whether it is मनुष्य शरीरम् or अवतार शरीरम् but the scriptures say that there is a difference between अवतार शरीरम् and जीव शरीरम्. And what is that difference? The जीव शरीरम् is not directly born out of प्रकृति or माया, जीव शरीरम् is indirectly born out of माया. What do you mean indirectly born out of माया or प्रकृति? माया or प्रकृति gets converted into five elements called पञ्च भूतानि and the five elements gets converted into the पाञ्च भौतिक शरीरम्. Thus माया does not directly produce the body but through the five elements alone it produces the जीव शरीरम्. Therefore जीव शरीरम् is called पाञ्च भौतिक शरीरम् or simply the भौतिक शरीरम् whereas in the case of ईश्वर अवतार, the माया does not go through the intermediary stage of five elements, without the intermediary stage the माया directly gets converted into ईश्वर अवतार शरीरम् and therefore अवतार शरीरम् is called मायिक शरीरम्. मायिक शरीरम् means माया to physical body, भौतिक शरीरम् means माया to भूत to शरीरम्. It is like we read in science most of the solid materials will get converted into gas by becoming liquid in between. This is the normal process solid to liquid to gas. Ice to water to steam. This is the normal process. But in the case of certain substances, they get directly converted from solid to gaseous state, that is the sublimation. Similarly, माया sublimates without going through the पाञ्च भौतिक stage, it becomes मायिक शरीरम्. So thus the second difference is in the nature of जीव शरीरम् and अवतार शरीरम्. The nature is: one is बद्ध or संसारि शरीरम् or पञ्च भौतिक शरीरम्, whereas the other one is मुक्त मायिक शरीरम् and that is why भगवान् is often called माया मानुष वेशः. Nobody calls us that way. We are भूत मनुष्य वेशः; भूत means the five elements have got converted. So this is the second difference at the level of the nature. So we have seen कारण भेदः, we have seen स्वरूप भेदः.

3) Now what is the third difference between ईश्वर अवतार and the जीव जन्म, the difference is in the purpose. When a जीव is born, it is purely to exhaust the पुण्यम् and पापम् which have been acquired in the past. We have seen long before that there is an accumulated amount of पुण्य and पाप. Of that accumulated पुण्य पाप a portion becomes ready and the accumulated one is called सञ्चित, the mature portion is called प्रारब्धः; the प्रारब्धः has to be exhausted. And the प्रारब्धः can be exhausted only through सुख दुःख अनुभवः. प्रारब्धः पुण्यम् is exhausted through सुखम्, प्रारब्धः पापम् is exhausted through दुःखम्, i.e., pleasure and pain and to experience pleasure and pain we require the body-medium. And therefore it is the प्रारब्धः which determines the type of body for exhausting पुण्य पाप. When it is पुण्य predominant प्रारब्धः it will give you nice body, nice parentage, nice family, nice environment. When it is पाप predominant प्रारब्धः it will give you sick body, sick environment, sick parentage, why because that is the only way we exhaust our पुण्यम् and पापम्. And that is why the very design of the body is for the purpose of पुण्य पाप exhaustion. And that is why we are not able to design the body, genetic diseases, hereditary diseases, all these we are not able to control because that amount of कर्म we have to exhaust. Therefore, what is the purpose of जीव जन्म? पुण्य पाप क्षयम्, exhaustion of पुण्यम् and पापम्. And what is the purpose of अवतार? Can you say पुण्य पाप क्षयम्? अवतार is not ignorant, not a संसारि, therefore अवतार does not suffer from the problem of ego and since there is no ego or अहङ्कार, there is no question of पुण्यम् or पापम्. Therefore ईश्वर is पुण्य पाप अतीतः, therefore ईश्वर can never take an अवतार to exhaust the पुण्य पापम्. He should have first to exhaust! If ईश्वर अवतार is not meant for पुण्य पाप क्षय, then what is the purpose? कृष्ण tells

धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय सम्भवामि युगे युगे ॥ ४-८॥

ईश्वर अवतार purpose is protection of धर्म and destruction of अधर्म by protecting the धार्मिक people and by destroying the अधार्मिक people. So the purpose is धर्म रक्षणम् or शिष्ट रक्षणम्, to protect, to bless the world. And that is why the very nature of अवतार, अवतार शरीरम् is not designed according to पुण्य पाप. In the case of जीव शरीरम्, the design is based on पुण्य पाप, if good stock of पुण्य then nice design and if पाप stock is more then problems. So what will determine the design of the ईश्वर शरीरम् or अवतार शरीरम्? It cannot be for पुण्य पाप exhaustion, it must be only for लोक रक्षण or धर्म संस्थापन purpose. It is determined by the type of धर्म रक्षण required. And that is why you will find before every अवतार comes there will be a portion in the पुराण where all the noble people go and pray to the Lord. Oh Lord, you need not come down for your purpose but you should come for our purpose. Then भगवान् will ask, as though He doesn't know, for what purpose? Generally some राक्षस will be there; in the olden days one or two, now there are too many that is the problem. So one रावण will be there or हिरण्यकशिपु will be there, they will say please come and destroy रावण. Then what is the purpose of अवतार? रावण संहार, at least one of the purposes. Then what should be the design of the body? It depends upon the situation and you know that according to रामायण, रावण had asked for a special boon, what is the special boon:

रावणो मानुषादन्यैः अवध्यत्वं तथानुजः । निर्देवत्वेच्छया निद्रां कुंभकर्णोवृणीत च ॥ ॥ श्रीरामोदन्तम् १-४ ॥

They used to say श्रीरामोदन्तः etc for teaching संस्कृत in olden days. Now nobody knows. People think it is some tooth, it is not राम's tooth. It is श्रीराम उदन्तः, उदन्तः means story. So रावण has asked for a peculiar boon, what is that, nobody other than human beings should kill me. He was so confident that human beings cannot kill. Therefore if रावण has to be destroyed the भगवान्'s अवतार has to be human alone, therefore the design is determined by what: the purpose of अवतार which is धर्म संस्थापन. Similarly, if the अक्रमs are done by हिरण्यकशिपु what design can be there for ईश्वर अवतार? It cannot be मनुष्य, it cannot be पशु also, because of the peculiar boons of हिरण्यकशिपु that I should not be killed by human beings or animals, therefore the अवतार शरीरम् must be नरसिंह and not only that, lot of nails should be there because no weapons should be used. That is the second condition. Then what should be the time of अवतार? That also is determined by the purpose. हिरण्यकशिपु has said that he should not be killed during day or night, therefore the अवतार should be in between. So thus, the purpose of अवतार is धर्म संस्थापनम् or लोक अनुग्रह and therefore the design of the body also will be according to that. Sometimes a भक्त may pray to the Lord to have दर्शनम् in a particular form; even they tell that story that one humble innocent person, a sincere devotee he went to a temple priest and he asked in what form should I worship the Lord. And the priest, he got wild because he was very very busy, then he said worship as buffalo. He said in anger. And like the नविकेत story this person received it as a उपदेश and he was meditating upon the Lord as a buffalo with big horn and the Lord wanted to teach a lesson to the priest also, to teach a lesson to the world also that you can worship Me in any form. One day what happened they had to take the उत्सव विग्रह for प्रदक्षिण and when they were bringing it out they were not able to bring out, some obstruction was there, everybody was struggling and this innocent person, he went and said, you are not able to take out because the horn is obstructing. What horn? The भगवान् is in buffalo रूपम्, therefore the horn is obstructing and I can very clearly see the horn, therefore tilt your विग्रह slightly to the right and take it out, it happened. The idea is भगवान् will assume any form for the sake of भक्त अनुग्रह.

- So कारण भेदः is: one is अज्ञानात्, the other is ज्ञानात्.
- स्वरूप भेदः is: one is संसारि, other is असंसारि.
- And उद्देश भेदः is: one is for लोक संग्रहः and the other is for पुण्य पाप क्षयम्.

And कृष्ण here tells since अवतार is not restricted by ignorance, the अवतारs know the past, present and future, सर्वज्ञः, therefore all my previous incarnations I know, कृष्ण says. Whereas in the case of जीव जन्म, since ignorance limits the जीव, the जीव cannot know what is the past जन्म and better you don't know also. Just seeing the नाडि, etc., and he will say to the husband that you were a cat or you were a mouse, etc. That is enough for not only quarrel in this जन्म but it will worsen also. So therefore better we don't know the past जन्म and better we don't know the future जन्म, because we are not able to manage the present itself, why know the past and future and get confused. Therefore भगवान् says अवतार is सर्वज्ञः, therefore he knows the past and future अवतार whereas जीव is अल्पज्ञः, therefore जीव cannot know the past and future जन्मs.

Then the next question is how to know whether one is अवतार or जन्म? So how to know whether one is अवतार or जन्म? Sometimes our mother's scold, 'अवतारम्' - I am not talking about that. How to know which one is अवतार or जन्म. The problem is we have no method of knowing which one is अवतार, which one is जन्म. Wherever scriptural support is there we accept them as अवतार. So राम is an अवतार, what is the proof? Scriptures; कृष्ण is an अवतार, what is proof? Scriptures; wherever there is someone about whom scriptures don't say anything we have no way of proving whether one is अवतार or जन्म it is purely our personal belief. It is purely our personal belief, neither can we prove one is अवतार, nor can we disprove one is an अवतार. If you are going to say that extraordinary सिद्धिs or powers make an अवतार, you will find that many राक्षसs had extraordinary सिद्धिs, then those राक्षसs also will become अवतार. इन्द्रजित् had capacity to appear in 10 bodies, 12 bodies, he can disappear at will and he can be here also, he can be elsewhere also. Thus सिद्धिs do not prove अवतार because even a human being can attain सिद्धिs by following साधनs and even राक्षसs attained सिद्धिs by following साधन and therefore that does not prove. And limitations also does not disprove अवतार because certain अवतारs at least showed certain limitations. For example, राम is said to be and accepted universally as अवतार, but in the story we find several things which can be taken as natural limitation. राम had to send people in search of सीता, one can argue, if अवतार is सर्वज्ञः, why not sent आज्ञनेय directly to लङ्का? Why sent so many people all over and why should he build a bridge, he could have easily walked over, why walk over the water, he could have gone to लङ्का just by the thought? Even though certain limitations are there we have accepted राम as अवतार and even where certain सिद्धिs and powers are there as in राक्षस, we are not ready to accept as अवतार, therefore it is very clear that you cannot prove anyone to be अवतार or not. And it is purely one's personal belief. But one great consolation is we need not know whether one is अवतार or not for our spiritual growth. In fact, we don't even require an अवतार for a spiritual growth. What is required for spiritual growth, purity of mind and for purity of mind, worshipping any available form of God is good enough. You have got 10 अवतारs, Why only 10, भागवतम् says

10 are prominent ones, the available scriptural अवतारs themselves are more than sufficient for getting चित्तशुद्धिः, by worshipping those अवतारs if I want to accept somebody as अवतार, I can; if I don't want to accept somebody as अवतार or anybody as अवतार, I need not, because for my purification I require what: ईश्वर पूजा in राम form, कृष्ण form, देवी form, विनायक form, after all our Hindu panel has got 33 crores. You don't require an अवतार for चित्तशुद्धिः. If you want, you can have, but it is not a compulsory thing. The next thing that is required for spiritual growth is knowledge, knowledge requires a गुरु, need not be an अवतार and even if an अवतार has to bless, the blessing can be only by becoming a गुरु. कृष्ण can never give मोक्ष to अर्जुन, by any method other than becoming a गुरु.

वसुदेवसुतं देवं कंसचाणूरमर्दनम् । देवकीपरमानन्दं (all these will not give मोक्ष), कृष्णम् वन्दे जगद्गुरुम् and ज्ञानमुद्राय कृष्णाय.

Therefore for चित्तशुद्धिः we don't require अवतार, for knowledge we don't require अवतार, therefore अवतार maybe there, may not be there, right now I may be willing to accept somebody as अवतार, I may not be willing to accept somebody as अवतार, but what is important is: purify, know and be free. If somebody wants to accept somebody as अवतार, don't criticize. If you accept that person as अवतार, well and good for worship and if somebody doesn't want to accept, don't try to prove also to those who want keep it. Those who don't want, let them not have it but both of them can attain मोक्ष, how: by purification, knowledge and freedom. And कृष्ण we all uniformly accept as अवतार, therefore कृष्ण says अर्जुन I am अवतार different from you, therefore my cause of birth is knowledge and my nature is मोक्ष. And my purpose is what: परित्राणाय साधूनाम्. This is the topic of अवतार given in this portion.

With this background, we will go to the verse. कृष्ण says: हे अर्जुन! बहूनि जन्मानि व्यतीतानि – many जन्मs have gone by for you, you have taken many जन्मs, बहूनि जन्मानि व्यतीतानि तव – for you; मे, मे means I have also taken many शरीरम्s. So you have also taken many शरीरम्s, I have also taken many शरीरम्s, number of शरीरम्s doesn't prove superiority. Some people try to say that this is my 56th शरीरम् as though it is a great thing, we can argue that it is out 56,000th जन्म. The number doesn't mean anything because we have also taken infinite शरीरम्, भगवान् has also taken. Therefore कृष्ण says, बहूनि जन्मानि व्यतीतानि, but what is the difference between you and me, अहम् तानि सर्वाणि वेद – I continue to be a free person, I continue to be सर्वज्ञः, therefore I know all the past शरीरम्s, then what about you, त्वम् न वेत्थ – you do not know your past शरीरम्s, past class itself is not remembered what to talk of past शरीरम्! When the last week is of doubtful case, what to talk of last जन्म, त्वम् न वेत्थ हे परन्तप! Continuing;

अजोऽपि सन्नव्ययात्मा भूतानामीश्वरोऽपि सन् ।

प्रकृतिं स्वामधिष्ठाय सम्भवाम्यात्ममायया ॥ ४-६॥

अजः अपि सन् अव्यय-आत्मा भूतानाम् ईश्वरः अपि सन् ।

प्रकृतिम् स्वाम् अधिष्ठाय सम्भवामि आत्म-मायया ॥ ४-६॥

(अहम्) अजः अव्यय-आत्मा अपि सन्, भूतानाम् ईश्वरः अपि सन्, स्वाम् प्रकृतिम् अधिष्ठाय, आत्म-मायया सम्भवामि ।

So here कृष्ण talks about the nature of the अवतार. अहम् अजः, अहम् अव्यय-आत्मा, अहम् भूतानाम् ईश्वरः. I know that I am birth-less ब्रह्मन्. I know my nature. Even though people may celebrate जन्माष्टमि, I don't get confused because of birthday celebrations, I know I am birth-less reality and this शरीरम् is a simple वेश I have put for a purpose. So I know I am अजः, अजः means not goat, those who learn संस्कृत, first lesson is अजः – Goat, गजः – elephant. But here

अजः means न जायते इति अजः and अव्यय-आत्मा and I am of changeless nature, not subject to decay and death, so जरा मरण वर्जितः. अजः means जन्म वर्जित, अव्यय-आत्मा means जरा मरण वर्जितः. Not only I am free from birth and death, भूतानाम् ईश्वरः – I am the master of all the living beings, I am not a limited entity, but I am स्वतन्त्रः, I am master, I have not helplessly come down to this world, I have chosen to come to this world. And how do I manage to come down, प्रकृतिम् स्वाम् अधिष्ठाय – by keeping the प्रकृति, the matter, the material body under my control I am born. So I am surrounded by matter, जीव is also surrounded by matter, the difference is I am the master of the matter, whereas जीव is slave of the matter or शरीरम्. Therefore प्रकृतिम् स्वाम् अधिष्ठाय, स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द tells a nice example, that a child was going along with his father on the road. So a thief was coming and a policeman was holding the hand of the thief. So the child asked Father, who is this? This is a thief, this is a policeman; policeman is required otherwise he will run away. After some time the boy found that another thief was going and there were two policemen. So the boy asked, Father, Why? and the father replied, this person is a bigger thief, extra care has to be taken hence two policemen are there. Thereafter, when they were going the President of the country was coming surrounded by many policemen. The children have the knack of telling the wrong thing at the right time. Now the child: ‘daddy, daddy, the biggest thief is going’, why because surrounded by many police. Then the father had to explain the difference between thief and President because both are surrounded by police. In one case, the person is controlled by the police, in the other case, one is the controller of the police. The three armies are controlled by the President. In the same way, I am also surrounded by body-mind-complex, भगवान् is also surrounded by body-mind-complex called प्रकृति; I am a slave, Lord is a master. Therefore he says: स्वाम् प्रकृतिम् अधिष्ठाय अहम् सम्भवामि – I take a body, how: आत्म-मायया

– with the help of माया तत्त्वम्, by producing मायिक शरीरम्. That is I don't require the five elements' intervention, माया itself I can directly convert into the शरीरम् and that is why भगवान् does not require the regular process of creation. So even गर्भवास is not required, in the case of रामावतार also, is not regular process. That is why they say, that the Lord entered into the गर्भ and in the case of नरसिंह etc., where is the question of father, mother or anything, from where did the body come, what is the method, nothing and straightaway and full-fledged form, how is it possible, because it is direct conversion of माया otherwise called प्रकृति and therefore भगवान् says, आत्म-मायया सम्भवामि. And when do I take अवतार. कृष्ण says:

यदा यदा हि धर्मस्य ग्लानिर्भवति भारत ।

अभ्युत्थानमधर्मस्य तदात्मानं सृजाम्यहम् ॥ ४-७॥

यदा यदा हि धर्मस्य ग्लानिः भवति भारत ।

अभ्युत्थानम् अधर्मस्य तदा आत्मानम् सृजामि अहम् ॥ ४-७॥

हे भारत! यदा यदा हि धर्मस्य ग्लानिः, अधर्मस्य (च) अभ्युत्थानम् भवति, तदा अहम् आत्मानम् सृजामि ।

So here the purpose of अवतार is given, previous one, the nature was given, here the purpose is given. The cause is not mentioned here, we have to supply. And what is the purpose: He says यदा यदा हि धर्मस्य ग्लानिः, this is a popular verse, after the महाभारत TV serial, every child knows, through TV you can approach the children. So whenever धर्म declines, whenever values decline, so धर्मस्य ग्लानिः भवति and अधर्मस्य अभ्युत्थानम्, whenever अधर्म increases, unrighteousness increases, corruption increases, तदा आत्मानम् सृजामि – then I create myself, that means I chose whenever it is required. And this we can understand in a scientific manner also. If the world can be compared to a human body, cosmic body, because like a body it functions in harmony, like an organism it functions in harmony and any harmonious system will have its own intrinsic protection device will be there, any natural healthy system will have the provision for its own self-protection, exactly as in the case of a healthy body. In fact, really speaking, we don't require any medicine to cure most of the diseases. You ask the doctors, they will say, our body has got all the protection within itself. If you see certain simple phenomenon, suppose something enters my nostril and what do we do, immediately it has to be protected, therefore you don't plan, you automatically sneeze, that is why sneeze can never be controlled, you cannot say wait, you just sneeze, why because it is not will-born, it is intrinsically provided in the system. If some dust particle enters your eye then tears come because the system has to be protected. If the stomach, when you eat the jack fruit, if you don't clean it properly it can create endless problem, you will be in the bathroom most of the time, heavy loose motions, why, because it has to be removed. All these things happen because a natural system should have a natural protection. And this natural protection faculty will not be operative all the time, if sneezing is going to be all the time, sneezing is not all the time, loose motion is not all the time, tears are not all the time, यदा यदा हि – whenever the system's harmony is disturbed, the system itself produces an appropriate remedy. The universe is a cosmic system, the भगवान्'s शरीरम् and whenever there is a disturbance, the world itself will find an appropriate method of defending the धर्म and when will it become active, whenever it is required. Therefore अवतार is like the immunity system of the universe. Exactly like the individual immunity system, अवतार is cosmic immunity system, if you ask, why no अवतार has come now, we will say that it is not yet required. If it has come, it is required, whenever it is required, it will automatically happen. The details in the next class.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 08-10

In the beginning of the 4th chapter, Lord कृष्ण talked about the glory of the गीता and the glory of the गीता is that it is the वेद सारः itself. What was given in the beginning of the creation as the वेदs, the same thing is given to अर्जुन in the name of the गीता. The scriptures themselves talk about how the वेदs is propagated. In श्वेताश्वतर उपनिषत्, there is a मन्त्र,

यो ब्रह्माणम् विदधाति पूर्वम् यो वै वेदांश्च प्रहिणोति तस्मै ।

तै ह देवमात्मबुद्धिप्रकाशम् मुमुक्षुर्वै शरणमहम् प्रपद्ये ॥ ६-१८ ॥

This मन्त्र says that the वेद is not the invention of any human being, वैदिक wisdom has a super human origin, that at the time of creation itself the Lord first creates ब्रह्माजि, in the पुराण from his own navel ब्रह्माजि appears and the Lord himself gives the वैदिक wisdom to ब्रह्माजि, so यो ब्रह्माणम् विदधाति पूर्वम् यो वै वेदांश्च प्रहिणोति तस्मै. And that is why the four heads of ब्रह्माजि represent the four वेदs and ब्रह्माजि teaches this वैदिक wisdom to his disciples and the परम्परा is maintained. Therefore Lord is supposed to be the author of the वेदs. And therefore कृष्ण says I alone taught the वैदिक wisdom in the beginning of the creation and I alone am teaching the very वैदिक wisdom now in the name of the गीता. And when कृष्ण said this, अर्जुन had a doubt, when there is such a big gap between the age of अर्जुन and the beginning of the creation, how can one reconcile that the teacher is one and the same. When such a question was asked, Lord कृष्ण is introducing the topic of अवतार, I am the original विष्णु who gave out the वैदिक wisdom then, and that विष्णु alone is now in the form of भगवान् कृष्ण. Behind the विष्णु शरीरम् then and behind the कृष्ण शरीरम् now, the Lord is one, the difference is only in the वेश but the Lord is only one. And not only the Lord teaches now, He also says that I am aware of this fact, that I am भगवान्, I alone have taken all the जन्मs - मत्स्य, कुर्म, वराह etc., and I have now taken कृष्ण शरीरम्, I know all these details and therefore I am भगवान् विष्णु's अवतार. Then naturally the question will come, अवतार also takes body and the संसारि also takes body, what is the difference between अवतार's शरीर ग्रहणम् and the जीव's शरीर ग्रहणम्? And we say that even though शरीरम् ग्रहणम् means what: taking a body is common to both, there are certain fundamental differences. The cause is different, the nature is different, the purpose is different.

➤ The Lord takes a body with knowledge because of his omniscience. So ज्ञानम् is the cause of ईश्वर अवतार; whereas in the case of जीव, अज्ञानम् is the cause of जीव जन्म (जीव अवतार you cannot tell), जीव's fall. One is descendance or descent, the other one is fall.

➤ Then the second difference we saw was, since the Lord takes the body with omniscience or knowledge, the Lord continues to a liberated one, therefore Lord is नित्य मुक्त स्वरूपः; whereas when जीव takes शरीरम्, it is bondage, it is बद्ध स्वरूप. And one more difference we saw that Lord's शरीरम् is directly born out of माया, therefore it is called मायिक शरीरम्; whereas जीव's body is not directly born out of माया, but through the intermediary process of the five elements. And therefore जीव शरीरम् is called भौतिक शरीरम्, ईश्वर शरीरम् is मायिक शरीरम्. This is the second difference in nature.

➤ And the third difference between ईश्वर and जीव जन्म is the very purpose of arrival. जीव arrives to exhaust his प्रारब्ध पुण्य पापम्; whereas ईश्वर arrives not to exhaust पुण्य पापम्, but only to uplift the world and that is why, ईश्वर's arrival is called लीला. For ईश्वर life is a sport, for जीव life is a drag, because problem after problem. You ask anyone how is everything, nobody enthusiastically says wonderful, just going on, चलता है, OK, so and so (similar words in other languages) and only you have to ask one or two more questions, रामायण comes, महाभारत comes, भागवत comes. For Lord life is a sport, for जीव life is a burden.

And of these three differences, Lord कृष्ण is pointing out the third difference at the level of purpose in the 7th verse, which we are seeing now. यदा यदा हि धर्मस्य ग्लानिः भवति – whenever there is a declension of धर्म, धर्म (we have seen in the 3rd chapter) means cosmic harmony, cosmic rhythm, cosmic health. If you take the whole universe as a body, the cosmic orderliness is called cosmic health; at the individual level also, if every organ is functioning in harmony, it is health. That is why in आयुर्वेद शास्त्र, health is defined as धातु साम्यम्. धातु means the various ingredients in the body, there is an equilibrium. And ill-health is called धातु वैषम्यम्. That means mouth decides to eat more sugar but pancreas decides not to produce insulin. Therefore there is a disharmony between eating and absorbing. That means there is ill-health. Similarly, at the cosmic level also, if there is harmony it is called धर्म and harmony alone protects the universe.

धर्मो विश्वस्य जगतः प्रतिष्ठा लोके धर्मिष्ठम् प्रजा उपसर्पन्ति धर्मेण पापमपनुदति धर्मे सर्वम् प्रतिष्ठितम् तस्माद्धर्मम् परमम् वदन्ति ॥ महानारायणोपनिषत् - ७ ॥

धर्म alone is the health of the world and that alone sustains the world, The word धर्म is derived from the root, धृ to sustain, धारयति इति धर्म. Sustains what: the cosmos. And once the orderliness is disturbed, the whole cosmos will be destroyed, we cannot survive, as they are talking about ecology, environmental protection and all, if there is a nuclear explosion, what will be nuclear winter, ‘The Day After’ there is a documentary or a movie it seems, if there is a nuclear war what all will be the consequences. Many people will die immediately and many other people will have a very very slow tortuous death, will be tortured. That means what: harmony protects the creation and if there is no harmony, who will have to maintain the creation? The manufacturer should have an inbuilt method of saving his product, any intelligent manufacturer keeps a fuse. If there is more power there is an automatic system of fuse going, for what purpose: to protect the system. Any intelligent manufacturer will create an inbuilt protective system. Similarly, भगवान् has manufactured the whole creation, therefore his responsibility is to maintain it. And if this inbuilt system doesn't work, then भगवान् will have to interfere, because भगवान् is not only the सृष्टि कर्ता, he is also स्थितिकर्ता and therefore Lord says here, as the स्थितिकर्ता of the universe I will come. When: not very often, यदा यदा हि धर्मस्य ग्लानिः – whenever there is a declension of धर्म and naturally अभ्युत्थानम् अधर्मस्य – when the अधर्म increases, corruption increases, then तदा – all those times, अहम् आत्मानम् सृजामि – I myself will consciously, deliberately, voluntarily take the body. That is the difference. Can we tell, I have chosen to take this body, No. प्रारब्धः has brought this body, it is not voluntary or conscious body; whereas in the case of the Lord, he says that I choose to assume the required type of body. Continuing;

Verse No .08

परित्राणाय साधूनां विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् ।

धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय सम्भवामि युगे युगे ॥ ४-८॥

परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् ।

धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय सम्भवामि युगे युगे ॥ ४-८॥

साधूनाम् परित्राणाय, दुष्कृताम् विनाशाय, धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय च, (अहम्) युगे युगे सम्भवामि ।

How will the Lord protect धर्म and how will the Lord destroy अधर्म, he says that धर्म is protected by protecting the people who follow धर्म, धार्मिक पुरुषः रक्षणणे धर्मः रक्षितः भवति. If you want to protect science, what should you do: it is not by printing books you protect and promote science; if you want to promote science, there is only one way, what is that way: by promoting the scientists you promote the science. How do you promote music: not by printing music books but promoting and helping the musicians, because music does not exist independently, it always exist in people; therefore you can protect music by supporting the musicians. How do you protect वेदः not by printing more books, that is very easy. Only by protecting those people who are studying the वेद, वेद पाठशाला you have to protect, whoever want to study the वेद, he must be protected, therefore, protection of वेद is by protecting वैदिक, protection of science is by protecting the scientists, protection of धर्म is not by printing more धर्मशास्त्र books, protection of धर्म is by protecting the धार्मिक people. And therefore कृष्ण says, साधूनाम् परित्राणाय – I take अवतार to support the धार्मिक people. And Similarly, how do you destroy अधर्मः not by destroying books again, only by destroying the people who are the cause of अधर्म, अधार्मिक पुरुषः नाशनेन अधर्मः नाशः भवति. That's why in संस्कृत there is a beautiful phrase, शिष्ट रक्षणम् दुष्ट शिक्षणम्, (don't interpolate! Not दुष्ट रक्षणम् शिष्ट शिक्षणम्). दुष्ट means अधार्मिक people, शिक्षणम् means punishing. and शिष्ट means धार्मिक people, रक्षणम् means protecting and that's why in the गीता ध्यान श्लोक, we have a beautiful verse

भीष्मद्रोणतटा जयद्रथजला गान्धारनीलोत्पला

शल्यब्राह्मणी कृपेण वहनी कर्णेन वेलाकुला ।

अश्वत्थामाविकर्णघोरमकरा दुर्योधनावर्तिनी

सोतीर्णा खलु पाण्डवै रणनदी कैवर्तकः केशवः ॥ ६॥

If you make a logical study of the comparative strength of the two armies by all means दुर्योधन's army is more powerful, both quantitatively and qualitatively दुर्योधन's army is powerful. Not only they are powerful, they alone have got all kinds of tricks also, all mischiefs शकुनि and दुर्योधन knows. One भीष्म can destroy all people, one द्रोण as the गुरु he knows the weakness of the पाण्डव. गुरु only knows the weaknesses of the शिष्य. गुरु knows what the शिष्य is. So द्रोण knows what the weaknesses of everyone, but in spite of this much difference, if the पाण्डव won, it is because of what: कैवर्तकः केशवः and therefore शिष्ट रक्षणम् दुष्ट शिक्षणम्, destroying the अधार्मिक people. Here also we should make a note that the अधार्मिक people can be destroyed in two ways, अधार्मिक people can be destroyed in two ways,

1) One method is converting them from अधर्म to धर्म, by साम, दान, भेद (without नाश and हिंसा) when you convert the person from अधर्म to धर्म, you have 'destroyed' the अधार्मिक person.

2) And भगवान् tries that first, not that immediately he will cut the head. Just give them sufficient opportunity and time to change, for रावण, even during the last moment, he gives chance. Similarly, for दुर्योधन also, in the last moment, कृष्ण went as a messenger and requested, we are ready for compromise. Five villages you give, or one village with 5 houses, or one house with five bedrooms or one house with five chairs, then दुर्योधन said even one pinhead space I will not give. That means what: साम, दान, भेदs have failed and therefore कृष्ण said, तस्मात् युध्यस्व भारत, अर्जुन, destroy them. Therefore here He says, दुष्कृताम् विनाशाय and also धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय and भगवान् established धर्म in a different way also.

क्षत्रिय can establish धर्म in one way, ब्राह्मण in one way. How does क्षत्रिय establish धर्म, by promoting and patronizing the धार्मिक people. What all things they need it should be provided. If any one person is violating धर्म put him in prison, punish, a ruler alone can do that, this is one method of sustaining धर्म, promote the धार्मिक people and punish the अधार्मिक people, this is the method of क्षत्रिय. Whereas ब्राह्मण cannot promote धार्मिक people, according to original वर्ण-आश्रम संप्रदाय, ब्राह्मण cannot promote anyone, because he himself is promoted by someone, where he will go and ask, therefore ब्राह्मण cannot promote धर्म by money or anything, because he doesn't earn at all in the original system (now ब्राह्मणs are businessmen, that's different matter). Similarly, ब्राह्मण has no right to punish anyone, just as even now, if we catch a thief, we have no right to punish, we have to handover that thief to the police and then the court and enquiry have to do what they are supposed to do, we have no right to judge and punish. How does ब्राह्मण sustain धर्म, ब्राह्मण sustains धर्म by teaching, which is the better form of promoting धर्म. By punishment you can never promote धर्म permanently. By policemen you cannot keep harmony, you can see in the traffic, eve-teasing, everywhere put a policeman, where all you can put police. It is impossible to put a policeman everywhere and protect, that is all only temporary make shift remedy, the ultimate promotion of धर्म is a person should have a value for धर्म. If I have a value for traffic rules, I don't require a police person. At any time, I stop, because I know that it is important for the harmony and if there is a harmonious traffic system, it is only good for others, it is good for me only ultimately. Therefore the ultimate conversion is through teaching and what is teaching, why धर्म should be followed, I should know, that is why दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says: A value is a value only when the value of the value is valued by you. And to know the value of a value, you require a sensitive mind, because when someone violates a value I don't suffer immediately. Like by cutting a tree, I don't suffer immediately. When everybody goes on cutting trees and converting houses into flats, a time will come when the whole city is polluted and then everybody falls sick. Ask Bombay, दिल्ली what is happening, you cannot drink water, you cannot breath and after sometime, one has to walk everywhere wearing masks. That is why they said: 'king punishes then and there whereas providence waits and punishes.' Therefore I should know the long-term effects of violation of धर्म which requires a sensitive mind, sensitive mind is developed only by teaching not by advising. Speak truth, speak truth, if you advise it is not going to help. You have teach what is telling the truth, what is honesty. So क्षत्रिय protects धर्म by protecting the धार्मिक people and punishing अधार्मिक people whereas ब्राह्मण protects धर्म by teaching and if you see भगवान्'s अवतार, कृष्ण has done both. How did he do both? कृष्ण protected धार्मिक people like धर्मपुत्र and destroyed अधार्मिक people like दुर्योधन, this is कृष्ण's क्षत्रिय job and when he taught the गीता, कृष्ण taught धर्म also. And that is why he has put धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय and that is the reason among the ten अवतारs, राम अवतार and कृष्ण अवतार are supposed to be the most important अवतारs because only in these two अवतारs teaching is involved. मत्स्य अवतार, what teaching is there? What can a fish teach; कुर्म अवतार what teaching, nothing; वराह अवतार, no teaching, but among the 10 अवतारs, राम taught by living धर्म and कृष्ण taught by teaching धर्म and therefore these two अवतारs we value more. That is why रामनवमि is there and कृष्णाष्टमि is there. Have you seen कुर्म पंचमि or something like that? No. Or do you sing: हरे मत्स्य हरे मत्स्य, मत्स्य मत्स्य हरे हरे । हरे कुर्म हरे कुर्म. No, not because that अवतार is lowly or anything, but these two अवतारs are important, because राम taught by living, that is why it is called राम अयनम्, अयनम् means the way of life lead by राम, रामायणम् teaches indirectly, whereas कृष्ण teaches directly. And therefore, धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय and that is why we also say: 'Do as राम did and also as कृष्ण said.' Never do as कृष्ण did. If you did it, कृष्ण started stealing and कृष्ण had so many wives, you cannot do, therefore 'do as राम did and also as कृष्ण said.' Therefore धर्म-संस्थापन-अर्थाय, सम्भवामि, सम्भवामि means I am born, I take अवतार and when will I take, युगे युगे, युगे युगे means every युग I will take अवतार or to be more precise, every time it is required. It is not that once only in one युग, there is no such rule, here युगे युगे means whenever it is required. If in one युग, ten times it is required, I will take. In another युग, it may not be required at all and I will never take. Therefore the condition is "whenever required." Continuing;

Verse No .09

जन्म कर्म च मे दिव्यमेवं यो वेत्ति तत्त्वतः ।

त्यक्त्वा देहं पुनर्जन्म नैति मामेति सोऽर्जुन ॥ ४-९॥

जन्म कर्म च मे दिव्यम् एवम् यः वेत्ति तत्त्वतः ।

त्यक्त्वा देहम् पुनः जन्म न एति माम् एति सः अर्जुन ॥ ४-९॥

हे अर्जुन! यः मे दिव्यम् जन्म कर्म च एवम् तत्त्वतः वेति, सः देहम् त्यक्त्वा, पुनः जन्म न एति, (किन्तु सः) माम् एति ।

So with the previous verse the introductory part is over, गीता स्तुति is over and अवतार स्वरूपम् topic is also over, which was an incidental diversion. Now from the 9th verse onwards, कृष्ण wants to come back to our discussion and what is that discussion: मोक्ष मार्गः, Our topic is not अवतार, our topic is मोक्ष मार्गः, how to attain मोक्षः, because अर्जुन had raised this question,

कार्पण्यदोषोपहतस्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वां धर्मसम्मूढचेताः ।

यच्छ्रेयः स्यान्नश्चितं ब्रूहि तन्मे शिष्यस्तेऽहं शाधि मां त्वां प्रपन्नम् ॥ २-७॥

हे कृष्ण! tell me what is the ultimate good. गीता is a मोक्ष ग्रन्थ, therefore the topic is what: what is the means of liberation and in this verse, कृष्ण tells knowing the nature of God also leads to liberation, ईश्वर स्वरूप ज्ञानात् मोक्षः सिद्धिः, God-realization can give liberation. So this is an interesting thing which we have to note. In the 2nd chapter, कृष्ण had mentioned that आत्मज्ञानम् is the means of liberation.

प्रजहाति यदा कामान्सर्वान्पार्थ मनोगतान् ।

आत्मन्येवात्मना तुष्टः स्थितप्रज्ञस्तदोच्यते ॥ २-७७॥

आत्मज्ञानम्, Self-realization was presented as the means of liberation in the 2nd chapter. Here in this verse कृष्ण says, God-realization is the means of liberation. Now the question is which one really leads to liberation, whether Self-realization or God-realization or optional or are there two मार्गs or is it a choice? The scriptures have also mentioned that for मोक्ष there is only one मार्ग, therefore I cannot say Self-realization and God-realization are two separate paths, I cannot say because scriptures have said that there is only one path. So there is only one way to resolve this problem, what is that: Self-realization and God-realization are identical, they are two names but it is only one. To give an example, when a wave knows its true nature, what is the realization: the true nature of the wave is water, therefore wave-realization is realizing the true nature of the wave, which is water. And what is ocean-realization, it is again knowing the true nature of the ocean and what is the true nature of ocean: water. Therefore whether you talk about the true nature of the wave or whether you talk about the true nature of ocean, the true nature is one alone, so whether you analyze a wave or whether you analyze an ocean, you arrive at what: there is only one central truth, i.e., water. So similarly, whether you realize your true nature that is the Self or whether you realize the true nature of God, you arrive at one सत्-चित्-आनन्द स्वरूप only. If a person says I have realized the Self but not God or if another person says I have realized God but not the Self, it means, remember my example, I know what is अञ्जनम्, collyrium, which is used for the eye, how is it: it is white like the turmeric powder! That means I do not know all the three. Similarly, if a person says, I know God but not the Self, or I know the Self but not God, it means he knows neither God nor the Self. This रमण महर्षि beautifully says in सत्-दर्शनम्, a well-known work,

यदीशितुर्वीक्षणमीक्षितारम् अवीक्ष्य तन्मानसिकेक्षणम् स्यात् ।

न द्रष्टुरन्यः परमो हि तस्य वीक्षा स्वमूले प्रविलीय निष्ठा ॥ सहर्शनम् - २२ ॥

If a person has experienced God in front as an object and he has not recognized that Lord as non-different from one-self that God vision is not real. Seeing God as an object is not real sight, it is मानसिक इक्षणम् स्यात्, it is only मानसिकम्, it is not fact, only when that God is recognized as non-different from the observer, सः आत्मा or तत् ब्रह्म अहम् अस्मि, then the knowledge has come. Therefore कृष्ण says here beautifully: यः वेति – suppose a person knows, realizes, मे जन्म – understands the true nature of my अवतार and what is the true nature of the अवतार, कृष्ण शरीरम् is not real कृष्ण, because कृष्ण शरीरम् is subject to arrival and departure. Real कृष्ण is what, we saw before in verse no.6, अजः अपि सन् अव्यय-आत्मा भूतानाम् ईश्वरः अपि सन्, real कृष्ण is अजः, अजः means birth-less, अव्यय-आत्मा – birth-less. Real कृष्ण is free from birth and death, whereas कृष्ण शरीरम् is subject to arrival and departure, therefore what is the real कृष्ण, not the शरीरम्, but the कृष्ण परमात्मा behind the body. Similarly, real राम is not the नवमि राम, one who comes on a day and disappears on another day, real राम is again the आत्मा behind the राम शरीरम्. This fact the one who knows, that doesn't mean you should not celebrate रामनवमि, many celebrate रामनवमि with पानकम्, which is good irrespective of the others and कृष्णाष्टमि is wonderful, because चिडै, मुरुवकु (snacks) is wonderful. So we can celebrate रामनवमि and कृष्णाष्टमि in beginning stages, but ultimately we should understand that राम is not the शरीरम् but the आत्माराम, आनन्दरमण (as in the भजन्). Similarly, the real कृष्ण suppose a person knows and also दिव्यम् कर्म – one who knows the भगवान्'s sports or लीलाs and what is that divine sport, परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् । ... ॥ ४-८॥

The one who really understands the Lord, तत्त्वतः, तत्त्वतः means in its true nature, what will happen to him, त्यक्त्वा देहम् पुनः जन्म न एति – that person does not take a body again after मरणम्, which means he will attain liberation. So the knowledge of real कृष्ण will lead to liberation, that is why if you read भागवतम् and all, you will find that the गोपीs initially worshipped कृष्ण as a beautiful person and their attraction is कृष्ण's शरीरम्,

अधरम् मधुरम् वदनम् मधुरम् नयनम् मधुरम् हसितम् मधुरम् ।
हृदयम् मधुरम् गमनम् मधुरम् मधुराधिपतेरखिलम् मधुरम् ॥ मधुराष्टकम् १॥

That is all wonderful, that भक्ति is required. When कृष्ण was a person they had problems also, when कृष्ण appears they will be happy and when कृष्ण disappears they will be unhappy. गोपीका गीतम्, गीतम् means crying, in भागवतम्

यत्ते सुजातचरणाम्बुरुहम् स्तनेषु भीताः ... ॥ श्रीमद्भागवतम्.गोपीगीतम् १०-३१-१९ ॥

रुरुदुः सुस्वरम् राजन् कृष्णदर्शनलालसाः ॥ श्रीमद्भागवतम्.गोपीगीतम् १०-३२-०१ ॥

पीताम्बरधरः स्रग्वी साक्षान्मन्मथमन्मथः ॥ श्रीमद्भागवतम्.गोपीगीतम् १०-३२-०२ ॥

रुरुदुः सुस्वरम्, means they cried in राग. That is the difference, when we cry it will not be in रागम् but when गोपीs cry it will be in रागम्, but whether you cry, whatever be the reason, crying is a crying, the Lord comes and goes, but the very same गोपीs later describe कृष्ण as न खलु गोपिकानन्दनो भवान् अखिलदेहिनामन्तरात्महृक् ।

विखनसार्थितो विश्वगुप्तये सख उदेयिवान्सात्वतां कुले ॥ गोपीगीतम् - ४ ॥

कृष्ण now we know who you really are: you are not the son of गोपिकानन्दनः (that is all fun), who is real कृष्ण, अखिलदेहिनाम् अन्तरात्महृक्, you are the inner Consciousness behind all the bodies and why you have taken this body,

विखनसार्थितो विश्वगुप्तये सख उदेयिवान्सात्वताम् कुले

Because devotees wanted You have just temporarily taken a मायिक शरीरम् for blessing the world, but we know that शरीरम् is not your real nature, this knowledge is called तत्त्व ज्ञानम्. And one who has got that तत्त्व ज्ञानम् he will attain liberation. And what is liberation? सः माम् एति – he will become one with Me, after death he will have ब्रह्म निर्वाणम् or he will have ईश्वर ऐवम्. Continuing;

Verse No .10

वीतरागभयक्रोधा मन्मया मामुपाश्रिताः ।

बहवो ज्ञानतपसा पूता मद्भावमागताः ॥ ४-१०॥

वीत-राग-भय-क्रोधाः मन्मयाः माम् उपाश्रिताः ।

बहवः ज्ञान-तपसा पूताः मद्भावम् आगताः ॥ ४-१०॥

वीत-राग-भय-क्रोधाः, मन्मयाः माम् उपाश्रिताः, ज्ञान-तपसा पूताः, बहवः मद्भावम् आगताः ।

So realization of God has got two stages,

- First it is realization of सगुण ईश्वर, Lord with a form and
- Next is the realization of निर्गुण ईश्वर, Lord without a form.

So this topic will be elaborated later from the 7th chapter onwards. Even सगुण ईश्वर realization we put in two stages,

1) One is एक रूप ईश्वर दर्शनम्, appreciating Lord with one form, as राम, as कृष्ण, as देवी, this is एक रूप ईश्वर ज्ञानम् and we all have to start with that only. And it is useful and interesting because we all require. Like भारतियार् who wrote, कन्नन् is my friend, कन्नन् is my child, etc., you can look at the Lord as father if your father is not alright, you can replace the Lord as the father when you don't have a healthy relationship with your father, then you keep भगवान् as father; if you don't have a healthy relationship with mother, convert भगवान् into mother; if you don't have a healthy relationship with the child, convert भगवान् into child, if you want a गुरु, convert भगवान्; anything, any type of relationship, भगवान् is available. For emotional health that एक रूप ईश्वर भक्ति is very useful, you can talk anytime you like. So go to your room and close the room and then don't make it known outside and you can talk to your God. In our tradition so many devotees have done, because you want to keep it as a confidential report, like the Swiss Bank account, if you say, people will exploit, whom to talk to, therefore the safest place is what: भगवान्. The more you have that relationship, the more भगवान् will become real and real. When I had been to the north, why north, here also you can see, a room has been fixed to भगवान्, there is a bedroom and there is also mosquito net, (we will think which mosquito will bite the stone or brass

विग्रहम्, etc.). For them that विग्रहः is the real भगवान् and A/c is there and fan in silver and golden cradle, etc., making Him to sleep, offering food to भगवान्, talking to Him etc., the more you take that relationship the more the Lord will become nearer, this is called एक रूप ईश्वर भक्ति.

2) Then expand it further and make it विश्वरूप ईश्वर भक्ति. भगवान् is not with one form, but भगवान् has got the whole universe as his form, भूः पादौ यस्य नाभिर्-वियदसुरनिल-चन्द्रसूर्यौ च नेत्रे. We will see that in the 11th chapter of गीता, that is further expansion, एकरूपम् to अनेकरूपम् and both are सगुणम् only.

3) Then what is the final stage, neither एकरूपम् nor अनेकरूपम् but अरूपम् ईश्वर, निर्गुण ईश्वर.

Everybody has to go through these three stages and you can take as much time as you want, we don't insist that you should all leave कृष्ण and take to निर्गुण ब्रह्मन् today itself, because some people find it extremely difficult to drop सगुण भक्ति and if you force it will become terrible, when a person grows in maturity, they gradually grow out. Just as a child who plays with balloons naturally will give up balloon. Now for your birthday, you don't ask your mother for balloon, I hope you don't ask, we will not ask, you have grown out of that, you will ask something else. Similarly, we should have एकरूप भक्ति, as long as we enjoy it, naturally we will understand that we appreciate अनेकरूप and therefore it is a gradual growth. And what are the stages that such a seeker will go through is talked about in this श्लोक, what are the stages: वीत-राग-भय-क्रोधाः, the first stage is have सगुण ईश्वर भक्ति and follow कर्मयोग by dedicating all your duties to the Lord and by accepting all situations as ईश्वर प्रसाद. So this is the first stage of life, that is surrender to सगुण ईश्वर and then converting the life into a worship.

यत् करोषि यत् अश्नासि यत् जुहोषि ददासि यत् ।

यत् तपस्यसि कौन्तेय तत् कुरुष्व मत् अर्पणम् ॥ ९-२७॥

That is why स्वामिजि says, in our culture we have to daily cook food at home, because we can eat only after offering to the Lord. Suppose we plan to cook once in a week or once in a month (keeping it date wise in the fridge), then the problem is that you may not mind to eat, or the poor husband may not have a choice at all, but for भगवान् we cannot offer the food that was cooked when? (which भगवान् only knows!) Therefore स्वामिजि says that family life means daily cooking, it is a must, then alone it will become an आश्रम, why cooking is important, not that you like it or not, microwave oven has come and one can heat any number of times, therefore the idea is that you have to offer to the Lord before you eat. By following such a कर्मयोग way of life we will purify the mind which means we get rid of certain unhealthy ways of thinking, we get rid of the unhealthy thoughts which are the mental impurities and what are they: रागः, भयः, क्रोधः. रागः means attachment, the attachment will gradually will be shifted from world to God, that is the second stage. So world-dependence to God-dependence, because I come to know more and more. Dependence on the world is a risky thing, because the world is very much fluid, anything can happen, at anytime for anyone. That is why they say in तमिळ्, 'I will come tomorrow' and then they put a comma and say 'provided I am alive', because it is a doubtful. Whether we will complete the sentence is itself a doubtful case. How many cases, you know, 'I saw him only yesterday.' Therefore life being unpredictable only permanent security is God. Once I know my dependence will be shifted from world to God, रागः will be from world to ईश्वर रागः, attachment to भगवान्. Thereafter I later find out that भगवान् is here itself, then भगवान्-dependence will be converted into Self-dependence. That is the last thing. World-dependence to God-dependence to Self-dependence, wherein I will discover भगवान् as myself. Therefore first change is what: रागः should go away, emotional dependence. Then when the रागः comes down भयम् also comes down, because fear is directly proportional to the attachment, greater the attachment, greater the fear. That is why when anyone in the family is little bit late to come home, I don't know the reason, when I don't know the reason, I can take it positively, child only comes late, homework might have been there, school program might have been there. Suddenly we think of auto accidents, water lorry accidents or child being kidnapping by someone, every negative news will come to your mind. One telegram is enough to make some families to start crying, even before the telegram is opened. Happened it seems, then somebody came and said you open the telegram, that person is crying, therefore I wanted to support him and when they opened the telegram and found that the wedding has been fixed. For that they cried. So why because fear is directly proportional to attachment, when रागः comes down भयम् comes down then क्रोधः also will come down. I don't want to talk more and make you क्रोधः.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 10-13

In the first 8 verses of this 4th chapter, Lord कृष्ण glorified the भगवद्गीता as a teaching of the original वेदs themselves. And then he pointed out that the Lord himself is the author of the वेदs and the Lord himself is the author or the teacher of the गीता also. The very वेदs which had become weak by अर्जुन's time was revived by the same भगवान् through अर्जुन or through the भगवद्गीता and after introducing the अवतार concept to convey this idea, Lord कृष्ण pointed out that the knowledge of God also can lead to liberation. In the 2nd chapter and in the 3rd chapter, he had pointed out that the Self-realization is a means of मोक्ष, here Lord कृष्ण points out that God-realization is also a means of मोक्ष, indirectly indicating that God-realization and Self-realization are identical. When you look at the truth of the creation from the stand point of the totality, then it is called God. When you look at the truth of the creation from the standpoint of the individual, then we use the word Self. Just as the truth of the wave and truth of the ocean is one and the same water. Similarly, the truth of the world and the truth of the individual both are one and the same. When you study from micro angle it is called Self-realization, When you study from macro angle it is God-realization. And then कृष्ण pointed out that this is not an impossible proposition, many people in our tradition have followed the religious or spiritual disciplines and accomplished liberation or मोक्ष and if many people in the past have accomplished that, there is no reason why you also cannot accomplish. So here in the 10th verse, कृष्ण talks about the spiritual disciplines followed by the people of the past. He talks about the various stages that one goes through.

1) The first one is मन्मयाः. So the verse no.10, first line, the middle word मन्मयाः, मन्मयाः means obsessed with the thought of me, that is keeping the Godhood as the primary goal of life, that obsession is indicated by the word मन्मयाः, ईश्वर मयाः. Just as a person who wants to become No.1 tennis player or No.1 chess player, whatever he does in life, in his mind there is only one thought revolving, chess, chess, chess only. Or cricket, cricket, cricket that only. This is called obsession, born out of intense yearning. And here these people have discovered Godhood as the primary goal. And you should remember that when we talk about God as the goal, from Vedantic angle, Godhood is nothing but our own higher nature, our own superior nature, or our own healthy nature, therefore when the scriptures say you have to attain God, what they mean is that you should attain your own fullest growth. Suppose a person is a sick person, in capable of doing anything in life, I want to talk about a healthy person, instead of asking him to become healthy, I can symbolize his own healthy self as an outside goal. At present I am a sick person, I want to become a healthy person, I can symbolize the healthy person as an external goal and say: you should attain that particular goal. Even though in the beginning I present the healthy person as an external goal, what I really mean is becoming or attaining the healthy person is you yourselves discovering your healthy nature. Similarly, वेदान्त presents God as an external goal, but ultimately Godhood is my own secure Self, healthy Self, full Self, contended Self, is symbolized as God. And therefore मन्मयाः means they are so much tired of their own mental sickness in the form of राग-द्वेष, काम-क्रोधः that they want to convert their sick mind into a mind of compassion, a mind of love, a mind of security, that inner conversion is called attainment of Godhood. We are not going to physically meet a person, we are only going to discover or tap our own fullest potential. And that will become clear soon, मन्मयाः, so first they are obsessed with मोक्ष as the पुरुषार्थः and they know that this task is not an easy task. When physical health itself seems to be so difficult, you have to do regular exercises and proper dieting, walking, this and that, people get bored, then what to talk of mental health and fullness. Therefore it is not going an easy task, it is full of obstacles,

श्रेयान्नि बहु विघ्नानि भवन्ति महतामपि

For all noble pursuits, first thing that will come is obstacle. And that is indicated through the mythological story, that when the देवs and असुरs wanted to churn the ocean to attain अमृतम् or immortality, right from the beginning problems, देवs could not do it alone, therefore they had to take असुरs helps. देवs and असुरs, you know, they are arch rivals, they somehow team up together, right from beginning obstacles after obstacles, even temptations after temptations - so many beautiful things also came, but in spite of all the obstacles they had the determination that we want to attain अमृतम् and at every stage, do you know whose help the देवs took, at every stage the Lord was involved. When they were churning the ocean with the help of the mountain मन्दर पर्वतम्, you know what happened, it went down, भगवान् had to come as कुर्म. That means what: we can never accomplish anything without the support of the Lord. No doubt my effort is a must but effort alone is not enough, it should be backed by the booster aerial is required, that is ईश्वर अनुग्रहः and that is indicated in the next word, माम् उपाश्रिताः – taking refuge in me, taking my support or surrendering unto me, they do whatever they have to. And now that there is determination, it is called appropriate use of free-will, मन्मयाः corresponds to our free-will, माम् उपाश्रिताः corresponds to ईश्वर अनुग्रहः. Once these two engines are there, the front engine called free-will, back engine called ईश्वर अनुग्रहः, now I am ready for the journey, the question is what is route I don't know. That one should know. So therefore, what is the direction?

वीत-राग-भय-क्रोधाः, you should learn to handle this inborn weakness in the form of रागः, भयम् and क्रोधः. रागः means attachment, which includes द्वेषः which is hatred. So first stop your attachment and hatred problem, which is born out of a wrong thinking. What is the wrong thinking? When I look upon the world as a source of joy I develop attachment, when I look upon the world as a source of sorrow I develop hatred. So therefore, सुख हेतु बुद्धिः राग कारणम्, दुःख हेतु बुद्धिः द्वेष

कारणम्. According to वेदान्त, world is neither a source of joy nor a source of sorrow, I myself am the source of joy as well as the source of sorrow. Unhealthy-I is the source of sorrow, healthy-I is the source of आनन्द or to use Vedantic language, ignorant-I is the source of sorrow, wise-I is the source of आनन्द. As long as I don't understand this fact, I will go on manipulating the world, either getting things or getting rid of things and my entire lifetime is wasted, manipulating people and situations and by the time I discover that the problem is not outside, I am 99 years old. Then again the next birth I have to start from the scratch. Therefore an intelligent person understands that the problem is with me. Then the राग and द्वेष are managed. Therefore वीतः, one who knows to handle the राग-द्वेषः, the one who is not a slave of likes and dislikes. Therefore what is the first direction, managing one's राग-द्वेष, convert all desires into non-binding desires. This is the first stage.

2) And then consequent to that is, भय-क्रोधाः, wherever there is attachment, there is fear, I told you in the last class, when one of the members of the family is late to come home, I don't know the reason, so I can imagine any healthy reason but invariably the mind thinks of accidents or heart attack or water lorry, every water lorry is called यम दूतः, therefore I will only imagine negative thing, directly proportional attachment is I am, therefore राग-द्वेष is there, भयम् is there, the next thing inevitable is क्रोधः, anger, when my desire is obstructed by somebody, accomplishment is thwarted by somebody, I direct my anger towards that person and the anger is also directly proportional to my attachment. Therefore राग, द्वेष, भयम्, क्रोध, all these four go together. So first stage in spirituality is to learn to handle them. And how to handle them, either by wisdom or devotion. And what is the wisdom? The wisdom is I can only contribute to the future events, I can never control the future events, I can add my contribution, if there is some collection going on, you can contribute your mite, but what will be the total collection can never be controlled or determined by you.

Similarly, with regard to your future, with regard to your child's future, with regard to the country's future, you have got one vote, with that one vote you can only contribute one vote might, but government you cannot totally determine. Once I understand I am only a contributor not controller, this wisdom itself will reduce adverse response. If I do not have that much intelligence to understand this fact, the next method is the method of devotion or surrender to the Lord, Oh Lord, future is not under my control, at least give me sufficient strength to face the inevitable. As कृष्ण said in the 2nd chapter,

तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे त्वम् शोचितुम् न अर्हसि ।

Intelligent person is one who is prepared for the inevitable. Intelligence is preparation for the inevitable or choice-less and you can take the help of the Lord. Either rely on yourselves through wisdom or rely on God through surrender, whether you use wisdom or surrender or both, you have to learn to handle the problem of intense attachment, intense hatred, intense fear and intense anger and the one who has mastered that, is called वीत-राग-भय-क्रोधाः. In the शास्त्र is called शुद्ध अन्तःकरण, the one with pure mind, the purity of the mind is determined in terms of the राग-द्वेष-भय-क्रोधः problem. To what extent I can manage them will indicate my degree of purity. An impure mind is a slave of all the four, whereas a wise mind is not free from them, but it is a master of all these four. And this is the first stage of साधन attained through कर्मयोग way of life. Therefore, अर्जुन by practicing कर्मयोग become वीत-राग-भय-क्रोधाः, OK. Once the mind is purified, once the mind is no more a slave of these four unhealthy thoughts, what is next stage? Is this enough to attain मोक्ष, कृष्ण says No. Now the mind is pure-mind, but it is not a wise-mind. So कर्मयोग can give only purity, कर्मयोग cannot give wisdom, therefore having handled the राग-द्वेष of the mind you have to separately work for knowledge. Knowledge never happens. Any knowledge, physics knowledge never happens, you have to work for it, you have to join the college and often there will be no teaching there, you have to take extra tuition also and then you have to work hard, any knowledge is a result of consistent effort for a length of time, when material knowledge requires consistent effort for a length of time, what to talk of spiritual knowledge, it can never happen, you have to work for it and कृष्ण calls it ज्ञान तपस्, because this is also a type of austerity. To come regularly to गीता and उपनिषत् class is not a joke, there will be obstacles, guest will come, phone will come, car will be puncture, something or the other will happen, if you have to come and study and remember and progress, it requires what: austerity and what type of austerity: it is called ज्ञान तपस्. So by the practice of ज्ञान तपस् otherwise called ज्ञानयोगः otherwise called वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्, by the practice of that, पूताः – these people got completely purified. Handling the राग-द्वेष is only partial purification, handling काम-क्रोध is only partial purification, you have to remove the basic impurity for complete purification and do you know what is the basic impurity, which they call original sin, the basic impurity is Self-ignorance and without removing that basic impurity one can never be totally pure and therefore totally healthy. Therefore कृष्ण says by the practice of ज्ञानयोग, they rid themselves of the final layer of impurity. So when they take metals from the earth, whether it is gold, or iron, or anything, it comes in the form of ore, the iron ore or धातु in संस्कृत cannot be directly used, it has to go through several stages of purification. Simple washing, magnetic belt or something and lastly there is fine impurity is there, only 99%. You have to make 99.99%, electrolytic process you have to use and the last fine impurity is also removed, so grosser method to remove the grosser impurity, subtler method for removing subtler impurity, subtlest method to remove the subtlest impurity, you know what is the steps. You cannot use the electrolytic process in the initial stages itself, like you want to wash in the kitchen and all, they use it, it will not have water for days together and if you want to clean it, first clean with simple water, much dirt will go and thereafter you put one of these powders, it will work. Suppose you put the powder first, instead of powder observing the dirt, the dirt will absorb the powder. So therefore, the finest impurity is अज्ञानम्, grossest impurity is राग-द्वेष, subtler impurity is extrovertedness, three layers of impurity. First layer is called मलम्, second layer is called विक्लेष, the third layer is called आवरणम्. मलम् is likes and dislikes - grossest one, विक्लेषः is a wandering mind - it is subtler and self-ignorance is the subtlest one, we have to use three processes to remove these three types of impurity. कर्मयोग removes मलम्, उपासना removes विक्लेष, ज्ञानयोग removes आवरणम्. कर्मयोग cannot remove आवरणम्, ज्ञानयोग cannot remove first मलम् also, step by step, all the three will have to be used in the appropriate order, order is also very important. First ज्ञानयोग starting and ending in कर्मयोग is not possible; start with कर्मयोग. Therefore बहवः ज्ञान-तपसा पूताः – many people have purified themselves totally by finally practicing the ज्ञानयोग, not one or two, बहवः. And by removing all the impurities, what did they find, मद्भावम् आगताः – they did not reach God, they did not meet God, they discovered that I minus impurity is God; God plus impurity is I. जीवात्मा minus impurity is परमात्मा, परमात्मा plus impurity is जीवात्मा. But initially a person doesn't know that, therefore I tell, He is there, भगवान् is there, one attains परमपदम्, शिवलोक प्राप्ति, etc. I have to present it as though it is a physical event of union, but ultimately, it is not a physical event of union at all, but it is a figurative event of Self-discovery. Therefore when I remove my weakness and ignorance, I know that I am what I have been seeking all the time. Therefore कृष्ण says मद्भावम् आगताः – they all attained My nature, they did not reach Me, they all attained My nature. My nature means what: सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम् ब्रह्म, the nature of fullness, the nature of security, the nature of पूर्णत्वम् they attained. Therefore अर्जुन, you also have to go through these four stages. What are the four stages?

1) The first stage spiritual goal must become the top priority, material goals need not be eliminated but they should be remembered as subservient to spiritual goal, this is called getting a direction in life.

2) The second stage is resorting or taking the help of the Lord in this grand journey, because individually I can never travel, therefore the second stage is surrender to the Lord.

3) The third stage is purification of the mind, by reducing the impact of राग-द्वेष-भय-क्रोधः.

4) The fourth stage is study the scriptures, gain Self-knowledge and अर्जुन many have done. You can also do. Continuing;

ये यथा मां प्रपद्यन्ते तांस्तथैव भजाम्यहम् ।

मम वर्तमानुवर्तन्ते मनुष्याः पार्थ सर्वशः ॥ ४-११॥

ये यथा माम् प्रपद्यन्ते तान् तथा एव भजाम्यि अहम् ।

मम वर्तमानुवर्तन्ते मनुष्याः पार्थ सर्वशः ॥ ४-११॥

ये यथा माम् प्रपद्यन्ते, तान् तथा एव अहम् भजामि । हे पार्थ! मनुष्याः सर्वशः मम वर्तमानुवर्तन्ते ।

So here कृष्ण makes another beautiful point, He gives the suggestion that the spiritual goal must be the primary goal. But He says I don't want to impose that goal upon you, if a person is going to claim that I have no interest in spirituality, I don't want मोक्ष, why are you going on enforcing मोक्ष, I don't want. Everybody need not be interested in मोक्ष and our religion wants to give full freedom to the seeker, no enforcement. कृष्ण says I am here to suggest and recommend to you that मोक्ष is a worthwhile goal, in fact, unknowingly you are seeking मोक्ष alone. If you study everyone of the human pursuit, we are working for independence only. When you are using the bus or auto-rickshaw and you face problem, bus will stop anywhere except the bus stop and it will be crowded, pickpocket problem, then you decided to take an auto-rickshaw, then you know the meter will travel faster than Rajadhani express and he will always ask for more than what the meter shows. OK. Anywhere you want to go, he will ask where you want to go and then you thought what is the problem, dependence on auto, dependence on bus is the problem. Then what do you try to do, buy a bike or anything, what is your aim, it is as though you are interested in the bike, but your desire is independent and if the bike creates the problem, you try to do something else, all the time every human being is unknowingly working towards freedom, freedom, freedom, freedom, but they are like some children who cry but don't know what they want. The mother has to imagine, whether some ant has gone into the ears, or it is hungry, or sometimes it catches its hair and pulls and it cries and when it is so painful and worried, therefore it pulls hard. Child doesn't know that. We are all children, not knowing exactly what we want. If somebody asks what do you want, we will not be able to say exactly what is it that we want, if somebody asks us what do you want, we are not clear. शास्त्र says you are seeking independence. And if you have discovered this fact, you are mature enough, but if you have not discovered this fact, we are ready to allow you to try all other methods, seek अर्थ, seek काम, seek धर्म, seek स्वर्ग, seek everything and having gone through all of them and having suffered because of dependence and finally when you come, then also, I will not get angry that I told you before and that you didn't listen at all, etc. You get enough kicks and come, I am ready to help you. But कृष्ण says I will never force मोक्ष upon you. If you say I am interested in काम, then also I am ready to accomplish sense objects, I will never say that you should not enjoy pleasures. वेदs says you can enjoy sense pleasures. Varieties of काम्य कर्मs are prescribed in the वेदs, each कर्म is for the fulfillment of one one desire and if you are interested in possessions like wealth, earn enough, have enough number of houses, cars, etc., whatever you want, you have, I am not going to criticize you on the other hand I will help you. I will tell you to perform आवहन्ति होमम्. There is one आवहन्ति होमम् for the inflow of wealth. That is popular. If there is any होमम् for मोक्ष, then it is not popular. आवहन्ति होम is popular. And if you are interested in स्वर्ग, कृष्ण says wonderful, have a tourist visa and go there for a few months and then you come back, anyway you have to come back. Therefore कृष्ण says that my job is presenting to you the four पुरुषार्थs and also presenting to you the means of accomplishing them and also offering myself as a help to you. It is not that I will help you only if you want मोक्ष, I am ready to help you in accomplishing everything. Therefore what is my philosophy? As a person seeks, so I will bless him. ये यथा माम् प्रपद्यन्ते – let any seeker approach me with any desire, I am not going to criticize, why are you asking for smaller things when मोक्ष is there, I will not criticize, just as a child when it wants a balloon, mother never criticizes, what is the use of balloon as it will be burst in two minutes, no mother will criticize, the mother will buy a balloon and give and hope that after a few years, the child will grow out of that. Similarly, कृष्ण says I am like a mother, let a person seek anything I will help him. I will only put one condition, let the desires be legitimate and let the means of accomplishing them also be legitimate. That is the only condition I will put, following that law of धर्म let him enjoy the life fully. In fact, enjoyment is part of life, to grow out of it, otherwise it can lead to suppression. But the scriptures say that when you enjoy you should be very very very cautious, otherwise you may get dragged by them, just as a person getting addicted to smoking or drinking, so the person must be extremely careful so that the person doesn't get lost in them. It is like if you have got a cup of coffee, you don't know how much hot it is. Then what do you do. Suppose you just hold the cup fully, you get burned. If you don't touch the cup at all, you don't know whether it is hot or not, therefore what do you do, carefully touch and see, you touch to such an extent that you can know the temperature, at the same time, it doesn't burn you, that is called intelligent living, go through pleasure, nothing wrong but be alert to know whether you will be lost in them. And therefore कृष्ण says let a person come to me seeking any goal, प्रपन्न-पारिजाताय, I am like a पारिजात tree for a devotee, I will bless him with everything. तान् तथा एव भजामि अहम् – I will approach them only with the desired objects. As स्वामि विवेकानन्द said, to a hungry person, in front of a hungry person, the Lord should approach with what, only food, if Lord approaches without food that person will eat the Lord himself, because the hungry person seeks what, not तत्त्वबोधम्, ब्रह्मसूत्र class, that is an unintelligent approach, hungry person - let him seek food, poor person - let him seek money, but the मोक्ष seeker भगवान् will give मोक्ष. That is said here, तान् तथा एव भजामि अहम्. Why do I bless them with all these goals, because मम वर्त्म अनुवर्तन्ते – because all my devotees approach me through appropriate effort, all the devotees approach me with appropriate effort, like appropriate पूजा, appropriate जप, appropriate कर्म, or appropriate उपासना, etc., since they are coming to me by appropriate means, my job is to bless them with appropriate end. To give the appropriate results for the means, is my duty. Therefore I will bless them with whatever they want. मनुष्याः पार्थ सर्वशः. So they have come in the proper method. Continuing;

काङ्क्षन्तः कर्मणां सिद्धिं यजन्त इह देवताः ।

क्षिप्रं हि मानुषे लोके सिद्धिर्भवति कर्मजा ॥ ४-१२॥

काङ्क्षन्तः कर्मणाम् सिद्धिम् यजन्ते इह देवताः ।

क्षिप्रम् हि मानुषे लोके सिद्धिः भवति कर्मजा ॥ ४-१२॥

कर्मणाम् सिद्धिम् काङ्क्षन्तः (मनुष्याः) इह देवताः यजन्ते, हि मानुषे लोके कर्मजा सिद्धिः क्षिप्रम् भवति ।

So कृष्ण says I have presented two paths in the वैदिक scriptures, the first part of the वेदs deals with path No.1 which is called कर्म मार्गः, a life of activity, a life of effort, where you go through certain processes. The second path is presented in the final part of the वेदs, called वेद-अन्त, otherwise called ज्ञान मार्ग. कर्म मार्ग is there, ज्ञान मार्ग is also there, my job is not to force anyone in any path, I will present: कर्म मार्ग will produce the end, ज्ञानम् will also produce the end. What is the difference in their results? कर्म-फलम् अनित्यम्. All the results of कर्म are finite in nature and it is full of defects also, I have talked about this in the उपनिषत् class.

- दुःख मिश्रितत्वम्, if accomplishment is a pain, preservation is a greater pain and the final loss is the greatest pain and any amount of accomplishment will not give satisfaction.
- अतृप्तिकरत्वम् and more and more dependence on external factors, these are all the defects of कर्म-फलम्.

कृष्ण's job, the scriptures' job is to teach us what gives what. So कृष्ण says, कर्मकाण्ड gives finite results. And ज्ञानकाण्ड says, if you are interested in infinite results, it can never be the end product of a process. Infinite can never be the end product of a process, any process produces a result, which is within time alone, because it has got a beginning, by the same logic it has got an end. So infinitude or पूर्णत्वम् or fullness can never be the result of any effort, it has to be in the form of ज्ञानम्. What is this knowledge, if there is infinite, it has to be where, where will be the infinite one, after saying infinite, will anybody ask where and if I am asking such a question, I am a fool and if you are scratching your head for an answer, you are a bigger fool. If there is something called पूर्णम्, infinite it has to be here and if there is something that is eternal, it should be now, therefore infinitude is a matter of discovery. Therefore ज्ञान मार्ग leads to नित्यफलम्, कर्म मार्ग leads to अनित्यफलम्, this has been presented by me, in the वेदs clearly. But कृष्ण is crying, wailing, He says even though I have clearly pointed out and the people are experiencing regularly the limitations of कर्म-फलम्, but the tragedy is, still the majority of the people after long thinking vote for the wrong party. If they do it without thinking it is OK, but they do it after thinking. That is the tragedy. Like that person getting up, when there is a low door is there, the owner warns, the door is very low you have to bend, so this person is so scrupulous, so he wants to bend here itself carefully and then he bends and walks and walks and he will just get up correctly when the door comes and gets the bump. This is called thoughtful mistake. Similarly, majority of people after long experiences in life, they decide to vote for कर्म-फलम्, अनित्यम् and why do they do that, There is a reason also कृष्ण says, because to perform कर्म, the शास्त्र does not prescribe purity of mind. To do a ritual, they don't say साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्न, विवेक is not said, वैराग्यम् is not said, since purity of mind is involved in ज्ञान मार्ग and since purity of mind is extremely difficult to get. The moment we talk of राग-द्वेष giving up, they give up the वेदान्त instead of राग-द्वेष; 'who can do all these, this cannot happen.' 'I love to hate some people, we all have got a list of people, leaving that person, I don't hate anyone else.' So therefore, कृष्ण says here, कर्मणाम् सिद्धिम् काङ्क्षन्तः – many people are interested only in कर्म-फलम्, the result of action, the finite result, in short धर्म-अर्थ-काम, in कठोपनिषत् it is called प्रेयः, majority chooses प्रेयः,

श्रेयः च प्रेयः च मनुष्यम् एतः तौ सम्परीत्य विविनक्ति धीरः ।

श्रेयः हि अभि प्रेयसः तृणीते प्रेयः मन्दः योग-क्षेमात् तृणीते । कठोपनिषत् १-२-२ ॥

For a human being, both the finite and infinite are available right in front, the intelligent one chooses the infinite whereas the unintelligent, मन्दः chooses the finite, मन्दाः कर्मणाम् सिद्धिम् काङ्क्षन्त, they seek finite results. And once you choose कर्म-फलम्, वैदिक rituals are elaborate, they will say you should go to that temple and you should offer on and such days, go on पौर्णमि day, go for seven पौर्णमि days, thereafter you have to offer this grain, at one place you have to offer salt, one place you have to offer mustard seed, something like that, yellow cloth, this cloth, they have got so many conditions and if you fulfill all these conditions you may get the result, that is also not definite, but these people worship देवताः यजन्ते – they go after varieties of deities, नवग्रहs are there, they go after such deities, so देवताः यजन्ते and why, because कर्मजा सिद्धिः क्षिप्रम् भवति – because the कर्म-फलम् is quicker compared to ज्ञान मार्ग. Because in ज्ञान मार्ग, ज्ञानफलम् is quicker, the result of knowledge is very good, getting knowledge is very easy, but preparation for knowledge is the toughest job. Like wedding, wedding takes place in two minutes, shake hands, exchange garlands, but you ask the parents how many years before they took the जातकम् and how much dowry, who all asked, actual process is two minutes. Similarly, ज्ञानम् requires only one statement, what is that, you are what you are seeking, drop seeking and own up your nature, that is the only thing. वेदान्त is over. You are what you are seeking in life. Drop seeking and own up your true nature, this much alone is वेदान्त, but for this statement to work, you have to start not from many years, start from preparation should start from many जन्मs before. You all must have started the preparations from many जन्मs, otherwise you will not be even interested in coming here, understanding is a different thing, I know you understand. What I mean is whether you understand or not is a different thing, somehow you got a desire to come and sit here, in this summer day. What forces you, there is some unseen force, that is called पूर्वजन्म सुकृतम्, therefore कृष्ण says कर्मजा सिद्धिः क्षिप्रम् भवति. Therefore people are not interested in purification, it takes lot of time, they are interested only in limited goals of action. Continuing;

Verse No .13

चातुर्वर्ण्यं मया सृष्टं गुणकर्मविभागशः ।

तस्य कर्तारमपि मां विद्ध्यकर्तारमव्ययम् ॥ ४-१३॥

चातुर्वर्ण्यम् मया सृष्टम् गुण-कर्म-विभागशः ।

तस्य कर्तारम् अपि माम् विद्धि अकर्तारम् अव्ययम् ॥ ४-१३॥

मया गुण-कर्म-विभागशः चातुर्वर्ण्यम् सृष्टम्, तस्य कर्तारम् अपि माम् अव्ययम् अकर्तारम् विद्धि ।

So I said that the Lord has given the scriptures in the form of वेदs and the scriptures talk about spiritual end also, material ends also, here singular and there plural, you should put plural in spiritual ends, it is only one because it is infinite, how many infinities are there, only one; material ends are many, plural number. So भगवान् has talked about two types of goals, spiritual and materialistic, भगवान् has talked about two types of paths also, कर्म मार्ग and ज्ञान मार्ग, भगवान् has talked about the seekers' also, in the form of human beings. Now कृष्ण says not only I have given the वेदs to fulfill different ends, I have also prescribed a lifestyle by following which a person can accomplish both material and spiritual end which is an ingenious device, because normally spiritual end and material ends are diagonally opposite, because in material ends I am seeking external factors to get happiness. I am going from dependence-to-dependence. Because I want to accomplish more and more, I want to depend on more and more objects, one is depending on external factors whereas मोक्षः is depending on myself. One is leaning, another is non-leaning. One is acquiring, one is disposing. One is attachment, the other is detachment. कठोपनिषत् says:

दूरमेते विपरीते विषूची अविद्या या च विद्येति ज्ञाता ॥ कठोपनिषत्.१-२-४ ॥

Normally spiritual and material ends are diagonally opposite, but भगवान् says I have to design a unique lifestyle by which a person can accomplish both material end and spiritual end. And what should be that ingenious lifestyle, it should be such a lifestyle that a person must be able to fulfill materialistic desires, one should not say that you should not do it. If the वेदs say, you should not go after materials, what they will do. I have told you the example. He said that I read all the magazine, which says ‘don’t smoke, don’t smoke, give up smoking’, at last reading it again and again, I gave up, what, reading those books. So when a person is full of materialistic desires, if वेदs says don’t desire, that is the most unintelligent advice, therefore वैदिक lifestyle is, it encourages and it says fulfill your desires and then while for fulfilling those desires, it presents certain disciplines. Just follow that, fulfill your desire, but follow certain discipline. And what is the purpose of the discipline is not said, it is like a sugar coated pill. When the child takes the pill, it takes because it is sweet, but it is laxative will be known later, mother will say, take chocolate, Similarly, वेदs prescribe the discipline, without telling what is purpose. And you know the beauty, if you fulfill your materialistic desires following the वैदिक discipline, then the beauty is that gradually you get out of these materialist desires without suppression and in that place you discover spiritual desire as the most natural one and you discover that desire to such an extent that the pursuit of spiritual desire will not to be considered as a denial of materialistic desires. Many people in the society looking at young संन्यासिs, they sympathize, alas! He is lonely, nobody is there for him, they will be sympathizing, while these संन्यासिs are sympathizing the householders, as they are caught up in never ending crisis. So therefore who is to sympathize with whom? Nobody is to be sympathized because everybody has to pursue the appropriate end at the appropriate age, so when I come to spirituality, I won’t miss anything in life, even though the world may sympathize with me, I don’t mind. That gradual conversion must take place, so such a life design is the वैदिक life design, which is called वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म, about which we will study in the next class.

CHAPTER 04, VERSE 13

Up to the 12th verse, Lord कृष्ण talked about the nature of अवतार, अवतार रहस्यम् as an answer to अर्जुन's doubt. कृष्ण began the chapter by glorifying the गीता as the very teaching of the वेद itself, and when this glorification was done अर्जुन raised a doubt and as a way of clarification Lord कृष्ण introduced the topic of अवतार and then कृष्ण pointed out that if a person knows the nature of अवतार he can get liberation. ईश्वर अवतार स्वरूप ज्ञानात् एव मोक्ष भवति.

जन्म कर्म च मे दिव्यमेवं यो वेति तत्त्वतः ।

त्यक्त्वा देहं पुनर्जन्म नैति मामेति सोऽर्जुन ॥ ४-९॥

And thereafter कृष्ण said, even by this अवतार ज्ञानम् one can get liberation, most of the people are not interested in ईश्वर ज्ञानम्, they are only interested in कर्म which will produce material result. So therefore the choice is for the human being whether one should take to कर्म in search of कर्म-फलम् or whether he should go after ज्ञानम् and attain liberation, it is one's own choice. So मोक्ष is not भगवान्'s decision, मोक्ष is our decision. And कृष्ण's complaint, if He can complain, most people are not interested in the highest goal, they are interested in petty perishable result. With that the अवतार रहस्यम् topic is over.

Now from the 13th verse onwards, कृष्ण wants to enter into the main topic of the 4th chapter, viz., ज्ञान कर्म संन्यास topic. Here we have to remember the background of कृष्ण's teaching. अर्जुन was afraid of doing कर्म or action. Until now, he enjoyed performing action, especially his duties he enjoyed but in this battlefield he is not interested in doing कर्म because it is unpleasant duty. And therefore only अर्जुन wanted to escape from कर्म by taking to संन्यास. He said I better go away from the battlefield renouncing all my duties and consequent benefits, if any, then भैक्ष्यम् अपि वरम्, भैक्ष्यम् means a life of संन्यासि. Therefore अर्जुन's bug or अर्जुन's fear was कर्म and कृष्ण's main job in the गीता is taking out from अर्जुन the fear of कर्म.

This fear has to go away because one cannot escape from कर्म, as long as a human being is alive he will have to do some कर्म or the other, as कृष्ण said in the previous chapter,

even for one moment a person cannot remain without action, only you can change the type of action but you cannot avoid action. So whatever be your status in life ब्रह्मचारि, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ or संन्यासि or whatever be your social status ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य or शूद्र, you will have one job or the other to do. Suppose you go to ऋषीकेश and settle in an आश्रम and you know what they do, in every आश्रम they may welcome devotees to settle, but they have some आश्रम duties. So the only difference will be instead of doing household duties in चैत्रनौ, you can do आश्रम duties in ऋषीकेश with white clothes or orange clothes. Even ब्रह्मचारि are given duties. I met one ब्रह्मचारि and asked him what is your duty, he said: booking tickets of my गुरुस्वामि. So he is a very popular स्वामि and he travels all over and often and travel arrangements will have to be done, that is the duty of ब्रह्मचारि and he travels from place to place and books tickets and make sure that the स्वामि is received. So only thing is he is in yellow clothes and therefore called ब्रह्मचारि and he has got a set of duties and therefore कृष्ण wants to say, अर्जुन you cannot escape from कर्म, the cessation of कर्म is only at that time, you know what is that time, only at one time all the actions cease, what is that: Death. When other people will become more active to dispose the body off. Look at the whole creation, the smallest atom is active, violently electrons are going around the nucleus and the biggest solar system is active, the planets moving around the central Sun. Both at the micro and macro level, कर्म are inevitable, therefore better learn to leave with कर्म. But the problem is once we take up कर्म, along with कर्म comes lot of side effects, like certain allopathic medicines, medicines are good but side effects are sometimes worse than the benefit. Similarly, कर्म means that there is responsibility. The moment you take up a project, right from the beginning comes the anxiety that everything should go properly. So before there is an anxiety and during the performance there is a great tension and at the end often the result is not up to the expectation and therefore there is a consequent reaction. Therefore कर्म brings mental disturbance, before, during and after. So what to do with this problem. अर्जुन thought that the solution is give up the कर्म. कृष्ण wants to say that you cannot give up कर्म, therefore better learn to accept कर्म and of course the side effects are there and for those problems find out some remedy. Like you take antibiotics and along with that lot of vitamins tablets also you take. So the next question is: how can I remain in the field of action without being mentally disturbed. One method कृष्ण had already said in the 3rd chapter, viz., the कर्मयोग method and here कृष्ण in the 4th chapter is going to talk about the real solution and that is ज्ञानम् tablet. So ज्ञानम् is the only solution, because of which you can be active in the world, पश्यन् शृण्वन् स्पृशन् जिघ्रन् अश्नन् गच्छन्, at the same time you can remain unaffected by both the action as well as the results of action. So when you have got jack fruit, in केरल it is plenty, and when you cut the fruit, inside there is some kind of a sticky substance, milk white sticky substance and once your hand comes in contact with that it gets stuck. And generally the tendency is to take it out and get stuck here also. After some time, if you don't know how to handle all over the place the sticky thing will be there, you should know before entering the jack fruit, you should know what is the method of handling the jack fruit. You know what they do? In केरल only one solution for everything. Coconut oil. So they apply coconut oil to the hand and to the knife, then enter the jack fruit. So whatever you do, it will not get affected. In the same way कर्म is like the sticky substance,

Normally कर्म is sticky, it does create problems and what is the solution: apply the ज्ञानम् oil and with that ज्ञानम् insulation, you go into any type of कर्म it will not affect you. So this is going to be the topic, how to get knowledge and then work in the world without being affected by both responsibilities as well as the results of action. And to prove the efficacy of ज्ञानम्, कृष्ण wants to quote the example of Himself. कृष्ण does not want to quote the example of some saint who is in a cave. Then अर्जुन will say that I will also go and sit in the cave rather than fight. So whenever you want to run away, you will like to quote रमण महर्षि as example, very convenient. In our culture, the beauty is whatever you want to do, there are some examples. Even if you want to steal, कृष्ण परमात्मा is there as example. So therefore कृष्ण wants to quote an appropriate example and what is that example, he Himself. अर्जुन you look at me, right from birth I have problems. The birth itself is in jail. And there afterwards असुराs after असुराs and so many problems I faced and many of them were failures also. कृष्ण's many missions failed. When कृष्ण went to दुर्योधन to avert war, कृष्ण could not change दुर्योधन's mind, it was a clean failure. So therefore, कृष्ण faced all the ups and downs, कृष्ण says that in spite of all my activities I remain untouched by both the कर्म as well as the कर्म-फलम्. Look at the second line of the 13th verse, तस्य कर्तारम् अपि माम् विद्धि. अर्जुन I didn't escape from my duties, I did do all those कर्मs. What are those कर्मs we will see later, it is there in the first line, He says तस्य कर्तारम् अपि माम् – I remain a कर्ता, I remain involved in action. And the greatest action is the महाभारत action and he was sitting right in front of अर्जुन, अर्जुन is safe, कृष्ण became a shield. All arrows has to pass through कृष्ण first and कृष्ण has to get lot of arrows and his job is what and not a white collared job but a driver's job, he has to wash the chariot, he was to wash the horses, कृष्ण says I don't grumble, I am associated with all the कर्मs, but the beauty is what, तथा अपि अकर्तारम् माम् विद्धि – I have the knack of remaining inwardly अकर्ता. Inwardly अकर्ता means what: untainted by the action, unaffected by the action, I am able to keep safe distance. And not only distanced from कर्म, कर्म-फलम् also which he will say in the next श्लोक. कर्म also doesn't affect me, कर्मफल also doesn't affect me, therefore I am अव्ययम्, अव्ययम् means undisturbed. I am undisturbed, unchanged, निर्विकारः अहम् अस्मि. Then the question comes, what were the duties that the Lord was involved in? Of course, as कृष्ण an अवतार, he was involved in many कर्मस and also as the creator, the Lord कृष्ण says I had lot of duties, because I am the सृष्टि कर्ता, which is my duty; I am the स्थिति कर्ता, which is also my duty. In fact, to be a स्थिति कर्ता, you can understand the meaning, स्थिति कर्ता means the sustainer of the world, is it a very pleasant duty and Lord has got another duty, which is very very painful duty, what is that, after सृष्टि and स्थिति, what is next, लय कर्ता. Even though people may cry, don't go, don't go, etc. I have to take the job of लय कर्ता and destroy the things also. सृष्टि स्थिति लयम्, they are my duties I am involved in. Not only that, for the maintenance of the creation, for the maintenance of the harmony of the creation I also designed a way of life for human beings. As I had said before, any manufacturer will also have a manual published along with any gadget, how to use that particular gadget, similarly, भगवान् also having created the universe has given out a manual also called the वेदs. For whose use, for our own use. And what does it teach, how to live a life of harmony, in which both the individual as well as the society will grow. Often there will be a conflict between individual interest and social interest. The वेद has designed a particular lifestyle where both of them are equally taken care of. While I should contribute to the well being of the society, I have to take care of my own growth. It is all nice to say, service before the Self, the motto is very good but everybody wants the self-interest to be also taken care of and वेद accepts that we all have self-interest, we all want to personally grow and accomplish the goal of life and वेद accepts it as a legitimate desire and वेद presents a method by which one can take care of the self-interest, at the same time parallelly take care of the society's interest also and such a lifestyle is called वर्ण-आश्रम-व्यवस्था. वर्ण-आश्रम-व्यवस्था, व्यवस्था means the system, the design, the lifestyle, the plan consisting of वर्ण and आश्रम, वर्ण means the four-fold division of society. वर्ण-व्यवस्था means the four-fold division or classification of society, which is meant to take care of social harmony and social growth. When I say social, it means the totality. The community, the nation, the continent, the entire cosmos, is called वर्ण-व्यवस्था and the second is आश्रम-व्यवस्था, the scheme of four stages of life, which is meant for the individual growth, which has to parallelly take place along with social growth. I cannot grow and in the process harm the society, that is not correct and at the same time, I cannot contribute to the society and in the process harm myself and the family, like many people, who are interested in social service, they serve the society very well, giving all the time and often what happens is, they don't have time for their own children. And you interview the child and the child comes with such a complaint that my father or mother takes care of the whole world, but they don't give me even 2 minutes and they feel. That is also not correct. I have to contribute to the society but not at the cost of individual and family growth. Therefore आश्रम-व्यवस्था takes care of individual growth, वर्ण-व्यवस्था takes care of social needs. Of these कृष्ण is referring to the वर्ण-व्यवस्था here, कृष्ण does not talk about आश्रम-व्यवस्था. To see in brief what आश्रम-व्यवस्था is: It consists of four stages of life, ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम, गृहस्थ आश्रम, वानप्रस्थ आश्रम, संन्यास आश्रम. The very word आश्रम shows that in every stage we are growing or we are supposed to grow inwardly, spiritually, not merely financially. Earlier we had Rs.100 and now Rs.100 crores; it is not that. The word आश्रम is a place for inner growth, not outer material growth, thus the whole life is divided into four आश्रमs,

1) The first आश्रम is ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम, which is the stage of studentship. The stage of education in which one has to learn about the human goal and teachers in the गुरुकुल system taught that the human life consists of two goals, one is the material goal, we have to earn money, we have to all the things required for our life, like the food, clothing, shelter and entertainment. वेदs accept all the materialistic needs, a student has to be told that you have to earn, you have to grow you have to be prosperous, but during education the teachers should say that not only material growth is enough, parallely one should grow spiritually also. One has to spend time for inner growth, for which alone religious life becomes important, spiritual life becomes important and therefore, a balanced growth of outer and inner personality has to be stressed in the ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम itself. So therefore first stage the stage of learning where I know the goals of life, both material and spiritual goal.

2)Then comes the second stage of life, which is called गृहस्थ आश्रम, wherein the implementation begins. During student life there is no question of implementation because the life is spent in study and so much to study. And what is the implementation? The implementation is initially कर्मयोग प्रधान life, plenty of extrovert activities, because that is how a human being is born, an extrovert mind, plenty of desires, I want to accomplish this, I want to accomplish that. वेदs say: accomplish. People think that Hinduism talks about only renunciation. No, Hinduism talks about lot of materialistic accomplishments.

आवहन्ती वितन्वाना कुर्वाणाऽचीरमात्मनः । वासाँसि मम गावश्च ।
अन्नपाने च सर्वदा । ततो मे श्रियमावह । ... ॥ तैत्तिरीय उपनिषद् १-४-२ ॥

I should get lot of wealth, lot of clothes and lot of food and not only that I want name and fame, there is nothing wrong in seeking name and fame, वेद says

यशो जनेऽसानि स्वाहा । ॥ तैत्तिरीय उपनिषद् १-४-३॥

This is गृहस्थ आश्रम, in which one fulfills all his desires in a legitimate manner. And but what वेदs says, it should be in the background of a religious life, the day should start with religion and the day should be in the background of divinity and the day should end with religion means with the thought of Lord. Then if a person does such a कर्म, then gradually he finds that his desires become purified and refined, as they say enlightened selfishness, even in selfishness there is higher and lower and what is that, initially I was interested only in my well being but now my desires are such that not only I should be fine, but also in the process others also benefit.

सर्वे भवन्तु सुखिनः सर्वे सन्तु निरामया ।

The number of people who benefit from my activity is high, so सकाम कर्म प्रधान गृहस्थ आश्रम will gradually change to निष्काम कर्म प्रधान गृहस्थ आश्रम. This is the second stage, full of activity. And nobody can complain, because in the process he has served the society also through the पञ्च महायज्ञs which we saw in the 3rd chapter, do you remember?

- देव यज्ञः in which he contributes to religion,
- पितृ यज्ञः he contributes to his forefathers,
- ब्रह्म यज्ञः in which he contributes to the propagation of scriptures,
- मनुष्य यज्ञः, in which he contributes to the society, all types of social service and
- भूत यज्ञः through which he contributes to the environmental well-being.

Now only that concept has come but it is said in the वेदs itself long ago. भूत यज्ञः is environmental day, it's not just cleaning with the broomstick for a photo on that particular environment day and forgetting it, but for us environment day is not once a year but every day भूत यज्ञः is important. Whatever way you do just water one tree it is भूत यज्ञः. During summer they just put tub and then pour water so that the cows can get water, this is all what: भूत यज्ञः only. So thus in the second stage of life, I contribute enough to the society and in the process purify my mind.

3) And then the third stage is called वानप्रस्थ आश्रम, where I turn more inwards, I have been an extrovert throughout running here and there, बाह्य अन्तःकरणम् should turn अन्तर्मुख, this is called उपासना प्रधान आश्रम. गृहस्थ आश्रम is कर्म प्रधान आश्रम, the next stage is वानप्रस्थ आश्रम which is उपासना प्रधान आश्रम. So there he may go out of the house or he can remain in the house itself but predominantly he turns inwards, उपासना means what: meditation, जप.

4) And then comes the final आश्रम known as संन्यास आश्रम, wherein either he gets out of the house and takes to the 4th आश्रम or he may choose to remain in the family itself, but learns to detach from the family, takes to inner detachment by the understanding that life is that in which association will have to end in dissociation. I have entered, I have to come out. Relationship also I have entered into and then I have to grow out, I mentally hand over the responsibilities of every member of the family to ईश्वर. Until then, I said I am going to take care of this person, I am going to take care of this person, how long I can take care of, I assume that I am taking care of. Whether I succeed or not that is a different thing, in the name of taking care I am only spoiling it, that is a different matter. Assuming that I am taking care of, learn to hand over the responsibility to ईश्वर and this inward loosening is the संन्यास आश्रम. All for what, the more you have detachment, the more the mind is available for the last stage ज्ञानयोग प्रधान आश्रम.

So कर्म प्रधान आश्रम, उपासना प्रधान आश्रम, ज्ञान प्रधान आश्रम. If a person goes through all the four stages, what is the beauty, he has catered to his own growth also and in the process he has catered to the society also. Like a tree producing a fruit and fruit is eaten by us and the seed is thrown away, in that two things happen, trees take care of social service, what is social service, gives away fruit and tree also takes care of its personal interest, the seed is thrown and its own propagation also is taken care of. In the whole creation you study, it is very well designed, the आश्रम धर्म is also like that only. So this is आश्रम-व्यवस्था whether a person physically goes through these आश्रमs or not one has to inwardly, mentally go through all the four आश्रमs. This is the आश्रम-व्यवस्था.

The next व्यवस्था meant for social health and harmony is called वर्ण-व्यवस्था, which alone कृष्ण is referring in the first line, as चातुर्वर्ण्यम् मया सृष्टम्. अर्जुन, I am not only responsible for the आश्रम scheme of life, I myself am responsible for the वर्ण scheme also and how many वर्णs, means divisions or classes or groups and how many groups are there. Broadly speaking चातुर्वर्ण्यम्, four वर्णs are there, four class of people are there, which means the entire society can be categorized into four. What are those four? ब्राह्मण वर्ण, क्षत्रिय वर्ण, वैश्य वर्ण and शूद्र वर्ण, ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य, शूद्र, Now the next question is: what is the basis of division? This division can be seen from three different angles. This classification can be seen from three different angles and therefore the वर्णs also have to be seen from this particular angle. What are those angles?

1) The first one is character based division. गुणत्रय विभागः or गुण विभागः means स्वभाव or character or personality based classification. And to indicate that we use the expression, गुण-ब्राह्मण, गुण-क्षत्रिय, गुण-वैश्य and गुण-शूद्र.

2) And Similarly, we have got the classification based on the profession, कर्म, occupation and if I am going to look from this particular angle, then I will use the adjective कर्म, कर्म-ब्राह्मण, कर्म-क्षत्रिय, कर्म-वैश्य and कर्म-शूद्र.

3) Then again we can look from a third angle also, which is purely based on the birth. In संस्कृत, the word birth is translated as either जन्म or जाति, जाति means birth, जाति doesn't mean caste, जाति means birth, it is derived from the root, जन्, to be born and the abstract noun of जन्, जायते is जाति which means जाति based division or birth based division. And when you look at the division from this angle, we can again have जाति-ब्राह्मण, जाति-क्षत्रिय and जाति वैश्य and जाति-शूद्र.

Now we will try to understand the basis of each of these three divisions.

A) Let us take गुण-wise division, what type of character, norms we take to classify a person as a गुण-ब्राह्मण, which character makes a person गुण-ब्राह्मण, which character makes गुण-क्षत्रिय, we should have the norms. The शास्त्र talks about that based on the three basic गुणs - सत्त्व, रजस् and तमस्, this classification is done. The शास्त्र points out the गुण-ब्राह्मण is a person in whom सत्त्वगुण is dominant and रजोगुण is in the middle and तमोगुण is the least. So सत्त्व प्रधान स्वभावः ब्राह्मण स्वभावः, whoever he is, in whichever country he or she may be born, whichever religion he or she may belong to the सत्त्व प्रधान character. Now the question is how to know what is सत्त्व प्रधान character? Again the शास्त्र says we will be seeing this in the 14th chapter the word सत्त्व represents tranquility or the intellectual nature or intellectual efficiency. So intellectual efficiency, intellectual tranquility is indicated by सत्त्व, whereas रजोगुण stands for activity, the tendency to be hyper-active is represented by रजोगुण and तमोगुण represents the lack of both, there is neither internal activity, intellectual nor is there external activity, when will it be there, sleeping. when you are asleep, you are neither inwardly active nor outwardly active. In contemplation you are not outwardly active but the mind is alert, when you are running your physically active mind is not thinking, whereas तमस् represents the suppression of both the inner and outer activities and गुण-ब्राह्मण is one in whom सत्त्वगुण is प्रधान, more an introvert person.

B) And then the second possibility is this, रजोगुण is प्रधान, which means hyper-active and this रजोगुण is backed by सत्त्वगुण. रजोगुण is dominant, सत्त्वगुण is behind. Because of this and तमोगुण of course is the least, in fact, you can use the formula, रजोगुण-सत्त्वगुण-तमोगुण = RST. First variety SRT. So SRT is contemplative, thinking, intellectual, RST is very very active, extrovert, outgoing, but since the सत्त्वगुण is behind the रजोगुण and सत्त्वगुण stands for thinking, tranquility, nobility, etc., he is active, but selflessly active. Very active, but his activities benefits most of the society. He also may take but the society benefits more. So this is called क्षत्रिय स्वभावः or गुण-क्षत्रिय, RST.

C) Then the third स्वभाव is defined as RTS. Here also रजोगुण is dominant and therefore, not introvert, or contemplative, or quiet, but highly active, but रजोगुण is backed by what: तमोगुण and सत्त्वगुण is least. 70-20-10% you can put something like that. Here what happens is because of रजस् predominance this person is also highly active, but the problem is since सत्त्वगुण is the least, the activities are highly selfish activities. So thus selflessly-active is RST. Selfishly-active is RTS. In both रजस् is predominant, but the second one, second line is different. And according to शास्त्र, RST character is called क्षत्रिय गुण and RTS character represents वैश्य गुण. And whoever is selfishly-active, all such people are गुण-वैश्यs. We are not talking about his birth, we are not talking about his profession. Wherever he is born, whatever be the profession, as long as you are selfishly active, even if it is a religious activity in which you want to get more money. I took our students to अमरनाथ and some contractor is there, he said he will arrange everything, but cheated us. Took so much money and all the arrangements were very very poor, we have to stay in tents, for अमरनाथ route of 48 kms. There are no pucca buildings, therefore the tents have to be arranged, per tent he collected Rs.200-300 and every tent was leaking. And in the night rain came, when we had to sit on the bed which broke down, etc. Now it is a very noble service that they are doing, because we really want to go to pilgrimage and it is very good service, we don't know anything they are doing wonderful service, but if it is used; and they are all Brahmins by birth, the very association is a religious association. Don't ask me what I did, that is not the issue, what I want to say is, 'job is a religious job but the motive is profit', then they become गुण-वैश्य and

D) Then the last one is what, TRS. What is TRS? तमोगुण is dominant, रजोगुण is lesser and सत्त्वगुण is the least and such people will not be - since रजस् and सत्त्व are less thinking activity is also very minimum, that is skilled activity is also minimum, unskilled activity is also minimum, therefore most of the time either sleeping, or sleepy. And if there is some activity, it is only mechanical thoughtless activity. Unskilled people, mechanical people, they are all called गुण-शूद्र, whatever be the birth, whatever be their profession, such a character is called गुण-शूद्रता and such people are called गुण-शूद्र. So thus गुण-ब्राह्मण, गुण-क्षत्रिय, गुण-वैश्य and गुण-शूद्र, this is classification based on what: गुण.

Then what is the second classification I said: Profession based. We go by what the profession that person takes, not bothered about the character but purely profession wise. कर्म-ब्राह्मण, कर्म-क्षत्रिय, कर्म-वैश्य, कर्म-शूद्र.

A) Now the question is which profession comes under the first variety. The शास्त्रs says all the activities which are connected with the intellectual process, education, research, propagation, teaching, because all of them are connected with intellectual activity. Intellectual means both spiritual and non-spiritual अपरा विद्या as well as परा विद्या, including the scriptural study and propagation. The think-tank, the intellectual profession will come under what: ब्राह्मण कर्म and whoever has taken that profession is a कर्म-ब्राह्मण, all teachers come under कर्म-ब्राह्मण, whether it is वैदिक teacher, Vedantic teacher, physic teacher, chemistry teacher, they are all कर्म-ब्राह्मण.

B) And the second profession is administration, providing the infrastructure in the society, for all the activities, maintenance of law and order, defense, administration, government, so taking care of the social needs is called क्षत्रिय कर्म and whoever is in the field is called कर्म-क्षत्रिय, either in administration or in what you call defense field, which is connected with the orderliness, क्षत्रिय कर्म and कर्म-क्षत्रिय.

C) And the third profession that is possible is all activities which lead to the economic growth, economic maintenance of the society, which is very very important, produce wealth. In those days producing wealth means agriculture, now lot of industry, all of them, because without generating wealth, other people cannot survive. So this is वैश्य कर्म and whoever is involved in trade, in business, in agriculture, in all of them, they are all called कर्म-वैश्य.

D) And what is the 4th category. All the activities which help the other three, in the running of the other three departments, all the unskilled work, which has to help the कर्म-ब्राह्मण, कर्म-क्षत्रिय and कर्म-वैश्य, all these three people require skills, but they can plan, but it has to be implemented by someone, manpower is required, they don't plan but they implement, all the unskilled work which is done to implement the other three is called शूद्र कर्म and such people are called कर्म-शूद्र.

Thus कर्म-ब्राह्मण, कर्म-क्षत्रिय, कर्म-वैश्य and कर्म-शूद्र and the most important thing to be remembered is: a person who is a कर्म-ब्राह्मण need not be or may not be a गुण-ब्राह्मण, there is no rule that a कर्म-ब्राह्मण has to be a गुण-ब्राह्मण. I may be teaching वेद, then I am a कर्म-ब्राह्मण, but if I am interested in making profit, selling वेद, marketing वेद, then I am गुणतः वैश्य, कर्म-ब्राह्मण but गुण-वैश्य. Thus one and the same person may be two, based on the way of looking, This is कर्मतः classification and

Then the last one is, we don't see either गुण or कर्म, but purely based on birth, when a person is born to a Brahmin by parentage, because he is born to a Brahmin, if you are going to call him a

Brahmin, then it is called ब्राह्मण्यम्, जाति-ब्राह्मण. We don't know his character yet, and we don't know what profession he is going to take, but he is born to a Brahmin, therefore he is a जाति-ब्राह्मण, purely based on parentage. Thus we can have जाति-ब्राह्मण, जाति-क्षत्रिय, जाति वैश्य, जाति-शूद्र. And suppose a जाति-ब्राह्मण becomes an MLA. He is कर्म-क्षत्रिय, because he is in administration. A जाति-ब्राह्मण can become a कर्म-क्षत्रिय and suppose as an MLA, he takes lot of bribes, he uses it only to make money. There is no need to say! Suppose in India, all administrators are like that, then he is गुण-वैश्य; जाति-ब्राह्मण, कर्म-क्षत्रिय, गुण-वैश्य, three-in-one. Similarly, any number of permutation and combination, you can see. OK. Now the next topic we have to see whether there is any gradation among these four. What is the view of the शास्त्रs? The शास्त्रs say, when you look from the birth angle, जाति, there cannot be any gradation at all, all are to be equally respected, irrespective of one's जाति. Therefore जाति-ब्राह्मण, जाति-क्षत्रिय, जाति वैश्य and जाति-शूद्र, all are equal. Only when we differentiate based on जाति, there will be problems. That is what we are facing now. It is not the mistake of the शास्त्रs, but we are grading based on जाति, while this person knows the other person is जाति-ब्राह्मण, but he does अक्रमम्. So then therefore how can he get respect from the other person and therefore जाति cannot give a person superiority. Then what about कर्म wise division. शास्त्र says from कर्म angle also, all professions are equally important, the teachers are very important in a country, in fact, when the teachers are respected alone (they should become respectable that is a different thing), when they are respected alone the country will grow. And what about administration, this is also important, defense is also important, Pakistan came to Kargil or they will come straight to दिल्ली and then to चेन्नै. So defense is also important, then what about economic well being, that is also important and what about all the people to implement these things. So therefore कर्म-ब्राह्मण, कर्म-क्षत्रिय, कर्म-वैश्य and कर्म-शूद्र, all of them are equal. Therefore nobody can claim superiority, that is why पुरुषसूक्तम् compares these four professions as the four organs of the body,

ब्राह्मणो ऽस्य मुखम् आसीद् बाहू राजन्यः कृतः । ऊरू तदस्य यद्वैश्यः
पदभ्याँ शूद्रो अजायत ॥

To come here you require feet and thigh and then you require the hands for writing notes and then if there is nothing in the head, what is the use. Therefore all organs are important for the society, all the four classes are important, therefore there is no gradation. Then what about गुणतः, is there gradation? That we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 13-15

Lord कृष्ण is talking about वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म, especially the वर्ण धर्म as designed by him through the वेदs. And I was discussing this वर्ण धर्म in the last class, wherein we saw that the society according to वेदs is broadly classified into four divisions, ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य and शूद्र and I also said that this division can be seen from three different angles,

- One is purely from the standpoint of birth in which case we give the adjective जाति-ब्राह्मण, जाति-क्षत्रिय, जाति वैश्य and जाति-शूद्र, purely because of parentage.
- And thereafter we can again divide the society into four groups based on the type of profession that one takes and based on that we saw again we can have कर्म-ब्राह्मण, कर्म-क्षत्रिय, कर्म-वैश्य and कर्म-शूद्र. When a जाति-ब्राह्मण goes to rule the country he will be a जाति-ब्राह्मण but he will be a कर्म-क्षत्रिय, when he is doing business he is a जाति-ब्राह्मण but कर्म-वैश्य and Similarly, when one is going to do pure mechanical labor then he will come under कर्म-शूद्र, even though he may be a जाति-ब्राह्मण.
- And then I said that again we can look at the society from the angle of गुण or character. From the character angle when we see, we have got the four divisions गुण-ब्राह्मण, गुण-क्षत्रिय, गुण-वैश्य and गुण-शूद्र and when a person is a जाति-ब्राह्मण and becomes an MLA or MP or a minister, he is a कर्म-क्षत्रिय alright, but when he uses that position not for serving the society but to amass wealth, then character-wise he is a वैश्य, गुण-वैश्य he has become.

So thus, every human being can be seen from different angles and one person can be ब्राह्मण from all the three angles or he may be a ब्राह्मण from one angle, क्षत्रिय from one angle, वैश्य from one angle, thus all these three levels are there.

And thereafterwards I discussed the topic is there any gradation among these four. And in this discussion also we have to ask a question from which angle. And we point out that जाति wise gradation cannot be there. All are equal from the standpoint of जाति. Therefore जाति-ब्राह्मण, जाति-क्षत्रिय, जाति वैश्य and जाति-शूद्र, all of them are equal.

Then what about कर्म angle, occupational angle? That also I pointed out that all the occupations are equally important for the peace and progress of the society and we saw in the पुरुषसूक्तम्, beautifully delineated

ब्राह्मणो ऽस्य मुखम् आसीद् बाहू यजन्यः कृतः । ऊरू तदस्य यद्वैश्यः
पद्भ्याँ शूद्रो अजायत ॥

So the ब्राह्मण profession, कर्म-ब्राह्मण is one who is responsible for the growth and propagation of knowledge, not only spiritual knowledge, material knowledge also will thrive only when there are scientists, not only they increase the knowledge, they teach also. And that is why ब्राह्मणः अस्य मुखम् आसीत्. मुखम् stands for वाक्, वाक् stands for knowledge, knowledge is very important in a society. And not only we require people to propagate knowledge, बाहू यजन्यः कृतः, we require soldiers, we know very well, especially we are now suffering. Therefore a scientist can peacefully do research only when the country is protected from enemies. Therefore equally important is the soldier, including the administration, defense, all of them and therefore that is compared to बाहू, बाहू means the arms. So therefore the head for knowledge, hand is for defense. So society's head is गुण-ब्राह्मण and society's hand is गुण-क्षत्रिय and if the society must be strong and grow well, even for research we require money, so grants are required then only research can be done; many of the people in the West are able to grow in science only because they put lot of money. So without money, ब्राह्मण cannot do his job, क्षत्रिय cannot do his job and therefore money or wealth is important and whoever takes care of that part is called कर्म-वैश्य and therefore he is compared to what: ऊरू तत् अस्य यत्

वैश्यः, the thighs and kneecaps. Kneecaps are the important thing, because that is the weight bearing part and that is why by thirty or forty the first point of the body you become aware of it, oh oh, I was not aware of the kneecap. It has to carry the body, Similarly, the entire society is carried only because of prosperity, therefore कर्म-वैश्य is like the thigh of the society and then कर्म-शूद्र is like the legs of the society, the very movement of everything is possible only because of it. Thus पुरुषसूक्तम् presents these four वर्णस as the four organs of the society and once we look upon them as organs, then we will know every organ is important. Tell me, kidney is important or heart is important or brain is important. We will know when it fails, God bless let it not fail. Any organ fails, i.e., when there is tooth ache, they will say the tooth ache is the most painful one; then it is headache, they will say headache is the most painful one, everybody claims that organ is the worst affected, every part is equally important and therefore all the professions are equally important, therefore profession wise gradation cannot be there. If there is a कर्म-ब्राह्मण, priest doing पूजा in the temple, he is important, don't look down upon him or a professor, he is also important, a soldier is also important, business man is also important. And therefore कर्म-wise gradation we do not accept. जाति-wise gradation we do not accept and all our caste problems are only because जाति-wise gradation we tried to impose. Somebody wanted respect, just because he is a जाति-ब्राह्मण and then it will not work.

And then finally, we have to see गुण-wise. And शास्त्र says, गुण-wise there is gradation; character-wise, certainly there is gradation. A person of noble character is certainly superior, he has to be respected, he has to be worshipped, in fact, a truly noble man will not demand respect, people will automatically respect him. OK. Once we accept gradation from the standpoint of गुण, the question comes who is superior to whom.

The answer is simple, गुण-ब्राह्मण is certainly superior to गुण-क्षत्रिय, गुण-क्षत्रिय is certainly superior to गुण-वैश्य, गुण-वैश्य is certainly superior to गुण-शूद्र and therefore all the people should worship and respect whom, गुण-ब्राह्मण, whether he is कर्म-ब्राह्मण or not, whether he is जाति-ब्राह्मण or not, irrespective of his birth, irrespective of his profession, a गुण-ब्राह्मण should be respected. The next question is why? Why should we respect a गुण-ब्राह्मण? Very simple. गुण-ब्राह्मण is a सात्त्विक person, who is closest to Self-knowledge and liberation. गुण-ब्राह्मण is closest to knowledge, because he is सत्त्वगुण प्रधान, he has to attain knowledge and liberation, liberation means oneness with God, therefore गुण-ब्राह्मण is ईश्वर समीपे वर्तते.

Whereas गुण-क्षत्रिय is slightly farther, because गुण-क्षत्रिय performs selfless actions and therefore a man of selfless service is certainly superior, but he is still farther from गुण-ब्राह्मण because गुण-क्षत्रिय will have to become a गुण-ब्राह्मण and then attain knowledge. So therefore he is twice removed, from selfless activity he cannot get liberation, from selfless activity he has to come to Self-knowledge, for that he has to get सत्त्वगुण प्रधान, which stands for knowledge and enquiry, therefore he is twice-removed.

And गुण-वैश्य is still inferior because he is extremely active alright, but full of selfishness and therefore a selfishly active person is further removed from God and therefore he has to go three steps, from गुण-वैश्य he has to become गुण-क्षत्रिय, selflessly active and from गुण-क्षत्रिय he has to become contemplative minded and he has to attain oneness with Lord.

And गुण-शूद्र is the lowest rung in the ladder, because he has not even started the selfish activity, there is neither selfish activity, nor selfless activity, nor knowledge. If all these three are absent, that person is closer to whom, not God, not even human being, closer to animal, because there is neither selfish activity, nor selfless activity, nor knowledge and therefore that person is closer to animals and therefore he has to get converted into गुण-वैश्य, गुण-क्षत्रिय, गुण-ब्राह्मण and thereafter only ईश्वर ऐक्यम् and therefore शास्त्र says everyone should respect a गुण-ब्राह्मण and that is why in our पौराणिक stories also, we have got stories of नन्दनार् and other people, who were not at all ब्राह्मण and who were not even allowed in the temple, the temple priests were looking down upon him and then he stands out, then भगवान् comes in the dream of the priest and says, you may be a जाति-ब्राह्मण, a priest may be जाति-ब्राह्मण, a priest may be even a कर्म-ब्राह्मण, भगवान् says that नन्दनार् is गुण-ब्राह्मण and therefore you have to honor him, you have to bring him in and therefore you have to carry him on the shoulders and not only that in the 63 नायन्मार् stories you have to include him. Many of the saints in the 63 नायन्मार् category are not जाति-ब्राह्मण at all, they are all गुण-ब्राह्मण. So therefore what is the lesson to be learnt, जाति-wise gradation not accepted, कर्म-wise gradation not accepted, गुण-wise gradation accepted, and not only we have to respect a गुण-ब्राह्मण, the शास्त्र says that all of us should become गुण-ब्राह्मण, all of us should become गुण-ब्राह्मण, that is the शास्त्रिय injunction, therefore there is gradation.

Then the final topic in this that we have to discuss is, where do we have choice in this particular discussion, because we have got जाति-wise personality, कर्म-wise role we have and गुण-wise role we have, among these three, do we have choice at all, if at all there is choice in which field do we have choice. On enquiry we will find, at the level of the जाति we have no choice. Because we are already born. So in this जन्म, we have no choice at all, either we are जाति-ब्राह्मण or we are जाति-क्षत्रिय or we were जाति-वैश्य or जाति-शूद्र, we don't have choice, we cannot change from one जाति to another जाति. You may get certificate if you pay the requisite fee of Rs.10 or 15, whatever it is I am not talking about that, you cannot change the parentage and thank God, you need not change the जाति for liberation. I can happily accept my जाति, because my superiority or inferiority doesn't depend on जाति, because जाति-wise gradation is not accepted, therefore I accept my जाति and I am happy with my parentage, therefore there is no choice in जाति.

Then the next is, do we have choice with regard to गुण. Suppose I am a गुण-शूद्रs, can I become a गुण-क्षत्रिय, can I become a गुण-वैश्य, can I become a गुण-ब्राह्मण is the question. Fortunately शास्त्र says, with regard to character, we do have a choice. It is possible for गुण-शूद्र to become गुण-वैश्य, it is possible to become for a गुण-वैश्य to गुण-क्षत्रिय, character change is possible. In fact, all the साधनs prescribed in the शास्त्रs are only meant for this conversion. We are all born with तमो गुण प्रधान personality, because laziness is natural,

आलस्यम् हि मनुष्याणाम् शरीरस्थो महान् रिपुः ।

Laziness is the intrinsic nature of the physical body, शास्त्रम् itself has said, now you may be happy, OK, now wonderful, शास्त्रs support. And the शास्त्र gives the reason also. What is the reason? Because the body is made up of the तमस् अंश of the पञ्च भूतs. I don't know whether you remember तत्त्वबोध. We had seen that the सूक्ष्म शरीरम् is made up of the सत्त्व and रज aspects of the five elements whereas the स्थूल शरीरम् is made out of the तमस् aspects of the five elements and since it is the तमस् behind the body, body tends to be lazy. We have to get everything done by sitting at one place. If someone is going nearby we will ask them to get a glass of water; we will not get up. But the शास्त्रs says that you have to break the तमस् of the body, otherwise there will be no difference between you and an animal. Therefore our first progress is what, तमः प्रधान to रजः प्रधान, the lazy person should become active person. And therefore शास्त्र prescribes the entire ritualistic काण्ड, all the rituals are to break our तमो गुण. Because our rituals involve physical activity. Do repeated नमस्कार, sit, get up, do that and do this, etc., and that is why everyone says after all God is within me, my heart, why can't I think of the Lord closing the eyes, why should I get up! Because all such मानस पूजाs will appeal to us because we are lazy. So whenever your mind says stay, say No, get up in the early morning, go to temple, do प्रदक्षिणम्, etc., do नमस्कार, सूर्य नमस्कार, so all these षोडश-उपचार पूजाs, one of the important purposes is breaking तमो गुण, the laziness. So therefore, I switchover from तमस् to रजस् by कर्मयोग, कर्मकाण्डम् of the वेदs. And then from रजो गुण I should go to सत्त्वगुण प्रधान, because if I am highly active, it is very good alright, but I will never come to study the scriptures. No time for गीता class. Therefore, over activity, workaholism is also equally dangerous and therefore having contributed to the society to a great extent, I should learn to withdraw and be contemplative and to shift from रजो गुण to सत्त्वगुण, the scriptures prescribe उपासनाकाण्डम्. Varieties of meditation. So कर्मकाण्डम् is from तमस् to रजस् and उपासनाकाण्डम् for रजस् to सत्त्वगुण and once I have become सत्त्वगुण प्रधान, I am what: गुण-ब्राह्मण I have become, I am fit for the next level and what is the next level, सत्त्वगुण to निर्गुणः or गुणातीतः. That we will see in the 14th chapter and that switchover takes place because of ज्ञानकाण्डम् of the वेदs. So thus, कर्मकाण्डम् lifts me from तमस् to रजस्, उपासनाकाण्डम् lifts me from रजस् to सत्त्व, ज्ञानकाण्डम् lifts me from सत्त्व to निर्गुण or ईश्वर ऐक्यम् and therefore we all should become गुण-ब्राह्मण and गुणातीतः, therefore in गुण there is a choice and we should use the choice. In जाति, there is no choice.

And then what is the final one. कर्म. Do I have a choice with regard to कर्म? The profession or occupation. We say with regard to कर्म also we do have a choice. What kind of choice we have, we can choose the profession based on two types of norms, what are the two possible norms to choose the profession. The शास्त्र says either go by जाति, or go by गुण. When you want to choose a profession, either go by जाति, जाति means what: hereditary profession, a जाति-ब्राह्मण takes profession of ब्राह्मण, he becomes a कर्म-ब्राह्मण also, a priest's son becomes a priest. In fact, this was the one which was prevalent in India till very recently. They never had any problem with regard to choosing the profession, because whatever was the profession of the forefathers, if he is playing the नादस्वरम्, the son will also start doing the same. And a क्षत्रिय son just rules the kingdom, therefore one method is choosing the profession by heredity, जाति based कर्म and what is the second alternative, if you don't want to go by जाति, you go by the गुण, what type of personality I have, what type of inclination I have, based on that, I choose the profession, which one is better if you ask, each one has its own advantage and disadvantage. Suppose I choose the profession based on जाति, what are the advantages. First advantage is: I need not choose, because often the greatest problem is choosing. Even choosing the dress, for many people it is a great problem. Seeing this, this is good. Seeing that, that is good. So choosing is a pain. No headache at all if you choose profession of the parent, the greatest advantage is that this person is exposed to atmosphere, to that atmosphere even while he or she is in the womb of the mother. A musician's child has got a lot of advantage, because he listens to music even when he is in the womb of the mother. After birth, even the mother's lullaby will be music. If a mother without सङ्गीत knowledge sings a lullaby, even the sleeping child will get up!!! So therefore the child all the time listens to वैदिक chanting or to music, so therefore the child is exposed and therefore it is prepared for that profession, in fact, most of the professions require training from early age, many of the olympic champions, gymnastics and all. Suppose you want to take part in gymnastics. You say स्वामिजि, even sitting down and getting up itself is a big problem, what to talk of gymnastics. All the bones will break. Do you think that we can try gymnastics hereafter? You interview Nadia Comaneci, whatever be the name, at the 2nd age or the 3rd year, they start, even the body has to be prepared for that and therefore when the profession is hereditary, the preparation takes place in early ages, even the dietary disciplines are suited. Because in the tradition, ब्राह्मण's food was different, क्षत्रिय's food was different. If a person is going to the war-front he cannot survive on drumsticks and lady's finger! They have to eat this and that. So therefore even the food items they were different according to the profession taken. Hereditarily he is exposed and the food habits he takes right from the beginning and therefore he can smoothly can get into that profession, that is the advantage, but what is the disadvantage. The disadvantage is: by chance he doesn't like the profession, then it becomes a miserable life. I take a profession because it is the parent's profession and then I don't like that; say he chose to become a वैद्य, wearing धोति having a शिखा and wearing ear jewels on both sides,... so putting ear-rings on both the ears, all the other things he sees, he wants to be like that and he is a वैद्य, what to do, so therefore life can become miserable, if I don't like my job. So in जाति-wise choice of profession, the advantage is I can get training from very early stages of life but the disadvantage is if I dislike it might become miserable. But still in our tradition, जाति based profession was predominant. Even now also, very many places it is there. In तिरुपति and all, there are many jobs, which are done by hereditary people, including making that पात्रम् and all, it is a family profession.

Now the second option is what, I go by गुण, according to my inclination whatever profession I like I choose, in this also, there are advantages and disadvantages. What is the greatest advantage, if I take up a profession that I like, then there is no strain in the personality, in fact, I look for Mondays; and Sunday evenings if I don't like my profession, as Sunday evening approaches the thought that I should get up tomorrow morning, have to go to the office. Five days a week, 8 hours, in fact, bulk of your life is spent in your office and suppose you don't like, it creates a lot of psychosomatic problems, because there is a split personality I am doing what I don't like, you curse yourself that it is प्रारब्ध and that you are compelled to earn, etc. Therefore the greatest advantage is I enjoy what I do and doing what I enjoy is a very important necessity for a healthy life. If I have to lead a healthy life I should enjoy what I am doing. So that is an advantage, if I choose the profession according to my character. But what is the disadvantage in this, the disadvantage is I can never get an early training because, I do not know what type of inclination I will have, until late 7 years or 8 years, 9 years of 10 years, I don't know what exactly I like. Therefore the choosing the profession may become difficult, many people do not know what they like, they will say, it seems I like this and at other times it seems that also, etc. Someone says everything is OK, others say nothing is OK. That is a different case. So I am not very clear. So many parents give choice to the children to choose the subjects in the college, the children are not able to choose and they will go and ask the स्वामिजि, what can poor स्वामिजि do? So therefore it becomes a big headache to choose and not only that, invariably after you choose, the other thing will appear to be good, like in a hotel, after ordering the dish, you feel that the next table's dish seems to be better. After ordering उत्पम् (a sort of दोसा), you will like to have पूरी seeing it; ordering पूरी you would like to have उत्पम् and vice versa. Don't say I am talking from experience. It is only psychology. With regard to everything including a wife, or a husband. So therefore human mind has got lot of problems, so after choosing I may always say the other profession is better. 'The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence.' Therefore I again change the job. There are many people, even after 50 years, this and that and they come and therefore what is the disadvantage, I may not be able to choose clearly and I may not get the advantage of early training. So therefore, there is a disadvantage, so in both advantages are there, disadvantages are also there. Therefore शास्त्र says go by any one of them, but until recently, it was जाति based profession, now that is going far. And already violation had taken place in महाभारत and all. द्रोणाचार्य was a जाति-ब्राह्मण but he joined what, the महाभारत war. So there he took to what, a क्षत्रिय धर्म, even though he was born a Brahmin, he choose क्षत्रिय कर्म because somehow he had an inclination for that, अश्वत्थामा, द्रोण, all these people. Whereas विश्वामित्र was born a क्षत्रिय, but his inclination was what, ध्यानम्, तपस् etc., and he became the inventor of the greatest मन्त्र, i.e., गायत्री. He was not a जाति-ब्राह्मण. Therefore शास्त्र says, either go by जाति, or go by गुण, but only one warning the शास्त्र gives, let not money be the criterion for profession, let not money be the primary criterion for choosing the profession, once money becomes the criterion, all the people will run only for that profession where money comes, one time they were after bank, no work and more money, bankers please excuse. Not much work, but plenty of money and thereafter all the people will go to computer or something, all the people will go to one profession or the other and thus you will find that for certain professions too many people will be there and for certain there will not be many at all. Not only that wonderful arts and crafts and music and dance form, they will all die. In India in so many places, so many arts and crafts are there, hereditarily maintained, but all the people will drop and come to the city which is overloaded and then we will do all white collared job and all of them will die away. Therefore शास्त्र says let not money be the criterion, either go by your talents and choose or go by your जाति. And therefore, we have no choice in जाति, we have choice in गुण and we have choice in कर्म also. This is the वर्ण-व्यवस्था which is designed by the वेदs and the वेदs are supposed by given out by God and therefore as God कृष्ण tells here. हे अर्जुन! I am responsible for this design of चातुर्वर्ण्यम्. Therefore कृष्ण says here, look at the verse: चातुर्वर्ण्यम् मया सृष्टम् गुण-कर्म-विभागशः – I have created the four-fold classification of the society based on गुण and कर्म. कृष्ण here does not separately mention जाति because, during कृष्ण's time जाति and कर्म were identical because ब्राह्मण जाति, they took up only ब्राह्मण कर्म, only in कलियुग now, we have got division into three, at that time, a जाति-ब्राह्मण will be a कर्म-ब्राह्मण also, only गुण wise he might be different but now we have a जाति-ब्राह्मण, कर्म-क्षत्रिय, गुण-वैश्य or गुण-शूद्र, therefore कृष्ण refers to two, but जाति also is included in that, I have created, but this is totally an aside topic. What कृष्ण wants to convey here is totally different, the idea is: अर्जुन I am also very active therefore. So I am सृष्टि कर्ता, I am स्थिति कर्ता, I am लय कर्ता, I am वेदस्य कर्ता, वेदद्वार वर्ण-आश्रम धर्मस्यापि कर्ता, कर्ता means I am active all the time. But the beauty is what, even though I am full of कर्म or activity, the activities do not bind me. So कर्म does not bind me. What was अर्जुन's worry, कर्म binds a person. अर्जुन thought and therefore he was trying to escape from कर्म and therefore कृष्ण wants to say, अर्जुन don't try to escape from कर्म, you cannot escape from कर्म, because your गुण will not allow. As I said, not only you are क्षत्रिय by birth, you are क्षत्रिय by character also and if you go to forest, as I said, you will form an organization of forest dwellers and you will become the President or Secretary of FDA, Forest Dwellers Association. You will start something like that. So therefore you cannot give up कर्म, that is not in your blood, not only that, you need not give up कर्म also, you can enjoy peace in spite of कर्म. So तस्य कर्तारम् अपि माम् विद्धि, understand that I am the doer of all those activities, but at the same time, विद्धि अकर्तारम्, I am detached from all those कर्मs, I don't carry those कर्मs to my bed and worry that today it happened like this and what will happen tomorrow, etc., I disturb my sleep just thinking over those actions, therefore I am detached from those कर्मs and therefore only अव्ययम् – unaffected, I am असङ्गः. Continuing;

Verse No .14

न मां कर्माणि लिम्पन्ति न मे कर्मफले स्पृहा ।

इति मां योऽभिजानाति कर्मभिर्न स बध्यते ॥ ४-१४॥

न माम् कर्माणि लिम्पन्ति न मे कर्म-फले स्पृहा ।

इति माम् यः अभिजानाति कर्मभिः न स बध्यते ॥ ४-१४॥

कर्म-फले मे स्पृहा न (अतः) कर्माणि माम् न लिम्पन्ति । इति यः माम् अभिजानाति, सः कर्मभिः न बध्यते ।

कृष्ण says that कर्म cannot disturb me. Not only कर्म cannot disturb me, कर्म-फलम् also cannot disturb me. कर्म also can give tension and कर्म-फलम् can give regrets or disappointments, both are not there for me, therefore कृष्ण says: कर्माणि माम् न लिम्पन्ति, कर्मस do not affect me, by creating tension, anxiety and not only that, कर्मफले अपि मे स्पृहा नास्ति – I don't have even the concern for the results of action. So I am not concerned about the result of action. Because every action is going to create an appropriate result and the Lord will never do any injustice to me, because as they say: 'I always get what I deserve, never what I desire.' Therefore Lord is always just and therefore whatever has to happen according to कर्म, it will happen, therefore I am not concerned about the result. So here incidentally we have to note, planning for the result is one thing, worrying over the result is another. वेदान्त is never against planning, planning is extremely important, without planning you cannot do anything, even to travel by train or plane, you have to plan and purchase the ticket, therefore planning makes me efficient in the present, in fact, many people say that the research they say, you should take 85% or 75% of time, you should give for planning, give more time for planning, then implementation is easier and quicker, on the other hand, if you don't have plans, even if 100% time you give, things will go haywire. Therefore, वेदान्त is not against planning, because planning makes me more efficient in the present. And what is वेदान्त against? Worrying about the result - वेदान्त is against, because worrying over the result will not make me efficient in the present, it will make me only deficient in the present. Planning leads to efficiency, worrying leads to deficiency, you become inefficient. How do you know whether I am planning or worrying? Many have confusion even over this. Somebody said, ‘many people are worrying while they think they are planning.’ Actually what is happening is worrying. How do you know? Very simple. Planning is a deliberate action which you can fix and do at a particular time, whereas worry is not a deliberate action, it is a helpless happening, mechanical reaction. So planning is deliberate action, worrying is mechanical reaction, that is why you can never deliberately worry fixing up a time. Suppose you want, as you won’t to be able to do in office, so daily between 6.45 and 7.15 I will finish all the worry job as part of my daily routine, and in that itself, each of 5 minutes’ worry on each member of my family, so therefore eldest son, 6.45. to 6.50, then the next daughter and more time for the husband/wife, 10 minutes, can you do that, you can never plan and worry, it happens, whereas planning is a deliberate action and therefore plan. But once I have planned and decided to implement, thereafter wards, if after booking the ticket some shutdown is declared, what can you do? The train may not run at all, so therefore worrying whether the train will go or whether it will reach and then I will get the connecting train or flight, it is not in my hands, I should put the itinerary properly and thereafter wards कर्मणि एव अधिकारः ते मा फलेषु. Therefore we should not mistake the teaching, planning is not prohibited, worrying is. Therefore कृष्ण says, न मे कर्मफले स्पृहा, I am not concerned even about the outcome of the महाभारत war and why कृष्ण has escaped from this problem. So what is the special medicine he has taken? I said in the last class about how to cut the jack fruit and things to be done before that, oil your hands and the knife with coconut oil and therefore before going in the rain have an umbrella, raincoat, you don’t stop the rain but you don’t get wet. Similarly, here also, what is the raincoat here, ज्ञानम् raincoat, हे अर्जुन! I have the knowledge, knowledge is power, knowledge is defense, knowledge is the best remedy for all the problems. Even physical problems can be solved by knowledge, because knowledge increases our mental health and many of our problems are psychosomatic diseases, when mental health is improved, physical health will improve and therefore my weapon is ज्ञानम्, that is why Lord विष्णु also holds what चक्रम्, सुदर्शन चक्रम्, दर्शनम् means ज्ञानम्, सुदर्शनम् means right knowledge, so with the चक्रम् of सुदर्शनम्, I destroy the संसार, अज्ञानम्, अज्ञानं जन्य अध्यास, अध्यासं जन्य कर्म, कर्मं जन्य पुण्य-पाप, पुण्य-पापं जन्य सुख दुःखम्, everything I cut and what कृष्ण says is: this सुदर्शनम् चक्रम् is not uniquely mine, you can also get this सुदर्शन चक्रम्, ज्ञानम्. So कृष्ण says here माम् यः इति अभिजानाति – so the one who knows this secret of mine, what is that secret, freedom in spite of activity. Not freedom from activity, not freedom from responsibility, but freedom in spite of responsibility. This secret, whoever discovers this secret. What is that ज्ञानम्? कृष्ण has not yet said, ज्ञानम्, ज्ञानम् he has been saying, but what is that ज्ञानम् we have not discussed, that is kept in suspense by him, so that you will continue to come to the class. The knowledge will be discussed from verse no.18 to 25. There we will get the secret knowledge known as Self-knowledge, so the one who has discovered this secret knowledge, सः कर्मभिः न बध्यते – even such a ज्ञानि is also not bound by कर्म, just as भगवान् is not bound by his कर्म, ज्ञानि is not also bound by his कर्म. Continuing;

Verse No .15

एवं ज्ञात्वा कृतं कर्म पूर्वैरपि मुमुक्षुभिः ।

कुरु कर्मैव तस्मात्त्वं पूर्वैः पूर्वतरं कृतम् ॥ ४-१५॥

एवम् ज्ञात्वा कृतम् कर्म पूर्वैः अपि मुमुक्षुभिः ।

कुरु कर्म एव तस्मात् त्वम् पूर्वैः पूर्वतरम् कृतम् ॥ ४-१५॥

एवम् ज्ञात्वा पूर्वैः मुमुक्षुभिः अपि कर्म कृतम् । तस्मात् त्वम् पूर्वैः पूर्वतरम् कृतम् एव कर्म कुरु ।

Here कृष्ण says this secret knowledge, Self-knowledge was not that secret, all your forefathers possessed this knowledge. I am not giving you a unique knowledge, this method has been used, employed by your forefathers successfully. Therefore he says पूर्वैः मुमुक्षुभिः एवम् ज्ञात्वा – all your forefathers who were seekers, एवम् ज्ञात्वा – they also gained this Self-knowledge, in this manner, as I had discussed before, as I will be discussing later also, the Self-knowledge has been gained by your forefathers. And what did they do, they did not run away from their responsibilities, just as you are trying to run away, they didn't do that, they remained where they were, they were गृहस्थs, they were ruling the kingdom, but they were not affected, therefore कर्म कृतम्, they were extremely busy, but inside they were cool like cucumber. They had that inner peace, in spite of external activities and if your forefathers can do that, why can't you also get the same medicine. Therefore कृष्ण says: तस्मात्, therefore त्वम् अपि कर्म एव कुरु – you also perform your duties, remain in गृहस्थ आश्रम, don't think of संन्यास, even though whenever problems comes and you feel that you have to run away, even though whenever problems comes we tend to escape, if at all one takes to संन्यास, he should take संन्यास when problems are not there, then alone it is a true need for knowledge, escapist संन्यास is not accepted and therefore अर्जुन remain where you are and do कर्म, what type of कर्म, पूर्वैः पूर्वतस्मै कृतम् – the same कर्म, which your forefathers performed. So here कृष्ण is prescribing जाति based profession, In fact, all the स्मृतिः ग्रन्थs prescribe जाति based profession only, which is now going. which is not followed now, but कृष्ण is talking about, based on the practice prevalent in those days. More we will in the next class.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 16-18

अर्जुन wanted to escape from his स्वधर्म which is in the form of unpleasant action, which involves killing his own kith and kin. And therefore he found कर्म as a cause of mental worry. And also it is said in the scriptures: कर्मणा बध्यते जन्तुः, by action a person is bound. And not only it is scripturally true and it appears to be true from our own experience also. Whenever we take up any action there is a strain in our personality because whether we will be able to successfully complete that action we do not know and therefore there is lot of tension, whether we will win the world cup or not. So before the undertaking starts there is a lot of anxiety, the result of the action is not totally dependent on our effort even though we do have a lot of power, even though we can influence the result of action, we cannot totally control the result of action, it is determined by so many factors, one team entering the final, seems to be dependent on other teams' victory and defeat. So often our results seems to depend upon so many other factors over which we don't have control at all and therefore the future is eternally unpredictable giving us anxious moments and when the future comes and it is not to our expectations, there is a lot of frustration and depression. Thus कर्म seems to be a cause of worry, before it starts, during its presence and later when it gets converted into its consequence. And अर्जुन experiences this intensely in the महाभारत field, because it involves his own relatives and therefore अर्जुन wanted to escape from कर्म and कृष्ण wants to teach अर्जुन that one cannot escape from कर्म. Maximum you can do is you can change the कर्म from one action to another action and often you find that when you change the field of action, it ends up like from the frying pan into the fire. So often the later one seems to prove that the previous one is better, like the Ambassador car they say, every later edition seems to bring glory to the previous one. Similarly, often we change the servant and new servant proves that the old servant was an angel. Only some stealing he was doing but this man does many other things. Maximum you can do is to change the action, you cannot give up the action. Therefore कृष्ण wants to teach अर्जुन how to be involved in action, but at the same time not to be affected by the action by insulating my mind from the tyrannies of the action and for that insulation कृष्ण wants to point out that there is only one ointment, like applying Odomos to escape from the mosquitoes. Similarly, from the कर्म mosquitoes you have got only one ointment and that is called ज्ञानम्. And apply that ज्ञानम् and enter into कर्म from which you can never escape and once you insulate yourselves not only कर्म will not disturb you, कर्म will begin to appear as a game or a sport. As I had given the example before, when you don't know swimming, pool will become a threat to you, it can destroy you, you can end up in a watery grave if you don't how to swim, but if you know how to swim, the very same swimming pool not only will not be a threat, it will become a sporting ground also, you enjoy. Similarly, कर्म is like a swimming pool. By itself it is neither a cause of anxiety nor a pleasure, but it all depends upon what type of preparation I have. For a ज्ञानि, कर्म is a sport; for an अज्ञानि, कर्म is a burden. And that is why when भगवान् comes down and does lot of activities we give the special name लीला, even destroying powerful enemies for भगवान् is a लीला, for a ज्ञानि every action is a लीला, लीला means a sport. And कृष्ण wants to point out that this method of insulting oneself from action is not only available for the Lord, it is available for every human being, it's only you have to choose to use that and therefore he wants to introduce ज्ञानम् as a protection from the tension caused by कर्म. And कृष्ण says that this method is not a new method that I am introducing, हे अर्जुन! this method has been used by your own forefathers, एवम् ज्ञात्वा कृतम् कर्म पूर्वैः अपि मुमुक्षुभिः and they have found it useful, why can't you use the good-old-method? So एवम् परम्परा प्राप्तम्, so कृष्ण uses the same technique, your forefathers all these people have used, why can't you use the same method. Continuing;

Verse No .16

किं कर्म किमकर्मेति कवयोऽप्यत्र मोहिताः ।

तते कर्म प्रवक्ष्यामि यज्ज्ञात्वा मोक्षयसेऽशुभात् ॥ ४-१६॥

किम् कर्म किम् अकर्म इति कवयः अपि अत्र मोहिताः ।

तत् ते कर्म प्रवक्ष्यामि यत् ज्ञात्वा मोक्षयसे अशुभात् ॥ ४-१६॥

‘किम् कर्म, किम् अकर्म’ इति अत्र कवयः अपि मोहिताः । तत् कर्म ते प्रवक्ष्यामि, यत् ज्ञात्वा अशुभात् मोक्षयसे ।

So कृष्ण wants to present ज्ञानम् or knowledge as the safeguard or the armor and once you say ज्ञानम् is the solution for the problem of tension, naturally the question will come, ज्ञानम् about what, because you can never refer to ज्ञानम् without referring to the object of knowledge. Therefore what knowledge do I acquire to protect myself? And कृष्ण wants to say, it is the knowledge of the nature of कर्म. What exactly is action, where does it arise, to whom does the action belong? We have been taking the action for granted. We see that we are doing lot of actions. Therefore we say I am doing the action. Suppose if you think that action belongs to you, then the question comes what exactly do you mean by the word “you” or “I” and therefore we have to get into the basic enquiry of what is the nature of कर्म and where does कर्म arise. This enquiry is important because, we have taken for granted, just as we have been taking many things for granted. For generations and generations we thought that the earth is stationary and the Sun is going around the earth. We had a geocentric system and at one time in history, Copernicus or somebody said that it is a heliocentric universe, Sun is in the centre and earth is moving around. Many people could not accept. Even the Church didn't accept and even the scientist was prosecuted, harassed and only recently it seems they accepted him, they forgave him, it was told many centuries back and even recently there was a news item. So when everybody thinks, taking for granted that the Sun is going around the earth, because that is what we are seeing and in the newspaper also regularly sunrise and sunset timings even now we talk of and suddenly one person comes and tells the truth that sun does not rise and set but it is earth that is moving round in the opposite direction, first time it is rejected. And after long time only we know that we are taking that for granted, we never enquired into, like the apple falling, still what we do, we eat immediately and give a belch. But only a rare scientist thinks that why should it fall down and not go up. Thus In life, many things we have taken for granted and one thing we have taken for granted is the nature of action. What is action and to whom does action belong? And our basic misconception is that I am doing all actions and कृष्ण wants to point out that अर्जुन you are not doing any action at all. And when we listen to that, we are going to be as much surprised as the generation which first listened to the news that the Sun does not go round and then we have to keep on listening and after 25 years perhaps we will say, not that we accept it, perhaps it may be true. For those 25 years of वेदान्त, after studying that for 25 years, conviction is going to come and therefore कृष्ण says to अर्जुन कर्म स्वरूप ज्ञानम् एव परिहारः, if you want to get out of tension caused by your duties and responsibilities in life, you should know exactly what is the nature of कर्म. And don't think that it is an easy subject, even great philosophers have analyzed this and after a long analysis they have come to wrong conclusion, it is such a topic and therefore अर्जुन I want to discuss that topic. So he says कवयः अपि मोहिताः, कवयः means philosophers, great thinkers, even great thinkers are confused, अत्र with regard to this subject matter and what is that subject matter, किम् कर्म – what exactly is action and किम् अकर्म – what exactly is actionlessness or inaction. So what is action, what is inaction, इति अत्र कवयः अपि, कवि does not mean a poet, कवि means a पण्डित, even scholars are deluded and therefore what I am going to teach, तत् तस्मात्, therefore being a subtle subject, ते कर्म प्रवक्ष्यामि – I shall deal with the topic of the nature of कर्म and this discussion is not merely of academic interest alone, this is not an arm-chair philosophy subject, but it has got a practical value in life also and what is the practical value, यत् ज्ञात्वा मोक्षयसे – by gaining this knowledge you will get freedom. So you will be freed, you will be released from what, अशुभात् – from all types of pains in your mind, अशुभम् means अमङ्गलम्, अमङ्गलम् means pains or sorrows, caused by anxiety, tension, worry and jealousy also, because when they say in the last ball, (being cricket season that example comes), in the last ball one team is on the top but the other team is at the bottom. Thus one and the same कर्म, gives one person the extreme happiness, another person or group of person extreme sorrow also, so that means what: whether I should be happy or unhappy, I don't seem to have any control at all, that means the world seems to have the switch board of my happiness. If they switch on, we are on. As somebody nicely said: Do you want to be a thermometer or a thermostat? What is the difference between a thermometer and a thermostat? A thermometer is that which goes up and down depending upon the surrounding, the surroundings determine the condition of the thermometer, whereas a thermostat is that which controls the environment. ज्ञानि is one who is the master of the situation, an अज्ञानि is one who is mastered by, who is enslaved by the situation and therefore by gaining this knowledge you are released from the tyranny of the surrounding and the people, you are like a thermostat, unaffected by both कर्म as well as the कर्मफलम्; you can fight the महाभारत war, coolly. अशुभः means संसार, you will be free from संसार, Continuing;

Verse No .17

कर्मणो ह्यपि बोद्धव्यं बोद्धव्यं च विकर्मणः ।

अकर्मणश्च बोद्धव्यं गहना कर्मणो गतिः ॥ ४-१७॥

कर्मणः हि अपि बोद्धव्यम् बोद्धव्यम् च विकर्मणः ।

अकर्मणः च बोद्धव्यम् गहना कर्मणः गतिः ॥ ४-१७॥

कर्मणः (तत्त्वं) हि अपि बोद्धव्यम्, विकर्मणः च (तत्त्वं) बोद्धव्यम्, (तथा) अकर्मणः च (तत्त्वं) बोद्धव्यम्, कर्मणः गतिः गहना ।

Not only I am going to teach you about कर्म, I will also teach you two allied subjects which go along with the topic of कर्म and I will teach you three things: what are they:

- कर्मणः अपि बोद्धव्यम् – you have to clearly know what is the nature of कर्म and
- विकर्मणः च बोद्धव्यम् – विकर्म means विपरीत कर्म, wrong action, निषिद्ध कर्म, prohibited action is called विकर्म and
- अकर्मणः च बोद्धव्यम् – you also should know what is अकर्म, otherwise known as inaction.

So therefore action, inaction and wrong action, so all these three you have to thoroughly understand, without knowing that you will have problem only, so ultimately knowledge is power and why you should take the initiative to know, because this knowledge will not automatically come to you, you have to work to gain that knowledge and therefore he says: कर्मणः गतिः गहना, गहना means subtle, गतिः means nature, in this context गतिः means स्वरूपम्. In संस्कृत one and the same word will have different meanings in different context. The word गति has several meaning, in this context, it means स्वरूपम् or nature and so कर्मणः गतिः means the nature of the action is गहना, extremely subtle, that means what: without गुरु शास्त्र उपदेश you can never understand. Up to this कृष्ण gives the introduction to ज्ञानम्, as an insulating material and now hereafter he is going to enter into that knowledge. What is that knowledge? He gives in the next verse.

Verse No .18

कर्मण्यकर्म यः पश्येदकर्मणि च कर्म यः ।

स बुद्धिमान्मनुष्येषु स युक्तः कृत्स्नकर्मकृत् ॥ ४-१८॥

कर्मणि अकर्म यः पश्येत् अकर्मणि च कर्म यः ।

सः बुद्धिमान् मनुष्येषु सः युक्तः कृत्स्न-कर्म-कृत् ॥ ४-१८॥

यः कर्मणि अकर्म पश्येत् अकर्मणि च यः कर्म (पश्येत्) सः मनुष्येषु बुद्धिमान् सः युक्तः, (सः) कृत्स्न-कर्म-कृत् ।

From the 18th verse up to the 24th verse, कृष्ण deals with knowledge which is a solution for all human problems and this portion is the main topic of the 4th chapter, therefore this is an extremely important portion, 18 to 24. Not only in the 4th chapter, in the entire गीता this portion is important and in this portion कृष्ण condenses the teachings of all the उपनिषत्s and because of this portion and similar portions alone, the भगवद्गीता is called an उपनिषत्, इति श्रीमत् भगवत्-गीतासु उपनिषत्सु, if you call गीता as an उपनिषत् it is because of this subject matter only. कर्मयोग is not the essence of उपनिषत्, even भक्ति is not the essence of उपनिषत् and even अष्टाङ्ग योग or meditation is not the essence of उपनिषत्, the essence of उपनिषत् is ज्ञानम् and that ज्ञानम् is found in a few places in the गीता, in the 2nd chapter we saw in verse no.12 to 25 and the next place where कृष्ण gives the crux of the उपनिषत् is this portion, 18 to 24 and here also the 18th verse is considered a very very significant verse and not only significant verse, very difficult to understand also. A complex verse because कृष्ण uses the language of contradiction to make us think well. Otherwise we will superficially listen to गीता, looking here and there. So we should not listen with 5% mind, we should apply ourselves totally, therefore कृष्ण uses the language of contradiction. If you translate this verse literally it will read funny. So the first line says, the wise person sees action in inaction. Wise person sees action in inaction and the wise person also sees inaction in action, what did you understand? So the wise person sees action in inaction and the wise person sees inaction in action, here what is the contradiction? If you see a thing wrongly then can you be a wise person? Who is a wise person? If I say the clip is the clip, I am wise, that is knowledgeable. If I say, this is a book, then I am ignorant person. So therefore when I see a thing wrongly then I can never be called a wise person, whereas कृष्ण says, the one who sees action in inaction, he sees rightly or wrongly, in action what should we see, one who sees action in action must be having the right vision and I should see inaction in inaction, that must be the right vision. But कृष्ण says, the one who sees action in inaction and inaction in action, that person is wise. Thus if you translate this verse literally it doesn't seem to convey anything and therefore it requires a probing a little bit. And that is why all आचार्यs like शङ्कराचार्य writes a commentary very very elaborate and significant commentary on such verses. In all other श्लोकs, कर्मयोग and all, शङ्कराचार्य writes two lines or three lines. What is there to talk about? But when such verses come, शङ्कराचार्य and other आचार्यs write very beautiful and significant commentary and because of that alone we are able to understand also. So these verses are called the knotty verses of महाभारतम्, so I have told you before, when व्यासाचार्य wanted महागणपति to become the scribe, महागणपति put a condition that once I start writing I cannot stop. So therefore you have to continuously dictate, if you stop in between I will go away. Now व्यासाचार्य is not reading from a book, he has to compose and dictate because he is the author, so व्यासाचार्य said I will do that, but I will put another condition, what is that: when you copy that you should know the meaning and copy down. Normally whoever takes dictation, generally, they have to be thoughtless, that is why generally whenever renunciation comes they write remuneration. When I dictated to a student, renunciation alone gives मोक्षः, he transcribed it as remuneration alone gives मोक्षः, why because he cannot think. So therefore व्यासाचार्य put a condition that you should know the meaning. What he used to do is, he composes many verses and when it is exhausted, towards the end he composes a knotty verse, (you can have both the spellings, knotty as also naughty!). It is called ब्रन्थ ब्रन्थि. And therefore when such a verse comes, विनायक has to stop and think of the meaning, because without knowing the meaning he should not write, by the time विनायक thinks and understands, next 1,000 verses are ready. Because व्यासाचार्य, व्यासाय विष्णुरूपाय, and गीता being part of महाभारतम्, in गीता also there are few knotty verses, one verse was in the 2nd chapter,

या निशा सर्व-भूतानाम् तस्याम् जागर्ति संयमी ।

यस्याम् जाग्रति भूतानि सा निशा पश्यतः मुनेः ॥ २-६९॥

This is a knotty verse, without शङ्कराचार्य's commentary difficult to grasp. And here we have got a knotty verse,

कर्मणि अकर्म यः पश्येत् अकर्मणि च कर्म यः । ... ॥ ४-१८॥ and we have got another knotty verse in मत्-स्थानि सर्व-भूतानि न च अहम् तेषु अवस्थितः ॥ ९-४॥

न च मत्-स्थानि भूतानि पश्य मे योगम् ऐश्वरम् । ॥ ९-५॥

कृष्ण uses the language of contradiction. He says 'the whole world is in Me' and in the next line He says 'there is no world in Me'. What will you understand? Thus the literal translation, wise man sees action in inaction and he also sees inaction in action. So what does he want to convey, we should understand. This can be clearly understood when we know the basic teaching of वेदान्त that every individual consists of two parts in his personality. Every individual, according to वेदान्त, which is the basic teaching of the वेदान्त, consists of two parts, one is the body-mind-complex part called अनात्मा, अनात्मा अंश or देह अंश and the second part is the Consciousness-principle, which pervades the body-mind-complex because of which alone the body-mind-complex is sentient. Just as this bulb is not an individual entity, there is a bulb and filament, bulb may be compared to the स्थूल शरीरम्, filament may be compared to the सूक्ष्म शरीरम् and you think that the bulb and filament together is giving light, but other than the bulb and the filament there is another invisible principle because of which alone bulb has become a source of light, which we know as the electricity principle. Similarly, according to वेदान्त, every individual has got a bulb and filament, the स्थूल, सूक्ष्म शरीर complex called देह or अनात्मा and there is another principle, another invisible principle like the electricity which is inherently pervading this body-mind-complex, as even the electricity pervades the filament. And the electricity is an independent principle which continues even when the bulb is broken or fused. When the bulb is fused the electricity is not gone, if there is any doubt, you can check and get instant मुक्ति, विदेह मुक्ति you will get. It is invisible but it is there because of whose presence alone, the bulb is a bulb, श्रोत्रस्य श्रोत्रम्, bulbasya bulb. Similarly, वेदान्त says, the body-mind-complex is blessed by the Consciousness-principle. Even though the bulbs are many in number, the flowing electricity is one, which is not only in every bulb, it is in between also which you don't see, it's passing through the wires you don't see, but it is there, but where there is a medium of manifestation, the electricity expresses in the form of light. Similarly, Consciousness like electricity, very careful, Consciousness is not electricity, OK, don't think that whenever power goes, Consciousness also goes. So therefore it is like electricity and you are all, you and this body are all like bulbs and blessed by the touch of Consciousness, the body is live and sentient and capable of transacting with the world. This Consciousness-principle is called आत्मा, the body-mind-principle is called अनात्मा, the Consciousness-principle is called देही, the body-mind-principle is called देह, the Consciousness-principle is called the आत्मा and the body-mind-principle is sometimes called अहङ्कार also; the ego and the Self. And about this आत्मा and अनात्मा we elaborately studied in the 2nd chapter, it will be very very fine if you remember all the details. So there we saw that आत्मा is one, अनात्माs are many, just as electricity is one and bulbs are many and आत्मा is all-pervading, whereas अनात्मा is limited like that five or six differences we saw. One is नित्यम्, another is अनित्यम्; one is एकम्, another is अनेकम्; one is निर्गुणम्, another is सगुणम्; one is निर्विकारम्, another is सविकारम्; various differences we saw and I will request you to go through the 2nd chapter. Then this whole section you will remember well and there while talking about the differences, one difference we emphasized which is going to be emphasized in this portion also. And what is that?

1) The Consciousness-principle, the आत्मा being all pervasive like space it cannot do any action, because action involves movement. Any action, physical action involves physical movement, mental action involves mental movement which is called thought-movement, therefore, चलनात्मकम् कर्म and whatever cannot move cannot do action, that is why this space cannot do any action, traveling from one place to another, air can move, fire can move, water can move, earth can move and therefore they can do lot of actions, whereas the space is अकर्ता and therefore the first lesson that कृष्ण wants to emphasize in this verse is that आत्मा, the awareness principle, is ever action-less, it is ever free from कर्म. In fact, it need not renounce कर्म, why it need not renounce कर्म, why it need not renounce कर्म, it should have to do so. Suppose I say, I gave up ten acres of land and then you ask me, when did you possess it, I never had it, you can give up only what you have. If I can give up what I don't have, I will donate this land to people, just take it I will say. So therefore giving up is possible only when I possess and कृष्ण wants to say that the Consciousness-principle is ever free from कर्म.

2) Then the second lesson that कृष्ण wants to give is that the body-mind-complex otherwise called अहङ्कार or ego, can never be free from action, because it is a finite entity and it is a material entity, it is made up of matter. If you are science student, it contains chemicals, it is varieties of chemicals joined together, that is why you call it bio-chemistry, why bio-chemistry, because body consists of chemicals, it is material or if you study it scripturally, the body is made up of five elements, therefore it is पाञ्च भौतिक शरीरम् and matter is in eternal motion. While Consciousness is eternally motionless, matter is in eternal motion and that is why even when I see a motionless object, like wall, superficially seeing it may appear motionless, but scientifically if you study it is nothing but atom bundle and atom consists of neutrons and protons and electrons and constantly electrons are in motion, so we think that it is motionless, but at the subtle level it is. So one person, Fritjof Capra, he wrote the Tao of physics, in that book he has given the picture of नटराज's Eternal Dance. नटराज is eternally in dance. How do you know that he is eternally in dance? If you look at his जटा, it is always parallel to the ground. When will the जटा be parallel to the ground? It is possible only under one condition, when it is fiercely moving, that is why whether it is in नटराज picture or idol, the hairs are in the parallel level, indicates what: नटराज stands for the विश्वरूप, the universal form and he gives the explanation, in the picture itself, protons, neutrons, matter, etc. It is a wonderful study by a westerner, but he is influenced by our teaching so beautifully well. So therefore, you take this smallest atom, it is in perpetual motion, you take the biggest galaxy, the earth is itself moving 1,000 miles per hour or something and it is moving around the Sun at 60,000 miles per hour, we are thinking that it is still, but we are also rotating at 66,000 miles per hour. And the whole galaxy is moving, again millions of miles per hour or something. Therefore at अनात्मा level, motion can never stop, it is eternally in motion. And when you see अनात्मा is in rest, even at that time also there is motion in potential form, that is why when you are planning, when you have got some important thing to do, स्वामिजि, my son is going to America, this is the time for children to go to America, getting visa is difficult, you may get admission to स्वर्ग but not American visa and therefore they are interested in more अदृष्टम्, therefore for पुण्यफलम्, स्वामिजि's are becoming important, the interview is going to come after a month or a week, but constant restlessness, therefore even though I am not doing any action, there is the potentially, like spring in tension, it is waiting, therefore कृष्ण wants to say that at अनात्मा level कर्म cannot be given up, at आत्मा level कर्म need not be given up. Therefore what is wisdom? Accept actions at अनात्मा level, never try to escape from action and own up the actionlessness or permanent rest in आत्मा level. I am ever restful, peaceful, at आत्मा level and at अनात्मा level, all the time, one action or the other will be there, this wisdom is called ज्ञान कर्म संन्यासः and this idea कृष्ण wants to convey in this verse, कर्मणि अकर्म यः पश्येत् – a wise person sees the actionlessness of the आत्मा, the permanent peace of the आत्मा, when? कर्मणि – even when there are actions at अनात्मा level, so he doesn't find peace by stopping the action, but he discovers peace in spite of action, by stopping the action, don't try to get peace, like many people saying. स्वामिजि, after the last child is educated and I am free, I can attend all your classes, can come to your आश्रम. Many people have promised, now everything is settled and he is not able to come to even the classes which he was attending earlier. Previously when he was employed he had time, after retirement they promised all the cases, what happened? They dropped the earlier class itself. Therefore, there is no waiting for the sea to become waveless to take a dip in the sea. We always think that all these things will be over and there afterwards one day I will start वेदान्त. So never try for leisure, at the end of action discover the leisure amidst the action, in spite of the action. So therefore ज्ञानि sees the inner-actionlessness amidst outer-activity. Inner-actionlessness means what: actionlessness at the level of आत्मा, outer-action means what: action at the level of the अनात्मा. Therefore, कर्मणि, अनात्मनः कर्मणि अकर्म आत्मनः अकर्म यः पश्येत्, now it is clean. The one who sees the actionlessness of the आत्मा amidst the actions of the अनात्मा, take the example, even when the hand is moving, we know there is something which is not moving, what is not moving, the light which is pervading the hand, which is pervading the hall, which illumines the hand, because of which the hand is known, that light doesn't have motion, even when the hand is moving. Similarly, even when the body and mind are violently active, what doesn't move, the awareness-principle does not move at all, that awareness principle ज्ञानि turns his attention towards. Like in a movie also, even when the characters are violently moving, what doesn't move? Imagine the screen also starts moving, In fact, characters should move and screen should not move only then movie is possible, imagine vice versa, the characters are stationary and the screen is moving, like that life is a movie in which the awareness is the screen and the body-mind and all the worlds are the characters moving, turn your attention to the motionless screen and recognize the screen and then enjoy the movie, so this is first part.

And what is the second part, अकर्मणि च कर्म पश्यति – the wise person sees action in the inaction. How is it possible? Here what कृष्ण wants to convey is, when the body-mind-complex is resting, either during sleep or at any other time of the day, superficially seeing, it looks अनात्मा is actionless, this is what everybody say. As I gave the example, the wall is motionless, कृष्ण wants to say that even when the body-mind-complex is actionless there are actions in potential form. That is why when you go to bed so many actions to be done tomorrow, they are all there in your mind when you see if you are aware of, the moment you wake up you become aware that you have to go there, go here, do that, do this, etc., you just spring from the bed and rush. So during sleep, what happened to all those actions, they were not absent, they were all waiting in seed form. And therefore what is the meaning of this portion, wise person sees potential action, कर्म means potential action, where, अकर्मणि – in the actionlessness of the body-mind-complex. The wise person sees potential action in the actionlessness of the body-mind-complex, which means, body-mind-complex is ever active, either outwardly-active, explicitly-active or potentially-active, whereas आत्मा is ever actionless. And what should a person do? The wise person should be aware of this fact, whenever the actions begin to overwhelm a person, we enter into various activities in life. Later what happens, we know how to enter, like अभिमन्यु's चक्रव्यूहम्, he enters but the problem is he doesn't know how to get out, similarly, we put our hands and legs all over and later we don't know how to come out. In केरल, they give the example of 'Nayar caught hold the tail of a tiger.' (Nayars please excuse me). It is a popular saying, this fellow caught hold the tail of a tiger and then what happened, the tiger tried to attack him, therefore he caught hold of the tail so that he is behind, the tiger is trying to turn, therefore he also runs, he started running round and round, initially he has the energy to run, the tiger has got enormous energy, but we don't have, after 15 minutes going round and round I am in trouble, even if I leave, even if I continue to hold I am in trouble because I am tired and I cannot leave the tail as I will be eaten. This is called 'Nayar caught hold the tail of a tiger.' Similarly, I enter into so many fields, so many relationships and I don't know how to get out, that is the time when we feel that we have been caught up in a snare, we are struggling and suffering, when we feel actions are overwhelming, as long as you enjoy actions no problem, but when the actions are overwhelming, you look for some place which is free from all the disturbances, शान्तम्, शिवम् and the only centre which is eternally calm is what your own स्वरूपम् and if I know how to dip into my own शान्त स्वरूपम्, it is like deriving tremendous inner strength, so that we can again get into activity and enjoy and therefore wise person enjoys activity and whenever he has stopped activity, he knows how to dip into his स्वरूपम्.

मनोबुद्ध्यहंकार चित्तानि नाहम् । न च श्रोत्रजिह्वे न च घ्राणनेत्रे ।

न च व्योम भूमिर्न तेजो न वायुः । चिदानन्दरूपः शिवोऽहम् शिवोऽहम् ॥
निर्वाण षट्कम् १॥

There is that tranquility, that calmness is there in us only we should know how to dip into that and भगवान् wants to give you a taste of that आनन्द, when you withdraw from all your body-mind, what आनन्द there is भगवान् wants to give a taste, like in the TVs they have the trailers, next week. You want to taste that drama. Similarly, भगवान् also wants to give you the taste of dis-identifying from the body-mind-complex, which you enjoy every day, when, during sleep. You are no more identified with your body, you are no more identified with your mind, therefore you no more have a कर्ता-personality, therefore भोक्ता is resolved and कर्ता is resolved. And what is the state of deep sleep: absolute आनन्द, that is why we are ready to sleep anywhere including..... So where do you find the आनन्द, you are dipping into your own nature because, in sleep you don't have any sense pleasures, where do you get the आनन्द from, the inner आत्म स्वरूपम्, यत् सुषुप्तौ निर्विषयः आत्मानन्दः अनुभूयते

The only problem is we get up from sleep and get into trouble, for ज्ञानि he has got this आत्मानन्द available all the time, he can depend anytime and therefore सः बुद्धिमान् – such a person is a wise person, among all the human beings, सः युक्तः – he is called a real योगि and कृत्स्न-कर्म-कृत् – he is a person of fulfillment. When I say he, she also, don't get angry. Therefore he or she enjoys total fulfillment and this verse being a subtle verse, कृष्ण himself elaborates this verse in the following verses, therefore from 19 to 24, is a commentary on 18th verse, which we will see in the following classes.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

By way of introducing the nature of कर्म, Lord कृष्ण is discussing the essence of the उपनिषत्s in these few verses beginning from the 18th up to verse no.24. And of these verses, 18th is the key verse wherein कृष्ण talks about आत्म-अनात्मा विवेक, the difference between the higher-I in me and the lower-I in me, the higher-I is called आत्मा and the lower-I is called अहङ्कारः. And the higher-I आत्मा has been talked about in the 2nd chapter, wherein कृष्ण pointed out that this आत्मा is of the nature of Consciousness, distinct from the body, pervading the body, it is one and all-pervading. And कृष्ण wants to highlight one aspect of the आत्मा here, viz., आत्मा as अकर्ता, it does not perform any action at all, it is only a witness. And this अकर्ता-आत्मा, this एक-आत्मा, this पूर्ण-आत्मा is my higher nature and I have got a lower-I also called अहङ्कार and this lower-I is nothing but the mind, the mind-principle is called the lower-I. And according to the scriptures, the mind by itself is inert, but the mind can become sentient blessed by the higher-I, just as the filament in the bulb becomes a bright source of light when it is blessed by the electricity, the filament is not bright by itself but blessed by the electricity the filament becomes bright and this place is illumined. Similarly, the mind is like a filament, it is matter-principle, but it is made of the special matter called सूक्ष्म भूतानि and because of its nature, just as we use tungsten filament, which has got special feature, Similarly, the mind has got its special nature and when such a mind is pervaded by, blessed by the आत्मा तत्त्वम्, the mind becomes a sentient mind and this sentient-live-mind is called अहङ्कारः, which is कर्ता and भोक्ता. So this finite mind, this finite live-mind, this finite अहङ्कार, कर्ता-भोक्ता is my inferior-I called the ego and कृष्ण wants to say that, this अहङ्कार has to perform the action because it is its nature, it cannot remain quiet and as even the अहङ्कार performs the कर्म, inevitably, according to the moral laws of the creation, the अहङ्कार has to accumulate पुण्यम् and पापम्, अहङ्कार means mind blessed by Consciousness, remember. And this अहङ्कार exhausts part of the पुण्यम् and पापम् and often lot of पुण्य-पापम्s remain unexhausted and it is carried forward to the next जन्म and at the time of the death it is this अहङ्कार which leaves the body. I, the higher-Self, which is pure-Consciousness,” “I” cannot leave the body because Consciousness is like space, all-pervading. So thus I, the higher-Self called the आत्मा do not do any कर्म, am free from पुण्य-पाप and do not travel at all, I am incapable of traveling, but this lower-I, the inferior-I, the अहङ्कार is not only capable of doing action but it is capable of traveling also and when this अहङ्कार quits the body then the body becomes dead body. Because the problem is the body cannot be directly blessed by the आत्मा, the body becomes sentient only through अहङ्कार, just as the bulb becomes bright only through the filament. Similarly, the moment अहङ्कार quits the body is like a bulb without a filament, even though आत्मा continues to pervade the body the body cannot be sentient because the medium called अहङ्कार has quit the body. And this अहङ्कार alone takes another body and again exhausts the पुण्य पापम् and in the process acquires fresh पुण्य पापम् and thus पुनरपि जननम् पुनरपि मरणम्, संसार cycle continues for अहङ्कार and there is no way of stopping this अहङ्कार, because this अहङ्कार is motivated, activated because of our identification. And what कृष्ण says, by Self-knowledge we learn to own up the higher-I rather than the smaller egoistic-I. And the moment the shift happens, अहङ्कार loses the fuel as it were, it is like a cycle wherein the pedaling has stopped. So when you stop pedaling the cycle, what happens, because of the previous momentum it continues to run, but without the support the cycle cannot run long, it will stop. Similarly, in the case of a ज्ञानि, अहङ्कार gets no more patronage, it has got a functional nature, but it cannot bind this person. And this shifting of the I from the inferior I, the ego, to the superior I, the आत्मा is called wisdom. And कृष्ण says, सः बुद्धिमान् and since I have shifted the I from the inferior-I to superior-I, I own up my अकर्ता nature all the time, even when the inferior-I, the अहङ्कार is active I don't claim the activity of the अहङ्कार, I say that in the presence of the actionless-I, the ego is acting, I am free from all the action, so this detachment from अहङ्कार is the benefit of wisdom. So कृष्ण says, सः मनुष्येषु बुद्धिमान् the one who doesn't allow his अहङ्कार to wag its tail. Otherwise like some people taking the dog for walking, you will find that you will wonder whether they are leading the dog or the dog is leading them. Like the Alsatian, this fellow will be running behind, therefore now I am slave of अहङ्कार, I am subjugated by अहङ्कार, I am overwhelmed by अहङ्कार's पुण्य पापम्, in the case of a ज्ञानि, अहङ्कार is put in its place, it has got a functional nature, but I am not enslaved by the अहङ्कार and therefore कृष्ण says, सः युक्तः – he is a योगि, he is a master. And he is called a स्वामि. So स्वामि the word, even though we generally use for a monk or a संन्यासि, really the word स्वामि means the one who is the master of his own अहङ्कार and when I am master of the अहङ्कार, स्वामि so and so is invariably followed by आनन्द, स्वामि so and so आनन्द, but as long as I am subjugated by the lower-I, I am no more स्वामि, I am दास, I am a slave. स्वामि's opposite is आसामि. All the ignorant people आसामिs and आसामि is invariably followed by दुःखम्, that title दुःखम् you need not add, because by looking at the face we can easily know whether this fellow is स्वामि or आसामि. So कृष्ण therefore says that सः युक्तः he is the master, योगि and सः कृत्स्न-कर्म-कृत् – he is a person of accomplishment, all accomplishments, he is an accomplished person. Why we do say a ज्ञानि is an accomplished person? It is a figurative expression. When human beings are trying to accomplish things, what is the driving force? Any human beings' any accomplishment or any pursuit, the driving force is without those accomplishment, I feel small. That is why always people say, I want to be somebody in life, because he or she feels that now he or she is nobody. And therefore I have a sense of smallness, through accomplishment I am trying to be somebody, I am trying to full and complete, fulfillment or पूर्णत्वम् is the goal. Somebody wants पूर्णत्वम् through Wimbledon tennis title, another one through world cup, another one through some other thing, so the driving force is पूर्णत्वम् and the unfortunate thing is he never gets the पूर्णत्वम्, as अहङ्कार, the finite अहङ्कार, whatever be my accomplishment, finite अहङ्कार plus finite accomplishment, is equal to finite अहङ्कार. Previously I was a miserable bachelor, BA, now miserable Master of Arts, MA, miserable PhD and miserableness continues because finite plus finite is equal to only finite and not infinite. It is the finite अहङ्कार struggling to become पूर्णः and life becomes a failure. And why it is a failure, because my direction is wrong, how can finite become infinite. I never question. And in the case of a ज्ञानि, he never struggles for making अहङ्कार become infinite, because he knows body will be finite, mind will be finite, the knowledge you study for hundred years, 24 hours, the knowledge you will have will be finite, as they say specialization is: when you know more and more of less and less, previously I knew less and less of more and more, now I know more and more of less and less, so therefore you think intellectual fulfillment is possible in the field of knowledge! Therefore अहङ्कार can never become पूर्णः, therefore ज्ञानि doesn't struggle to make अहङ्कार पूर्णः, he accepts the अहङ्कार as it is and enjoys doing whatever the अहङ्कार can do, a few more sciences I can learn and but I don't hope to complete all sciences. And when there is an urge for पूर्णत्वम्, ज्ञानि doesn't see the पूर्णत्वम् in the अहङ्कार, because he knows it is impossible, so when the पूर्णत्वम् urge is to be fulfilled, he goes from the lower-I to the higher-I, because the higher-I was पूर्णः, is पूर्णः and will ever be पूर्णः. Therefore ज्ञानि enjoys पूर्णत्वम् at the higher level and enjoys activities at the अहङ्कार level and therefore there is no struggle and therefore throughout he is पूर्णम्, he doesn't postpone the पूर्णत्वम्, I am doing a project and after the project is complete, I will be पूर्णः, he never has such hallucinations, such illusions he doesn't have, one project is completed, another project is going to come. Therefore I enjoy doing projects and not for पूर्णत्वम्, I enjoy doing projects owning up my higher पूर्णत्वम् and that is why I am ready to quit the world also at any time. Who is going to continue or whether it will be continued at all, etc., no such anxieties, I enjoy doing things, but my पूर्णत्वम् is all the time there and therefore, कृत्स्न-कर्म-कृत् means ज्ञानि has discovered the पूर्णत्वम् at a higher level. Continuing;

Verse No .19

यस्य सर्वे समारम्भाः कामसङ्कल्पवर्जिताः ।

ज्ञानाग्निदग्धकर्माणं तमाहुः पण्डितं बुधाः ॥ ४-१९॥

यस्य सर्वे समारम्भाः काम-सङ्कल्प-वर्जिताः ।

ज्ञान-अग्नि-दग्ध-कर्माणम् तम् आहुः पण्डितम् बुधाः ॥ ४-१९॥

यस्य सर्वे समारम्भाः काम-सङ्कल्प-वर्जिताः, तम् ज्ञान-अग्नि-दग्ध-कर्माणम् बुधाः पण्डितम् आहुः ।

As I said in the last class, these verses are a commentary on the previous verse which is a tricky verse. 19 to 24 is a commentary on the 18th verse. So now once a ज्ञानि has discovered पूर्णत्वम्, will there be a motive in him to do any work. This is the basic question, people ask. Because generally the activities are born of out of dissatisfaction and there is also a popular saying also that 'necessity is the mother of invention'. And therefore the general complaint is that now people are working and accomplishing, because they have dissatisfaction and therefore dissatisfaction and the need is the motive force and if all the people are going to be satisfied with themselves, अहम् पूर्णः, then there will be no motive for work, thus the whole world will be what, contented and people ask contentment means you don't work, in fact, there are people who say that India is backward because of the philosophy of contentment. You should have the drive, which means that you should be eternally discontented. What a philosophy! You should be eternally unhappy, only then you will work further and therefore, the philosophy is discontentment alone leads to work and accomplishment, contentment means one will not work at all - this is the misconception of the people, but what कृष्ण wants to say is: a person can work with contentment. In fact, the true service comes, true work comes out only when there is fullness and a person's contribution with fullness will be immensely greater because he doesn't have any axe to grind, because otherwise whatever activity I take, there will be a tinge of selfishness. I want to get something out of it, but कृष्ण says, a ज्ञानि alone can contribute with contentment and now the question is: if ज्ञानि has contentment, what will be the driving force, our scriptures say then the driving force will be one of compassion, the greatness of wisdom is: the more a person becomes wiser, the more he identifies with the whole world, ignorance makes my mind smaller, selfish, bothered about me and my family, but in the case of a ज्ञानि, because of universal identification, there is universal compassion, which is his nature. He does not show compassion, but compassion becomes his nature, just as a mother has got an instinctive love for the child, just as the tiger loves the baby, anybody comes around it attacks, it is not born out of will, it is nature-driven, therefore the scriptures give the example, just as heat cannot be separated from fire, just as light cannot be separated from Sun, Similarly, compassion will become the intrinsic nature of a ज्ञानि. And that is why we use the title, अहेतुक दया-सिन्धु, so the one who has compassion, without any motive, not that he wants something in return later and backed by, motivated by this compassion whatever he can do, he does according to his resources and not only according to his resources, and according to the need of the situation, just like the mother is motivated by the compassion, what does she do to the child, whatever the child requires she does, if the child wants the mother to play with it, she does, not because she likes, the child needs it, if the child wants food she is going to give that, therefore the compassion gets crystallized into appropriate action and that is what कृष्ण said in the 3rd chapter, लोकसङ्ग्रह कर्माणि, exactly like भगवान्'s अवतार. What is the motive of भगवान्'s अवतार?

परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् । ... ॥ ४-८॥

According to the need of the society, भगवान् takes form. Similarly, a ज्ञानि is like भगवान्, doing whatever is required according to the need of the surrounding and therefore he says, समारम्भाः – a ज्ञानि is full of undertaking, as active as an अज्ञानि is, so active a ज्ञानि also is. If ज्ञानि is also active, an अज्ञानि is also active, what is the difference between them, he says: काम-सङ्कल्प-वर्जिताः – ज्ञानि's activities is not caused by discontentment, not caused by smallness, not caused by a lack in his mind, sense of loneliness, that is not the cause, as he said in the 3rd chapter,

न एव तस्य कृतेन अर्थः न अकृतेन इह कश्चन ॥ ३-१८॥

Without that activity also he is full. So therefore, finitude is not the force behind him. Therefore काम-वर्जिताः – he is free from desires, desires to fulfill himself, so काम-वर्जिताः and therefore only सङ्कल्प-वर्जिताः – he is free from all kinds of future projections. Why do we project, because now I am not comfortable with myself, now I am not at home with myself and therefore I picturise myself in the future, with a house how will I look, with a particular dress how will I look, with that particular girl or boy how will I look, with that particular degree how will I look. If I look at the future-I, the ideal-I, I look at and the actual-I, I see, there is a big gulf between the actual-I and the ideal-I. And now the actual-I is miserable, not happy and therefore I want to quickly bring that ideal-I, but it doesn't come at all, when am I going to earn and build a house and can leave peacefully in the own house and therefore there is a restlessness, there is a tension, there is anxiety, the child is born now and I am now thinking of its PhD. Struggle for LKG admission is going on now and I am thinking of which university PhD should be taken and dreaming about that and becoming restless now. I am restless because I am not happy with the present I. Therefore all the dreaming, building castles in the air, they are all expressions of dissatisfied-I. That is why दयानन्द स्वामि beautifully says: I have rejected myself and when I cannot accept myself, I cannot accept the world also, I find fault with every person, every job, every set-up, every house and whatever it is, the problem is not with the world, self-rejection expresses in the form of world rejection. And self-acceptance expresses in the form of world acceptance. Again स्वामिजी beautifully says: a ज्ञानि is at home with himself as he is and therefore at home with the world as it is and therefore no more dreaming and projections, he lives in the present day and I am fine as I am and I enjoy doing whatever I can do and whatever I have to do. Therefore he doesn't travel from unhappiness to happiness, his travel is from happiness to happiness to happiness only. What a beautiful state of mind, so happily he succeeds, happily he fails also, happily he gets things done and happily he is not able to get things done also. There is no connection between the set-up and पूर्णत्वम्, because set-up belongs to a lower level, egoistic level and पूर्णत्वम् belongs to a higher level. To put in Upanishadic language, the set-up belongs to व्यावहारिक सत्ता, पूर्णत्वम् belongs to पारमार्थिक सत्ता, he doesn't mix up the order of reality. Therefore they are no more dreamings. काम-सङ्कल्प-वर्जिताः, समारम्भाः and ज्ञान-अग्नि-दग्ध-कर्माणम्. And another interesting thing happens and what is that, when a person is in lower-I, the कर्म's, the actions don't produce पुण्यम् and पापम्. अहङ्कार विमूढात्मा कर्ता अहम् इति मन्यते, only when I am identified with अहङ्कार, that is why they say, when there is a सङ्कल्प then only it produces पुण्यम् पाप, since ज्ञानि does not have the crystallised-ego it does not produce पुण्यम् and पापम्. That is why in तत्त्वबोध, we saw, ज्ञानि does not generate आगामि कर्म. ज्ञानि does not generate आगामि कर्म, fresh पुण्य पापम् at all. So therefore he says, दग्ध कर्माणम् – all his कर्म's are destroyed there itself. They give the example of a roasted seed, a roasted seed is a seed, it looks like the other seed and you can touch it, you can handle it, you can do everything except one, it cannot germinate. A roasted seed if you sow, it cannot germinate, except germination everything else is common. Similarly, ज्ञानि's अहङ्कार is supposed to be like a roasted seed, this अहङ्कार has got a functional existence, if you ask him who are you, he will also give the bio-data or the अहङ्कार description. Therefore functional अहङ्कार is there, but it will not germinate into further संसार and therefore, it is roasted and for roasting which fire should you use. For roasting the seed you use the local fire, for roasting the अहङ्कार, what do you do, you require a different type of fire and what is that fire, ज्ञान अग्निः – the fire of wisdom and by the fire of wisdom, ज्ञानि burns down all his आगामि कर्म. And तम् पण्डितम् आहुः – such a person is called a पण्डितः. In संस्कृत, पण्डा means Self-knowledge, इतः means endowed with, पण्डा + इतः पण्डितः – endowed with Self-knowledge and कृष्ण uses the word पण्डितः here just to remind अर्जुन of the first verse of His teaching. Do you remember the first verse with which कृष्ण begins the teaching? Not धर्मक्षेत्रे, it is the beginning of the गीता. I am talking about the beginning of कृष्ण's उपदेशः, it begins in the 2nd chapter, 11th verse- अशोक्त्यानन्वशोचस्त्वं प्रज्ञावादांश्च भाषसे ।

गतासूनगतासून्श्च नानुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः ॥ २-११॥

That पण्डिताः, कृष्ण is defining here, who is the पण्डितः? Who has roasted his अहङ्कार and has made it incapable of producing grief, न अनुशोचन्ति, roasted अहङ्कार produces healthy actions, roasted-अहङ्कार is incapable of producing grief. So तम् पण्डितम् आहुः. Who gives this title? बुधाः, बुधाः means the wise people can give such a title, suppose we have to choose a noble prize winner for physics, in the panel who should be there, to recognize a physicist, the panel must consist of physicist alone. Suppose one is carnatic music expert, so you put him in the panel to choose the best physicists, No. Similarly, a ज्ञानि has to be chosen by whom, only बुधाः, only wise people can recognize another wise people and such wise people call him a पण्डितः. Continuing;

Verse No .20

त्यक्त्वा कर्मफलासङ्गं नित्यतृप्तो निराश्रयः ।

कर्मण्यभिप्रवृत्तोऽपि नैव किञ्चित्करोति सः ॥ ४-२०॥

त्यक्त्वा कर्म-फल-आसङ्गम् नित्य-तृप्तः निराश्रयः ।

कर्मणि अभिप्रवृत्तः अपि न एव किञ्चित् करोति सः ॥ ४-२०॥

(यः) कर्म-फल-आसङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा नित्य-तृप्तः निराश्रयः, सः कर्मणि अभिप्रवृत्तः अपि न एव किञ्चित् करोति ।

So कृष्ण pointed out that a ज्ञानि is free from काम and सङ्कल्प and as defined in the 2nd chapter 11th verse, ज्ञानि is free from grief, न अनुशोचन्ति, in short, ज्ञानि is a free person. As I said the other day, the difference is between a thermometer and a thermostat. What is the difference between a thermometer and a thermostat, thermometer is the one which goes up and down determined by the surroundings, it is a slave of the surrounding, it is influenced by the surrounding and when the temperature shoots up, the mercury shoots up and when temperature comes down, that also comes down, this is called an अज्ञानि and what about a thermostat, it is not controlled by the surrounding, whereas that controls the surrounding. In the case of a ज्ञानि, he is not overwhelmed by the situation, he keeps doing whatever he can do to change or to improve the situation. Therefore in one one is a slave of the set-up, in the other one is the master of the set-up and what makes you a master is only ज्ञानम्. Now कृष्ण wants to point out that a person can gain ज्ञानम्, whatever be his status in life. It doesn't depend upon the lifestyle that one has. अज्ञानम् ignorance is the cause of bondage, ज्ञानम् is the cause of liberation, the set-up has nothing to do with bondage or liberation. And therefore, if a person is a ज्ञानि, then he is liberated even if he is amidst the society. On the other hand, if a person is an अज्ञानि, he is going to be miserable even if he is in the best आश्रमम् in बट्टिनाथ. So therefore the set-up does not determine, or your आश्रम, whether you are a ब्रह्मचारि, or whether you are a गृहस्थ, or whether you are a वानप्रस्थि, or a संन्यासि, the आश्रम does not decide. Your वर्ण does not decide, you may be a ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य or शूद्र, that is why शङ्कराचार्य wrote beautiful पञ्चकम्,

चण्डालोऽस्तु स तु द्विजोऽस्तु गुरुरित्येषा मनीषा मम ॥ मनीषापञ्चकम् २॥

Even a चाण्डाल is a जीवन्मुक्त and he is a universal गुरु if he has wisdom and even if he is a greatest Brahmin if he is an अज्ञानि then he is a संसारि only. Therefore वर्ण doesn't matter, आश्रम doesn't matter, even religion doesn't matter, sex doesn't matter, one may be male or female, the profession doesn't matter, nationality doesn't matter, what matters is are you wise or otherwise. And therefore कृष्ण wants to describe two types of ज्ञानि in these verses, one is a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि to prove clearly that householders can happily become ज्ञानि. So one need feel guilty that I am only a householder whereas they are all संन्यासि, because some people create that impression. संन्यासि means they are superior, householders means they are inferior, even those संन्यासि are given advice in some institutions that to never mingle with a गृहस्थ, you will get attached to संसार. No, that means there is some problem. Therefore कृष्ण wants to say that, आश्रम does not make a person inferior or superior therefore a गृहस्थ can be happily hopeful of getting मोक्ष while living in गृहस्थ आश्रम. Therefore कृष्ण wants to keep three verses talking about the गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि. Verse no.20, 22 and 23, three verses, even 24, four verses talk about the गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि, with all involvement and responsibilities and duties and often loans and richer the person the bigger the loan, that is the difference. Big company means the biggest loan to the tune of crores, if they are lesser then loan in lakhs and still less, loan in thousands, and so on. So with all the loans and everything the गृहस्थ can be a ज्ञानि. And कृष्ण wants to talk about a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि also, otherwise संन्यासि may feel guilty, संन्यासि-ज्ञानि is also possible, in verse no.21. So 21 talks about संन्यासि-ज्ञानि and 20, 22, 23, 24, they talk about गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि, so this verse is about a गृहस्थ. So what type of गृहस्थ he is: second line, कर्मणि अभिप्रवृत्तः, naturally when he is a गृहस्थ, he has a set-up and he is part of a family, part of the society, part of the community, therefore पञ्च महायज्ञs he has to do and social responsibilities are there, he has to attend weddings, he has to attend... whatever it is, he is involved, and of course children are there, there are to be educated, they are to be settled and by the time the children are settled, the grand children also, all kinds of things and therefore he has to be extremely active and this ज्ञानि गृहस्थ also is अभिप्रवृत्तः, प्रवृत्तः means active, अभिप्रवृत्तः means extremely active, this गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि. But what is the difference, the difference is नित्य-तृप्तः – he does not seek fulfillment through these activities, if my fulfillment is going to depend upon the child's completion of education, if the fulfillment is going to depend upon child's wedding and later child's becoming a parent and that too not a parent of a girl alone, so therefore the parent of a boy, so you can go on and on, when are we going to get fulfillment, just like the waves wishing to take bath in the sea. So ज्ञानि does not connect fulfillment with his pursuits. With fulfillment I do the activities and what is the source of fulfillment, that is the higher-I, पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम्. Like suppose the power goes off, God forbid, suppose the power off and I continue to talk and you are able to hear also, suppose. Now the mike is functioning and the power is not there, then what do you infer, I have got alternative source of power, I have got a UPS, Uninterrupted Power Supply. So therefore what happens, I use the regular power as long as it is there and even when that is not there, I have got an alternative source. ज्ञानि's satisfaction, does not come from the set-up, if it comes from the set-up, like our power cut, every time the child withdraws, how are you? Something has to be asked. I love you, I love you, you have to keep on saying, that is the new thinking. ‘Honey, I love you. Honey, I love you. Honey, I love you’. So if you don’t say one day, the other person will think that you are upset and angry with them. So constantly I require supply of love, because of bankruptcy. Like the drying of the rivers, therefore all the time looking at the face that somebody has to tell, I love you, I love you, on father’s day, mother’s day, sister’s day, etc., brother’s day, so all the time you have to tell and you have to send the cards. I don’t say that you should not do all these things. This birthday cards, wedding anniversary cards, etc., if any of these cards didn’t come, dried up, miserable. What a miserable life? So whereas this person if the cards and congratulations comes, wonderful, if they don’t come, equally wonderful. If the people are around, wonderful. If they are not around, it is equally or more wonderful, but don’t tell that, OK. You were not at home and it was wonderful, if you say like that they will feel bad, so keep it to yourselves, don’t express that thought. So write letter that I am missing you, when are you coming, etc. It is not hypocrisy, because the other people require the patting. Therefore ज्ञानि does all these things to support others, that is called love, but when he seeks support, it becomes attachment. If I give support, it is love. If I seek support emotionally, then it becomes attachment. Therefore ज्ञानि doesn’t have these emotional hang-ups, therefore नित्य-तृप्तः, अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि. And once the UPS is there, Uninterrupted पूर्णत्वम् Supply; ‘P’ in the sense of Vedantic UPS, Uninterrupted पूर्णत्वम् Supply, पूर्णत्वम् is fullness, contentment, happiness is another UPS. And once that पूर्णत्वम् is there, निराश्रयः – naturally I don’t lean psychologically on any external factor, because leaning is because of emotional weakness, just as I have to use a walking stick, when the legs are weak. Using walking stick is a sign of weakness not sign of strength, so depending on external factors is not a sign of strength but it is sign of weakness and weakness is caused by ignorance. So the strength comes only from knowledge and therefore this person is निराश्रयः, he doesn't psychologically, I am using the word psychologically because physical dependence on external world I cannot avoid, because food is required, clothing is required, shelter is required, physically we all will have to depend, if not now, when we grow old, two sticks or four sticks may be necessary or even after holding, one may not be able to walk, etc. So physical dependence doesn't cause संसार, emotional dependence alone is the problem, the problem is even if there is somebody to hold on my hand, I am not happy because I want this particular person to hold on. That is called emotional problem. If this person serves I cannot eat, I can eat only if a particular person serves. That is called emotional dependence. And therefore no such dependence, therefore निराश्रयः and therefore only कर्म-फल-आसङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा, he expects a particular result for the action, because every action is a planned action and you have to project properly, so he expects the results of action, but he is not concerned over the result of action, expectation is one thing, concern is quite another, expectation is based on planning, concern is based on worry. Therefore, कर्म-फल-आसङ्गम्, when a parent brings up the child he should have certain plans, certainly it is OK. I want to put the child in the university and I want to do and any parent will expect good future for the child, but there is a difference, if the expectation is fulfilled, it is fine, if the expectation is not fulfilled, what kind of protection, psychological immunity I have. Everybody is prepared for success, am I prepared to face the failure, दयानन्द स्वामिजि says very beautifully, 'success in life is nothing but preparation for failure'. A man who is well prepared for failure is a successful person, otherwise if I am not prepared for failures, as long as I succeed I am fine, semi-final I have come it is fine, final got defeated, read the newspaper, suddenly all the 11 Pakistani players from heroes they have turned to villains, effigy burning, stone throwing and they defeated and came, they were heroes, heroes to zeros. So therefore, what preparation I have I should ask and the preparation is nothing but being independent, therefore कर्म-फल-आसङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा, आसङ्गम् means emotional dependence, concern, anxiety; त्यक्त्वा, ज्ञानि gives up. And with such a healthy mind, such a prepared mind, such an immunized mind, this ज्ञानि performs all the actions and what is his condition, न एव किञ्चित् करोति सः, In fact, such a ज्ञानि is as good as free from all actions, both in the philosophical sense and psychological sense also, both ways you can see. In the philosophical sense he is free from action because, in and through all the activities he remembers his higher-Self आत्मा, कर्मणि अकर्म यः पश्येत् and therefore he doesn't claim the action, that is philosophical significance of the expression. Psychologically also we can study, amidst the action, he is free from those actions because those actions are no more a burden on him, there it does not produce tension, it does not produce anxiety, it is so light, there is no भारम्, he doesn't spend sleepless nights on that particular responsibility and therefore न एव किञ्चित् करोति सः means this action do not become a burden on him. More we will see in the next class.

From the 18th verse up to the 24th verse of this 4th chapter, Lord कृष्ण is giving the essential teaching of the entire गीता, the essential teachings of all the उपनिषत्s, viz., आत्म स्वरूप ज्ञानम्. And कृष्ण wants to point out that once a person gets this Self-knowledge, for such a person कर्म, that is action, or actionlessness or inaction, both of them will not be a problem. So he can be active in life, action will not be a shackle for him and he can be quiet in life also, inaction also will not affect him. On the other hand, if this knowledge is not there then कर्म also will be a problem and giving up of कर्म also will be a problem. So when an अज्ञानि is active, he will think that dropping all the actions will be freedom. After retirement there will be happiness and when a person does not have anything to do, then that also creates a problem, then he begins to think of taking up some work again. So thus in the case of an अज्ञानि when he has कर्म, अकर्म will appear to be better and when he has no कर्म, then कर्म will appear to be better, therefore, कृष्ण wants to say that the problem is not with either action or inaction, the problem is inside the mind. And as long as you don't solve the internal problem, if you are active also you will have problem, if you are passive also you will have problem, only the type of problem will be different but the problem will continue. And therefore, never try to change externally, never try to change the action, but try to change your understanding about yourselves and this knowledge will solve all the problems. And therefore only once a person gets this knowledge, let that person be an active गृहस्थ, he or she is liberated or whether he or she is a संन्यासि and then also if there is knowledge there is freedom. Therefore, आश्रम doesn't determine freedom and bondage, but it is the knowledge that determines and therefore in these verses, कृष्ण wants to talk about both a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि as well as a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि. And he wants to say that गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि is also liberated in spite of a busy life, संन्यासि-ज्ञानि is also liberated in spite of his, what you call freedom from all the activities. Therefore, in the 20th verse, which we were seeing in the last class, कृष्ण said, गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि is नित्य-तृप्तः, निराश्रयः. So this गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि is ever fulfilled not because he has completed the family duties, but because he finds the fulfillment within himself or herself. There is no question of fulfillment after completing the duties, because in गृहस्थ आश्रम, duties will come wave after wave, like the waves in the ocean. As they say the waves cannot take bath in the sea, like that there is no question of completing the duties and there afterwards finding rest. Therefore rest has to be found not by completing the duties, but in spite of duties. And this is what a गृहस्थ has done and therefore he is नित्य-तृप्तः and therefore only निराश्रयः and children's future is not going to decide his peace of mind and therefore, निराश्रयः, he will contribute his best for the growth of the children, but what happens and my peace of mind, I don't want to make a connection. And therefore निराश्रयः, doesn't depend upon people, doesn't depend upon events and therefore, कर्मणि अभिप्रवृत्तः अपि, even though he is very extremely, intensely active, न एव किञ्चित् करोति सः, he is as good as free from, because those actions don't become a burden for him. So he is, as somebody nicely said, when your shoe fits your feet, you don't feel the presence of the shoes. When do you feel the presence of the shoes? When it does not fit properly, then all the time it draws your attention, I am here, I am here. In fact, as the story goes, Mulla used to wear very very tight shoe, then somebody asked, why are you wearing such a shoe, 'for getting that enjoyment of removal in the evening', he said. OK. If you are such a person that's a different thing. So when something is fit then you don't feel the burden. For a ज्ञानि, कर्म is not a burden at all. Up to this we saw in the last class.

Verse No .21

निराशीर्यतचित्तात्मा त्यक्तसर्वपरिग्रहः ।

शारीरं केवलं कर्म कुर्वन्नाप्नोति किल्बिषम् ॥ ४-२१॥

निराशीः यत-चित्त-आत्मा त्यक्त-सर्व-परिग्रहः ।

शारीरम् केवलम् कर्म कुर्वन् न आप्नोति किल्बिषम् ॥ ४-२१॥

निराशीः यत-चित्त-आत्मा त्यक्त-सर्व-परिग्रहः, केवलम् शारीरम् कर्म कुर्वन् किल्बिषम् न आप्नोति ।

So in this verse, कृष्ण talks about a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि. So a person who does not have any possession, wives, children, bank balance, etc., he is a monk and कृष्ण says that person also is a free person. And therefore he says: त्यक्त-सर्व-परिग्रहः – So this संन्यासि-ज्ञानि has renounced all possessions, परिग्रहः – all possessions, not only things but even relationships. So all of them he has given up, which means he is in चतुर्थ आश्रम and निराशीः, after giving up those things if a person is going to miss them then the giving up is of no use. कृष्ण already talked about such a person in the 3rd chapter, कर्मेन्द्रियाणि संयम्य य आस्ते मनसा स्मरन् । इन्द्रियार्थान्विमूढात्मा ...

॥ ३-६॥

After physically renouncing pleasures, if a person is going to think of them or feel jealous of those people, they have such a nice house, wife, children, etc., one can drink coffee as and when needed, if he is going to miss them, as long as you miss those things renunciation is suppression. Therefore, renunciation is meaningful only when I don't miss what I have renounced. And therefore कृष्ण here says this monk or संन्यासि is निराशीः – he does not lack anything in life and यत-चित्त-आत्मा and the one who has mastered his body-mind-complex by साधन, because if a person has to give up comfort in life, he has to make his body fit for that, otherwise if the body is used to those comforts, habituated to sleeping in A/c only then, even if you are mentally prepared the body is not ready. And therefore, the one who wants to take संन्यास, he must have physical fitness as well as mental fitness. And therefore यत-चित्त-आत्मा, here the word आत्मा means body, शरीरम्, not सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा, but the body, चित्तम् means mind, both of them are mastered. And such a person what कर्म he does, शारीरम् केवलम् कर्म कुर्वन्. So since he does not have any family or possession, he doesn't have any responsibility also. Possession and responsibility go together and that is why we say गृहस्थ आश्रम has got an advantage also, a disadvantage also. संन्यास आश्रम has got an advantage also, a disadvantage also. What is the advantage of गृहस्थ आश्रम, there is security, In fact, most of the people want गृहस्थ आश्रम and children for what purpose, in old age for a little physical help and support from them. There is a fond hope that the children will take care and therefore possession of a house, bank balance, children, etc., there is an advantage of security, but the disadvantage is you have the responsibility of taking care of them. So security is advantage, responsibility is disadvantage. What about संन्यास आश्रम? No responsibility, no wife to take care, no children to educate, how to invest properly seeing the interest, no money to invest, there is nothing to invest, so therefore, there are no responsibilities at all, but at the same time there is a disadvantage, and that is there is no security, a संन्यासि gives himself at the hands of the Lord.

तेषाम् नित्य-अभियुक्तानाम् योग-क्षेमम् वहामि अहम् ॥ ९-२२॥

That is a different LIC (Life Insurance Company), that is also योग-क्षेमम्. So संन्यासि has got that LIC, गृहस्थ has got Mount road योग-क्षेमम् वहामि अहम् LIC. Therefore every आश्रम has got plus and minus points, therefore don't compare the आश्रमs, learn to find security within yourselves. And therefore शारीरम् केवलम् कर्म, since he doesn't have any family responsibilities, or social responsibilities, so संन्यास आश्रम is a civil death, so therefore, he doesn't have even power to vote, he is not supposed to take part even in this duty, no duty at all. If I have a vote, and if there is a judge, nobody is better that is a different thing, but at least he has to make a comparison, to vote for this coalition, or that coalition, etc., all these are distractions, therefore संन्यासि doesn't have even social duties. What कर्म he does, he has got only one duty, i.e., भगवान् has given a body to him and He is the trustee of this body and therefore until the प्रारब्धः is over, he has to take care of the body as Lord's property and therefore कृष्ण says, शारीरम् केवलम् कर्म – for the maintenance of the body whatever कर्म is required, स्नानम्, वस्त्रम्, भिक्षा, etc., कर्म कुर्वन्, कुर्वन् and again भिक्षा means he should not choose, if he is in the house he can request for Adai, dosai, etc., but here he cannot ask भवती dosai देहि, भवती भिक्षाम् देहि, no complaints, no comparison, whatever he gets he has to take, so शारीरम् केवलम् कर्म कुर्वन् किल्बिषम् न आप्नोति – he doesn't get any कर्म-फलम्, किल्बिषम् literally पापम्, here पापम् means कर्म-फलम्, since he does not have an ego, कर्म will not produce पुण्यम् also, कर्म will not produce पापम् also for him. So this is a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि. Continuing;

Verse No .22

यदृच्छालाभसन्तुष्टो द्वन्द्वतीतो विमत्सरः ।

समः सिद्धावसिद्धौ च कृत्वापि न निबध्यते ॥ ४-२२॥

यदृच्छ-लाभ-सन्तुष्टः द्वन्द्व-अतीतः विमत्सरः ।

समः सिद्धौ असिद्धौ च कृत्वा अपि न निबध्यते ॥ ४-२२॥

यदृच्छ-लाभ-सन्तुष्टः द्वन्द्व-अतीतः विमत्सरः सिद्धौ असिद्धौ च समः, कृत्वा अपि न निबध्यते ।

So this verse can be taken as either a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि श्लोक or a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि श्लोक, in both ways one can interpret, शङ्कराचार्य takes this verse as the description of a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि. But this can be taken as a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि also, I will take this verse as the description of a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि, because one has to go by the majority here! So therefore, I will interpret in that way, both are OK. And what is his attitude in life? यदृच्छ-लाभ-सन्तुष्टः – he welcomes whatever happens in his life as a result of his कर्म, so यदृच्छ-लाभ-सन्तुष्टः, satisfied with whatever comes as a result of his action, because we should remember that the events in our life are not totally controlled by us, this is a very important lesson that we have to remember throughout the life, my future is not totally controlled by me. But we should be very careful, because we tend to go to two extremes, there are one set of people, who claim that I can order my future and I can decide my future, I can totally control my future, this is one extreme, the arrogant type of people and they will talk like that until they get thrash from the Lord. No human being can claim that. Even भगवान् when he came as अवतार, he could not totally decide what is going to happen. So one extreme is overconfidence. Then the second extreme is the fatalistic type, who say that nothing is under my control, I don't have any control at all with regard to my future, this is the other extreme. One takes hundred percent responsibility, another takes zero percent responsibility. गीता says both extremes are wrong. Then what is the right attitude, I am one of the contributory factors with regard to my future. And I am a very powerful, very important contributory factor with regard to my future, I cannot totally decide, but I can influence my future. If I don't have the total control, then what are the other factors which will control? All the other factors put together we call दैवम्. Because the other factors are numerous to enumerate. Right from weather onwards, right from war somewhere onwards, everything can influence today's condition. As somebody said, you cannot pluck a flower without disturbing a star. That means the whole world is interconnected and therefore the number of factors that will determine my future is so numerous that instead of enumerating them, we have put all the extraneous factors into one huge bag and we call it दैवम् or प्रारब्धम् or ईश्वर इच्छा, God's will. And therefore what should be my attitude? I contribute my best and once I have contributed my best, I prepare my mind to receive any type of result and this attitude is called यदृच्छा-लाभ-सन्तुष्टः, यदृच्छा means whatever happens as कर्म-फलम्, in that लाभ, सन्तुष्टः, some commentators read this word twice, यदृच्छा-लाभ-सन्तुष्टः, यदृच्छा-अलाभ-सन्तुष्टः, so whatever comes also he accepts and whatever doesn't come also equally he accepts. So यदृच्छा-लाभ-सन्तुष्टः. OK. But again we should be very careful with regard to these things, whatever comes as कर्म-फलम्, it is according to the Law of the Lord that I have to accept that doesn't mean that we should not work for improving the situation. If the failure happens, I have to accept it because it has happened and therefore it is choice-less. But at the same time, with regard to the next result I have got control and therefore I can do whatever has to be done. Therefore accept the present work for the future, accept the present work for the future. So worry cannot change the present, worry cannot change the future also. Present requires acceptance, future requires hard work. This is the simple philosophy of गीता, present including past requires acceptance, future requires hard work. Both of them do not require worry, Therefore कृष्ण said, अशोच्यान् अन्वशोचः त्वम्, अर्जुन, you are worrying, but nothing deserves worry. Therefore, यदृच्छा-लाभ-सन्तुष्टः and द्वन्द्व-अतीतः – one who is beyond the pairs of opposites, which कृष्ण described in the 2nd chapter,

वीतरागभयक्रोधः स्थितधीर्मुनिरुच्यते ॥ २-५६॥

यः सर्वत्रानभिस्नेहस्तत्तत्प्राप्य शुभाशुभम् । नाभिनन्दति न द्वेष्टि ... ॥ २-५७॥

Life is nothing but facing a series of pairs of opposites. And द्वन्द्व-अतीतः means the one who has gone beyond the pairs of opposites. Then the next question, what do you mean by gone beyond the pairs of opposites, gone beyond means what? Will he go upstairs? No. In fact, you cannot physically go beyond the pairs of opposites because, wherever you go there will be pairs of opposite, therefore what is going beyond the pairs of opposites, it is nothing but not allowing the pairs of opposites to disturb the mind. Making the pairs of opposites incapable of disturbing me too much. That is all we can do, you cannot stop the pairs of opposites but you can immunize yourselves, strengthen yourselves, just like when you want to go to बद्रि, केदार, wherever there is a huge pilgrim centre, where lot of crowd will be there there will be lot of diseases around, you cannot change the condition there, what you have to do is to immunize yourselves. In the same way, you cannot stop the pairs of opposites but you can protect yourselves against them and what is the protection, I hope you remember, when you cut the jack fruit, what is the protection, coconut oil, then enter into jack fruit, nothing will happen. Similarly, apply the coconut oil of ज्ञानम् then you enter into the world of pairs of opposites, you have transcended them. So दृढ-अतीतः विमत्सरः – the one who has gone beyond competition. According to our शास्त्र, competition is not a healthy thing, even though now-a-days they say competition alone brings the best out of the people, our शास्त्र is not very much in favor of that, शास्त्र feels that it is like drug induced power, so when a person takes certain banned drugs in Olympic games etc., it is called performance enhancing drugs, but still they ban. Why should they ban? Even though it increases the performance, side effects are not good, they are powerfully negative. In the same way, शास्त्र feels competition may bring the best but invariably it is going to make you compare with the winner. Invariably going to lead to depression. Invariably it is going to lead to jealousy. And invariably it will lead to cheating also. Therefore all these are because of competition, our शास्त्र says love and cooperation must be the means of performance enhancing, not मात्सर्यः. That is why मात्सर्यम् is included in six enemies of the individual, काम-क्रोध, लोभ-मोह, मद-मात्सर्य. And a ज्ञानि is one who does not have this problem of competition, विमत्सरः and when there is no competition, when somebody wins, when somebody performs better, I can congratulate. Otherwise congratulations will be more externally lip service while cursing the hell inside, heart burning inside. Oh today the better player won the game, that is all story. So therefore, विमत्सरः, समः सिद्धौ असिद्धौ च, सिद्धिः means success, असिद्धिः means failure, समः means equanimous, I told you the other day, according to वेदान्त, success is defined as capacity to manage both successes and failures of life. That is true success. Because nobody can get 100% success in life, people do talk how to get success always. In fact, it is impossible, how to get success always, there is no method at all, if there is a method of getting success all the time, कृष्ण certainly will have taught that method. कृष्ण never teaches that, he teaches ज्ञानम्. And what is the purpose of ज्ञानम्? It is not to get success all the time, but it is the capacity to face both adverse as well as favorable results in life. You need not work for failure, that will come naturally, you work for success, alright. But what is ज्ञानम् is, I am ready for either. That is called समः सिद्धौ असिद्धौ च, he is truly successful person and such a person कृत्वा अपि, even though he is extremely active as a गृहस्थ, I am taking this ज्ञानि as a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि, कृत्वा अपि, even if he is a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि, he might be involved in लोक सङ्ग्रह कर्माणि, like establishing आश्रमस and in the आश्रमस also, there will be success and failure. Do you think in आश्रमस everything goes well, you will know only if you go inside, there also he plans something and it doesn't come through. Therefore whether he is a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि, fulfilling the family and social duties or whether he is a संन्यासि-ज्ञानि, involved in welfare activities, न निबध्यते, those actions are no more shackles for him, he enjoys playing the game. For him, it is a sport or लीला, that word लीला you remember, it is a beautiful word, a ज्ञानि's action is called लीला, such a sport it is game, for an अज्ञानि every action is a struggle; action remaining the same, ज्ञानम् makes it a game, अज्ञानम् makes it a struggle, a fight, a war. Continuing;

Verse No .23

गतसङ्गस्य मुक्तस्य ज्ञानावस्थितचेतसः ।

यज्ञायाचरतः कर्म समग्रं प्रविलीयते ॥ ४-२३॥

गत-सङ्गस्य मुक्तस्य ज्ञान-अवस्थित-चेतसः ।

यज्ञाय आचरतः कर्म समग्रम् प्रविलीयते ॥ ४-२३॥

गत-सङ्गस्य ज्ञान-अवस्थित-चेतसः यज्ञाय आचरतः मुक्तस्य कर्म समग्रम् प्रविलीयते।

In this verse also a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि is described. All these verses are important, because many people wonder whether संन्यास is required to become a मुक्त पुरुषः. Often people ask, स्वामिजि, should we renounce, should we take up संन्यास, it's a very big conflict, these verses are important because कृष्ण resolves the conflict by saying that it is not a must, physical renunciation is not a must but inner detachment is a must. There is no choice with regard to inner detachment but with regard to physical renunciation it is not compulsory. That is what कृष्ण says here, गत-सङ्गस्य – this गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि has given up attachment to things, he does not claim anything as his own. Then what is his attitude, everything belongs to the Lord alone and whatever I possess is a gift of the Lord for my temporary use by which I will also contribute to their growth and the interaction will contribute to my growth also. Thus we are all together for sometime and it is an educational field, we have to utilize it as an आश्रम for inner growth, we cannot hold on to anything and therefore it is God's will to give them to me and it is God's will to take anything from me at any time including my own physical body, whenever the Lord decides it will go away and therefore his attitude is I am thankful for God's gift, I love them, I care for them, I do whatever I have to do but I remember all the time that everyone around me belongs to the Lord. And when this attitude is there he is गत-सङ्ग. So he uses things, he is associated but he is not hooked to anyone. Being associated is one thing, being hooked is quite another. In association I am free, if I am hooked there is potential danger and therefore, गत-सङ्ग and therefore only मुक्तः. Once I develop this detachment, this attitude that everything around me belongs to the Lord the greatest thing is relief, there is a relief, therefore मुक्तः, freedom from tension, freedom from anxiety, after our death who will take care of the children, as though we are responsible for their betterment. In fact, they will be better off without us and they themselves are waiting for the day, only they are not expressly saying. So therefore unnecessary anxiety and worry I don't have, I will do whatever I have to do and afterwards, the same Lord who brought them, the same Lord will take care of. Only then I can gracefully grow old, otherwise I will poke my nose into the lives of others and cross the LOC, OK. Line Of Control and get nose, bloody nose, so therefore I get into problems. All these things are not there, there is a great relief and relaxation. And that is what is called मुक्तिः. So freedom is not some kind of a mysterious thing to be acquired in a mysterious world, freedom means freedom from anxiety, freedom from tension, freedom from worry, freedom from insecurity, that is called freedom. Therefore, मुक्तस्य and how did he get it, because of detachment and how did he get detachment, because of this knowledge and therefore कृष्ण says, ज्ञान-अवस्थित-चेतसः – this detachment is because he is established in this knowledge, his mind never loses sight of this teaching. Because he knows that I am the आत्मा and the whole world is अनात्मा, the matter-principle and this physical body as well as other physical bodies are nothing but crystallized matter and they have come from the world, they are going to move about in the world and they are going to resolve back into the world. For when this body has come from the world and when it has to go back to the world, how can I claim this body as I or mine, this is available for my use, temporarily. And that is the only method of getting detachment. Therefore ज्ञान-अवस्थित-चेतसः, therefore he never forgets Vedantic teaching. And such a person, यज्ञाय कर्म आचरतः – he performs all the actions as the worship of the lord, यज्ञः means ईश्वर पूजा, that is the motive behind the action, that is the purpose behind the action. But in the case of an अज्ञानि, what is the purpose behind the action, it is not यज्ञः, I hope the action will produce an expected result and after getting that expected result my life will become पूर्णः. Therefore अपूर्णत्वम् is the cause of अज्ञानि's action, whereas a ज्ञानि's action is not triggered by अपूर्णत्वम्. An अज्ञानि acts for happiness, a ज्ञानि acts out of happiness, that is the small big difference. An अज्ञानि acts for happiness, a ज्ञानि acts out of happiness, only a small change, for or out of, that is all the difference. Therefore, यज्ञाय आचरतः कर्म and what will happen to his action, समग्रम् प्रविलीयते – all his actions dissolves without producing either पुण्यम् or पापम्; प्रविलीयते means they get dissolved, they do not add to आगामि कर्म. You have to remember the example I gave you the other day, like a roasted seed, roasted seed looks the same, but what is difference, in all respects it is the same but it cannot do one job, what is that, it cannot germinate. Similarly, a ज्ञानि's कर्म will be like an अज्ञानि's कर्म in all other respects except in one case, what is that, अज्ञानि's कर्म produces पुण्यम् or पापम्, but a ज्ञानि's कर्म doesn't produce either. And therefore, समग्रम् कर्म प्रविलीयते. Continuing;

Verse No .24

ब्रह्मार्पणं ब्रह्म हविर्ब्रह्माग्नौ ब्रह्मणा हुतम् ।

ब्रह्मैव तेन गन्तव्यं ब्रह्मकर्मसमाधिना ॥ ४-२४॥

ब्रह्म-अर्पणम् ब्रह्म हविः ब्रह्म-अग्नौ ब्रह्मणा हुतम् ।

ब्रह्म एव तेन गन्तव्यम् ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधिना ॥ ४-२४॥

ब्रह्म अर्पणं, ब्रह्म हविः, ब्रह्म-अग्नौ ब्रह्मणा हुतम्, ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधिना तेन ब्रह्म एव गन्तव्यम् ।

So in this verse, कृष्ण concludes the ज्ञानम् topic and this is a very important verse, a significant verse, a deeply philosophical verse, it is important not because that you will get food only if you chant that, you know in some houses, if you chant ब्रह्म-अर्पणम् then only food will be served. Therefore don't think that it is important because of the food, it is incidentally used before eating food in some places, but it has got a deep philosophical sense. In this verse, कृष्ण makes a big leap in Vedantic teaching, so I will have to first explain the significance then we will go for the word-for-word meaning. Until now, कृष्ण had talked about ज्ञानम् as differentiating आत्मा and अनात्मा, आत्म-अनात्म विवेकः, देही-देह विवेकः and there we saw that every individual is a mixture of two principles, one is the Consciousness-principle and the other is the body-principle. And we clearly differentiated the body and Consciousness through those five points, do you remember.

1. Consciousness is not a part, product or property of the body.
2. Consciousness is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body,
3. Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body.
4. Consciousness survives even after the fall the body and
5. That surviving Consciousness cannot interact with the world because the body medium is not available.

Thus we have differentiated Consciousness and body. This we did in the 2nd chapter from verse 12 to 25 and in this chapter also we did in verses beginning from 18th onwards. Therefore one of the first steps of Vedantic knowledge is differentiating आत्मा and अनात्मा, Consciousness and body or spirit and matter, चेतन-अचेतन विभागः. And after differentiating what am I supposed to do, instead of claiming the material body as myself, I have to practice claiming the Consciousness as myself, instead of saying I have Consciousness, I should start claiming I am. Have verb should be changed to am. And after claiming that I am Consciousness, you have to use all these five points, replacing the word 'Consciousness' by the word I. How will you use? Just as saying Consciousness is not a part or product,

- I am not a part, product or property of the body,
- I am the Consciousness distinctive from the body, energizing the body,
- I the Consciousness am not limited by the boundaries of the body and ➤ I will survive even after the body is gone,

अच्छेद्यः अयम् अदाह्यः अयम् अवलेद्यः अशोष्यः एव च , न हन्यते हन्यमाने शरीरे,

I will survive as Consciousness even if the body is gone and finally ➤ this surviving-I cannot transact with the world not because I am not there, but because the medium of transaction is not there.

As in sleep, I don't transact in sleep not because I am non-existent but because the body-medium is not functioning. So thus the first stage of वेदान्त is seeing I as Consciousness and body-mind and the world as matter. I am Consciousness; body, mind and world are matter. So this is the first stage, you can call it a graduation or something, but graduation is not sufficient. Now-a-days, post-graduation we have to go, what is that, वेदान्त says this knowledge is incomplete, because in this knowledge I say I am Consciousness, everything else is matter, I am आत्मा, everything else is अनात्मा and why do we say this knowledge is incomplete, you must be knowing the answer, the answer is still we are in द्वैतम् only. We have progressed a lot. I am able to claim that I am Consciousness, which itself is a big leap, because so far I have been saying that I am the body, therefore to say that I am Consciousness is a big progress but still there is a duality in the form of spirit and matter, चैतनम् and अचैतनम् and therefore the next stage of वेदान्त is knowing that there is no matter other than Consciousness, matter is a myth, matter is non-substantial, even though it appears as tangible solid substance, matter does not have a substantiality of its own, the substance is what, Consciousness, आत्मा alone is the substance, matter does not exist separate from Consciousness and what is that Consciousness, I am that Consciousness and therefore what should be conclusion, there is no material world separate from me, the observer. Very big jump, it is an Upanishadic jump which is rarely done in the गीता , in fact, only in one of two places in the गीता this topic comes, one place is this. Very rarely कृष्ण discusses that, the knowledge that there is no world different from me, the observer. And if you ask, स्वामिजि, how can I swallow that, it is too much if you say, वेदान्त only gives an example and what is that example. When you are in dream, you experience an external world in dream which is so different from you, which is so tangible and it is so real and that is why, nightmares are possible, you are not going to say that the tiger is a dream tiger, No. In dream, the tiger you never look upon as dream at all, tiger is solidly real, tangibly real, capable of chasing you and you run also. And if there is a dream-गुरु coming and saying that there is no tiger at all, it is all non-separate from you, the entire dream has come out of you, the entire dream is resting on you, the entire dream will resolve into you, if the dream-गुरु says, will the dream-शिष्य easily accept? He will never accept. To accept the fact he has to wake up. On waking up, it is the easiest fact to assimilate. In the same way, वेदान्त says his world is also dream of another level. We have got two levels of dreams, one is called प्रातिभासिक dream, another is called व्यावहारिक dream and when we look at this from the body stand point it has got a reality. Therefore, उत्तिष्ठत जाग्रत प्राप्य वरान्निबोधत, Wake up, arise and awake, the उपनिषत्s tells. If the उपनिषत्s addresses us and says: Wake Up, what does it mean, if the उपनिषत् addresses us and says you please wake up, what does it mean, you think you are awake but you are a somnambulist. You know what is somnambulism, walking in dream or walking in sleep, according to उपनिषत् we are all somnambulist walking in dream only. Therefore कृष्ण wants to say that everything is nothing but आत्मा, there is no अनात्मा separate from आत्मा. This is the essence of this verse, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 24-27

Lord कृष्ण dealt with the essence of ज्ञानयोग in these important verses beginning from the 18th verse up to 24th verse. And in the 24th verse, the Lord is concluding the ज्ञानयोग topic and he talks about the highest level of the Upanishadic teaching, which I was discussing in the last class.

I said the first level of Upanishadic teaching is recognizing the fact the Consciousness-principle is separate from the body-mind-complex. Just as electricity is a principle, which is different from the bulb, it is a principle which pervades and blesses the bulb, in the same way, Consciousness is a separate entity which blesses the perishable body-mind-complex. And that Consciousness-principle I am and I am not the body-mind-complex, the body-mind-complex is only an incidental medium through which I transact and in the absence of the body-mind-complex, I will stop my transactions but I will not stop to be existing. Thus existence doesn't require body-mind-complex, but transactions require this body-mind-complex. Thus I am the Consciousness-principle, this is the first level of learning.

The next level of learning, this I the Consciousness-principle is the same behind the body-mind-complex, just as there is one thread behind all the beads of a माला, just as there is one space alone contained in different containers, Similarly, there is only one Consciousness enclosed in any number of bodies. The enclosures are many, the containers are many but the content is one. Thus, I the Consciousness am the same behind everyone. In short, from the stand point of Consciousness we are all one, आत्मा एकत्वम्. This is the second lesson of वेदान्त.

And the third and final lesson and the most important teaching is that this I, which is the Consciousness behind all the bodies and minds, is alone the ultimate truth and essence of this creation, the body-mind-complex and the external world do not exist independent of Consciousness. Thus Consciousness is सत्यम् and the body-mind-complex along with the world is मिथ्या and to understand this particular idea, the उपनिषत् uses a particular methodology of teaching, which कृष्ण does not elaborately deal with here, but in the उपनिषत्s it is presented and that method is Consciousness alone is the cause and everything else is a product of this Consciousness-principle alone. Thus आत्मा is the कारणम्, अनात्मा is the कार्यम्, अनात्मा meaning the mind, the body, as well as the world and once I learn to see this fact that Consciousness is the cause and matter is the effect then my attitude towards the matter will change. And what is that attitudinal change? That there is no matter separate from Consciousness. Just as there is no ornament separate from gold. And once I have understood gold as the essence I will continue to see the variety of ornaments but I know that ornaments are many but the gold which is inherent in all of them is one. Even in science they say that all the different types of elements that you see are superficially different but ultimately they are all energy in motion. Therefore different substances you see are superficially different but the essence is one energy, but वेदान्त goes one more step further, even energies are superficially different but behind all of them there is one essence, i.e., Consciousness. How can the invisible Consciousness become the visible creation, if you ask, the science itself answers, the intangible, invisible energy can manifest as tangible matter. If that is possible for energy, वेदान्त says that intangible formless Consciousness alone is appearing as the tangible form-full matter. And the one who has this vision sees one truth behind all the superficial plurality, this is called सर्वत्र स्वर्ण दर्शनम्. In the case of ornaments behind the bangles, chain, ring, etc., there is सर्वत्र एक स्वर्ण दर्शनम्, behind rivers and oceans and lakes, there is सर्वत्र एक जल दर्शनम्, behind all furniture, there is सर्वत्र एक wood दर्शनम्, similarly, behind the pluralistic universe a ज्ञानि has got सर्वत्र एक आत्म दर्शनम्. This is called आत्म एकत्व दर्शनम्.

सम्पश्यन् ब्रह्म परमं याति नान्येन हेतुना ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-१० ॥

And that idea is conveyed here, the man of this vision, the one who sees the non-duality in and through the duality, that person is called ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधि. It is the title given to a ज्ञानि. ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधि, so समाधि means absorption, the one whose mind is absorbed, that absorption is called समाधि. In fact, when we are seeing different ornaments, the superficial mind sees the differences but the inner mind is aware of the fact all these ornaments are gold, this दर्शनम् we can call gold समाधि. Gold समाधि means what: not losing sight of the fact that gold is the essence, even though we call it by different names as bangles, ring etc. And here the समाधि is not gold समाधि or water समाधि, here we are talking about ब्रह्म समाधि, which means not losing sight of ब्रह्मन् in and through all the transactions. And कर्म means transactions. Therefore ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधि means a wise person who does not lose sight of essential Consciousness in and through all the transactions, the transactions are very deliberately done, like a person who is traveling in a train to दिल्ली. In between he may get down at different stations, he may buy newspapers, eatables, water, etc., and while transacting he handles money also, he knows how much money he has given, how much he has to receive back, but in and through all the transactions one corner of his mind tells - I am in a intermediary station, that the train will leave after 10 minutes or 15 minutes and I am traveling to दिल्ली - this awareness is never lost. So thus in the background, the दिल्ली समाधि is there, but in transaction he never commits any mistake. After giving Rs.100 he won't forget to buy and return back. So he is very alert, that means the conscious mind does all the transactions but the subconscious mind is aware of this truth, this is called ज्ञान निष्ठा, this is called आत्म निष्ठा, this is called ब्रह्म निष्ठा, ब्रह्मन् is another name of आत्मा and such a person is called ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधि. And here in this verse, कृष्ण is talking about which ज्ञानि -

संन्यासि or गृहस्थ, कृष्ण is talking about a गृहस्थ-ज्ञानि. And therefore he continues all his religious duties also and one of the religious duties which they were daily doing was the अग्निहोत्रम् कर्म. अग्निहोत्र is one of the daily fire rituals which they used to do and as a गृहस्थ even though one is a ज्ञानि, as long as one is within the family those नित्य नैमित्तिक कर्मs cannot be given up and therefore कृष्ण visualizes a ज्ञानि who continues to perform his daily rituals. And कृष्ण says even though as a गृहस्थ he performs, in the back of his mind he knows that सर्वम् ब्रह्म मयम् जगत्. So in and through all the transactions there is the absorption and what is the absorption, that it described here, ब्रह्म-अर्पणम्, अर्पणम् means the instrument with which the oblations are offered, a wooden spoon is used in rituals is called in this context अर्पणम्, the word अर्पणम् has several meanings, but in this context अर्पणम् means the wooden spoon with which the offering is done and how does a ज्ञानि look upon that, अर्पणम् ब्रह्म. Just as a scientist knows that this is also energy in motion or proton, neutrons and electrons in motion, the clock is also energy is in motion, diamond is also carbon, coal is also carbon he knows, slight configurational difference only, but if you ask that person to exchange his diamond ring for a piece of coal, will he do that? So transactional differences he will maintain.

भावाद्वैतम् सदा कुर्यात् क्रियाद्वैतम् न कर्हिचित् ।

At transactional level, I know the difference between bangle and chain, I put the bangle only in the hand and the chain only in the neck, and ring only in the finger. So transactionally I handle appropriately but in the vision I know सर्वम् स्वर्ण मयम्. Similarly, a ज्ञानि handles things properly but he has this vision, this ladle is also ब्रह्मन्. Then ब्रह्म हविः in that wooden spoon whatever is there, may be ghee, may be milk, whatever is there, the oblation is also ब्रह्मन्. Then what about the fire in which it is offered, ब्रह्म-अग्नौ – the fire is also ब्रह्मन्. And what about the one who is offering the oblation, the priest who is doing that, that offerer is also ब्रह्मन्. So ब्रह्मणा हुतम्. And a result of this religious ritual, the उपनिषत् or वेद promises the स्वर्गलोकम् as the फलम्, the heaven as the कर्म-फलम्, a ज्ञानि says I am not interested in heaven because, the heaven is also what? ब्रह्मन्. That ब्रह्मन् is here, so ब्रह्म एव तेन गन्तव्यम्, by whom ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधिना, so that a ज्ञानि who is absorbed in this ब्रह्म निष्ठा. So this is called सर्वत्र ब्रह्म दर्शनम्. So those who attended the मुण्डकोपनिषत् they must be remembering this मन्त्र,

ब्रह्मैवेदम् अमृतम् पुरस्तात् ब्रह्म पश्चात् ब्रह्म दक्षिणतश्चोत्तरेण ।

अधश्चोर्ध्वम् च प्रसृतम् ब्रह्मैवेदम् विश्वमिदम् वरिष्ठम् ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् २-२-१२ ॥

There is only one substance called ब्रह्मन्, all others are different names and forms only. Continuing;

Verse No .25

दैवमेवापरे यज्ञं योगिनः पर्युपासते ।

ब्रह्माग्नावपरे यज्ञं यज्ञेनैवोपजुहति ॥ ४-२५॥

दैवम् एव अपरे यज्ञम् योगिनः पर्युपासते ।

ब्रह्म-अग्नौ अपरे यज्ञं यज्ञेन एव उपजुहति ॥ ४-२५॥

अपरे योगिनः दैवम् एव यज्ञम् पर्युपासते अपरे ब्रह्म-अग्नौ यज्ञेन यज्ञं एव उपजुहति।

In the previous श्लोक the ज्ञानम् topic is over, now from the 25th verse onwards, कृष्ण is going to talk about the glory of this knowledge. ज्ञान स्तुतिः or ज्ञान महिमा, up to verse no.34; 25 to 34 is ज्ञान स्तुतिः. And He is going to glorify this knowledge in a particular manner and the method used is कृष्ण enumerates several disciplines, spiritual disciplines, various spiritual साधनs, because in the scriptures we find endless साधनs are prescribed. In fact, in Hinduism, if you read the last page of The Hindu paper regularly, you will find each day, one one साधन will be talked about, sometime they say नाम जप is the greatest साधन, someday they say that ध्यानम् is the greatest साधन, someday they talk about योग as the greatest साधन, pilgrimage as the greatest साधन, दानम् as the greatest साधन, in fact, countless साधनs are mentioned and कृष्ण wants to enumerate a few साधनs, around 12 or 13 साधनs कृष्ण enumerates. And He calls all those साधन by the name यज्ञः, every साधन is called a यज्ञः, जप यज्ञः, ध्यान यज्ञः, उपवास यज्ञः, यात्रा यज्ञः, प्राणायाम यज्ञः, all these are called यज्ञः. Why are they called यज्ञः, because in all these different साधनs one uniform factor or common factor is the Lord is involved in all of them. All these यज्ञs are dedicated to the Lord for spiritual progress. Because in all of them I say:

ममोपात समस्त दुरितक्षयद्वारा श्रीपरमेश्वर प्रीत्यर्थम्

all my impurities must go away and I must become spiritually pure. That inner purity is sought from the Lord. So since the Lord is involved, prayer is involved, spiritual purity is involved, all of them are called यज्ञः, यज्ञ does not mean fire and oblation should be there. Even sweeping the temple, why sweeping the temple, sweeping your own home is also यज्ञः, if you are going to look upon the house as a temple. Because you have a पूजा room, गर्भ गृहम्, at least under the staircase, so at least under the staircase there is a पूजा room if no place is available, that means the whole house is a temple, therefore when you are cleaning the house, it becomes cleaning the temple. Therefore what we require is only an attitudinal change, it makes it a पूजा, it purifies the person spiritually, therefore all of them are called यज्ञः. Even eating, कृष्ण is going to call यज्ञः, if you invoke the Lord within your stomach. And we have got enough space. We have got a big stomach! enough गर्भ गृह is there to happily accommodate even Lord बृहदीश्वर! Therefore invoke the Lord, कृष्ण tells in the 15th chapter, I am in the stomach of everyone. So if you invoke the Lord within the stomach and consider whatever you eat as an offering to the Lord, your regular eating becomes a यज्ञः called प्राणाग्निहोत्र यज्ञः, its name in छान्दोग्योनिषत् is प्राणाग्निहोत्रम्. In fact, you can tell everyone that daily you are doing प्राणाग्निहोत्रम्. They will not know what it is, but you know that it is eating. Because होत्र meaning offering, प्राण अग्नि means the digestive प्राण is the fire, unto which I offer the food. Thus from the most grossest eating onwards the greatest याग कृष्ण is going to term यज्ञः and along with those यज्ञः, कृष्ण is going to add Self-knowledge also as a यज्ञः. So even the study of scriptures come under a type of यज्ञः only. That is why all these गीता talk series they have is called ज्ञान यज्ञ. It is a beautiful name used by स्वामि विन्मयानन्द initially as ज्ञान यज्ञ. Many people started looking for fire in the lecture hall; 'यागम्, यज्ञम् and all we heard but there is no sign of fire'. This ज्ञान यज्ञः does not require the fire and कृष्ण is going to take this ज्ञानम् also as a यज्ञः and having enumerated all these यज्ञः, कृष्ण points out that ब्रह्मज्ञान यज्ञ is the greatest spiritual साधन and all other यज्ञः are subservient to, only subsidiary to the ब्रह्मज्ञान यज्ञः. And how do we say so? कृष्ण himself will clarify later, but you should know the reason. It is not that other यज्ञः are useless, very careful, कृष्ण does not say that the other यज्ञः are useless, all the other यज्ञः are useful, but none of them will directly lead to the Lord or ब्रह्मन्. They all are useful but none of them will directly lead to the Lord, they all can lead maximum to the ज्ञान यज्ञ alone. Any पूजा you do, ultimately can lead you up to what: attending the class. Not necessarily my classes. Any वेदान्त विचार class. And ज्ञानम् alone can directly lead to the Lord, therefore other यज्ञः are परम्परा साधनम् or indirect means, ज्ञान यज्ञः alone is साक्षात् साधनम्. It is like, if you want to remove darkness from a room you can bring a lamp, you can pour the oil and you have the wick and you have the matchstick, they are all useful and important also. But ultimately, what removes the darkness is not the lamp, I mean the holder of the oil, not the oil, not the wick, what removes darkness is that flame alone. Therefore flame alone is the साक्षात् साधनम्, everything else is only परम्परा साधनम् and therefore all other साधनः are incomplete without ज्ञानयोगः, all other साधनs are incomplete without coming to ज्ञानयोग, ज्ञानयोग alone makes all the other साधनs meaningful, ज्ञानयोग alone validates your भक्ति, ज्ञानयोग alone validates your श्रद्धा, सन्ध्यावन्दनादि कर्म, ज्ञानयोग alone validates all your pilgrimages, whatever religious साधनs you have been doing, not only in this जन्म, even in the past जन्मs, they all become meaningful only when they lead to ज्ञान यज्ञः. So thus कृष्ण wants to say that all the साधनs you do, but one day or the other you have to come to ज्ञानम्. And suppose you say स्वामिजि, I don't like ज्ञानम्, then we say continue other साधनs. As you even practice the other साधनs, sooner or later you will begin to like ज्ञानम्. And if you don't like now, you will like after 10 years, if not after 10 years, after 15 years, if not after 50 years, next जन्म, if not next जन्म, after 50 जन्मs or five billion जन्मs, one day or the other you have to come to ज्ञानम् and attain liberation. This is going to be teaching which starts from the 25th, various यज्ञs are going to be enumerated.

1) First we will take up ज्ञान यज्ञः, ब्रह्मज्ञानम् itself as a याग which is given in the 2nd line. Something is offered and unto something. There is a fire, there is an oblation. If ज्ञान यज्ञ is compared to a यज्ञ, what is offered and unto what is the offering done? कृष्ण says, परमात्मा is the fire, the higher-Self is the fire and the lower-self, the ego is the oblation. The higher-self is the fire, ब्रह्म अग्निः and the ego the lower-I, is the oblation. And whatever we are supposed to do through गीता study, the lower-I should be resolved into higher-I, the limited-I should be resolved into the limitless-I. Just as the wave until it got the knowledge it was mistaking itself as a finite wave and therefore this finite wave was worried also, I have a date of birth and I am going to die, because I am going towards the shore and sooner or later I am going to perish and I want to give parting advice to my son-waves which are there and the son and daughter waves are crying and the mother and father waves are also worried, without us how they are going to live. So this wave is worried about birth, death, separation, limitation, etc., and the गुरु wave comes and tells, 'I am a wave' is the smaller-I. You have to shift your vision from your smaller-I nature and shift your-I to what, not to the perishable wave name and form, but identify with what: the water-I. So the wave-I is the ego-I, the smaller-I; water-I is the bigger-I. And the moment the waves say 'I am water' then attitudinal change takes place, it no more says I am perishable-wave, it says,

अजो नित्यः शाश्वतोऽयं पुराणो न हन्यते हन्यमाने शरीरे ॥ २-२०॥

This particular name and form may go but I the water, never dies and even if I am evaporated, I may not be in liquid form, I continue to exist in a gaseous form and in cloud form I continue to exist, in rain water form I continue, in the form of rivers I continue, I am immortal water, this is called offering of the wave-I into the water-I. In the same way, what are we supposed to do, यज्ञम् जुह्वति, here यज्ञ means जीवात्मा, very careful, here the word यज्ञः in the second line means the जीवात्मा, the lower-I, the smaller-I, the finite-I, the ego. And this यज्ञम् is offered into what, ब्रह्म-अणौ – into the परमात्मा-I, परमात्मा means what: the higher-I, the Consciousness. And this offering is only figurative. When I say the wave is offered unto water, there is no physical action involved, it is only a change in my understanding, until now I said, 'this is wave', now I say 'this is water'. Similarly, I can offer this desk into the wood, how do I offer, no action is involved, until now I said this is a desk and what do I do, I shift my vision and say, this is wood, when I say this is desk, it is perishable, when I say this is wood it continues to exist even after you break it up. Therefore, here the oblation is purely an intellectual job, it is a cognitive change. It is a change in understanding, that is called ज्ञान यज्ञः and who does this job, यज्ञेन एव – this job is done by the जीवात्मा himself. So thus the sentence should be read as जीवात्मा offers the जीवात्मा itself unto the fire of परमात्मा. This is called ज्ञान यज्ञः. And that is why in the नव-विध भक्ति, 9 types of devotion, which you might have heard, श्रवणं कीर्तनं विष्णोः स्मरणं पाद सेवनम् । अर्चनं वन्दनं दास्यंसख्यमात्म निवेदनम् ॥

These are the 9 levels of भक्ति they say and in the 9 level of भक्ति, you know what is the highest level of भक्ति, आत्म-निवेदनम्. Because in all the previous levels, I offer everything; I am offering this, fruits, milk, sugar candy, I offer everything but I retain myself as a separate entity and not only that in this पूजा not only I don't offer myself, this पूजा often leads to more ego instead of reducing it. Because I say I have offered 10 acre land to वेङ्कटाचलपति. Now that I has become what: so that land has been offered but there is no reduction because I have become, my ego has become bloated. Every दानम् he does, he makes sure that it is properly photographed, therefore all the other पूजा I offer everything, but the offerer ego is retained. The ultimate offer is that in which the very offerer is offered.

त्यज धर्ममधर्मं च उभे सत्यानृते त्यज ।

उभे सत्यानृते त्यक्त्वा येन त्यजसि तत्त्यज ॥ महाभारत, शान्ति पर्व, मोक्ष धर्म. ३२९-४०॥

Offer everything to the Lord and ultimately offer that I, by which you say I have offered, I have offered, I have offered (fifty thousand times you say that) that I itself you have to offer. That is called आत्म-निवेदन भक्ति. So if you ask that भक्त what you have offered, he will say when I myself am not there where is the question of I to offer something. When I am not there, where is the question of 'my offering.' This 9th भक्ति called आत्म-निवेदनम् can happen only through ज्ञानम्. And this आत्मा निवेदन भक्ति, that is talked about here and that is significance of even

सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज । ॥ १८-६६॥

आत्म-निवेदन रूप ज्ञानयोग भक्ति alone. Therefore कृष्ण says यज्ञेन यज्ञम् उपजुहति. जीवात्मा offers, the जीवात्मा unto परमात्मा. So first यज्ञ He has talked about.

2) Then go to the first line, he is introducing another यज्ञ, which is called योगिनः अपरे दैवम् यज्ञम् पर्युपासते. Everybody cannot practice this ज्ञान यज्ञः, because it requires lot of qualification, it requires tremendous maturity called साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, only rare people practice this ज्ञानयोग यज्ञः, but many other people practice दैवम् यज्ञम्. दैवम् यज्ञम् is the वैदिक ritual, like अग्निहोत्र, etc., in which various देवताs are invoked, अग्नये स्वाहा, प्रजापतये स्वाहा, बृहस्पतये स्वाहा, the ritualistic यज्ञ is the second साधन, OK. More साधनs कृष्ण is going to enumerate.

Verse No .26

श्रोत्रादीनीन्द्रियाण्यन्ये संयमाग्निषु जुहति ।

शब्दादीन्विषयानन्य इन्द्रियाग्निषु जुहति ॥ ४-२६॥

श्रोत्र-आदीनि इन्द्रियाणि अन्ये संयम-अग्निषु जुहति ।

शब्द-आदीन् विषयान् अन्ये इन्द्रिय-अग्निषु जुहति ॥ ४-२६॥

अन्ये श्रोत्र-आदीनि इन्द्रियाणि संयम-अग्निषु जुहति, अन्ये शब्द-आदीन् विषयान् इन्द्रिय-अग्निषु जुहति ।

In this two more यज्ञs are enumerated. In the first line, the यज्ञ talked about is sensory discipline.

3) Sensory discipline called इन्द्रिय संयमः, otherwise called दमः. So here there is no physical fire and physical oblations involved, but mere sense control. Sense control does not mean suppression, remember, we never recommend suppression at any time. Because according to us, suppression is as dangerous as indulgence is. So then what we talk about is the mastery over the sense organs because of my understanding. In suppression, the action is done because of somebody else's forcing, whereas in इन्द्रिय निग्रहः, somebody else does not force me but I myself decide sensory discipline for my own benefit. Suppose you decide to sit within this enclosure for one hour, it is not confinement. Because you have chosen to sit. But when somebody does this, it becomes a forced thing. And here इन्द्रिय संयम is not a forced thing but I myself choose to forgo certain things so that I can have mastery over the sense organ and that is called दमः, will-based discipline. Discrimination and will-based discipline, not enforced discipline. And this called a यज्ञः. So if this is a यज्ञः, what is offered? By this यज्ञः what is offered? To understand this, you should have a figurative perception, to look at figuratively. When a person practices sense control, what he destroys or offers is: undisciplined sense organs are offered into sensory discipline. Undisciplined sense organs are as though offered, because when you offer the oblation it disappears. When you offer ghee into fire, after the oblation ghee is no more there. Similarly, in this oblation, what disappears is wild sense organs, untamed sense organs disappear and in that place what comes, disciplined, mastered sense organs are there and therefore, this is considered to be another यज्ञः, indiscipline offered unto discipline. So this is called दम यज्ञः.

4) Then the 4th यज्ञः given in the second line is विषय भोग यज्ञः, because in the previous यज्ञः I don't allow the sense organs to be indulgent. When the sense organs begin to become my master and I become a slave, I say no to that, if I am developing any sensory weakness, as a साधक I say no to that. If I am taking coffee, as a master allowed, that is I choose whether I should take coffee or not, but the moment it becomes not my choice but coffee's choice, that means I have become a slave of my tongue, then I say No. No coffee for one week from tomorrow. Thereafter take. But you should be able to say No whenever you want. When you say No, the tongue should not nag you. You should not have सर्वत्र coffee दर्शनम्. Then it is a problem. Therefore I say No and within my control I enjoy the sense pleasures legitimately morally keeping them under my control and when I enjoy those sense pleasures, from strength, from mastery, I can consider that enjoyment itself has a type of यज्ञः. Previously when I say No that became a type of यज्ञः, here, when I am enjoying those sense pleasures, that itself becomes another type of यज्ञः. And in this यज्ञः what is the oblation and what is the होमकुण्डः, we can say all the sense organs are the होमकुण्डs, the turf in which the fire is there and there are five होमकुण्डs, not even five, the उपनिषत्s itself says seven होमकुण्डs are there, two eyes, two ears, two nostrils and thank god, one mouth.

सप्त प्राणाः प्रभवन्ति तस्मात् सप्तार्विषः समिधः सप्त होमाः । सप्त इमे लोका येषु चरन्ति प्राणा गुहाशया निहिताः सप्त सप्त ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् २-१-८ ॥

So this होम, we saw in the मुण्डकोपनिषत्, सप्त होमकुण्ड and what are we are offering, into the eyes we are offering varieties of forms and colors, into the ear होमकुण्ड we are offering varieties of sound, constantly the याग is going on. And what is this याग called, विषय भोग यज्ञः and in this याग, even eating is included because I am offering varieties of tastes to the tongue. And therefore, भगवान् कृष्ण says, अन्ये – some other people शब्द-आदीन् विषयान् जुह्वति – they offer varieties of sensory stimuli like शब्दः स्पर्श etc., means शब्दः स्पर्श, रूपः, रसः, गन्धः and this is there in the form of a beautiful prayer, it is a daily prayer we are supposed to chant that by which we convert our regular experiences into याग. You know what is that prayer, many of you may know.

आत्मात्वं गिरिजा मतिः सहचराः प्राणाः शरीरं गृहं

पूजा ते विषयोपभोगरचना निद्रासमाधिरिथतिः ।

संचारस्तु पदोः प्रदक्षिणविधिः स्तोत्राणि सर्वा गिर्यो

यद्यत्कर्म करोमि तत्तदखिलं शंभो तवाराधनम् ॥ शिवमानस पूजा – ४ ॥

Oh Lord शंभो, हे शिव! you are very much inside me as आत्मा and my mind is पार्वती देवी and all the प्राणs are शिव गणs, प्राणs are constantly running, they are शिवभूतगणs and then all my experiences are what, offering unto you. And what is प्रदक्षिण, daily we are walking here and there, wherever I go that is all प्रदक्षिणम् to you, Oh Lord and whatever word I utter is your स्तुति. यद् यद् कर्म करोमि तत् तत् अविललम् शंभो तव आराधनम् and this आराधन is purely by a change in the attitude and what is the attitude, Lord is inside me. And it is a mere attitude, it is a fact also, because Lord is Consciousness and Consciousness is in Me and whatever I offer, it is received by what, Consciousness alone, शब्द when it is offered into Consciousness, it becomes शब्द ज्ञानम्. स्पर्श offered into Consciousness becomes स्पर्श ज्ञानम्. It is a beautiful approach. शब्द-आदीन् विषयान् अन्ये इन्द्रिय-अग्निषु जुहति. They offer into the sense organs.

सर्वाणि इन्द्रिय-कर्माणि प्राण-कर्माणि च अपरे ।

आत्म-संयम-योग-अग्नौ जुहति ज्ञान-दीपिते ॥ ४-२७॥

अपरे ज्ञान-दीपिते आत्म-संयम-योग-अग्नौ सर्वाणि इन्द्रिय-कर्माणि प्राण-कर्माणि च जुहति ।

Four यज्ञs have been talked about. ब्रह्मज्ञान यज्ञ, दैव यज्ञ, इन्द्रिय संयम यज्ञ, विषय भोग यज्ञ: are over. Now कृष्ण is introducing

5) the fifth यज्ञ:, viz., आत्मसंयम यज्ञ:, आत्मसंयम: means mental discipline, which is tougher यज्ञ:, previously we talked about sensory discipline, it is relatively easier, if you don't like to see the gory sight you can close your eyes and if you don't like to listen to the noise you can close your ears, at least you can get away from that place even, but mental discipline is more difficult because even if you get out of place, that thought can continue. Some people follow this mental discipline and आत्मा here means mind, संयम means discipline. And through this mental discipline, what do they accomplish? कृष्ण says all the ten organs, viz., five organs of knowledge and five organs of action, ज्ञानेन्द्रियानि, कर्मेन्द्रियानि, five sense organs of knowledge giving the knowledge, शब्दः स्पर्श, रूपः, रसः, गन्धः and five organs of action, I hope you remember, वाक्, पाणि, पाद, पायु, उपस्थ, the organs of speech, the hand, the leg, the organ of excretion and the organ of reproduction. These are called दश इन्द्रियाणि, the 10 sense organs. Now these ten sense organs are unruly sense organs, unrefined, uncultured, untamed, in कठोपनिषत्, they are compared to wild horses, दुष्ट अश्वाः, wild horses, they are not tamed, if you just try to ride it, in village you can see, driving the horse forward it will go backward, it will go to the left and right or it will lie down, now all our sense organs are unruly sense organs and how do you discipline them, only by disciplining the mind which is the headquarters, because the mind is the one which has to be and which is behind all the ten sense organs, therefore by disciplining the mind all the sense organs are mastered. And therefore, unruly sense organs are then offered into mental discipline, offered means they are destroyed, they are eliminated and they are eliminated means what: they are converted into disciplined sense organs. So therefore he says, सर्वाणि इन्द्रिय-कर्माणि, इन्द्रिय कर्म means ज्ञानेन्द्रिय कर्माणि and प्राण-कर्माणि means कर्मेन्द्रिय कर्माणि, the functions of all the ten sense organs, आत्म-संयम-योग-अग्नौ – they are all destroyed in the fire of mental discipline. That is why mind discipline becomes more important. Without mind discipline if you just do that, that is the sensory discipline, it can only work temporarily, like the parents controlling the children, can control them how long, as long as they are with you. Ultimately, they should be cultured, mind should be evolved, then wherever they go, you have got the confidence that they will not go astray. So by sheer force controlling will not work and therefore mind has to be educated. Details in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 28-30

With the 24th verse of this 4th chapter, Lord कृष्ण concludes the topic of ज्ञानयोग and now from the 25th verse onwards up to the 34th verse, Lord कृष्ण wants to talk about the glory of Self-knowledge. And for this purpose, कृष्ण introduces different spiritual साधनs, twelve spiritual साधनs are mentioned in these verses. Of these spiritual साधनs, ज्ञानयोग is also one of the साधनs. And all these twelve साधनs are called यज्ञः, because in all of them worship of the Lord is involved at least mentally. And कृष्ण wants to conclude that all the spiritual साधनs are great, but ज्ञानयोग alone is the greatest साधन. And the reason that he wants to give is that all साधनs are required, there is no choice, but except ज्ञानम् all other साधनs can only prepare the mind, and therefore they can never give liberation directly. After preparing the mind through these eleven साधनs, the ज्ञान यज्ञः, the 12th and final साधन one has to go through to attain liberation and therefore all the eleven साधनs are validated or made fruitful only when all of them culminate in ज्ञानम्. And thus ज्ञानम् is called साक्षात् मोक्षकारणम् and all other साधनs are called परम्परा मोक्षकारणम्. They all can only indirectly help, ज्ञानम् alone can directly help. Therefore कृष्ण will say at the end

सर्वम् कर्म-अखिलम् पार्थ ज्ञाने परिसमाप्यते ॥ ४-३३॥

अर्जुन, compared to all the other साधनs, ज्ञान यज्ञः alone is the greatest, because all the other यज्ञs can bring a person only to the ज्ञान यज्ञ. And for preparation you may take one साधन or more साधनs. Thus we have got a choice with regard to साधनs preparing the mind, but we have no choice with regard to मोक्ष. Thus among the eleven साधनs, a person can use any one or a combination of more; thus we can have eleven different routes up to purification of the mind. So many paths are there for चित्तशुद्धि but after चित्त शुद्धिः, for मोक्ष, there is only one path and that is called ज्ञान. And since everybody has to come to ज्ञानम्, one time or the other, ज्ञान यज्ञ is the greatest यज्ञ, this is the essence of this portion from 25th to 34. And कृष्ण has been enumerating various यज्ञs and we have seen five यज्ञs in verse no.25, 26 and 27. These five यज्ञs are if you remember,

➤ No.1 is ज्ञान यज्ञ: itself, Self-knowledge itself is a form of यज्ञ.

➤ No.2 देव यज्ञ: which is in the form of ritualistic worship of various देवताs, called देव यज्ञ:,

➤ No.3 विषय भोग यज्ञ:, considering every experience as a worship. So thus the entire world consisting of शब्द: स्पर्श, रूप:, रस:, गन्ध:, these five are taken as flowers. So music is a flower, a beautiful picture is a flower, a tasty object is a flower. These flowers in the form of शब्द: स्पर्श, रूप:, रस:, गन्ध: are offered to the Lord, who is inside us in the form of आत्मचैतन्यम्. So this is called विषय भोग यज्ञ:,

➤ And the 4th यज्ञ: that कृष्ण presented was इन्द्रिय संयम यज्ञ:, wherein the very sense control is taken as a यज्ञ:, like observing मौनम् on a particular day. गान्धिजि practiced मौनम् on a particular day, even now there are many people they just practice मौनम् and this मौनम् is considered a spiritual साधन. Not only reduce the noise pollution, but spiritually also it is considered to be a very big साधन. शङ्कराचार्य says:

योगस्य प्रथमम् द्वारम् वाङ्निरोधः

So once you master your tongue – both the eating and speaking tongue, you get a tremendous mastery over other organs also, this is called इन्द्रिय संयमः, इन्द्रिय निग्रहः or दमः, so thus दम यज्ञ: is the 4th one.

➤ And 5th one that we saw in the last class is शम यज्ञ:, disciplining the mind, mental discipline. Thought discipline by controlling the quantity and quality. First we have to master the quantity then alone quality control is possible, anything big number quality control is impossible and therefore thought discipline, both in terms of quality and quantity and also in terms of direction, in which direction my thoughts go generally. It is a very tough discipline, because it requires monitoring the mind throughout the day. And this is called शम यज्ञः.

These are the five types of यज्ञः कृष्ण has enumerated till now, another seven more यज्ञः कृष्ण will introduce. And remember the word यज्ञः means a spiritual disciple, in a very broad sense कृष्ण uses. Now we will go to verse no.28.

Verse No .28

द्रव्ययज्ञास्तपोयज्ञा योगयज्ञास्तथापरे ।

स्वाध्यायज्ञानयज्ञाश्च यतयः संशितव्रताः ॥ ४-२८॥

द्रव्य-यज्ञाः तपो-यज्ञाः योग-यज्ञाः तथा अपरे ।

स्वाध्याय-ज्ञान-यज्ञाः च यतयः संशितव्रताः ॥ ४-२८॥

अपरे संशितव्रताः द्रव्य-यज्ञाः तपो-यज्ञाः योग-यज्ञाः तथा च स्वाध्याय-ज्ञान-यज्ञाः यतयः (सन्ति) ।

So in this one verse, कृष्ण gives five spiritual disciplines.

6) The first one is called द्रव्य यज्ञः, द्रव्य यज्ञः means दान यज्ञः – varieties of charity, either in terms of money or in terms of material or in the form of knowledge, sharing my knowledge with other people without charging, then only it will become दानम्, therefore sharing my knowledge, sharing my time; all the time दानम् need not be money, sharing my time, sharing my good will, saying some kind words to a sick person, all these will come under द्रव्य यज्ञः, दान यज्ञः and दानम् is considered a very important यज्ञः, because in the creation everything is in a flow, nothing is stagnant. If you take the river, river receives water from the mountain. One side it receives, the other side it again goes back unto the ocean and the ocean does not keep it, it hands over to again cloud, from cloud again back to the river and river to the ocean; if you study the creation everything is cyclic. There is oxygen cycle, there is carbon dioxide cycle, there is food chain, everything is cyclic process; cyclic means not only I should receive, I should also give. And when a person's mind becomes कृपण mind or a लोभि mind, he is interested only in getting, he is not interested in giving or he is not interested in proportional giving, he gets crores and he gives one rupee, that too after one hour thinking and then he asks the priest to give back the 8 anna coin from the कर्पूर plate. He doesn't have 8 anna change and therefore he puts one rupee and takes back the 8 anna. So दानम् not only should be there, it also should be proportional to what I receive, then only and once there is a stagnation, then there is imbalance in the society, the divide between the rich and poor will become bigger and bigger and then there is robbery, there is chain snatching and there is murder for gain and all when there is a big gulf between the rich and the poor. And if you forcibly give it becomes communism, that is also a problem, because our religion doesn't believe in forcing, that fellow will not get the benefit also. What religion says is neither you should keep nor you should be forced to give, but out of wisdom, understanding I should come forward and share. And कृष्ण emphasizes and the उपनिषत् also emphasize that these three साधनः,

यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म न त्याज्यम् कार्यम् एव तत् ।

The उपनिषत् also emphasizes:

तमेतम् वेदानुवचनेन ब्राह्मणाः विविदिषन्ति यज्ञेन दानेन तपसाऽनाशकेन ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-४-२३ ॥

Three basic साधनः are यज्ञ, दान, तपः, prayer to the Lord, sharing whatever I have and then finally moderation in everything, avoiding overindulgence in anything. And therefore कृष्ण emphasizes that द्रव्य यज्ञः and what they do in the olden days is whenever they get a little bit more money or anything, the method they adopt for दानम् is they perform a big ritual, like महारुद्रम् or अतिरुद्रम् or big वाण्ड होमम् or some ritual they organize, so that the दानम् can be done as part of that याग. When दानम् is done outside it may lead to arrogance, that 'I have given, I have given', so to develop humility it is done as a part of a temple ritual or a यज्ञः in which there is scope of अन्न दानम्, there is scope of दक्षीणा दानम्, there is scope of वस्त्र दानम्, slipper दानम्, umbrella दानम्, पुस्तक दानम्, क्षेत्र दानम्, स्वर्ण दानम् and even marriage is done as a part of a याग and it becomes a कन्यका दानम्. Thus everything was यज्ञः way of life, therefore द्रव्य यज्ञः.

7) And then तपो यज्ञः, तपस् means moderation, mastery of the sense organs and I have given the definition of तपस् before, willful self-denial to establish my mastery over my own organ. Every word is important, it should not be enforced self-denial, like some people say, today एकादशि उपवासम् and I ask why, because in my house they don't cook, not available, that means what: if it is available I am ready. So enforced उपवासम् is called starving. Starving does not produce spiritual growth, fasting produces spiritual growth; in starving there is pain and complaint, in fasting there is joy. Therefore तपस् means I say 'No' to whatever I regularly use. Whatever I regularly use, I say 'No'. And even as a part of a pilgrimage this vow is taken, for शबरीमलै they take 41 days व्रतम् and on those days they don't use pillow, they don't use slipper and they take only one time food (for three times together they eat, but that is a different matter), they take one time food and bathing also twice or thrice, so many disciples, they walk also 48 miles without slipper, saying that 'thorns and stones are the mattress to the foot.' That 'mattress' is purely because of the attitude, physically the pain will be there, when there is willful self-denial, I forgo the comfort of using a slipper. So thus we have got शिवरात्रि व्रतम् where you forgo sleep, every day we sleep without any restriction and at any time, at least शिवरात्रि day we keep awake and we do उपवास, thus we have got varieties of व्रतम्s, all the व्रतम्s are तपो यज्ञः. So willful self-denial, so that my sense organs are under my control. When I say no food today, it listens; no coffee today, it listens; no newspaper in the camp, it listens; I suggest don't read the newspaper for 7 or 8 days, after all 7 day camp, but it is extremely difficult for most of the campers, I will not enforce. But you will find that when there is a gap after lunch, there is big queue each one struggling for a sheet of Hindu, sheet of Express. So if I can say no to the newspaper, that is a तपस्. Similarly, when car is not available use the bus, it is तपस्; no car, no class; therefore, why can't you practice some तपस्. I will not go by bus, below my dignity; I will not go by auto, therefore I should get over all these ideas, status, this and that, they are all big problem and therefore तपो यज्ञः, all types of व्रतम्.

8) Then योग यज्ञः, योग यज्ञः means the practice of अष्टाङ्ग योगः, the eight-fold discipline prescribed by पतञ्जलि ऋषि, a very beautiful system to integrate my personality. We have got four or five layers, we have studied, अन्नमय, प्राणायाम, मनोमय, विज्ञानमय. अन्नमय is disciplined by योगासन, so that I can sit in a posture for one hour without disturbance. It is a योगः. And then for प्राणमय disciple we have प्राणायाम, for मनोमय disciple we have meditation, for विज्ञानमय discipline we have study. So thus अष्टाङ्ग योग is a brilliant scheme devised by पतञ्जलि मुनि for the integration of various layers of my personality. It is like a music program in which the musician, the violinist, the mridangist, घटम् (musical instrument), so many things are there, they all function in harmony, you get a beautiful musical concert. Imagine the musician sings in आदि तालम् and the violinist is doing in त्रिपुट तालम् and mridangist does solo — तनि आवर्तनम् in झम्पा तालम्. Who can listen to that music concert? Life is a music and mind is an instrument, sense organs are instruments, body is an instrument, breathing is an instrument, only when all of them have coordination then life will become music, symphony it becomes, otherwise it will be cacophony only, it will be only noise and therefore अष्टाङ्ग योग integrates the personality. This is the third यज्ञ.

9) And then the 4th यज्ञ is स्वाध्याय यज्ञ, which is पारायणम् of the scriptures, learning to chant is also पारायणम् and getting by-heart is also पारायणम् and regularly chanting also comes under पारायणम्, that means पारायणम् consists of three things, first learning to chant, otherwise letters will not be properly uttered, अक्षर शुद्धिः won't be there, so learning to chant properly. And there afterwards in the olden tradition, getting by-heart is also part of स्वाध्याय, you have to get it by-heart because it will be very useful for analysis. If you want to want to know what is the essence of the 4th chapter, if you don't know the श्लोकs by-heart, the ideas will stand in the form of islands, you will not get the total picture, like the close-up study of a person seeing the nose alone, if you see the nose you will not see the ear and you look at the leg you won't see the hand, if you want to get the whole picture what do you require, we should stand behind and then alone you get the whole picture. So when I teach you, I am concentrating on one श्लोक, that means the other श्लोकs are going out of focus. And by the time you come to 40th श्लोक, this श्लोक has gone out of focus. Therefore it is difficult to get the total picture of the 4th chapter and therefore what do they do, they get the whole chapter by-heart, so that when I say the 4th chapter, in my mind the whole thing stands, what is the first three श्लोकs, how अवतार part came, then आत्म-अनात्म विवेक and then the whole thing will come. Now if I ask you to get by-heart, you will not be able to and if I make it compulsory, you will drop coming to the class. So therefore at the end of every chapter, I have to give a summary. Summary and all is not in our tradition. Because if a student gets the chapter by-heart he will automatically get the summary. Therefore, getting it by-heart, everything even for तर्कशास्त्र first you have to get the entire शास्त्र by-heart. That is why they developed two forms of literature, one is called सूत्र another is श्लोक, metrical and aphorism method. When it is सूत्र form, it is all capsule statements.

अथातो ब्रह्मजिज्ञासा । १-१-१ । जन्माद्यस्य यतः । १-१-२ ।

शास्त्रयोनित्वात् । १-१-३ । तत्तु समन्वयात् । १-१-४ । ईक्षतेर्नाशब्दम् । १-१-५ ।

Everything is in capsule form and the entire वेदान्त शास्त्र in few सूत्रs, you can get by-heart. And another method that devised was the metrical composition, so that you can sing, therefore easier to get by-heart. गीता you can get by-heart, because it is in metrical form and not in prose form. Thus सूत्रs and श्लोक forms are uniquely devised for getting, committing the whole thing to memory. Thus they all come under what: स्वाध्याय यज्ञ and because we should commit to memory they never used printed or written version of the book. You are not supposed to keep the book when you study. So you should study the 4th chapter without keeping the book, what is the way? The only way is you should know it by-heart. Even now in some of the आश्रमम्s if a young ब्रह्मचारि goes to study, first thing they will do is to give the book, ask him to get it by-heart and then ask him to come back. So generally the boy never comes back. What a rigid discipline they had. Therefore, if I had to teach गीता, I have to get it by-heart and then only I should come. Now, you have the book in hand, but if you bring the wrong chapter then there is the problem. Then if you say that स्वामिजि! I was brought the 1st chapter only then there is a problem. All those things can be avoided if you by-heart. So thus स्वाध्याय यज्ञ is very very useful and above all there is one more glory to that, all the scriptures are associated with God and ऋषिs and the beauty is when you do पारायणम्, sooner or later, you will develop a desire to know the meaning. Initially you may do as a routine, but one day or the other, the very पारायणम् will change your mind and you will develop. If you ask that I am chanting the विष्णुसहस्रनाम daily, what is its meaning, use? Nothing is visible, etc. Are we cursing the Lord, or is it a नाम पारायणम्. It is a story a desire will come and therefore स्वाध्याय यज्ञ is considered a very important साधन; पारायणम्.

10) Then the next one is ज्ञान यज्ञः, ज्ञान यज्ञ is study of the meaning of the scriptures - enquiry, analysis. So previous one is what, only studying, learning to chant, no meaning is known, therefore स्वाध्याय is called शब्द ब्रह्मणम्, ज्ञान यज्ञः is called अर्थ ब्रह्मणम्. In the first you learn the words, in the second you know the meaning. And that is why they start the स्वाध्याय in early ages, they do the वेद अध्ययनम् in the 5th year, 6th year, 7th year because it is a young mind, it will easily register and therefore put the entire वेद within 15 years. So even तैत्तिरीय उपनिषत्, everything got by-heart by the 10th year, 11th year. You ask the meaning, they will say they don't know. Later, he gets an opportunity to know the meaning and that is called ज्ञान यज्ञः. Now here one doubt may come. The doubt will come if you remember one of my previous classes. If you don't remember, no problem, that is in the 25th verse, I have said that two यज्ञs are mentioned, one is देवः यज्ञः and another is ज्ञान यज्ञः. And in the 28th verse, again कृष्ण says ज्ञान यज्ञः, so isn't it a repetition? That verse ज्ञान यज्ञ is परा ज्ञानम्, परा विद्या, the spiritual knowledge, ब्रह्मज्ञान यज्ञ it is, whereas here ज्ञान यज्ञ means all other sciences or disciplines like कर्मकाण्ड ज्ञानम्, the knowledge of scriptures, rituals, then तर्कशास्त्र, the knowledge of logic, because the whole scripture involves logic also. The knowledge of logic, the knowledge of मीमांसशास्त्रम्. How to analyze the scriptures? So तर्क, मीमांस, व्याकरणम्, all these come under ज्ञान यज्ञ. Secondary disciplines. Thus five यज्ञs are mentioned – द्रव्य-यज्ञः, तपो-यज्ञः, योग-यज्ञः, स्वाध्याय यज्ञः and ज्ञान यज्ञः. And incidentally for grammar students, if there are any who know संस्कृत grammar you have to note here द्रव्य यज्ञः, the word does not refer to the यज्ञ itself but it refers to the साधकs who practice that यज्ञ. For द्रव्य यज्ञः means the साधकs who practice द्रव्य यज्ञः. बहुव्रीहि समास, द्रव्य दानम् एव यज्ञः एषाम् ते; तपो यज्ञः means तपः एव यज्ञः एषाम् ते. Therefore it is referring to the people who practice these यज्ञs. And all these people are called यतयः, they are all यतिs. Literally यति means a संन्यासि.

यति राजः, a great संन्यासि is called यति राजः and that is how the college got the name यतिराज College. यति राजः, a great संन्यासि is called यति राजः. So यतयः means संन्यासि and in this context, यति means any committed spiritual seeker is called यतिः, one who does not approach spirituality casually; an amateurish approach, a casual approach, half-hearted approach, then the benefit will not come. The one who takes it as top priority, such a person is called यतिः, even if he is or she is a गृहस्थ. Therefore, यतयः means committed seekers they are. And not only they are committed seekers, संशितव्रताः and they are people of firm resolve, so संशितम् is तीव्रम् means firm, व्रतम् means resolve, that means once they take a vow they practice it. They decide that एकादशि I will not eat or एकादशि I eat only this much, milk and fruits only or this only. Once they decide, they follow it. And the unfortunate thing is the moment you take a vow the next day itself there will be an obstacle. They keep your favorite dish. And they insist to have a little taste it, from next week you can start fresh your resolve. So if you read the पौराणिक stories, the नायन्मार् stories etc., you will find they were all people of resolve and भगवान् himself comes and tests the devotee. Therefore unless we have a will power spirituality is impossible. A person of weak-will can never progress in spirituality. And therefore कृष्ण admires them, they are all संशितव्रताः – people of firm determination. So thus how many साधनs we have got now, in the previous verse 5 साधनs, in this verse 5 साधनs, total 10 साधनs.

Verse No .29

अपाने जुहति प्राणं प्राणेऽपानं तथापरे ।

प्राणापानगती रुद्ध्वा प्राणायामपरायणाः ॥ ४-२९॥

अपाने जुहति प्राणम् प्राणे अपानम् तथा अपरे ।

प्राण-अपान-गती रुद्ध्वा प्राणायाम-परायणाः ॥ ४-२९॥

अपाने प्राणम् प्राणे अपानम् जुहति । (तथा अपरे) प्राण-अपान-गती रुद्ध्वा प्राणायाम-परायणाः (सन्ति) ।

So in this verse, कृष्ण talks about

11) प्राणायाम साधन which is also considered a very useful spiritual discipline, because when we study the different layers of our personality we find अन्नमय is the grossest layer – the physical body, then the next interior layer is the प्राणमय – the energy sheath, प्राण stands for the vital force, our energy, that is the next one. And the next one is the मनोमय – the mental personality, emotional or psychological personality and the प्राणमय comes in between अन्नमय and मनोमय and therefore if a person disciplines the pranic personality, then it will influence both अन्नमय as well as मनोमय, because प्राणमय is intermediary, this side is अन्नमय, that side is मनोमय, so when प्राण is disciplined, physical health also will improve, mental health also will improve. And that is why प्राणायाम was kept as an important साधन before every ritual. Before starting any ritual we begin with शुक्लाम्बरधरम्, i.e., you pray to the विनायक and the immediate thing is ॐ भुः, which is प्राणायाम alone. And this प्राणायाम is also of two types, one is प्राणायाम as a physical exercise, as an exercise for improving the health, then it becomes a secular discipline and वेद doesn't want us to practice प्राणायाम as a secular discipline, वेद wants us convert प्राणायाम also into a religious discipline. And how to make it religious discipline, make it as a part of any religious साधन and also when the प्राणायाम is done utter the नामs of the Lord. Either राम राम or कृष्ण कृष्ण or if a person knows the traditional प्राणायाम मन्त्र, he can chant ॐ भुः, ॐ भुवः, the moment मन्त्र is included, प्राणायाम is called सगर्भ प्राणायाम, it is a spiritual साधन. Minus the name of the Lord it is called अगर्भ प्राणायाम, it can only improve your physical health, it cannot purify your mind. Thus प्राणायाम becomes a यज्ञ if prayer is also included in that. And this प्राणायाम is a very big discipline, which is discussed and special books are written on प्राणायाम and we should remember that advanced courses of प्राणायाम are prescribed for very many material benefits. Even raising the power called कुण्डलिनी शक्ति is nothing but a pranic power, it is a pranic force which is a potential one, कुण्डलिनी literally means the coiled power. Any coil has got power in it because it works like a spring, the coil is there the watch goes on ticking. Therefore coil literally means potential. So कुण्डलिनी means potential pranic energy. It is compared to a snake, snake word is given to indicate that it remains in coiled form and coil means potential, कुण्डलः means circle. कुण्डलिनी means in circled, a coiled form. शक्तिः means power, शक्ति is feminine gender, therefore it is called कुण्डलिनी, potential power. And this is not a unique thing, we have got potential power at every layer, physical body has got कुण्डलिनी शक्ति, what is that: your physical power, we have got running power, but can you run now when you walking itself has become difficult. What has happened to that power, that power we have not tapped, if only we start walking or running, first day you can walk only for half a kilometer and then 2 kilometers and then what happened to that walking power? Now it is कुण्डलिनी शक्ति, if you regularly walk it becomes a manifest power. Similarly, at the प्राणमय कोश also there is potential power. Similarly, मनोमय, even memory is a power which we are fast losing, because we are not using that memory power and therefore after some years if someone asks your name, you have to look at your tab and then say. So we need not remember the day, date, we need not remember the phone number, everything is there there is the computer, so that memory power is what, कुण्डलिनी शक्तिः. And the power in the water falls which we tap as hydro-electric power, that is potentially in the water fall, that is कुण्डलिनी शक्तिः. Don't imagine some kind of a mysterious power or anything, any potential capacity is called कुण्डलिनी. Thus प्राणायाम as advanced courses are discussed to tap the कुण्डलिनी शक्ति and make it flow upwards and go to the मूलाधार, स्वाधिष्ठान and by which one can get various सिद्धिs and those discussions are there, but we should remember they are all at the materialistic level, they are all at अनात्मा level. कुण्डलिनी raising and

Self-knowledge has no connection at all, just as bringing out your walking power, you have raised your कुण्डलिनी power. Now you can walk ten kilometers. Did you get मोक्ष because of that, what मोक्ष, you have only tapped the कुण्डलिनी शक्ति of the अन्नमय कोश, with प्राणायाम you may tap the pranic energy of the प्राणमय कोश. Similarly, by concentration you can tap the कुण्डलिनी शक्ति of mental power. That only now they are talking. In the medical field they say, I think there was a book also: Will Yourselves To Cure Diseases, something like that. What they say is when you have a disease, you daily sit for an hour and visualize the disease, visualize your immunity power, visualize a war between the disease and immunity power. Like the advertisements, for Colgate etc, toothpaste and microbes that is fighting and then this win, like that immunity power wins and for that daily you are supposed to meditate, books are written and what is the कुण्डलिनी शक्ति: the mental कुण्डलिनी शक्ति, you will your health and that is called सङ्कल्प शक्ति, you can get health also. But can you say that is मोक्ष, that is not मोक्ष, therefore प्राणायाम can be used for getting advanced powers, but in वेदान्त we are positively not interested in materialistic powers. सिद्धि, पतञ्जलि ऋषि himself writes, never use this for सिद्धि, because all सिद्धि are obstacles, they come under माया. Thus a person who comes for मोक्ष is easily distracted by these सिद्धि. So here what is प्राणायाम meant for? Simple चित्तशुद्धि, प्राणायाम can give focusing power, प्राणायाम can quieten the mind and we will smoothly breath. Now we are not aware whether we are breathing or not. We never think of that, it is happening involuntarily, but here it is disciplining the प्राण. And this प्राणायाम is divided into three types, पुरक प्राणायाम, रेचक प्राणायाम and कुम्भक प्राणायाम,

1) पुरक प्राणायाम is that in which inhalation is given importance. Deep breathing in, पुरकम् means filling up, filling up what, not the stomach, that is not प्राणायाम, filling up the lungs with what, air is called पुरक प्राणायाम,

2) रेचक प्राणायाम is that in which the focus is on emptying or exhalation, deep exhalation. Inhalation not in focus. रेचक means emptying.

3) Third one is कुम्भक प्राणायाम wherein the focus, the importance is on retaining, neither inhalation nor exhalation. Even the कुम्भकम् is supposed to be of two types, one कुम्भकम् is after inhalation you retain, for a minute, two minutes, etc., that is called आन्तर कुम्भकम्, where air is kept inside and retained and then the second कुम्भक प्राणायाम is after exhalation, one remains for a few minutes wherein air is outside not inside and that is called बाह्य कुम्भकम्. So आन्तर कुम्भक, बाह्य कुम्भक प्राणायाम and कृष्ण says different people practice different types of प्राणायामs, all of them are यज्ञs.

Look at the verse. अपाने प्राणम् जुह्वति. This refers to पुरक-प्राणायाम, that is some people give importance to अपानम्, अपानम् means inhalation, in this context अपान means inhalation and प्राण means exhalation, some people practice inhalation-प्राणायाम, in which what is offered, exhalation is offered, means it is made non-existent, because when you offer some oblation into the fire, what happens, it becomes non-existent, in the inhalation-प्राणायाम, exhalation is offered, that means exhalation is avoided, this is पुरक. Then प्राणे अपानम्, so this is called रेचक-प्राणायाम or exhalation-प्राणायाम and in the exhalation-प्राणायाम what is offered, inhalation is offered, inhalation is offered means, it is destroyed, it is made non-existent, when you exhale, can you practice inhalation, when you practice exhalation, inhalation is destroyed, when you practice inhalation, exhalation is destroyed. What is destroyed is the oblation, this is रेचक. And some other people practice प्राण-अपान-गती रुद्ध्वा, some people stop both inhalation and exhalation and thus practice कुम्भक-प्राणायामम् कुर्वन्ति, that we have to supply in this verse, कुम्भक-प्राणायामम् कुर्वन्ति, they concentrate on कुम्भक and कुम्भक-प्राणायाम is supposed to be ideal when the mind is too much restless. If a person has got the discrimination to make the mind quiet, quietude of the mind through knowledge is permanent quietude, but if a person, there the problem is suppose I want to quieten my mind through knowledge, I will have a problem because to get the knowledge, I need a quiet mind, if you marry you will be cured of madness and you can get married only if you are cured of madness. So this is called

ज्ञातयः सम्प्रवर्धन्ते सरसीवोत्पलान्य् उत ॥ विदुर नीति ५-३६-६३ ॥

So if I get knowledge I will get peace of mind but unless I have some peace, I will not be able to do even श्रवणम्. But some of you may feel that one hour you are not able to concentrate, so therefore, initially you have to find out some grosser method to quieten the mind, that is called relative quietude, प्राणायाम will bring in relative quietude. With a relatively quiet mind you study the scriptures and the knowledge will give you absolute quietude. प्राणायामेन आपेक्षिक शान्ति, ज्ञानेन आत्यन्तिक शान्ति. Thus, प्राणायाम is like first aid. What does first aid do, it gives a temporary remedy, but one should not stop with first aid. The very fact that it is called first aid is because it is followed by second aid. So after all second aid is going to come then why first aid if you ask, you will be out in the accident place itself. So therefore, first aid makes me prepared for the second aid which will give him permanent remedy. Thus प्राणायाम is the first aid, आत्मज्ञानम् is the final treatment. So therefore, this also some people practice, all of them are called what प्राणायाम-परायणाः – they are all called प्राणायाम practitioners and it comes under प्राणायाम यज्ञः; आयामः means mastery, discipline, you should read as प्राण and यामः, it is प्राण आयामः, यम्, यमने means to discipline, to master, to regulate, यम्, यच्छति is the root, यम name came to यमन् from that, because he regulates the population by regularly finishing people or else what will happen, now itself population is crossing one billion. If यमन् is not there, what will happen? So therefore यम is called यम because he is a master regulator of the population. Similarly, प्राण आयामः means the regulation of प्राण and by regulating प्राण indirectly we are regulating अपान, व्यान, उदान and समान. All the other four are mastered through प्राणायाम; digestion improves, circulation improves, excretion improves. Otherwise people will have problem, either overworking or under working, so therefore that also must work properly. Everything will be good.

Verse No .30

अपरे नियताहाराः प्राणान्प्राणेषु जुहति ।

सर्वेऽप्येते यज्ञविदो यज्ञक्षपितकल्मषाः ॥ ४-३०॥

अपरे नियत-आहाराः प्राणान् प्राणेषु जुहति ।

सर्वे अपि एते यज्ञविदः यज्ञ-क्षपित-कल्मषाः ॥ ४-३०॥

अपरे नियत-आहाराः प्राणान् प्राणेषु जुहति । एते सर्वे अपि यज्ञविदः यज्ञ-क्षपित-कल्मषाः (सन्ति) ।

So 11 यज्ञs are over, now comes the 12th and final यज्ञः, which is

12) आहार नियम यज्ञः, dieting, moderation in eating, which is considered extremely important and आहार नियम comes in two stages, the first is quantity control, कृष्ण will talk about it more in 6th chapter, there I will discuss more, in the 6th chapter कृष्ण talks about quantity control. So first you decide how many times you want to eat and once you have fixed make a rule that in between nothing goes inside, Chocolate, popcorn, you should not eat keeping it in the pant packet and even at the stipulated time what I eat should be measured. It should not be over-eating. This is quality control, the number of times that I eat and the amount that I eat is called quantity control, and after controlling the quantity then comes quality control. Gradually getting rid of तामसिक food, like meat, liquor and all kinds of things come under तामसिक and gradually cutting राजसिक food and thereafterwards making सत्त्विक आहार. This quality control कृष्ण talks in the 17th chapter, so in 6th chapter quantity control, in 17th chapter quality control, all those things we will see later. So thus अपरे नियत-आहारः – some people practice food discipline and by this discipline what happens, प्राणान् प्राणेषु जुहति. So when आहार discipline is not there, all the पञ्च प्राणs become sick प्राणs, unhealthy प्राणs. All the पञ्च प्राणs means प्राण, अपान, व्यान, उदान, समान; everything becomes sick. That is what they are trying to control through pranic healing, reiki, etc., what they are trying to find out what are the disharmony in the pranic personality and they are trying to control it and all the other things, but this is the basis. And आहार influences the nature of प्राण and when a person takes to आहार नियम, the sick प्राणs are converted into healthy प्राणs and therefore what is offered unto what, sick प्राणs are offered into healthy प्राणs. That means what: sick प्राणs are destroyed and in this place what comes, healthy प्राणs, digestion is very good, breathing is very good, circulation is very good, all of them becomes good. And कृष्ण says all these people are great साधकs. सर्वे अपि एते यज्ञविदः – all these people who practice these 12 साधनs, they are great साधकs and what benefit they get, यज्ञ-क्षपित-कल्मषाः – they destroy all their impurities, inner impurities, काम-क्रोधः, लोभ-मोहः, मदः मात्सर्यादि, all the impurities including पूर्वजन्म पापम्, all the प्रारब्धः पापम्s are also burnt by these यज्ञs. More in the next class.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 30-34

Mental discipline, प्राणायाम, like this He gave 12 spiritual disciplines of which Self-knowledge is also one of the साधनs. And He named all the साधनs as one one यज्ञः. But we should remember that all these disciplines can be called साधनs only when they fulfill two conditions,

1) The first condition is God must be involved in that. Minus God all will be mere exercises only, they can never contribute to spiritual growth. They may give physical health, they may give even psychological health, but spiritual growth is impossible unless ईश्वर is involved and therefore by using the word यज्ञः, कृष्ण indicates that they all must involve ईश्वर, even regular eating can become यज्ञः if you are going to offer the food to the Lord and eat. That is condition No.1.

2) And the second condition is all of them can be called spiritual साधनs only when the motive is spiritual growth. If the motive is material benefit, कृष्ण will say in the 7th chapter, we can use all these साधनs for the material benefit also. Even in management courses they are introducing these गीता साधनs, but there the purpose is better performance so that there is better profit, there is nothing wrong in applying गीता for that, but we can call it यज्ञः, they get यज्ञ status only when the motive is spiritual growth. So thus when the motive is spiritual and when the Lord is involved then all of them are called यज्ञः.

And we saw the last यज्ञः in verse no.30, first line, in the last class, अपरे नियत-आहारः प्राणान् प्राणेषु जुहति. Even discipline in food can be called a यज्ञ, आहार नियम यज्ञः, even उपवास is a type of यज्ञ only, because if you see the meaning of the word उपवासः it means being near, वासः means being, staying; उप means near. So उपवास we think is going without food, but उपवास does not mean going without food, उपवास means staying near. Staying near what? food? Because the word उपवास does not say staying near what? आहार उपवास वा? कम् उपवासः? It means ईश्वरम् उपवासः. So उपवासः is day in which I reduce all my all other sensory transactions so that the time saved by avoiding those sensory transactions I can use for the religious practice like पारायणम्, जप or anything. And that is why even उपवास is not mere forgoing food, because according to शास्त्र, आहार is not merely the thing which we take through the mouth alone, आहार means that which is consumed through all the five sense organs. Even seeing varieties of forms is आहार for चक्षुः. Similarly, varieties of sound is आहार for the ears. Therefore, उपवास means not only forgoing not only this आहार, पञ्च इन्द्रिय आहार, reduction or avoidance. For what purpose, many people on शिवरात्रि day, वैकुण्ठ एकादशि day, they do उपवास and watch the night show. So उपवास and keeping awake is not for an extra show of movie, but it for जप, पूजा, पारायणम्, etc. For उपवास is a type of आहार नियमम्. So thus all types of quantity control and all types of quality control with regard to food is आहार नियमः. In the 6th chapter कृष्ण talks about quantity control, in the 17th chapter कृष्ण talks about quality control, all of them will come under what: आहार नियम यज्ञः. And what कृष्ण says is when we have got discipline with regard to आहार, all our पञ्च प्राणस, पञ्च प्राणस means the digestive system, because this is essential service, for some people it works three shifts a day, therefore constantly midnight also they eat, because the fridge has come, open the fridge and put something inside and go. So आहार नियम means the undisciplined समान प्राण, the digestive systems gets healthy and once the digestive system is mastered, then प्राण, अपान, व्यान, उदान all these five प्राणस are disciplined by आहार नियम. And this also कृष्ण presents as a यज्ञः and what is offered into what, the undisciplined पञ्च प्राणस are destroyed by developing disciplined पञ्च प्राणस, the unhealthy पञ्च प्राणस are destroyed by offering into the fire of healthy पञ्च प्राणस. Therefore कृष्ण says here, अपरे नियत-आहाराः, there are some seekers who follow आहार नियम and by this प्राणान् प्राणेषु जुहति. पञ्च प्राणान् पञ्च प्राणेषु जुहति. We have to add the two adjectives, unhealthy पञ्च प्राणस are offered unto healthy पञ्च प्राणs. With this all the 12 यज्ञs are completed. And then कृष्ण says a person can practice all the 12 or any number that he can offered. कृष्ण does not say that everyone should practice all the यज्ञs compulsorily. A person can have any combination, for example, if a person has a got a very sensitive and delicate stomach and if they practice उपवास and acidity problem and three days even regular साधन they cannot do. Who wants such an उपवास? Therefore we have to be very judicious, if the body cannot stand उपवास we have varieties of उपवास, निर्जल उपवास – nothing you take and then fruits and milk उपवास and some people take the केरल नेन्द्रपलम् (banana) 4-5 at a time which is more than the regular food itself. OK fruits and milk. Some people avoid rice and take everything else! फल आहारम्, फलम् means fruit, they think it is पल in तमिळ् and they take different kinds of foods and that day they eat more than what they generally eat, so therefore शास्त्र allows that fruits and milk alone or milk alone or other types of food, what the शास्त्र says is you should practice self-discipline. A let-go philosophy is suitable for the animal but not for the human being and if the human being is going to have a let-go philosophy; let-go philosophy means whatever I want to eat, whenever and wherever, eat. शास्त्र says that it is animalistic life and भगवान् will conclude that he has given the human life wrongly and therefore next जन्म back to पशु, ass, cow, elephant, etc and therefore कृष्ण says that let a person practice any one of these यज्ञs in any combinations. So they are called यज्ञविदः. यज्ञविदः means यज्ञ अनुष्ठायिन्. Those who practice यज्ञ that is indicated by the sacred thread ceremony also, यज्ञः उपवितम् it is called, it is a thread, exclusively worn for the sake of practicing one or more of these यज्ञs. And if I don't practice any one of them, the यज्ञोपवितम् is made redundant. Up to a particular age we can lead an animalistic life, as स्वामि विन्मयानन्द beautifully says: you can start as an animal-man but sooner or later you should become a man-man, when you become a man-man you practice one or more of these यज्ञs and through these यज्ञs when you get Self-knowledge, you are converted into a God man. Animal-man to Man-man to God-man. Now I am afraid to say God-man, because now a days, in newspapers, frauds and cheats are called God-man. So therefore कृष्ण says, एते सर्वे अपि यज्ञविदः भवन्ति, they are all called द्विजs, twice born. A free-licentious life you are born once, but once you have a deliberate life you are twice born, whether you wear the thread or not, you transform your lifestyle you are a द्विजs, द्विजs alone can become अजः, ब्रह्मन्. And what will happen by the practice of these यज्ञs, कृष्ण says: यज्ञ-क्षपित-कल्मषाः – by these यज्ञs they have destroyed all their कल्मषम्s. कल्मषम् means the impurities. What is the definition of impurity? Anything that obstructs Self-knowledge or spiritual growth is called impurity. Anything that obstructs spiritual growth is impurity, all these impurities are क्षपितम्, नाशितम् by the practice of these यज्ञs. Therefore, all यज्ञs are glorious, but remember these are not the 12 only. The 12 are only sample यज्ञs, there are many यज्ञs which कृष्ण himself mentions in the next श्लोक. Verse no.31;

Verse No .31

यज्ञशिष्टामृतभुजो यान्ति ब्रह्म सनातनम् ।

नायं लोकोऽस्त्ययज्ञस्य कुतोऽन्यः कुरुसतम् ॥ ४-३१॥

यज्ञ-शिष्ट-अमृत-भुजः यान्ति ब्रह्म सनातनम् ।

नायम् लोकः अस्ति अयज्ञस्य कुतः अन्यः कुरुसतम् ॥ ४-३१॥

हे कुरुसतम्! यज्ञ-शिष्ट-अमृत-भुजः सनातनम् ब्रह्म यान्ति । अयज्ञस्य अयम् लोकः न अस्ति, कुतः अन्यः ?

So here कृष्ण says, if a person practices one or more of these यज्ञs and thereafterwards he takes his regular food, because according to शास्त्र, eating or drinking is not the first job of the day. Unfortunately our lifestyles are changing and first of all we don't get up in the morning, the शास्त्र says one has to get up before sunrise, because भगवान्'s प्रत्यक्ष स्वरूपम् is सूर्य, सूर्यः प्रत्यक्ष देवता and भगवान् in the form of sun is coming to bless us and भगवान् सूर्यः is our guest and therefore when a guest comes, we should be ready to welcome. Therefore a man of यज्ञः gets up before the sunrise and before starting anything, consuming anything, one has to do the morning prayers. So bed coffee etc are all against Indian culture, TV switching on and reading all kinds of gossip magazines in the early morning; शास्त्र says start the day with prayers. In fact, स्नानम् itself is the first ritual. If it is the winter season, people think, that it is not perspiring much and they avoid taking bath or think that we will think about it later, after 12 o'clock lunch. No. The स्नानम् itself is a ritual because स्नानम्, according to us, has got a two-fold job, not only it has to wash the physical impurity which is only incidental, more important is we have to wash the inner impurity which we have gathered yesterday. Because every transaction gives mental dust also. When you go out you are gathering dust and therefore you come back and take bath and remember, in every transaction we are developing anger, jealousy, anxiety, frustration, they are all inner dust we gather and if you don't wash this dust regularly, you cannot say that I have taken bath yesterday, regularly we gather dust and therefore we have to regularly wash our physical body and parallelly we have to regularly wash our mind also. Therefore we have got स्नान मन्त्रs also and even if we don't know the special मन्त्रs, there is a मन्त्र called अघमर्षणसूक्तम्, अत्याशनादतीपानाद् यच्च उब्रात् प्रतिब्रहात् । तन्नो वरुणो राजा पाणिना ह्यवमर्शतु ।

सोऽहमपापो विरजो निर्मुक्तो मुक्तकिल्बिषः... ॥ अघमर्षणसूक्तम् ५९-६०॥

Oh Lord वरुण, वरुण is presiding deity of waters, when I take स्नानम् I address the Lord in waters and say yesterday Oh lord I have overeaten, in some business meeting not only over-eaten but has consumed all sorts of things. अति अशनम् is a पापम्, अति पानम्, drinking anything is, यच्च उब्रात् प्रतिब्रहात्, I have taken varieties of things which I am not supposed to take from people, for all of them, तन्नो वरुणो राजा पाणिना ह्यवमर्शतु । सोऽहमपापो विरजो निर्मुक्तो मुक्तकिल्बिषः. It is called अघमर्षणसूक्तम् – Sin washing hymn and daily during स्नानम् we are supposed to do that; that we may not know does not matter, if you don't know at least some राम राम राम, कृष्ण कृष्ण or स्तोत्र or गुरु स्तोत्र, पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम् chant something. So therefore स्नानम् itself is a यज्ञ and after स्नानम्, after prayer, after पूजा, after पायणम्, if I do all these things and thereafterwards if I break my fast, that is called breakfast. Now we need not break the fast, because we never fast, 24 hours we are eating. Many of us do not know what is hunger at all, because we have never given a chance to our body to tell us what is hunger, so therefore, we are supposed to break the fast religiously after this यज्ञः and that food I take is called यज्ञः शिष्टम्. My breakfast becomes यज्ञः शिष्टम्, शिष्टम् means प्रसाद, my lunch become यज्ञः प्रसाद, because lunch however hungry I am, I don't eat just like that, I do ब्रह्मार्पणम् ब्रह्महविः or एको विष्णु महत् भूतः, if you don't know anything at least say नारायण नारायण, etc., then you take that food, then it becomes यज्ञः शिष्टम्, these साधकs are taking what, यज्ञः शिष्टम् अमृतम्, this यज्ञः शिष्टम्, यज्ञः प्रसादम् is called अमृतम्. Why is it called अमृतम्? अमृतत्व हेतुत्वात् मोक्ष कारणत्वात्, since such a life will lead a person to मोक्ष or immortality, अमृतम् means don't think it is nectar drink, it is not in that meaning, अमृतम् is मोक्ष कारणम् इत्यर्थः. So यज्ञः शिष्ट is मोक्ष कारणम्, मोक्ष कारण भूत यज्ञ प्रसाद भोक्तारः, भुजः means those who take that. In fact, you can feel the change in mind, just try a loose living for a few days, (that is what we are doing) and try this disciplined living for a few days, you can see a tremendous difference in the mind, it seems to be light. So therefore कृष्ण says यज्ञ-शिष्ट-अमृत-भुजः, what will happen to them? सनातनम् ब्रह्म यावन्ति – they will all definitely attain ब्रह्मन्, they will all attain मोक्ष. How can they attain मोक्ष? Because I said there are 12 यज्ञs, of which one यज्ञः is ज्ञान यज्ञ, so if they practice the 11 यज्ञs initially, those 11 यज्ञs will lead a person to the ज्ञान यज्ञ which is the most powerful and not only that, these यज्ञs themselves will create a desire for ज्ञान यज्ञ, a religious life will create a desire for philosophical knowledge. And even after that desire, these यज्ञs themselves will give sufficient पुण्यम् to get a गुरु, sufficient पुण्यम् to get an atmosphere for learning, all the necessary conditions भगवान् will provide, ज्ञानम् will be a walk over and as a result of that, सनातनम् ब्रह्म याति – they attain immortal eternal ब्रह्मन्. Thus कृष्ण glorifies those people who do यज्ञः. We can call all of them कर्मयोगis. Having glorified these disciplined people, कृष्ण now strongly criticizes the other people who do not practice even one यज्ञः. So कृष्ण condemns them strongly. He says, अयज्ञस्य, unfortunately there are people who do not believe in any discipline. And they have got a wrong concept of freedom, human right, wrong concept of human right, why should I follow some scripture, why should I follow some गुरु, I am a human being, I am a free person, whatever I want to do I will do. I should know that, if a doctor gives me some discipline, it is for whose benefit, doctor is not going to get any benefit, if I follow these disciplines, it is only going to lead to my health. Similarly, if the scriptures give me discipline, remember scriptures are not going to get any benefit out of it, आचार्यs are not going to get any benefit out of it, only I am going to get benefit, but these people do not understand that they are meant for their own spiritual growth and therefore they don't practice any यज्ञs and they lead a life which is called care-free life. Whatever they feel they do, it is called काम वाद, काम भक्ष and one more, काम वाद and काम भक्ष means whatever you feel like doing, whatever you feel like talking, whatever you feel like eating, that licentious life those who lead, कृष्ण strongly criticizes by saying: अयज्ञस्य, for an undisciplined person, अयम् लोकः न अस्ति – even worldly happiness is impossible, because an undisciplined life will first take away physical health, the first causality is physical health and next casualty is mental health and he will have all the pleasures around, he might have money and all the luxurious things he might have, but he would have spoiled his body and mind that he cannot enjoy even a beautiful dance or music program, because even to enjoy worldly pleasures I should be a person together, I should be a harmonized person, an organized person, even for worldly pleasures. Therefore कृष्ण says an undisciplined person cannot enjoy even sense pleasures. अयम् लोकः, इहलोक सुखम् न अस्ति and when this worldly pleasures are not possible, what to talk of spiritual joy, which is a subtle आनन्द and which is much much higher than these gross pleasures of this world, कुतः अन्यः – where is the question of परलोक सुखम्, स्वर्गम् will not get at all, if he doesn't go to the नरकम् he is saved, so इहलोक सुखम् is not there, परलोक सुखम् is not there, मोक्ष सुखम् is definitely not possible for whom, अयज्ञस्य – the one who doesn't have any discipline. Continuing;

Verse No .32

एवं बहुविधा यज्ञा वितता ब्रह्मणो मुखे ।

कर्मजान्विद्धि तान्सर्वानेवं ज्ञात्वा विमोक्षयसे ॥ ४-३२॥

एवम् बहुविधाः यज्ञाः वितताः ब्रह्मणः मुखे ।

कर्मजान् विद्धि तान् सर्वान् एवम् ज्ञात्वा विमोक्षयसे ॥ ४-३२॥

एवम् बहुविधाः यज्ञाः ब्रह्मणः मुखे वितताः (सन्ति, त्वं) तान् सर्वान् कर्मजान् विद्धि । एवम् ज्ञात्वा (त्वं) विमोक्षयसे ।

So here कृष्ण says that these 12 यज्ञs are only sample यज्ञs. This is not an exhaustive list, we have got hundreds of यज्ञs, even in the वेदs. कृष्ण is only borrowing some यज्ञs from the वेदs, you should remember गीता is never an original work, but it is the elucidation of the वेदs, therefore all these यज्ञs, if you read शङ्कराचार्य and other आचार्यs' भाष्यम्, they will show which यज्ञ is borrowed from which part of the वेद, they give वैदिक references to show that कृष्ण is only bringing out the वैदिक wisdom, because in the introduction to the 4th chapter itself कृष्ण has said:

सः कालेन इह महता योगः नष्टः परन्तप ॥ ४-२॥

Hey अर्जुन! वैदिक wisdom has been lost and my job is not introducing a new system, I am only reviving the वैदिक tradition,

स एवायं मया तेऽद्य योगः प्रोक्तः पुरातनः ।

भक्तोऽसि मे सखा चेति रहस्यं ह्येतदुत्तमम् ॥ ४-३॥

Therefore कृष्ण himself tells that these 12 यज्ञs are only samples, like that there are many. एवम् – like the previous 12 यज्ञs, बहुविधाः यज्ञाः – varieties of यज्ञs, pilgrimage is there, which is not said and then जप यज्ञः is not said, there are so many यज्ञs which are not mentioned and if you want to know more go to the original. In fact, you need not know more, if you do this even sincerely it is enough, that itself is big thing, this is more than required, try to follow what minimum you know, because your aim is not scholarship, by knowing these यज्ञs you don't get any benefit like being a योगासन scholar and I ask him, he gives a description of all the योगासनs and I ask him how many hours you practice and he says “I don't practice, but I know what is this योगासन and what is that योगासन “ - that knowledge will not lead you anywhere and therefore what minimum you know, you follow, that is what is required, therefore कृष्ण says: ब्रह्मणः मुखे, ब्रह्म मुख means वेद. So in the pages of the वेदs, in the mouth of the वेद means in the pages of the वेदs, बहुविधाः यज्ञाः वितताः, why there are many यज्ञs, because of the capacity of different people. Suppose a person has got physical health, I can prescribe the bodily physical पूजा, you do सूर्य नमस्कार, there is सूर्य नमस्कार मन्त्र, 200 नमस्कारs are there in that, but this fellow getting up itself a big project, if you ask him to do सूर्य नमस्कार how will it work, if you are not able to do physical यज्ञः, you try to do वाचिक यज्ञः, if that is also not possible, do मानस यज्ञः, varieties are given because of अधिकारि भेद, some यज्ञs involve money, if you have to do यागम् you need money, if this fellow does not have money he need not complain, I cannot do any यज्ञः because I don't have any money, etc., कृष्ण will say, what money you need to do जप. And after all your mouth is 24 hours busy, you are talking all rubbish, two-fold benefit, one benefit is ईश्वर नाम you do, another benefit is at that time at least you will leave the other people from disturbance. It is better instead of talking all rubbish and hurting, with little expenditure. That is why in the 10th chapter, कृष्ण says, यज्ञानाम् जप-यज्ञः अस्मि, so thus varieties are given to suit varieties of साधकः, some ब्रह्मचारि can practice, some गृहस्थ can practice, some संन्यासि can practice. And therefore all these यज्ञः are given. Therefore अर्जुन, I want you to know one thing: What is that: all the यज्ञः have to be broadly classified into two: one is ज्ञान यज्ञ and the other is all other यज्ञः, non-ज्ञान यज्ञः. कृष्ण calls them द्रव्य यज्ञः or you can call them कर्म यज्ञः. So one is ज्ञान यज्ञः and all others are कर्म यज्ञः, remember even meditation or उपासना you practice will come under कर्म यज्ञ only. OK. And once you have classified all the यज्ञः into these two groups, you should know what is the role of these two. Whenever you are getting into a train and that too you want to transit, in plane and all, you have to get down and catch another flight, Similarly, in the train also you get down and catch another train, when you get into the first train or first flight, you should know up to what distance you have to travel in that and when you should get down, where you should get down and catch the next flight or train, if you don't know you will be reaching somewhere. Similarly, you should clearly know how far कर्म यज्ञः can take and what is the role of ज्ञान यज्ञ. This knowledge is very important, otherwise you are getting into a trip without knowing your destination and direction very clearly, you will be in a trip. And therefore कृष्ण says you should know, what is that? कर्म यज्ञः can only give purification of mind, all the कर्म यज्ञः, पूजा, जप, प्राणायाम, even अष्टाङ्ग योग, you should be very clear, अष्टाङ्ग योग also can only integrate the personality, I will talk about अष्टाङ्ग योग in the 6th chapter, so the योग discipline of पतञ्जलि also can give only purity of mind and we have got choices, you can follow any one or a combination of more also allowed, but you should remember that these will take me up to ज्ञान, up to purity only. Having attained the purity, by following any यज्ञs, there is a choice, after purity all the people will have to come to what, ज्ञान यज्ञः. Up to purity you have choice, but after purity,

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन ...। ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

तमेवम् विद्वानमृत इह भवति । नान्यः पन्था अयनाय विद्यते । ॥ पुरुषसूक्तम् १७ ॥

सम्पश्यन् ब्रह्म परमम् याति नान्येन हेतुना ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-१० ॥

तमात्मस्थम् येऽनुपश्यन्ति धीराः तेषाम् सुखम् शाश्वतम् नेतरेषाम् ॥ कठोपनिषद् २-२-१२ ॥

So it is said in all the scriptures and it is established logically also, that you have choice only up to getting the purity, after purity everybody has to come to ज्ञान यज्ञ. And therefore what is कृष्ण's advice? Follow any कर्म यज्ञ, purify the mind, follow ज्ञान यज्ञ and be liberated, therefore कृष्ण here gives warning, तान् सर्वान् कर्मजान् विद्धि, so सर्वान् means all the यज्ञs other than ज्ञान यज्ञ, all the यज्ञs other than ज्ञान यज्ञ, they are all कर्मजान् विद्धि, they are born out of कर्म, either कायिकम् or वाचिकम् or मानसम् and therefore you should know their plus point, as well as their minus point. What is their plus point, they can give purity; what is their minus point, they cannot give you knowledge, you will be previously an impure अज्ञानि, after कर्म यज्ञ, you will be a pure अज्ञानि, previously an impure अज्ञानि, now a pure अज्ञानि, previously a disturbed अज्ञानि, now a quiet अज्ञानि, even अष्टाङ्ग योग cannot give ज्ञानम्. Even a person might have reached the pinnacle of अष्टाङ्ग योग of निर्विकल्पक समाधि, even that person is only a fit person, he cannot get knowledge, ज्ञान यज्ञ is a different game or discipline altogether. What is the ज्ञान यज्ञ, you will be curious to know that कृष्ण will tell later, कृष्ण here tells this much, अर्जुन you know विद्धि तान् सर्वान्, all those non-ज्ञान यज्ञs to be born out of कर्म and एवम् ज्ञात्वा and having thus understood that कर्म यज्ञ gives purity and ज्ञान यज्ञ gives मोक्ष and therefore I should follow both, I should clearly know and follow them both, then विमोक्षयसे, mere knowledge is not enough, I should know and follow कर्म यज्ञ, purify the mind and follow ज्ञान यज्ञ and attain liberation. एवम् ज्ञात्वा विमोक्षयसे. Continuing;

Verse No .33

श्रेयान्द्रव्यमयाद्यज्ञाज्ज्ञानयज्ञः परन्तप ।

सर्वं कर्माखिलं पार्थ ज्ञाने परिसमाप्यते ॥ ४-३३॥

श्रेयान् द्रव्यमयात् यज्ञात् ज्ञान-यज्ञः परन्तप ।

सर्वम् कर्म-अखिलम् पार्थ ज्ञाने परिसमाप्यते ॥ ४-३३॥

हे परन्तप! द्रव्यमयात् यज्ञात् ज्ञान-यज्ञः श्रेयान् । हे पार्थ! सर्वम् अखिलम् कर्म ज्ञाने परिसमाप्यते ।

Now here कृष्ण talks about the glory of ज्ञान यज्ञः. And he says ज्ञान यज्ञ is the greatest यज्ञः. So ज्ञान-यज्ञः श्रेयान्. Compared to what? द्रव्यमयात् यज्ञात् – compared to all non-ज्ञान यज्ञs, what are they, the 11 यज्ञs which कृष्ण has mentioned here as well as the others, which He calls them as द्रव्यमय यज्ञ, we can understand it as कर्म यज्ञः. They are called द्रव्यमय यज्ञः because, in all the other यज्ञः, generally some materials are involved. If you do a यज्ञः, why a big यज्ञः, even आयुष्य होमम्, the priest will say to bring this, that etc., lot of द्रव्यम्s are involved and even in other यज्ञs like पारायणम्s, etc., at the end you have to conclude with a पूजा which involves materials. So many people who do भागवत पारायणम्s and other पारायणम्s, even though पारायणम्s does not involve material, generally the पारायणम्s have to be concluded with the पूजा for that material is required or अन्न दानम् you are supposed to do or you are supposed to visit particular temples, you have to go to तिरुपति or गुरुवायूर, that means most of the यज्ञs involve द्रव्यम्, द्रव्यम् means material, therefore कृष्ण calls them material यज्ञs, we can understand them as कर्म यज्ञ. So other than कर्म यज्ञs, ज्ञान यज्ञ is superior. And why it is superior? The logic is given in the 2nd line, सर्वम् कर्म-अखिलम् पार्थ ज्ञाने परिसमाप्यते. This line can be interpreted in two different ways, we will see both of them, because both of them are useful.

First meaning is all the कर्मs culminate in ज्ञानम्. All the कर्म यज्ञs reach their culmination only in knowledge. They reach their fructification only in knowledge, which means all the कर्म यज्ञs are useless if they do not lead to ज्ञानम्. It is like a person cooking elaborately for what purpose, ultimately it is for eating, suppose you cook – get vegetables from all over and even get the recipe book and looking at it time and again you just make it and keep aside and say breakfast is now over. Now what are you doing, I'm starting to prepare the lunch. The proof of the pudding is in eating – as it is said, therefore all your efforts of cooking gets fructified only when you eat, therefore other efforts gets validated only when you eat and get that तृप्ति. Similarly, all your साधनs are meaningful only when you come to this ज्ञानम् and that is this तृप्ति and that is why I have said very often that कर्म यज्ञs are incomplete without ज्ञान यज्ञ. All your साधनs are incomplete if you don't come to ज्ञान यज्ञ. वेद does not insist on time, when you should come to ज्ञान यज्ञ, वेद gives freedom, वेद doesn't say that you should come to ज्ञान यज्ञ today itself. No, if you are not interested in ज्ञानम् continue your पूजा, पुनस्कार, pilgrimage, etc., if you don't want know you should come later. After 5 years, No. I cannot come, after 10 years. After 50 years, no no no, in the entire life I won't come, so in the next birth. No next birth, after another hundred births. Some time you will have to come, otherwise all your effort is traveling from finitude to finitude, which is really not traveling, it is like pedaling that cycle which is used for reducing your tummy. That cycle if you use, after half an hour what will be your progress in terms of distance, you will be there itself; other than ज्ञान यज्ञ you do anything, you will be traveling from finitude to finitude and therefore one day you have to come to ज्ञानम्, therefore कर्म यज्ञs are only indirect means of liberation, ज्ञान यज्ञ alone is direct means of liberation. And therefore कृष्ण says हे पार्थ! सर्वम् अखिलम् कर्म – all the कर्मs without exception will find their fulfillment only in ज्ञान यज्ञः. From this you should also understand a very important point. When I say ज्ञान यज्ञ alone is the direct means, a person may decide, after all ज्ञान यज्ञ is direct means and कर्म यज्ञ is indirect. OK I will directly go to ज्ञान यज्ञ, why to do this and that पूजा etc. So you should remember that कर्म यज्ञs are incomplete without ज्ञान यज्ञः, equally you should add, ज्ञान यज्ञ is impossible without going through कर्म यज्ञ, there is no shortcut. You cannot say why should I go through primary school and secondary school and in the end everyone goes to the University and therefore get me admission at the age of five in the university, can you do that, you go to university, when you hear the lecture you don't get knowledge, you get yawning, why because it goes everywhere except into your head, therefore you have to go through primary school, secondary school, etc., and the primary school is incomplete without university, university is impossible without going through primary school, therefore there is no shortcut. Go through कर्म यज्ञः, go through ज्ञान यज्ञ and be free. This is meaning No.1.

The second meaning is: कृष्ण says: All the कर्मफलम् are included in ज्ञानफलम्. So समाप्यते means अन्तर्भवति, ज्ञानम् is superior to कर्म because all the कर्मफलम्s are included in ज्ञानफलम्. You know why, the logic is this, all कर्म-फलम्s are finite in nature, because it is produced in time, you work and you get the benefit, working is finite, the benefit also will be every action has got equal (opposite is not now necessary) reaction, since actions are finite, the results also will be finite. So all कर्म-फलम्s are finite in nature, whereas what about ज्ञानफलम्? The ज्ञानम् leads to the knowledge that अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि, ब्रह्म अस्मि, सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम् ब्रह्मास्मि, so ज्ञानफलम् is what, infinite. Can infinite be included in finite? No. Infinite cannot be included in finite, whereas finite is included in the infinite. तमिळनाडु is included in India, but India is not included in तमिळनाडु. Similarly, here also कृष्ण says ज्ञाने ज्ञानफले पूर्णफले सर्वम् कर्म, सर्वम् कर्मफलम् अन्तर्भवति and कृष्ण had given an example in the 2nd chapter. I don't know whether you remember, what is that example,

यावान् अर्थः उदपाने सर्वतः सम्प्लुतोदके ।

तावान् सर्वेषु वेदेषु ब्राह्मणस्य विजानतः ॥ २-४६॥

When you have got a huge lake of pure water in front of you, will you go to the bore well? Who will be after the limited water when he has got a huge lake of pure water, ज्ञानफलम् is like the infinite lake and all the कर्म-फलम्s are trickling waters from other sources and because of this reason also, ज्ञानम् is superior.

So the first reason is what, ज्ञानम् is superior because it is direct means of liberation, through which everybody has to go through. Second reason is ज्ञानम् is superior because, in the benefit of ज्ञानम् all the other कर्म-फलम्s are included. So now naturally, we are interested in knowing what is ज्ञान यज्ञः, lot of advertisement has been given, sometimes in the newspapers also it is said, the advertisements are inserted to say: watch the very same place tomorrow, to create curiosity so that you will watch or after 3 days they will say, 'watch Thursday, watch Thursday,' they will say, all these tricks are कृष्ण's trick only. OK. All कृष्ण's method, He has built up and now you want to know what is ज्ञान यज्ञः. How am I to pursue Self-knowledge, कृष्ण gives that method also in the next श्लोक.

Verse No .34

तद्विद्धि प्रणिपातेन परिश्रमेण सेवया ।

उपदेक्ष्यन्ति ते ज्ञानं ज्ञानिनस्तत्त्वदर्शिनः ॥ ४-३४॥

तत् विद्धि प्रणिपातेन परिप्रश्नेन सेवया ।

उपदेक्ष्यन्ति ते ज्ञानम् ज्ञानिनः तत्त्व-दर्शिनः ॥ ४-३४॥

प्रणिपातेन परिप्रश्नेन सेवया तत्त्व-दर्शिनः ज्ञानिनः ज्ञानम् ते उपदेक्ष्यन्ति तत् (त्वं) विद्धि ।

So first कृष्ण points out that ज्ञान यज्ञ cannot be practice independently by a person. The other साधनs he may practice independently, but ज्ञान यज्ञ requires an external guidance and this guidance is two-fold, two things are required.

One is शास्त्रम्, scriptures which deals with the Self, because the other books do not deal with the Self, all the other books deal with only the external world because they are all objective sciences and here I am not interested in anything objective, but I am interested in seeing, knowing myself who am I. If I have to see my own face what should I do? I cannot be arrogant, I will try myself and see to try to roll your eyes here and there, only your eyes will be troubled, eyes can never directly see your face, therefore what do you do, you go to a mirror, because mirror is capable of showing yourself. A gross mirror is required for seeing the gross personality. Here I am interested in knowing my inner nature, therefore require a special mirror, an extraordinary mirror and that mirror is the scriptures, the word mirror, verbal mirror, शास्त्रदर्पण इति. So first thing that we require is scriptures.

Then the second thing we require is, I cannot operate the शास्त्रदर्पण myself. I will not know how to use the mirror, because mirror also can help me see my face only when I use it properly. Is it not? Suppose there is a person who takes the mirror and says that he could not see. I used the mirror, I could not see the face, what has happened, he has seen the backside of the mirror, mirror will help you see yourselves only when you use it in the appropriate manner. Similarly, शास्त्र will bless you with the knowledge only when you know how to operate the शास्त्र, if you don't know how to operate the शास्त्र not only it may not give you knowledge, it may end up giving up wrong knowledge and therefore we require another one who helps you operate the शास्त्रम् properly and that second factor is called गुरुः. So गुरु and शास्त्रम् together will help me in gaining this knowledge and therefore अर्जुन go to a गुरु. The details of which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 34-36

Lord कृष्ण talked about the glory of knowledge up to verse no.33, beginning from the 25th verse and now in the 34th verse Lord कृष्ण wants to complete this topic by giving the means of acquiring this knowledge. How can one acquire Self-knowledge? And as I said before, the Self is not available for any regular instruments of knowledge, because all the instruments are turned outwards, they are extrovert in nature, therefore they can reveal only the objective world. Just as no particular instrument you can use to see your own eyes however powerful the instrument may be you can see the objects outside, but not the eyes themselves and therefore if you have to see your own eyes there is only one method and that is we have to use a mirror which is capable of reflecting your eye. In the same way, if the आत्मा has to be recognized we require a special mirror which is capable of revealing the आत्मा, the local mirror can reflect only the स्थूल शरीरम्, the local mirror cannot reflect even our mind, what to talk of आत्मा. And therefore we require a special mirror which is शास्त्रदर्पणः - the words of the scriptures which are capable of revealing our nature to ourselves and it is not enough that we have a mirror, we should also know how to use the mirror properly. If the mirror is improperly used it cannot reflect your face. And not only the mirror should be properly used, it must not have any dust covering the surface, if there is any dust then also the reflection cannot come, even if it comes it will be dull and vague. And therefore, we require another assistance to help us to use the mirror properly and that is that assistance alone we call गुरु. गुरु holds the mirror properly, he presents the scriptural teaching in such a way that you are able to understand yourselves properly. And even while using that if there are any doubts or any dust in the mirror, the dust is in the form of wrong understanding of the scriptures, incomplete understanding of the scriptures, they are all dust like obstacles and therefore a गुरु is required to wipe the mirror clean and present the mirror properly, so that one can gain Self-knowledge and therefore कृष्ण tells one requires a गुरु. And if at all there are people who have attained knowledge without गुरु, that should be taken only as an exception and we should never use the exception as a general rule, because exception is exception. Never apply the exception as a general rule and therefore गुरु is required. Thereafterwards I said that when we use the word गुरु, we have got several different concepts of गुरु, the initiating गुरु, we know, the one who gives you a मन्त्र उपदेश and you receive after पादपूजा and thereafter you repeat the मन्त्र, i.e., initiating गुरु, he will be useful in giving the मन्त्र and therefore चित्तशुद्धि, but that is not going to remove my ignorance. If you chant a particular मन्त्र, नमश्शिवाय or नारायणाय, it is wonderful alright, it purifies the mind alright, but it is never going to give you the knowledge अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि. So therefore, initiating गुरुs are useful for purification, inspiring गुरुs are useful for inspiration. So thus all गुरुs are useful, all गुरुs are required also, but the गुरु that कृष्ण is talking about is the teaching गुरु, the one who wants to communicate knowledge to the disciple and that is why when अर्जुन wanted knowledge, कृष्ण did not function as an inspiring गुरु. If कृष्ण has to inspire two minutes only required.

वलैब्यम् मा स्म गमः पार्थ न एतत् त्वयि उपपद्यते ।

क्षुद्रम् हृदय-दौर्बल्यम् त्यक्त्वा उत्तिष्ठ परन्तप ॥ २-३॥

Why are acting like a person who is neither male nor a female, this is good for you, you are such a great अर्जुन and कृष्ण inspired अर्जुन but that role did not help अर्जुन and कृष्ण did not do मन्त्रोपदेशम्: “अर्जुन, you chant this regularly, your Self-ignorance will go”, कृष्ण did not serve as an initiating गुरु, because such role can only prepare the mind, they cannot remove ignorance. When कृष्ण wanted to remove अर्जुन’s ignorance, कृष्ण functioned as a teaching गुरु. You have to know the difference between an initiating गुरु, an inspiring गुरु and a teaching गुरु. And कृष्ण served अर्जुन as a teaching गुरु means what: systematic teaching of वेदान्त exactly like any other science, like physics, like chemistry, like mathematics, like economics, it is a systematic teaching and development, chapter after chapter. And कृष्ण did not say, अर्जुन I am God, therefore you have no right to question Me, you have to believe Me, have faith; No, where teaching is involved, faith, mere blind acceptance will not work, the student must be allowed to ask question, teaching means question should be allowed, inspiration means be no question, initiation means no question, why नमश्शिवाय if you ask, 'it is good for you,' that is the only answer, don't ask further. OK, if you don't like that मन्त्र then chant नारायणाय, there is no logical analysis involved, because there is no knowledge involved, once knowledge has to be imparted, like any other subject matter, systematic teaching has to be done. अर्जुन has to carefully listen, that is why कृष्ण repeatedly says शृणु शृणु शृणु. शृणु means what: active listening, not like listening to a कथा, when you are listening to a story, thinking is not involved, राम went from this आश्रम to other आश्रम. What is the logic behind? If you ask, that was the nearest आश्रम perhaps, what more logic one can say. Therefore, कथा listening is passive and you can also miss some portions, no harm, because it is not a tight build-up, whereas learning involves, understanding involves, active listening and also reconciling the statements of the teacher, all these are involved are called समन्वयः. I cannot just say one day that knowledge is the only means of liberation and another day I say there are four means of liberation, then I am not a proper teacher. If I say knowledge is the only means of liberation, I should consistently hold on to that, right from the first class up to the last class, even if you may forget what I have said in the first class, if I am a proper teacher I have to reconcile every statement and that is why कृष्ण allows अर्जुन to ask questions. 3rd chapter begins with questions. 4th chapter अर्जुन asks, कृष्ण, You are contradicting, not blind faith, you are saying that You have taught सूर्य also and You are teaching me also, it is illogical. And कृष्ण had to answer chapter after chapter, अर्जुन asked questions and in the 18th chapter also, अर्जुन asked the question. That means what: it is a systematic science which requires thinking, understanding, assimilating, questioning. And therefore it is not a half-an-hour business, for initiation maximum time taken is half-an-hour, you should do a पादपूजा and I have to come and say close to your ears to repeat the मन्त्र I tell him to chant, initiation doesn't take time, like $E=MC^2$. It is supposed to be an important equation in science. Matter-Energy equation. Now suppose I tell you I will teach you physics and then you come in the college and then you do the पादपूजा to the physics professor and he says: $E=MC^2$, chant this 108 times daily, $E=MC^2$, At the beginning utter loudly, then medium sound, then silent chanting, $E=MC^2$. Do it for 15 years, what will you understand, we will only do E and show our teeth, $E=MC^2$ is not a matter for जप, it is a matter for understanding. And to understand what is E, you require 20 years of college and still they say we cannot understand, M requires so many years of study, C you require study and what is square. Every word I should understand. Similarly, वेदान्त is also a very significant equation that you are the ultimate reality and this is not meant for जप, सोऽहम्, सोऽहम्, सोऽहम्. If you chant in तमिऴ्, it will be a tragedy, because there is no difference between स and च etc., ह is pronounced as क, there is a lot of confusion in तमिऴ्, wherever ह comes they say क, मोहन will be the name, they will say it as मोकन, भगवान् is uttered as भहवान्, ह and क confusion. After improper chanting for some time, सोऽहम् सोऽहम् chant has now become शोकम् in तमिऴ्, शोकम् means sorrow, moreover you also chant शोकमस्मि! Which means that you confirm that you are sorrow! Why to chant that. Without chanting also it is self-evident matter which has become your nature! Therefore सः means the content of the macrocosm, अहम् means the content of the microcosm, I am talking about the identity of the contents of the macro and micro, this is not meant for believing or repeating, it is meant for knowing and until you know, you have to hear, you are a right to ask questions and until you are convinced, the teaching is incomplete, my conviction doesn't make the teaching complete, the teaching is complete only when you are convinced and that is why कृष्ण went chapter after chapter, until in the 18th chapter end, अर्जुन said

नष्टः मोहः स्मृतिः लब्धा त्वत् प्रसादात् मया अव्युत । ... ॥ १८-७३॥

हे कृष्ण! my confusion is gone, I have clearly understood your teaching. And this teaching गुरु is referred to here by Lord कृष्ण. Therefore he says, ज्ञानिनः उपदेक्ष्यन्ति, the ज्ञानिन्s who have understood this science, Vedantic science, not only they have understood, those who have got this skill of communication also. Knowing is one thing, communication is totally another skill and a गुरु enjoys the status of a गुरु only when he has got both knowledge and communication. Suppose a person has got knowledge, no communication, in college and all sometimes you find some professors, they may be gold medalist and in their class, you will get a good sleep, they are very good in knowing, but they don't know how to communicate and suppose there is another person who has a communication skill, but no stuff inside, so what to communicate, no use. Therefore कालिदास defines गुरु in one of the नाटकs,

श्लिष्टा क्रिया कस्यचिदात्मसंस्था संक्रान्तिरन्यस्य विशेषयुक्ता ।

यस्योभयम् साधु स शिक्षकाणाम् धुरि प्रतिष्ठापयितव्य एव ॥
मालविकाग्निमित्रम् १-१६ ॥

There are some people who have got lot of knowledge inside, but the problem is what, no communication, there are some people संक्रान्तिरन्यस्य विशेषयुक्ता, संक्रान्ति means communication, transferring the knowledge from oneself to the other, otherwise I will be teaching mysticism. what is mysticism, what is mystery to the student is called mysticism, what is mystery to the student is mysticism and I go on making statements, you will say wonderful, स्वामिजि's class is superb, etc., and if you ask him what did he say: you will say that it is not known, who wants that, I don't want certificates, do you get something out of what I say, that is called communication, so संक्रान्तिरन्यस्य विशेषयुक्ता. And then who is a गुरु, यस्योभयम् साधु स शिक्षकाणाम्, यत्र अभयं वर्तते, knowledge is also there and communication also is there, such a person alone should be given charge of गुरुत्वम् and such a गुरु is called in उपनिषत्,

श्रोत्रियः ब्रह्मनिष्ठः गुरुः

ब्रह्म निष्ठः means the one who has knowledge, श्रोत्रियः means the one who has got the skill of communication, the method of communication, that श्रोत्रियः ब्रह्म-निष्ठः गुरुः alone, कृष्ण is paraphrasing as ज्ञानिनः तत्त्व-दर्शिनः, तत्त्व-दर्शि means ब्रह्म-निष्ठः, that means he wants to say that you are ब्रह्मन् only after knowing I am ब्रह्मन्. Now, if I am in doubt whether I am ब्रह्मन् or not, how can I boldly say you are ब्रह्मन्, I will discuss all other things boldly and when the teaching part comes to the statement: you are ब्रह्मन्, I will utter it in a less sound. Why because I am not sure, so therefore, the one for whom I am ब्रह्मन् is the most intimate fact, for that person alone the statement तत्त्वमसि - you are ब्रह्मन् can be a powerful word. Like a doctor smoker when he advises his patient not to smoke, his advice will never be powerful advice, because being a smoker, I don't have the moral authority to say don't smoke. If I am not a smoker and I know that, I can boldly say the words will have life. Similarly, तत्त्व-दर्शि alone is one for whom अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि is an intimate fact, therefore we can say तत् त्वम् असि. And not only he is a तत्त्व-दर्शि, he is a ज्ञानिनः, he has the method of communication, which is called संप्रदाय, developed in the form of a परम्परा. As we saw in केनोपनिषत् class, the teacher said, nobody can communicate this but still my गुरु used some method, that technique worked for me, let me try the same method of communication. And the one who has that method or संप्रदाय, शङ्कराचार्य calls him संप्रदायवित्. शङ्कर also warns the one who does not have this traditional संप्रदाय, even if he is a महा ज्ञानि, if he doesn't have the संप्रदाय of communication, avoid that person, असंप्रदायवित् मुखवत् उपेक्षणीय. He might be a ज्ञानि and if he doesn't have the traditional key, he doesn't have the right to be a गुरु and therefore avoid such people, do नमस्कार to them, get the blessing, convert them into initiating गुरुs and convert them into inspiring गुरुs, but never use them as teaching गुरु and therefore ज्ञानिनः तत्त्व-दर्शिनः उपदेक्ष्यन्ति. They will communicate to you, what: ज्ञानम्. They will happily impart the knowledge to you but you should make sure that you deserve that knowledge. You should become a पात्रम् for that knowledge. In तमिळ् it is said: you should give something to a deserving one. If milk is poured in a wrong container, what will happen, the milk will get spoilt or there is a container with lot of holes, it is a holy vessel, full of holes, then you keep on pouring, it gets empty. Therefore, I should become a पात्रम् and पात्रम् means lot of qualification is required. But कृष्ण emphasizes two qualifications here. What are they, जिज्ञासा and विनयः,

इति शुश्रुम पूर्वेषाम् ये नस्तद्वयावचक्षिरे ॥ केनोपनिषत् ३ ॥

➤ One should have intense desire for this knowledge, this is the only remedy for संसार, this alone can remove my frustration in life, my pains in life, I should clearly know that is called जिज्ञासा, desire for this knowledge,

➤ The second thing is what, I should have humility, I should accept my ignorance. In fact, accepting the ignorance is the toughest problem, because ego does not allow, why should I go and study with him, I know everything, I have read so many books, an egoistic person can never gain any knowledge and therefore one should have विनयः. And how do you know the discipline has got विनय or not, because humility is an invisible thing, it is a mental character, how can I know whether this person is humble or not.

Therefore, शास्त्र says, express your humility by doing नमस्कार to your गुरु, the physical prostration in our tradition symbolizes my humility. Therefore कृष्ण says तत् विद्धि – you learn systematically from the teaching गुरु, you learn clarifying doubts at regular intervals, you learn, but how should you start, प्रणिपातेन – by doing नमस्कार to the गुरु, प्रणिपातः means falling, प्र-निपातः means totally falling at the feet of the गुरु and also प्रणिपात indicates what, humility, but how do I know the शिष्य is interested in knowledge, because in our Indian culture, we go to the ज्ञानिन्स for different purposes, if you go any one of the शङ्कराचार्य, there will be a big queue and see what they are asking, they will be asking for everything except ज्ञानम्, son is not getting married, he didn't get admission in America, in this litigation I should succeed, I am not being cured of the stomach ache and the गुरु will then tell you that I am not being cured of this 'headache' of listening to you! So therefore, they will be sometime getting frustrated because they have run out for that thing and they have to talk about everything else and even by mistake they cannot talk of वेदान्त. So therefore how can they tell you, you are ब्रह्मन्, when you are talking about 3rd daughter's marriage? She wants मोक्ष from the daughter now, not from संसार, so if you say पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम्, सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, स्थूल शरीरम्, etc., they will not listen. Therefore how does teacher know that student is interested? Therefore कृष्ण says परिप्रश्नेन – you ask for the knowledge; so प्रणिपात represents humility, परिप्रश्न represents जिज्ञासा, जिज्ञासा means desire for learning. And then what is the next thing that you have to do, सेवया, सेवा means, सेवा in संस्कृत means service, सेवा means service, service to the गुरु, what is the purpose of service to the गुरु, two-fold purpose,

When a शिष्य comes to the गुरु and starts learning, he doesn't have a scope for all the other types of service, because he has come to the गुरु and he is involved in learning, therefore he cannot do any other कर्म. And if he is lacking in mental purity, there must be some means of purifying the mind, therefore service to the teacher will remove any impurity if it is still lingering. If he is already pure शिष्य, no problem, but nobody comes with 100% purity, many of them will be sticking, the very service will remove those sticking impurities, that is one purpose, purity, qualification.

And the second purpose is for any communication, a rapport must be there, so there must be an understanding between गुरु and शिष्य, गुरु must know the mentality of the disciple, what are his strong points, what are his weak points etc., there must be a weighing of the disciple and that is why whenever you go to any lecture as a new lecture for the first time you go, initially you are only trying to get acquainted with the place, even if here there is somebody new, many people are sitting and this स्वामिजि is talking in English (your thought is that स्वामिजि should not talk in English) and he is doing this and that and you are trying to find what type of people come and ladies more or gents more, youngsters more. Now you have the atmosphere is new, co-students are new, the place is new, the teacher is महा new, everybody is new, therefore initially to get into the system the mind takes time and therefore one year or six months the teacher says, let us have acclimatization. As in mountain base camp and spend a month or two there. Suddenly from zero height to 29,000 feet height, all your blood vessels will get ruptured, oxygen won't be there, therefore there are all several camps because in each particular height and temperature etc., you have to get acclimatized. Similarly, a mental and intellectual acclimatization is required, that is why some people say also. स्वामिजि, I have been attending the classes for so many years but now only I am starting to understand, that is also a feeling. So do you mean all the other classes are waste, no, they all have created your mental, physical and intellectual preparation and I also have adjusted a lot, because I also should know that if I tell this example, they will not respond and therefore I have also to change to another appropriate example. Come down, come down, come down, I also get acclimatized to the atmosphere of the student, all these are done by giving a time gap, सेवया. Time gap alone is not sufficient, intimacy is required, therefore in the form of service, there is a mutual understanding. दयानन्द स्वामिजि used to tell when we were in the आश्रम, he used to ask us to write notes; so initially I also asked the students to write notes and submit to me, so that I will know what the student is getting and what the student is not getting and sometimes totally differently also. In fact, one of my talks had come in The Hindu paper, I do not know how many of you read it, it was about the कुण्डलिनी योग. I had said that कुण्डलिनी योग is an advanced प्राणायाम discipline which may give certain सिद्धिs and all, we don't require, we require only knowledge I have said, but in the paper it had come, कुण्डलिनी योग is a means of मोक्षम्. So therefore, it is not that person commits mistakes, but while listening there can be gap, so therefore स्वामिजि used to ask us to write it and submit. Not only that you are going to propagate also! There he used to tell that by/ through the notes and all I am interviewing you and I also know that through the classes you are interviewing me also, I know. Both are judging each other. So thus a time gap is required and intimacy is required, all these are achieved by what, सेवया and by this you become a पात्रम् and then the communication is successful, ज्ञानिनः तत्त्व-दर्शिनः ते ज्ञानम् उपदेक्ष्यन्ति, they will impart knowledge to you. Verse No .35

येन भूतान्यशेषाण द्रक्ष्यस्यात्मन्यथो मयि ॥ ४-३७॥

यत् ज्ञात्वा न पुनः मोहम् एवम् यास्यसि पाण्डव ।

येन भूतानि अशेषाणि द्रक्ष्यसि आत्मानि अथो मयि ॥ ४-३७॥

हे पाण्डव! यत् ज्ञात्वा (त्वं) पुनः एवम् मोहम् न यास्यसि, येन भूतानि अशेषेण आत्मानि अथो मयि द्रक्ष्यसि ।

So with the previous verse, the glorification of knowledge and the means of knowledge topic is complete. Now in the following verses beginning from 35 कृष्ण is talking about ज्ञानफलम्, 35 to 37, the benefit of gaining this knowledge. So there are several benefits and कृष्ण presents benefit in different ways in different contexts. So in this verse He presents the ज्ञानफलम् in two different ways.

1) First benefit is मोह नाशः, conflicts in life will end. One of the biggest problems in life is conflict and अर्जुन himself) surrendered to कृष्ण because of his conflict only. अर्जुन knew धर्मशास्त्र very well, he was a very educated person, therefore he did not lack धर्मशास्त्र knowledge, he knew that दुर्योधनादयः were आततायिs and he himself uses the word आततायि. आततायि means criminal deserving capital punishment, आततायि means a criminal who deserves only one punishment and that is capital punishment and therefore अर्जुन very clearly knew धर्मपुत्र also clearly knew दुर्योधन deserves only treatment. And the last attempt also is over, साम, दान, all are over by कृष्ण going to दुर्योधन. In spite of clear knowledge why did अर्जुन have conflict? So that means what: any amount of information you get, any amount of knowledge you get, it is not going to be a guarantee against conflict. Conflict is mainly because of attachment. Because of attachment I don't want certain consequences in future, I am not ready to face the future, अर्जुन was not ready to face the day when भीष्म and द्रोण will be absent from the earth, he was not ready for that. If he was not ready for that day why can't he remain in the forest itself? He was not interested in continuing in the forest also, the future will be one of the results, either भीष्म etc., will have to be killed or अर्जुन should continue in the forest, अर्जुन is not ready to face either of the future. Our inability to face the future because of attachment is the cause of conflicts in life. Our inability to face the future because of our emotional attachment is the cause of conflict and you cannot avoid decisions in life, you cannot avoid facing future and therefore what do you do, we postpone our decision, somehow escape, we will see later. And by postponing, how long can you postpone, you have to take some decision in life, whether to go to America or remain in India, whether to take this job or that, whether to get married or not, whether to become संन्यासि or not, whether to marry this girl or not, how long can you postpone and each decision is a risky decision because I cannot control my future and as somebody said, marriage is not a word, marriage is a sentence! It is only a joke, so therefore it can end up as a wonderful life or it can end up as a sentence or life imprisonment sentence from where you can never get out. So therefore every decision exposes me to an unpredictable future and if I am not ready to face future I try to avoid decisions. But I cannot avoid decisions, even coming to the class for many people every Sunday is a conflict. Whether to come today or not and there is a little drizzle, phone to स्वामिजि to check up whether the class is there or not! Decision where to keep it there or here, anyway that is incidental. Therefore conflict is our weakness born out of attachment because of which I want to avoid facing future and once I have got Self-knowledge, the advantage is I am ready to face any future. That is one thing through which I get strength and I have to take decisions for future, whether I am a ज्ञानि or an अज्ञानि, with the available data, with best motive I take a decision. I know the decision can give a favorable situation or it can give an unfavorable situation, but I don't evade the decision because I am ready to face either way, therefore jump and get married or jump and take संन्यास, either way or else you will say, स्वामिजि you took संन्यास and are asking us to marry and push us into संसार. So I am not saying either way. Take one decision or the other, but tell I am taking the decision, future is unpredictable but I have no regret because I am ready to face any consequence. Therefore, knowledge gives the strength to take decisions and avoid conflicts in life. Therefore, यत् ज्ञात्वा – by gaining this knowledge हे अर्जुन, मोहम् न यास्यसि – you will never get into conflict anymore, you will never get into conflict anymore, एवम्, एवम् means as you have got now, because in the starting of the 2nd chapter अर्जुन said,

न चैतद्धिन्नः कतरन्नो गरीयो यद्वा जयेम यदि वा नो जयेयुः । ॥ २-६॥

हे कृष्ण! I don't know which course is better, whether to fight or not to fight, as it is said, 'to be or not to be' and even if I fight, I don't know whether we are going to win or lose. So therefore decision making is the most painful and now-a-days we have got यहु कालम्, गुलिक कालम्, यम गण्डम्, this will not be a problem if we didn't know but we all know it and as such decision-making is difficult, added to that is this, now you have got time for everything. Somebody wanted to give me a book to see and he lifted the book and looked at the watch and stopped and said स्वामिजि wait and I had to wait for one more minute, he was just giving his name or money for the camp or something like that, for that all this. I don't say that यहु कालम् is bluff, I don't say astrology is bluff. What I am saying is astrology instead of helping a person, it is creating conflict. If it is creating more conflict and indecision again it is another problem. So therefore, I should know to have strength in life and some people ask this question and one astrologer will ask you to start, saying it is the best time. You go to another astrologer and ask, then you are finished, opposite view. Just as two doctors will never agree, two astrologers will never agree and he will say that if this marriage takes place, within 3 months he will lose life or the job, this is the best जातकम्, this man says. Third astrologer says something else. If you don't get mad it is because of God's grace. Therefore, Self-knowledge keeps you sane. Self-knowledge keeps you sane. मोहम् न एवम् यास्यसि पाण्डव. This is benefit No.1.

2) Then the second benefit is: येन भूतानि अशेषाणि द्रक्ष्यसि आत्मनि अथो मयि, you will have जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐव्य दर्शनम्. That is the essence of the 2nd line, you will have जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐव्य दर्शनम्, जीवेश्वर ऐव्य दर्शनम् you will have. How? कृष्ण conveys this in an indirect manner. कृष्ण says after this knowledge you will know that all living beings, the entire creation is resting in God. The entire creation is resting in God, you will understand, ईश्वर is विश्वाधारम् गगन सदृशम् Lord is like space all-pervading. Just as the space supports the whole creation, similarly, ईश्वरः the विदाकाश स्वरूपः sustains the whole creation, you will know. And then कृष्ण makes another statement also, He says not only you will know that the whole world is in God, you will also know that the whole world is in you. The whole world is in God you will know and you will also know that the whole world is in you. If you keep these two statements together what can you derive? Whole world is in God, Whole world is in you, means what: you are God. You are God. It is exactly like the wave being told that after knowledge that you will understand that you - the wave and the ocean are one and the same, how: wave is also essentially water, ocean is also essentially water, in that essence water alone everything is resting, Similarly, ईश्वरः is also essentially चैतन्यम्, you are also essentially चैतन्यम्, in that चैतन्यम् alone the whole creation is resting. So thus जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्यम् पश्यति. That is what is said, भूतानि मयि द्रक्ष्यसि – you will see all beings in Me, in Me means in the Lord, आत्मनि पश्यसि, you will see in yourselves. आत्मनि means in the individual Self, मयि means the total Self. You will see the entire creation, which is resting in the total Self, which is non-different from the individual Self. Continuing;

Verse No .36

अपि चेदसि पापेभ्यः सर्वेभ्यः पापकृत्तमः ।

सर्वं ज्ञानप्लवेनैव वृजिनं सन्तरिष्यसि ॥ ४-३६॥

अपि चेत् असि पापेभ्यः सर्वेभ्यः पाप-कृत्तमः ।

सर्वम् ज्ञान-प्लवेन एव वृजिनम् सन्तरिष्यसि ॥ ४-३६॥

(त्वं) सर्वेभ्यः पापेभ्यः अपि पाप-कृत्तमः असि चेत् सर्वम् वृजिनम् ज्ञान-प्लवेन एव सन्तरिष्यसि ।

So two-fold ज्ञानफलम् is mentioned. मोह नाशः, ऐवय दर्शनम्,

3) Now कृष्ण gives the third benefit, namely, सर्व पाप नाशः, the benefit of Self-knowledge is the destruction of all your पापम्, which cannot be done by any other method. Why it cannot be done by any other method, because the other method is what, प्रायश्चित्त कर्म. Now if you have to do प्रायश्चित्त for every पापम् that you have done not in this जन्म alone, but in अनादि अविद्या वासनया, (you will say in श्रावणी पौर्णिमा सङ्कल्प, crores of जन्मs we have done पापम्, पाप राशि is bigger than 100 crore हिमालय and) you have to प्रायश्चित्तम् and when are you going to do for all these. Even if you do one by one, you eliminate. The problem is what, as even you are eliminating the पापम् from one direction, the other side we are busy acquiring fresh ones. And there are certain कर्मs for which the कर्म पाप can be done very shortly, quickly but the पापफलम् will take several जन्मs to exhaust. Like for some of the पापम्, the धर्मशास्त्र says, if a person deserts a young wife after marrying, for that महा पापम् the फलम् is for next 7 जन्मs he will be born a women and he will face similar circumstances. कर्म is done in one जन्म, the result one has to bear is in the next sevenजन्मs! So therefore we can acquire पापम्s and पापम्s, where is the question of exhausting all of them and therefore कृष्ण compares the पापम् to the huge ocean, वृजिनम् आर्णवम्, which you cannot cross normally, whereas ज्ञानम् is like a boat and the ज्ञानम् will destroy all the पापम् and not only the past पापम्, सञ्चित पापानि, सञ्चित पाप विनाशन लिंगम् तत् प्रणमामि सदाशिव लिंगम् ॥

So not only all the सञ्चित पापम् acquired in the previous जन्म, the present पापम्s acquired in this जन्म and being acquired (we are busy still), and also the future would-be पापम्s, all of them will be destroyed. Therefore He says, हे अर्जुन! suppose you are the greatest sinner in the world, अर्जुन is not. But for argument sake कृष्ण says: Suppose: अपि चेत् सर्वेभ्यः पापेभ्यः पाप-कृतमः, you are the worst sinner in the entire world and all the पापम्s enumerated in the scriptures you have very diligently done, even if you have done, सर्वम् सन्तरिष्यसि, you need worry, you need not have guilt, you can cross over all those पापम्s. You should not ask, स्वामिजि since I could get rid of all the पापम्s, so that I can do fresh पापम्s, removing the पापम् is not for doing fresh one, ज्ञानम् will destroy all the पापम् and it will not produce fresh ones also. Therefore, ज्ञान-प्लवेन एव, प्लव means a boat, if you have a boat even the deepest ocean you can cross. So ज्ञानम् एव प्लव, boat of knowledge will help you, वृजिनम् सन्तरिष्यसि, वृजिनम् means पाप सागर, the ocean of sin, you will be able to cross over. Therefore the ज्ञानम् is the best remedy and the only remedy for पाप नाशः, this is the third benefit, मोह नाशः, ऐक्य दर्शनम् and पाप नाशः. More we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 04, VERSES 37-42

In these verses beginning from the 35th, Lord कृष्ण is talking about ज्ञानफलम् which goes up to verse no.37. So in three verses 35, 36 and 37 the benefit of Self-knowledge is mentioned. In the 35th verse कृष्ण talked about two-fold benefit,

1) The first one being सर्व मोह नाशः, मोहः means conflict in life, which is a very big and serious problem and this Self-knowledge will remove all the conflict in life, This is सर्व मोह नाशः and

2) Then the second फलम् he mentioned was सर्वत्र जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐवय दर्शनम् or in short ऐवय दर्शनम् was the second फलम् and

3) The third फलम् was सर्वपाप नाशः.

And now कृष्ण is going to talk about the fourth फलम् in the verse 37.

Verse No .37

यथैधांसि समिद्धोऽग्निर्भस्मसात्कुरुतेऽर्जुन ।

ज्ञानाग्निः सर्वकर्माणि भस्मसात्कुरुते तथा ॥ ४-३७॥

यथा एधांसि समिद्धः अग्निः भस्मसात् कुरुते अर्जुन ।

ज्ञान-अग्निः सर्व-कर्माणि भस्मसात् कुरुते तथा ॥ ४-३७॥

हे अर्जुन! यथा समिद्धः अग्निः एधांसि भस्मसात् कुरुते, तथा ज्ञान-अग्निः सर्व-कर्माणि भस्मसात् कुरुते ।

4) Here कृष्ण says the फलम् is सर्व कर्म नाशः. Here कर्म means कर्म-फलम्. And the शास्त्र talks about three types of कर्म-फलम्,

➤ One is सञ्चितम् कर्म-फलम्, i.e., पुण्यम् and पापम् acquired in the past जन्मs,

➤ The second is प्रारब्धः कर्म-फलम्, that means that portion of the past कर्म which has matured in the present जन्म and therefore ready to fructify. प्रारब्धः कर्म is also सञ्चितम् only, the only difference is प्रारब्धः कर्म is ready and

➤ The third one is आगामि कर्म which we acquire through the present action.

These are the three कर्मs which are responsible for पुनरपि जननम् पुनरपि मरणम्, cyclic process. Here कृष्ण says all the कर्मs are destroyed, सञ्चितम् is destroyed, आगामि is avoided and प्रारब्धः is exhausted. Without being affected by प्रारब्धः, remember the example of oil being applied in the knife or you can take, you have got gloves in the hand with which you touch a live wire, it doesn't give you a shock because you are protected. Similarly, प्रारब्धः is not destroyed but ज्ञानम् insulates the ज्ञानि from the प्रारब्धः. That means प्रारब्धः produces the result but a ज्ञानि's mind continues to be समम् in spite of favorable and unfavorable conditions. The events do not change but there is a change in the response to the प्रारब्धः and therefore प्रारब्धः कर्म also is as good as destroyed, because it cannot affect a ज्ञानि. So सञ्चितम् is destroyed, आगामि is avoided and प्रारब्धः is as though destroyed. This is the essence of this verse and कृष्ण gives an example to convey this idea and the example is knowledge is compared to a huge conflagration of fire, ज्ञानम् is compared to अग्निः, not in the form of a small flame but a huge fire and all the कर्मs are compared to all types of objects or all types of wood. So when the fire is very big, any type of wood is put into the fire, it burns, plastic it burns, anything that falls within it is burned down to ashes. Similarly, all the कर्मs are burned down to ashes by ज्ञान अग्नि. And therefore कृष्ण says here, अग्निः एधांसि भस्मसात् कुरुते – the fire burns down all types of fuel or logs of wood to ashes, एधस् means twig or any type of fuel, it reduces to ashes, but what is important, समिद्धः अग्निः – the fire is which is well-kindled. If the fire is in the form of a small flame and over the flame you put a huge chair or table, what will happen, instead of fire destroying the table, what will happen, the table will destroy the fire. Therefore before offering or putting anything you have to make sure that the fire is well fanned. Similarly, when we listen to वेदान्त for a few months we do have the knowledge but the knowledge is only a flame, with this half-knowledge you got you go out and read other books, instead of removing doubts you will find that it will only put out the flame of the गीता wisdom you have got and that is why we say that until knowledge stabilizes continue to study from a particular आचार्य or a particular परम्परा, otherwise one may get confused, listening to many people or reading many types of books also can create confusion. So until the knowledge becomes clear confine to शास्त्र and also the आचार्य and any doubt comes you clarify, the fire becomes well kindled and thereafterwards you read any book you will be able to understand it properly, it will not create any doubt at all. Otherwise everything will appear to be right also and everything will appear to be wrong also. So what has happened, confusion. So, therefore, समिद्धः अग्निः well kindled by श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्, in the same way, ज्ञान-अग्निः – the well kindled fire of knowledge, सर्व-कर्माणि भस्मसात् कुरुते – it destroys all the कर्मस, reduces them to ashes. Now, in the previous verse कृष्ण says सर्व पाप नाशः, in this verse कृष्ण says सर्व कर्म नाशः. Now what is the difference between पाप नाशः and कर्म नाशः, because पापम् is also what: कर्म only? After all what is पापम्, it is nothing but our own past कर्म alone has become the present पापम्. Therefore what is the difference between the पापम् in the previous verse and कर्म in this verse? The difference is: in the previous verse पाप refers only to पाप कर्मस, whereas in this verse, by using the word कर्म, कृष्ण wants to say, not only पाप कर्मस are destroyed, ultimately even पुण्य कर्मस are destroyed, because पुण्य कर्मस also fall within संसार only. Ultimately speaking, even पुण्य कर्मस come under संसार because पुण्य कर्मस lead to what, स्वर्ग लोकः प्राप्ति. And if you are going to be permanently in heaven, wonderful, but unfortunately, having enjoyed the स्वर्गम् very well, like people going to the States and coming back to India and complaining about mosquitoes. Now we here itself no complaints because we have got peaceful co-existence, we are not aware though it there, and not only that our body is immunized also, perhaps the mosquito may fall sick after biting us; and by (consuming in America) pure water, pure air, all these, next day they fall sick (here). I don't say you don't go to America, what I am saying is: if this is the story of America, what to talk of heaven which is millions of time superior to America and having immunized and enjoyed, you come down and you feel terribly miserably. Tell me, so पुण्यम् is source of joy or sorrow? According to वेदान्त, पापम् gives immediate sorrow, पुण्यम् gives later sorrow, therefore according to वेदान्त पुण्यम् is also बन्धः and that is why the उपनिषत् it says,

तदा विद्वान् पुण्यपापे विधूय निरुज्जनः परमम् साम्यमुपैति ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-१-३ ॥

ज्ञानि goes beyond पुण्यम् and पापम् and in the गीता itself, at the end, कृष्ण is going to say in the end,

सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज । ॥ १८-६६॥

wherein कृष्ण says that you transcend both धर्म and अधर्म, अन्यत्र धर्मात् अन्यत्राधर्मात् अन्यत्र अस्मात् कृताकृतात् । कठोपनिषत्

१-२-१४ ॥

मोक्षः is beyond पुण्यम् and पापम्. And therefore ज्ञान-अग्निः सर्व-कर्माणि means पुण्य कर्माणि अपि भस्मसात् कुरुते. Continuing;

Verse No .38

न हि ज्ञानेन सदृशं पवित्रमिह विद्यते ।

तत्स्वयं योगसंसिद्धः कालेनात्मनि विन्दति ॥ ४-३८॥

न हि ज्ञानेन सदृशम् पवित्रम् इह विद्यते ।

तत् स्वयम् योग-संसिद्धः कालेन आत्मानि विन्दति ॥ ४-३८॥

हि इह ज्ञानेन सदृशम् पवित्रम् न विद्यते । तत् (ज्ञानं) स्वयम् योग-संसिद्धः कालेन आत्मानि विन्दति ।

With this previous verse, ज्ञानफलम् topic is over, सर्व मोह नाशः, ऐक्य दर्शनम्, सर्व पाप नाशः, सर्व पुण्यस्यापि नाशः, these are the four-fold फलम्s given in this context, different other फलम्s are given in other contexts in other places also. Now कृष्ण wants to conclude his discourse in the following verses 38 to 42, in which he wants to talk about certain साधनs, certain do's and don't's. And in the first line of this verse, कृष्ण talks about the greatness of this knowledge, ज्ञानेन सदृशं पवित्रमिह नास्ति – there is no purifier which is as great as knowledge, knowledge is the greatest purifier in the creation. Even though there are so many other purifiers, for example, गङ्गा स्नानम् is suppose to remove our sin, the प्रायश्चित्त कर्मs like महारुद्रम्, अतिरुद्रम्, they are also considered to be पवित्रम्, पवित्रम् means purifier. And the नाम जप is also considered to be purifier, thus there are so many purifiers in the world, but among all the purifiers, ज्ञानम् alone is the greatest purifier, why because they all can destroy all types of पापम्s or impurities but they cannot destroy one basic impurity, In fact, which is the original sin according to वेदान्त, in Christianity there is an original sin and we have got another one and what is that, अज्ञानम्, that is in श्रावणी पौर्णिमा सङ्कल्प, there is, अनादि अविद्या वासनया, अविद्या is the basic impurity. Now all the other प्रायश्चित्त कर्मs are purifiers, they may destroy varieties of impurities like गोहत्य, this हत्य and that हत्य, स्वर्ण स्तेयम्, सुरा पानम्, all these पापम्s they will remove but they cannot remove अज्ञानम्, गङ्गा स्नानम् cannot remove अज्ञानम्, if गङ्गा स्नानम् can remove अज्ञानम्, the easiest method for me is instead of running the classes for years together, by somehow, even talking loan, to take you all to गङ्गा and forcibly make you take bath in the गङ्गा, simpler, गङ्गा स्नानम् can remove the other impurities, ज्ञान गङ्गा स्नानम्.

मल निर्मोचनं पुंसां जल स्नानं दिने दिने।

सकृद् गीताम्भसि स्नानं संसार मल मोचनम् ॥ (गीता महात्मय ३)

The गीता waters alone can permanently remove संसार, all the other sacred waters can remove certain पापम्, but they cannot remove अज्ञानम्, the basic impurity. And therefore ज्ञानेन सदृशम् पवित्रम्, there is no purifier equivalent to knowledge and who will get this knowledge. Now the साधन topic is coming, योग-संसिद्धः तत् आत्मनि विन्दति, संसिद्धः means a qualified person, a prepared person, a refined person, a cultured person, who has prepared himself for this knowledge seed to sprout into the मोक्ष tree to give the आनन्द फलम्, before throwing any seed we have to prepare the land, there should be proper temperature and if any fertilizer is required that should be there, the water content must be exactly as it is needed, for different types of crops different types of conditions are required, similarly, the आत्मज्ञानम् seed to grow the mind must be prepared and the one who has prepared mind is called संसिद्धः पुरुषः and what is the method of this preparation, there it is irrigation and tilling the land, etc., for the cultivation of the mind what is to be done?

Here the method is योगः, योगः is two-fold, कर्मयोगः and अष्टाङ्ग योगः or कर्मयोगः and उपासनायोगः or in simple language a religious life. In fact, our वैदिक religion prescribes only that life which will prepare us for Self-knowledge, In fact, वेद doesn't even ask us, do you want Self-knowledge, वेद as the mother, has decided what is good for us is Self-knowledge and वेद has decided that we have to prepare the mind and वेद has prescribed a life-style meant for spiritual growth, the uniqueness of वैदिक culture is, it is primarily meant for spiritual growth, it doesn't ignore material growth, very careful, it doesn't ignore material growth but it keeps in mind the spiritual growth of a person. Therefore we need not even know the principles or mechanisms behind our way of life, but just follow the way of life, it is meant for inner growth alone and that is called योगः. So योग संसिद्धः means the one whose mind is prepared through a religious way of life, which takes care of physical health, which takes care of emotional health, which takes care of the moral health, which takes care of the emotional health, which takes care of the intellectual health, it is an integral system, so योग संसिद्धः. To put in Vedantic language, साधन चतुष्टय

सम्पन्नः तत् विन्दति, he will attain this knowledge. Where will he attain this knowledge, आत्मनि – in the pure mind, because any knowledge has to take place in the mind only, including spiritual knowledge, no knowledge can take place in आत्मा, आत्मा is never the locus of knowledge, no knowledge can take place in the body, every knowledge has to take place in the बुद्धि alone and therefore आत्मनि सूक्ष्म बुद्धौ, शुद्ध बुद्धौ, this person gains this knowledge and how much time it will take, कृष्ण doesn't want to commit, because when a student joins the college, the teacher can teach, how many attempts, the student will take to pass the examination only God alone knows, so therefore you keep on writing, I told you, this person wrote the CA examination 27 times and 27th time also he failed and he came out, he saw a board there, Jesus never fails, somebody they have written, so he wrote underneath, let him try CA. Therefore so frustrated that he was sure that Jesus will also fail in the CA exam. Like that, how do we know, कृष्ण says, कालेन विन्दति – before long he will attain. So don't ask the question, how long it will take, enjoy the journey instead of asking the question, 'how many kilometers, how many kilometers,' enjoy the journey. Continuing;

Verse No .39

श्रद्धावाँल्लभते ज्ञानं तत्परः संयतेन्द्रियः ।

ज्ञानं लब्ध्वा परां शान्तिमचिरेणाधिगच्छति ॥ ४-३९॥

श्रद्धावान् लभते ज्ञानम् तत्परः संयत-इन्द्रियः ।

ज्ञानम् लब्ध्वा पराम् शान्तिम् अचिरेणाधिगच्छति ॥ ४-३९॥

श्रद्धावान्, तत्परः, संयत-इन्द्रियः ज्ञानम् लभते । ज्ञानम् लब्ध्वा अचिरेण पराम् शान्तिम् अधिगच्छति ।

So in the previous श्लोक, one साधन has been mentioned योगः, it is a very very broad name for all the साधनs, in short it can be said to be a religious way of life. So the benefits of a religious way of life, it is impossible to discuss, there are so many, therefore follow that. Then in this verse some more साधनs are prescribed.

1) The second साधन is श्रद्धा, faith, श्रद्धा in the validity of scriptures until we clearly understand, because this scriptures are valid, they are beneficial and if I have got a doubt in the validity of scriptures and if I am not able to understand, keep that doubt aside and listen. In fact, that will be best method, until at least गीता is over, you just note this ‘it is not convincing to me, it is not very clear to me,’ in this there is another problem that may come and everything you keep aside and at regular intervals you go on reading those questions and doubts, as you progress you will find, one by one the doubt is cleared and if you don’t have the patience, anyway the गुरु is there, go and attack, ask questions. So गुरु always welcomes questions, he is not afraid of questions, because it is a matter for knowing, not believing. Every Vedantic आचार्य is ready to allow infinite question and if the student doesn’t have questions, the आचार्य will introduce questions, you ask like this, they will say. We have got a series of text books called, सिद्धि ग्रन्थs, they are exclusively question-raising text, if you don’t know how to raise to question, they will show you what all questions you can raise, all fundamental questions. So therefore what is required perhaps I have not understand clearly, therefore let me not reject the teaching, let me question my understanding rather than the scriptures. This attitude is called श्रद्धा, not blind swallowing, but question my own understanding and such a person श्रद्धावान् लभते ज्ञानम् – such a person will get conviction. He will definitely get conviction, this is the experience of every Vedantic student, every Vedantic आचार्य, there is thorough confusion and therefore श्रद्धावान् ज्ञानम् लभते and not only questions from other religious people, questions from the latest science also, वेदान्त is ready to face the latest development in science, in addition to all the systems of philosophy in the world. So it is thorough a comprehensive, more interesting and therefore श्रद्धावान् ज्ञानम् लभते, therefore give the benefit of the doubt to शास्त्र.

2) Then the next साधन given in the श्लोक is तत्परः, तत्परः means be sincere and committed, you should also cooperate with the teacher, just you should not ask questions for the sake of asking questions. Previously I used to have question at the end of every chapter, I used to tell, any question you want to ask I will keep the next class for asking questions. Now to ask questions, the first thing required is what, you have to reflect over what I have said, that means to raise questions you must work on the teaching and you will find that they don't have time, just गीता text, they touch only next Sunday at 6.30. Where is the time? So therefore what they used to do is in the question answer session they will start to study what all notes given and then ask a question: स्वामिजि why are we doing प्रदक्षिणम् in the temple. I have taught the गीता and I expect only questions for the clarity of understanding regarding my teaching, just स्वामिजि is sitting idle and I am also idle, so let me question something, just to time pass, or just to test the स्वामिजि. No, that will not work. I should do homework which is called मननम् and I should attempt to find the answer based on the teaching that I have received. Without मननम् legitimate doubts cannot come, without मननम् legitimate doubts cannot come, either there will be no doubts or it will be all funny doubts which has no connection with the subject matter and therefore, तत्परः means sincerity is required for knowledge to take place, commitment is required, home-work is required, quality time is required, that is called तत्परत्वम्. If that sincerity is not there, not that गीता will not give benefit, some stray ideas will come, at least you get some nice jokes, something or the other, it will not be a consistent system of teaching you won't get, some stray thoughts about प्राणायाम or other information, you will get the benefit, but the expected benefit will come only when a person is sincerely committed. Therefore commitment is the second thing and

3) Third one is संयत-इन्द्रियः, संयत-इन्द्रियः means disciplines, sensory discipline, sensory discipline is required, focusing capacity is required, even to listen for one hour, the duration of one hour it requires a tremendous focusing capacity and especially when it is a consistent serious topic, if it is रामायण story you can go to your home mentally in between, etc., राम will have gone from one आश्रम to another आश्रम in the वनवास, which you can pick up, you can get up from sleep also, but this is a terse system of teaching in which there is development of thought from one topic to another, when you miss the intermediary link you won't get the connection at all. It is a science by itself and therefore a person should have focusing capacity. So संयत-इन्द्रियः.

These are the three साधनs in this verse, what are they, श्रद्धा, तत्परत्वम् and संयत-इन्द्रियत्वम्, faith in the validity of the scriptures, commitment and focusing capacity. And if a person follows as these things, ज्ञानम् लब्ध्वा, certainly it will get most wonderful system from the गीता or from the उपनिषत्s, he will get the knowledge and पराम् शान्तिम् अधिगच्छति and the result of knowledge is the पराम् शान्तिम् – permanent peace of mind. Again this is also important, suppose I say you get this knowledge, you will not have rebirth. Now what is the proof, that there is a rebirth itself is a belief and that there will not be rebirth is also a belief. How do I know? So there is somebody who is a ज्ञानि and he has attained मोक्षः, he is not reborn, suppose I say. I say शङ्कराचार्य is a ज्ञानि, therefore he is not reborn, it is a matter to be believed. How do I know? Suppose I say you will go to वैकुण्ठ, what is the proof and I have not seen वैकुण्ठ and after death you will not come and catch my collar also, I don't have a collar, you cannot catch my अङ्गवस्त्रम् also, because I am very much sure that you will not come back in this form, if you come as a ghost, that is a different matter. So we don't give a posthumous benefit, कृष्ण promises a benefit, here and now which you can check. गीता will give you peace of mind, it is a promise and not ordinary peace of mind, पराम् शान्तिम् – a peace that passeth all understanding, it is possible and every ज्ञानि tells this from his own personal experience. And therefore कृष्ण says पराम् शान्तिम् अधिगच्छति. But He says how long it will take, again if you ask, अविरेण, because for the ज्ञानम् to flow as peace of mind, we should take care of our old habits and problems. This कृष्ण will discuss in the 6th chapter and we have got the habitual problem, habitual problem will not go merely by ज्ञानम्. Suppose you have changed the place of your book or toothpaste, from this almira to another, now वास्तुशास्त्र has become a widely accepted thing and he advises to keep the toothpaste on the eastern side. OK. If there are वास्तु fellows, don't get angry. I shifted from the western to eastern, now I have changed it, ज्ञानम् is there or not, I cannot be ignorant because I have myself done it, but next day when I go, where will I go? To the western place, why? The problem is not ignorance, the problem is habit. Therefore our actions and responses are governed by two factors, one is our knowledge and another is our वासना, knowledge will take care of part of the problem, but we have to handle our वासना's or habits also and that habit changing requires deliberate effort. I should change and it is not that easy and well entrenched habits like emotional problems like inferiority complex, low self-image, or jealousy or anger or irritation or missing something in life, they are all so entrenched that In fact, I have to handle it one at a time, each problem I might have to handle and therefore depending upon your sincerity, time and the amount of importance that you give, the benefit also will take proportional time, therefore कृष्ण doesn't want to commit because it is not in कृष्ण's hands or else they will catch कृष्ण's collar, I learned गीता but I have not changed, I have not changed like ब्रह्मन्. If ब्रह्मन् is not changing, it is OK. But my mind should not be non-changing like the ब्रह्मन्. Mind, our behavior, our habits, our responses should change, not only for my sake, at least for family members' sake, otherwise they will ask: what is the use of attending the गीता class: what have you “achieved”? So therefore not only you, they will comment along with your teacher. So I want to save myself and every आचार्य wants to save. Therefore say अचिरेण, before long you get the benefit. So therefore कृष्ण says: अचिरेण. Continuing;

Verse No .40

अज्ञश्चाश्रद्धधानश्च संशयात्मा विनश्यति ।

नायं लोकोऽस्ति न परो न सुखं संशयात्मनः ॥ ४-४०॥

अज्ञः च अश्रद्धधानः च संशय-आत्मा विनश्यति ।

न अयं लोकः अस्ति न परः न सुखं संशयात्मनः ॥ ४-४०॥

अज्ञः च अश्रद्धधानः च संशय-आत्मा विनश्यति । संशयात्मनः अयं लोकः न अस्ति, न परः (लोकः), न (च) सुखं (अस्ति)।

In this कृष्ण wants to deal with the negative traits, in the previous verses He was talking about the positive traits which have to be inculcated, imbibed, required, nourished. Now He talks about certain negative traits which we have to handle and there he talks about three negative traits and He wants to say which one is the worst of this three.

1) Ignorance, regarding anything, ignorance with regard to the world. So I should be informed if I want to live a normal life. Even if you want to go to the railway station, better read the newspaper and find out which roads are blocked, which road there is diversion or whether the train is going, that is basic. If I have don't have that information, even simple things I cannot do. In fact, some people say that I have come to वेदान्त I don't want to read newspapers. I don't say that reading newspapers is not a must, even though it has got lot of unnecessary things, there are lot of important information which I have to know. Therefore we are talking about worldly knowledge for leading a worldly healthy life, therefore ज्ञानम् is important and अज्ञानम् is negative No.1.

2) And the second thing is अश्रद्धा, lack of faith in the scriptures, अश्रद्धा. So lack of knowledge is one negative trait, lack of faith in scriptures is the second negative trait and

3) The third one is संशयः – doubt.
